

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

YHLK

•

•

•

•

	•			-
			•
		·

A COMPENDIOUS

LAW DICTIONARY,

Containing both an

EXPLANATION OF THE TERMS

AND THE

LAW ITSELF;

INTENDED FOR THE CAR OF

The Country Gentleman, the Merchant,

AND

THE PROFESSIONAL MAN.

By THOMAS POTTS, Gent.

Formerly of Skinners' Hall.

A NEW EDITION,

Revised, corrected, and enlarged to the present Time.

LONDON:

PRINTED FOR WALKER AND EDWARDS; SHERWOOD, NEELY, AND JONES; LONGMAN, HURST, REES, ORME, AND BROWN; AND SIMPLIM AND MARSHALL.

1815

Edward Hodson, Printer, 15, Cross Street, Hatton Garden, London.

TO THE

RIGHT HONOURABLE LORD. ELLENBOROUGH,

BARON ELLENBOROUGH, OF ELLENBOROUGH, IN THE COUNTY OF CUMBERLAND.

Lord Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench.

MY LORD,

I HATE presumed to dedicate this trifling Work to your Lordship, as most competent to judge of its public utility. The design of reducing the Law Dictionary into one small volume, will, I trust, merit the approbation of every professional man, and (should it be honoured with your Lordship's patronage) obtain that share of public favour which would ever constitute the pride and ambition of

My Lord,

Your Lordship's

Most obedient humble Servant.

THE AUTHOR.

Camden Town, Nov. 1, 1803.

ABVERTISEMENT

TO THIS

EDITION.

IN preparing the present edition for the press, the whole work has undergone a severe revision: Various Terms of English Law, which have now become obsolete, have been omitted; and their place has been supplied by very numerous references to legal authorities.

The different acts of parliament, passed since the last edition have also been incorporated; those which received the royal sanction, during, and subsequent to, the progress of this work through the press, are introduced in an Appendix; in which such further additions and corrections have been made as were rendered necessary, in consequence of the enacting of those statutes. Some of the more important articles, as manurupts, poor, stamps, taxes, &c. &c. are entirely re-composed: the Editor therefore commits his improved work to the acceptance of a liberal Public, in full confidence that it will not mislead. And, as he has selected this volume from writers of acknowledged authority, and has devoted it to the use of the country Gentleman, the MERCHANT, and PROFESSIONAL MAN-he trusts it will continue to be found not unworthy of a place either in the LIBRARY, the COUNTING-HOUSE, OF OFFICE.

Non. S., 1815.

• • • •

PREFACE.

A DICTIONARY of the Laws of England, undertaken with the view of arranging properly, with regard to matter and method, and at the same time compressing into a narrow compass, the substance of the many voluminous works written on the Statute and Common Law, cannot, it is presumed, fail to be acceptable to every one, in any manner engaged in a practical department of the law.

But the author of this work, has not confined it solely to the use of the professional man. It has been both his aim and wish, to render it equally serviceable to the merchant and trader; who, amidst the variety of business, have little leisure to consult those elaborate works which comprehend and elucidate commercial legislation, and the almost inexpressibly diversified cases which have been determined constructive of those laws: for their use, therefore, the most eminent writers on the Bankrupt Laws, the Law of Insurance, Bills of Exchange, Promissory Notes, &c. have been carefully consulted, and their most essential contents briefly given.

The country gentleman will here also find the nature of tenures fully explained under their proper heads, and the County Courts, Courts Barons, Courts Leet, Game, and Tithes, concisely but clearly treated.

To the professional man, it is not meant to insist, that this production can possibly answer all the purposes of the voluminous library of the lawyer; but as the authorities cited in support of the authenticity of the respective articles, are particularly referred to, it will serve him as a complete index, by which he may be enabled immediately to direct his attention to any point under consideration.

A NEW ## LAW DICTIONARY.

----

AB

AB

ABACTORS, drivers away, and stepless of cattle, or beasts, in ABATE, to everthear, denotish, destroy, or heat down.

ABATEMENT, in its meet general signification, makes to write or plaints, and signifies the quashing or destroying the plaintiff's writ or plaint, but it is used by our law in three different senses, I fast. 184, b. 217.

The Francis, that of removing a public or prinate suitance. Thus, if a new gate he eracted across the king's highway (which is a public suitance), any of the king's subjects passing that way may cut it down and destroy it. Or, if a house or small he erected so near to mine that it stop my ancient lights (which is a private uniquee), I may enter my neighbour's land, and peaceably pull it down. And thereases why the law allows this summary method of doing one's self-justice, is, because injuries of this kind require an immediate searchy, and commet wait for the slow progress of the ordinary forms of justice. 3 Black. 5.

The abcourt is the defeating or overthrowing of an action, by some defect in the proceedings. The chief pleas in abstances are—1. To the jurisdiction of the court,—2. To the person of the plaintiff.—3. To the person of the defendant, Ontlawry Excommunication, disease or Attaint, Privilege, Missomer, or Addition,—4. To the west and action—5. To the count, or declaration,—6. By the demise of the king, and by the marriage, or death of the parties. For these and many other causes, the defendant oftentimes punys that the mif of the plaintiff may for that time cease. And in case of abatement in these respects, all writs and process must begin de novo. In the case of an indictment, or a criminal process, the defendant may plead an abatement, that his name is not as in the indictment specified, or that they have given him a wrong addition, as yeoman, instead of gentleman; and, if the jury find it so, the indictment shall abate. But he who takes advantage of a flaw, must at the same time shew how it may be amended, so as to give the plaintiff a better writ; which is the intent of all pleas in abatement. 4 Black. 355. Finck 363. 4 Durnf. and East 227.

As pleas in abatement enter not into the merits of the cause, but are dilatory, it is enacted, by the statute of 4 and 5 Ann. c. 16, that no dilatory plea be received unless upon onth, and probable cause shewn to the court: that no plea in abatement be received after a respondens ouster, 2 Saund. 41; that they are to be pleased before imparlance; that when issue is joined on them, if it be found against him who pleads such dilatory plea, it should be peremptory. 1 Luture. 178. 2 Luture. 1117. 2 Show. Rep. 42.

The THIRD is, where the rightful possession or freehold of the heir, or devises, is defeated or overthrown by the intervention of a stranger. And herein it differs from intrusion, which is the entry of a stranger, after a particular estate of freehold is determined before him in remainder, or reversion. An abatement, is always to the projudice of the heir or immediate devises; an intrusion is always to the prejudice of the remainder-man or reversioner. The remedy in abatement or intrusion, may be entry, without the parties being compelled to bring their action; for, as the entry of the wrong-doer was unlawful, it may be remedied by the mere entry of him who hath right. 8 Black. 175.

ABBAT, or ABBOT, a spiritual lord or governor, having the rule of a religious house. Of these in England, some were elective, some presentative, some mitred, and others not. Those who were mitred, had episcopal authority within their limits, and were exempted from jurisdiction of the diocesan, but the other abbots, subject to the diocesan, in all spiritual government.

ABBEY-LANDS, before the dissolution of the monasteries, were many of them discharged from the payment of tythes, so long as they remained in the hands of, and were cultivated by the religious societies, and not by their tenants and lessees. These exemptions were continued to the possessors of the said lands by the act of 31 Hem. 8, c. 18, s. 2. This act also created an unity of the possession of the parsonage and land tytheable, in the same hand; and though many of the littles of discharge are now lost, yet if the lands of a religious house have been held since the dissolution freed from payment of tythes, it shall be intended they were held so before. Wood b. 2, c. 2.

Parky the

This provision is peculiar to the Stat. 31 Hen. 8. c. 13. and therefore all the lands belonging to the lesser monasteries, which were dissolved by the 27 Hen. 7. c. 28, are now liable to pay tithes. Com. Dig. Dismes, B. (7.)

ABREVIATION, by 4 Geo. 2. c. 26. all law proceedings shall be in the Buglish tongue, and written in a common legible hand and character, and in words at length and not abbreviated: but by 6 Geo. 2. c. 14. numbers may be expressed by figures, and such abbreviations allowed as are in common use.

ABDICATION, in general, is where a magistrate or person it office, renounces and gives up the same before the term of service is expired. This word is frequently confounded with resignation, but differs from it, in that abdication is done purely and simply; whereas resignation, is in favour of some third person. Chamb. Dict. 1 W. and M. Bess. 2 c. 2. sect. 7.

ABEREMURDER, plain or downright murder; as distinguished from the less beinous crimes of manslaughter, and chance medley.

ABET, to stir up or incite, encourage or set on: Abetters of mustder, are such as command, procure, or counsel others to commit a marder; and, in case they are present when the surder is committed, they shall be taken as principals; but, if absent at the time of the fact, they shall be considered as accessaries only. See Accessary.

ABRYANCE, is that which is in expectation, remembrance, and intendment of law... By a principle of, law, in every land there is a fee simple in somebody, or it is in abeyance; that is, though at prepent it be in no man, yet it is in expectancy, belonging to him that is next to enjoy the land. Thus where no person is seen or known, in whom the inheritance can vest, it may be in abeyonce, as in a limitation to several persons, and the survivor, and the heirs of such survivor, because it is uncertain who will be the survivor; yet the freehold camet, because there must be a tenant to the pracipa always. 1 Vezey. 174. So, if a man be patron of a church, and present a clerk to the same, the fee of the lands and tenements pertaining to the rectary is in the parson: but if the parson die and the church become void, the fee is then in abeyance, until there be a new parson presented, admitted, and inducted. For the frank tenement of the globe of a parsonage, during the time the parsonage is void, is in no man; but in elegance or expectation, belonging to him who is next to enjoy it, Termes de Lev. 6. as to Abeyance of Titles of Honour, see Honour.

. ABISHERING, or ABISHERSING, is by old authors termed a freedom or liberty, because whoever hath this word inserted in a charter or grant, bath not only the forfeiture and amerciments of all others within his fee, for transgressions, but also is himself free from the control of apy, within their fee. Comel.

ABJURATION, in the old law, signified a sworn banishment, or an oath taken to fomake the realm for ever.

Antiently, if a person had committed a felony, and fied to a church, or absorb-yard, before he were apprehended, he could not be taken from thence to be tried for his crime; but, on confession thereof before the coroner, he was admitted to his oath to abjure the realm, which privilege he was to have forty days, during which time any persons might give him meat and drink for his sustenance, but not after, on pain of being guilty of felony. But, by Al-Jac. c. 28. all privilege of sanctuary, and abjuration thereupon, is utterly abeliebeth.

Abjuration signifies also an oath, whereby every person in office, trust, or employment, abjures the pretender, and recognizes the right of his majesty under the act of settlement, engaging to support him, and premising to disclose all treasure, and trafterous compiration against him.

ABOLITION, is the leave given by the king or judges to a crimismal accuser to desist from farther prosecution.

ABORTION, if caused by giving a petiets to, or striking a woman big with child, was antiently punished as muster; but the mederalay regarded it only as a great misprision, and not marders unless the children betweetver and dis thereof. Leach's Hose, b. 31. But now by the Stat. 48 Geo. 3. c. 56. If any person shall willfully and mailcloudy administer to, or cause to be ministered to, or taken by, my woman then quick with child, my nonfest or destructive substauce, with intent thereby to procure the misenrelage of herelitte, such person, and all who country, sid, and abet, shall be guilty of follows without bewest of clargy. And where any medicines shall be so administered, or any instrument or other means shall be used, to cause an abortion, and the woman shall not be, or shall not be proved to be, at the time quick with child, then such offenders shall be guilty of felony, and shall be linible to be fined, imprisoned, set in the pillory, ar whipped, or to one or more of these puntshments, or to be tramparted for any time not exceeding fourteen years, at the discretion of the court.

ABRIDGE, in the common law, signifies the making a declaration, or count, shorter, by taking away or severing some of the substance from-it. A man is said to obside his plains in assize; and a woman field demand in an action of dower, where any land is put into the plaint or demand, which is not in the tonure of the tenant or defendant; for, if the defendant plend non-tenare, joint tenancy, &x. inabatement of the writ, the plaintiff may leave out, those lands, and pray that the tenant may answer the rest. The reason of this abridgement of the plaint is, because the certainty is not set down in such write, but they run is general; and, though the demandant bath abridged his plaint in part, yet the writ will be good for the range mainder. Cowel.

ABROGATE, to abrogate a law, is to lay soide, or repeal it. .

ABSQUE HOC, when law proceedings were in Latin, were words of exception made use of in a traverse; as where the defendant pleads that such a thing was done at such a place, without this, that it was done at such other place.

. ABUTTALS, the buttings and boundings of land, either to the east, west, north, or south; shewing on what other lands, rivers, highways, or other places it does abut.

· The boundaries and abuttals of corporations, church-lands, and parishes, are usually preserved by annual procession.

ACCEDAS AD CURLAM, a writ that lies for him who has received false judgment, or fears partiality in a court haron, or hundred court. It is directed to the sheriff, and issued out of chancery; but returnable into B. R. or C. B. and is in the nature of a writ do falso judicio, which lies for him that had received false judgment in the county court.

ACGEDAS AD VICECOMITEM, a writ directed to the corener, commanding him to deliver a writ to the theriff, who having a pone delivered to him suppresses it. Cowel. Reg. Orig. 88

ACCEPTANCE is the taking and accepting of any thing in good part, and, as it were a tacit agreement to a preceding act which might have been defeated and avoided, were it not for such acceptance had. If baron and feme, seized of lands in right of feme, join and make a lease of feofiment, reserving rent, and the baron die, after whose death the feme receive, or accept the rent; by this the lease or feofiment is confirmed, and it shall bar her. Co. Litt. 211.

So if tenant in domer lease for years, and die, and the heir necept the rest; but, if a parson make a lesse for years not warranted by the statute, acceptance of rest by a new parson, will not make it good. I Sound, 241.

And if a tenant for life, make a lease for years, there no acceptance will make the lease good, because it is void by his death.

Dyer 239.

Not if a tenant in tail make a lease for years, rendering rent, and die, and the issue accept the rent, it shall bind him. Should such tenant in tail make a lease for years to commence after his death, rendering rent; in such case, acceptance of rent by the issue, will not make the lease good to bur him, hecause the lease did not take effect to the life of his ancestors. Ploud. 416.

If a lease be made on condition that the lease do not maste, and he commit waste, and afterwards the lease mocept the rest, he cannot enter for the condition broken. I Inst. 91%.

Though a lease may be made voidable by the default of the lease, in not paying his sent according to the covenants therein contained, it can only be rendered void by the act of the leaser, that is by his entry: but if the leaser, after such non-payment at the day, and before remainly accept the rest, that which was before voidable, becomes by such acceptance, a good lease; and a landword accepting the last quarter's rest, when there are arrears on a former quarter, precludes himself from demanding the arrears. Comp. 763.

ACCEPTANCE, in commercial law, to that act by which the party upon when a bill of exchange is frawn, makes binnelf liable to the amount therein contained. An acceptance may be absolute to the bill at all events, or it may be partial, as to pay a certain part of it; or, conditional, that is to say, upon the performance of a certain condition: in this case, when such condition is performed, the acceptance becomes absolute.

What shall be considered as an absolute or conditional acceptance, is a question of law to be determined by the court, and is not to be left to a jury. I Term. Rep. 182.

An acceptance may also be collected, as an acceptance upon protest. An acceptance may be given either verbally or in writing; the latter, however, is the most much and regular. But, any thing tending to show that the party means to be bound by his undertaking, such as the signature of his initials; the day of the month; keeping the hill a longer time than usual; or any verbal promise, or agreement, will be tantament to an acceptance. See Bills of Exchange.

An absolute acceptance, is an engagement to pay the hill according to its tenor, it is usually given by writing upon the bill accepted, with the name or initials of the drawee. The holder of a bill has a right to insist on a written acceptance, which is essentially necessary to give the instrument the full benefit of circulation. In accepting a bilk payable after sight it is customary also to write the day on which the acceptance is made. If the drawee keep the bill a longer time than is usual, or do any other act, which upon a fair construction gives credit to the instrument, and thereby induces the holder not to protest it as dishenoured, this will amount to an absolute acceptance, as will also an agreement to pay it at a future day.

A conditional acceptance, is an agreement to pay according to the teaer of the acceptance, as where the party renders himself liable for payment on a contingency only. Any act which evinces an intention not to be bound, unless on a certain event, will be sufficient to give the acceptance the operation of a conditional one. Conditional acceptances become absolute as soon as the contingency happens, or the condition is performed.

When a conditional acceptance is made in writing, the party giving it, should also express the condition, otherwise he will not be able to avail himself of onch condition, against any other party. Dough. 296.—Acceptance by the custom of merchants as effectually binds the acceptor, as if he had been the original drawer; and, having once accepted it, he cannot afterwards revoke it. Cro. Joc. 368, Meardy, 497.

A partial acceptance, in an agreement to pay according to the tener of the acceptance, and may vary with respect to the sum, time, or place; it may also vary from the tener, to the manner in which the acceptor undertakes to pay the bill. Either of these acceptance, although the builder may refuse each, will be hinding on the acceptor; and the hulder of the bill, in either of these cases, if he mann on default of payment to have recourse to the other parties, should give notice to all of them, of such acceptance.

despitance upon honour, or supra protest, is a sollatoral acceptance, and may be made where the drawer refuses to accept, and some third person, after protest for non-acceptance, accepts for the honour of the drawer, or any particular inderser; in which latter case, he should immediately send the protest to the inderser. Not only a stranger, but the drawer, may accept a bill for honour of the drawer, or any of the indessecs.

It has been hold, that the bill should be left with the drawes twenty-four hours, that he may look into his account, and determine whether he will accept or not; but a bill or note, need not be left on a presentment for payment. By the 7 Geo. 9. c. 22. Forging the acceptance of any bill of exchange, or the number or principal sum of any accountable receipt, is made felony without benefit of elergy.

ACCESSARY, one guilty of a februlous offence, not principally, but by participation; as by command, advice, or concealment. Come!.

In the highest capital effence, namely high treason, there are no accessaries before or after; for the consenters, aiders, abettors, and knowing receivers and comforters of traitors, are all principals. Mah's Hist. 613.

in cases that are eviminal, but not capital, as in petit-lurceny, and trapass, there are no nocessaries; for all the accessaries before, are in the same degree as principals; and accessaries after, by receiving the offenders, cannot as such, by law, be under any penalties, unless the act of parliament which induces these penalties, expressly extend to received or comforters.

Accessary before the fact, is one, who although absent at the time the felony was committed, doth yet procure, counsel, or abet another to commit a felony. An accessary before, is a greater offender than accessary after; and therefore, in-many cases, clergy is taken away from accessaries before, which is not taken away from accessaries efter, as in petit-treason, marker, and wilful barning. Hales's Pt. 615.

Accessary after the fact, is where a person knowing the sciony tobe committed, receives, relieves, comforts, or assists the scion. Such as furnishing him with a horse to escape his purmers—money or victuals to support him—a house or other shelter to conceal him—or open force and violence to enable him to break his goal, or to bribe the goaler to let him escape, makes a man accessary to the seleny. 4 Black. 37.

The following are the principal regulations of the Statutes, relative to accessaries, viz. By the 48 Geo. 8. c. 113. accessaries to felonies may be tried, either in the county where the principal offence was committed, or in that where the offence of being accessary was done. s. 5. and if such offence be committed on the high seas, the accessary may be tried in the manner directed by the 28 Hen. 8. c. 15. s. 5. But persons who have been once tried, shall be tried again for the same offence, ib. The provisions of 88 Hen. 8. c. 23. (which directs that persons examined before the hing's council be tried in any county, for treason, mis-prision of treason, and musder) are extended to accessaries before the fact in murder, and also to manufacilities. And if on trial (under either of these acts) of any offender for marder, he shall be found guilty of manufacilities only, the jury shall find accordingly, 48 Geo. 8. c. 118. s. 6.

Formerly, the regulations of our law were comparatively few, with respect to necessaries; but the increase of offences having at different times excited the attention of the legislature, accessaries convicted of the following particular offences, are now punishable as felom, without benefit of clergy, viz.—By $3 Hen. 8. c. 1. (made perpetual by 32 Hen. 8. c. 3.) accessaries before the fact in petit treason, murder, burglary; robbery in dwelling houses, churches, or in or near highways, burning houses or of barns wherein any corn or grain shall be.—31 Eliz. c. 12. accessaries before the offence, in stealing women who are beirs apparent, or have lands.—21 Jac. 1. c. 26. accessaries before the fact in procuring any fine, recovery, deed indented, statute, recognizance, bail, or judgment, in the name el mother not privy thereto.—69 & 98 Car. S. c. l. accemaries before the fact to mulicions making-3 & 4 Will. & Mar. c. 9. accessaries before the fact in burglary or in robbing any dwelling-house, stop or warehouse, Schooly without benefit of clergy; and buyers of stolen goods knowing the same, shall be deemed accessories to such felony, ofter the fact.-10-& 11 Will. S. c. 28. accessive before the fact in robbertes in shops, wurchouses, coach-bouses, or stables.-14 & 12 With 3. c. 7. (perpetuated by 6 Geo. I. c. 19.) person setting forth, or assisting any pirate, or after the piracy committed, sunculing such pirate, shall be desued successories, and shall be tried and suffer as the principals.—I Ana. stat. 2. c. 9. if principal in felony be convicted, is shall be lawful to proceed against any accountry. In the same manner as if the principal had been attainted. Buyers or receivers of stolen goods may be punished as for misdemounter, where the principal felow is not convicted. Itid. and 5 Ann. E. St. The & Aust. o. St. also exacts that buyers or receivers of stolen goods shall be deemed accessaries. - 8 Geo. 1, c, 24, persons declared secretaries to piency, by 11 & 12 Will. & c. 7, shall be deemed professionals.... & Geo. S. s. 25. (perpetuated by 9 Geo. 2. s. 18.) acconsider to forgory of any doct, will, bend, bill of exchange, promissory sute, interseasest, acquittance, or receipt.--- 7 Geo. 2. c. 22. accessaries to forglap or altering the acceptance of bills of exchange, our the number or sums of any accountable receipt, or any warrant or order for payment of mosey, or delivery of goods.--14 Geo. S. o. Go and 15 Gen. 2. c. 36. necessaries before the fact in stealing sheep. -18 Gen. 2. c. 27. ancemaries before the fact in steeling lines, forthan, calier, cloth, so cloth wever, out of any blenching grounds-34 Geo. 2. c. 45. accessring before the fact in stealing goods, of the walto of 40s. on board may venel, or upon any quay, adjacent to may maxigable river.-48 God. 2. c. 30. buyers or receivers of lead, iron, expect, bots, or bell metal, knowing the same to be stolen, may be convicted and transported for seven years, although the principal fisher has not been convicted; felou convicting the receiver postloned.-31 Gev. 2. c. 23. procuring London bridge, or any works belonging thereto, to be barnt or destroyed.

See also the titles Bank, Damage, (wilful) Folony, &c.

ACCOMMODATION, signifies a friendly agreement or composition between persons at variance.

ACCOMPLICE, one of many equally concerned in a felony; generally applied to those who are admitted to give evidence against their fellow criminals. It is a settled point, that it is no exception against a witness, that he has confessed himself guilty of the same trime, if he have not been indicted for it; for, if no accomplices were to be admitted as witnesses, it would generally be impossible to find evidence, to convict the greatest offenders. Leach's Haw. 2. 37.

ACCOMPT :-- see Account.

ACCORD, is an agreement between the party injuring, and the party injured, where one is injured by a trespass, or offence done, or on a contract to satisfy him with some recompence; which, if executed and performed, shall be a good bar in law, if the other party, after the accord performed, bring an action for the same. 8 Black. 15.

ACCOUNT or ACCOMPT, when persons have mutual dealings, signing the accompt is not necessary to make a stated one; but the act of keeping it any length of time, without making any objection, binds the person to whom it is sent, and prevents his entering into an open account afterwards. 2 Atk. 251.

Among merchants, it is looked upon as an allowance of an account current, if the merchant who receive it do not object to it, in a second or third post. 2 Vers. 276.

ACCOUNT, a writ or action which lies against a bailiff, or receiver, who by reason of his office or business, is to render an account to another, and refuseth to do it. The proceedings upon this action being difficult, dilatory, and expensive, it is now seldom used, especially if the party bave other remedy. I Vern. 182.

ACCOUNTS (Public) By the 25 Geo. 8. cap. 52. the patents granted to the Lords Sondes and Mount Steart, as auditors of the imprest were vacated; but without affecting the other officers of the Exchequer. And the king is empowered to appoint five commissioners for auditing the public accounts, who shall be sworn, and the treasury shall appoint officers for preparing public accounts, and shall allow them salaries not exceeding 60001, per san, in the whole. Commissioners shall be vested with all the powers of the auditors; and shall administer oaths to their officers; and may call before them all persons who have received mency by way of imprest; and are to examine accounts as soon as possible.—Such commissioners may examine accountants on oath, and persons giving false evidence before them incur the pains and penalties of perjury.—The said commissioners shall make up a state of accounts, and lay them before the treasury, and accounts of the expenditure of public money shall be delivered to them; and the auditor of the exchequer shall transmit them a certificate of monies issued upon account.—Pay-masters shall transmit to the commissioners an account of all monies issued by them by way of imprest; and accountants shall not be allowed any sum, they shall neglect to transmit an account of, as abovementioned. - Commissioners may compel accountants to bring forward their accounts; and.

The state of the s

mb-accountants shall deliver vouchers for expenditure of money issued to them, within three months after the expiration of the year, if for services in Great Britain; within four, if elsewhere in Europe; within six, if in the West Indies, America, or Africa; and within twolve months, if in the East Indies.—But process shall issue against such sub-accountants, who are to account to the ordnance, navy, victualling, or sick and hurt offices, without directions from the treasury .- When sub-accountants transmit a discharge from such offices, their names shall be struck out of the imprest roll, and no article shall be allowed in accounts of expenditure of public money, without a written voncher. - Books in the auditors offices shall be delivered to the commissioners. 25 Geo. 3. c. 50. s. 1. et seq. 2.—By the 34 Geo. 3. c. 59. the powers of this act are vested in the board of ordnance, commissioners of the navy, and the victualling and sick and burt boards. -By the 27 Geo. 3. c. 13. quarterly accounts shall be kept by the different boards of the several branches of the public revenue, and the treasury shall lay before parliament annually an account of the total produce of the respective branches.

By 39 Geo. 3. c. 83. after the decease of the present patentees the commissioners for auditing the public accounts shall perform the duties of auditors of the land revenue, and additional officers may be appointed with additional salaries, not exceeding 3040%. s. 1 to 10.-All accounts whatever shall be verified by the public accountants on eath, either before a baron or curritor baron of the exchequer, or before three or more of the commissioners.-And accounts of the paymaster general shall be verified by the accountant general of the pay office. s. 13 to 15.-39 & 40 Geo. S. c. 54. where public accountants die, or go out of office indebted to his majesty 5004 or upwards, the proper officer shall compute interest at 5L per cent. on the balance, and give the party or his representative notice of the amount of both; but parties thinking themselves aggrieved by charge of interest, may within six months apply to the court of exchequer; but no such proceeding shall prevent the recovery of the balances exclusive of interest. s. 1.—If the party does not apply, or the charge for interest be allowed by the court, interest upon the interest shall be charged for the intermediate period. s. 2 .- The aggregate amount of the original balance and of the interests shall bear interest at 51. per cent. till paid, and if the balance has been paid, the aggregate of the interest and of the further interest shall bear interest, s. 8 .- The commissioners for auditing public accounts, where an accountant owes a balance of 500% or upwards (accounts current excepted), may charge . merest (not exceeding 51. per cent.) for time past, at the passing of such account, and shall cause notice to be given to the party, or his representative, of the amount of the balance, and of the interest, and of the grounds for charging it, and shall state the sum to the treasury. The treasury shall proceed to allow or disallow balances of accounts propared for declaration, distinct from interest, and may also allow as disallow the interest. s. 4.—After wavrant granted by the treasury to prepare any extraordinary account for declaration, the commissioners shall compute intermediate interest (at 5% per cent.) from the time.of stating the account to Jan. 5, or July 5, proceding the time of prasenting it for deciaration, which shall be added to the chalance and interest allowed by the treasury. s. 5 .- When any account (not have ing an account current) shall be declared, the party shall be charged with further interest (at 51, per cent.) upon the sum due, till it is paid or received; the interest to commence on ordinary accounts from the time they were prepared for declaration, and on extraordinary accounts stated to the treasury from the 5th of January, st the 5th of July, preceding the time of presenting for declaration. s. 6.—The commissioners for auditing public accounts shall mithin seven days after declaration of accounts, transmit to the auditor of the exchequer a schedule of the sums declared to be due, and the names of the defaulters, and he shall quarterly transmit to the commissioners an account of the monies paid in by or on the behalf of the parties. s. 9.—Accounts of re-payments by sub-accountants to primcipal accountants shall be transmitted to the said commissionary half yearly, and the principal officers of the ordnance, navy, vietualling, and sick and hurt boards, shall transmit to them half yearly accounts of all imprests cleared by them. s. 10 .- The scenary may allow interest (at 51. per cent.) upon sums amounting to 6601. and upwards, ascertained or declared to be due to public accountants, till the whole be discharged, such interests to commence from the complete delivery of the accounts into the nuditor's office. s. 11.--The commissioners of customs, and excise, for stamps, and for taxes, the postmasters general, and the principal officers employed in any other branch of the revenue, shall proceed to recover all belanous due from persons employed under them. s. 12.-The commissionees for auditing the public accounts, and the auditors of the land revonue, shall proceed to recover balances now due (except on accounts current), and when any account of public money audited by them shall be declared to he due, they shall duly record the same, and require the parties to pay the balances into the exchequer within three months, and if not paid, shall proceed to recover the money. But this act shall not prevent any charge of interest where it might have been charged before the net: nor shall it abridge the rights of his majesty to controul, suspend, or prevent the execution of any process for recovering such balances. s. 13 to 15.—The treasury shall cause to be laid before parliament, within fourteen days after the commencement of every session, a list of public accountants, in respect of whom the execution of any process hath been controuled, suspended, or prevented by authority of his majesty within the preceding year. s. 16.

By 41 Geo. 3. c. 22. the king may appoint five commissioners for examining the accounts of commissioners and others employed in the West ladies, and in foreign service, and making reports known to the commissioners for anditing the public accounts. s. 1.—The treasary may appoint officers and clerks to assist the commissioners, and allow them salaries. s. 2.—Such commissioners may call before them all persons concerned in the expenditure of public monies, or in furnishing stores. And persons refusing to appear, or to produce accounts, or paswer questions, may be committed for the contempt until they submit. e. 3, 4.—The commissioners may take the examinations on oath, and persons giving false evidence to be punished as for perjury. s. 5.—But this act shall not affect the powers of the commissioners for auditing public accounts, who may proceed on any report of the commissioners under this act, as if the investigation had been made in this kingdom under 25 Geo. 3. c. 52. s. 6.—By 42 Geo. 3. c. 70. the declarations of receipts and issues at the exchequer, made at Easter and Michaelmas, were abolished; as also the usage of making engrossed copies of the daily records of such receipts and issues. s. 2, 3,-And the treasury shall annually cause accounts of the revenues, expenditure, debt, and charges of Great Britain, to be made up to January 5, and laid before parliament on or before the 25th of March, yearly. s. 4 .- By 45 Geo. 3. c. 55. the period within which accounts of money issued to sub-accountants may be transmitted according to 25 Geo. S. c. 52. s. 17, 18, to the auditor's office, is enlarged to twelve months after flat December yearly; and the auditor's office shall take such accounts into consideration within six months. - By 45 Geo. 3. c. 91. his majesty may appoint three commissioners as an additional board for examining and auditing public extraordinary accounts, to whom the powers of the commissioners of public accounts, under 25 Geo. 3. c. 52. are extended; but such commissioners shall not be members of parliament.—By 45 Geo. 3. c. 47. commissioners were appointed to enquire into the public expenditure, and the conduct of the military departments, and this act was continued till the end of the then next session, by 48 Geo. 3. c. 61. -By 46 Geo. 3. c. 80. commissioners were appointed to examine accounts of public expenditures in the West Indies; this act has since been amended by 48 Geo. 3, c. 91. and the same powers are now given which are granted by former acts to commissioners for auditing the public accounts.—By 46 Geo. 3. c. 141. the comptrollers of army, accounts shall not be auditors of public accounts. s. 1.—His majesty may appoint ten commissioners for auditing the public accounts, with a salary of 15001, per annum to the chairman, and 12001, per annum to the others, and the treasury may allow salaries to clerks and incidental expenses. s. 1—4.

Treasury may subdivide commissioners into boards, and apportion their husiness. But no vacancy shall be filled up without act of parlinment, so as to keep the number above six: the king may from time to time, on avoidance, appoint a new chairman from the other commissioners, and when parliament shall by address state that the public accounts are sufficiently forward, the commissioners may be reduced to six. The majority of the commissioners of any board to be a quorum. s. 5.7.—All public accountants shall transmit annual accounts to commissioners within three months after Christmas: but such yearly accounts shall not preclude other accounts, to be attested on oath. s. 8, 9.—Paymaster of the forces, the treasurer of the navy, the treasurer of the ordnance, or any other public officer, shall transmit accounts of money issued to others, and commissioners may charge such persons as sub-accountants, s. 10. and the commissioners may allow such money in the accounts of principal accountants. s. 11.-No accountant shall be allowed any sum paid to a subaccountant, unless accounts shall be transmitted as by this act directed, s. 12.—Accountants may be discharged, on payment of money into the exchequer, or into the bank. s. 13 .- Sums paid by order of persons in foreign parts, not being accountants, are to he accounted for and checked, upon order of the commissioners for that purpose. s. 14.—Commissioners may allow to any accountant any sum not exceeding 100% on account, prior to the 22d July, 1806, and 30% subsequent thereto, on oath, without vouchers, and commissioners may allow imperfect vouchers where there is no fraud; but all allowances without vouchers, or on imperfect ones, shall be specified to the treasury. s. 15, 16.—The commissioners may call upon accountants to produce their accounts: if accounts are not produced, certificates thereof shall be presented to the exchequer, from whence process may issue to compel the account. s. 17.—Comptrollers of army accounts may examine the accounts of commissaries, and others for military expenditures (except ordnance), and the exchequer may fine persons refusing so to account. s. 18 .- Persons wasting or embezzling the public stores may be charged therewith, and an account thereof transmitted to the king's remembrancer, to be put in charge. s. 19. - Commissioners and others, having accounted to the comptrollers, are not liable to account to the auditors. s. 20 .- Penalty on giving false evidence, perjury. s. 21.-Commissioners shall hot be disabled from being members of parliament, and must be sworn before the chancellor of the exchequer to act impartially. s. 22, 23. Persons giving fulse evidence shall be guilty of perjury, and liable to the pemalties of perjury accordingly. s. 21.—By 47 Gen. 3. sen. 2. c. 39. when balances have improperly remained in the hands of any accountant, the commissioners for auditing the public accounts they charge the accountant with interest. And the commissioners may make anmual rests on such accounts: but notice must be given to the party of the amount of the charge for interest, who may however append from such commissioners to the court of exchequer. 's. 1-4 .- Phterest shall have the same effect as interest charged under former acts .- Accounts may be attested, and Peers entrusted with public money whall attest accounts. Deputies may also attest accounts; and accounts that he proceeded in notwithstanding defect in attestation.—The periods for the delivering of accounts under 46 Geo. 3. c. 141. h extended: and the commissioners may in certain cases dispense with the production of cash accounts. s. I. et seq. 9.

ACCOUNTANT GENERAL, an officer in the court of chancery, appointed by act of parliament, to receive all minusy todged in court : no fees shall be taken by this officer or his clerks, on pain of being punished for extortion; but they shall be paid salaries. 12 Geo. 1. c. 32.

ACCUSATION. By Magna Charth, so man shall be imprisoned or condemned on any accusation, without trial by his peers, or the law.

AC ETIAM, is a clause in a writ, where, to entitle the court to jurisdiction, an additional cause of action is alledged; as where the defendant is required to answer the plaintiff in a plea of trespass, and also (ac etiam) to a bill of debt.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT MONEY, a sum of money, paid by the tenant on the death of the landlord, in acknowledgment of the new landlord.

ACQUITTAL, in one sense, is to be free from entries and molestations of a superior lord, for services issuing out of land; and, in another, for the deliverance and setting free of a person, from the suspicion of guilt; one acquitted of a feloby cannot be tried again for the same offence, as he may plead auter fois acquit. Acquittal in law, is, when two are indicted, the one as principal, the other as accessary; the principal being discharged, the accessary will, of consequence be acquitted by law. Acquittal in fact, is, when by verdict, a person is found not guilty of the offence whereof he is charged. 2 Inst. 383.

ACQUITTANCE, a release or discharge in writing for a sum of money; and no one is obliged to pay a sum of money, if the demandant refuse to give an acquittance.

An acquittance given by a servant, for a sum of money received for the use of his master, shall be a good discharge for that sum, provided such servant is in the general practice of receiving his master's rents, debts, &c.

An acquittance in full of all demands, will discharge all debts, except such as are on specialty under seal, which can only be destroyed by a general release.

ACT OF PARLIAMENT. Statutes, acts, or edicts, made by the king, with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in parliament assembled. An act of parliament, is the exercise of the highest earthly authority that the kingdom acknowledges. It hath power to bind, not only every subject, but even the king himself, if particularly named therein, and cannot be altered or repealed, but by the same authority.

Where the common law and a statute differ, the common law gives place to the statute; and an old statute, gives place to a new one. 1 Black. 89. By the 38 Goo. 3. c. 13. every act of parliament, in which the commencement thereof is not directed to be from a specified time, and which shall pass after the 8th of April, 1793, immediately after the title thereof, shall be endorsed by the clerk of parliament, with the day, month, and year, when the same passed and received the royal assent; which endorsement shall be taken to be the date of its commencement, where no other commencement shall be therein provided.—By the 41 Geo. 3. sess. 2. c. 90. s. 9. the statutes of England and Great Britain, printed by the king's printer, shall be conclusive evidence in Ireland: and Irish statutes passed before the union, and in like manner printed there by the king's printer, shall be evidence in Great Britain. By 48 Geo. 3. c. 106. when bills for continuing expiring acts shall not pass before such acts expire, such continuing acts shall take effect from the date of the expiration of the act intended to be continued.

ACTION, is defined to be a legal demand of one's right; and implies a recovery of, or restitution to something. The suit tili judgment, is properly called an action, but not after; and therefore a release of all actions, is regularly no bar of an execution. Co. Lit. 289.

Actions are divided into criminal and civil; criminal, are either to have judgment of death, or only to have judgment for damage to the party, fine to the king, imprisonment, &c. A civil action, is that which tends only to the recovery of what is due to a person, as action of debt, &c. Civil actions are divided into real, personal, and mixed. Co. Lit. 284.

Action real, is that which concerns real property only, whereby the plaintiff or demandant, claims title to have any lands or tenements, reats, commons, or other bereditaments, in fee simple, feetail, or for term of life. 3 Black. 117.

Action personal, is that which one man may have against another, by reason of any contract for money or goods, or for any offence or trespan done by him, or some other, for whose act he is amwerable. Bract. lib. 3. c. 3.

Mized actions, are those in which the freehold is recovered, and also damages for the unjust detention of it. Co. Lit. 284. For the various kinds of actions, see Covenant, Debt, Detinue, Stander, Trespan, Treser, &c.

Actions popular, are those given on breach of some penal statute; which every men has a right to sue for himself and the king by action, information, &c. (See title information, infra.). This kind of action is called popular; because it is given to any one in general who will prosecute.

ACTOR. The proctor, or advocate, in civil law courts.

ADDITION, signifies a title given to a man, beside his christianand surmane, setting forth his estate, degree, mystery, trade, place of dwelling, and Additions of estate are yeoman, gentleman, esquire, and the like: additions of degree, are names of dignity, as knight, baron, earl, marquis, duke: and additions of mystery are printer, painter, mason, carpenter, distiller: additions of towns, as London, Bristol, &c. By k Hen. 5. c. 5. it is provided, that in every original weit of actions, personal appeals, and indictments, in which the exigent shall be awarded, to the names of the defendants of such write, additions shall be made of their estate, &c. But surplusage of additions shall not prejudice.

ADEMPTION, or taking away of a legacy, arises from a sup-

ADJOURNMENT, a putting off until another day, or to another place.

ADJUDICATION, a giving, or pronouncing judgment.

ADMEASUREMENT, is a writ brought for remedy against such persons as usurp more than their share. It lies in two cases, one is termed admeasurement of dower, where the widow of the deceased bolds from the beir, or his guardian, more in the name of har dower, than of right belongs to her. The other is admeasurement of pasture, which lies between these that have common of pasture appendant to their freshelds, or common of viciongs; in case, any one of them surcharge the common with more cattle than they ought. Regist. 171 a. F. N. 143.

ADMINISTRATOR, is a person to whose charge is committed, by the ecclesiastical court, the personal property of a person dying intestate, for which he is accountable when thereunto required. See Executor.

ADMIRAL, an officer or magistrate of high authority, having the government of the royal navy, and in his court, the determination of all causes belonging to the sea, and offences committed thereon. This office is now usually exercised by commissioners, who, by state 2. W. & M. c. 9. are declared to have the same authorities, justicalisations, and power, as the lord high admiral.

ADMIRALTY. The admiralty, and admirals of England, had formerly jurisdiction in all causes of merchants and mariners, both civil and criminal; not only on the main sea, but in all foreign parts, within and without the king's dominions; but by 28 Hen. 7. c. 15. all felonies committed on the sea, shall be tried by commissioners nominated by the lord chancellor.

Civil Jurisdiction of the court. The proceedings are according to the method of the exclesiontical court, and held at the same place. It is no court of record; and an appeal from its decision lies to the court of delegates. From the sentence of an inferior court of manifestation, an appeal lies to the court of the lord high admiral.

Criminal Jurisdiction. The judge of the admiralty presides in this court, as the deputy of the lord high admiralt and the court may be held in any place. Of the commissioners nominated by the lord chancellor, two common law judges are constantly appointed; and although the judges try the prisoner, yet the judge of the admiralty always presides.

ADMISSION to a benefice, is, when the bishop upon examination, approves of the person presented, as a fit person to serve the cure of the church to which he is appointed.

ADMITTANCE, is the giving possession of a copyhold estate, as livery of seisin is of a freehold. It is of three kinds, upon a volumetary grant by the lord—upon surrender by the former tenant—and admittance by descent. See Copyhold.

AD QUOD DAMNUM, a writ issuing out of and returnable into the chancery, directed to the sheriff, to enquire by a jury, what dannage it will be to the king, or any other, to grant a liberty, fair, market, highway, or the like.

ADULTERY, is the sin of incontinence between two married persons; and if only one of the persons be married, it is called single adultery, to distinguish it from the other, which is double. It is an additional aggravation to the crime of adultery in a woman, that it not only entails a spurious race on the bushand, for whom he is obliged to provide; but also destroys that peace and mutual endearment, which ought always to subsist in the marriage state. This crime was severely punished by the ancient law of the land, but the present proceedings against adulterers, are chiefly in the ecclesiastical courts. The most lucrative method, however, of pursuing the adulterer, seems to be to institute an action against him in one of his Majesty's courts at Westminster, by the husband of the adulterers, for seducing and debauching his wife.

ADVERTISEMENTS: see Stamps.

ADVOCATE, the patron of a cause, who assists his client with advice, and pleads for him. An advocate, in the ecclesiastical law, is the same as a counsellor at common law. As to the admission of advocates, see Stamps (infra).

· ADVOW, or AVOW, to justify or maintain an act formerly done. As if one take a distress for rent, or other thing, and he that is distrained sues a replevin; he that took the distress, by maintaining the act, is said to arew.

ADVOWEE, he that bath the right to present to a benefice.

ADVOWSON, is the right of presentation to a benefice. Advowsons are either appendant, or in gross. Lords of manors being originally the only founders, and consequently the only patrons of the churches; the right of patronage, or presentation, so long as it continues assexed to the possession of the manor, is called an advowson appendant; and it will pass or be conveyed, together with the manor, as incident and appendant thereunto, by a grant of the manor only. But where the property of the advowson, hath been once separated from the property of the manor, by legal conveyence, it is called an advowson in gross, and it never can be appendant any more.

Advowsons are also either presentative, collative, or donative. Presentative, where the patron hath a right of presentation to the bishop, or ordinary; collative, where the bishop is the patron; and donative, when the king, or any subject by his licence, founds a church or chapel, and ordains that it shall be merely in the gift of the patron.—See Lapse, Presentation.

. Advowson of religious houses, those who founded any house of religion had thereby the advowson or patronnge of it.

AFFEERERS, such as are appointed in courts-leet upon onth, to set fines on such as have committed faults.

. AFFIDAVIT, is an oath in writing, sworn before some person legally anthorised to administer the same: the true place of abode, and addition of the person making such affidavit, is to be inserted therein; it should set forth the matter of fact only, and not the merits of the cause, of which the court is to judge; it must also set forth the matter positively, and all material circumstances attending it, and be absolute, and not conched in words of reference; except in the case of assigners, executors, &c. who may swear to their belief of the matter.—By the 16 & 17 Car. 2. c. 9. and the 4 Geo. 3. c. 81. the chancellors of the Dutchy of Lancaster and of the County Palatine of Durham, are empowered to grant commissions to take affidavits there; and the person receiving such affidavits shall take one shilling for so doing.—By 28 Car. 2. affidavits in the courts at Westminster may be taken before commissioners appointed by the Ld. Ch. Justice, or other judges; or, during the circuit, before a judge of assize; and the fee for such affidavit is one shilling.

AFFIRM, to ratify or confirm a former law or judgment.

AFFIRMATION; an indulgence allowed by law to the people called Quakers, who, in cases where an eath is required from others, may make a solemn affirmation that what they say is true. But their affirmation is confined to civil cases, and is not allowed in any criminal cause. 22 Geo. 2. c. 46. s. 37.

AFFOREST, to turn ground into a forest.

AFFRAY, is a public fighting (if it be in private it is no afray, but an assault), and is a public offence to the terror of the king's subjects. All afrays in general, are punishable with fine and imprisonment. I Haw. 138, and a constable is not only empowered to part an afray in his presence, but can justify commitment till the offenders find sureties for the peace. One. Elis. 375.

AGE, in the law, is used for those special times, which enable persons, of both sexes, to do certain acts, which before, through want of years and judgment, they are prohibited to do. A man, attwelve years of age, ought to take the oath of allegiance to the king; at fourteen, which is his age of discretion, he may consent to marriage, and choose his guardian, and is also competent to be a witness; at twenty-one he may alienate his lands, goods, and chattels. No one may be a member of parliament under the age of twenty-one years; nor can any one be ordained a priest until twenty-four, now be a bishop until thirty years of age. A woman, at nine years of age, is dowable, at twelve she may consent to marriage; at fourteen she is at years of discretion, and may choose a guardian; and at twenty-one may alienate her lands, &c. I Inst. 78.

AGENT, a person appointed to transact the business of anothers. It is a principle of law, that whenever a man has a power, as owner, to do a thing, he may, as consistent with this right, do it by deputy, either as attorney, agent, factor or servant. It has been asserted, that agents should be appointed by a formal power of attorney; but this is not necessary; for the authority of an agent to draw, indorse, and accept bills in the name of his principal, is usually in words. 7 T. R. 209. 12 Mod. 604.

If a person be appointed a general agent, the principal is bound by all his acts. But an agent, specially appointed, cannot bind his principal by an act whereby he exceeds his authority. 5 T. R. 757.

AGENT AND PATIENT, is the person who is the doer of a thing, and the party to whom done; thus, if a man be indebted to another, and afterwards make the creditor his executor, and die, the executor, by retaining so much of the goods of the deceased as will satisfy his debt, is both agent and patient. But a man shall not be the judge of his own came. 8 Rep. 138.

AGE-PRIER, is where an action is brought against one under age, for lands which he hath by descent, who by petition or motion shows the matter to the court, and prays that the action may stay till his full age, which the court generally agrees to.

AGILD, free from penalties, not subject to the customary fine or imposition.

AGISTMENT, is where other men's cattle are taken into any ground, at a certain rate for their feeding. There is also an agistment of sea banks, where lands are charged with a tribute to keep out the sea.

AGNUS DEI, a piece of white wax, stamped with the figure of a lamb, and consecrated by the pope: but not permitted to be brought into this kingdom, on pain of a premunire. 13 Eliz. c. 2.

AGREEMENT, is a memorandum, article, or minute, importing the coment or concurrence of two or more persons; the one in disposing of, and the other in receiving some property, right, or bement, and is generally made preparatory to a more formal instrument of conveyance. The requisites of an agreement are, parties capable of contracting; and a property, right, or benefit, capable of being contracted for. Every agreement ought to be perfect, full, and complete, so as to shew with precision, what is int nded to be stipulated between the parties, and should also make express provision against the possibility of failure in any of the contracting parties.

In many cases, the party injured by breach of an agreement, may have a remedy, either at common law, or in a court of equity. But wherever the matter of the bill is merely in damages, there the remedy is at law, because the damages cannot be ascertained by the conscience of the chancellor, and therefore must be settled by a jury. Abr. Eq. 16.

1.

Although it is prudent that both parties should actually sign time agreement, it will be binding, notwithstanding the statute of frauds, if it be signed by one party only; provided the other party be so circumstanced, that he can have an adequate remedy thereupon. I Doug. 296.---See Stamps.

ATD-PRAYER, a term used in pleading, for a petition in court to call in help from another person, that buth an interest in the thing contested.

ALBA FIRMA, a white rent paid in silver, in distinction from that paid in corn, &c.

ALDERMAN, a magistrate subordinate to a mayor of a city or town corporate. This office is for life, so that when one of them dies, or resigns, a ward-mote is called, which returns the person they have chosen to the court of aldermen, who are obliged to admit him to supply the vacancy. All the aldermen of London, &c. are justices of peace, by charter of 15 Geo. 2. and are exempt from serving inferior offices; nor shall they be put upon assizes, or serve on juries, so long às they continue such. Cro. Jac. 585.

ALE-HOUSES. Every inn is not an ale-house, nor is every ale-house an inn: but if an impresent the common selling of alejhis inn then becomes an ale-house. So if an ale-houses lodges And entertains travellers, it also is an inn. I Burn's Just. 35. any person may erect an inn, to lodge travellers, without any license or allowance for such erection: ibid.

In order to prevent disorders in ale-houses, the legislature has passed a variety of wholesome provisions, which we shall now give, in the order of time when they were severally made, viz.

By the 5 Edw. 6. no person shall keep an ale-house unless he be licensed in sessions; or by two justices (one of the quarum) on pain of three days imprisonment, and a fine to be imposed by the quarter sessions. The justices have power to put them down, and to take recognizances for keeping good order; but this act shall not restrain the selling of malt liquors in fairs.—I Jac. 1. c. 9. alchouse-keepers permitting townsmen to sit tippling, are liable to ten shiflings penalty, and on non-payment to be imprisoned till paid; and persons tippling therein, are to forfeit three shillings and fourpence, or sit in the stocks four hours. (It is much to be regretted that this act is not more rigorously enforced than it now is).—4 Jac. 1. c. 4. selling ale to an unlicensed alchouse-keeper, except for his own private use, incurs a penalty of six shillings and eight-pence for every barrel, to be recovered at the quarter sessions.—4 Jac. 1. c. 5. persons convicted of drunkenness are to forfeit five shillings, or be put in the stocks six hours.—If convicted a second time, to be bound over to their good behaviour; but the prosecution to be within six months. ib .--7 Jac. 1. c. 10. an alchouse-keeper, convicted under either of the two last acts, is disabled to keep an ale-house for three years.-21 Jac. 1. c. 7. one witness, or the party's own confession, shall be sufficient; and the oath of the party confessing shall convict others. -1 Car. c. 14. alehouse-keepers permitting any person whatsoever to sit tippling, shall incur the penaky of 1 Jac. 1. c. 9. Vintners, keeping inne or victualling houses, to be also liable .- 3 Car. 1. c. 4. persons keeping alchouses without license are to forfeit twenty shillings to the poor, or be whipped; and for the second offence, to be committed to the house of correction for a manth; but any person may, during a fair, sell malt liquors in booths.—2 Geo. 2. c. 28. (and also 20 Geo. 2. c. 3].) no liceme shall be granted, but at a general meeting of justices, on September the first, or within twenty days after, and the same shall be made out but for one year; notice is likewise to be given of the time and place for granting them; and personselling brandy are to be licensed, and subject to the same rules as common alchouse-keepers,-17 Geo. 2. c. 17. victuallera naving a license to retail spirits shall not, during the time of that license, exercise the trade of a distiller, grocer, or chandler, or keep a orandy shop for sale of any spirits, upon pain of forfeiting the license, and also 101. for every offence. Persons selling a less quantity than two gallons shall be deemed retailers. And the license shall. not extend to any other than the house mentioned in it.-26 Geo. 2. c. 13. jestices being brewers, inn-keepers, distillers, victuallers, or masters, are prohibited from granting of licenses for selling of ale, beer, or spirits. s. 12.—But now, by the 39 Geo. 3. c. 80. if in cities and towns any justice shall be incapable by reason of his dealing in spirits, a justice of the county at large may act. s. 3.—26 Geo. 2. C. 31. justices licensing ale-houses are to take a recognizance in the sum of IOL for the maintenance of good order; which recognizance. must be sent to the clerk of the peace, on penalty of 31, 6s, 8d, s. 1. -Licenses are to be granted to none, unless they were licensed the year preceding, or can produce certificates (except in cities andtowns corporate, s. 16.) of their good fame,-Where a justice shall adjudge the recognizance to be forfeited, he is to summon the party. to the quarter sessions, and the jury finding him guilty, the recognizance is to be estreated, and he is to be disabled from selling of. beer or spirits for three years .- Where a justice shall suspect that any victualler sells ale or the like, without a license, he may summos him and the officer who surveys him, and expunise such officer upon oath.—A justice upon information that any person is reasonably suspected of selling ale without a license, is to summon the party and evidence before him; and persons summoned not appearing are to forfeit 101.—The rights of the universities to grant licenses are reserved. The times of granting licenses for common inms and ale-houses in any city or town corporate are not altered. Parishioners are likewise declared to be competent witnesses. Ibid. s. 2. & seq.—30 Geo. 2. c. 24. publicans permitting journeymen, servants, or apprentices to game in their houses, are to forfeit 40s. and for the second and every subsequent offence 10l. which penalties are to be levied by distress and sale.—9 Geo. 3. c. 6. the powers, directions, and penalties, provided and established by any act made since 8 Geo. 2. as to selling spirituous liquors, without license, may be exercised, but transporting and whipping are to cease.

By 43 Geo. 3. c. 69. retailers of wine and spirits are to take out an annual excise license, and pay as follows:

A angular ozeroc recomo, emo par, ao torro no.	3.	8.	đ.
For every license to retail foreign wine in England, if the party has not a spirit or beer license	5	4	0
if the party has a beer license, but not		•
	A	4	^
one for spirits		4	0
if he has also a spirit license	Z	4	0 to retail foreign wines in Scotland, if the party has not a spirit or beer license	3	6	8
if he has a beer license, but not one for spirits	2	13	4
if he has also a spirit license	1	6	8
to retail spirits in Great Britain, if the party's house be rated under 151	A	A	0
if rated at £15, and under £20,			o
			0
if — at 20. and under 25			_
at 25. and under 30	0	10	0
if — at 30. and under 40			0
if — at 40. and under 50			0
if — at 50. or upwards			0
30 Geo. 2. c. 38. licenses shall continue in force till Oct. 10, the granting thereof, and if granted between the 5th of A	рr	il a	ŋd
Oct. 10, a rateable proportion only to be charged. The lice	ns	C8 8	re to be renewed annually, and persons retailing without a lic not renewing it, forfeit 501. s. 8, 9.—On death or removal of persons, the commissioners of excise may authorise the exec assignees to carry on the trade for the remainder of the ter license is sufficient for a partnership in a house; and the l	IC(	:USC	LS not to authorise the party to retail in any other house than that for which it was granted. But this shall not prejudice the privileges of the two universities, nor the company of vintaers, or any town corporate; but freemen of the vintners' company by redemption must take out licemes: and the letters patent for licensing taverus at Sc. Albam are confirmed. s. 10, 11 .- Persons selling foreign wine in less quantities than equal to the measure first imported, or British made wises in the quantity of twenty-five gallons or under, or spirits in less than two gallom, shall be deemed retailers. s. 15.-By 48 Geo. 3. c. 143. the stamp duties on licenses to retail ale shall after Oct. 10 cease, and in lieu thereof the alchouse-keeper, or victualier, shall take out an excise liceme for the purpose, and pay for the same a liceme duty of 21. 2s. And sunch licenses shall be taken out from the excise within ten days next after the date of the justices' liceme, and shall continue in force until the 10th of October cosuing, and no longer; and such license is to be renewed annually within ten days after the expiration of the former, and no one shall retail ale, beer, or the like, without such annual excise on pair of 504. But no excise liceme shall be granted, except to such persons only, as have been previously licensed by the justices; and this act shall not affect any former regulations, as to licenses to be granted by the magistrates; and clerks to justices are entitled to the same fees as heretofore.—If persons be disabled by conviction to keep an ale-house, they are to forfeit this license, and cannot afterwards sell any liquors there under, s. 1 to 11.

By 32 Geo. S. c. 59. if alchouse-keepers die, or remoye, before the expiration of their licenses, new ones may be granted to the executors, or new tenants, till the next licensing day, obtaining within thirty days after such death or removal, the usual certificate, and entering into the recognisances, which certificates and recognisances are to be sent to the clerk of the peace to be renewed. s. l.—In Middlesex and Surry the justices at the general licensing meetings are to appoint special ones, not less than six, nor more than eight, is each year: at which they may grant, on the removal of licensed . persons, a continuance of the license, or a new one to the succeeding occupier, producing the certificate and entering into the recogpisance.—But no new licenses may be granted at the petty sessions to houses not licensed at the general licensing day. s. 4 .- Nothing berein contained is to extend to alter the times of granting licemes; or oblige persons licensed the year preceding to produce certificates. 4.5.—Persons entering into licensed houses, without the authority of the justices, are liable to the penalty for retailing without license. But persons obtaining the necessary certificates are indemnified till thusance of licences. s. 6—8. No person shall sell wine by retail to be drank in his own house without having a beer licence, and justices are to have the same jurisdiction over such retailers of wine as they have over sellers of beer, who are to be subject for retailing wine without a license to the same penalties as for retailing ale without license. This act is not to extend to the vintuer's company, the universities, or St. Albans; but freemen of the vintuer's company by purchase since October 11, 1792, are not exempted. s. 9, 11.

By 95 Geo. S. c. 113. persons solling, or permitting to be sold, in their houses, exclosable liquors by retail without a license, shall forfeit 20% and the costs of copriction. s. 1.—Any justice may determine complaints; and if the penalties are not paid on conviction, if the party is present, or if absent, within three days after notice thereof, the same to be levied by distress. s. 2 .- The officers shall execute their warrants agreeably to 27 Geo. 2. c. 20; the provisions of which, and of 33 Geo. 3. c. 55. as to execution of warrants, are to extend to this act. s. 2.- Distress may be seld within four days, and the officer to be allowed not exceeding 5s. per day, and his assistants Br. s. 3, 4.—Half the penalty to the informer, and the other half to the poor of the parish; and if sufficient distress cannot be found, the justice may commit the offender for not exceeding six nor less than three calendar months. s. 5 .- The leaving a summons at the place where the offence is committed, and affixing a copy thereof at the door, is sufficient notice, to compel persons to answer informations for selling liquors by retail without a license. s. 6.—Retailers shall make previous entry at the excise office of all places used for laying beer, ale, cyder, perry, and other exciseable liquors, on pain of 501. and places not entered shall be deemed concealed places.—Such liquors, and goods, and chattels, found where any offence is committed, to be liable to distress .- Persons making entry to be deemed retailers: justices may summon excise officers, to produce entries, and stock books, and may summon retailers to produce licenses; and for not producing them may adjudge the defaulters guilty.-A penalty of 164, on witnesses not attending summonses, shall be icvised by distress, and if sufficient cannot be found, the party may be committed for not exceeding six months: the penalty to be applied to the use of the poor of the parish.—Goods liable to seizure may be distrained wherever found, and justices may indorse warrants for seizing goods removed into their jurisdictions. s. 7 to 11.-Appeals are allowed to the next quarter sessions, unless beld within six days after conviction, and then to the next subsequent sessions, which may finally determine such appeals, and adjudge costs. 4. 12.

• }

3

ı,

3-1,

:

.

•

Ĺ

4

i.

Í

ė

-Justices may mitigate penalties in the case of a first effence, but not to less than 10% ishabitants may be witnesses, and penalties are to be determined in six months. s. 13, 14, 15. But this act shall not probabit the selling of ale, or beer, at fairs. s. 17.—By 38 Geo. 3, c. 54. s. 13. the penalty in the last act is not to extend to beer, or ale, sold in casks containing not less than five gallors, or in bottles not less than two dozen quarts.

ALE-61LVER, is a rest or tribute paid annually to the lord mayor of London, by those that sell ale within the liberty of the city.

ALE-TASTER, an officer in every court leet, sworn to look to the assize and goodness of ale and beer within the lordship. In London there are ale-conners, chosen by the livery, to taste ale, beer, &c. in the limits of the city.

ALIAS, is a second writ, after a former one has been sued out without effect.

ALIAS DICTUS, is used in the description of a defendant, where his true name is not certainly known.

ALIENS, are persons not born within the dominions of the crown of England, or within the allegiance of the king; but from this rule of law must be excepted the children of the kings of England, and the children of British ambassaders born abroad. No alien can be a revenue officer, or hold any office under the crown. The issue of an English women by an alien, born abroad, is an alien. A Duraf, and East. 400.

Alters can have no beine, became they have not in them any inheritable blood. 2 Black, 249.

All persons being natural born subjects, may inherit as beiss to their ancestors, though those ancestors were allens.

If an Englishman living beyond the sea, marry a wife there, and have a child by her, and die, this child is born a denisen, and shall be heir to him, notwithstanding the wife was an alien. Cro. Car. 601.

If an alien be made a denisen by letters patent, and then purchase lands, his son born before his denisation shall not inherit those lands a but a son born afterwards may, even though his elder brother be living. 2 Black. 249.—See Denizen, Naturalization.

Every foreign seaman, serving on board an English ship two years, in time of war, is, by 13 Geo. 2. c. 3. naturalized,

By 43 Geo. 3. c. 155. aliens not departing the united kingdom when ordered by proclamation, may be committed to goal; and such aliens returning, may be transported for life. Aliens disubeying orders, to be imprisoned, for the first offence, one month; for the second, two months. One secretary of state, or the lord lieutenant, or his chief secretary, may grant warrants to conduct aliens out of the kingdom, not obeying proclamation. Copy of conviction, and circumstances of the alien, shall be transmitted to the secretary of Masters of vessels shall give to officers of customs a declaration of the names of aliens on board. Aliens shall not land till the master of the vessel has made the declaration required, and permission be obtained, on penalty of imprisonment; and masters landing aliens contrary hereto, shall forfeit 50% per man, and the boats used in landing them. Captains of ships neglecting to make declarations of aliens, shall forfeit 201. per man. Allens arriving, and aliens departing, shall make a declaration to the officer of the customs, of their name, rank, and business, on pais, on conviction before a justice, to be imprisoned for one month. Aliens shall receive certificates from the officers of the customs; but the act does not extend to mariners certified to be employed in navigating vessels s and masters refusing to give such certificates, to forfeit 15% or be imprisoned one month. Arms shall be seized, if attempted to be brought by aliens, other than as merchandize. His majesty may direct aliens to land at particular places only, and masters acting contrary to such direction shall forfeit 40%, per man, and the ship. No alless shall depart from the place of arrival without a passport, and passports may be refused, and aliens committed. Aliens having arrived since Jan. 1, 1792, or who shall arrive during the present hostilities, intending to change their residence, shall obtain passports. Magistrates are empowered to cause such aliens to exhibit their passports, and to commit them under suspicious circumstances. Persons forging passports to be imprisoned, on conviction, for not exceeding three months, and afterwards quit the kingdom; and returning, to be transported for seven years. His majesty may order aliens to be detained in custody in the kingdom. His majesty may erder the residence of aliens to be at particular places, and persons not obeying such orders are liable to six months imprisonment. majesty may order all aliens to give an account of all their weapons, arms, and the like, which they shall accordingly deliver up, and shall not have, or buy any, without license, on pain of imprisonment, for not exceeding one month: and the houses of aliens may be searched for arms. His majesty may require all allens to register themselves, and obtain licenses of residence, which may be limited, revoked, or renewed: and the penalty on being at large, without such license, is six months imprisonment. If the persons authorised to grant such licenses think fit to refuse them, the parties shall be committed, until the circumstances shall be certified to the secretary of state, and licenses shall be forfeited, if aliens are found out of their districts, and fresh licenses may be granted in lieu of licenses but. No alien shall quit the realm without a passport, and masters of ships, privy to such departure without a passport, shall forfeit 50%. and the alien be imprisoned not exceeding two months; but this does not extend to mariners. s. 1 to 27 .- Aliens having quitted France on account of the troubles, shall not be liable to arrest, or execution, for debts contracted out of the British dominions. s. 28. This is also confirmed by the 41 Geo. S. (u. k.) c. 106. Aliens not going according to their pumports, are liable to the same penalty as if they were found without one. 43 Geo. 3. c. 155. s. 29. Housekeepers shall require aliens caming to lodge, to produce their license, and send a copy to the next justice, on pain of 104 copies of which notices shall be sent weekly, is London, to an appointed office, and elsewhere quarterly, to the clerk of the peace. Lord mayors of London and Dublin, and other magistrates specially authorised, may apprehead and examine aliens, and transmit their proceedings to a secrelary of state. This act is not to affect ambamadors, or their servants. or aliens under fourteen. Proof, on allegation of alienage, shall lie on the alien: prosecutions for felony shall be by indictment: aliens adjudged to be transported, shall be sent to such places as shall be appointed by his majesty: and persons sentenced to transportation for life, found within the realm, shall be guilty of felony without clergy. Justices of courts of record may admit aliens to bail: also justices acting under the authority of the secretary of state may admit aliem to bail: an alien bailed may be indicted, and if verdict against him, committed, and sent out of the country. Penalties exreeding 40%, are recoverable in the superior courts, and not exceeding 401. before any justice, in a summary way. This act shall costinue in force until three months after the ratification of the definitive treaty of peace.

By 45 Geo. 3. c. 32. foreign ships put under his majesty's protection by any capitalation, may be registered as prize ships, and be entitled to the privileges of British vessels, under certain regulations and restrictions. And aliens in foreign colonies, surrendered to his majesty, may exercise the occupations of merchants, or factors, taking the oath of allegiance. To continue in force during the present war, and until six months after the ratification of a definitive treaty of peace.

ALIENATION, transferring the property of any thing from one man to another. All persons who have a right to lands (except tenants for life, &c. which incurs a forfeiture of estate,) may generally alien them to others. Thus to alies land in sec, is to sell the fee simple thereof; and to alien in mortmain, is to make over lands, &c. to a religious house, or body politic, for which the king's liceme is to be obtained. 15 R. Z. c. 5. 1 Inst. 118.

ALIMONY, is that maintenance, which, after a divorce of husband and wife a menea et thoro, the ecclesiastical judge allows to the woman out of her husband's estate. But in case of an elopement, and living with an adulterer, the law allows her no alimony. S Black. 94.

ALLAY, or ALLOY, is a mixture of several metals with silver or gold; it is done to augment their weight, and thus defray the charge of coinage, and make it the more fusile. The allay in gold coin is silver and copper; and in silver coin, copper alone.

The standard of gold in England is twenty-two carats of fine gold, and two carats of allay in the pound troy. The standard for silver is eleven ounces two pennyweights, and eighteen pennyweights allay of copper.

ALLEGIANCE, is the lawful duty from the subject to the sovereign; and is either natural, acquired, or local. Natural, as every subject born, immediately upon his birth ought to pay a natural allegiance to his sovereign. Acquired, where a man onturalized, or made a denizen, acquires allegiance to the King. Local, where a man, who comes under the dominion of the king, ought to pay a local allegiance. 7 Co. 4, 5, 6.

ALLEGIARE, to defend or justify by due course of law.

ALLEVIARE, to levy or pay an accustomed fine.

ALLOCATIONE FACIENDA. A writ for allowing to an accountant, such sums of money as he hath lawfully expended in his office; directed to the lord treasurer and barons of exchequer, upon complaint made.

ALLOCATO COMMITATU, a new writ of exigent, allowed before any other county court holden, on the former not being fully served or complied with.

ALLODIAL, entire or absolute property.

ALLUVION, is the washing of a sea, or of a river; if land be gained of the sea, by the washing up of sand and earth by imperceptible degrees, so as in time to make a terra firma, it shall go to the owner of the land adjoining; but if the alluvion be sudden, and considerable, it belongs to the king by his prerogative. ? Black. 262.

ALMANACK, is part of the law of England, of which the courts must take notice in the return of writs, &c. but the almanack to go by, is that annexed to the book of common prayer. The court may judicially take notice of almanacks: for an almanack, wherein the father had written the day of the nativity of his son, was allowed as evidence to prove the non-age of his son. Raym. 84. M. 15. c. 2.—See Stamps.

ALMONER an officer of the king's house, whose business it is to distribute the king's almo every day; this officer is usually some bishop.

ALNAGE, the measure of an ell, or measuring with an ell. ALODIUM, signifies a manor.

ALTARAGE, the offerings made upon the altar, and the profit that arises to the priest therefrom; this was declared in the exchequer to mean tithes of wool, lambs, colts, calves, pigs, chickens, butter, cheese, fruit, herbs, and other small tithes, with the offerings due; but our parsons have generally contented themselves with the greater profits of glebe, and tenths of corn and hay, and have left the small tithes to the officiating priests. 2 Cro. 516.

ALTERATION, when witnesses are examined upon exhibits, &c. they are to remain in the office, and not to be taken back into private hands, by whom they may be altered.

AMBASSADOR, is a person appointed by one sovereign power to another, to superintend his affairs at some foreign court; and supposed to represent the power from which he is sent. The person of an ambassador is inviolable.

By 12 Ann. c. 12. all process for arresting any ambassador, or his domestic servants, or for distraining his goods, shall be void: and the persons suing out such process shall be punished at the discretion of the lord chancellor, and chief justices, or any two of them.— No ambassadors shall protect any merchant or trader within the statutes of Bankrupt. No person shall be sued for arresting an ambassador's servant, unless such servant's name be registered in the secretary's office, and be hung up in the office of the sheriffs of London and Middlesex.

AMBIDEXTER, is taken for a juror, or embraceor, who takes money of both parties for giving his verdict; such a one shall forfeit ten times the sum taker. Crompt. Inst. 166.

AMENABLE, to be responsible or subject to answer, &c. in a court of justice.

AMENDMENT, is the correction of an error committed in any process, which may be amended after judgment; but if there be any error in giving the judgment, the party is driven to his writ of error; though, where the fault appears to be in the clerk who wrote the record, it may be amended. Terms of law.

By the 9 Hen. 5. c. 4. and also by 14 Edw. 3. stat. 1. c. 6. errors in record, owing to the misprision of clerks, of a letter, or syllable, may be amended, as well after judgment given, as before. But such acts shall not extend to Wales, or outlawries. 4 Hen. 6. c. 3.—By 8 Hen. 6. c. 12. no record shall be reversed for error assigned by reason of raising, interlineation, addition, or diminution. The judges may reform all defects in any record, process, writ, or return, (appeals, indictments of treason, or felony, and outlawries therenpon excepted) and variance between a record and the certificate shall be amended by the judges. 1b. and also 8 Hen. 6. c. 15. No judgment shall be reversed, for a variation from the exemplification, where the record is exemplified or inrolled. 1b.—By 5 Geo. 1. c. 13. writs of error varying from the record, may be amended; except in criminal matters.

AMERCEMENT, or AMERCIAMENT, the pecuniary punishment of an offender against the king, or other lord, in his court, that is found to have offended, and to stand at the mercy of the king, or lord.

AMICUS CURIES. If a judge be doubtful or mistaken, in a matter of law, a bystander may inform the court as amicus suries. Inst. 178.

AMITTERE LEGEM TERRE, to lose and be deprived of the liberty of swearing in any court; such is the punishment of jurors found guilty in a writ of attaint. 5 Eliz. c. 9.

AMNESTY, an act of pardon or oblivion.

AMORTIZATION, an alicuation of lands or tenements in mortmain, to any corporation or fraternity, and their successors, &c.

AMPLIATION, a referring of judgment till the cause be further examined.

AMY, is the next friend to be trusted for an infant.

AN, JOUR, ET WASTE, year, day, and waste; a forfeiture of lands to the king by tenants committing felony, and afterwards the lands fall to the lord.

ANCESTOR, one from whom an inheritance is derived.

ANCHORAGE, a duty paid by the ships for the use of the haven where they cast anchor. As all ports and harbours belong to the sovereign, no person can let an anchor fail therein, without paying for the same.

ANCIENTS, ANCIENT DEMESNE: see ANTIENTS.

ANGEL, in the computation of money, ten shillings English.

ANGILD, the bare single valuation, or compensation of a criminal.

ANHLOTE, a single tribute, or tax.

ANIENS, void, of no force.

ANNATS, the same meaning with first fruits, because the rate of the first fruits, paid for spiritual livings, is after the value of one year's profit.

ANNIENTED, abrogated, frustrated, or brought to nothing.

ANNI NUBILES, when a woman is under the age of twelve years, her age to marry, she is said to be infra annos nubiles. 2 Inst. 434.

ANNO DOMINI, the computation of time from the incarnation of our Saviour, generally inserted in the dates of all public writings, sometimes with, and sometimes without the king's reign.

ANNOYANCE, any hurt done to a public place, as a highway, bridge, or common river; or to a private, as laying any thing that may breed infection, by encroaching, or the like.

ANNUITY, a yearly rent to be paid for terms of life, or years, or in fee; and is also used for the writ that lies against a man for the recovery of such a rent, if he be not satisfied yearly according to the grant.

The following statutes have been made for the better securing of private annukies, viz.

By 17 Geo. S. c. 26. a memorial of all deeds, bonds, or other instraments for granting life annuities, shall, within twenty days after the execution thereof, be involted in the court of Chancery; which shall contain the date, names of the parties, and witnesses; othervise every such deed, bond, or the like, shall be void. Before judgment shall be entered of record, upon any warrant of attorney, for recovering any amounty already granted, and before execution shall be med out, on any judgment already entered, a memorial shall be is rolled as aforesaid. All future deeds, bonds and instruments for granting of annuities, shall contain the consideration, and the names." of the parties at length, and if any part of the consideration shall be returned, or any notes shall not be paid when due, the court where the action is brought, may stay the proceedings, and order the deeds, bends, and other instruments to be cancelled. The clerk of the enrelucate in chancery shall keep a particular roll for annuities, wherein he shall specify the time of enrollment. His fees are, one skilling for the first 200 words, sixpence for each 100 words after, and one shilling for a search. All contracts, for the purchase of anmilies, with any person under twenty-one years of age, shall be void; and any person procuring or soliciting any minor, to grant manuity, or any solicitor, scrivener, or broker, taking more than 10s. per cent. for procuring money for annuities, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment. This act not to extend to annuities, or rent charges by will, marriage settlement, or for advancement of a child;

sor, if secured on lands of equal or greater value, if the granter is spined in fee or tail, or if secured by stocks actually transferred, if the dividend is of greater value; nor to voluntary annuities without pecuniary comideration, nor if granted by corporations, or by anthority of act of parliament, or if under 101. per ann. unless there be more than one from the same granter to, or in trust for the same grantee.

ANSWER in Chancery. On an indictment for perjury, in an answer in chancery, it is a sufficient proof of identity, if the name subscribed be proved to be the hand-writing of the defendant; and that the same was subscribed by the master on being sworn before him.

ANTIENTS, gentlemen of the inns of court. In Gray's-Inn, the society consists of benchers, antients, barristers, and students, under the bar; here the antients are of the oldest barristers.

ANTIENT DEMESNE, or DEMAIN, is a certain tenure, whereby all manors belonging to the crown in the days of Saint Edward, or William the Conqueror, were held, and both their numbers and names were written in the Domesday-Book now remaining in the exchaquer.

APOSTACY is a total resunciation of christianity, by embracing either a false religion, or no religion at all. By 9 and 10 Will. 3, c. 32. if any person educated in or having made profession of the christian religion, shall by writing, printing, teaching, or advised speaking, deny the christian religion to be true, or the holy ecriptures to be of divine authority, he shall for the first offence be incapable of holding any office or place of trust; and for the second be incapacitated from bringing any action, being guardian, executor, legatee, or purchaser of lands, and shall suffer three years imprisonment without bail, except he repent within four months after his first conviction, and renounce his error in open court.

APOTHECARIES, within London and seven miles thereof, being free of the company; and country apothecaries, who have served seven years apprenticeship, shall be exempted from serving offices: their medicines are to be searched and examined by the physicians, chosen by the college of physicians, and if faulty burnt. 32 Hen. 8. c. 40.—See Physicians.

APPARATOR, or APPARITOR, a messenger that serves the process of the spiritual court: his duty is to cite the offenders to appear; to arrest them; and to execute the sentence or decree of the judges.

· APPEAL, an accusation of another in a legal form, for a crime by him committed. Formerly there were several kinds of appeals, but those which require any consideration are, death, larceny, and ange, and that of mayben, which is considered as a trospos; but, on account of the great nicety required in conducting them, those are now entirely distance; and indictment is the only method new taken. 4 Black, 313.

Appeal also signifies the removal of a cause to a superior controlling tribunal, where the party bringing the appeal is termed the appealant. An appeal is frequently brought in matters of trade; and, from decision in the plantations, an appeal lies to the hing in council.

APPBARANCE, signifies the defendant's fling common or special bail, when he is served with a copy of, or arrested on any process out of the courts of Westminster. Defendants may appear in person, by attorney, by guardian, and next friend.

In person, where the party stands in contempt, for the court will not permit him to appear by attorney: also in capital, and criminal cases; where an act of parliament requires that the party should appear in person; and likewise in appeal or on attachment. I How. P. C. c. 22. s. 1.

By attorney, in all actions real, personal, and mixed, and for any crime whatsoever under the degree of capital, by favour of the court. F. N. B. 26. I Lev. 146.

By guardian and next friend, when under ago. Co. Lit. 135, b. 2. Inst. 390.

APPELLGR, or APPELLANT, he who has committed some felony, or other crime, which he confence and appeals; that is, accuses his accomplices.

APPENDANT, any inheritance belonging to another that is mperior or more worthy; indifferent to things appendant, and things appartenant. Thus common of Turbary cannot be appendant to land. 4 Rep. 37. but waifs and estrays may be appendant to a last, and a last may be appendant to a menor. 4 Rep. 36. 10 Rep. 64.

APPENAGE, or APENAGE, was formerly the portion of the younger children of the kings of France; where, by a fundamental law, called the law of appenages, the younger some had duchies, counties, or baronies granted to them.

APPLES and PEARS.—By the 1 Ann. st. 1. c. 15. Whereas apples and pears are frequently sold by measure, commonly called water-measure, the contents whereof are very uncertain, therefore for the future the said measure shall be round, and in diameter 18 inches and a half within the hoop, and eight inches deep, and so in proportion.

And every measure, commonly called water-measure, by which apples and pears are sold, shall be heaped as usually, and whoseeves shall or sell or buy any apples or pears by any other measure, shall forfeit 10s, half to the informer and half to the poor, on conviction on the onth of one witness before one justice (or mayor), to be levied by the petty constables by the warrant of the said justice, by distress and sale. s. 1. But this shall not extend to any measure scaled and allowed by the fruiterers company in London. s. 2.

APPORTIONMENT, is a division of rent into parts, according as the land whence the whole issues, is divided among two or more; for on partition of lands out of which a rent is issuing, the rent shall be apportioned. Danv. Abr. 507.

APPOSAL of Sheriffs, the charging them with money received upon their accounts in the exchequer.

APPRAISERS of goods, are sworn to make true appraisement; and, if they value the goods too high, they shall be obliged to take them at the price appraised. Stat. 13 Ed. 1. See Auctioneers.

APPREHENSION OF OFFENDERS .-- See Arrest.

APPRENTICE, one who is bound by covenant to serve a certain time, upon condition of the master's instructing him in his art or mystery: but he must be retained by the name of an apprentice expressly, otherwise he is no apprentice, though he be bound. Dalt. c. 58.

An apprenticeship is a personal trust between master and apprentice, and determines by the death of either of them; and where a master dies, an apprentice is not obliged to serve the executors of administrators for the remainder of the term. Doug. 1266.

A person cannot be bound apprentice but by deed indented; and this must be complied with for all purposes, except for obtaining a settlement. 5 Eliz. c. 4. s. 25. But, by 31 Geo. 2. c. 11. the apprentice may gain a settlement under such writing, though it be not indented.

By 51 Geo. 3. c. 90. it is enacted, that all indentures for binding parish apprentices, and all certificates of the settlements of poor persons, which have been heretofore executed and signed by two persons only, acting as churchwardens and as overseers of the poor, and also all such indentures and certificates as shall hereafter be so signed, shall be considered as good, valid, and effectual, as if the same had been executed and signed by distinct persons as churchwardens and distinct persons as overseers of the poor, according to the said recited act; any thing therein or in any other act contained to the contrary thereof nowithstanding. But nothing in this act contained, shall extend to do away or alter any decision which may have taken place in any court of law, respecting the binding of any paint apprentice, or the settlement of any poor person before the pasing of this act. s. 1, 2.

Where a premium is given with an apprentice, the indentures mut be, if within the bills of mortality, within one mouth, and elsewhere within two months after the date, taken to the stamp-office is the former case: and, in the latter, either to the stamp-office, or the collector of stamp-duties, and the master or mistress pay the duties specified infra, Title Stamps.

Every indenture for binding a poor apprentice must be on a sixpenny stamped piece of paper, or parchment; and an indenture of a poor or parish apprentice, assented to by two justices separately, is void; and no settlement is gained by serving under it. Durnf. and Bast 380. The churchwardens and overseers are not restrained to bind such children to the inhabitants of the parish, but are authorised to apprentice them to any other persons wherever resident, who are willing to take them. 2 Durnf. and Bast 730.

An infant may voluntarily bind himself apprentice by indenture; but no remedy at law lieth against an infant; 5 Eliz. c. 4. If the father covenant, it will of course bind him, but the son must be of the party, otherwise it is no apprenticeship. 8 Mod. 190.

A mag may, by law, chastise and correct his apprentice; but, if the master and his apprentice cannot agree, they may by 2 Geo. 2. c. 19. be discharged at their mutual request, either at the quarter ecssions, or by one justice, with appeal to the sessions; who may, if they think it reasonable, direct restitution of a rateable proportion of the money given with the apprentice. Salk. 67. But If an apprentice, with whom less than 10% has been given, run away from his master, he is compelled to serve out his term of absence, or make satisfaction for the same at any time within seven years after the expiration of the contract. 6 Geo. 3. c. 26. And, if an apprentice leave his master's service before his time be expired, his master is emtitled to all his earnings, Vez. 183. If a person entice away an apprentice be may be indicted, and the master has a remedy for damages by action. 6 Mod. 182. Whatever an apprentice gains is for the use of his master. The justices of peace may discharge an apprentice not only on the default of the master, but also on his own default: for, in such case, it is reasonable that the contracts, which were made by their authority, should be dissolved by the same power. Skin. 108. 2 Salk. 471.

Masters and apprentices in the city of London are regulated by the castoms of that city. By that custom, every apprentice bound to a freeman must be of 14 years of age, and his agreement must not be for a less term than seven years; and, if he break any of the covenants, no action may be brought against him as if he were of full age. Green's Privilege of the City, 27.

An apprentice in London, may be discharged from his master in the following cases: if the master give him unmerciful consections if he do not provide for him good and wholesome neverantes; if the master turn him away, or refuse to receive him into his service; if he leave of trade, and do not provide another master for the apprentice; if he remove out of the freedom; if he arghest or refuse to instruct the apprentice in his art or trade; if the apprentice shall be under 14 years when bound, or shall be bound for less than sown years; or, if he shall not be enrolled within the first year. Greatly Privilege of the City.

APPRENTICES, MARINE, paried boys ton years old, may be bound apprentices to the sea service till twenty-one, by the church wardens and overseers, with the approbation of two justices, or the mayor. 3 Anne, c. 6.

Masters of ships from the burthen of 30 to 50 tobs, to take one such apprentice, and one more for the next 50 tons, and one more for every 100 tons that such ship shall exceed the burthen of 100 tons 2 and 3 Anno, c. 6. s. 7.

No master of a ship is obliged to take an apprentice under 13 years of age, or who is not healthy or strong; and any widow of such master, or his executor, or administrator, who shall have been obliged to take parish-boys apprentices, may have the power of assigning them over to muther master of a ship; the boy's age to be inserted in the industures, and the charchwardens and overseem to pay the master 50 shillings for cleathing and bedding for the boy. No mak apprentice to be impressed till eighteen years of age, or permitted to enter himself into his Majesty's sea service till that time. It and 8 Anne, c. 6. s. 8 and 4. and 4 Anne, c. 19.

Charehwardens shall send the indentures to the collector of the customs, at the post to which the master belongs, who is to register them, and make an indersonant upon the indentures of the registry, and transmit a certificate to the admiralty, containing the apprentice's name and age, and to what ship he belongs, who are to grant protections, from time to time, without fee or reward. I Ame, 6. 6. s. 6. Collectors refusing or neglecting to register and indersometh indentures, to forfait five pounds. s. 5.

Voluntary Apprentices, to the sea service, not to be impressed for three years, reckoning from the dates of their indentures. Indentures to be registered, certificates transmitted, and protections granted for three years.

No apprentices to the sea-service of 18 years of ago shall be protected, who shall have been in the sea-service before the date of their indentures.

APPRENTICES to MANUFACTURERS, for the preservation of their health, all rooms and apartments belonging to any mill or factury, shall be washed twice at least in every year, with quicklime and water, over every part of the walls and ceiling thereof; and shall have a sufficient number of windows and openings to insure a proper supply of fresh air. 48 Geo. S. c. 78. Every apprentice shall have one complete suit of cloathing, with suitable linen, stockings, hats, and shoes, delivered to him or her, once at least in every year. a. S. No apprentice shall be compolled to work more than 12 hours in any day. s. 4. Every such apprentice shall be instructed, for the first four years, at least, of his or her apprenticeship, in the usual hours of work, in reading, writing, and arithmetic, according to their age and abilities; and shall attend for the space of one hour at least every Sunday, and be instructed and examined in the principles of the Christian religion. s. 6 & 8. Apartments of moto and female apprentices to be kept distinct, and two-only shall sleep in one bod. s. 7. Justices at their midsummer sessions yearly, shall appoint two visitors of such mills or factories, who shall report the condition theseof to the quarter sessions. s. 14.

APPROPRIATION, is the amexing of a benefice to the perpetual use of a religious house, bishopric, college, or spiritual person for ever; for which purpose the king's license was to be obtained in chancery, and also the consent of the ordinary, patron, and incumbent. There are in England 2845 impropriations.

APPROPRIARE COMMUNIAM, to discommon or inclose any purcel of land that was before laid open.

APPROVE, to approve land, is to make the best benefit of it by increasing the rent.

APPROVEMENT, is where a man hath common in the lord's waste, and makes an inclosure of part thereof for himself, leaving. sufficient common, with egress and regress for the commoners.

APPROVER, a person who being indicted of treason or felony; for which he is not in prison, confesses the indictment; and, being sworn to reveal all the treasons and felonics he knows, enters before the covener his appeal against all his partners in the crime. Nate, P. C. 192. All persons may be approvers, except peers of the realm, persons attainted of treason or felony, or outlawed, infants, wemen, persons non compos, or in holy orders. 3 Inst. 129.

Approvers, such as are sent into the counsies to increase the farm of hundreds and wapentakes, which were formerly set at a certain.

Take to the sheriffs.

Approvers to the king, are those that have the letting of the king's demesnes in small manors to his best advantage.

.. APPURTENANCES, are things both corporeal and incorporeal, appertaining to another thing as principal: as hamlets to a chief manor, common of pasture, piscary, &c. common of estovers to an house; outhouse, yards, orchards, and gardens, are appurtenant to a messuage.

ARATRUM TERRÆ, as much land as can be tilled with one plough.

ARBITRATION, is where the parties submit all matters in dispute, concerning any personal chattels, or personal wrong, to the judgment of one, two, or more arbitrators, who are to decide the controversy; or, if the two do not agree, it is usual to add that another person be called as umpire, to whose sole judgment it is then referred. 3 Black. 16.

The submission to arbitration, is the authority given by the parties in controversy to the arbitrators, to determine and end their grievances; and this being a contract, or agreement, must not be taken strictly, but largely, according to the intent of the parties submitted. West. Symb. part 2. s. 1, 2.

A submission may be either verbal, or in writing; the latter is the safest, and in modern practice is generally adopted. Where such submission is in writing, it is most commonly by mutual bonds, given by each party to the other, in a certain sum penal, on condition to be void, on performance of the award. It may also be by indenture, with mutual covenants to stand to the award. 2 Med. 73. arbitration bonds may also be given to a third person, or even to the arbitrator himself: and they may further be given by other persons than the parties themselves, who will be liable to the forfeiture if the parties do not perform the award.

By the 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 15. persons agreeing to refer their dispates to arbitrators, may have such award made a rule of any of his majesty's courts, to be enforced by process of contempt; unless the arbitration ought to be set aside for the arbitrator's misbehaviour.

The following are the particular cases which may or may not be made the subjects of an award: viz.

An annuity is not determinable by award; neither can partition be made by award. I Roll. Abr. Leases for years being chattels real, doubts have arisen if they could be transferred by award. It seems safest in every case, that the parties be bound in mutual obligations to perform the award, and if they refuse they forfeit their obligation. Debts on arrearages of accounts before auditors, shall not be discharged by award, nor can debts due by specialty, except the subject of award. I Boc. Abr. Causes oriminal are not determinable by arbitration, became the perpetrators of crimes should be made known, and punished for the public good. I Bac. Abr. But, if the party injured proceed by way of action, as in analyte and batteries, libels, and the like, the damages may be submitted to arbitration. Comp. Arbitrator. Matrimonial Causes cannot be submitted to arbitration. I Rol. Abr. 252. But the damages a person may have sustained by a promise of marriage, or any thing relating to a marriage portion, may. 16 Ed. 4.2. It is small to linert, in the submission, a clause that no bill in equity shall be filed against the arbitrators: which restriction will be a bar against such bill being brought. 2 Athyms, 395.

ARBITRATOR, is a private extraordinary judge between party and party, chosen by their mutual consents, to determine controversies between them. The award of arbitrators is definitive, and being chosen by the parties, they are not tied to such formalities of law, as judges in other cases are; and yet they have as great power an other judges, to determine the matter in variance; but their determination must be certain, and it must be according to the express condition of the bond, by which the parties submit themselves to their judgments. 1 Nels. Abr. 234. Dyer 356. It is proper to fix a time when the arbitrators shall pronounce their award: but where the submission limits no time for making the award, that shall be understood to be within a convenient time. The increasing extent of our commerce has greatly multiplied references to arbitrators: hence namerous decisions have been made relative to their power and determinations. Some of the more important points will be found, infre, article AWARD.

ARCHBISHOP, the chief bishop in the province. See Bishop.. ARCHDEACON, one that hath ecclesiastical dignity and julistiction over the clergy and laity next after the bishop throughout the discess, or in some part of it only. But the power of the archebeacon is different in different discesses, and therefore, he is to be regulated according to the usage and custom of his own church

ARCHERY, a service of keeping a bow for the use of the lord to-defend his castle.

ARCHES COURT, the judge whereof is called the dean of the meches; whose jurisdiction is properly over the thirteen parishes only, belonging to the archbishop of Canterbury, in London: but the office of dean of the arches having been united with that of the archbishop's principal official, he now, in right of his last-mentioned office, receives and determines appeals from the sentences of all inferior ecclesiastical courts within the province.

ARCHIVES, the rolls, or any place where antient records, and charters, and evidences are kept.

ARGENTUM ALBUM, silver coin, in which some rents to the king were paid.

ARGENTUM DEI, money given in earnest upon striking any bargain.

ARMA DARE, to dub, or make a knight.

ARMA LIBERA, a sword and lance, which were usually given to a servant when he was made free.

ARMA MUTARE, a ceremony used to confirm a league of friendship.

ARMIGER, a name of dignity next above the degree of a gentleman, and below a knight; formerly an attendant on the order of knighthood, bearing their shields, from thence called scutarius, escuyer, and esquire.

ARMORIAL BEARINGS, see Assessed Taxes.

ARMOUR, or ARMS, inthe law, are extended to any thing that a man wears for his defence, or takes into his hands, or useth in wrath to cast at, or strike another.

ARMS and AMMUNITION, no merchant-vessel is allowed to carry more than two carriage-guns of 4 pound calibre, nor more than in the proportion of two musquets for every ten men, except ships of marque, or vessels employed in the service of the victualling, ordnance, customs, excise, or post-office, without being regularly licensed for that purpose. 24 Geo. 3. c. 47.

ARRAIGN, or ARRAIN. To arraign the assize, is to cause the tenant to be called, to make the plaint, and to set the cause in such order as the tenant may be forced to answer thereto. To arraign a prisoner, is to bring him forth to his trial when he is indicted. The prisoner on his arraignment, though under an indictment of the highest crime, must be brought to the bar without irons, and all manner of shackles and bonds: prisoners, however, are now generally tried in their irons, because taking them off is attended with great pain and trouble.

By the common law, if a principal be acquitted, or pardoned, or die, the accessary shall not be arraigned.

ARRAY, in antient times it was usual for the king, upon any great emergency, to issue commissions of array, directed to the principal persons in the respective districts, to muster and array all the men capable of bearing arms. Array is also applied to a jury, at set in order by the sheriff in his return of the pannel.

ARREARAGES, or ARREARS, denote money unpaid in proper time, as rent behind, the remainder due on account, or a sum of money remaining in the hands of an accomptant.

ARRENTATION, the licensing the owner of lands in the forest, to inclose them with a low bedge and small ditch, according to the smize of the forest, under a yearly rent.

ARREST, in civil cases, is a legal restraint of a person charged with some debt to an individual; and, in criminal cases, for some crime against the state; and it is executed in pursuance of the command of some court of record, or officer of justice.

Some persons are privileged from arrests, as members of parliament, peerenes by birth, marriage, &c. members of convocation actually attending them, ambassadors, domestic servants of ambassadors, king's servants, marshals or wardens of the fleet, clerks, attornies, or other persons attending the courts of justice, clergymen performing divine service, suitors, witnesses subpoensed, and other persons necessarily attending any court of record upon business, bankrupts coming to surrender within 42 days after their surrender, witnesses properly summoned before commissioners of bankruptcy, or other commissioners of great seal; sailors, and volunteer soldiers, unless the debt be 201. officers of court, only where they are sued in their rights; but not if as executors or administrators, nor in joint actions.

No writ, process, warrant, &c. (except for treason, felony, or for breach of the peace), shall be served on Sunday; but a person arrested the day before, may be re-taken on the Sunday.—An arrest must be by corporal seizing, or touching the defendant.

An officer cannot justify breaking open an outward door or window to execute process, unless a stranger, who is not of the family, upon a pursuit, take refuge in the house of another. The chamber of a lodger is not to be considered as his outer door. No officer shall carry his prisoner to any tavern without his consent, nor to goal within 24 hours after his arrest, unless he refuse to go to some safe house.

In criminal cases, the causes of suspicion which justify the arrest of a person for felony are, the common fame of the country; the living a vagrant, idle, disorderly life, without any visible means to support it; the being in company with a known offender at the time of the offence; the being found in circumstances which induce a strong presumption of guilt; behaviour betraying a consciousness of guilt; and the being pursued by hue and cry. But none of these causes will justify the arresting a man for the suspicion of crimes, upless a crime were actually committed.

By the 51 Geo. S. c. 194. no person shall be held to apecial bail, where the cause of action is under 151- and the defendant shall not be arrested; (except where the cause of such action shall arise or be maintainable upon or by virtue of any bill or bills of exchange, promissery note or promissory notes, in which cases the parties limble thereupon may be held to special bail in such manner as if this met had not been made); and no special writ shall be sued forth, to compel appearance; and all proceedings on any such writ or process shall be void. sect. 1. No writ of distringus shall issue, for default of appearance; but defendant is to be served personally with the summent and a notice to appear. sect. 2. When the defendant doesnot appear, the plaintiff may proceed. ibid. Provisions of 19 Geo. 8. semecting actions for sums less than 101. are hereby extended tosome under 201. and so much of any acts as authorise arrests contrary to the above are repealed, sect. S. This act does not extend to Scothad and Ireland: and is to continue in force only until November 1st, 1016. sect. 4, 5.

ARREST OF JUDGMENT, to move in arrest of judgment, is to show came why judgment should not be stayed, notwithstanding a verdict given; the causes of arrest of judgment, are want of notice of trial; where the plaintill before trial treats the jury; the record differs from the deed pleaded; for material defect in pleading; where persons are misnamed; more is given and found by the verdict, than laid in the declaration; or, the declaration doth not buy the thing with certainty, &c.

ARRESTANDIS BONIS NE DISSIPENTUR, a writ which lies for a man whose goods, &c. are taken by another, who during the coutest, doth or is like to make them away.

ARRESTANDO IPSUM QUI PECUNIAM RECEPIT, a writ that lieth for apprehending a person, who bath taken the king's prest-money to serve in the ways, and hides himself when he should go.

ARRESTO FACTO SUPER BONIS MERCATORUM ALIB-NIGENORUM, a writ which lies for a denizen, against the goods of atless found in this kingdom, in recompense of goods taken from him is a foreign country, after denial of restitution.

· ARRETTED, is where a man is convened before a judge, and charged with a crime.

ARROWS, by an antient statute, all heads of arrow shall be well-brazed, and hardened at the point with steel, and marked with the maker's mark, on pain of imprisonment. 7 Hen. 4. c. 7.

ARSON, is house burning, and burning the house of another is felony. Cr. Law. case 143. It must be maliciously and voluntarily, and an actual burning; not putting fire only into a house, or any part of it, without burning; but if part of the bouse be burnt; or if the fire do burn, and then go out of itself, it is felony. 2 Inst. 188. But it is not felony to burn a house (unless done with a fraudulent ment) of which the offender is in possession by virtue of a written agreement, for a lease for three years. Cr. Law. 143. If any servant through carelessness shall fire any house or outhouse, and be thereof convicted on the oath of one witness, before two justices, he shall forfeit 100%. to the churchwardens of the parish where the fire shall happen to be by them distributed to the sufferers; and, on nonpayment thereof immediately on demand, the said justices shall commit him to some house of correction for 18 months, to be there kept to hard labour. By stat. 43 Eliz. c. 13. burning of barns or stacks of corn, in the counties of Cumberland, Northumberland, Westmorland, and the bishopric of Durham, is felony without benefit of elergy. So by 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 7. it is felony to burn any ricks of corn, or hay, or barns, in the night time, or any out-houses or buildings: but the convict may elect to be transported for seven years. By 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. (since made perpetual by 31 Geo. 2. c. 42), the setting fire to any house, barn or out-house, or to any hovel, cock, mow, or stack of corn, straw, hay or wood, or to rescue any offender, is felony without benefit of clergy. For other malicious burnings, see Burning.

ARSER IN LE MAINE, burning in the hand, the punishment of criminals that have the benefit of clergy.

ART AND PART, a term used in Scotland, and also in the north of England, when one charged with a crime in committing the same, was both a contriver of, and acted a part in it.

ARTHEL, or ARDDEL, to vouch; one taken with stolen goods in his hands, was to be allowed a lawful arthel or voucher, to clear him of the felony. 26 Hen. 8. c. 6.

ARTICLE, signifies a complaint exhibited in the ecclesiastical court by way of libel.

ARTICLES OF THE NAVY. By the 22 Geo. 2. c. 33. the following articles are established relative to the government of his majesty's ships, vessels, and forces at sea, viz.

- 1. Public worship shall be performed, and the Lord's day observed.
- 2. Profane swearing, drunkenness, or other bad behaviour shall be punished at the discretion of the court martial.
  - 3. Holding illegal correspondence with an enemy—death.
- 4. Not acquainting the superior officer with any message from an enemy—death, or other punishment at the discretion of the court martial.

- 5. Spice, and persons delivering seducing letters, are subject to Bhe name punishment as in the last article.
  - 4. Rollewing an enemy—the like.
- 7. Not sending all papers found aboard prize ships to the admitrately—less of share of cupture, and other punishment at the discretions of the court martial.
- 8. Taking effects out of any prize before condemned—the like pu-
- · 9. Stripping or ill using persons taken on board a prise—to be punished at the discretion of the court martial.
- 10. Not preparing for fight, and encouraging the mon in times of action, or cowardly yielding—death.
- 11. Disobeying orders in the time of action—death, or other punishment at the discretion of the court martial.
- 12. Cowardice, or neglect of duty in time of action—(now, by 19 Geo. 3. c. 17. s. 3.) death, On such other punishment as the offender may deserve.
- · 18. Not pursuing the enemy, and not assisting a friend-the like.
- 14. Delaying or discouraging the service on account of mages or etherwise—death, or such punishment as the court martial shall inflict.
  - 15. Descring to the enemy, or running away with stores-denth.
  - 16. Deserting, or enticing others—to be cashiered.
- 17. Not taking cure of ships under convoy—death, or such punishment as the court shall inflict.
- 16. Taking goods on board other than gold, sliver, jewels, goods from a wreck, or such as the admirally may order—to be cashiered and incapacitated.
- 19. Persons making any mutinous assemblies—death. Uttering semotions words—death, or other punishment at the discretion of the court. Behaving contemptuously to the superior officer in the execution of his duty—to be punished at the discretion of the court martial.
- 20. Concealing mutinous practices or words—to be punished at the discretion of the court.
- 21. Endeavouring to stir up disturbance on account of unwholesome victuals—the like purishment.
- 22. Striking a superior officer, or disobeying his lawful commands—death, or other punishment at the discretion of the court.
- 23. Quarrelling or using reproachful speech—to be punished at the discretion of the court.
  - 24. Wasting stores—the like.

- %. Burning any magazine or useful not belonging to an enump-
- 28. Neglect in conducting and steering—death, or other discretional panishment.
- 27. Sleeping on mutch, or leaving the station—the like punishment.
  - 3. Nurder-death.
  - 29. Buggery-death.
  - 20. Robbery death, or other discretional panishment.
  - 31. Muking false musters—to be cashiered and incopacitated.
- 32. Not apprehending prisoners, and permitting escapes—discre-
- 38. Scandelone, opprenies, or fraudulent behaviour of officers—to be dismissed the service.
- 34. Muliny, desertion, or disobedience on shore—to be punished as at sea.
- 25. Committing on shore any of the crimes punishable by these articles—to be punished as at sea.
- 36. Other crimes not capital, or not mentioned—shall be punished according to the custom of the may.

But no imprisonment shall be longer than two years; nor shall the court martial try may effences except those specified in the 5th, 34th and 35th asticles, which shall not be committed within the jurisdiction of the admiralty. No soldier on board any transport shall be tried by a maval court martial. The 22 Geo. 2, c. 33, also empowers the admiralty to grant commissions for holding courts martial to the communder in chief of any squadron; and in case he dies, the next in command may held courts martial; but the officer next in command where there are five ships, is to preside at courts martial in breign parts. Commanders in chief, shall impower the commanders of a squadron, on a separate service, to hold courts martial; but if five or more ships meet in foreign parts, the senior officer is to hold the same. If any thing should occur, which may render it improper for the second officer in command to preside, the third may hold the court martial. The admiralty is likewise impowered to appoint effects in the ports of Great Britain to hold courts martial. The court martial shall not consist of more than thirteen, nor less than five officers; and the officer shall not direct the particular number. Where there are only three post captains, the president may call in commanders under that rank. No member of the court shall go on shore, after the trial is begun, upon pain of being cashiered, nor shall the proceedings be delayed. The officers composing a court martial are to be sworn to administer justice, according to the articles established by this act, and not to discover the vote or opinion of any member, unless thereunto required by act of parliament. judge advocate is likewise to take this latter part of the oath; and he is to administer an oath to the witnesses. Persons refusing to give evidence, prevaricating or being guilty of contempt to the court, may be imprisoned for the two first offences for three months, or less, at the discretion of the court; and for the last for one month, or less, in like manner. Perjury, or subornation thereof, shall be punished according to the several acts in force, relative to those crimes. is to be made to the admiralty, or commander in chief, before sentence of death, except in cases of mutiny. The articles shall be in force with respect to crews of ships lost or destroyed, and the pay and wages of those who did their duty shall be continued. No person, not flying from justice, shall be tried, unless complaint be made in writing to the admiralty, or a court be ordered within three years, or within one year after the return of the ship or offender. By 21 Geo. c. 27, the articles of war for his majesty's navy and ships of war in 22 Geo. 2. c. 33. are extended to officers and seamen serving in his majesty's vessels employed in the American lakes. Geo. 3. c. 17. proceedings of courts martial shall not be delayed by the absence of any members, if enough remain to make a court; but no member shall be absent, except on some extraordinary occasion. Articles of the Peace, are a complaint exhibited in the courts of Articles of Religion, are the 39 articles, drawn up by the convocation in 1562, unto which persons admitted into ecclesiastical offices are to subscribe.

Westminster, in order to compel the defendant to find surelies of Articles of War, a code of laws made by his majesty, from time to time, for the regulation of his land forces, in pursuance of the several annual acts against mutiny and desertion.

ARTIFICERS, a stranger-artificer in London shall not keep more than two stranger servants. 2 Hen. 8. c. 16.

Persons contracting with artificers in wool, iron, steel, brass, or other metal, &c. to go to any foreign country, shall be imprisoned three months; 5 Geo. 1. c. 27. and, if any person shall contract with, or encourage any artificers employed in printing callicoes, cottons, muslins, or linens of any sort, or in making any tools or utexils for such manufactory, to go out of Great Britain to any port beyond the seas, he shall forfeit 500% and be committed to the common goal of the county for twelve months, and until such forfeiture shall be paid. 22 Geo. 3. c. 60. s. 12.

ASPORTATION, a felonious taking, and carrying away the goods of another; the continuance of the property in the possession of the robber, is not required by the law to complete the crime.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY, an attempt or offer with force and violence to do a corporal burt to another; and any injury whatso-ever, be it never so small, being actually done to the person of a man, is an engry or sevengeful, or rade or insolent manner, are betteries in the eye of the law. , 6 Mod. 148.

A man may justify an assault in desence of his person, or of his wife, or master, or parent, or child within age, and even wounding may be justified in desence of his person, but not of his possessions. S Salk. 66. And, if he book him who committed the assault, he may take advantage thereof, both upon an indictment, and upon an action 1 Ham. 134.

ASSESSED TAXES .- See TAXES.

A664 V, the examination of weights and measures, by the clerks of markets and others.

ASSAYER OF THE KING, an officer of the king's mint, for the trial of silver, gold, &c.

ASSENT. See Executor, Legacy, Leases, Se.

ASSESSORS, those that assess public taxes, by sating every per-

ASSETS, are gnode or property in the hands of a person, with which he is enabled to discharge an obligation imposed upon him by naother; they may be either real or personal. Where a person hobts lands in fee simple, and dies seised thereof, those lands when they are come to the beir, are called assets. So far as obligations are left on the part of the deceased to be fulfilled, they are called assets real. When such assets fall into the management of executors, they are called assets inter mains. When the property left, consists of goods, money, or personal property, they are called assets personal.

ASSIDERE, or ASSIDARE, to tak equally. Also to sign as amount rest, to be paid out of a particular farm.

ASSIGN, to set over right to snother.

ASSIGNEE, or ASSIGNEES, are those persons in whom the property of a bankrupt is vested by assignment from the commissioners. Bills of exchange, promistory notes, &c. may also be assigned over, and the unsignee may bring an action for such, negociable in his own name. But, in the case of an assignment of specialty, or hond, the action must be brought in the name of the party making the assignment.—See BARKRUPT, infra.

ASSIGNMENT, is a transfer or making over to another, of the right one has in any estate; but it is usually applied to an estate for life or years. And it differs in a lease only in this; that by a lease one grants an interest less than his own, reserving to himself a reversion; in assignment he parts with the whole property, and the assignee stands to all intents and purposes in the place of the assigner: 2 Black. 326.

ASSISE, is taken for the court, place, or time, when and where the writs and processes of assise are handled or taken. Concerning the general assises, all the counties of England are divided into six circuits; and two judges are assigned by the king's commission to every circuit, who hold their assises twice a year in every county. (except Middlesex, where the king's courts of record are held; and his courts for his counties palatine), and have five several commissions.

A commission of assise directed to themselves and the clerk of the assise, to take the assises, that is to take the verdict of a peculiar species of jury, called an assise, summoned for the trial of innded disputes.

A commission of over and terminer, empowering them to hear and determine treasons, felonies, and other misdemeanors, whether the persons be in gaol or not.

A commission of general gaol delivery, to try every prisoner in the gaol committed for any offence whatsoever, but only such prisoners as are in gaol.

A commission or writ of nisi prius, by which civil causes, brought to issue in the courts above, are tried in the vacation by a jury of twelve men of the county where the action arises, and on return of the verdict of the jury to the court above, the judges there give judgment.

A commission of the peace, in every county of the circuits; and all justices of the peace of the county are bound to be present at the assises.

ASSISE OF THE FOREST, a statute touching orders to be observed in the king's forest.

ASSISERS, in Scotland, the same with jurors.

ASSISUS, rented or farmed out for such an assise, or certain assessed rent, in money or provisions.

ASSITHMENT, a wiregild or compensation, by a pecuniary fine. ASSOCIATION, a writ sent by the king to the justices appointed to take assises, to have others associated unto them; as where a justice of assise dies.

ASSOILE, to deliver from excommunication.

ASSUMPSIT, an assumpsit is a voluntary promise made by word.

or supposed to be made by word, whereby a person upon some valuable consideration, assumeth or undertaketh to perform or pay something to another.

As assumptive is either express or implied. Express, is by direct agreement either by word, or by note in writing without seal; as when a person assumes or promises to pay money upon a bargain or sale, and fails so to do, an action of assumptit lies against him. 3 Black. 157.

Implied contracts, are such as do not arise from the express determination of any court, on the positive directions of any statute; but from natural reason and the just construction of the law; extending to all presumptive undertakings and assumpsits: which though never, perhaps, actually made, yet constantly arise upon this general implication and intendment of the courts of judicature; that every man hath engaged to perform what his duty or justice requires. Thus where one takes up goods or warrs of a tradesman, without expressly agreeing for the price, the law concludes that both parties did intentionally agree, that the real value of the goods should be paid; and an action of assumpsit may be brought accordingly. 3 Black.

ASSURANCE OF LANDS, is where lands or tenements are conveyed by deed; see also INSURANCE.

ASTARIUS HÆRES, where the ancestor by conveyance, hath set his heir apparent and his family in a house in his life-time.

ATTACH, to take or apprehend by commandment of a writ or precept.

ATTACHIAMENTA BONORUM, a distress taken upon goods or chattels, where a man is sued for a personal estate or debt, by the legal attachiators or bailiffs, as security to answer an action.

ATTACHMENT, is a process that issues at the discretion of the judges of a court of record, against a person for some contempt; against which all courts of record, but more especially those of Westminster-hall, may proceed in a summary way. Thus sheriffs and other officers are liable to an attachment for an oppressive or illegal practice in the execution of a writ,

ATTACHMENT foreign, is an attachment of the goods of foreigners, found in some liberty or city, to satisfy their creditors within meh liberty. Carth. Rep. 66. And by the custom of some places, as London, &c. a man may attach money or goods in the hands of a stranger; though by the custom of London money may be attached before due as a debt; but not levied before due. But a foreign attachment cannot be had when a suit is depending in any of the courts at Westminster; and nothing is attachable but for a certain and due deht. Cro. Eliz. 601.

ATTACHMENT OF THE FOREST, is the lowest of the three courts held there. The middle one is called the Swainmete; the highest the justice in Eyre's sent.

ATTACHMENT OF PRIVILEGE, is where a man by virtue of his privilege, calls another to that court whereto be kimself belongs; and in respect thereof is privileged, there to answer some action.

ATTAINDER, is properly where sentence is pronounced against a person convicted of treason or felony: he is then tainted or stained, whereby his blood is so much corrupted, that by the common law his children or other kindred cannot luherit his estate, nor his wife claim her dower, and the same enanot he restored or saved but by act of parliament.

ATTAINT, is a writ that lies to enquire whether a jury of twelve men gave a fulse verdict. But this proceeding is now entirely disused; and instead of attaint, motions are usually made for new trials, when a verdict is against evidence. S Black. 390.

ATTENDANT, one that owes a daty or service to another. Thus there is a lord, mesne, and tenant; the tenant holds of the mesne by a penny; the mesne holds over by two-pence; the mesne releases to the tenant, all the right he hath in the land, and the tenant dies; his wife shall be endowed of the land, and she shall be attendant to the heir of the third part of the penny, not of the third part of the two-pence, for the shall be endowed of the best possession of her bushand.

ATTERMINING, is used for a term granted for payment of a debt.

ATTORNABE REM, to assign or appropriate money or goods to some particular use and service.

ATTORNATO FACIENDO VEL RECIPIENDO, a writ to command a sheriff or steward of a county, or hundred court, to receive or admit an attorney, to appear for the person that owes suit of court.

ATTORNEY, is a person legally nuthorised, by another, to pay or receive monies, sue or transact any other kind of business, in the name of such person as shall appoint him his lawful attorney.

Attorney is either public, in the king's courts of record; or private upon occasion of any particular business; who is commonly made by virtue of a power of attorney, which must be drawn up in a legal form, adapted to the case.

ATTORNIES AT LAW, are such persons as take upon them the business of other men, by whom they are retained. Attornies may be punished in a summary way, either by attachment, or by striking of their names from the roll, for ill practice, attended with frand and corruption: unless the matter complained of, prove rather to be owing to accident or neglect, than to design; or, if the party has no other remedy by act of parliament, or action at law. 4 Mod. 367. 12 Mod. 251. 516. Attorney convicted of felony struck off the roll. Comp. Rep. 829. Payment made to an attorney, is payment to a principal, 1 Black. Rep. 8. Attorney has a lien on money, whother awarded to or recovered by judgement by his client, for his costs: and if the money come to his hands, he may retain the amount of his bill. He may stop it in transitu if he can lay hold of it; and if he apply to the court, they will prevent it from being paid over antil his demand is satisfied. If an attorney give notice to defendant not to pay until his bill be discharged, payment by the defendant after such notice will be in his own wrong; and like paying a debt which has been assigned after notice. Doug. Rep. 238. 1 East's Rep. 464.

Privileges of Attornies.—They can sue and be sued only in the courts at Westminster, where they practice; they are not obliged to put in special bail, when defendants; but, when plaintiffs, they may insist on special bail in all bailable cases. I Vent. 299. Wood's Inst. 450. An attorney, however, in one court, may in that court hold an attorney of another court to bail. An attorney shall not be elected into any office against his will, such as constable, overseer of the poor, or churchwarden, or any office within a borough; but his privilege will not exempt him from serving in the militia, or finding a substitute. Black. Rep. 1123. (See Arrest and Privilege.)

The following are the principal statutes now in force, that affect attornies, viz.

By the statute of Merton, 20 Hen. 3. c. 10. freemen owing suit to the county, tything, hundred, wapentake, or to a court baron, may do the same by attorney.—By the stat. of York, 12 Ed. 2. c. 1. tenants in assize may make attornies, and may plead by their bailiffs as heretofore —By the stat. of Carlisle, 15 Ed. 2. stat. 1. parties to fines shall appear personally. The lord chancellor, judges and barons may admit attornies in their respective courts, but such power is denied to their clerks and servants.—7 Rich. 2. c. 14. persons out of the realm, by the king's license, may make general attornies in writs of presentire, and those attornies may make attornies under them.—4 Hen. 4. c. 18. all attornies shall be examined by the justices, and by their discretions be enrolled; and being of good fame, shall be sworn truly to serve in their office, and especially to make so sait in a foreign county; and if any attorney be found notoriously in fault, he shall forstvent the court, and never tefter he received in emy court of the king .- No officer of a lord of a franchise shall be => torney in any plea within the same, - 7 Hen. 4. c. 13. imports persons may make attornies to reverse an erreacous outlawry.--29 Eliz. c. 5. defendants in suits on penal statutes, being bailable, may appear by attorney. -- But by 31 Elia. c. 10. this is declared to extend only to subjects, and free denizers, and not to aliena. - 8 Jac. & c. 7. attornies or solicitors shall not be allowed fees to council, with out they produce tickets thereof signed by counsel; and they are to give in true bills to their clients. If they delay the client's suit, or demand more than fees, and disbursements, they are to pay costs and treble damages, and be disabled. None shall be admitted attornice or solicitors in any court, but persons brought up in that court, of well skilled. And no attorney shall permit another to follow a mil in his name, under the penalty of 201.—By 12 Geo. 1. c. 22. attornies or solicitors, convicted of forgery, perjury, or common barratry, acting in any court of record, are to be transported as felons, in a summary way. s. 4.

Ľ

By 2 Geo. 2. c. 23. (which statute more immediately regulates the present practice of attornies), all attornies shall be sworn and admitted by the judges, who are to examine into their capacity before admission.—None shall act as a solicitor, unless he take the oath, and be enrolled, in the court of equity, where he must be previously examined .- None shall act as an attorney or solicitor, unless he have served a clerkship of five years, and been admitted, but he may with the coment of an attorney of another court, sue out writs in such court.-Clerks on the deaths of their masters, may be turned over; and attornies and solicitors before admission, are to take an oath to demean themselves honestly in their profession .- No attorney shall have more than two articled clerks at one time; but the prothonotarics and secondary may have three .- Swern attornics permitting others, who are not, to issue out write in their names, are disabled to prace tise. Attornies and solicitors are to be enrolled in the proper courts, and a sworn attorney may be admitted a solicitor, and a sworn solicitor in one court of equity, may be admitted into any other court. -The name of the attorney retained shall be written on every writt attornies and solicitors shall not bring any action for feer, till a month after delivery of bills; and parties may get them taxed in the mean time, and if reduced a sixth part, the attorney is to pay the costs of taxation. Any person suing any process as an attorney or solicitor, without being admitted and enrolled, forfeits 501. and is disabled to bring any action to recover his disbursements-This act shall not extend to the six clerks' office in chancery, outsitors, the theres, attenties and clerks in the exchequer, duchy court, or solicitors of the treasury.-- 6 Geo. 2. c. 27. attornies of the superior courts being qualified, may be admitted in inferior courts.-12 Geo. f.r. is. the not indersing the attorney's same on warrants upon with, shall not vitiate the same, for officers may indorse the attorvies names upon write. Attornies and solicitors may use abbreviations in their bills, and the act of 2 Geo. 2. c. 28. is not to extend to my bill of fees between one solicitor and another. Persons unqualiked acting in county courts forfeit 201. and quakers may be enrolled as attornies on their affirmation .- No attorney, while he is in prison. or within the rules of one, shall commence any suit in his own name or mother's, on pain of being struck off the roll, and incapacitated to act in future, and any person permitting him to sue in his name, shall likewise be struck off the roll, and in like manner incapacistated. But he may carry on suits commenced before his confinement.—22.Ges. 2. c. 46. persons bound to serve as clerks to atternies. or solicitors, are to cause afidavit to be made within-three months, of the execution of such contracts, which affidavit is to be filed with the proper officer in the respective courts, whose fee thereon is half a crown. None are to be admitted before such affidavit be produced. and openly read in the court, where such person shall be admitted an attorney or solicitor .- No attorney or solicitor shall take a clerk, Witer discontinuing business; and clerks shall be employed in their · proper business during the time of their contract.—But if a clerk is turned over, be may serve the remainder of his time; if an affidavit is much of the execution of the second contract, and filed according to the above directions as to the first .- Clerks, before they are adwitted, are to make adidavit of having served five years. Sworn whereies, or enlicitors acting for persons not qualified, are to be struck off the roll, and to be committed .- Unqualified persons are and to act an atternies, or in the name of one, at sessions, under the penalty of 50%. The attornies of the duchy of Lancaster, the great session of Wales, or of Okoster, Lancaster, or Durham, are excepted.-No clerk of the peace, or under-sheriff, shall act as attorney at the quarter sessions for the county, under the penulty of 501.—Persom udmitted aworn clerks in the six clerks office, or having served . five years to one, may be admitted solicitors. Clerks may likewise be turned over, but no sworn clerk may have more than two clerks. -23 Gen. 2. c. 26. solicitors in the courts of equity may be admitted utlaraics without fees or stamps .- 24 Geo. 2. c. 42. attornies and solicitors are to be subject to the processes of the court of conscience for Westminster .- 84 Geo. S. c. 14. no clerk shall be admitted unless the indeature be enrolled with an affidavit within six months after the date, and every such clerk, previous to his being permitted to practise, shall make an affidavit of the payment of the duty. If any person not admitted in one of the courts of great sessions in Wales, or counties palatine, shall in his own or any other name, sue out any writ in the courts at Westminster, without being admitted in one of them, he shall forfeit 100!. s. 2-4.—Persons admitted in any court at Westminster, who shall have paid the duty on the articles of clerkship, may be admitted in any of the other courts without payment of any further duty. s. 5.—And persons admitted in any one of the courts of great sessions in Wales, or counties palatine, who shall have paid the duty on articles of clerkship there, may be admitted in any other of the said courts without payment of forther duty .-- Articled clerks having paid the duty, shall not be liable again on any new contracts with other masters. s. 6-8.—Parchment and paper for contracts to be stamped prior to being engrossed; but only one part need be then stamped, and the duplicate shall be stamped after execution on proof of payment of duty. s. 11.

Attornies Certificates: see Stamps (infra).

ATTORNEY OF THE DUCHY COURT OF LANCASTER, is the second officer of that court.

ATTORNEY OF THE WARDS AND LIVERIES, was the third officer of that court.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL, a great officer under the king, made by letters patent; whose office is to exhibit informations and prosecute for the crown in matters criminal; and to file bills in the exchequer, for any thing concerning the king in inheritance or profits; and others may bring bills against the king's attorney.

ATTORNMENT, is the consent of the tenant to the grant of the seigniory or the reversion, putting him into the possession of services due from such tenant.

By 4 Ann. c. 16. all grants and conveyances shall be good without attornment of tenants. By 11 Geo. 2. c. 19. attornments of lands, made by tenants to strangers, shall be void, and the landlord's possession shall not be affected thereby: but this shall not extend to vacate any attornment made pursuant to a judgment at law, or with consent of the landlord, or to a mortgagee after mortgage forfeited.

AVAGE, a rent or payment which every tenant of the manor of Writtle in Essex, on the 6th of November pays to the lord for the privilege of pawnage in his woods.

AUCTIONS and AUCTIONEERS, every person exercising the trade of an auctioneer within the bills of mortality, shall pay twenty shillings annually for a license; and without the said bills of mortality five shillings. Auctions and actioneers are regulated by the following statutes.

A bidder at an auction, under the usual conditions that the highest hidder be the purchaser, may retruct his hidding any time before the human is down.

AUDIENCE COURT, a court belonging to the archbishop of Contenbury, having the same authority with the court of arches, but inferior in antiquity and dignity.

AUDIENDO ET TERMINANDO, a commission to certain persons, in case of any insurrection or great riot, for the appearing and punishment thereof.

AUDITA QUERELA, is, where a defendant against whom judgment is recovered, and who is therefore in danger of execution, or perhaps actually is execution, may be relieved upon good matter of discharge which both happened since the judgment; as if the phintiff have given him a release.

AUDITOR, is an officer of the king, or some other great person, who examines yearly the accounts of all under-officers, and makes up a general book, which shows the difference between their receipts and change; such as the auditors of the exchequer.

AUDITOR OF THE RECEIPTS, an officer of the exchequer, who files the teller's bills, and having made an entry of them, gives the lord-treasurer, &c. a weekly certificate of the money received. 4 Inst. 197.

AVENAGE, a certain quantity of oats paid by a tenant to his landlord as a rest, or in lieu of some other duties.

AVENTURE, a minchance or accident causing the death of a

AVERAGE, is said to eignify service which the tenant owes to his bord by horse or carriage; but is more particularly used in marrine insurance, and signifies the quantum of contribution made by ship-owners, the freight and gueds on board. It is divided into, I. General or gross, which is upon the total amount of the ship's freight and carge. A. Particular, which means only a particular law; and L. Patty, constanted average, which comprises the subordinate charges of pilotage, beacauty, towage, &c.—See Insurance.

AVERAGE OF CORN-FIELDS, the stubble or remainder of strew and grass left in corn fields, after the harvest is carried away.

AVER-CORN, is a reserved rent in corn paid by farmers and te-AVERIA, signifies oven or horses of the plough, and generally any cattle.

AVERIIS CAPTIS IN WITHERNAM, a writ for the taking of cattle to his use, who bath cattle unlawfully distrained by another, and driven out of the county where they were taken, so that they cannot be replevied by the sheriff.

AVERMENT, is an offer of the defendant to justify an exception pleaded in abatement, or bar of the plaintiff's action, and is to accertain that to the court which is generally or doubtfully alledged, so that the court may not be perplexed of whom or of what it ought to be understood. Heath's Max. 42.

AVER-PENNY, mohey paid towards the king's averages or carriages.

AVER-SILVER, a custom or rent formerly so called.

AUGMENTATION, the name of a court erected by Hen. 8. for determining suits and controversies relating to monasteries and abbey lands.

AULA, a court baron.

AULA REGIS, was a court established by William, the Conqueror, in his own hall. It was composed of the king's great officers of state resident in his palace, who usually attended on his person, and followed him in all his progresses and expeditions: which being found inconvenient and burthensome, it was enacted by the great charter, c. 11. that common pleas shall no longer follow the king's court, but shall be holden in some certain place, which certain place was established in Westminster-Hall, where the aula regis originally sat when the king resided in that city; and there it has ever since continued. 3 Black. S7.

AUMONE, tenure in aumone is where lands are given to some church or religious house, on condition, some service or prayers shall be offered at certain times for the repose of the donor's soul.

AUNCEL-WEIGHT, an ancient manner of weighing by hand, but long since prohibited by statute.

AVOIDANCE, is where there is want of a lawful incumbent on a benefice, during which the church is quasi viduata, and the possessions belonging to it are in abeyance.

AVOWRY, is where one takes distress for rent, or other thing, and the party distrained sues a replevin, he who took the distress shall justify his plea for what cause he took it; and if in his own right, he must shew the same and avow the taking, which is his avowry.

AURES, the punishment of cutting off the ears, indicted by the Saxon laws on those who robbed churches.

AURUM REGINE, the queen's gold. This is an ancient perquisite belonging to every queen-consort, during her marriage with the king, and due from every person who has made a voluntary offering or fine to the king, amounting to ten marks or upwards. As where 100 marks in silver be given to the king to have a fair, market, park, chase, or free warren, there the queen is intitled to ten marks in silver, or to one mark in gold.

AUTER DROIT, is where persons sue or are sued in another's right, as executors, administrators, &c.

AUTERFOITS ACQUIT, is a plea by a criminal, that he was beretofore acquitted of the same treason or felony, for no one shall be brought into danger of his life, for the same offence more than once. 3 Inst. 213.

AUTHORITY, is a delegated power, by which one person authorizes another to act generally, or especially in his name; and by whose acts, where the authority is strictly pursued, the party delegating such power, will be bound. An authority may be given either verbally or in writing, but the latter is the most usual. Where one person is delegated to act for another, he must not use his own name only, but the name also of the person who gave the authority. Pap. 76. Every authority shall be countermandable, and determine by the death of him who gives it: but where an interest is coupled with an authority, there it can neither be countermanded nor determined. Dyer 190.

AUXILIUM FILIUM MILITEM FACIENDUM ET FILI-AM MARITANDAM, a writ formerly directed to the sheriff of every county where the king or other lord had any tenements, to levy of them an aid towards the knighting of a son, and the marrying of a daughter.

AUXILIUM CURIE, a precept or order of court, for the citing of one party, at the suit and request of another, to warrant something.

AUXILIUM FACERE ALICUI IN CURIA REGIS, to be another's friend and solicitor in the king's court.

AUXILIUM REGIS, the king's aid, or money levied for the king's use, and the public service.

AUXILIUM VICE COMITI, a customary aid or duty, anciently payable to sheriffs out of certain manors, for the better support of their offices.

AWAIT, way-laying or laying in wait, to execute some mischief. It is enacted that no charter of pardon shall be allowed before any justice, for the death of a man slain by await, or malice prepense. 13 Rich. 2. c. 1.

AWARD, is the determination made by arbitrators or an imprire in the case may require.—" Every award should be consistent with the terms of the submission; the whole authority of the arbitrators being derived from thence. Therefore, I. The award must not extend to any matter not comprehended in the submission: thus, if the submission be confined to a particular subject of dispute, while there are other things in controversy between the parties, an award which extends to any of these other things is void as far as it respects them. 2 Mod. 309.

- "If the reference be of all matters in dispute in the cause between the parties,' the power of the arbitrator is confined solely to the matters in dispute in that suit. If it be of all matters in difference between the parties in the suit,' his power is not confined to the subject of that particular cause, but extends to every matter in dispute between them. 2 Bl. Rsp. 1118. 2 T. R. 644. 3 Ibid. 626.
- 2. "The award should not extend to any one who is a stranger (that is, not a party) to the submission. Thus, if two submit to arbitration concerning the title to certain lands, and the arbitrators award that all controversies touching the lands shall cease; and that one of the parties, his wife and son, or his heir apparent, by his procurement, shall make to the other such assurance of the land as the other shall require, this is void; because the wife and son are strangers to the submission. Rol. Abr. tit. Arbitr. N. 9.
- 3. "The award ought not to be of part only of the things submitted. This, however, must be understood with a considerable degree of limitation; for though the words of the submission be more comprehensive than those of the award, yet if it do not appear that any thing else was, in dispute between the parties, besides what is comprehended in the award, it will be good. 8 Co. 98.
- "If a submission be 'of all premises or of any part of them," in this case the arbitrator may undoubtedly make an award of part only. Rol. Abr. tit. Arbit. L. 6.
- between the parties, though there should happen to be many subjects of controversy between them, if only one be signified to the arbitrator, he may make his award of that; he is, in the language of Lord Coke, in the place of a judge, and his office is to determine according to what is alterliged and proved. It is the business of the parties grieved, who know their own particular grieveness, to signify their causes of controversy to the arbitrator; for he is a stranger, and cannot know any thing of their disputes but what is laid before him. 8 Co. 98. b.
  - "In case of such a general submission, if an award concerning we thing only be made, it shall be presumed (till the contrary be shown by the party objecting) that nothing else was referred. Cro. Isc. 200. But the arbitrators ought to decide on all matters laid before them, or they cannot do complete justice.

- "It is, however, no valid objection to an award, that the arbitrator had notice of a certain demand, and that he made no award of that, if in other respects the award be good; as, though the sum in question may not be mentioned in the award, the arbitrator may have shown his opinion that the demand was unfounded. I Saund. 32.
- 4. " If an award be to do any thing which is against law, it is yold, and the parties are not bound to perform it. 2 Vent. 243. So also is an award of a thing which is not physically or morally possible, or in the power of the party to perform, as that he shall deliver up a deed which is in the power and custody of a person over whom he has no control. 12 Mod. 585. And an award, that the defendant shall be bound with species such as the plaintiff shall approve, is void; for it may be impossible to force the approbation of the plaintiff. 3 Mod. 272. But in this case the party should enter into a bond, and tender it to the plaintiff.
- "Where an award is, that one of the parties shall procure a stranger to do a thing, there is a distinction taken between the case where he has no power over the stranger to compel him, and where he has power either by the common law or by hill in equity. In the former case, the award is void, for so much as concerns the stranger. In the latter it is good. Rol. Abr. tit. Arbit. F. 1.
- Neither must an award be to do a thing unreasonable, nor by the performance of which the party awarded to do the acts may subject himself to an action from another. Rol. Abr. tit. Arbit. E. 2, 3. Lev. 153.
- 5. 66 The award must be certain and final. As the intention of the parties in submitting their disputes to arbitration is to have something ascertained which was uncertain before, it is a positive rule, that the award ought to be plainly expressed, that the parties may certainly know what it is they are ordered to do. 5 Co. 77. b.
- "On the construction of certainty and uncertainty the cases are multifarious; and it may be observed, that they principally depend on such circumstances as are peculiar to each case, and very seldom form any general precedent. The rule, therefore, serves better to regulate the conduct of arbitrators, than the numerous exceptions: as it is the interest of the party against whom the award is made to be ingenious in finding out objections, an award cannot be too paraicular or precise in laying down what is to be done by the parties, and the manner, time, and place of their doing it. For though the two latter have been deemed immaterial, yet it is safer to specify them.

Awards are now so liberally construed, that trifling objection are not suffered to prevail against the manifest intent of the parties. In favour of the equitable jurisdiction of the arbitrators, if that to which the objection of uncertainty is made can be ascertained, either by the context of the award, or from the nature of, and circumstances attendant on, the thing awarded, or by a manifest reference to something connected with it, the objection shall not prevail. Str. 903. Where there is no date to be awarded, it shall be taken at from the day of the delivery, which may be ascertained by averment, and all other uncertainties may be helped by proper averment in pleading. I Ld. Raym. 246.

"As an award must be certain, so, in order to prevent any future litigation on the subject of the submission, it must also be final.

"On this principle, an award that each party shall be nomited in the action which be has brought against the other is not good, because (amongst other reasons) a non-suit does not bar them from bringing a new action; but an award that a party shall discontinue his action, or enter a retraxit, is good. Rol. Abr. tit. Arbit. F. 7.

"An award, 'that all suits shall cease," or 'that a bill is chancery shall be dismissed,' or 'that a party shall not commence or prosecute a suit,' is final: for it shall be taken to mean that the debt and action shall cease for ever. 6 Mod. 33.

"Lastly, the award must be mutual, not giving an advantage to one party without an equivalent to the other.

"The principal requisite, however, to form that mutuality, about which so much is said in all the cases usually classed under this rule, is nothing more than that the thing awarded to be done should be a final discharge and satisfaction of all debts and claims by the party in whose favour the award is made, against the other, for the matters submitted; and therefore the present rule amounts to nothing more than a different form of expression of that which requires that an award should be final. Com. Rep. 328.

6. "The rules that at present govern the construction of awards are, that they shall be interpreted as deeds, according to the intertion of the arbitrators; that they shall not be taken strictly, but literally, according to the intent of the parties submitting, and according to the power given to the arbitrators; 1 Bur. 279. that all actions mentioned in the award shall be construed to mean, all actions over which the arbitrators have power by the submission; that if there be any contradiction in the words of an award, so that the one point cannot stand consistently with the other, the first part shall stand, and the latter be rejected; but that if the latter be only an explanation of the former, both parts shall stand; 3 Bulstr. 66. and that where the words of an award have any ambiguity in them, they are always to be construed in such a manner as to give effect to the tward. 6 Mod. 85.

"" Much unnecessary difficulty occurs in all the old reports on the construction that ought to be put on the award of a release; but it is now clearly settled, that an award of releases up to the time of making the award is not altogether void, but that it shall be construct so as to support the award; and that for two reasons. 1st. That it shall be presumed that no difference has arisen since the time of the submission, unless it be specially shown that there has. 2d. That a release to the time of the submission is a good performance of an award, ordering a release to the time of the award; not because the meaning of the arbitrators is so, but because their meaning must be controlled so far as it is void by construction of law. 2 Ld. Raym. 964.

"Formerly if one part of an award was void, the whole was considered so: now, however, it is the rule of the courts in many cases to enforce the performance of that, which, had it stood by itself, would have been good, notwithstanding another part might have been bad; 12 Mod. 534. but if that part of the award which is void be so connected with the rest as to affect the justice of the case between the parties, the award is void for the whole. Cro. Jac. 584.

When, from the tenor of the award, it appears that the arbitrator intended that his award should be mutual, according something in favour of one of the parties as an equivalent for what he has awarded in favour of the other; if then that which is awarded on one side be void, so that performance of it cannot be enforced, the award is void for the whole, because that mutuality which the arbitrator intended cannot be preserved. Rol. Abr. tit. Arbitr. K. 15.

several things, for some of which it would be good, and for others bad, the award is bad for the whole, because the act cannot be avoided. Cro. Jac. 639.

When it appears clearly, that both parties have the full effect of what was intended them by the arbitrator, though something be awarded which was void, yet the award shall stand for the rest. I Ld. Raym. 114.

"An award ought regularly to be made in writing, signed and scaled by the arbitrators, and the execution properly witnessed; it may, however, be made by parol, if it is so expressly provided in the submission.

- 7. "It is not in all cases absolutely necessary, that performance should be exactly according to the words of the award; if it be substantively and effectually the same it is inflicient. 3 Bulstr. 67. And if the party in whose favour the award is made accept of a performance different in circumstances from the exact letter of the award, that is sufficient; for consensus tollet errorem. Ibid.
- "Where the concurrence and presence of both parties is not absolutely necessary to the performance, each ought to perform his part without request from the other. 1 Ld. Raym. 233.
- "A considerable number of years having elapsed since the making of the award, is no objection to the parties being called upon to perform it; Finch's Rep. 384, nor can the statute of limitations, 21 Jac. 1, c. 16, s. 3, be pleaded in bar. 2 Saund. 64.
- "An award in writing, and under seal, need not have a deed stamp, unless delivered as a deed; but being only delivered as an award, it is sufficient if it have the award stamp of 10." 4 Emple Rep. 584.

B

BACHELOR, an inferior degree taken by students, before they attain to a higher dignity.

BACKVERIND, bearing upon the back, or about a man; as where the thief is apprehended with the stolen goods upon his back.

BACKING a warrant of the justice of the peace, is where a warrant granted in one jurisdiction is required to be executed in another; as where a felony has been committed in one county, and the offender resides in another: in which case, on proof of the hand-writing of the justice who granted the warrant, a justice in such other county, indorses or writes his name at the back of it, thereby giving authority to execute the warrant in such other county.

BADGER, one that buys corn, or victuals, in one place, and carries them to another, to sell and make profit by them. By Stat. 5 and 6 Ed. 6. c. 14. such an one is exempted from the punishment of an ingresser. But by 5 Eliz. c. 12 and 13 Eliz. c. 25. they are to be annually licensed by justices in the sessions, and must enter into recognizance not to do any thing under colour of their licenses, contrary to the statutes made against forestallers, ingressers, and regrators.

BAIL, is the freeing, or setting at liberty, of one arrested, or imprisoned, upon any action. civil or criminal, on surety taken for his appearance at a day and place certain, or when demanded.

Bail, in civil cases, is either common or special. Common bail is a matter of course, being nothing but a mere form upon appearance, after personal service of the writ, and notice to appear upon the defendant. If he appear thereto, his attorney puts in imaginary sureties for his future attendance, as John Doe and Richard Roe. But if the plaintiff will make affidavit, that the cause of action amounts to 10t. or apwards, in order to arrest the defendant, and make him put in substantial sureties for his appearance, called special bail; it is then required that the true cause of action be expressed in the body of the writ, or process. 3 Black. 287.

Special bail, are two or more persons, who, after the arrest, undertake generally, or enter into bond to the sheriff in a certain sum, to insure the defendant's appearance at the return of the writ: this obligation is called the bail bond. By 51 Geo. 3. c. 124. s. 1. no person shall be held to special bail, where the cause of action is under 15%. except in certain cases, which have been already specified in article Annest. Vide supra, p.

Bail in ceiminal cases. Upon offering sufficient surety, bail may be taken either in court, or in some particular cases, by the sheriff, coroner, or other magistrate, but most usually by justices of the peace; in the following cases, persons of good fame, charged with a bare suspicion of manslaughter, or other inferior homicide. Persons charged with petit lareeny, or any felony not before speci-Accessaries to felony, not being of evil fame, nor under strong. presumption of guilt. But bail cannot be taken upon an accusation of treason, nor of murder, nor in the case of manslaughter, if the person be clearly the slayer; nor such as being committed for felony have broken prison, nor persons outlawed, nor such as have abjured the realm, nor approvers, nor persons taken with the mainour, or inthe fact of felony, nor persons charged with house burning, nor persom taken by writ of excommunicato capiendo. To refuse bail, when any person is bailable, is an offence punishable by fine. So likewise, if any one is admitted to bail who ought not by law to be admitted $. or if slender bail be taken. 2 Inst. 291. H. P. C. 97.

BAILIFF, a keeper, or protector. Hence the Sheriff is considered as bailiff to the crown, and his county, of which he hath the care, and in which he is to execute the king's writ, is called itisbailinick; so also his officers who execute writs, warrants, &c. are.

called bailiffs. Sheriffs are amwerable for the misdemeanors of their bailiffs. 2 Inst. 19.

BAILIFFS OF COURTS BARON, summon those courts, and execute the process thereof; they present all pound-breaches, cattle strayed, &c.

BAILIWICK, signifies generally that liberty, which is exempted from the sheriff of the county, over which the lard of the liberty appoints a builty, such as the bailiff of Westminster.

BAILMENT, is a delivery of things, whether writings, goods, &c. to another, sometimes to be delivered back to the bailer; that is to him who so delivered them; sometimes to the me of the bailee; that is, of him to whom they are delivered; and sometimes also to be delivered to a third person: this delivery is called a bailment. 2 Black. 451.

The following rules are laid down as actious in the law of ball-

A Bailes, who derives no beheld from his undertaking, is responsible only for gross negligence.

A Bailer, who alone receives benefit from the bailment, is responsible for slight neglect.

When the bailmont is beneficial to both parties, the bailes much answer for ordinary neglect.

A special agreement of the bailes to answer for more or less, is ingeneral, valid.

All bailers are answerable for actual fraud, even though the contrary be stipulated.

No bailee shall be charged for a loss by inevitable accident, or irresistible force, except by special agreement.

Robbery by Force is considered as irresistible; but a loss by private stealth, is presumptive evidence of ordinary neglect.

Gross Neglect is a violation of good faith.

No action lies to compel performance of a naked contract.

The negligence of a servant acting by his master's orders, expressed or implied, is the negligence of the master.

BALENGER, a barge or water-vessel, and also a man of war.

BALIVO AMOVENDO, a writ to remove a bailiff from his of-

BALLANCE or BALANCE, of trade, a term applied to the money balance to be paid by one nation, trading and carrying on business with another. So far as the articles mutually exported and imported pay for each other, there is no balance; but on which ever side the exports fall short in their amount, that nation is said to have the balance against it, and vice versa.

BALLAST, gravel and sand thrown into the hold of a ship, to enable her to carry a sufficient quantity of sail, without oversetting. All ships and vessels taking in ballast in the river Thames, shall pay to the corporation of the Trinity-house for all ballast demanded, after the rates following. For every ton, consisting of twenty burdered weight carried to any ship in the coal trade is. For every ton carried to any other British ship is. 3d. For every ton carried to any foreign ship is 7d. The trinity-house shall employ the ballastmen, and regulate them; and their lighters are to be marked, so that their tonnage may be clearly ascertained, on pain of forfeiting 101. 6 Geo. 2. c. 29.

BAN, a public notice, summons, or edict; it is most especially used in the publication of intended marriages, which must be done on three several Sundays previous to the marriage, that if any can she just cause against such marriage they may have an opportunity to make their objections.

BANE, destruction, as he who is the cause of another man's deafh is said to be to bane, that is a malefactor. Bract. 11. 2. tract 8. c. 1.

BANERET, is a knight made in the field, with the ceremony of cutting of his standard, and making it a kind of a banner; which is deemed so honourable, that they are allowed to display their arms in the king's army as barons do, and may bear arms with supporters.

BANISHMENT, is a forsaking or quitting of the realm; there are two kinds of it, one voluntary called abjuration, and the other upon compulsion, for some offence.

By the habens curpus act, 31 Ch. 2. c. 2. no subject of this realm, who is an inhabitant of England, Wales, or Berwick, shall be sent prisoner into Scotland, Ireland, Jersey, Guernsey, or place beyond the seas, where they cannot have the protection of the common law; for by it, every Englishman may claim a right to abide in his own country so Ing as he pleases, and not be banished or driven from it but by sentence of the law. See Transportation.

BANK, in the common law, is a seat or bench of judgment. Bank to roy, the king's-bench; bank to common pleas, the bench of common pleas.

BANK OF ENGLAND, is the first bank in point of consequence in Europe; it is managed by a governor and directors, established by act of parliament; with funds for maintenance thereof, appropriated to such persons as were subscribers; and the capital stock, which is enlarged by several statutes, is exempted from taxes. The banking system is founded on the principle of depositing a value, which is forthcoming and am werable for written promises issued, called notes, and which pass from hand to hand as a circulating medium, or as the coin of the country.

The Bank of England is under various regulations, sanctioned by Parliament, for its internal government, &c. too numerous to be here stated. Persons forging, altering, or uttering as true when forged. Bank Notes, Bank-Bills of Exchange, dividend-warrants, or any bond or obligation under the common seal of the bank of England, or any indorsement thereon, or who shall offer or dispose of or put away the same, or shall demand the money therein contained, or any part thereof of the said company, any their officers or servants knowingly to defraud the said company or their successors, or any other person persons, body or bodies politic or corporate whatsoever;—every person so offending shall suffer death without benefit of clergy. S and 9 W.3. c. 20. 11 Geo.1. c. 9. 12 Geo. 1. c. 32. 15 Geo. 2. c. 13. 13 Geo. 3. c. 79. 41 Geo. 3. c. 89.

Bank Tokens .- Persons making, coining, or counterfeiting or causing or procuring to be counterfeited, or willingly assisting in such counterfeiting, the tokens of the Bank of England (or Ireland) -- or bringing such counterfeit tokens into the kingdom, shall be guilty of felony, and transported for not exceeding seven years. 44 Geo. 3. c. 71. 45 Geo. 3. c. 42. 51 Geo. 3. c. 110.—Persons uttering forged tokens, knowing them to be counterfeited, shall suffer, for the first offence, six months imprisonment, and find sureties for good behaviour for six months more; --- for the second offence, two years imprisonment, and find sureties for two years more; and for the third offence, shall be guilty of felony, and transported for 14 years. 51. Geo. 3. e. 110. Any person, having in his custody without lawful excuse (proof to lie on the party accused) more than five counterfeit tokens, shall, on conviction before one justice, forfeit the same, which shall be cut in pieces; and shall also forfeit not exceeding 54. nor less than-40s. for each forged token found in his custody :-- one half to the informer, and the other to the poor of the parish: and if such penalty be not forthwith paid, the offender shall be committed to prison, to hard labour, for three calendar months. Ibid.

Bank Notes, a legal tender.—By the 51 Geo. 3. c. 127, after the 24th of July, 1811, no person shall receive or pay, for any gold coin-lawfully current, more than the true lawful value thereof, whether such value be paid or taken in lawful money, or in any Bank of England notes or bills, or tokens, or by any or all of the said means, wholly or partially, or by any other means, device, shift or contrivance whatsoever: and every person offending herein shall be guilty of a misdemeanour. No person shall, by any means or contrivance whatsoever, receive or pass aty Bank of England note for less than the amount of lawful money expressed therein, except only lawful discount on such note or bill, as shall not be expressed to be payable on demand; and every person offending herein, shall be guilty of a misconcarour. Ibid.

BANKRUPT, a trader whom misfortune or extravagance has induced to commit an act of bankruptcy. The benefit of the bankrupt laws is allowed to none but actual traders, or such as buy and sell, and gain a livelihood by so doing.

Requisites to constitute a trading, the merchandising, or buying, and selling, must be of that kind, whereby the party gains a credit upon the profits of an uncertain capital stock. Manufacturers, or persons purchasing goods or raw materials to sell again under other forms, or ameliorated by labor, as bakers, bankers, brewers, butchers, manufacturers of every description, pawnbrokers, smugglers, &c. &c. are also within the statutes.

The following description of persons, are not within the statutes of bankraptcy, viz. proprietors or persons having an interest in land, if buying and selling to whatever extent, for the purposes of disposing merely of the produce and profits of such land; graziers and drovers; owners of coal-mines working and selling the coals; owners or farmers of allum-rocks; farmers who make cheeses for sale, or those who sell cyder made from apples of their own orchard. In all such cases, and others of a similar nature, where the several materials are purchased, and even some kind of manufacture exercised; yet as this is the necessary and customary mode of receiving the benefit arising from the land, such persons are not held to be traders within the statutes; nor are persons buying and selling bank stock or government securities. Baying or selling only, will neither singly constitute trading; neither will a single act of buying and selling; or drawing or redrawing bills of exchange merely for the purpose of raising money for private occasions, and not with a view to gain a profit upon the exchange. Being a part-awner in a ship, barge, or waggon, does not constitute a trader; nor holding a share or interest in a joint stock with others who trade, unless he share in the profit and loss upon the disposition of the capital. The merchandize must also be general, and not in a qualified manner only, as victuallers or innkeepers, schoolmasters, commissioners of the navy who victual the fleet by private contract, the king's butler, steward, or other officers; officers of excise or custom, suttlers of the armies, butlers, stewards of inns of court, clergymen, &c. as acting in such capacities merely, are not liable to be made bankrupts; the buying and selling in such cases not being general but in the exercise of particular employments.

npon the same principle, are receivers of the king's taxes, or persons discounting exchequer bills. If the parties above enumerated bowever, being themselves within the bankrupt laws in any other respect, they will be liable to their operation, although they should evidently not profit by trading, or such trading should be illegal; although the trading should not be wholly carried on in England, buying only im England and selling beyond sea. Any person, native, denizen, or alien, residing in any part of the British dominions, or in foreign countries, though never a resident trader in England, yet if he be a trader, and coming to England commit an act of bankruptcy, he will be subject to the bankrupt laws.

No one can be a bankrupt, on account of any debt, which he is not compellable by law to discharge, as infants or married women. And if a single woman be a trader, and committing any act of bank-ruptcy, afterwards marry, a commission issued against her after such marriage, cannot be supported. But according to the custom of Loudon, where a married woman is sole trader, she is held liable to a commission of bankruptcy like a fame sole.

Acts of bankruptcy. Departing the realm. This must be done with intent to defraud or delay creditors; when it appears that there was no such intention, it will not be a departure within the menning of the statutes. 7 T. R. 509. 5 Ves. Jun. 576. 9 East's Rep. 487.

Departing from the dwelling-house. Such departure must also be with intent to defraud and delay creditors; for the departure with an intent to delay, has been held insufficient, without an actual delay of some creditors. Str. 803. 5 Espinasse's N. P. C. 139.

Beginning to keep the house, the being denied to a creditor who calls for money; but an order to be denied, is not enough without an actual denial, and that also to a creditor who has a debt demandable at the time. 2 T. R. 59. 5 T. R. 575. Cooke's B. L. 74.

Voluntary arrest, not only for a fictitious debt, but even for a just one, if done with the intent to delay creditors, is an act of bank-ruptcy. 7 Vin. Ab. 61, 62. Pl. 15.

Suffering outlawry, with an intent to defraud creditors, but this will not make a man a bankrupt, if reversed before issuing a commission, or for default of proclamations after it, unless such outlawry were originally fraudulent. 2 Sid. 69.

Escaping from prison. Being arrested for a just debt of 1001. or upwards, and escaping against the consent of the sheriff. 1 Burr. 437.

Fraudulent procurement of goods to be attached or sequestered. A fraudulent execution, though void against creditors, is not within the meaning of the words, attachment, or sequestration, used in the statute: because they relate only to proceedings used in London, Bristol, and other places. Cooke's B. L. 100.

Making any fraudulent conveyance. Any conveyance of property, whether total or partial, made with a view to defent the claims of creditors, is a fraud, and if it be by deed, is held to be an act of bankruptcy. A conveyance therefore, by a trader of all his effects and stock in trade by deed, to the exclusion of any one or more of his creditors, has been ever held to be an act of bankruptcy. I Burr. 467. 2 Burr. 827. Buller's N. P. 40. But the parties executing such deed cannot set it up as an act of bankruptcy. 2 T. R. 594.

A conveyance by a trader, of part of his effects to a particular creditor, carries no evidence whatever of fraud, unless made in contemplation of bankruptcy. 3 Wils. 47. 1 Derg. 86. But if a trader execute an assignment by deed, of part of his effects, and delivers either possession or nominal possession, and it does not appear that he had his bankruptcy in contemplation, such assignment will be good, and not an act of bankruptcy. 1 Burr. 478. 7 T. R. 67.

By 46 Geo. 3. c. 135. all conveyances by, all payments to, and all contracts with a bankrupt, made bona fide before the date of the commission of bankrupt, shall be good. s. l. And by 49 Geo. 3 c. 121. All executions and attachments against bankrupts' lands or goods bona fide, executed more than two calendar months before the commission, shall be valid, unless the creditor had notice of a prior act of bankruptcy, or that the bankrupt was insolvent, or had stopped payment. s. 2.

Being arrested for dobt, lying in prison two months or more, upon that or any other arrest, or detention in prison for debt, will make the party a bankrupt, from the time of the first arrest: but where the bail is fairly put in, and the party at a future day surrenders in discharge of his bail, the two months are computed from the time of the surrender. 3 East's Rep. 407. 1 Campb. N. P. ca. 509. Bull. N. P. 39.

Powered to issue a commission of bankrupt, and is bound to grant it as matter of right. By 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. no commission can issue, unless upon the petition of a single creditor, to whom the bankrupt owes a debt contracted before the act of bankruptcy, which shall amount 100!. the debt of two or more, being partners, shall amount to 150!. and of three or more to 200!. s. 22, 23. And as bankrupts sometimes committed secret acts of bankruptcy before the petitioning creditor's debt was contracted, and thus created much confusion in adjusting the bankrupt's affairs, the 46 George 3. c. 135. enacts that no commission shall be avoided by any secret act of bankruptcy committed before the contracting of the petitioner's debt. s. 5. And bona fide creditors shall be admitted to prove debts, notwithstanding any secret act of bankruptcy. s, 2. And mutual debts and credits may be set off, notwithstanding any secret act of bankruptcy, s. 3.

But the issuing of a commission, or the striking of a docket, shall, not be deemed notice of a prior act of bankruptcy, 49 Geo. 3. c. 121.
By a general order of the court of chancery of Nov. 26, 1798, the petitioning creditor of creditors must appear in peason.

If the debt against the bankrupt amount to the sum required, it is not material, though the creditor should have acquired it for less.

5 Geo. 2. c. 30.

If a creditor to the full amount before an act of bankruptcy committed, receive after notice of the bankruptcy a part of his debt, such payment being illegal, cannot be retained, and the original debt remains in force, and will support a commission.

The debt must be a legal and not an equitable one, and if the legal demand be not in its nature assignable, the assignee cannot be the petitioning creditor, as the assignee of a bond.

If the creditor, for a debt at law, have the body of his debtor in execution, he cannot at the same time, sue out a commission upon its that being, in point of law, a satisfaction for the debt.

A petitioning creditor cannot sue the bankrupt at law; because by taking out the commission of bankruptcy, he has determined his election, and is precluded from proceeding at law, even for a debt distinct from that proved. 1 Atk. Rep. 152. And now, by the 49 Geo. 3. c. 121. it is enacted, that the proving or claiming of a debt, under a commission of bankrupt, shall be deemed an election of such creditor to take the benefit of such commission with respect to the debt so proved and claimed by him, s. 14.

Of opening the commission. When the commissioners have received proof of the petitioning creditor's debt, the trading, and act of bankruptcy, they declare and adjudge the party a bankrupt. They are authorized to issue a warrant under their hands and scale, for the seizure of all the bankrupt's effects, books, or writings, and for that purpose to enter the house, or any other place belonging to the bankrupt. 21 Jac. 1. c. 19. s. 8. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 14.

Such debts only can be proved under a commission, as were either debts certainly payable, and which existed at the time of the bankrupt-cy, or which, although originally contingent, yet, from the contingency happening before the bankruptcy, were become absolute. In every case the amount of the debt must be precisely ascertained. And persons swearing falsely to debts, are to furfait double the sum to the sther ereditors, and shall be liable to the penalties imposed by the satutes of perjury. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 29.

Time and method of proving. Creditors were formerly precluded from proving after four months, but the court now, except in cases of grow negligence, allows them to come in at any time, whilst any thing remains to be disposed of. The usual proof required, is the eath of the creditor himself, either in person, or by affidavit, if he live remote from the place of meeting, or reside in foreign parts. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. a. 26.

But now, by the 49 Gea. S. c. 121. No creditor who has brought an action, or instituted a suit against a bankrupt, for any demand that arose prior to meh bankruptey, or which might have been proved under the commission, can prove for any purpose whatever, unien he relinquish such action or suit. s. 14. And by s. 17 of the same act, " it shall be competent to any annuity creditor of any person against whom a commission of bankrupt shall issue after the passing of this act, whether the same shall be secured by bond or covenant, or bond and covenant, or by whatever assurance or assurances the same shall be secured, or whether there shall or shall not be or have been any arrears of such annuity at or before the time of the bankruptcy, to prove under such commission as a creditor for the value of such annuity, which value the commissioners shall have power, and are hereby required to ascertain, and the certificate of every bankrupt under whose commission such proof shall be or might have been made, shall be a discharge of such bankrupt against all demands whatever in respect of such annuity, and the arrears and future payments thereof, in the same manner as such certificate would discharge the bankrupt with respect to any other debt proved or which might have been proved under the commission."

And by 19 Ges. 2. c. 32. s. 2. the obligee in any bottomree or respondentia bend, and the assured in any policy of insurance, made and entered into before the bankruptcy upon a good and valuable consideration, bena fide, shall be admitted to claim under a commission; and after the loss or contingency shall have happened, to prove his demand and entire dividends, in like manner as if it had happened before the bankruptcy.

And by stat. 49 Geo. S. c. 121. s. 16, persons effecting a policy of imprance upon ships, goods, wares, merchandizes, and other effects, with any person as a subscriber or underwriter, who is or shall become bankrupt, may prove any loss under the commission to which the bankrupt shall be liable, notwithstanding the person effecting such policy is not the person beneficially interested in such ships, &c.

provided the person really interested is not in that part of the united kingdom where the commission issued.—See SURETY.

Corporations or companies, are generally admitted to prove by a treasurer, clerk, or other officer duly authorized.

Of the assignces. Immediately after declaration of the bankruptcy, the commissioners are to appoint a time and place for the creditors to meet and choose assignces, and are directed to assign the bankrupt's estate and effects to such persons as shall be chosen by the major part in value. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 26. 30. but no creditor shall vote in the choice of assignces, unless his debt amount to 10% or upwards. s. 27.

The powers and duties of assignees are principally those of collecting the bankrupt's property, reducing the whole into ready money, and making distribution as early as possible. One assignee is not answerable for the neglect of another. Assignees, if they act improperly, are not only liable at law to the creditors for a breach of trust, but may be removed on account of misbehaviour, &c. by pétitioning the lord chancellor. Upon the removal of an assignee, he is directed to join with the remaining one, la assignment to the latter and new assignee. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 81. 7 Vin. Ab. 77.

By the statute 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 32, before the creditors proceed to the choice of assignces, the major part in value of the creditors present may, if they think fit, direct in what manner, how, and with whom, and where the monies arising by, and to be received from time to time out of the bankrupt's estate, shall be paid and remain, until the same shall be divided amongst the creditors; and the assignces are to conform as often as 1001. shall be got in.

But as it frequently happened, that no directions were given, and that bankrupts' estates were often improperly retained in the hands of assignees, who made use of the monies in trade, and considerable losses were sustained by the creditors, it was enacted by the stat. 49 Geo. 8. c. 121. s. 3. that where the creditors omit such direction, the commissioners shall, immediately after the choice of assignees, at the same meeting direct the same.. And by section the 4th, if the assignces wilfully retain or otherwise employ for their own benefit any monies belonging to the bankrupt's estate, the commissioners are directed to charge such assignees, in their accounts, interest upon such monies, at the rate of 201. per cent. per ann. for the time they have retained or employed the monies. By section 6th, if an amignee become bankrupt, being indebted to the estate of the bankrupt, of which he was assignce, in 100% and upwards in respect of monies received by him as assignee, and wilfully retained or employed by him for his own benefit, the certificate shall only discharge his person, and his future effects shall remain liable for so much of such debt as shall not be paid by dividends, without lawful interest.

Provisions for wife, children, &c. By the statute of Eliz. the commissioners may assign any lands, &c. that the bankrupt shall have purchased jointly with his wife, and the assignment shall be effectual, against the bankrupt, his wife, or children; but this shall not extend to conveyances made before the bankruptcy bona fide, and not to the use of the bankrupt himself only, or his beirs, and where the parties to the conveyance are not privy to the fraudulent purposes to deceive the creditors.

Examination of the bankrupt. By the 5th Geo. 2. the commissioners are empowered to examine the bankrupt, and all others, as well by parole, as by interrogations in writing. The said statute requires the bankrupt to discover all his estate and effects, and how, and to whom, and is what manner, on what consideration, and at what time, be has disposed of it; and all books, papers, and writings, relative thereto, of which he was possessed or interested, or whereby he or his family may expect any profit, advantage, &c. and on such examination he shall deliver up to the commissioners all his effects, (except the necessary wearing apparel of himself, his wife, and children,) and all books, papers, and writings relating thereto. s. 16 et seq.

With respect to his privilege from arrest. By the above act, the bankrupt shall be free from all arrest in coming to surrender, and from his actual surrender to the commissioners for and during the forty-two days, or the further time allowed to finish his examination, provided he was not in custody at the time of his surrender. s. 5.

Books and papers. By 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. the bankrupt is entitled, before the expiration of the forty-two days, or enlarged time, to inspect his books and papers, in the presence of the assignees, or some person appointed by them, and make such extracts as he shall deem necessary. Ibid.

Power of commissioners in case of contumacy. The statutes empower the commissioners to enforce their authority by commitment of the party, in the following cases.—Persons refusing to attend on the commissioners' summons; refusing to be examined, or to be sworn, or to sign and subscribe their examination, or not fully answering to the satisfaction of the commissioners.

Of the certificate.—By the 49 Geo. 3. c. 121. s. 18. it is conceed, that is in all cases of commissions of bankrupt heretofore issued, and in which the bankrupts have not obtained their certificates, and in all cases in which commissions of bankrupt shall hereafter be sued forth, the signature and consent of three parts in five in number and value of the creditors of the bankrupt or bankrupts who shall be creditors for not less than 201. respectively, and who shall have duly proved their debts under the commission, or some other person by them duly authorised thereto, to the allowance, and certificate, and discharge of the bankrupt or bankrupts, shall be, to all intents and purposes, as available for the benefit of the bankrupt or bankrupts, as before the passing of this act, the signature and consent of four parts in five in number and value of such persons would have been available; and such signature and consent of three parts in five in number and value of such persons, shall be sufficient to authorize all acts to be done by the lord chancellor, lord keeper, and lords commissioners of the great seal, and the commissioners in such commissions of bankruptcy and all others, for the benefit of the bankrupt or bankrupts, which under any act or acts of parliament would have been authorised by the signature and consent of four parts in for in number and value of such persons, s. 18. and by s. 14. a creditor proving a debt under a commission for any purpose whatever, or having a claim of debt, entered upon the proceedings, is to be deemed an election by the creditor to take the benefit of the commission with respect to the debt so proved or claimed by him,

By stat. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. if the plaintiff in an action against the bankrupt, can prove the certificate was obtained unfairly and by fraud, or that any concentment has been made by the bankrupt to the value of 101. the certificate will be of no avail to the bankrupt in such action; and by sect. 11. every bond, bill, note, contract agreement, or other security, whatsoever made or given by any other person, unto or to the use of or in trust for any creditor or creditors, or for the security of the payment of any debt or sum of money due from such bankrupt at the time of his becoming bankrupt and such bankrupt's discharge, as a consideration or to the intent to persuade him, her, or them to consent to or sign any allowance or certificate, is void; and the monies thereby secured or agreed to be paid are not recoverable, s. 7.

By the 10th section of 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. a bankrupt is not entitled to the benefit of the certificate, unless before its allowance he make oath, or, if a quaker, solemn affirmation in writing, that such certificate and consent of the creditors thereto were fairly obtained, and without fraud, s. 10.

By stat. 24 Geo. 3. c. 57. "If any persons shall fraudulently swear or depose, or being of the people called quakers, aftern, before the major part of the commissioners named in any commission of bank-raptcy, or by aftidavit, or aftermation exhibited to them, that a sum of money is due to him or her from any bankrupt or bankrupts, which shall in fact not be really and truly so due or owing; and shall in respect of such fictitious or pretended debts sign his or her consent to the certificate for such bankrupt's discharge from his debts; in every such case, unless such bankrupt shall, before such time as the major part of the said commissioners shall have signed such certificate, by writing by him to be signed and delivered to one or more of the said commissioners, or to one or more of the assignees of his estate and effects under such commissioners, disclose the said fraud, and object to the reality of such debt, such certificate shall be null and wold to all intents and purposes, and such bankrupt shall not in that case be entitled to be discharged from his debts, or to have or seceive any of the benefits or allowances given or allowed to bankrupts." 2. 9.

The consequence of the certificate being thus duly given is, that the bankrupt is discharged from all debts proved or provenble under the commission. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 7; 46 Geo. 3. c. 135. s. 4; 49 Geo. 3. c. 121. s. 8, 17.

But the certificate will be void by the 5 Geo. 2. c. 20. s. 12. if the bankrupt, for or upon marriage of any of his children, give, advance, or pay above the value of 1001. unless he prove, by his books fairly kept, or otherwise upon his oath, or if a quaker, upon aftirmation, before the major part of the commissioners, that he had, at the time thereof, over and above the value so given, advanced, or paid, remaining in goods, wares, debts, ready money, or other estate real or personal, sufficient to pay or satisfy unto each and every person to whom he was any ways indebted, their full and entire debts; or if he has lost in any one day the sum or value of five pounds, or in the whole sum or value of 100% within the space of twelve months next preceding his becoming bankrupt, in playing at or with cards, dice, tables, tennis, bawls, billiards, shovel-board, or in or by cockfighting, borse-races, dog matches, or fuot-races, or other pastimes, game or games whatsoever, or in or by bearing a share or part of the stakes, wagers, or adventures, or in or by betting on the sides or hands of such as do or shall play, act, ride, or run as aforesaid; or if within one year before he became bankrupt, he has lost the sumof 100L by one or more contracts for the purchase, sale, refusal, or delivery of any stock of any company or corporation, or any parts or shares of any government or public funds or securities, where every such contract was not to be performed within one week from the time of the making such contract, or where the stock or other thing so bought or sold was not actually transferred or delivered in. pursuance of such contract, the certificate is veid."

Of the dividends. The assignees are allowed four months from the date of the commission, to make a dividend; and should apply to the commissioners to appoint a meeting for that purpose, or they may be summoned by them, to shew cause why they have not dome so. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 33. and a final dividend shall be made within eighteen months, unless there be a suit depending or effects outstanding. s. 37. But no suit shall be commenced without the consent of a majority of the creditors. s. 38.

By stat. 40 Geo. S. c. 121. s. 5. " for the purpose of ascertaining in what manner the money which shall from time to time come to the hands of such assignee or assignees has been employed, the course missioners shall in no case declare a dividend upon admission only of a certain sum in the hands of the assignees, but shall require such assignee or assignees to deliver upon oath, a true statement, in write-· ing, of all the sums of money received by such assignee or assignees, and when received by him or them respectively, and on what account, and how employed, and shall examine such statement, and compare the receipts with the payments, and ascertain what belances have been from time to time in the hands of such assignee or assignees respectively, and shall enquire for what reason any sam uppearing to be in the hands of such assignee ar assignees ought to be retained, and thereupon shall declare a dividend on the remaining sum, specifying in their order the sum so allowed to be retained, and the grounds on which they may conceive it proper that the same should be retained, and not divided amongst the creditors.

And assignees wilfully retaining in their hands, or employing for their own benefit, any money, part of the estate of the bankrupt, shall be charged by the commissioners in their accounts with interest, at the rate of 201. per cent. per annum, on all monies so retained, during the time they so wilfully retained and employed the same. 5. 4.

If assignces neglect to make a dividend in proper time, they may be charged with interest, although the money has lain at a banker's, and they have not been paid interest for it. 1 Bro. C. C. 384.

Allowance to the bankrapt. Every bankrapt surrendering, and in all things conforming to the directions of the act, shall be allowed five per cent. out of the net produce of his estate, provided after such allowance, it he sufficient to pay his creditors ten shillings in the pound, and that the said five per cent. shall not in the whole exceed 2001. Should his estate in like manner pay 12s. 6d. in the pound, he shall be allowed seven and an half per cent. so as not to exceed 2501, and if his estate pay 15s. in the pound, he shall be allowed ten per cent. so as not to exceed 2501. But the bankrupt is not ex-titled to such allowance, till after a second dividend, nor can be be entitled to it till be has received his certificate. 35 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 7.

Of the surplus. The commissioners are, on request of a bankrupt, to give a true and particular account of the application and disposal of his estate, and to pay the overplus, if any, to the bankrupt.

Of superseding commissions. Commissions may be superseded, for the want of a sufficient debt of the petitioning creditor, or because he was an infact, or for want of sufficient evidence of the trading or act of bankruptcy, or in cases of fraud, or by agreement or coment of the creditors.

Joint commissions. Partners are liable to a joint commission, or individually, against each; but a joint and separate commission cannot, in point of law, he concurrent. A joint commission must include all partners; if there he three partners, and one of them an infant, there can neither be a commission against the three, nor against the other two.

By a general order of the court of chancery, of March 8, 1794, assignces under a joint commission shall keep distinct accounts of the joint and separate estates.

Surrender of bankrupts. If any person, who shall be duly declared a bankrupt, refuse, within forty-two days, after notice left at his place of abode, and in the Loudon Guzette, to surrender himself to the commissioners, and fully to disclose and discover all his estate and effects, real and personal, and all transferrences thereof, and also all books, papers, and writings, relating thereto; and deliver up to the mid commissioners, all such estate and effects, books, papers, &c. as are in his power (except his necessary wearing apparel, &c.) or in case he shall conceal, or embrzzle, any part of his estate, real or personal, to the value of 20% or any books of accounts, papers, or writings, relating thereto, with intent to defraud his creditors, being lawfully convicted thereof, by judgment or information, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, without benefit of clergy, and his goods divided amongst his creditors. 5 Geo. 2. c. 80. s. 1. But such omission to surrender must be wilful, in order to conwinate a felony, Ambl. 801. 1 Ves. Jun. 195. 6 Ves. Jun. 445. and 12 Ves. Jun. 496.

BANKS (DESTROYING). If any person shall wilfully or innbiciously break, throw down, damage, or destroy any banks, floodgates, slatces, or any other works, or do any other wilful hurt or, mischief thereto, he shall be guilty of felony, and transportation for seven years. 4 G. 3. c. 12. s. 5. BANNITUS, an outlaw, or banished man.

BANNS: See Marriage.

BAR, a plea, or peremptory exception of a defendant, sufficient to destroy the plaintiff's action.

In real actions, a general release, or fine, may be pleaded to best the plaintist's title. In personal actions, an accord, arbitrations conditions performed, non-age of the defendant, or the statute of limitation may be pleaded in bar.

In criminal cases, there are especially four pleas in bar, which go to the merits of the indictment, and give reason why the prisoner ought not to answer it, nor be tried upon it; as a former acquittal, a former conviction, (though perhaps no judgment were, or will be given,) a former attainder, and a pardon.

BAR-FEB, is a fee of twenty pence, which every prisoner ac-

BARGAIN and SALE. See Contract.

BARK (Stealing of). By the 45 Geo. 3. c. 66. if any person, without legal right and authority, shall carry away any bark from any wood, or wood grounds, or shall have any bark in his possession, and shall not give a satisfactory account of it, for the first offence he may be fined 40s. for the second 5l. with costs, and for the third, he shall be punished as an incorrigible rogue.

BARON, a degree of nobility next to a viscount, but in point of antiquity the highest. In the house of peers, dukes, marquises, earls, viscounts, and barons, are all equals as members, whence they are collectively called a house of peers, or equals; though, in other respects, they claim and enjoy certain honours and distinctions, peculiar to their respective ranks.

The original barons by writ, Camdon refers to King Hen. 3. and barons by letters patent, or creation, commenced 11 Rich. 2. to these is added a third kind of barons, called Barons by Tonure. The chief burgesses of London were in former times barons, before there was a lord mayor. Hen. 3. The earl palatines and marches of England had anciently their barons under them; but no barons, except those who held immediately of the king, were peers of the realm.

BARON and FEME, are husband and wife by our law, and are adjudged but one person.

BARONET, a dignity, or degree of honour next after barons, having precedency of all knights, except knights banneret. They are created by letters patent, and the dignity usually descends to the issue male.

BARONS OF THE EXCHEQUER. See Exchequer.

BARONY, is that honour and territory which gives title to a

BARRASTER, or BARRISTER, a councellor learned in the law, admitted to plead at the bar, and there to take upon him the protection and defence of clients. Barristers who constantly attend the king's-bench, &c. are to have the privilege of being such in transitory actions, in the county of Middlesex; but it both been questioned, whether an action of debt lies for their fees unless it be upon special retainer; for the fees to a counsellor, are not given as a talary or hise, but as a mere gratuity, which a barrister cannot demand, without doing wrong to his reputation. Davis 23.

BARRATOR, or BARRETER, a person who is a common mover, exciter, or maintainer of saits or quarrels, either in courts or in the country. I Hank, c. 81. s. I.

A common barrator, is said to be a most dangerous oppressor in the law; for he oppresses the innocent by colour of law, which was made to protect them. 8 Rop. 37.

If they are common persons, and found guilty on being indicted as public disturbers of the peace, the usual punishment is by fine and imprisonment, and also by binding them to their good behaviour; but if they are of any profession relating to the law, they may be farther punished, by being disabled to practice for the future, and transported for seven years. 4 Black. 134. 12 Geo. 1. c. 29.

BARRATRY, the act of the barrator, see above. And signifies also, where the master of the ship or the mariners defraud the owners or insurers, whether by running away with the ship, sinking her, deserting her, or embezzling the cargo. See Marine Insurence.

BAHRIERS, bars or rails, which formerly separated the spectators from those practising martial exercises. Also places of defence on the frontiers of kingdoms.

BARRISTER. See Barrester.

BARTER, an exchange of one species of goods for another, which was the original method of trading before money was in see; but although the invention of money has not altogether put an end to barter, yet it has entirely prevented it from appearing in its real form in the books of merchants; us each article is there stated in its money value, and each sale is supposed to be paid for, in the circulating medium of the country, even in cases where no money whatever is unade use of in the transaction.

BARTON, a word used in Devonshire for the demesne lands of a masor, sometimes the manor-house itself, and in some places for out bouses and fold-yards.

BAS CHEVALIERS, low and inferior knights by tenure of a bare military fee, as distinguished from bannersts, the superior knights: hence our simple knights, are called knights bachelors.

BASE COURT, an inferior court not of record, as the court baron.

BASE ESTATE, is that which base tenants have in their lands; and base tenants are those who perform villainous services to their lords.

BASELS, a coin abolished by Hen. 2. ann. 1158.

BASTARD, one who is born of any woman not married, so that his father is not known by order of the law. A bastard, by our English laws, is one, that is not only begotten, but born out of lawful matrimony. As all children born before matrimony are bastards, so are all children born so long after the death of the husband, that by the usual course of gestation they could not be begotten by him.—If a man dies, and his widow soon after marries again, and a child is born within such time, as that by the course of nature it might have been the child of either husband, in this case he is said to be more than ordinarily legitimate: for, on his arriving at years of discretion, he may chuse which of the fathers he pleases. Co. Lit. 8.

If a man marry a woman grossly big with child by another, and within three days afterwards she be delivered, the issue is no bastard. 1 Danv. Abr. 729.

If a child be born within a day after marriage between parties of full age, if there be no apparent impossibility, that the husband should be the father of it, the child is no bastard, but supposed to be the child of the husband. 1 Rol. Abr.

If a bastard die without issue, though the land cannot descend to any heir on the part of the father, yet to the heir on the part of the mother (being no bastard) it may; because he is of the blood of the mother, but he has no father. 2 Roll. Abr.

If a bastard die intestate, leaving neither widow nor issue; the king is intitled to the personality. 2 Black. 505.

The incapacity of a bastard consists principally in this, that he cannot be heir to any one, neither can he have heirs but of his own body; for being nullius filius, he is therefore of kin to no one, nor has he any ancestor from whom any inheritable blood can be derived. 3 Salk. 66.

A bastard may be made legitimate, and capable of inheriting, by the transcendant power of an act of parliament. 1' Black. 459.

If any single woman be delivered of a bastard-child which shall be chargeable or likely to become chargeable; or shall declare berself to be with child, and that such child is likely to be born a bastard, and to be chargeable; and shall in either of such cases, in an examination to be taken in writing, on oath, before one justice of the peace, of the county, &c. where such parish or place shall lie. charge any person with having gotten her with child; it shall be lawful for such justices, upon application made to him by the overseers of the poor of such parish, or one of them, or by any substantial bouseholder of any extra parochial place; to issue out his warrant for the immediate apprehending such person so charged as aforesaid, and for bringing him before such justice, or before any other justices of the peace of such county, city, or town corporate: And the justice, before whom such person shall be brought, shall commit him to the common goal or house of correction, unless be shall give security to indemnify such parish or place, or shall enter into a recognizance, with sufficient security, upon condition to appear, at the next general quarter-sessions, or general sessions of the peace. 6 Geo. 2. c. 31.

Though a bastard-child is prima facie settled where born, yet this rule admits of several exceptions; as where a bastard is born under an order of removal, and before the mother can be sent to her place of settlement; or if a woman he delivered on the road in transitu, while the officers are conducting her, by virtue of an order of removal; or if the child be born in the house of correction; or in the house of industry of any hundred or district; or in a lying-in-hospital, it shall follow the mother's settlement. 1 Sem. Ca. 33. 94, 2 Salk. 474. 13 Geo. 3. c. 29. 20 Geo. 3. c. 36.

BASTARD EIGNE, is a son born before marriage, whose parents afterwards intermarry, and by the civil law he is mulier, or lawful issue; but not by the common law. 2 Inst. 99.

BASTON, a staff or club, which also signifies one of the warden's of the Flect's servants, or officers, who attend the king's courts with red staffs, for taking into custody those who are committed by the court.

BATABLE GROUND, litigious or debatable ground, such as the land which lay between England and Scotland when they were distinct kingdoms.

BATTEL, a trial by combat, which was anciently allowed of in our laws, where the defendant, in an appeal of murder or felony, might fight with the appellant; and make proof thereby, whether be were culpable or innocent. This mode of trial was used also in one civil case, namely, upon an issue joined in a writ of right. But as the writ of right itself is now disused, this course of trial is only matter of speculation. 3 & 4 Black. S77. 346.

BATTERY : see Assault.

BAWDY-HOUSH, a house of ill fame, kept for the resort and commerce of lawd people of both sexes. The keeping of a bandy-house, comes under the cognizance of the temporal law, as a common maisance, not only in respect of its endangering the public pence, but by drawing together dissolute and debauched persons, and promoting quarrels, but also in respect to its tendency to corrupt the manners of the people. 3 Inst. 205.

Any persons keeping a bawdy-house, gaming-house, or other disorderly bouse, are punishable, not only with fine and imprisonment, but also with sufficient infamous punishment, as to the court in discretion shall seem proper. 28 Geo. 2. c. 19. a lodger, who keeps only a single room, for the use of bawdry, is indictable for keeping a bawdy house. 1 Massk. c. 74.

BEACON, a signal crected as a sea mark, for the use of mariners, or to give warning of the approach of an enemy. The corporation of the Trinity-house are empowered to set up any beacons, wherever they shall think them necessary; and if any destroy, or take them down, he shall forfeit 100%, or be ipse facto, outlawed.

1 Black. 265.

BEAD, or BEDE, a prayer, or rather prompter in prayer. They are not allowed to be brought into England, or any superstitions things to be used here, under penalty of a pranumire. Stat. 13 Bliz. c. 2.

BEADLE is a parish officer, appointed by the vestry. His busishes is, to give notice to the parishioners when and where a vestry is appointed to be held by the churchwardons;—to attend such vestry when met, and to execute its orders. He is also to assist the churchwardens, overseers, and constables, in the discharge of their respective duties, and generally to do and execute all the orders and business of the vestry and of the parish. Shaw's Justice, p. 60.

BEARERS, oppressors. Justices of assize shall enquire of, hear, and determine maintainers, bearers, and conspirators, and of those that commit champerty. 4 Ed. S. c. 11.

BEASTS OF CHACE, the buck, doe, fox, marten, and roe.

BEASTS OF THE FOREST, the hart, hind, boar, and wolf.

BEASTS AND FOWL OF WARREN, the bare, coney, pheasant, and partridge.

BEDEHOUSE, as hospital, or alms-house, for bedesmen, or poor people, who prayed for their founders and benefactors.

BEER AND ALE. By ancient statutes, brewers could not raise the assize of beer and ale, but according to the price of the corn, whereof the malt was made, under penalty of being fined for the first, second, and third offences, and for the fourth they should suffer the pilory. But by 2 Geo. 3. c. 14. strong beer may be reasonably advaced, without subjecting venders to a prosecution.

BEGGARS. See Vagrants.

BRHAVIOUR. See Good Behaviour.

BELLS. By a constitution of archbishop Winchelses, the parishioners shall find, at their own expense, bells with ropes.

BENEFICE, is generally taken for all ecclesiastical livings, be they dignities, or other. All church preferments and dignities are benefices; but they must be given for life, not for years, or at will.

BENEFIT CLUBS. By 33 Geo. S. c. 54. any number of persom may form themselves into a society, and raise among themselves a fund for their mutual benefit, and may make rules and impose fines; but the rules of such societies are to be exhibited to the justices in quarter senious, who may annul or confirm them: the rules are to be signed by the clerk of the peace and deposited with him: and no society is to be within the meaning of this act till their rules have heen confirmed. No confirmed rule to be altered but at a general meeting of the society, and the alterations of the rules are to be subject to the review of the quarter sessions. The societies may appoint officers, and securities are to be given for offices of trust if required: and every such band from treasurers or trustees is to be given to the clerk of the peace; and from other persons to the treasurers or trusten: which bonds are not chargeable with stamp duty. standing committees to be declared in the rules of the society; and if particular ones, entered in a book, and all committees are to be controllable by the society. Treasurers or trustees are to lay out the sarplus of the contributions either in private securities to be upproved of, or in the public funds, and to bring the proceeds to account for the use of the society. Treasurers and trustees are to render accounts, and pay over balances, and in case of neglect, application may be made in a summary way by petition to the court of chancery or exchequer, or great sessions. And no fee is to be taken for any proceedings in such courts. Executors and administrators are to pay mency due to societies before any other debt. The effects of societies to be vested in the treasurers or trustees for the time being, who may bring and defend actions. Societies are to declare the purpose of their establishment before the confirmation of their rules by the quarter sessions, and may inflict penalties for misapplication of money. The consent of five-sixths at a general meeting is necessary for the dissolution of societies, and the stock is not to be divisible, but for the general purposes of the society. Their sules are to be entered into a book, and received in evidence. Societics may also receive donations in support of their stock. Wh members think themselves aggrieved, two justices on complaint m summon the officers, and on hearing of the parties, they may ma such order as shall seem just, which is not removeable by certifical No member of any such society producing a certificate thereof, she be removable from where he resides till actually chargeable to t parish; but the signing of such certificate must be authenticated! the oath of a witness before a justice of peace. And on complai of parish officers, any justice may summon persons bringing such ce dificates, to be examined, and make outh of their settlement, at copies of the examination are to be given to the parties, which she exempt them from future examination. Justices may declare, by order in writing, the place of settlement, of persons so examine without issuing a warrant for removal, and copies of such order and of examinations, are to be returned to the parish officers, as persons aggrieved herein may appeal to the quarter sessions. No pe son, who shall reside in any parish, under this act, shall therei acquire a settlement; nor for paying rates; nor any apprentice : servant to such persons. Bastards are to have the mother's settle ment. Charges of maintaining or removing residents under this as to be reimbursed by the parish to which the parties belong.

By 35 Geo. 3. c. 111. societies established before 33 Geo. 3. c. 34 may exhibit their rules for confirmation at any quarter sessions be fore or immediately after Michaelmas 1796. Governors of institutions for the relief of the widows, orphans, and families of the clergy, and others in distressed circumstances, may frame rules, as present them for confirmation. Institutions where rules shall be confirmed, may appoint treasurers, and be entitled to the benefit of this act.

BENEFIT OF CLERGY. By stat. 3 Ed. 1. c. 3: it is exacted that for the scarcity of clergy in the realm of England, to be disposed of in religious houses, or for priests, deacons, and clerks a parishes, there should be a prerogative allowed to the clergy, the if any man that could read as a clerk were to be condemned to death the bishop of the diocese might, if he would, claim him as a clerk and he was to see him tried in the face of the court if he could read or not, if the prisoner could read, then he was to be delivered over to the hishop, who should dispose of him in some places of the clergy as he should think meet; but if either the bishop would not demand him, or the prisoner could not read, then he was to be put to death.

By the common law a moman was not entitled to the benefit of charge; but by 3 W. c. 9. s. 6. a woman convicted, or outlawed.

my felony for which a man might have his elergy, shall, upon her payer to have the benefit of this statute, be subject only to such pushment as a man would in a like case.

But every person (not being within orders) who has been once admitted to his clergy, shall not be admitted to it a second time, 4 Hen. 7. c. 13. and against the defendant's plea of clergy, the prosecutor may file a counter plea, alledging some fact, which in law deprives the defendant of the privilege he claims: as, that he was before convicted of an offence, and therefore not entitled to the benefit of the statute. Leach's Hen. 2. c. 33. s. 19. n.

In case of high treason against the king, clergy was never al-

When a person is admitted to his clergy, he forfeits all the goods he possessed at the time of the conviction. 2 H. H. 388. But immediately on his berning in the hand, he ought to be restored to the possession of his lands, 2 H. H. 388. It also restores him to his credit, and consequently enables him to be a good witness. 2 Haw. 364.

BENEVOLENCE, an aid given by the subjects to the king, as a voluntary gratuity, but in reality an extortion and imposition: this has, therefore, been carefully guarded against by several statutes: particularly by the declaration of rights, 1 W. 3. st. 2. c. 2. It is insisted, that levying money for, or to the use of the crown, by pretence of prerogative, without grant of parliament, or for longer time, or in other manner than the same is or shall be granted, is illegal.

BERGHMASTER, vulgarly BARMASTER and BARMER, a bailiff, or chief officer, among our Derbyshire miners, who, among other parts of his office, executes that of coroner.

BERGMOTH, or BERGHMOTE, vulgarly BARMOTE, a court held for deciding pleas and controversies among the Derby-skire miners.

BERWICA, an hamlet, or village, appurtenant to some town, or manor.

BERWICK. The town of Berwick upon Tweed, though originally part of Scotland, is now clearly part of the realm of England; being represented by burgesses in the house of commons, and hound by all acts of the British parliament, whether specially named, or otherwise. The stat. 20 Geo. 2. c. 42. declares, that where England only is mentioned in an act of parliament, the same, notwithstanding, hath been, and shall be, deemed to comprehend the dominion of Wales and the town of Berwick upon Tweed.

BERY, or BURY. The chief house of a manor, or the lord's seat.

BESAILE, a writ that lies where the grandfather was seized his demeste as of fee, of any lands or tenements in fee simple, t day he died; and after his death a stranger above, or enters the sai day upon them, and keeps out his heir.

BESTIALS, all kinds of cattle.

BETACHES, laymen using glebe lands.

BEVERCHES, customary services done at the bidding of tillord, by his inferior tenants.

BID-ALE, or BID-ALL, the invitation friends to drink at son poor man's house, who thereby hopes to receive some assistant b nevolence from the guests for his relief.

BIDENTES, tags, or sheep of the second year; their wool belied the first shearing, was sometimes claimed as an Aerief to the kin on the death of an abbot.

BIGAMUS, one who marries two or more wives successively and each other's death; or a widow.

BIGAMY, is where a person marries a second wife, the second being alive. By the stat. I Jac. I. c. 11. it is enacted, that if as person or persons within his majesty's dominious, being married, is marry any person or persons, the former hasband or wife being alive the person or persons so offending, shall suffer death, as in cases selony. But it is provided, that nothing in this statute shall extens to any person or persons, whose husband or wife shall be continually remaining beyond seas by the space of seven years together, a whose husband or wife, shall absent himself or herself from ent other, for seven years together; the one of them not knowing the other to be living within that time. Nor shall the said statute extend to any person or persons divorced by a sentence in the ecck stastical court; nor to any person or persons, for or by reason in the former marriage had or made within age of consent.

BILL, in law proceedings, is a declaration in writing, expression either the wrong the complainant hath suffered by the party complained of, or some fault committed against some law or statuted the realm; and this bill is sometimes addressed to the lord chancel lor, especially for unconscionable wrongs done to the complainant and sometimes to others having jurisdiction, according as the lat directs. It contains the fact complained of, the damages thereboustained, and petition of process against the defendant for redress and it is made use of is criminal as well as civil matters. In criminal cases, when a grand jury upon presentment, or indictment, find the same to be true, they indorse on it bills versa; and thereope the offenders is said to stand indicted.

Many of the proceedings in the King's Beach are by bill, which was the antient form of proceeding.

BILLS OF EXCEPTIONS TO EVIDENCE. See Excep-

BILLS OF EXCHANGE. A bill of exchange is an order or request in writing, addressed by one person to another, to pay a certain sum of money on demand, or at a time therein specified, to a third person, or to his order; or it may be made payable to bearer.

If a bill be made payable to bearer, it is assignable by delivery early y-but if it-be payable to order, it must be transferred by indorsement and delivery.

The person making or drawing the bill, is called the drawer; the person to whom it is addressed the drawes, who, when he has undertaken to pay the amount, is termed the acceptor. The person in whose favour the bill is drawn, is called the payer; but if he appoint some other person to receive the money, he is then termed the inderser, and the person so appointed the indersee.

No particular form is necessary in a bill of exchange; any order, or promise, which from the time of making it, cannot be complied with, or performed, without the payment of money, is a bill or note. Mod. 364.

A promissory note, or note of hand, is an engagement in writing, to pay a sum specified at the time therein limited, to a person therein named, or sometimes to his order, or often to the bearer at large: this is also made assignable, and indorsable like a bill of exchange. 2 Bl. Com. 467.

Any persons capable of binding themselves by a contract, may be parties to a bill of exchange, or other negotiable instrument, or be in any manner concerned in negotiating either of them. Vent. 295. Carth. 82. An infant, therefore, or a married woman, (except incertain cases, as where by the custom of London she has the privilege of trading as a feme sole), as they are incapable of binding themselves by contract, cannot be parties to a negotiable instrument; yet such interest, negotiated by persons incapacitated, will neverable estable as to all other competent parties. 2 Ath. 181.

Bills of exchange are either foreign or inland; foreign when drawn by a merchant residing abroad upon his correspondent in England, or vice versa; and inland, when both the drawer and the drawer reside in the kingdom. By 9 & 10 W. S. c. 17. & 3 & 4 Ance, c. 9. all distinctions between foreign and inland bills, as far as respect the custom of merchants, are removed; and the same principles of law are generally applicable to both. See Stamps.

Bills or notes must be certain, and not depend on any particular event or contingency. S Wils. 213.

If a bill or note be made in a foreign country, it must be conformable to the laws of that country, or it will not be valid.

If a bill or note be altered while in the hands of the payer, or any other holder, in any material instance, as date, sum, &c. without consent of the drawer, he will be discharged from his liability, although such hill or note may afterwards come into the hands of an inderses not aware of the alteration; but in this case, if altered before acceptance or indersement, the acceptor can take no advantage of the alteration; and the consent of any one of the parties to the alteration, will in general preclude him from taking an advantage of it. 4 T. B. 390.

If a bill be made with a proper stamp, and afterwards altered by the consent of the parties, though before aegotiation, a new stamp is necessary, as it is a different contract. 5 T. R. 357. If however, there be a stamp of equal or superior value, the proper one may be affixed, on payment of 40s. defers the instrument is due, and 10t. after it is due. But if there is not originally a stamp amounting to the requisite value, the emission can sever be legally supplied. Evens, p. 6.

The acceptor of a bill, is by the custom of merchants as effectually bound by his acceptance, as if he had been the original drawer; and having once accepted it, he cannot afterwards revoke it. Cro. Jac. 368. See Acceptance.

The inderser of a bill is as liable as the first drawer; because the indersement is in the nature of a new bill. I Salk. 125. To inderse a bill, with a fictitious name, is forgery, though such indersement be useless.

A presentment, either for payment or accoptance, must be made at seasonable hours. 4 T. R. 70. In case a bill be not regularly paid, the holder has a right to recover not only the principal, but also in certain cases costs and damages.

But if the political state of a country, where the bill is dae, be such, as to render presentment for payment in due time impossible, the holder will be intitled to recover if the bill be presented as soon as practicable. 2 Smith's Reports, 223.

Notice is that information, which the holder of a negotiable instrument is bound to give to all the antecedent parties. If the drawer refuse to accept, or having accepted, if he refuse payment, or if he offer an acceptance varying from the bill; in either of the above cases the bill is diskonoured; and the holder, in case of neglect to communicate notice within a reasonable time, will not be at liberty to resort to the other parties; who by such negligence, will be discharged from their respective obligations. Bur. 2670.

Notice of conditional or partial acceptance should be given to the other parties to the bill, by the holder in default of payment; for if under these circumstances a general notice of non-acceptance, but given to any of the parties, omitting to mention in such notice, the nature of the acceptance offered, the acceptor is discharged, by this act of the holder, from his acceptance. I T. R. 182.

A protest is an act of a notary public, stating that a bill has been presented for acceptance or for payment, and refused; and declaring that the acceptor, indorsers, &c. shall be liable for damages, &c. and to this instrument all foreign courts give entire credit. In the first instance, the notary, marks or notes the minute of refusal on the bill itself, and afterwards the instrument is drawn out and attested under his hand and seal. The want of a protest, can in no case be supplied by noting, which is a more preparatory minute, of which the law takes no cognisance as distinguished from a protest.

If there is no notary resident at or near the place, the bill must, when payable, be protested by some substantial resident in the presence of two or more witnesses, and should in general be made at the place where payment is refused; but when a bill is drawn abroad, directed to the drawee at Southampton or London, or any other place, requesting him to pay the payee in London, the protest for non-acceptance of such bill, may be made either at Southampton or London.

Notice in case of foreign bills when to be given. Notice should be given on the day of refusal to accept, if any post or ordinary conveyance set out on the day, and if not by the next earliest conveyance. 4 T. R. 174.

An usance is generally understood to mean only a month. Molloy 207. I Show 217. Instead of an express limitation by months or days, we continually find the bills drawn or payable at Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Hamburgh, Altona, Paris, or any other place in France, Cadiz, Madrid, Bilboa, Leghorn, Genea, or Venice, limited by the usance, that is the usage between those places and this country.

An usance between this kingdom and Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Hamburgh, Altona, Paris, or any place in France, is one calendar month from the date of the bill; an usance between us and Cadis, Madrid, or Bilboa, two; and an usance between us and Leghorn, Genoa, or Venice, three. A double usance is double the accustomed time; an half usance, half. Upun an half usance, if it be necessary.

to divide a month, the division, notwithstanding the difference of the length of months, shall contain fifteen days. Blag. 13.

BILL-BANK, is a note of obligation signed on behalf of the company of the bank of England, by one of the cashiers, for value received; or it is an obligation to pay on demand, either to the bearer. or to order.

BILL OF ENTRY, an account of the goods entered at the custom-houses both inwards and outwards. In this bill must be expressed, the merchant exporting or importing, the quantity of merchandizes, and the divers species thereof, and whither or whence transported.

BILL OF HEALTH. See Quarantine.

BILL OF LADING, a memorandum, signed by masters of ships, acknowledging the receipt of the merchant goods, &c. Of this there are usually three parts; one kept by the comignor, one sent to the consignee, and kept by the captain.

BILLS, NAVY, issued by the navy board, for the payment of the various contractors for stores for the navy, dock-yards, &c.

BILLS OF PARCELS, an account given by the seller to the buyer, containing the particulars of the sort and prices of the goods bought.

BILL OF RIGHTS. This important act, on which depend the liberty of the subject and all that Britons can hold dear, was originally the declaration delivered by the lords and commons to the Prince and Princess of Orange, February 13th, 1688. It was afterwards enacted in parliament when they became king and queen; and is as follows:

Stat. 1 W. and M. st. 2. c. 2. s. 1. Whereas the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, assembled at Westminster, representing all the estates of the people of this realm, did, upon the L3th of February, 1688, present unto their majesties, then Prince and Princes of Orange, a declaration, containing that,

The said lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, being assembled in a full and free representative of this nation, for vindicating their ancient rights and liberties, declare,

That the pretended power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by regal authority, without consent of parliament, is illegal.

That the pretended power of dispensing with laws, or the execution of laws, by regal authority, as it has been assumed and exercised of late, is illegal.

That the commission for erecting the late court of commissioners of ecclesiastical causes, and other commissions and courts of a like nature, are illegal and pernicious.

That levying money for or to the use of the crown, by pretence of precognitive, without grant of parliament, for longer time, or in other manner than the same is or shall be granted, is illegal.

That it is the right of the subjects to petition the king; and all commitments and prosecutions for such petitioning, are illegal.

That the raising or keeping a standing army within the kingdom in time of peace, unless it be with consent of parliament, is against law.

That the subjects who are protestants may have arms for their defeace mitable to their conditions, and as allowed by law.

That election of members of parliament ought to be free.

That the freedom of speech, and debates or proceedings in parliment, eight not to be impeached or questioned in any court.or place out of parliament.

That excessive bail ought not to be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruci and unusual punishments inflicted.

That jerors sught to be dely impannelled and returned, and jurors who pass upon men in high treason ought to be freeholders.

That ail grants and promises of flues and forfeitures of particular persons before conviction are illegal and void.

And for redress of all grievances, and for the amendment, strengthening, and preserving of the laws, parliaments ought to be held frequently.

And they do claim, demand and insist upon all and singular the premises, as their undoubted rights and liberties; and that no declarations, judgments, doings, or proceedings to the projudice of the people in any of the said premises, ought in anywise to be drawn beceafter into consequence or example.

All and singular the rights and liberties asserted and claimed in the said declaration are the true, antient, and indubitable rights and liberties of the people of this kingdom, and so shall be estremed, allowed, and adjudged, and taken to be; and all the particulars aforesaid shall be firmly holden as they are expressed in the said declaration; and all officers shall serve their majestics according to the same in all times to come. s. 6.

No dispensation by non obstants of any statute shall be allowed, except a dispensation be allowed in such statute; and except in such cases as shall be specially provided for during this session of parlinment. s. 12.

No charter granted before the 28d of October, 1089, shall be invalidated by this act, but shall remain of the same force as if this act had never been made. s. 13.

Lastly, these liberties were again amorted at the commencement of the present century in the Act of Settlement, (stat. 18 and 18 W. 8.

c. 2.) whereby the crown was limited to his present majesty's illustrious house; and some new provisions were added at the same time; for better securing our religion, laws, and liberties, which the statute declares to be "the birth-right of the people of Eagland," according to the antient doctrine of the common law.

BILL OF SALE, a solemn contract under seal, whereby a man passes the right or interest that he path in goods and chattels. By the statute 13 Eliz. c. 5. all conveyances of lands, goods, and chattels, to avoid the debt or duty of another, shall, as against the party whose debt or duty is so endeavoured to be avoided, be utterly void; except grants made bona fide, and on good (which is construed a valuable) consideration.

BILL OF STORE, a license granted at the custom-house to merchants, to carry such stores, and provisions as are necessary for their voyage, custom free.

BILL OF SUFFERANCE, a license granted to a merchant as the custom-bouse, suffering him to trade from one port to another, without paying custom.

BILLS VICTUALLING, issued by the victualling-board, in payment of contracts made for victualling the navy. They are like navy-bilis payable at 90 days, with an interest, of three-pence half-penny per day on each 1001.

BILLET, bullion of gold or silver in the mass before it is coined.

BILLET-WOOD, must be three feet and four inches long, and seven inches and an half in compass; any under this size shall be for-feited to the poor. Stat. 43 Eliz.

BILLINGSGATE-MARKET, is to be kept every day, and toll is appointed by statute: All persons buying fish in this market, may sell the same in any other market by retail; none but fishmongers shall sell them in shops. If any person shall buy any quantity of fish at Billingsgate to be divided into shares amongst fishmongers or other persons, or any fishmonger shall ingross the market, they incur a penalty of 201. And fish imported by foreigners, (except protestant inhabitants of England), shall be forfeited, and the vessels. And no fish (except stock-fish and live cels) caught by foreigners (except protestant inhabitants of England), shall be imported in any foreign vessel, not being wholly English property, under penalty of forfeiting the vessel and fish. Provided that nothing be construed to prohibit the importation of anchovies, sturgeon, botarjo, or cavear, nor selling of mackarel, before and after divine service of a Sunday.

BISHOP, signifies an overseer or superintendant; so called from that watchfulness, care, charge, and faithfulness, which by his place and dignity he hath, and oweth to the church.

An archbishop, is the chief of the clergy in his province, who next and immediately under the king bath supreme power, &c. in all causes and things ecclesiastical; and has the inspection of all the hishops of that province. He bath also his own diocese, where he exercises episcopal jurisdiction, as in his province he exercises archieniscopal. As archbishop, upon receipt of the king's writ, he calls the bishops and clergy of his province to meet in convocation. To him all appeals are made from inferior jurisdictions within his province. During the vacancy of any see in his province, he is guardian of the spiritualites thereof. If the archiepiscopal see be vacant, the dean and chapter are the spiritual guardians. The archbishop is entitled to present by lapse, to all ecclesiastical livings, in the disposal of his diocesan bishops, if not filled within six months. And he has a customary prerogative, when a bishop is consecrated by him, to have the next presentation to such dignity or benefice in the bishop's disposal, as the archbishop shall chase; which is therefore called his option. 1 Black. 380. The archbishops may retain and qualify eight chaplains, whereas a bishop can only qualify six.

Bishops are elected by the dean and chapter; in order whereunte, when a bishop dies or is translated, the dean and chapter certify the king thereof in chancery; upon which the king issues a license to them to proceed to an election, called a conge d'elire; and with it sends a letter missive, containing the name of the person whom they shall elect; which if they shall refuse to do, they incur the penalty of a promunire. Ibid.

A bishop must be full thirty years of age when consecrated.

A bishop hath his consistory court, to hear ecclesiastical cames; and is to visit the clergy, &c. He consecrates churches, ordains, admits, and institutes priests; confirms, suspends, excommunicates, grants licenses for marriage, makes probates of wills, &c. Co. Lit. 96. Rol. Abr. 230.

BISHOPRIC, the diocese of a hishop.—Archbishoprics and bishoprics may become void by death, deprivation for any very notorious or gross crime, and also by resignation. As all resignations must be made to a superior, an archbishop can resign only to the king; but a bishop must resign to his metropolitan.

BISSEXTILE, cailed icap-year, because the sixth day before the katends of March is twice reckoned, viz. on the 24th and 25th February; so that the bissextile year, bath one day more than other years.

Geo. 2. c. 42. that persons bunting armed and disguised, and killing or stealing deer, or robbing warrens, or stealing fish out of any river, acc. or any person unlawfully bunting in his majesty's forests, or breaking down the head of any fish-pond, or killing, &c. of cattle, or catting down trees, or setting fire to house, barn, or wood, or shooting at any person, or sending anonymous letters, or letters eigned with a fletitious name, demanding money, &c. or rescuing such offenders; are guilty of felony without benefit of clergy.

BLACK BOOK, is a book in the exchequer.

BLACK LEAD, every person who shall unlawfully break into any wad-hole of wad, or black cawke, commonly called black lead, or shall unlawfully take and carry away from thence any wad, black cawke, or black lead, or shall aid or employ others so to do, shall be guilty of felosy. 25 Geo. 2. c. 10.

BLACK MAIL, signifies, in the counties of Cumberland, Northumberland, Westmoreland, and the bishopric of Durken, a certain rate of money, corn, cattle, or other consideration, formerly paid to some inhabitants near the borders, to be protected from a band of robbers called mass troopers.

Black mail, also signifies the rests formerly paid in previsions of tern and flesh.

BLACK-ROD, or gentlemen usher of the black red, is chief gentleman or usher to the king. He hath also the keeping of the chapter-house door, when a-chapter of the order of the garter is sitting; and, in the time of parliament, attends on the house of passs.

BLACKWELL HALL, a repetitory and market for woollen goods in Basinghall-street, London, established by 8 and 9 Wm. S. c. 9. which directs that the public market be held there every Thursday, Friday, and Saturday; from 8 to 19 in forenoon, and from 2 to 5 in the afternoon, and no other day or hour.

BLADARIUS, a corn-monger, mealman, or corn-dealer.

BLANCH FIRMES, antiently the crown rents, were reserved in White albis or blanch firmes.

BLANK BAR, the same of a plea in der, which in action of trespass is put in to compel the plaintiff, to assign the certain place where the trespass was committed.

BLANK FARM, where the rent is paid in eliver, not in cattle.

BLANKS, in law proceedings, void spaces left by mistake or cometimes intended to be filled up at a future time. Such blanks are a good cause of demurrer.

BLASPHEMY, all biasphemies against God; all contumelious reproaches of Jesus Christ; all profane scotting at the hely scriptures, or exposing any part of them to ridicule, are punishable by fine, imprisonment, and such corporal punishment, as to the court shall seem meet, according to the beingusness of the crime. I Ham. 6.

BLENCH, is the title of a kind of tenure of land, as to hold land in blonch; is by payment of a sugar-loaf, a beaver hat, a couple of capous, and such like.

BLOOD (Corruption of): see Connurrion or Blood.

BLOODSHED, the fine imposed for shedding blood, was called, bloodest.

BLOODWIT, or BLOODWITE, a customary fine paid as a composition and atonement, for the shedding or drawing blood, for which the place was answerable, if the party were not discovered.

BLOODY HAND, signifies the apprehension of a trespasser in the forest against ventson with his hands or other parts bloody.

BOCKLAND, a possession or inheritance held by instruments in writing; descendible to all sons, and therefore called gavel kind; devisable also by will. Spelman on Feuds, c. 5.

BOILARY, or BULLIARY OF SALT, a salt-house, or salt-pit, where salt is boiled.

BOLTING, a term of art formerly used in Gray's Inn, whereby is meant private arguing of cases.

BONA FIDE. That is done bona fide, which is done really, with a good faith, without fraud or deceit.

BOXAGHT, or BONAGHTY, an exaction in Ireland, imposed at the will of the lord, for relief of the knights called bonaghti, who served in the wars.

BONA NOTABILIA, are such goods as a party dying, has in another diocese, besides that wherein he dies, amounting to 51. in the whole, which, whoever has, his will must be proved before the archbishop of the province; unless, by composition or custom, other dioceses are ordered to do it, where bona notabilis are rated at a greater sum.

Debts owing to the deceased are bona notabilia, as well as goods in possession; and they shall be bona notabilia in that diocese where the bonds or other specialties are, and not where the debtor inhabits. But bills of exchange, or other debts by simple contract, shall be bona notabilia, in that place where the debtor is. 1 Roll. Abr. 909.

BONA PATRIA, an assize of countrymen, or good neighbours: when twelve or more are chosen out of the country to pass upon an assize; and they are called juratores, because they swear judicially, in the presence of the party.

BOND, a bond, or obligation, is a deed whereby the obligor, or person bound, binds himself, his beirs, executors, and administrators, to pay a certain sum of money, or do some other act; and there is generally a condition added, that if he do perform such act, the obligation shall he void, or else remain in full force; as performance of covenants, standing to an award, payment of rent, or repayment of a principal sum of money, with interest, which principal sum is usually half the sum specified in the bond. 2 Black. 240.

All persons who are enabled to contract, and whom the law supposes to have sufficient freedom and understanding for that purpose, shall bind themselves in bonds and obligations. I Rol. Abr. 340.

If the condition of a bond be impossible at the time of making it, if it be to do a thing contrary to some rule of law, or to do a thing that is malum in se, the obligation itself is void.

The bond of a feme covert, is void, as is that of an infant. If a person he illegally restrained of his liberty, and during such restraint enter into a bond to a person who causes the restraint, the same may be avoided for duress of imprisonment. 2 Inst. 482.

To avoid controversics, three things are necessary to making a good obligation, signing, sealing, and delivery.

A bond, on which neither principal nor interest has been demanded for twenty years, will be presumed in equity to be satisfied.

If several obligors are bound jointly and severally, and the obligee makes one of them his executor, it is a release of the debt, and the executor cannot sue the other obligor. 8 Cor. 136.

If one obligor make the executor of an obliger his executor, and leave assets, the debt is deemed satisfied; for he has power by way of retainer to satisfy the debt.

A release to one obligor is a release to all, both in law and equity. 1 Mtk. 294.—See also STAMPS, infra.

BOND, POST OBIT, one and the main condition of which is, that it only becomes payable after the death of some person, whose name is therein specified. The death of any person being uncertain as to time, the risque attached to such bonds, frees them from the shackles of the common law of usury. It has been determined, that bonds bought for half their value did not amount to usury, on account of the risque with which they were attended.

BOOKS. By 8 Anne, c. 19. the author of any book, and his assigns shall have the sole liberty of printing and reprinting the same for twenty-one years, to commence from the day of the first publication thereof, and no longer; except that if the author be living, at the expiration of the said term, the sole copyright shall return to him for other fourteen years: and if any other person shall print, or import, or shall sell or expose it to sale, he shall forfeit the same, and also one penny for every sheet thereof found in his possession. But this shall not expose any person to the said forfeitures, unless the title thereof shall be entered in the register book of the company of stationers.

By 41 Geo. 3. (U. K.) c. 107. eleven copies of each book, on the best paper shall, before publication, be delivered to the warehouse-keeper of the company of stationers, for the use of the Royal Library, the libraries of the two universities in England, the four universities in Scotland, the library of Sion College, the library belonging to the College of Advocates in Edinburgh, the library of Trinity College, Dublin, and the King's Inns, Dublin, on pain of forfeiting the value thereof, and also bl.

By Stat. 34 Geo. 3. c. 20. and 41 Geo. 3. c. 107. persons importing for sale books first printed within the united kingdom, and reprinted in any other, such books shall be seized and forfeited; and every person so exposing such books to sale, for every such offence shall forfeit the sum of 101. The penalties not to extend to books not having been printed for twenty years.

By the act of union, 40 Geo. 3. c. 67. all prohibitions and bounties on the export of articles (the produce and manufacture of either country) to the other, shall cease; and a countervailing duty of two-peace for every pound weight avoirdupoise of books, hound or undboard, and of maps or prints, imported into Great Britain, directly from Ireland, or which shall be imported into Ireland from Great Britain, is substituted.

BORD-SERVICE, is a tenure of bord-lands, by which some lands in the manor of Fulham, and elsewhere, are held of the hishop of London; and the tenants now pay sixpence per acre, in lieu of finding previsions for their lord's board, or table.

BOROUGH, is now understood to be a town, either corporate or not, that sends burgesses to parliament. 1 Black, 114.

BOROUGH ENGLISH, is a custom in divers antient boroughs, of the youngest son succeeding to the burgage tenement, on the death of his father. 2 Black. 83.

BOROUGH HOLDERS, or BORSHOLDERS, are the same officers as those called borough-heads, or headhoroughs.

BORROWING.—When money, corn, grain, gold, or any other commodity, merely esteemed according to its price, is borrowed, it is repaid by returning an equal quantity of the same thing, or an equal value in money. And if money be borrowed, it is always understood that interest is payable, and it is by law demandable: but when a horse, a house, or any such property is borrowed, the restoration of the identical property is always understood. Or if a thing be used for any other, or more purposes, than those for which it was borrowed, or be lost; the party may have his action on the case for it.

BORSHOLDER. The same with headborough.

BOSCAGE, the food yielded to cattic, &c. by wood and trees, such as oak and beech mast.

BOTE, a compensation, or amenda.

BOTELESS, without emendation.

BOTHAGIUM, customary dues paid to the lord of the manor, for pitching and standing of booths in a fair, or market.

BOTTOMRY, the act of borrowing money on a ship's bottom, by engaging the vessel for payment; so that in case she miscarry, the lender loses his money; but if she finish her voyage, and arrive in safety, the borrower is to pay the loan with a premium, or interest, agreed on (which is always adequate to the risk), and if this be denied, or deferred, the lender shall have the ship.

BOUCHE OF COURT, an allowance of provision from the king to his knights and servants, that attended him is any military: expedition.

BOUND, or BOUNDARY, the utmost limits.

BOW-BEARER, is an under efficer of the ferest; a kind of swern keeper.

BOWYERS, one of the antient companies of the city of London. The bowyers of London were bound to have each fifty well made bows, under penalty of 10s. for each bow deficient.

BRACINUM, the whole quantity of ale brewed at one time.

BRASS, must be sold in open fairs, or markets, or in the owners houses, on pain of 10%. Brass, pewter, and bell metal, &c. shall not be sent out of the kingdom, on pain of forfeiting double the value. 88 Hen. 8. c. 7.

BREACH OF COVENANT. See Covenant.

BREACH OF THE PEACE. See Peace.

BREAD, the statetes to regulate the price and assize of bread, and to punish persons who shall adulterate meal, flour, or bread, are 35 Geo. 2. c. 29. 13 Geo. 3. c. 62. 37 Geo. 3. 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 74. and 45 Geo. 3. c. 23. but cannot, on account of their great length, be abridged in this work.

BREAKING PRISON. See Prison.

BREHON, the judges and lawyers in Ireland were antiently cailed brokons.

BREVE PERQUIRERB, to purchase a writ, or license of trial; in the king's court. Hence grose the custom of paying 6s. 8d. where the debt is 1001, and so upwards, in suits and trials, for money das

BREVE DE RECTO, a writ of right for a person ejected, to me for the possession of an estate detained from him.

BREVIBUS ET ROTULIS LIBERANDIS, a writ to a sheriff, to deliver to the new sheriff chosen in his room, the county, with the appartenances, une cum rotulis brevibus; and other things belonging to that office.

BREWERS. By 24 Geo. 3. st. 2. c. 41. brewers of strong and mall beer, are to take out annual licenses from the officers of excise, and are subject to many regulations under the excise laws. The 27 Geo. 3. c. 12. settles the duty on beer and ale. By 32 Geo. 3. c. 8. s. 1. common brewers must not sell beer in less quantities than 42 galloms. See Excise.

BRIBERY, the receiving, or offering, any undue reward, by or to any person whatsoever, whose ordinary profession or business relates to the administration of public justice, in order to incline him to do a thing against the known rules of honesty and integrity; it also signifies the taking or giving a reward for offices of a public nature.

As to the punishment of bribery, by the common law, bribery in a judge was looked upon as an offence of so beinous a nature, that it was sometimes punished as high treason. 3 Inst. 148. and all other hinds of bribery are punishable by fine and imprisonment; which may also be inflicted on those who offer a bribe, though not taken. Black. 143. 2 Inst. 147.—See Election of Members of Parliament.

BRIBOR, one that pilfereth other men's goods.

BRICKS and TILES. There shall be paid, by the maker, for every 1000 of bricks made in Great Britain, and so in proportion, an excise duty of 5s. 37 Geo. 3. c. 14. For every 1000 of plain tiles 4s. 10d. 37 Geo. 3. c. 15. For every 1000 of pan tiles, or ridge tiles, 12s. 10d. 34 Geo. 3. c. 15. For every 100 of paving tiles, not exceeding ten inches square, 2s. 5d. 34 Geo. 3. c. 15. For every 100 of paving tiles, exceeding ten inches square, 4s. 10d. 34 Geo. 3. c. 15. For every 1000 of tiles, other than such as are before described, by whatsoever name they may be called, 4s. 10d. 34 Geo. 3. c. 15.

The foregoing duties are drawn back on exportation; and semielliptical tiles, for the sole purpose of draining met or marshy lands, are exempted from the above duties.

All combinations to enhance the price of bricks or tiles, shall be void; and every brick-maker who shall offend therein shall forfelt 20% and every clerk, agent, or servant, 10%, half to the poor, and half to the person who shall sue in six calendar months, in our of. the courts at Westminster.

BRIDGE, public bridges which are of general conveniency, are of common right to be repaired by the inhabitants of that county in which they lie. Hale's P. C. 143. Where a person makes a bridge for the common good of the king's subjects, he is not bound to repair it. 2 Inst. 700.

No man can be compelled to build or contribute to the charges of building any new bridge, without an act of parliament.

And if none are bounden to repair by tenure or prescription at common law, then the whole county or franchise shall repair it. 2 Inst. 701.

Indictments, for not repairing bridges will not lie, but in a case of common bridges on highways, though they will lie for a bridge on a common foot way. Mod. Cas. 256. The defendants to an indictment, for not repairing a bridge, must not only shew, that they are not bound to repair the whole, or any part of the bridge; but also shew, what other person is bound to repair the same. I Haw. 221.

By I Ann. stat. 1. c. 18 the quarter-session, upon presentment that a bridge is out of repair, may assess every town and parish; the money to be levied by the constables, and paid to the high constables, who are to remit it to the treasurers appointed by the justices. Persom refusing to collect or pay the money, forfeit 40s, trensarers paying money without order of sessions to forfeit 51. callecters of the rate to be allowed three-pence in the pound, inhabitants deemed. good witnesses, and no certiorari to be allowed. By 12 Geo. 2. c. 29. no money shall be expended in the repair of bridges without the presentment of the grand jury. By 14 Geo. 2. c. 3%. justices at their quarter-sessions may purchase an acre of land for the building or enlarging of county bridges. By 43 Geo. 3. c. 59. the surveyors of county bridges are empowered to get materials for the repair of bridges, in the same manner as surveyors of highways, under 13-Geo. 3. c. 78. and the quarter sessions may widen and improve or alter the situation of county bridges, on presentment of their incuficlency. Tools and materials provided by the quarter sessions are vested in the surveyor; and inhabitants of counties may sue for damages done to bridges, in the name of the surveyor. No bridge erected in any county by private persons, shall be deemed a county bridge, to be repaired by the inhabitunts, unless built in a substantial mapper, upder the direction of the county surveyor and the quarter sessions. But this act is not to extend to bridges repaired by tenure. s. 7.

BRIEF, any writ in writing, issued out of any of the king's courts of record at Westminster, whereby any thing is commanded to be done is order to justice.

Briefs for collecting charity, are to be read in all churches and chapels, within two months after receipt thereof; and the sums thereby collected shall be paid over to the undertaker of briefs, within six months after the delivery of the briefs, under penalty of 201.

Brief also signifies an abridgment of the client's case made out for the instruction of counsel, on a trial at law, which is to be fully but briefly stated.

BRIGANTES, the inhabitants of Yorkshire, Lancashire, Darham, Westmoreland, and Cumberland.

BRIGBOTE, or BRUGBOTE, a fine for not repairing bridges.

BROCAGE, the wages, hire, or trade of a broker.

BROKERS, are those that contrive, make, and conclude bargains and contracts, between merchants and tradesmen, in matters of money and merchantize, for which they have a fee or reward.

Brokers are to be annually licemed in London, by the lord mayor and aldermen: If any persons shall act as brokers, without being thus licensed and admitted, they shall forfeit the sum of 500% and persons employing them 50%. And brokers are to register contracts, &c. under the like penalty: Also they shall not deal for themselves on pain of forfeiting 200%. 6 Anne, c. 16. These are called Exchange-brokers.

There are besides persons called paun-brokers, who commonly keep shops and let out maney to poor necessitous people upon pauns; but these are not of that antiquity or credit as the former. Beveral late statutes have made divers regulations in their trade, and subjected them to annual licenses, and divers penalties on trading without such licenses, for which see 29 Geo. 3. c. 57.

BROTHEL-HOUSES, are lewed places, the common habitations of prostitutes. They were formerly allowed in certain places, but by a proclamation in the 37th year of the reign of Henry the Eighth they were all suppressed.

BRUHSMENT, BRUSA, and BRUSULA, browse, or brush-wood.

BUCKSTALL, a station to watch the deer in hunting; the attending whereof was performed, by the tenants to the lord within the forest.

BUILDINGS. If a house new-built exceed the ancient foundation, and thereby hinder the light or air of another house, action hes against the builder. Hob. 131. In London a man may place ladders or poles upon the ground, or against houses adjoining, for duilding his own; for which he ought to have a license from the mayor and alderman, but he must not break ground. If any person duild any new house in London, he must erect a party-wall of brick or stone between house and house, and of the thickness of two bricks in length in the ground story, or he shall forfeit 501. And pipes are to be fixed on the sides of such houses, for conveying of the water falling thereon, into the channels.

BULL, a brief or mandate of the pope, or bishop of Rome, which was formerly of force in this country, but by 28 Hen. 8. c. 16. made void: And by 13 Eliz. c. 1. and 2. if any person shall obtain from Rome any bull or writing, to absolve or reconcile such as foresake their due allegiance, or shall give or receive absolution by colour of such bull, or use or publish such bull, &c. it is kightreason.

BULL AND BOAR, by custom, the parson is obliged in some places to keep a bull and boar, for the use of the parishioners, for the increase of calves and pigs; and every inhabitant prejudiced by his not keeping the same, may have an action on the case against him. I Rol. Abr. 539.

BULLION, gold or silver in mass or biliet.

BUNDLES, a sort of records of the chancery lying in the office of the rolls, in which are contained the files of bills and answers, &c.

BURGAGE TENURE, is where houses, or lands which were formerly the scite of houses, in an antient borough, are held of the king or some other lord in common soccage, by a certain established sent. 2 Black. 82. See Borough English.

BURGHBOTE, a contribution towards the building or repairing. of castles or walls of defence, or towards the building of a borough, or city.

BURGESSES, those are usually so called, who serve in parliament, for any borough or corporation; although the inhabitants and magistrates were so called formerly.

BURGLARY, the breaking and entering the mansion-house of another in the night, with intent to commit some felony within the same, whether the felonious intent be executed or not. Ilale's. Pl. 79. But there must be a breaking and entry, to complete this offence. 1 Haw. c. 38. s. 3.

If there be day-light enough, begun or left, to discern a man's face, it is no burglary. This however does not extend to moonlight, for then many burglaries would go unpunished. 4 Black. 224.

Every entrance into a house by trespass is not a breaking in this case; for there must be an actual breaking. If the door of a mansien should stand open, and the thiefenter, this is not a breaking: or if the window of an house be open, and a thief with a book or other instrument, should draw out some of the goods of the owner, this is no burglary, because there is no actual breaking of the house. But if the thief should break the glass of the window, and with a book or other instrument draw out some of the goods of the owner, this is a burglary, for there is an actual breaking of the house. 3 Inst. 61.

ŧ

The mansion-house, does not only include the dwelling-house, but also the outhouses that are parcel thereof, though not under the tame roof, or joining contiguous to it; but if they be fur remote from the dwelling-house, and not so near it, as to be reasonably exteemed parcel thereof, then the breaking is not burglary. H. H. 558.

To break and enter a skop, not parcel of the mansion-home, in which the shop-keeper never ledges, but only works or trades there is the day-time, is not a hurgiary, but only larceny; but if he or his servant, usually or often ledge in the shop at night, it is then a manion-house, in which a bargiary may not be committed. It.

Where the owner leaves his honce, and disfurnishes it, without a settled resolution of returning, it cannot under these circumstances be deemed a dualling-house; but where the owner quits the house in order to return occasionally, though no person be left in it, it may will be considered as his mansion-house. Fast. 76.

A chamber in an inn of court, &c. where one usually lodges, is a manion-house, for every one bath a several property there; but a chamber where any person lodges as an inmate cannot be called his massion; though if a burglary be committed in his lodgings, the indictment may lay the offence to be in the mansion-house of him that let them. 3 Inst. 65.

If the owner live under the same roof with the inmates, there must be a separate outer-doo, or the whole is the mansion of the owner; but if the owner inhabit no part of the house; or even if he occupy a shop or cellar in it, but do not sleep therein, it is the mansion of each lodger, though there he but one outer door. Leach's Hawae. 28 & 45.

How punishable. By the 18 Eliz. c. 7. s. 1. it is enacted, that if any person shall commit any felonious rape, ravishment, or burgiary, and be found guilty by verdict, or shall be outlawed, or shall essless such rape or burgiary, every person so found guilty shall suffer death, and forfeit as in cases of felony without benefit of clergy.

But in all cases of burglary, accessaries ofter must have their elergy. 1 Haw. 557.

Conviction of a burglar and the reward. The court may allow a prosecutor who bath bona fide prosecuted, such sum as they shall think reasonable, not exceeding the expenses he was bona fide put unto; making also, if he shall appear to be in poor circumstances, a reasonable allowance for his trouble and loss of time. 18 Geo. 3. c. 19.

And further, any person who shall apprehend any one guilty of burglary, and prosecute him to conviction, shall have a certificatewithout fee, to be made out and delivered before the end of the assizes, under the hand of the judge, certifying the conviction, and in what parish the burglary was committed, and that the burglar was taken by the person or persons claiming the reward; and if any dispute should arise between the parties claiming, the judge shall by such certificate, direct the same to be paid and distributed among them as to him shall seem just and reasonable; and on tendering such certificate to the sheriff, and demand made, he shall pay to the person or persons so entitled the sum of 40% without any deduction. 5 Anne, c. 31. 6 Geo. 1. c. 23. s. 10. Such certificate shall be involted by the clerk of the peace of the county in which it shall be granted, for which he shall have Is. And the said certificate may be once assigned over; and the original proprietor or assignee of the same, shall by virtue thereof, be discharged from all manner of parish and ward-offices, within the parish and ward where the felony was committed. 10 & 11 Wm. c. 23.

BURIALS, persons dying are to be huried in woollen, or their representatives shall forfeit 5!. and affidavit is to be made thereof before a justice under a like penalty. Minister to keep register, at the parish expense.

BURNING: see Arson. /

BURNING, DESTROYING, or MOLESTING ships, persons convicted thereof, shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. 12 Anne, c. 18.

. BURNING IN THE HAND. See Clergy.

BUTCHER. Butchers within ten miles of London may not sell fat cattle alive or dead to one another, but they may sell dead calves or sheep. 7 Anne, c. 6. No butcher shall be a tanner or currier on pain of 6s. 8d. a day. I Jac. c. 22. Every butcher, offering for sale any hide gashed in the flaying thereof, shall forfeit 2s. 6d. for such hide. And any butcher who shall put to sole any hide putrified, or rotten, shall forfeit 3s. 4d. for each offence. Any butches who shall kill or sell any victual on the lord's day shall forfeit b., 8d.

BUTLERAGE OF WINES, that imposition upon sale wines, brought into the land, which the king's butler, by virtue of his office, may take of every ship: viz. 24 for every ton of wine imported by strangers. 4 Inst. fol. 30.

BUTTER.-By 36 Geo. 3. c. 76. every cooper making vessels for the pucking of butter, shall make them of seasoned wood, and tights and shall make no others, but tubs, firkins, and half firkins. The tab shall be capable of containing eighty-four pounds of butter, and not less; and shall not of itself weigh less than eleven pounds, nor more than afteen. The arkin shall be capable of containing afty-six pounds, and not less; and shall not weigh less than seven pounds, nor more than eleven. The half fiskin shall be capable of containing twenty-eight pounds, and not less; and shall weigh not less than four pounds, nor more than six, under the penalty of forfeiting 10s. for every vessel made contrary to the above directions. And every cooper shall brand his christian and surname on the outside of the bottom of each vessel, under the penalty of 10s. Every farmer, and other person, who shall pack up butter for sale, shall pack it in ressels made and marked as aforesaid; and when the same is fully seasoned in water, shall, on the bottom, on the inside, and on the top on the outside, brand his christian and surname at length, and shall also brand, both on the top and bouge of the vessel, the weight of the same : and to prevent any of the staves being changed, shall burn both his christian and surname in two separate places across the bouge thereof, under the penalty of forfeiting 51.

By 38 Geo. 3. c. 73. Factors buying or selling butter in vessels not legally marked, shall forfeit 20s. and dealers, having in their possession butter not legally marked, are to forfeit 10s. recoverable as under the 36 Geo. 3. c. 76.

Every farmer, or other person, who shall pack butter for sale; shall pack in every tub eighty-four pounds avoirdupoise net, and not less; in every firkin fifty-six pounds net, and not less; and in every half firkin twenty-eight pounds net, and not less; and shall thereon imprint both his christian and surname, under pain of forfeiting 51.

And no butter which is old and corrupt, shall be mixed with any butter that is new and sound; nor shall any whey butter be mixed with any butter made of cream, but every cask of butter shall be of one sort or goodness; and no butter shall be salted with any great salt, but with fine small salt; and every person acting contrary to the directions aforesaid shall forfeit 51.

And every cheesemonger, or other, who shall sell any tub, firkin, or half fickin of butter, shall deliver therein the full quantity and due quality, or shall be liable to make satisfaction, according to the price thereof.

And no cheesemonger, or other person, shall repack for sale, any butter, in any tub, firkin, or half fiskin, on pain of forfeiting double the value thereof.

The prosecution for the offences above, shall be commenced in four months after the sale of the butter.

BUTTONS, the making and sale of these articles are restricted by the statutes 18 & 14 C. 2. 4 W. and M. c. 10. 5 Ann. c. 6, 4 & 7 Geo. 1. c. 7. & 12. but are seldom enforced.

BUYING and SELLING, a transferring of property from one person to another, in consideration of some price or recompense. On an agreement for goods, the vendee cannot earry them away without payment, unless the vender agree to trust him. But if any part of the price be laid down, or any portion of the goods delivered by way of earnest, the vendee may recover the goods hy action, as well as the vendor may the price of them. By 29 C. 2. c. 3. no contract for the sale of goods, to the value of 10% or apwards, that he valid, unless the payment or delivery be performed, of anless some note in writing he made and signed by the party, of his agent. But if a vendee, after a hargain is struck, tender the money, and the vender refuse it, the property is absolutely vested in the vendee.

BY-LAW, is a private law made by those who are duly authorized so to do by charter, prescription, or custom, for the preservation of order and good government, within some particular place or jurisdiction. Moor. 583.

Every corporation, lawfully erected, bath power to make bylaws, or private statutes, for tile better government of the corporation; which are binding upon themselves, unless contrary to the laws of the land, and then they are void. Il Black. 475.

BYRLAW, or LAWS OF BURLAW, laws made by husbandmen, or townsmen, concerning neighbourhood, to be kept among themselves. C

CABBAGES. Any person who shall steal, or take away, or maliciously pull up and destroy any turnips, potatoes, cabbages, parmips, pease, or carrots, growing in any lands, &c. shall on conviction before one justice, by confession, or oath of one witness, forfeit, over and above the value of the goods stolen, a sum not exceeding 10s. one half to the owner of the goods and the other to the poor, and in default of payment thereof, shall be committed to the house of correction, there to be kept to hard labour for one month, unless the penalty be sooner paid-cables and compass, shall forfeit four times the value of every such cable so made; and every person tarring any hawsers, or other cordage, made of such old and overworn stuff, of a lesser size, not containing in compass seven inches, or who shall sell such cable, hawser, or other cordage, shall forfeit the treble value thereof.

By 6 Geo. 3. c. 45. a bounty of 2s. 44d. is allowed upon every hundred weight of British cordage exported as merchandize to foreign parts; but nothing in this act to extend the bounties to cordage manufactured from old cables, ropes, or cordage, commonly called twice layed cordage.

By 26 Geo. 3. c. 85. no bounty to be paid if made from American bemp, nor for less quantity than three tons weight, continued by 26 Geo. 3. c. 108.

CALENDAR, a table containing the divisions of time into days, weeks, months, &c. in one year, in their regular order and succession; the terms, feasts, changes of the moon, &c. By 24 Geo. 2.
- c. 23. s. 1. the calendar, tables, and rules, mentioned in the act, are prefixed to all the editions of the common prayer book.

And by 25 Geo. 2. c. 30. the times for opening and inclosing grounds for common, and for payment of rents, if the same depend on any movemble feast, are to be according to the new calendar.

CALENDAR OF PRISONERS, a list of the names of the prisoners in the custody of the respective sheriffs of gounties, &c.

CALLICO. By 7 Geo. 1. c. 7. no person shall wear in apparel any printed or dyed callico, under the penalty of 51. and drapers selling any such, forfeit 201. by 14 Geo. 3. c. 72. shifts wholly made of raw cotton wool within this kingdom, are not to be considered as callicos, and every person may use the same. These are distinguished by three blue stripes in the selvedge. See Excise.

CALLING THE PLAINTIFF, is the form which takes place when the plaintiff is non-suited. It is usual for a plaintiff, when he or his counsel perceives that there is not sufficient evidence to maintain his issue, to be voluntarily non-suited, or withdraw himself, whereupon the cryer is ordered to call the plaintiff, and if neither he nor any one for him appear, he is non-suited, the jurous are discharged, the action is at an end, and the defendant recovers his costs a but this is not like retraxit, or a verdict, a bar to another action.

CAMBRIDGE. By stat. 34 and 35 Hen. 8. c. 24. a rent is given to the knights of the shire in the county of Cambridge, instead of their wages. All that hold tenements in Cambridge shall repair the pavements, &c. over against their tenements, on pain of forfeiting 6d. for every square yard of pavement, and 12d. for every pole of gravelled lanes.

The vice chancellor and the mayor of Cambridge may act as jus- . tices for the county, without the landed qualification.

CANDLEMAS DAY, the feast of the purification of the blessed Virgin Mary, (Feb. 2.)

CANDLES. See Excise.

CANFARA, a trial by hot iron, formerly used here. See Orderl.

CANNA, a rod in measure of ground, or distance.

CANON, is a law, or ordinance, of the church. The canon law consists partly of certain rules taken out of the scripture, partly of the writings of the antient fathers of the church, partly of the ordinances of general and provincial councils, and partly of the decrees of the pope in former ages.

Before the 25 Hen. 8. s. 19. the ecclesiastics might make canons without the king, but are by that statute restrained; but since that statute they may make canons with the assent of the king, so long as they are not contrary to the laws of the land, or derogatory of the king's prerogative.

Ecclesiastical persons are subject to the canons. Those of 1640 have been questioned, but no doubt was ever made as to those of 1603 by the court. No canons, since 1603, can bind laymen.—6 Mod. 190.

CAPACITY, in the law signifies when a man, or hody politic, ia able to give or take lands, or other things, or to see actions.

CAPE, is a writ judicial, touching pleas of lands or tenements a it is divided into cape magnum and cape paroum, both of which take hold of things immoveable, and differ from each other in these points.

first, because cape magnum lieth before appearance, and cape parvum afterwards. Secondly, the cape magnum membersh the tenant to answer to the default, and aver to the demandant; cape parvum membersh the tenant to answer to the default only.

CAPE MAGNUM, this writ is awarded, upon the defendant or tenant's not appearing or demanding the view in such real actions, where the original writ does not mention the parcels or particulars demanded.

CAPE PARVUM, this writ lieth in a case where the tenant in summoned in a plea of land, and comes at the summons, and his appearance is afore record; and after he makes default at the day that is given to him; then this writ should issue for the king, &c.

CAPE AD VALENTIAM, is a species of cape magnum, and lies before appearance, it lies where a person is impleaded of certain lands, and I vouch to warrant another, against whom the summons ad warrantisandsm, bath been awarded, and the sheriff comes not at the day given; then, if the demandant recover against me, I shall have this writ against the vouchee, and shall recover so much in value of the land of him, if he have so much; and if he have not so much, then I shall have execution of such lands and tenements as descend to him in fee simple; or, if he purchase afterwards, I shall have against him a re-summons, and if he can say nothing, I shall recover the value.

CAPIAS, is a writ of two sorts, one whereof is called capias at respondendum, before judgment, where an original is sued out, &c. to take the defendant, and make him answer the plaintiff: and the other a writ of execution, after judgment, being of divers kinds.

CAPIAS AD RESPONDENDUM, is a writ commanding the sheriff to take the body of the defendant, if he may be found in his bailiwic, or county, and him safely to keep, so that he may have him in court on the day of the return, to answer to the plaintiff of a plea of debt, or trespass, or the like, as the case may be. And if the sheriff return that he cannot be found, then there issues another writ, called an alias capias; and after that another, called a pluries capias, and if upon none of these he can be found, then he may be proceeded against anto outlawry. But all this being only to compel an appearance, after the defendant hath appeared, the effect of these writs is taken off, and the defendant shall be put to answer, unless it be in cases where special bail is required, and there the defendant is actually to be taken into custody. S Black. 212.

CAPIAS AD SATISFACIENDUM, is a writ directed to the sheriff, commanding him to take the body of the defendant, and him safely to keep, so that he may have his body in court at the return of the writ, to make the plaintiff satisfaction for his demand: otherwise be is to remain in custody till he do. When a man is once taken in execution upon this writ, no other process can be sued out against his lands or goods. But if a defendant die whilst charged in execution spon this writ, the plaintiff may, after his death, sue out new executions, against his lands, goods, or chattels. 3 Black. 415.

CAPIAS ULTAGATUM, is a writ that lies against a person that is outlawed in any action, whereby the sheriff is commanded to apprehend the body of the party outlawed, and keep him in safe custody, till the day of the return of the writ, and then present him to the court, there to be dealt with for his contempt. But this being only for want of appearance, if he shall afterwards appear, the out-lawry is most commonly reversed. 3 Black. 284.

CAPIAS IN WITHERNAM, is a writ directed to the sheriff, in case where a distress is carried out of the county, or concealed by the distrainer, so that the sheriff cannot make deliverance of the goods upon a replevin; commanding him to take so many of the distrainer's own goods, by way of reprisal, instead of the other that are so concealed.

CAPITE, tenure in capits is to hold of the king as the head of the sommonwealth, be it by knight service, or soccage. The ancient tenure in capits was of two sorts, the one principal and general, which is of the king; the other special and subaltern, which was of a particular subject; but tenure in capits is now abolished, and by 18 C. 2. c. 24. all tenures are turned into free and common soccage; so that the tenures hereafter to be created by the king are to be in common soccage only, and not by capits, knights service, &c.

CAPITILITIUM, poll money.

CAPTION, when a commission is executed, and the commissioners mames subscribed to a certificate, declaring when and where the commission was executed, that is called the caption.

CAPTION signifies sometimes an arrest.

CAPUT ANNI, new year's day.

CAPUT BARONIÆ, the castle of a nobleman, which is not to divided among daughters (if there be no son), but must descend to the eldest daughter.

CAPUT JEJUNII, is Ash-Wednesday, in our records.

CARDS and DICE—duty on, see stamps, selling second-hand cards incurs a penalty of 251. per pack. 16 Geo. 3. c. 34.

CARRICK or CARRACK, a ship of great burthen, used both in trade and war. 2 Rich. 2. c. 4.

CARRIER, every person carrying goods for hire is deemed a car-hippen to them whilst in his custody. Waggoners, captains of ships, lightermen, &c. are therefore carriers; but a stage-coachmen is not within the custom as a carrier: neither are hackney coachmen carriers within the custom of the realm, so as to be chargeable for the loss of goods, unless they are expressly paid for that purpose, for their undertaking is only to carry the person.

If a person take hire for carrying goods, although he be not a common carrier, he may nevertheless be charged upon a special asmappit; for where hire is taken a promise is implied; and where goods are delivered to a carrier, and he is robbed of them, he shall be charged and answer for them on account of the hire, and the carrier can be no loser, as he may recever against the hundred.

Goods sent by a carrier cannot be distrained for rent; and may person carrying goods for all persons indifferently, is to be deemed a common carrier us far as relates to this privilege.

A delivery to a servant is a delivery to the master, and if goods are delivered to a carrier's porter and lost, an action will lie against the carrier. I Salk. 292.

Where a carrier gives notice by printed proposals that he will not be responsible for certain valuable goods if lost, if more than the value of a sum specified, unless entered and paid for as such; and valuable goods of that description are delivered to him, by a person who knows the conditions, but concealing the value, pays no more than the ordinary price of carriage and booking, the carrier is, under such circumstances, neither responsible for the sum specified, nor liable to repay the sum paid for carriage and booking. M. 30 Geo. . 1 H. B. 298.

But he must prove either that such notice was stuck up in a conspicuous part of his office when the owner brought his goods, or that it was advertised in a newspaper which he was accustomed to read. 2 Bast. Rep. 331. Coach owners therefore are not liable for injuries, which passengers may sustain from inevitable accidents; as, from the overturning of the coach from horses taking fright, provided there he no negligence in the driver; but it is otherwise if there should have been negligence or misconduct on the part of the driver. 2 Espinasse's Nisi Prius Reports 533. Peako's Ni. Pri. Ca. 81.

A carrier who undertakes for hire to carry goods, is bound to deliver them at all events, unless damaged and destroyed by the act of God, or the king's enemies; and if any accident, however inevitable, happen through the intervention of human means, a carrier becomes responsible. 1 T. R. 27.

CARTS, every eart, &c. for the carriage of any thing, to and from any place where the streets are paved within the bills of mortalizaty, shall contain six inches in the felly; and no person shall drive any cart, &c. within the limits aforesaid, unless the name of the owner and number of such cart, be placed in some conspicuous part there and his name entered with the commissioners of the hackney-coaches, under the penalty of 40s. and any person may seize and detain such cart, till the penalty be paid. 18 Geo. 2. c. 33. And if the drives shall ride upon such cart without having a person on foot to guide it, he shall forfeit 10s. and the owner so guilty shall forfeit 20s. On changing property the names of the new owners shall be affixed, and entry shall be made with the commissioners of the hackney-coaches. The entry of all carts driven within five miles of Temple Bar, is strictly enjoined by the 24 Geo. 3. st. 2. c. 27.

CARUCAGE, a tribute imposed on every plough, for the public service.

CARUCATE or CARVE OF LAND, is a certain quantity of land, by which the subjects have been sometimes taxed.

CASES or REPORTS IN LAW, published fairly and accurately, seem countenanced by the judges as in the case of Currie and others against Walter.

CASTELLORUM OPERATIO, castle-work, or service and labour done and performed by inferior tenants, for the building and upholding castles and public places of defence: towards which some gave their personal assistance and others paid their contribution.

CASTLE GUARD RENTS, are rents paid to those, who dwell within the precincts of any castle, towards the maintainance of such as watch and ward the castle.

CASU CONSIMILI, a writ of entry granted, where the tenant hy courtesy, or for term of life, or for the life of another, aliens in fee, or in tail, or for term of another's life.

CASU PROVISQ, is a writ of entry given by the statute of Cloucester, c. 7. where a tenant in dower aliens in see, or for term of life; and it lies for him in reversion against the alience.

CATALLIS CAPTIS NOMINE DISTRICTIONIS, is a writ that lies within a borough, or within a house, for rent going out of the same, and warrants a man to take the doors, windows, or gates, by way of distress for the rent.

CATALLIS REDDENDIS, a writ which lies where goods are delivered to any man to keep a certain day, and are not upon demand delivered at the day.

CATCH LAND, in Norfolk there are grounds, where it is not known to what parish they certainly belong, so that the minister who for seizes the tythe, by that right of pre-occupation, enjoys it for that one year; whence it is called catch land.

CATCH-POLL, though now a word of contempt, was anciently wed without reproach, for serjeants at mace, bailiffs, or sheriff's officers.

CATHEDRAL, after the establishment of Christianity, the emperors and other great men, gave large demesnes and other possessions for the maintainance of the clergy, whereon were built the first places of public worship, which were called cathedra, cathedrain, sees or seats, from the bishop and his chief clergy's residence thereon.

CATHEDRATIC, a sum of two shillings, paid to the bishop by the inferior clergy, in argumentum subjectionis et ob honorem cathedra.

CATTLE, by the 3 and 4 Ed. 6. c. 19. no person shall buy any ox, steer, runt, or cow, &c. and sell the same again alive, in the same market, or fair, on pain of furfeiting double the value thereof, half to the king, and half to him that shall sue. This is the only act in force against forestalling, ingressing, and regrating.

If any person shall feloniously drive away, or steal, or shall wilfally kill any ox, bull, cow, calf, steer, bullock, heifer, sheep, or lamb, with a felonious intent to steal the whole carcase, or any part thereof, or shall assist in committing any such offence, he shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. 14 and 15 Geo. 2. c. 5. and 34.

Any person, who shall unlawfully and maliciously kill, maim, or wound any cattle, shall be guilty of felony, without benefit of clergy; and the hundred shall be answerable for the damager, not exceeding 2001. 9 Geo 3. c. 22. And horses, mares, and colts, are included in the word cattle. Every person, who shall apprehend and prosecute to conviction any offender, shall have 101. reward; to be paid by the sheriff within a month, on his producing a certificate from the judge. The 26 Geo. 3. c. 71. to prevent the stealing of horses, &c. for their skin, provides that all persons keeping a slaughter-house for cattle not killed for butcher's meat, shall take out licenses, be subject to an inspector, and only slaughter at certain times.

CAVEAT, is a caution, entered in the spiritual court to stop probates, administrations, licenses, dispensations, faculties, institutions, and such like from being granted without the knowledge of the party that enters it. A caveat stands in force for three months. 2 Rel. Rep. 6.

The entering a cavest, being at the instance of the party, is only for the benefit of the ordinary, that he may do no wrong; it is a courts have no manner of regard; therefore if after a caveat entered, the ordinary should grant administration, or probate of a will, it is not void by our law; it is true it is void by the canon law, but our law takes no notice of a caveat. Rol. Rep. 191.

41

CAUSA MATRIMONII PRÆLOCUTI, a writ which lies, p where a woman gives lands to a man in fee simple to the imtent he shall marry her, and being by her thereunto required, he refuses.

CAUSAM NOBIS SIGNIFICES, a writ directed to a mayor of a town or city, &c. that formerly by the king's writ, being commanded to give selsm unto the king's grantee of any lands or tenements, delays so to do, willing him to shew cause, why he so delays the performance of his charge.

CAUSES and EFFECTS. In most cases the law hath respect to the cause or beginning of a thing, as the principal part on which all other things are founded; for such as is the cause such in the effect: where the cause ceases, the effect or thing will cease, as wedlock or matrimony ceasing, the dower ceases. I Co. Inst. 13.

CAUTIONE ADMITTENDA, a writ that lies against the bishop, who holds an excommunicate person in prison for his contempt, notwithstanding he offers sufficient caution or security to obey the commandments of the church for the future.

CENEGILD, an expiatory mulct or fine, paid by one who kills another, to the kindred of the deceased.

CENSURE is, in several manors in Cornwall and Devon, the calling in, of all above the age of sixteen, to swear fealty to the lord, to pay 2d. per poll, and 1d. per ann. ever after, as cert money, and the persons thus sworn are called censors.

CENTENARII, petty judges under sheriffs of counties, who had sule of a kundred.

CEPI CORPUS, a return made by the sheriff, who upon a coplas, exigent, or other process, has taken the body of the party.

CERTAINTY, a convenient certainty is required in writs, declarations, pleadings, &c. 11 Rep. 25, 121.

CERTIFICANDO DE RECOGNITIONE STAPULE, a writ directed to the mayor of the staple, &c. commanding him to certify the lord chancellor of a statute of the staple, taken before him between such and such; where the party himself detains it, and refuse to bring it in.

CERTIFICATE, a writing made in any court, to give notice to another court of any thing done therein, which is usually by way of transcript. And sometimes it is made by an officer of the same unt, where matters are referred to him, or a rule of court is ob-

CERTIFICATION OF ASSIZE OF NOVEL DISSEISIN, a wit granted for the re-examination or review of a matter passed by assize before any justices; as where a man appearing by his bailing to an assize brought by another, bath lost the day, and baving something more to plead for himself, as a deed of release, &c. which the bailing did not or might not plead for him; desires a farther examination of the cause, either before the same justices or others, and obtaineth letters patent to that effect.

CERTIORARI, the writ of certiorari, is an original writ, issuing out of the coart of chancery or the king's-bench, directed in the king's name, to the judges or officers of inferior courts, commanding them to certify or to return the records of a cause depending before them, to the end, the party may have the more sure and speedy justice, before the king or such justices as he shall assign to determine the cause. I Bac. Abr.

A certiereri lies in all judicial proceedings in which a writ of error does not lie; and it is a consequence of all inferior jurisdictions erected by act of parliament, to have their proceedings returnable in the king's-bench. Ld. Raym. 469.

In particular cases, the court will use their discretion to grant a certioreri, as if the defendant be of good character, or if the prosecution be malicious, or attended with oppressive circumstances. Leach's Hale. 2. c. 27. s. 28. n.

The courts of chancery and king's hench may award a certiorari to remove the proceeding from any inferior courts, whether they be of antient, or newly created jurisdiction, unless the statute or charter which creates them, exempts them from such jurisdiction.

1 Salk. 144. pl. 3.

CERT-MONEY, head-money. See Censure.

CESSAVIT, a writ that lies in many cases, upon this general ground, that he against whom it is brought, has for two years ceased or neglected to perform such service, or to pay such rent as he is tied to by his tenure, and has not upon his lands and tenements sufficient goods or cattle to be distrained.

CESSE, an assessment or tax.

CESSION, is where an ecclesiastical person is created a bishop, or where a parson of a parsonage takes another henefice without dispensation, or otherwise not qualified, &c. in both cases, their first benefices are said to be vold by cassion: and to those benefices which the person had who was created a bishop, the king shall present for that time, whosever is patron of them; and in the other cases the patron may present.

CESSOR, one who neglects so long to perform a duty belonging to him as to be liable to have a writ of cossavit brought against him. See Cassavit.

CESTUI QUE TRUST, is he to whose use and benefit, another man is enfectfed of lands or tenements. By 29 Ch. 2. c. 3. Lands of cestui que trust may be delivered in execution.

CHALDRON, or chalder of coals, by 16 and 17 Ch. 2. c. 2. contains thirty-six bushels of coals heaped up, and according to the scaled bushel, kept at Guildhall, London.

CHALKING, wounding and maining cattle, made felony in Ireland.

CHALLENGE, taken either against persons or things: persons, as in assize the jurors, or any one or more of them; or in a case of felony, by a prisoner at the bar.

Challenge of juror, is of two kinds; either to the array, by which is meant the whole jury as it stands arrayed in the pannel or little square pans of parchment on which the jurors names are written; or to the polls; by which are meant the several particular persons or heads in the array. 1 Inst. 156.

Challenge to the array is in respect of the partiality or default of the sheriff, coroner, or other officer that made the return; and it is then two-fold: 1st. Principal challenge to the array, which if it be made good, is a sufficient cause of exception, without leaving any thing to the judgment of the triers; as if the sheriff be of kindred to either party; or if any of the jurors be returned at the denomination of either of the parties. And. Challenge to the array for favor, which being no principal challenge, must be left to the discretion and conscience of the triers. As where either of the parties suspects that the juror is inclined to favor the opposite party. 1 Inst. 158.

Principal challenge to the polls, is where cause is shewn, which if found true, stands sufficient of itself, without leaving any thing to the triers; as if the juror be under the age of twenty-one, it is a good cause of challenge.

Challenge to the polls for favor, is when neither party can take any principal challenge; but shews causes of favor, as that the jurer is a fellow-servant with either party.

In cases of high treason, and misprision of high treason, the prisoner shall have his preremptory challenge to the number of thirtyfive. I lust. 156. But with regard to petit treason, murder, and other felouies, the 22 Hen. 8. c. 14. continues in force, which takes away the preremptory challenge of more than twenty.

Challenges to fight. Though a challenge to fight be not an actual breach of the peace; yet, since it tends to provoke others to break it, is an indictable offence, and punishable by fine and imprisonment. And if a challenge arise on account of any money won at gaming, or if any assault or afray happen upon such account, by the 9 Ann. c. 14. s. 8. the offender shall forfeit all his estate to the crown, and shall suffer two years imprisonment. 4 Bast's Rep. 174.

CHAMBERLAIN. The office of lord great chamberlain of England is hereditary; and where a person dies seized in fee of this office, leaving two sisters, the office belongs to both, and they may execute it by deputy, but such deputy must be approved of by the king, and must not be of a degree inferior to a knight. To the lord chamberlain the keys of Westminster-hall, and the court of requests are delivered upon add solemn occasions. He disposes of the sword of state to be carried before the king, when he comes to the parliament, and goes on the right-hand of the sword next the king's person. He has the care of providing all things in the house of lords in the time of parliament. To him belong, livery and lodgings in the king's court, &c. and the gentleman usher of the black rod, years man usher, &c. are under his authority.

The lord chamberlain of the household, has also, superintendance of artificers retained in the king's service, messengers, comedians, revels, music. &c.

Chamberlain of London, is commonly the receiver of all rents and revenues belonging to that city, and has great authority in making and determining the rights of freemen, and regulating matters concerning apprentices, orphans, &c.

Chamberlain of Chester, when there is no Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, receives and returns all writs, coming thither out of any of the king's courts.

CHAMPARTY, or CHAMPERTY, is the unlawful maintenance of a suit, in consideration of some bargain to have part of the lands or thing in dispute, or part of the gain. By stat. 33 Ed. 1. st. 3. both the champartor, and he who consents thereunto, shall be imprisoned three years, and make fine at the king's pleasure.

CHAMPION OF THE KING, whose office is ut the coronation of our kings, to ride into Westminster-hall armed cap a pis, when the king is at dinner there, and throws down his gauntlet by way of challenge, pronounced by a herald, that if any man shall deny, or gainsay the king's title to the crown, he is there ready to defend it in single combat, &c. which being done the king drinks to him, and sends him a gilt cup, with a cover, full of wine, which the champion drinks, and has the cup for his fee. This office is hereditary.

and the second s

CHANCELLOR and CHANCERY. He that hears the magistracy, is called the lord high chancellor of England. By 5 Eliz. c. 18, the lord chancellor and keeper had one and the same power, and therefore since that statute there cannot be a lord chancellor and lord keeper at the same time; and when seals came in use he had always the custody of the king's great seal, so that his office is created by the mere delivery of the king's great seal into his custody; whereby he becomes without writ or patent, an officer of the greatest weight and power of any now subsisting in the kingdom, and superior in point of precedency to every temporal lord. He is a privy comsellor by his office, and prolocutor of the house of lords by prescription. To him belongs the appointment of all the justices of the peace throughout the kingdom; he is a visitor in right of the king, of all hospitals and colleges of the king's foundation; and patron of all the king's livings, under the value of 20 marks a year in the king's books. He is a general guardian of all infants, idiots, and lunatics; and has the general superintendance of all charitable uses in the kingdom. And all this, over and above the vast and extensive jurisdiction which he exerciseth in his judicial capacity in the court of chancery. All other justices in this kingdom, are tied to the law, but the chancellor hath the king's absolute power to moderate the written law, governing his judgment by the law of nature and conscience. 3 Black. 46.

In chancery are two courts; one ordinary, being a court of commen Law; the other extraordinary, being a court of equity. The ordinary or common law court, is a court of record. Its jurisdiction is to hold plea upon a scire facias, to repeal and cancel the king's letters patent, when made against law, or upon untrue suggestions; and to hold plea on all personal actions, where any officer of this court is a party; and of executions on statutes, and of recognizances in nature of statutes; and by several acts of parliament, of divers other offences and causes: But this court cannot try a cause by a jury, but the record is to be delivered by the lord chancellor, into the king'r hench to be tried there, and judgment given thereon. And when judgment is given in this common law part of chancery upon demurrer. or the like, a writ of error is returnable into the king's bench; but this bath not been practised for many years. From this court also proceed all original writs, commissions of charitable uses, bankrupts, sewers, idiots, lunatics, and the like: and for these ends this court is Blways open. 3 Black. 47.

The extraordinary court, is a court of equity, and proceeds by the rules of equity and good comerience. This equity consists in abating the rigour of the common law, and giving a remedy in cases where no provision, or not sufficient provision, had been made by the ordisary course of law. The jurisdiction of this court is of vast ex-Almost all causes of weight and moment, first or last, have In this court relief is given in the case of their determination here. infants, married women, and others not capable of acting for themselves. All frands for which there is no remedy at law, are eognizable here; as also all breaches of trust, and unreasonable or uncon scienable engagements. It will compel men to perform their agreements; will remove mortgageors and obligors against penaltics and forfeiture, on payment of principal, interest, and costs; will rectify mistakes in conveyances; will grant injunctions to stay waste; and restrain the proceedings of inferior courts, that they exceed not their authority and jurisdiction. 3 Black. 48. This court will not retain a mit for any thing under 10%. value, except in cases of charity, nor for lands under 40s. per annum.

CHANCELLOR OF THE DUCHY OF LANCASTER. His office is principally, in that court, to judge and determine all controversies, between the king and his tenants, of the duchy lands.

CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER, sits in the court, and in the exchequer-chamber; and with the rest of the court, orders things to the king's best benefit.

CHANCE-MEDLEY, is the casual killing of a man, not wholly without the killer's fault, it is also called manulaughter by misadventure, for which the offender shall have his pardon of course. 6 Ed. 1. c. 9. But here is to be considered, whether the person who commits this manulaughter by chance-medley, was doing a lawful thing; for if the act were unlawful it is felony. Chance medley, is properly applied to such killing as happens to self-defence in a sudden rencounter. 4 Black. 183.

CHANDLER, tallow-chandlers and wax-chandlers are by 24 Geo. 3. st. 2. c. 41. to take out annual licenses. They shall not use melting-houses, without making a true entry, on pain of 1001. and are to give notice of making candles to the excise-office for the duties, and of the number, &c. or forfeit 501. See Candles, Excise.

CHAPELS, are of several kinds; private chapels, such as belong to noblemen, &c. free chapels, so called from their fredom or exemption from all ordinary jurisdiction. The king himself visits his free chapels, and not the ordinary; which office of visitation is executed for the king, by the lord chancellor.

Chepels of ease under the mother-church, built for the ease of the parishioners in large parishes. At the foundation of these chapels, it is generally provided that they shall be no prejudice to the motherchurch, either in revenues, or in exemption from subordination and dependance.

CHAPELRY, the precincts and limits of a chapel.

CHAPITERS, in the common law, a summary, or content of such matters, as are to be inquired of, or presented before justices in eyre, justices of assize, or of peace, in their sessions.

'CHAPLAIN. The king, queen, prince, princesses, &c. may retain as many chaplains as they please: and the king's chaplains may hold any such number of benefices of the king's gift, as the king shall think fit to bestow upon them. By 21 Hen. 8. c. 13. an archbishop may retain eight chaplains, a duke or bishop six, marquis or earl five; viscount four; baron or knight of the garter, or lord chancellor three, duchess, marchioness, countess, baroness (being a widow) the treasurer and controller of the king's bouse, the king's secretary, -dean of the chapel, almoner, and master of the rolls, each of them two; the chief justice of the king's bench, and warden of the cinqueports one; all which chaplains may purchase a dispensation, and take two benefices. Every judge of the king's-bench and commonpleas, and the chancellor and chief baron of the exchequer; the attorney and solicitor-general; the groom of the stole; treasurer of the king's chamber and chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster may each retain one chaplain, but these chaplains are not entitled to dispensations.

CHARACTER, if one person apply to another for the character of a third person, and a good character as to his solvency be given, yet, if in consequence of this opinion, the party asking the question suffer loss through the person's insolvency, no action lies against him who gave the character if it were fairly given. 1 Esp. Rep. 442.

But if a man wickedly assert that which he knows to be false, and thereby draws his neighbour into a loss, it is actionable, 3 T. R. 351 But if the party giving credit also knew that the party credited was in bad circumstances an action will not lie. 1 Esp. Rep. 290.

CHARGE and DISCHARGE, a charge is a thing done that binds him who does it, or that which is his to the performance thereof: and discharge is the removal of that charge. In all cases where an executory thing is created by deed, there, by consent of all the parties, it may by deed, be defeated and discharged.

CHARITABLE USES, lands given to alms, and aliened, may be recovered by the donor. 13 Ed. 1. c. 41. Lands, &c. may be given for the maintenance of houses of correction, or of the poor. 35 Eliz. 2. 7. Money given to put out apprentices, either by parishes, or public charities to pay no duty. 8 Ann. c. 9. See Morthain, infra.

CHARLOTTE (Queen). By 2 Geo. 3. c. 1. his majesty is empowered to grant the queen an annuity of 100,000L for her life, to take place from his majesty's decease.

CHARTA MAGNA, the great charter of liberties granted first by king John, and afterwards, with some alterations, confirmed in parliament by king Henry the third. It is so called, either for the excellence of the laws therein contained, or because there was another tharter, called the Charter of the Forest, which was the less of the two; or in regard of the great wars and trouble in obtaining it. The said king Henry the third, after it had been several times confirmed by him, and as often broken, at last, in the 37th year of his reign confirmed it in the most solemn manner in Westminster-kall. Afterwards king Ed. 1. confirming this charter in the 35th year of his reign, made an explanation of the liberties therein granted to the people; adding some, and in the confirmation, he directed that this charter should be read twice a year to the people, and sentence of excommunication be constantly denounced, against all that by word, or deed, or counsel, shall act contrary thereto, or in any degree infringe it.

CHARTER, is a deed whereby the king passeth any grant to any one person or more, or to any body politic.

CHARTER OF FOREST, wherein the laws of the forest are comprised. Anno 9 Hen. 3.

CHARTER LAND, is such as a man holds by charter; that is by evidence in writing, otherwise called, freehold. Stat. 19 Hen. 7. e. 13.

by the freighter and the master or owner of the ship, containing the terms upon which the ship is hired to freight; the masters and owners usually bind themselves, the ship, tackle, and furniture, that the goods freighted shall be delivered (dangers of the sea excepted) well-conditioned at the place of discharge; and they also covenant to provide mariners, tackle, &c. and to equip the ship complete and adequate to the voyage. The freighter stipulates to pay the consideration money for the freight, and penalties are annexed to enforce the reciprocal covenants. A charter-party is the same in the civil law, as an indenture at common law; and is distinguished from a bill of lading, inasmuch as the former adjusts the term of the freight, and the latter ascertains the contents of the cargo.

CHASE, a place of receipt for deer and wild beasts, of a middle. nature, between a forest and a park. It is not lawful to make a chase, park, or warren, without license from the king under the broad seal.

CHATTELS or CATALS, all sorts of goods and property, movemble or immovemble, except freehold property.

CHAUNTRY-RENTS, rests paid to the crown by the servants or purchasers of chauntry-lands. 22 Ch. 2. 16.

CHEAT, a cheat is one who defrauds or endeavours to defraud another of his known right, by means of some artful device, contrary to the plain rules of common honesty. By 90 Geo. 2. c. all persons who knowingly or designedly, by faise pretence or pretences, shall obtain from any person money, goods, or wares, merchandizes, with intent to cheat or defraud any person of the same, or shall knowingly tend or deliver any fetter or writing, with or without a name subscribed thereto, or signed with a fictitious name, threatening to necuse any person of a crime punishable by law with death, transportation, pillory, or other infamous punishment, with intent to extort from him any money, or other goods, shall be deemed offenders against law and the public peace; and the court before whom any such offender shall be tried, shall, on conviction, order him to be fined and imprisoned, or be put in the pillory, or publicly whipped, or to be transported for seven years.

Changing corn by a miller, and returning bad corp in the stead, is punishable by indictment, being an offence against the public, I Sess. Ca. 217. But selling beer short of the measure, is not indictable as a cheat. I Wils. 301. Neither is the selling of gum of one denomination for that of another. Sayer's Rep. 205. Nor selling wrought gold, as and for gold of the true standard; the offender not being a goldsmith. Comp. Rep. 323.

The distinction laid down as proper to be attended to in all cases of this kind, is this:—That in such impositions and deceits, where common prudence may guard persons against their suffering from them, the exerce is not indictable; but the party is left to his civil remedy for redress of the injury done him; but where false weights and measures are used, or false tokens produced, or such methods taken to cheat and deceive, as people cannot by any ordinary care or prudence be guarded against, there it is an offence indictable. 2 Burr. 1129.

As there are frauds which may be relieved civilly, and not punished criminally, so there are other frauds, which in a special case may not be helped civilly, and yet shall be punished criminally. Thus, if a minor, pretending to be of age, defrauds many persons, by taking credit for a considerable quantity of goods; the persons injured cannot recover the value of their goods, but may indict and punish him for a common cheat. Basl. 100. Wms.'s Law. 470.

CHECK ROLL, a roll or book, containing the names of such as are attendants, and pay in to the king, or other great persons, as their bousehold servants.

CHECKS or DRAFTS, on bankers, are instruments by means of which, a creditor may assign to a third person, not originally party to the contract, the legal as well as equitable interest in a debt raised by it, so as to vest in such an assignee a right of actionagainst the original debtor. IH. B. 602. These instruments are uniformly made payable to bearer, which constitutes a characteristic difference between them and bills of exchange; and the legislature has considered them in a more favourable point of view by-exempting them from the stamp duties. They are equally negotiable with bills, although strictly speaking, not due before payment is demanded. The A23. When given in payment they are considered as each; and it is said, may be declared upon as a bill of exchange; and the moment this resemblance begins, they are governed by the same principles of law as bills of exchange.

Checks payable on demand, or where no time of payment is expressed, are payable on presentment, without any indulgence or days of grace; but the presentment should be made within a reasonable time after the receipt, otherwise the party upon whom the check isdrawn, will not be responsible, and the person from whom the bolder received it will be discharged. Therefore, where circumstances will allow of it, it is adviseable for the holder of a check topresent it on the same day it is received. If the holder of a draft oma banker receives payment thereof in the bankers notes instead of cash, and the banker fails, the drawer of the check will be discharged. 2 Show. 296.

CHESTER, where felony, &c. is committed by any inhabitant of the palatine of Chester, in another county, process shall be made to the exigent where the offence was done, and if the offenders them by to the county of Chester, the outlawry shall be certified to the offens there. 1. Hen 4. c. 18.

CHERAGE, tribute, head or poll-money.

CHERISANCE, an unlawful bargain or contract. 37 Hem 9. e. 92. CHILDREN, are in law a man's issue begotten on his wife. Incase land be given by will to a man and his children, who has such alive, the deviace takes only an estate for life; but if there he no child living, it is held to be an estate tail. I Vent. 214. See also FATHER and SON, PARENTS and CHILDREN.

CHILDWIT, a fine paid to the lord of a manor, for every, bastard child begotten in the manor.

CHIMIN, in the law significs way, and is equally applicable to the king's highway, and to a private way.

CHIMMAGE, a toll for way-farage through the forest.

CHIMNEY-MONEY, or hearth-money, was formerly a duty on houses, but long since repealed.

CHIMNEY-SWEEPERS .- By 28 Geo. 3. c. 48. the churchwardens and overseers of parishes, with the consent of two justices, may bind any boy of the age of eight years or more, chargeable to the parish, or who begs, or with the consent of the parent, to be apprentice to a chimney sweeper, until 16 years of age .- His age to be mentioned in the indenture, as taken from the register, or where none, according to information. The form of the indenture is given, but they are not chargeable with the duty now chargeable on parish indentures. Covenants for keeping boys under eight years are void; and taking them otherwise is 10% penalty, and not less than 5% Overseers of the poor of any township or village may act. Any justice may determine complaints between masters and apprentices. No one shall keep more than six apprentices at one time, on like pain, and every master is to affix a brass plate with his name and place of abode, on the front of a leathern cap for the boy to wear when upon duty, on like pain. Masters ill treating apprentices, or being guilty of a breach of covenant, subjected to like pain. Masters are not to let apprentices to hire, nor enuse them to call the streets before seven, nor after twelve between Michaelmas and Lady Day; nor before five and after twelve, between Lady Day and Michaelmas, on like pain. A magistrate may convict; and the penalties are recoverable by distress; but not to issue till six days after conviction, and order for payment served; appeal lies to the informer.

CHIROGRAPHER OF FINES. The officer in common-pleas, who ingrosses fines in that court, acknowledged into a perpetual record, after they are acknowledged and fully passed by those officers, by whom they were formerly examined, and that write or deliver the indentures of them to the party. This officer also, makes two indentures, one for the buyer and another for the seller, and makes one other indented piece, containing also the effect of the fine, which he delivers over to the custos brevium, that is called the foot of the fine. The chirographer also, or his deputy, proclaims all the fines in the court every term, and then repairing to the custos brevium, there indorses the proclamations upon the foot thereof; and always keeps the writ of covenant, and the note of the fine.

CHIVALRY, a tenure of land by knight's service, whereby the tenant is bound to perform some noble or military office unto his lead.

CHOSE, chees in action, is a thing incorpored, and only a right; as an annuity, obligation for debt, a covenant, voucher by warranty, and generally all causes of suit for any debt or duty, trespane, or wrong, are to be accounted choses in action.

CHURCH, the place which Christians consecrate to the worship of God. By the common law and general custom of the realm, it was lawful for earls, barom, and others of the laity, to build charches; but they could not erect a spiritual body politic to continue in mecession, and capable of endowment, without the king's license; and, before the law shall take knowledge of them as such, they must also have the bishop's leave and consent, to be consecrated or dedicated by kim. 3 Inst. 263.

Stealing from a Church.—By 23 Hen. 8. c. 1. and 25 Hen. 8. c. 3, to steal, carry, or take away, any goods and chattels from any church, chapel, or other hely place, is friend without benefit of clergy.

But it having been held not to be sacrilege within these statutes, when not accompanied with the actual breaking of the church or chapel from which the goods are stolen (2 Hale P. C. 235) it was exacted by the statute 1 Edw. 6. c. 12. that to steal goods out of any parish church, or other church or chapel, is, whether accompanied with a breaking or not, felony without benefit of clergy.

By 13 Ed. 1. stat. 2. c. 6. no fairs or markets shall be kept in churchyards.

By 35 Ed. 1. stat. 2. trees in churchyards shall not be cut down, unless for the repairs of the chancel, or of the church.

By 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 4. any person who shall, hy words only, quarrel in any church or churchyard, may be suspended from entering the church by the ordinary; any person striking another there, shall be deemed excommunicate, and for striking there with a weapon, or attempting so to do, shall on conviction, have one of his cars cut off, or be branded with the letter F on the cheek.

By 6 Ann. c. 21. statutes of cathedral and collegiate churches, founded by Hen. 8. used and practised since the restoration of Ca. 2. shall be valid.

CHURCHWARDENS, the guardians or keepers of the church, ore persons annually chosen in Easter week, by the joint consent of the minister and parishioners, or according to the custom of the respective places; to look after the church and church-yard, and things thereunto belonging. They are entrusted with the care and management of the goods and personal property of the church, which they have no interest in, or power over the freehold of the church itself, or of any land or other real property belonging to it; these are the property of the parson or vicar, who alone is interested in their less or preservation. The churchwardens therefore, may purchase goods and other articles for the use of the parish; they may likewise, with the assent of the parishioners, sell or otherwise dispose of the goods of the church, but without such consent, they are not authorised to alienate any of the property under their care. 4 Piner. Abr. 526.

V.

All peers of the realm, clergymen, counsellors, attorneys, clerks in court, physicians, surgeons, and apothecaries, are exempt from serving the office of churchwarden; as is every dissenting teacher, or preacher, in holy orders, or pretended holy orders:—So likewise, generally speaking, are all persons holding any office that requires a constant and personal attendance. Espin. Ni. Pri. Rep. 359.

By 2 Geo. 3. c. 20. no serjeant, corporal, drummer, or privateman, personally serving himself in the militia, during the time ofsuch service shall be liable to serve as churchwarden.

By the 10 & 11 Wm. c. 23. s. 2. persons who have prosecuted a felon to conviction, and the first assignee of the certificate thereof, are exempted.

No person living out of the parish may be chosen churchwarden. Gibs. 215.

The following are the chief duties of churchwardens, viz. tobind out poor children apprentices, 43 Eliz. c. 2; to collect and disburse assessments made by the parishioners in vestry for the repairs of the church; to keep the keys of the belfry, and take care they. he rung only on proper occasions; during a vacancy of the benefice, to manage all the profits and expenses for the benefit of the succeeding incumbent; to take care that the church be duly served by a curate approved of by the bishop; to collect and receive all monies. given in pursuance of a brief, st. 4 Ann. c. 14; to grant consent for the burying of persons in a different parish from that in which the person dies; to prevent self-murderers, as also excommunicated persons, from being buried in the church or church-yard, without as special license from the bishop of the diocese; to sign certificates toenable the out-pensioners of Greenwich Hospital, residing in their respective parishes, to receive their pensions, 3 Geo 3. c. 16; to see that the chancel is kept in due repair and order, and to present the defects to the bishop; to take care of the church and its appendages; to see that it is properly aired and kept clean and in good repair; to provide all requisites for the communion services drittenings, and other ceremonies; to prevent any irreverent or diswhily behaviour at church; for which purpose they may, without being guilty of an assault, take off a persons hat, or even turn him est of the church; to keep the ways leading to the church in repair; to keep the church-yard in a good and passable state, and not to permit any plays, temporal courts, &c. to be held therein; nor are they to allow any idle persons to abide thereis, or in the church perch, during divine service, nor any tumult or indecessey during the time fourial; to pay, within thirty days after notice in writing to then given, or affixed to the door of the church, out of the money collected for the relief of the poor, such sums as shall be rated upon the parish by any or quarter sessions, 12 600. 2. c. 29; to provide and keep a large fire engine, and a hand engine, with proper accoutrements, and to fix stop locks and fire cocks upon the pipes belonging to the water works, and mark upon the front of some opposite house the place where they are to be found, and keep in such house an instrument for opening the plug, stat. 6 Ann. 31; to apprehend and earry before a justice all hawkers and podlars trading without a license, 9 and 10 Wm. 3. c. 27; to advertise stolen lead deposited in their hands by any justice of the peace, 29 Geo. 2. c. 30; to apprebend and safely secure, by order of two justices, all lunatics and issue persons, 17 Geo. 2. c. 5; to raise and levy the assessments for the support of the militia, and to provide volunteers for the militia. 26 Geo. 3. c. 107; 34 Geo. 3. c. 16; to maintain actions for the de-Manying or defacing of the engines, or the monuments or tomb-stones within the church and church-yard; to provide decent ornaments of Public worship and religious ceremonics; to see that the parson does bis duty according to the rites of the church of England, and to present any deficiency therein to the ordinary at the Easter visitation; to levy the ma of twelve-pence on all persons not resorting to the parish charch on Sundays and other holidays, I Eliz. c. 2; and the sum of sisce and four pence for using unlawful sports on those days, l Car. 1; to present or certify to the bishop, at least once a year, matters relative to any defect in the duty of the minister, the religious or moral conduct of the parishioners, or the repairs of the thencel; to see that every new preacher is properly qualified by licesse from the bishop, and to see that he subscribes his name in a best kept for that purpose, with the day on which he preached, and the name of the bishop who granted the license; to summon a vestry of the parishioners for the purpose of making a rate for the repain of the church, which, when agreed upon, is to be levied by the churchwardens upon every occupier of lands or house within the parish, whether he reside in the parish or not; to see that the mirials, which may have happened in the preceding week; to keep the parish church in good repair; but if the churchwardens would make any material improvement or alteration, they should obtain the consent of the majority of the parishioners, and also a license from the ordinary; to see that the Lord's day is duly observed; to give public notice of vestries on the Sunday before the convening of the vestry, or at the church door, as the parishioners depart.

In making assessments for the relief of maimed soldiers and pensioners, the churchwardens are to join with the constable; and in making such assessments for the relief of the poor and indigent in general, by the 43 Eliz. c. 2. they are to join with the overseers.

By the 89th canon of the church, churchwardens at the end of their year, or within a month after, are to give in to the minister and parishioners a just account of all monies they have received and expended for the use of the church, during the time they were in office; and also to deliver up to the said parishioners the money and effects remaining in their hands.

If the churchwardens defer making or gathering their rate till' their office is expired, they are deprived of all legal authority of doing either, unless they have previously made a presentment of the defaulters; for which reason they ought to take care to gather in the rate as soon as it can conveniently be done, and prosecute before the expiration of their office those who refuse to pay the same they are rated at; or, if this be neglected, present the defaulters at the Faster visitation, when they go out of office; in which case they will still have authority to recover their arrears. If, however neither of these things have been done, they must transfer the sums in arrear to their successors, who have authority to recover them for the use of the parish."—Williams's Law Library, p. 69. See also Paul's Complete Parish Officer, title Churchwardens.

CINQUE PORTS, five ports or bavens that lie on the south-east coast of England, towards France; namely Dover, Hastings, Hythe, Romney, and Sandwich; to which were afterwards added, Winchelsea, Seaford, and Rye. They were distinguished from other ports, on account of their superior importance; in consequence of which they are governed by a lord warden of the cinque ports, and have divers privileges granted to them, as a particular jurisdiction, their warden having the authority of admiral among them, and sending out writs in his own name.

Cortiorari, to remove indictments taken in the Cinque Ports, must be directed to the mayor and jurats before whom they were taken, and not to the lord warden, because they hold plea of it as justices. of the peace. by virtue of their commission and not by their antient charter.

CIRCUIT. See Assize.

CIRCUITY OF ACTION, is when an action is rightfully brought, but in a circuitous way; whereas it might have been as well otherwise answered and determined, and the suit saved.

CIRCUMSTANTIBUS, significs the supply, or making up of the number of jurors (if any empanelled do not appear; or appearing, be challenged by either party), by adding to them so many other of those that are present, or standing by, as will serve.

CITATION, is summons to appear, applied particularly to process in the ecclesiastical courts. The party to whom it is directed, shall diligently seek the person to be cited; and when he hath found him, he is to shew him the citation under seal, and by virtue thereof, cite him to appear at the time and place appointed.

CITY, generally signifies such a town corporate, as hath usually a bishop and cathedral church. Formerly there were no cities but all great towns were called burghs.

CITIZENS, of London (see London), may prescribe against a statute, because their liberties are reinforced by statute. 1 Rol. Rep. 105.

CIVIL LAW, is that law which every particular nation, commonwealth, or city has established peculiarly for itself. The civil law is either written or unwritten; and the written law is public or private; public, which immediately regards the state of the commonwealth, as the enacting and execution of laws, consultations about war and peace, establishment of things relating to religion, &c. private, that more immediately has respect to the concerns of every particular person. The unwritten law, is custom introduced by the tacit consent of the people only, without any particular establishment. The authority of it is great, and it is equal with a written law, if it be wholly uninterrupted, and of a long continuance.

The civil law, is allowed in this kingdom in the two universities, for the training up of students, &c. in matters of foreign treaties heatween princes, marine affairs, tivil and criminal; in the ordering of martial causes; the judgment of ensigns and arms, rights of honour, &c.

CLAIM, a challenge of interest in any thing, that is in the possession of another, or at least out of a man's own; as claim by charter, by descent, &c. By stat. 4 Anne, c. 16, sect. 16, no claim or entry shall be of force to avoid any fine levied with proclamation in the common-pleas, or in the court of sessions in the counties pala-time, or of grand sessions in Wales, or shall be a sufficient entry to claim within the statute of limitation, 21 Jac. 1. c. 16. unless upon such entry or claim, an action be commenced within one year ofter making such entry or claim, and prosecuted with effect.

Pload. 359.

CLAVES INSULÆ, the keys of the island, in the Isle of Man, all ambiguous and weighty causes are referred to twelve whom they call choos insulæ, or the keys.

CLAUSUM FREGIT, signifies an action of trespass; and is we called, because in the writ, such an one is summoned to answer quere blesseum frogit, why he made such trespass.

CLERICO ADMITTENDO, a writ to the bishop, for the admission of a clerk to a benefice upon a ne admittas, tried and found for the party who procureth the writ.

CLERICUS SACERDOTIS, a parish-clerk, or inferior assistent to the parochial priest. The parish-clerks were formerly to be men of letters, and to teach a school in the parish. See also Parish Clerk, infra.

CLERK () F THE ACTS, a respectable officer in the navy office, who receives and records all orders, contracts, bills, warrants, and other business, transacted by the lords commissioners of the navy. 22 & 23 Geo. 2.

CLERK OF THE AFFIDAVITS, in the court of chancery, is an officer who files all uffiduvits made use of in court.

CLERK OF THE ASSISE, is he who writes all things judicially done by the justices of assize in their circuits. Clerk of assize is associated with the judge in the commissions of assize. See Assize.

CLERK TO AN ATTORNEY. See Attorney.

CLERK OF THE BAILS, an officer formerly belonging to the court of king's-bench.

CLERK OF THE CROWN, a clerk or officer in the king'sbench, whose function is to frame, read, and record all indictments against traitors, felons, and other offenders, there arraigned or indicted upon public crime.

CLERK OF THE CROWN IN CHANCERY, an officer there who by himself or deputy is continually to attend the lord chancellor, or lord keeper, writes and prepares for the great seal of England, special matters of state by commission, or the like, either immediately from his majesty, or by order of his council as well of ordinary as extraordinary, viz. commissions of lieutenancy, justices itiserant, and of assize of over and terminor, gaol delivery, and of the peace, with their writs of association, &c. Also all general perions upon grants of them, at the king's coronation, or at the parliament, where he sits in the lords' house in parliament time, into whose office the writs of parliament, made by the clerks of the petty-bag, with the names of the knights and burgesses elected there-upon, are to be returned and filed. He hath also the making of all special pardons, and writs of execution upon bonds of statute-staple forfeited.

CLERK OF THE DECLARATIONS, an officer in the court of king's-bench who files all declarations in causes there depending, after they are ingressed.

CLERK OF THE ERRORS, in the court of common-pleas, transcribes and certifies into the king's bench, the tenor of the records of the cause of action; upon which the writ of error (made by the cursitor) is brought, there to be judged and determined. The clerk of the errors in the king's bench, likewise transcribes and certifies the record of such causes in that court into the Exchequer, if the cause of action were by bill; if by original, the lord chief justice certifies the record in the house of peers in parliament, by taking the transcript from the clerk of the errors, and delivering it to the load keeper.

The clerk of the errors in the exchequer, transcribes the records, certified thither out of the king's-bench, and prepares them for judgment in the court of exchequer, to be given by the justices of the common-pleas and barons there.

CLERK OF ESSOINS, an officer belonging to the court of common-pleas, who keeps the essoin rolls. See Essoin.

CLERK OF THE ESTREATS, a clerk belonging to the exchequer, who termly receives the estreats out of the lord treasurer's remembraneer's office, and writes them out to be levied for the king. He also makes schedules of such sums, estreated; as are to be discharged.

CLERK OF THE HAMPER or HANAPER, an officer in chancery, whose function is to receive all the money due to the king for the seals of charters, patents, commissions, and writs, as also fees due to the officers for enrolling and examining the same, &c. His attendance on the lord chancellor or ford keeper is daily required in term time, and at all times of sealing, having with him a leather-bag, wherein are put all charters, &c. after they are sealed; those bags being sealed up with the lord chancellor's private seal, are delivered to the controller of the hanaper.

CLERK OF THE JURIES, an officer belonging to the court of common-pleas, who enrolls and exemplifies all fines and recoveries, and returns write of entry, summons, seisin, &c.

CLERK OF THE JURIES, or JURATA WRITS, an officer belonging to the court of common-pleas, who makes up the writs called heabeas corpora, and distringues, for the appearance of juries, either in court, or at the assizes, after the jury is returned upon the venire facias.

CLERK OF THE MARKET, has no concern but with victuals; but formerly their power was much greater. The court of the clerk of the market, is incident to every fair and market in the kingdom, to determine all disputes, relative to private or civil property.

CLERK OF THE PEACE, an officer attending upon the justices of the peace in the sessions. He must yearly certify into the king's-bench, the names of all persons outlawed, attainted, or convicted of felony. He must also deliver to the sheriff yearly, a schedule of fines and other forfeitures in sessions, and also a duplicate thereof upon outh into the court of exchequer.

CLOCKS AND WATCHES, no dial plates and cases shall be exported without the movements; and makers shall engrave their names thereon.

CLOTH, no cloth made beyond sea, shall be brought into the king's dominions on pain of forfeiting the same, and the impurters incur further punishment. Stat. 12 Ed. 3. c. 3. See Drapery and Woollen Manufactures.

COACHES: See HACKNEY-COACHES, STAGE-COACHES, infra. See also Taxes,

COACHMAKER, the wares of coachmakers shall be examined by persons appointed by the sadier's company. I Jac. c. 22. And every conchmaker shall take out an annual license (6s.) from the excise-office, and pay a duty of 22s. 6d. for every four-wheeled carriage, and 11s. 3d, for every two-wheeled carriage built by him for sale.

COACHMAN, opening and partly destroying a parcel left in his coach, is guilty of felony.

COALS, Sea-coal brought into the Thames, shall be said by the chaldron containing thirty-six bushels heaped up, according to the bushel sealed for that purpose at Guildhall.

Coals within the bills shall be carried in linea sacks, sealed by the proper officer, which shall be at least four feet four inches in length, and twenty-six inches in breadth; and sellers of coals by the chaldron, or less quantity, shall put three bushels of coals into each sack. 3 and 32 Geo. 2, e, 26 and 27.

All sellers of coals, are to keep a lawful bushel, which bushel and other measures shall be edged with iron and sealed; and using others, or altering them, incurs a forfeiture of 501.

CO

Any purchaser dimatistied with the measure of any coals, may, on delivery to him of the meter's ticket, have the same re-measured, by sending notice thereof to the seller, and to the land conj-meter's office for the district in which the coals were sold; on which a meter (not being the same under whose impection the couls were originally measured) must within two hours attend to re-measure the coals and shall re-measure the same sack by sack, in the presence of the seller and purchaser (if they attend), and also in the presence of a meter from the two other districts (whose attendance within London and Westminster is enforced by a penalty of 51, but not in Surry); for this attendance, the purchaser is to pay each coulmeter attending, sixpence per chaldron. If the coals prove deficient in measure, the seller shall forfeit by for every bushel deficient in measure, and also forfeit the coals to the poor. The meter under whose inspection the couls were measured at the wharf, shall also forfeit 31. per bushel deficient, to be recovered (if not in five days) of the principal coal-meter; and coal-porters 2s. 6d. per bushel.— The carman is to be paid 2s. 6d. for his horses, &c. for each hour, whilst the coals are re-measuring

Any coal-factor receiving, or coal owner giving any gratuity, for buying and selling any particular sort of coals, and selling one kind of coals for and as a sort which they really are not, shall for-feit 5001. 3 Geo. 2. c. 26.

Owners or masters of ships shall not enhance the price of coals in the river Thames, by keeping turn in delivering coals there, under the penalty of 100L 4 Geo. c. 30. Contracts between coal-owners, &c. and werchants of ships for restraining the buying of coals are void, and the parties shall forfeit 100l. 9 Ann. c. 28.

Wilfully and maliciously setting on fire, any mine, pit, or delph of soul, or cannel-coal, is felony without benefit of clergy. 10 Geo. 2.

Setting fire to, demolishing, or otherwise damaging any engine or any other thing belonging to coal-mines, is felony and transportation for seven years. 9 Geo. 3. c. 29.

COCKET, the custom-house or office, where goods to be transported are first entered, and pay their custom, and are to have a cocket, or scroll of parchment scaled and delivered by the officer of the custom house, to merchants, signifying that their merchandiz s are customed, and may be discharged. See Custom-house.

CODICIL, a schedule or supplement to a will. See Will.

COFFERER OF THE KING'S HOUSEHOLD, next under the controller, who superintends and pays the other officers of the household their wages.

COGNISOR or CONNUSOR, he that passeth or acknowledgeth a fine of lands or tenements to another. Cognises or conusee, is he to whom the fine is acknowledged.

COGNISANCE, sometimes signifies an acknowledgment of fine, and sometimes a power or jurisdiction, as cognisance of pleas, is an ability to call a cause of pleas out of another court, which no one can do but the king, except he can show charters for it.

COGNOVITACTIONEM, is an acknowledgment by a defendant, or confession that the pialutiff's cause of action is just, and who to save law expenses suffers judgment to be entered against him; in this case the confession generally extends to no more than is contained in the declaration, with costs.

COIF. The scrienats at law, are otherwise called; serjeants of the coif, from the lawn coif they wear on their heads, under their caps, when they are created, and always after.

COIN, metallic money, struck with a mark, effigy or inscription, from which its weight, title, and value are known; and though the material of which it is composed, were melted into any other form, atill it would preserve the same value, or very nearly so.

Counterfeiting the king's money, or bringing false money into the realm counterfeit to the money of England, clipping, washing, rounding, filing, impairing, diminishing, falsifying, scaling; lightening, edging, colouring, gilding, making, mending, or having in one's possession any puncheon, counter-puncheon, matrix, stamp, dye, pattern, mould, edger, or cutting-engine: all these incur the penalty of high treason. And if any person shall counterfeit any such kind of gold or silver, as are not the proper coin of the realm, but current therein by the king's consent, he shall be guilty of high treason.

If any person shall tender in payment any counterfeit coin, he shall for the first offence, be imprisoned six months; for the second offence two years; and for the third offence shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy.

Blanching copper or other base metal, or buying or selling the same; and receiving or paying money at a lower rate than its denomination doth import; and also the offence of counterfeiting copper halfpence and farthings; incur the penalty of felony, but within clergy. Counterfeiting coin not the proper coin of this realm not permitted to be current therein, is misprision of treason. A person buying or selling, or having in his possession, clippings or filings, shall forfeit 500% and be branded in the cheek with the letter R. And any person having in his possession a coining-press, or casting bers or ingots of silver in imitation of Spanish bars or ingots, shall before 500%.

A reward of 401, is given for convicting a counterfeiter of the gold we silver coin; and 101, for a counterfeiter of the copper coin. 16 Geo. 2, and 13 Geo. 3, c. 28 and 77.

.COLLATERAL assurance is that, which is made over and beside the deed itself. See Security.

COLLATION OF A BENEFICE, the bestowing of a benefice by the bishop, who has it in his own gift or patronage. See Adversor.

COLLEGE, a particular corporation, company, or society of men, having certain privileges founded by the king's license.

Colleges in the universities are generally lay corporations, although: the members of the college may be all ecclesiastical. 2 Salk. 672. And in the government thereof, the king's courts cannot interfere, where a visitor is specially appointed. 1 Black. 483.

The two universities, in exclusion of the king's courts, enjoy the sole jurisdiction over all civil actions and suits, except where the right of freehold is concerned; and also in criminal offences or misdemensors under the degree of treason, felony, or main. 3 Black.

28. Their proceedings are in a summary way, according to the practice of the civil law. Wood. b. 4. c. 2. But they have no justication unless the plaintiff or defendant be a scholar or servant of the university, and resident in it at the time. An appeal lies from the chancellor's court to the engregation, thence to the convocation, from thence to the delegates.

COLLEGIATE CHURCH, a church built and endowed for a society, or a body corporate of a dean, or other president, and secular priests, as canons, or prebendaries in the same church.

COLLUSION, a deceitful agreement or compact between two ormore, for the one party to bring an action against the other to someevil purpose, as to defraud a third of his right.

COLONIES. See Plantalions.

COLOUR, in a legal acceptation, a probable plea, but false infact, and bath this end to draw the trial of the cause from the jury to the judges.

COLOUR OF OFFICE, generally signifies an act evilly done hy.
the countenance of an office, whereas the office is but as a trick to give plausibility to the falsohood. Ploud. 64. a.

COMBAT. See Battel.

COMBINATIONS, are persons assembled together unlawfully... with an intent to do unlawful acts, and these offences are punishable.

before such acts are carried into effect, in order to prevent the comsequence of combinations and conspiracies. 9 Rep. 57.

By the 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 106. every workman who shall enter into any contract for obtaining an advance of wages, altering the usual times of working, decreasing the quantity of work, or the like (except contracts between masters and men), shall be committed to the common gaol for not more than three months, or the house of correction for not more than two, on conviction before two justices; as also any workmen entering into any combination for advancing wages, or the like, as above, or who shall wilfully and maliciously endeavour to prevent any workmen from hiring himself, or prevail on him to quit his employ, or who shall binder any master from employing stays person, or, without reasonable cause, shall refuse to work with any other workman, and also all persons who shall attend any meeting for the purpose of making any such idegal contract, or who shall summon, or by intimidation or otherwise endeavour to induce any journeymen to attend any such meeting for such purposes.

No person shall contribute for any expenses incurred for acting contrary to this act, or towards the support of any person to induce him not to work, on penalty not exceeding 10% and any person collecting money for such purposes shall forfeit not exceeding 5%, one moiety to his majesty, and the other to the informer and the poer of the parish. The offences shall be determined in a summary way hefore two justices, who shall fix the penalty, and if not paid shall cause it to be levied by distress, or in default thereof shall commit the offender to the common faol or house of correction.

Contributions made for any prohibited purposes shall be forfeited, one moieta to the king, and the other to the person who shall sue for the same. Persons liable to be said for contribution money shall be obliged to answer, on outh, to any information in equity preferred against them by the attorney-general, or at the relation of any information. Upon payment into court of the money remaining in the hands of any person, at the time of fiting information, and making discovery of the securities, upon which other monies shall have been placed, the party shall be discharged from penalty, and no person is to be hable to penalty for money discovered by any answer to an information.

Offenders may be compelled to give evidence, and shall be indemnified from prosecution for any offende whatever to which they give testimony. Justices may summon offenders, and on their not appearing, and in the first instance, away index warrants for their apprehension, and also on their appearing, or on proof of their absoluting, may convict or acquit the parties. Justices may summon witnesses. then antif they submit. Convictions are to be transmitted to the next general or quarter sessions, to be filed, and if appeal be clade, the justices shall then proceed to hear it. But this act shall not abridge powers now given by law to justices touching combinations; nor empower manufacturers to employ workmen contrary to the provisions now in force, for regulating the conduct of any particular manufacture, without license from a justice, who is empowered to grant the same in the case of disconduct on the part of a qualified workman.

No master in the trade, in which any offence is charged to have been committed, shall act as a justice under this act. All contracts between masters, or other persons, for reducing the wages of jourseymen, or for altering the usual hours of working, or increasing the quantity of work, shall be void, and masters convicted thereof shall forfeit 201. one moiety to his majesty, and the other to the informer and the poor of the parish, which may be levied by distress, and, if not paid, the offender may be committed for not exceeding three nor less than two calendar mouths. Disputes between masters and workmen may be settled by arbitration. If arbitrators shall not decide the matter, within three days after submission to their award, either party may require them to go before, and state to a justice the points in difference, who shall finally determine the same. Person summoned neglecting to attend the arbitrators, or refusing to be examined, may be committed by a justice till they submit. parties may extend the time limited for making the award, and the sabinission to arbitration and the award may be on unstamped paper. and each party to have a copy of the submission. If an arbitration be demanded, and the submission signed, and an arbitrator named By either party, and the other shall refuse to sign the submission and appoint his arbitrator, he shall, on conviction, forfeit ?Ot. half to the king, and the other to the poor of the purish, which may be feried by distress, or in default, the offender may be committed for three months, or not less than two. If either party shall not perform what is directed by the award he may be committed till performance; but no person is to be deemed guilty in not attending at more than one arbitration at a time, or more than two in one day, and non resident masters may appoint persons to act for them. Appeal two be made to the general sessions, or general quarter sessions, whose decision shall be final.

COMMANDMENT, of the justices, is either absolute or er-

Absolute, as when upon their own authority, in their wisdom and discretion, they commit a man to prison for a punishment. Ordi-panishment: and a man committed upon an ordinary commandment is bailable. Staund. pl. cor. 73. commandment is also used for the offence of one encouraging another to transgress or do any thing contrary to law, as theft, murder, and such like. See Accessary.

COMMANDRY, was any manor or chief messuage, with lands. and tenements appertaining thereto, belonging to the priory of St.

John of Jerusalem in England.

commendan; but it must be always before consecration; for afterwards it comes too late, because the benefice is then absolutely.

COMMENDARY, one that has a church-living in commendam.

commendatory letters, are such as are written by one bishop to another in behalf of any of his clergy, or other of his diocese travelling thither, or that the clerk may be promoted, &c.

COMMINALTY, are such of the commons, as, raised beyond the common peasants, come to have the managing of offices, and by that means are a degree under burgesses.

COMMISSARY, a title of ecclesiastical jurisdiction, appertaining to one who exercises spiritual jurisdiction in places so remote from the chief city, that the charcellor cannot call the subjects to the bishop's principal consistory, without subjecting them to great inconvenience.

COMMISSION, is taken for the warrant or letters patent, that all men exercising jurisdiction either ordinary or extraordinary, have for their power to hear or determine any cause or action; thus the judges and most of the great officers judicial and ministerial of this realm, are made by commission.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE ADMIRALTY. See Admiral.

Commissioners of the Excise. See Excise.

Commissioners of the Great Seal, persons appointed to execute the office of lord chancellor. See 1 W. & M. sess. 1. c. 21.

COMMITMENT, is the sending a person to prison by warrant or order, either for a crime or for contumacy. If for a crime the warrant must be until discharged according to law; but for contumacy, and perform the thing required. Cath. 153. The the prisoner may be admitted to bail whatever his offence may have been. 1 Burn. 379.

Who may commit. Wheresvever a constable or person may just the arresting another for a felony, or treason, he may justify the sending him or bringing him to the common gaol. 2 Haw 116. But it is most adviseable, for any private person who arrests another for felony, to cause him to be brought as soon as possible before some justice of the peace, that he may be committed or builed by him. Dell. c. 118.

The privy-council, or any one or two of them, or a secretary of state, may lawfully commit persons for treason, and for other offences against the state. 2 Ham. 117.

To what place. All felom shall be committed to the common guels and not elsewhere. 5 Hen. 4. c. 10. But vagrants and other criminals, offenders and persons charged with small offences, may, for much offences, or for want of sureties, be committed either to the common guel or house of correction, as the justices in their judgment shall think proper. 6 G. c. 19.

The may be committed. All persons who are apprehended for offences not bailable, and those who neglect to offer bail for offences which are bailable, must be committed; and wherevoever a justice of peace is empowered to bind a person over, or to cause him to do a tertain thing, he may commit him, if in his presence he shall refuse to be so bound, or do such a thing. 2 Haw. 116.

Observations respecting commitment. A commitment must be in writing, either in the name of the king, and only tested by the person who makes it; or it may be made by such person in his own hame, expressing his office or authority, and must be directed to the gaster or keeper of the prison. 2 Inw. 119. The commitment should contain the name and surname of the party committed, if known; if not known, it may be sufficient to describe the person by his age, &c. and to add, that he refuses to tell his name. 1 H. H. 557. It ought to contain the cause, as for treason or felony, or suspicion thereof; and also the special nature of the felbny, briefly, as for felowy for the death of such an one, or for burglary, in breaking the house of such an one. 2 H. H. 122. A commitment must also have an apt conclusion; as if it be for felony, till he be thence delivered by due course of law. 2 H. H. 123. All commitments grounded on acts of parliament ought to be conformable to the method prescribed by them. 2 Haw. Not. 33. And where a statute appoints imprisonment, but does not limit the time, in such case the prisoner must remain at the discretion of the court. Dalt. c. 170.

The duty of a gaoler respecting commitments. If the gaoler shall refuse to receive a felon, or take any thing for receiving him, he shall be punished for the same by the justices of gaol delivery. 4 Ed. 3. c. 9. But no person can justify the detaining a prisoner in custody, out of the common gaol, unless there be some particular reasons for so doing; as if the party should be so dangerously ill, that it would apparently hazard his life to send him to gaol, or that there he evident danger of a rescue from rebels or the like. 1 Haw. 118. By the 3 Hen. 7. c. 3. the sheriff or gaoler, shall certify the commitment to the next gaol delivery.

By the habeas corpus act, the charge of conveying an offender, is limited not to exceed 12d. a mile.

Commitment discharged. A person legally committed for a crime, certainly appearing to have been done by some person or other, cannot be lawfully discharged but by the king, till he be acquitted upon his trial, or have an ignoramus found by the grand jury, or none shall prosecute him on a proclamation for that purpose by the justices of gaol delivery. 2 Haw. 121.

COMMON, is a right of privilege which one or more persons claim to take or use, in some part or portion of that, which another man's lands, waters, woods, &c. naturally produce; without having an absolute property in such lands, woods, waters, &c. 2 Inst. 65.

Of the several kinds of commons. The general division of common, is into common of pasture, which is a right or liberty that one or more have to feed or fodder their beasts or cattle in another man's land. Common of turbary, or a liberty of cutting turves in another man's land or soil. Common of piscary, or a right and liberty of taking fish in another's fish-pond, pool, or river. Common of estovers, which is a right of taking trees or loppings, shrubs, and underwood, in another's woods, coppices, &c. and lastly, a liberty which the tenants have in some manors, of digging and taking sand, gravel, stone, &c. in the lord's soil. 1 Bac. Abr. 385.

But the word common is usually understood of common of pasture, of which there are four kinds; common appendant; common appurtenant; common in gross; and common by reason of vicinage.

Common appendant is a right belonging to the owners or occupiers of arable land, to put commonable beasts upon the lord's waste, and upon the lands of other persons within the same manor. Commonable beasts, are either beasts of the plough, or such as manure the land. 1 Inst. 122.

Common appurtenant can only be claimed by prescription, and is a right of commonage for beasts, not only commonable, as horses, oxen, cows, and sheep, but likewise for beasts not commonable, as swine, goats, and geese. Co. Lit. 128.

Common in gross is a right of commonage which must be claimed by deed or prescription, and has no relation to any land belonging to the commoner; it may be for a certain number of cattle, or without number. He that hath common in gross for a certain number of cattle, may put in the cattle of a stranger, and use the common with them. 2 Inst. 427. 2 Rol. Abr. 402.

Common by reason of vicinage, is a liberty that the tenants of one lord, in one town, have to common with the tenants of another lord, in another town. Those who challenge this kind of common (which is usually called intercommoning) may not put their cattle in the common of the other town, for then they are distruinable; but turning them into their own fields, if they stray into the neighbour common, must be suffered. Cowel.

How far the commoner is interested in the soil: - A commoner hath only a special and limited interest in the soil, but yet he shall have such remedies as are commensurate to his right, and therefore muy distrain beasts damage-feasant, bring an action on the case, &c. but not being absolute owner of the soil, he cannot bring a general action of trespass, for a trespass done upon the common. Nor can he do any thing to the soil which tends to the melioration or improvement thereof, as cutting down of bushes, fern, &c. Commoner muy abute bedges made on his common; and may drive the beasts of a commoner mixed with the beasts of a stranger to a convenient place to sever them, and may drive the beasts of the stranger out of the common, without any custom. Godb. 123. 2 Mod. 65. 3 Lev. 40. It is a general rule, that a commoner cannot distrain or chase out the cattle of the lord, or terre tenant, damage-feusant; and if the lord surcharge the common, his proper remedy is an action on the case. Gods. 182.

Common (inclosurs of) — By statute 13 Geo. 3. c. 81. in every parish where there are common fields, all the arable lands lying in each parish shall be cultivated by the occupiers, under such rules as 3-4ths of them in number and value (with the consent of the land and tithe owners, the later of whom by section 23. are not to receive any fines, only rents,) shall appoint by writing under their hands, the expense to be borne proportionably.

Persons having a right of common, but not having lands to such fields, and persons having sheep-walks, may compound for such right by written agreement, or may, with their consent, have parts allotted them to common upon. And the walks, slades, and meres may be ploughed up.

Lords of manors, with the consent of 8-4ths of the commoners on the waste and commons within their manors, may demise (for not more than four years) any part of such wastes, &c. not exceeding 4-12th part; and the clear sents neserved for the same shall be applied in improving the residue of such wastes.

In every manor whose there are stinted commons, in lieu of demising part thereof, assessments on the lords of such manors, and the owners and occupiers of such commons, may be made, and the money employed in the improvement of the commons, under the direction of the majority; which (or in same instances 2-3ds) may regulate the departuring, opening, shutting-up, breaking and unstocking the commons, and the kind of cattle to be allowed the commoners.

Commons must be driven yearly at Michaelmas, or within fifteen days after. Infected horses, and stone-horses under size, &c. are not to be put into commons, under forfeitures, 32 Hen. 8..c. 13. New exected cottages, though they have four acres of ground laid to them, ought not to have common in the waste. Co. 2 Inst. 740.

GOMMON INTENDMENT, is common meaning or understanding according to the subject matter, and not strained to an extraordinary or foreign sense.

common law of England, is the common rule for administering justice within this kingdom, and asserts the king's royal prerogatives, and likewise the rights and liberties of the subject: it is generally that law by which the eleterminations in the king's ordinary courts are guided. It is distinguished from the statute laws or acts of parliament, as having been the law of the land, before any acts of parliament which are now extant were anade. Hale's Hist. 24. 44. 45.

common Pleas. Pleas or suits are regularly divided into two corts; pleas of the erown, which comprehend all crimes and misdemeanours wherein the king (on behalf of the public) is plaintiff; and common-pleas, which include all civil actions depending between subject and subject. The former of these were the proper object of the court of king's-bench, the latter of the court of commun-pleas, and in this court only can real actions, that is actions which concern the right of freehold or the reality, be originally brought; and in this court also, all other or parsonal pleas between man and man are determined, but in some of these the court of king's-bench bath a concurrent authority. But a writ of error, in the nature of an appeal, lies from the court of common-pleas to the court of king's-bench. S Black. 37. This court can hear and determine causes removed out of inferior courts by pone, recordars.

or other like writs. They can also grant prohibitions, to keep sther courts, as well ecclesiastical as temporal, within due bound.

In this court are four judges, created by letters patent; the seal of the court is committed to the custody of the chief justice.

common PRAYER. It is the particular duty of a clergyman every Sunday, &c. to use the public form of prayer, prescribed by the book of common prayer. And the 13 & 14 Ch. 2. c. 4. enacts that every incumbent residing upon a living and keeping a curate, shall at least once a month, publicly read the common prayer, and if there be occasion, administer the sucraments, and other rites of the church, on pain of 51. to the poor, on confession or conviction thereof before two justices.

COMMON RECOVERY. See Fine.

COMMONWEAL, the public good. The law tolerates many things to be done for common good, which otherwise might not be done: and hence it is that monopolies are void in law, and that bonds and covenants to restrain free trade, tillage, or the like, are adjudged void. 11 Co. Rep. 50.

COMMORANCY, a dwelling in any place, as an inhabitant of a bouse in a vill. Commorancy for a certain time may make a settlement in a parish. 4 Black. 273.

COMMOTE, in Wales, is half a cantred or hundred, containing afty villages. See Cantred.

COMMUNITAS REGNI. See Comminalty.

COMPOSITION, an agreement or contract between a parson, patron, and ordinary, &c. for money or other things in lieu of tithes. The compositions for tithes, made by the consent of the parson, patron, and ordinary, by virtue of 13 Eliz. c. 10. shall not hind the successor unless made for twenty-one years or three lives, as in case of leases of ecclesiastical corporations, &c.

COMPRINT, usually means, a surreptitious printing of another's copy. See Books.

COMPROMISE, a mutual promise of two or more parties at difference, to refer the ending of their controversies, to the arbitrament and equity of one or more arbitrators. See Arbitration.

composition, an agreement between a debtor and creditor, to accept a certain sum in discharge of all demands. It has been questioned, whether even agreement by creditors to take a composition in discharge of their debts, be not binding; though no fund be appropriated for the payment of the composition. 6 T. R. 263.

COMPURGATOR, one who by outh justifies another's innocence. See Oath.

COMPUTATION is used in the common law, for the true account and construction of time, so that neither the one party nor the other shall-do wrong, nor the determination of time referred at large, be taken one way or other; but computed according to the best judgment of the law.

CONCRALERS, such as find out concealed lands, which are kept from the king by common persons, having nothing to shew for their title or estate therein. 39 Eliz. c. 22. & 21 Jac. c. 2.

CONCORD, the agreement between parties, that intend the levying of a fine of lands one to the other, how and in what manner the land shall pass.

CONCUBINAGE, is used as an exception against one suing for dower, alledging thereby, that she was not a wife, lawfully married, to the party, in whose lands she seeks to be endowed, but his concubine.

CONDITION, a restraint annexed to a thing, so that by the non-performance the party to it shall sustain loss, and by the performance receive advantage; or it is a restriction of men's acts, qualifying or suspending the same, and making them uncertain whether they shall take effect or not. Also it is defined to be, what is referred to a contingency, which may or may not take place.

CONE AND KEY, accounts and key. A woman at the age of 14 or 15, might take the charge of her house and receive cone and key, so that a woman was held to be of competent years, when she was able to keep the accounts and key of her house.

CONFEDERACY, is when two or more confederate, to do any damage or injury to another, or to commit any unlawful act. And though a writ of confederacy do not lie if the party be not indicted and in a lawful manner acquitted, yet false confederacy between divers persons shall be punished, though nothing be put in execution.

confession of offence, is when a prisoner is appealed or indicted of treason or felony, and brought to the bar to be arraigned, and his indictment being read to him, the court demands what he can say thereto; then either he confesses the offence, and the indictment to be true, or pleads not guilty.

Confession, is two fold, either express or implied. An express confession is, where a person directly confesses the crime with which he is charged, which is the highest conviction that can be. 2 Haw. 333. But it is usual for the court, especially if it be out of clergy, to advise the party to plead, and put himself upon his trial, and not immediately to record his confession; but to admit him to plead.—2 H. H. 225. An implied confession is, where a defendant in a case not capital, does not directly own himself guilty, but in a manner admits it, by yielding to the king's mercy, and desiring to submit to a small fine; which submission the court may accept if they think fit, without putting him to a direct confession. 2 Haw. 233.

Confession in a civil action. Sometimes there is a confession in a civil action, but not usually of the whole complaint, for then the defendant would probably end the matter sooner, or not plead at all, but suffer judgment to go by default; but sometimes, after tender and refusal of debt, if the creditor harrass his debtor with an action, it then becomes necessary for the defendant to confess the debt and plead the tender; for a tender by the debtor, and refusal by the creditor, will in all cases discharge the costs. 4 Black. 303. So in order to strengthen the creditor's security, it is usual for the debtor, to execute a warrant of attorney to confess judgment in an action to be brought by such creditor; which judgment when confessed, is complete and binding. 3 Black. 397.

CONFIRMATION, is a conveyance of an estate or right in esse, whereby a voidable estate is made sure and unavoidable, or whereby a particular estate is increased. Thus a bishop grants his chancellorship by patent, for the term of the patentee's life; this is no void grant, but voidable by the bishop's death, except it be strengthened by the confirmation of the dean and chapter. 2 Black. 325.

CONFISCATE, if a man be indicted that he feloniously stole the goods of another man, when in truth they are the proper goods of him indicted, and which being brought into court against him, he disclaims them, by this disclaimer he shall lose the goods, although afterwards he be acquitted of the felony, and the king shall have them as confiscated. Staundf. pl. cor. l. c. 24.

CONGÉ D'ELIRE. The king's permission royal to a dean and chapter, in time of vacation, to choose or elect a bishop. See Bishop.

CONJURATION. The using of witcheraft, conjuration, &c. was made felony by the 1 Jac. c. 12. but that superstitions statute having produced many permicious effects, it was wisely repealed by the 9 Geo. 2. c. 5. wherein it is enacted, that no prosecution, suit or proceeding shall be commenced, or carried on, against any person for witcheraft, sorcery, inchantment, or conjuration, or for charging another with any such offence, in any court whatsoever. And by the 17 Geo. 2. c. 5. all jugglers, fortune-tellers, and gypsies pretending to physiognomy, palmistry, or the like crafty science, shall be deemed rogues and vagabonds.

The 9 Geo. 2. c. 5. however, enacts, that if any person shall pretend to exercise or use any kind of witchcraft, sorcery, inchantment, or conjuration; or undertake to tell fortunes; or pretend from his skill or knowledge in any occult or crafty science, to discover where, or in what manner, any goods or chattels supposed to have been stolen or lost, may be found; every person so offending, being convicted on indictment or information, shall suffer imprisonment for a year without bail or mainprize, and once in each quarter of the year, in some market town of the proper county, upon the market-day there, stand openly on the pillory for one hour; and shall also, (if the court by which such judgment shall be given shall think fit) be obliged to give sureties for his good behaviour, in such sum and for such time, as the court shall judge proper, according to the circumstances of the offence; and in such case shall be further imprisoned, till such sureties shall be given. 4 Black, 60.

CONSANGUINITY, or kindred, is the connexion or relation of persons descended from the same stock or common ancestor; and is either lineal or collateral. Lineal consanguinity, is that which subsists between persons, of whom one is descended in a direct line from the other, as grandfather, father, and son. Collateral community, is that which subsists between persons descended from the same common ancestor, but not from one another; as brothers, uncles, and nephews. 2 Black. 204.

CONSENT, in all cases where any thing executory is created by deed, it may by consent of all persons that were parties to the creation of it, by their deed be defeated and annulled. 1 Rep. 113.

CONSEQUENTIAL LOSSES OR DAMAGES. It is a fundamental principle of law and reason, that he who does the first wrong, shall answer for all the consequential damages. 12 Mod. 639. But this admits of limitation. Though a man do a lawful thing, yet, if any damage thereby befal another, he shall answer if he could have avoided it.

CONSERVATOR OF THE PEACE, before the justices of the peace were appointed (Temp. Ed. 3.) there were persons that by the common law, had interest in keeping the peace, some of these were therefore named custodes pacis, wardens or conservators of the peace.

CONSIDERATIO CURIE, is the judgment of the court.

CONSIDERATION, is the material couse of a contract, without which it would not be effectual or binding. Consideration in contracts, is something given in exchange, something that is mutual and reciprocal; as money given for goods sold, work performed for wages. And a consideration of some sort or other is so absolutely necessary to the forming a contract, that a nudum pactum, or agreement to do or pay any thing on one side, without any compensation on the other, is totally void in law; and a man cannot be compelled to perform it. 2 Black. 445. A consideration is necessary to create a debt, otherwise it is a nudum pactum. Jenk. 290. in pl. 27.

CONSIGNMENT, the sending, delivering over goods, money, or other property, to another person. It may be either consigned unconditionally, or for some particular purpose. Consigned goods are supposed in general, to be the property of him, by whom they are consigned, but to be at the disposal of him, to whom they are consigned.

CONSISTORY, a tribunal; every archbishop and bishop of every diocese hath a consistory court, held before his chancellor or commissary in his cathedral church, or other convenient place of his diocese, for ecclesiastical causes. From the bishop's court the appeal is to the archbishop; from the archbishop's court to the delegates.

CONSOLIDATION, is used for uniting two benefices into one. CONSORT, (Queen): See QUEEN.

themselves by oath, covenant, or other alliance, that every of them shall aid and bear the other falsely and maliciously, to indict, or cause to be indicted, or falsely to move or maintain pleas. From which it seems clearly to follow, that not only those who actually cause an innocent man to be indicted, and also to be tried upon the indictment, (whereupon he is lawfully acquitted) are properly conspirators; but that those also are guilty of this offence who basely conspire to indict a man falsely and maliciously, whether they do any act in prosecution of such confederacy or not. 1 Haw. 189. For this offence the conspirators (for there must be at least two to form a conspiracy) may be indicted at the suit of the king, and may be sentenced to fine, imprisonment, and pillory. 4 Black. 136.—See also COMBINATIONS supra.

constable, by the laws of Aifred, the freemen were to distribute themselves into decennaries, and kundreds; and every ten freeholders chose an annual officer, whom they called constable, borgholder, tithingman, or headborough, as the head of the decennary or ten. These in every hundred where there was a feudal lord, were sworn in and admitted by the lord or his steward, in his leet; but where there was no feudal lord, the sheriff, in his torn had the swearing of them in. So if there were no feudal lord of the hundred, an annual officer was chosen, who was to preside over the whole hundred and was called the high constable.

. Who may or may not be chosen constables. The antient officers of any of the colleges in the two universities are exempted from this office. Doug. 531. Any person of the age of 63 years or upwards, is not compellable to serve the office of comtable within the city of Westminster. No person born out of the kingdom of England or the dominions thereof (except he be born of English parents), is eligible to serve this office, even though he be naturalized. 5 Bur. 2790. Counsellors, attornies, and all other officers whose attendance is required in the courts of Westminster-hall, aldermen of London, the president and fellows of the fellowship of physic in Landon, surgeons and apothecaries in London, and within seven miles thereof, being free of the company of apothecaries, and teachers, or preachers in holy orders, in a congregation legally tolerated, and also (by 31 (ieo. 3 c. 32. s. 8.) every Roman Catholic minister taking the oaths and conforming to the regulations of that act, shall respectively be exempted from the office of a constable. The prosecutor of a felon to conviction, or the person to whom he shall assign the certificate thereof, shall be discharged from the office of constable. And per Helt, C. J. no man who keeps a public house ought to be a constable. Q. v. Dyer, 6 Mod. Rep. 41.

But generally speaking, every housekeeper, inhabitant of the parish, and of full age, is liable to fill the office of constable: he ought however to be of the abler sort of parishioners, as being more likely to perform his duty with probity and discretion. 8 Co. 42. Dalt. c. 28-

Mode of choosing constables. It seems regular, that the petty constable ought to be chosen in the leet, and the high constable in the torn, which is the general leet of the whole hundred; and if there be no leet, then, that the petty constable ought to be chosen also in the torn. 1 Burn. 400.

Refusing the office. If the party chosen be not present in court, the sheriff or steward of the leet ought to issue a precept to command such party, at a certain time and place, to take the oath before a justice of the peace; who, if he refuse to be sworn after such notice of appointment, may bind him over to the assizes or sessions, there to be indicted. 2 Hawk. c. 10. s. 46.

But it should seem that the justices have no power to commit any person for such refusal and no more; the proper mode of proceeding being, to cause the party to be indicted upon his refusal, and if it be found against him to assess a good fine, and then commit him for that cause. Cro. Car. 567.

The high constables of hundreds are generally chosen either at the sessions, or by the greater number of the justices of the division; and they may be sworn at sessions, or by warrant from the sessions, which course has often been allowed and commended, by the jus-very necessary for the preservation of the peace, the justices of the peace have ever since the institution of their office, taken upon them as conservators of the peace, not only to swear the petty constables who have been chosen at a torn or leet, but also to nominate and swear those, who have not been chosen at any such court, on neglect of the sheriffs or lords to hold their courts, or to take care that such officers are appointed in them. And this power of the justices, having been confirmed by the uninterrupted usage of many ages, shall not now be disputed. 2 Haw. 65.

The office, duty, power, &c. of constables. The original and proper authority of a high constable, as such, seems to be the very same within his hundred, as that of the petty constable within his will. The other branches of his office, such as the surveying of bridges, levying county rates, the issuing precepts concerning the appointment of the overseers of the poor, surveyors of highways, assessors and collectors of the land-tax and window duties, &c. are in him, not of necessity, but as matter of convenience. 4 Inst. 265. Every high and petty constable, is by common law a conservator of the peace. 2 Haw. 33. The general duty of constables is to preserve the king's peace in their several districts, for which purpose they are armed, as well by the common law as by the legislature, with the very large and serious powers of arresting and imprisoning their fellow-subjects, forcibly entering their dwellings, and other extensive authorities which it is highly their duty to exercise with becoming moderation, and humanity. The high constable, is as much the officer of the justices of the peace, as the constable of the ville. Fort. 128.

The constable is the proper officer to the justices of peace and bound to execute his warrants. Hence it has been resolved, that where the statute authorises a justice of the peace to convict a man of a crime, and to levy the penalty by warrant of distress, without saying to whom such warrant shall be directed, or by whom it shall be executed, the constable is the proper officer to serve such warrant, and indictable for disobeying it. 2 Haw. 262.

But as the office of constable is by no means judicial, but wholly ministerial, he may execute such warrants, &c. directed to him, by deputy, if on account of indisposition, absence, or other special came, he cannot conveniently do it in person. 2 Bur. 1259.

The high constables shall, at the general or quarter-sessions, if required, account for the general county rate by them received, on pain of being committed to gaol till they shall account, and shall may over the money in their hands, according to the order of the and court, on like pain of imprisonment. And all their accounts and vouchers shall, after having been passed at such sessions, be deposited with the clerk of the peace, to be kept among the records; and be inspected by any justice without fee. 12 Geo. 2.

Constables should be very careful to keep in their custody, whatever things they take upon felons; the same caution is to be observed, in respect of such stolen goods as they take in the execution of such warrants. The law strictly requires this, that they may be produced in evidence upon the trial of the prisoner: for the identity of such things is to be proved upon the constable's oath, as well as the time when taken, and place where: if therefore he suffer such goods to go even out of his sight, he weakens his evidence, if he do not destroy it; and should the goods be by accident, or otherwise, lost, he is not only answerable to the court for acting wrong, which may defeat the prosecution, but also to the prosecutor for the value of the goods; nor will it be a sufficient plea to the court that he left them in the hands of justice, even by his command; for as they were taken by him, the law requires them at his hands. And as the goods, taken on persons charged with felony, or by search-warrants, are, as the law terms it, in abeyance; after the jury have returned their verdict, if the prisoner be convicted, the constable is to deliver such goods to the prosecutor; on the contrary, if the prisoner be acquitted, the goods revert to him, the cause of seizure being discharged. But if any difficulty should arise the safest way is to pray the direction of the court. The duty of the constable indeed, absolutely obliges him to produce such goods at the trial; but after this is over, he should be careful how he brings them out of court, lest he should suffer by actions at law, from both parties.

An officer who has negligently suffered a prisoner to escape, may take him wherever he finds him, without mentioning any fresh pursuit.

A person found guilty, upon an indictment or presentment, of a negligent escape of a criminal, actually in his custody, is punishable by fine and imprisonment, according to the quality of the offence. 2 Haw. 134.

But a voluntary escape is no felony, if the act done were not felony at the time of the escape made, as in case of a mortal wound given, and the party not dying till after the escape; so that the offence was but a trespass at the time of the escape: but the officer may be fined to the value of his goods. Dalt. c. 129.

An action brought against a constable, headborough, or tithingman, for any matter done by virtue of their office, shall be laid in the county where the fact was committed, and not elsewhere. 21 Jac. c. 12. s. 5.

The constable executing a justice's warrant, for levying a penalty, or other sum of money directed by an act of parliament, by distress, may deduct his own reasonable charges of taking, keeping, and selling the goods distrained; returning the overplus on demand. 27 Geo. 2. c. 20.

By 41 Geo. 3. (u. k.) c. 78. when special constables shall be appointed in England to execute warrants in cases of felony, two justices may order proper allowances to be made for their expenses, and loss of time, which order shall be submitted to the quarter sessions. 3. 1.

Two justices may, in like manner, order allowances to be made to high constables in England for extraordinary expenses incurred in the execution of their duties in cases of riot or felony. s. 2.

The sheriff or steward of the leet, having power to place a constable in his office, has consequently a power of removing him. 2 Haw. 63. And it has been the practice of the justices of the peace, for good cause, to displace such constables as have been chosen, and sworn by them. 2 Haw. 65.

If a constable shall continue more than a year in his office, the senious may discharge him, and put another in his place, till the lord shall hold a leet; and should the court, or judge, refuse to discharge a constable, the king's beach may compel them by mandamous. 2 Hew. 65.

In the manner that constables are chosen, they may be removed, and by the like authority; therefore, if there should be cause to remove an high constable, it has not been thought fit that any one or two justices should do it upon their discretion; but that it should be done by the greater part of the justices of that division, or at the sessions. Dalt. c. 28.

Of London constables. The constables must be freemen of the city, and nominated by the inhabitants of the ward on St. Thomas's day, confirmed or disallowed at the next wardmote, and afterwards sworn into office at the next court of aldermen on the Monday ensuing twelfth-day.

They swear to keep the king's peace to the utmost of their power, to arrest afrayers, rioters, and such as make contests to the breach of the peace, and carry them to the house of correction, or compter of eac of the sheriffs; and in case of resistance, to make outcry to them, and pursue them from street to street, and from ward to ward till they are arrested: to search for common nuisances in their respective wards, being required by scavengers, &c. and upon request, to assist the beadle and raker in collecting their salaries and quarterage, to present to the lord mayor and ministers of the city, defaults relating to the ordinances of the city. They are to certify to the mayor's court, once a month, the names and surnames of all freemen deceased, and also of the children of such freemen, being orphams. They are to certify the name, surname, place of dwelling, profession and trade of every person who shall just come into the ward, and keep a roll thereof; for which purpose they are to enquire once a month, into what persons are come into the said ward; and if such persons are found to be ejected from any other ward for any misdemeanour, and refuse sureties for their good behaivour, they are to give them and their landlords warning to depart; and on refusal, they may be imprisoned, and the landlords fined a year's rent.

Constables are to keep watch and ward from the 10th of September to the 10th of March, from nine in the evening till seven the next morning; and from the 10th of March to the 10th of September, from ten in the evening, till five next morning. They shall use their best endeavours for preventing fires, robberies, and disorders, and arrest malefactors; and go twice or oftener about their wards in every night; and the watchmen are to apprehend all suspected persons, &c. and deliver them to the constable of the night, who shall carry them before a justice of the peace: Constables misbehaving themselves, to forfeit 20s. and the lord mayor, or two justices for the city, may bear and determine offences, and levy penalties by distress and sale of goods, &c. They must place the king's arms, and the arms of the city, over their doors; and if they reside in alleys, at the ends of such alleys towards the streets, to signify that a constable lives there.

CONSTAT, is the name of a certificate, which the clerk of the pipe and the auditors of the exchequer, make at the request of any person who intends to plead or move in that court, for the discharge of any thing.

CONSTRUCTION OF STATUTES—As a due regard to the liberty and property of the subject, as well as to the authority and powers of the king, is essential to the order and well being of the nation, the construction of statutes has been particularly attended to; and various rules have been provided. The following are the most material, as stated by Mr. Justice Blackstone, 1 Com. 87.

1. An affirmative statute does not take away the common law, and the party may make his election, to proceed upon the statute, or at the common law.

- 2. A negative statute completely takes away the common law, so that it cannot afterwards be made use of upon the same subject.
- 3. Words and phrases, the meaning of which in a statute has been ascertained, are, when used in a subsequent statute, to be understood in the same sense. Thus, where the 23 Hen. 6. says, the sheriff mey take bail, the judges construed it to mean shell take bail; and therefore where a person was indicted for disobeying the 14 Car. 2. c. 12. which enacts that overseers may make a rate, and an exception was taken that the act did not require them to do it, the court over-iraled the exception,

In the construction of one part of a statute, every other part ought to be taken into consideration; but the title of a statute is not to be regarded in construing it, because this is no part of the statute; the preamble, however, must be considered, for it is a key to open the words of the makers as to the mischiefs which are intended to be remedied; but this rule must not be carried so far as to restrain the general words of the enacting clause to the particular words of the preamble; although strong words in the enacting part of the statute may extend it beyond the preamble.

- 5. A saving in a statute which is repugnant to the parview of it, is void; but the purview may be qualified and restrained by the saving.
- 6. If divers statutes relate to the same thing, they ought all to be taken into consideration in construing any one of them; for all statutes in pari materia are to be construed as one law.
- 7. If a statute that repeals another is itself afterwards repealed, the first statute is hereby revived, without any formal words for that purpose.
- 8. Acts of parliament derogating from the power of subsequent parliaments are not binding.
- 9. Acts of parliament that are impossible to be performed are of no validity, and if there arise out of them collaterally any absurd consequences, manifestly contradictory to common reason, they are, with regard to these collateral consequences, void; but when the words of a statute are doubtful, general usuage may be called in to explain them.

CONSUETUDINIBUS ET SERVICIIS, a writ of right close, which lies against the tenant that deforces his lord of the rent or service due to him.

CONSULTATION, a writ, whereby a cause being formerly removed by prohibition from the ecclesiastical court, to the king's court at Westminster, is returned thither again.

CONTEMPT, is a disobedience to the rules and orders of the.

court, which bath power to panish such offence; and a person may be fined or imprisoned for a contempt done in a court. Cro. Eliz. 689.

CONTENTMENT, signifies that which is necessary for the support and maintenance of men, according to their several qualities, conditions, or state of life.

bappen. If a legacy be left to one when he shall attain, or if he shall attain the age of twenty-one years, this is a contingent legacy, and if the legatee die before that time, the legacy shall not vest. But a legacy to one to be paid when he attains the age of twenty-one years, is a vested legacy; an interest which commences in prasenti, although it he solvendum in futuro: and if the legatee die before that age, his representatives shall receive it out of the testator's personal estate, at the same time, that it would have become payable in case the legatee had lived.

CONTINGENT REMAINDER, is where no present interest passes, but the estate is limited to take effect, either to a dubious and uncertain person, or upon a dubious and uncertain event, so that the particular estate may chance to be determined, and the remainder never take effect.

CONTINGENT USE, a use limited in a conveyance of land, which may or may not happen to vest, according to the contingency expressed in the limitation of such use.

CONTINUAL CLAIM, a claim made from time to time within every year and day to land or other thing, to save the right of entry to an heir.

CONTINUANCE, of a writ or action, is from one term to another, in case where the sheriff hath not returned or executed a former writ, issued in the same action.

CONTINUANDO, is a word used in a special declaration of trespass, when the plaintiff would recover damages for several trespasses in the same action.

CONTRABAND GOODS, are goods which are prohibited by act of parliament, or the king's proclamation, to be imported or exported. See Smuggling.

contracts are two fold; either express or implied. Express contracts, are, where the terms of the agreement are openly uttered, as to pay a stated price for certain goods. Implied, are such as reason and justice dictate, and which therefore, the law presumes that every man undertakes to perform: thus if a man take up wares from a tradesman, without any agreement of price, the last consistes, that he contracted to pay their neal value. 2 Black, 446.

By the 29 Car. 2. c. 2. s. 17. it is emacted "That no contract for the sale of any goods, unsers and merchandizes, for the price of ten pounds and upwards, shall be good, except the buyer shall accept part of the goods so sold, and actually neceive the same, or give something in connect to bind the bargain, or in part of payment; or that some note or memorandum in writing, of the said bargain, be made and signed by the parties to be charged by such contract, or their agents thereento inwistly authorised."

CONTRA FORMAM STATUTI, the most conclusion of every indistructs for an offence exected by statute.

CONTRIBUTION, is where every one pays his share, or contributes his part to any thing. One pareener shall have contribution against another; one heir have contribution against another heir in equal degree; and one paschaser have contribution against another,

-CONTROLLER, an onement or officer, relating to public accumus, such as the controller of the controller of the controller of the controller, &c.

CONTROVER, he that devises or invents false or feigned news. 2 fact. 227.

CONVENABLE, agreeable, suitable, convenient. 27 Edw. 3. c. 21 and 2. H. 6. c. 2.

CONVENTACIE, a term applied to the filegal meetings of the moreonicrosits; by the 20 Car. 2. c. 1. any one being present at a conventicit, was liable to the penalty of 5c. for the first offence, and 10c. for the second; and possess preaching incurred a penalty of 20c. Also suffering a meeting to be held in a house was liable to a like penalty of 20c. and justices of the peace had power to enter such bosses and seize the persons assembled, or neglecting so to do, incurred the penalty of 100c. But by 1 W. and M. c. 18, all protestant dissenters are exempted from penalties, though if they meet in a house, with the doors locked, bassed, or helted, they shall receive no benefit from the act.

CONVENTION PARLIAMENT, on the abdication of king James 2. in 1669. The assembly of the states of the kingdom, to take care of their rights and liberties, and who settled king William and queen Mary on the throne, was eatled the Convention.

CONVERSOS, the Jews in England, because they were con-

CONVEY ANCE, a dead which passes land from one to another. The most common conveyances now in use are, deads of gift, bargain and sale, leave and release, fines and recoveries, settlements to uses, &c. A conveyance cannot be fraudulent in part, and good as to the rest; for if it be fraudulent and void in part, it is void in all, and it cannot be divided. I Lil. Abr. 311. Fraudulent conveyances to deceive creditors, defraud purchasers, &c. are void, by stat. 50 Ed. 3.; c. 6. 13 Eliz. c. 5—27. 27 Eliz. c. 4.

CONVICTION is either where a man is outlawed, or appeareth and confesseth, or else is found guilty by the inquest. Cromp. Inst. 9.

Summary proceedings are directed by several acts of parliament, for the conviction of offenders, and the inflicting certain penalties imposed by those acts. In those there is no intervention of a jury, but the party accused is acquitted or condemned by the suffrage of such person only as the statute has appointed for bis judge.

The law implies that there must be a conviction before judgment, though not so mentioned in a statute; and where any statute makes a second offence felony, or subject to an heavier penalty than the first, it is always implied that such second offence ought to be committed after a conviction for the first. I Haw. c. 10. Judgment amounts to a conviction, though it does not follow that every one who is convict, is adjudged. Ibid.

A conviction ought to be in the present tense, and not in the timepast. Ld. Raym. 1376. Str. 608. A conviction, ought to be on an information or claim precedent. Ld. Raym. 510.

When an act of parliament orders the conviction of offenders before justices of the peace, &c. it must be intended after summens to bring them in, and they may have an opportunity of making their defence; and if it be otherwise, the conviction shall be quashed.

CONVICT RECUSANT, one who has been legally presented, indicted, and convict, for refusing to come to church to hear the common prayer, according to the several statutes of I Eliz. 2. 23 Bliz. 1. and 3 Juc. 1. See Papiers.

CONVIVIUM, is when the tenant, by reason of his tenure is bound to provide meat and drink for his lord, once or oftener in the year.

CONVOCATION, is the assembly of all the elergy to consult of ecclesiastical matters, in time of parliament. There are two houses of convocation, the one called the higher convocation house, where all the archbishops and bishops sit severally by themselves; the other the lower convocation house, where all the rest of the clergy sit; that is, all the deans and archdeacons, one proctor for every chapter, and two proctors for all the clergy of each diocese; in all one handled and sixty-six persons.

The ar chbishop of Canterbury is the president of the convocation, and prorogues and dissolves it by mandate from the king. The convecation is not only to be assembled by the king's writ but the canons made by them are to have the royal assent. (25 Hen. 8. c. 19.) They are to have the examining and cemaring of heretical and schismatical books, and persons, &c. but appeal lies to the king in chancery, or to his delegates, 4 Inst. 322. 2 Rol. Abr. 225. The clergy called to the convocation, and their servants, &c. have the same privileges as members of parliament. Stat. 8 H. 6. c. 1. 25.

CONUSANCE OF PLEAS, is when one living within a jurisdiction, may implead another within it, or for a cause arising there.

COOPERS. By 23 Hen. 8. c. 4. coopers shall make their vessels of seasonable wood, and make them with their own marks, on forfeiture of 3s. 4d. and the contents of vessels are appointed to be observed, under like penalty.—See also Butter.

COPARCENARY, an estate held in coparcenery, is, where lands of inheritance descend from the ancestor to two or more persons. It arises either by common law, or particular custom. By common law, as where a person seized in fee-simple or fee-tail dies, and his next heirs are two or more females, his daughters, sisters, austs, consins, or their representatives; in this case they shall all inherit. And these co-heirs are then called coparceners; or for brevity sake parceners. Parceners by particular custom, are, where lands descend, as in gavel-kind, to all the males in equal degree, as some, brothers, ancies, or other kindred; and in either of these cases, all the parceners put together make but one heir, and have but one estate among them. 2 Black, 187.

COPARCENERS, in the common law, are such as have equal portions in the inheritance of their ancestors. See Coparcenary.

COPARTNERSHIP is when two or more persons unite together, and agree to participate in profit and loss, according to their respective shaves in a capital or joint stock; but this is absolutely necessary to constitute a copartnership. I H. B. 48, 48. And whether such copartnerships be public or private, the individual partners are liable for the debts of the joint trade, without limitation, unless where they are incorporated, either by a royal charter or by act of parliament. In this case the members are liable only to the amount of their respective shares in such joint stock. But each partner has a lieu on the partnership estate for any sums of money advanced by him to, or debts owing to him, from the partnership. And it has been held, that this extends even to property in ships. I Kes. 497.

Where there is any chattel, house, or real estate, held for the purposes of partnership business, no partner can dispose of more then his own share in them. But with regard to all effects contribated, manufactured, or purchased to be said for the benefit of the partners, each partner in the course of trade has an absolute right to dispose of the whole; and such saic is valid on the part of the vendee, if transacted without colluion.

A promise or andertaking to one of several partners in the course of business is construct by law to be made to all of them, and all are catified to take advantage of it. Itid.

If one partner enter into a contract which is contenty to the laws of this equatry, without the privity or personal knowledge of his co-partners; neither the person entering into such illicit contract stor his co-partners can recover on it. Nor does it make the difference if the party who made the contract lives abroad, if his co-partners reside in England. 8 Torm. Rep. 454.

And this responsibility of partners for the acts of each other in the course of trade cannot be limited by any agreement, covernment, or provises, in the articles by which the partnerships are constituted. Watson's Law of Partnership, p. 264.

If, however, they can show a disclaimer, they will be relieved row such responsibility: And it seems that even during the subsistance of the partnership, and in the comblished course of trade, one partner may to a certain degree limit his responsibility. If these should be any particular speculation or bargain proposed which he disapproves of, by giving distinct notice to those with whom his co-partners are about to contract, that he will not in any manner we concerned in it, they could not have any claim upon him, as proof of this notice would rebut his prima facts Mahility. 60th, p. 494.

But though partners are in general sound by the contracts, they are not answerable for the avenge of each other. If they all join to one trespans, of course they all may be used, and compelled to trake compensation for the injury they have committed; but this action arises from their personal misconfact, and not from the relation of partnership which subsides between them. With regard to matters quite unconnected with partnership trade or business those can be no question; and, in general, acts or emissions in the course of the partnership trade or business in violation of taw, will only implicate those who are guilty of them. But this rule, however, admits of acceptions: for co-partners, like individuals, are supunsible for the negligence of their servants; and if one of the partners act, he is considered in this instance as the servant of the part. In these cases, the injury is considered as the joint and several injury of all the partners; so that they may be proceeded against in a budy, or one may be singled out, and such alone for the whole of the damage.

Co-partnership contracts may be dissolved by bankruptey, death, outlawry, and by attainder for treason or felony. If a partnership be formed for a single dealing or transaction; as soon as that is completed, the partnership is at an end of course. But where a general partnership is entered into for an unlimited time, it may be terminated at any time by either of the parties; provided he acts done fide. If, therefore, either of the partners should think proper to relinquish the partnership, he may do so, provided he does not break off with some sinister view, or does not quit after some particular business is begun, or at an unseasonable time, which might occasion loss and damage to the partnership.

A partnership may also be dissolved by the expiration of the time for which it was originally constituted. It may be dissolved by the award of arbitrators. The gross misconduct of a partner will induce a court of equity to annul the contract. The imanity of one of the partners, if not of a temporary nature, will produce the same effect.

Where a partnership has been constituted for any definite time, if the hasiness should be conducted after the expiration of that period, without any new arrangement of the concern, it would probably be held, in analogy to the law of landlord and tenant, that the partnership continued under the conditions and covenants contained in the original articles, with a power in either party to put an end to it at pleasure. ibid.

copy of a patent, of a charter, deed, &c. but a clause out of either, cannot be given in evidence to prove the original, as it must be absolutely a true office copy of the whole.

but the copy of the rolls made by the steward, as he inrolls and makes remembrances of all other things done in the lord's court; thus a tenant by copy of court roll, is he who is admitted a tenant of any lands or tenements within a manor, that, time out of mind, by use and custom of the manor, have been demisable, and demised to such as will take the same in fee, or fee tail, for life, years, or at will, according to the custom of the manor, by copy of court-roll of the said manor.

The customs of manors, differ as much as the humour and temper of the respective ancient lords, so a copyholder, by custom may be tenast in fee simple, in fee-tail, for life, by the courtesy, in dower, for years, at sufferance, or on condition; subject however, to be de-which the will of the lords promulged by immemorial customs which the will of the lords promulged by immemorial customs hath declared to be a forfeiture or absolute determination of those interests: has in some manors the want of inne, in others the want of issue, in others the want of issue male, in others, the cutting flown timber, in others the acceptance of rent or line. Yet none of these interests unlocated from bold; for the freehold of the whole manor abides always with the lord only, who hat it granted out the use of occupation, but not the coporest seizin, or true putsession of certain parts or purcels thereby, to these his contomary tenants at will. It Black, 148,

Ĺ

Where, by special custom, a descent of copyholds may be customy to the common flaw, such custom shall be interpreted unicity; but otherwise, the lands must descend according to the rules of the common flaw. Durnf. and East, 106.

Copyholds are not transferable by matter of record, even in the king's courts; but only in the court baron of the ford, by surrender and admittance. 2 Black. 506.

If one would exchange a copyliolid with another, both must surrender to each other's use, and the lord admit accordingly. Co. Copyliold, s. 35, 39.

If a man will desire his copyhold estate, he cannot so it by his will, but he must surrender to the use of his will, and in it declare his intent. Id. But when the legal estate is in trustees, a man dunnot in that case, surrender the copyhold lands to the use of his will; but they will pass by his will only. 2 Act. 38. 4 Per. 469.

So a mortgager may dispose of the equity of redemption by will, without surrender; for he hath at that time no estate in the land whereof to make a surrender.

A devise of a copyhold to the heir is void; for where two titles meet the worthier, is to be preferred. Str. 489.

A copyhold may be intailed by special custom, and the intail cut off by recovery or surrender in the lord's court. But a recovery in the lord's court, without custom to warrant it, will not be a bar to the intail; but a surrender in that case will bar it. 2 Fez. 608.—But where there are two customs to bar estates tail, the one by recovery, and the other by surrender, either of them may be pursued. Str. 1197.

Recovery in the lord's court, differs in nothing that is material, from recoveries of freehold land in the king's court; but the method of surrender is easier and cheaper. 2 Black. 365.

A copyhold is not barred by fine, and five years nonclaim. Nog. Surrender, is yielding up the estate by the tenant into the hands of the fold, for such purposes, as in the surrender are expressed. By 47 Geo. 3. See. 2. c. 8. persons may appoint attorneys for merculering copylicids or customary cutates, of tritich common recoveries are intended to be suffered.

A steward of a manor, may take a surresider out of the manor, but cannot what out of the manor. 4. Co. 25. A femme covert, is to be secretly exactly the steward, in her surrendering her estate. 1 fast. 39.

Until admittance of the enventure, the currenterer continues tenant, and simil receive the profit, and discharge all services due to the lord; but he cannot revoke his surrender, except in the case of a convenier to the use of his witt, which is always revocable. And if the lord will not admit the terrendere, he may be compelled to it by a bill in chancery or unantanes. 2 Black. 368. And this method of conveyance, by terrender and admittance, is so essential to the matter of a copyhold estate, that because possibly be transferred by any other assurance. No feelfment, fine, or recovery, in the king's cutro, has any operation upon it. Ibid. Upon admittance, the tenant pays a fine to the lord, according to the custom of the unner, and takes the oath of featty. Id. If a copyholder do not pay the vervice due to the lord, or refine to attend at the lord's court, or to be of homage, or to pay his fine for admittance, or to do suit at the lord's will, for the like, it is in here a forfeiture. Rol. Abr. 509.

If there be a tenant for life, remainder in fee, and tenant for life commit a forfeiture, by which his estate for life be forfeited; the bordesters for the forfeiture; yet this shall not bind him in the remainder, but only the tenant for life. Ibid.

If a copybolder commit a felony or treason, he forfeits his copybold to the tord, without any particular runtom; only the king shall first have thereof the year, day, and waste. Gibb. Ter. 226.

If a copyhold escheat, the lord may grant it out again with what to proved fine be will. Will 6.

COPY-RIGHT, the exclusive right of printing and publishing copies of any literary performance, for a limited time. See Books and Literary Property.

CORARGE, is an imposition extraordinary, growing upon some states of corn. Bract.

CORAM NON JUDICE, when a cause is brought into a court, whereof the judges have not any jurisdiction, it is said to be corum non judice.

CORD OF WOOD, night to be eight feet long, four feet bread, and four feet high, by statute.

CORDAGE, for penalties and punishments incurred, by fraudalently manefacturing sordage. See 25 Geo. 3, 56. See Gallet. con in the sheaf, before it is threshed and measured; the reason whereof seems to be, because by such sale, the market is in effect forestalled. 3 Inst. 197.

Every person who shall sell or buy corn without measuring, or otherwise than the Winebester measure, sealed and stricken by the brim, shall on the conviction before one justice on the oath of one witness, forfeit 40s, besides the whole of the corn so sold or bought, or the value thereof, half to the poor, and half to the informer.

On complaint to a justice, that corn has been beight, sold, or derlivered, contrary to the act, the proof shall lie upon the defendant to make it appear by oath of one witness, that he sold or bought the same lawfully: and if he shall fail therein, he shall forfeit, as before mentioned, to be levied by distress and sale. 22 and 23. C. 2. c. 8 and 12, and K. v. Arnold, T. 33. G. 3.

And if any mayor, or other head officer, shall knowingly permit the same, he shall upon conviction at the county sessions, forfeit 50% half to the prosecutor and half to the poor, by distress and sale. For want of distress, to be imprisoned by warrant of the justices, till payment be made. 22 C. 2. c. 8. s. 3.

The last acts now in force to regulate the returns of the prices of grain, are statutes 31 G. 3. c. 30: 33 G. 3. c. 65. By the former the statutes 1 Jac. 2. c. 19: 1 W. and. M. c. 12: 5 G. 2. c. 12: 10 G. 3. c. 39: 13 G. 3. c. 43: 21 G. 8. c. 50, and 29 G. 3. c. 58, are all repealed; as also every provision in any other act for regulating the importation of wheat, &c. except such as relate to the making of malt for expertation, and the expertation thereof. So much of the 15 Car. 2. as prohibits the buying of corn to sell again, and the laying it up in gravaries is also repealed.

By the statutes of 31 G. 3. c. 30. and 83 G. 3. c. 65. bounties are granted on exportation at certain prices, and the exportation prohibited when at higher poices: the quantity of corn to be exported to foreign countries is settled; the maritime countries of England are divided into districts. The exportation of corn to be regulated in London, Kent, Essex, and Sussex, by the prices at the corn exchange; the proprietors of which are to appoint an inspector of corn returns, to whom weekly returns are to be made by the factors: and he is to make weekly accounts, and transmit the average price to the receiver of the returns, to be transmitted to the officers of the customs, and inserted in the London Gazette. The exportation in other districts and in Scotland, to be regulated by the prices at different appointed places, for which mayors, justices, &c. are to elect inspectors. Decimations are to be truly underly factors of the corn sold by them. Orders of council may be made to regulate importation, or exportation, from time to time: such orders to be hid before parliament respecting the exportation of wheat, and trans-shipping of corn brought constwice. See 82 Geo. 3. c. 50, and 35 Geo. 5. c. 5.

By 45 Geo. 3. v. 11. the act 45 Geo. 8. v. 66. s. 9. shall not pretell the currying constraine, or exporting corn for the use of his mijesty's forces, or for the purposes mentioned in 51 Geo. 3. v. 80. ml 33 Geo. 5. c. 65. although prohibited from being otherwise exported by reason of the price.

By 46 Geo. 3. c. 97. all boundes and duties payable on the laterthings of corn and grain [of the growth of Great Britain or Ireland, 47 Geo. 3. sess. 1. c. 7.] between Great Britain and freshad shall cente, and corn and grain may be imported and exported between them whatever the price may be. s. 1.

But the experter is to declare before the officer of customs, that such corn and grain is intended to be experted between the countries, and shall receive a coast corquet; and no fee shall be taken by any officer of customs on account thereof, on pain of being dismined, and rendered incapable of serving in the customs, excise, or my revenue office. 8. 3.

Nothing in any acts in force shall prohibit the exportation from Ireland of a supply of corn, and the like, for ship stores, or for provisioning forces or garrisons, or beans for the British forts in Africa, usually supplied from Great British, nor prohibit the like quantities mentioned in table C. of the British acts 31 Geo. 3. c. 30. s. 10. and 35 Geo. 8. c. 66. but if the price be above the price at which the export is allowed, the exporter to any place mentioned in the said table shall declare the place for which the same are exported. s. 5, 6.

CORNACE, a kind of grand serjounty, the service of which temee was to blow a horn, when any invasion of the northern enemy was perceived. By this many persons held their land northward when the wall, commonly called the Picts wall. Littl. 65.

CORNWALL, a royal durhy belonging to the prince of Wales, abounding with mines, and having stannary courts, &c. It yields a great revenue to the prince. Several statutes have been issued respecting leases and grants in this duchy, and particularly the stat. of 39 Geo. 2. c. 10.

CORODY, a sum of money, or allowance of meat, drink or rionining, due to the king from an abbey or other boase of religion, whereof he is the founder, towards the reasonable sustemance of

¥

ŧį

٠

:

such a one of his servants, being put to his pension, as he thinks good to bestow it on. Cerodies, belonged sometimes to hishops and noblemen from monasteries. But these coradies are now totally fallen into disuse. I Black. 983.

CORONARE FILIOS, the old villeins, or those who held in villenage, were forbidden coronare filios, to make their some pricets, that is, to let them be ordained; because ordination changed their condition, and gave them liberty to the prejudice of the lord, who could before claim them as his untives, or born servants.

CORONATORE ELIGENDO, a writ, which, after the death or discharge of any coroner, is directed to the sheriff out of the chancery, for the choice of a new coroner, and to certify into the chancery, both the election, and name of the party elected, and to give him his oath.

colled coroner, because he deals principally with the pleas of the crown; and coroners were of old time the conservators of the peace. This officer, ought to be a sufficient person, that is, the most wise and discreet knight, that best would and might attend upon such an office. St. Westm. c. 10. By the 14 Ed. 3. st. 1. c. 8. No coroner shall be chosen, unless he shall have land in fee sufficient, in the same county wherein he may answer to all manner of people. The lord chief justice of the king's bench is the sovereign coroner of the whole realm.

I. How elected. In antient times, none under the degree of knight were chosen. 2 Inst. 32. 176. But at the chief intent was to prevent the choosing of persons of mean ability, it seems the design of it is sufficiently answered, by choosing men of substance and credit; and as the constant usage for several ages past has been accordingly, it seems to be no objection at this day, that the person chosen is not a knight. 2 Haw. 42. 43.

By the 28 Ed. 3. c. 6. it is enacted, that all coroners of the counties, shall be chosen in full counties, by the commoners of the said counties, of the most meet and lawful people that shall be found in the same, to execute the said office. But though they are chosen by the county, it must be pursuant to the king's writ, issuing out of and returnable into chancery; and none but freeholders have a voice at such election, for they only are suitors to the county court. 2 Inst. 99. 2 Haw. 43, 44. When chosen they shall be sworn by the sheriff, for the due execution of their office. 2 Hale. II. 55.

Il. His duty in taking inquisitions. When any person comes to an untimely death, the township shall give notice thereof to the coroner:

therwise if the body be interred before he come, the township hall be amerced. Hale's Pl.: 170. And if the township shall suffer the body to lie till putrefaction, without sending for him, they shall be amerced. 2 Haw. 48.

When the coroner has received notice, he shall issue a precept to the constables of the four, five, or six next townships, to return a competent number of good and lawful men of their townships, to appear before him in such a place, to make an inquisition touching that matter. 4 Ed. 1. st. 2. Or he may send a precept, to the constable of the hundred. Wood b. 4. c. 1. And there must be twelve jurers at the least. 2 Inst. 148. If the constables make no return, or if the jurers returned, shall not appear, their defaults are to be returned to the coroner, and they shall be amerced before the judges of the assise. 2 H. H. 55.

The jury after being sworn, is to be charged by the coroner to inquire, upon the view of the body, how the party came by his death, 2 H. H. 60.

Every coroner upon an inquisition before him found, whereby my person shall be indicted for murder or manulaughter, or as an accessary before the offence committed, shall put in writing the effect of the evidence given to the jury before him, being material; and shall bind over the witnesses to the next general gaol delivery to give evidence; and shall certify the evidence, the recognizance, and the inquisition or indictment before him taken and found, at or before the trial, on pain of being fined by the court. I & 2 P. & M. c. 13. s. 5.

But the coroner cannot enquire of accessaries after the fact. He ought to enquire into the death of all persons dying in prison, that it may be known, whether they died by violence or any unreasonable hardships.

III. His general power and duty. Besides his judicial place, the coroner has an authority ministerial, as a sheriff; namely, when there is a just exception taken to the sheriff, judicial process shall be awarded to the coroner for the execution of the king's writ: and in some special cases, the king's original writ, shall be immediately directed to him. 4 Inst. 271. He is bound to be present in the county court, to pronounce judgment of outlawry upon the exigent, after quinto exactus, at the fifth court, if the defendant do not appear. Wood. b. 4. c. 1.

It is his duty to enquire of treasure that is found, who were the formers, and likewise who is suspected thereof. He may also receive the appeal of an approver, for an offence in the same, or in a different county, and if the appellel be in the same county, he may award process against him to the shoriff till it come to the exigent; but if the appelies he in a foreign county, the coroner cannot award process against blue, but must leave it to the justices of a gool delivery, before whom the appeal is afterwards recorded. I Have 58.

14. Punishment for misdementour. Justices of assize and peace, have power to enquire of and punish the defaults and extertions of openers. 1 Hen. 8. c. 7. and 25 Gen. 8. c. 29. s. 6.

V. His face. The coraner shall have for his fee, upon every inequisition taken upon the view of the body slain, 18s. Ad. of the goods and chattels of him that is the stayer and marderen, if he have any hards; and if he have no goods, of such americanests, as should fortune any termship to be americal for the escape of the murderer. 3 Hen. 7. But us the said fee of 13s. 4d. is not un adequate seward for the general execution of the said office, therefore for every inquisition, not taken upon view of a bady dying in good, the coroner shall have 20s. and also 9d. for every mile he shall be compelled to travel from his escal place of above to take unch inquisition; to be paid by order of the justices in assistes, out of the county rates. 2h Goo. 2. c. 29. s. 1.

CORPORATION, a body politic or incorporated, consisting of a number of possess empowered by the law of the land to act under one name, and as one parame. Comparations are established by act of parliament, and their functions or possess are limited by the act of their creation or obuster. See: Charter.

The magistrates of a town or city act in a corporate capacity, for the advantage and administration of affairs within their li-· CORPOREAL INHERITANCE. See Inheritance.

CORPSE, if any person steat the shroud or other apparel from a dead body, it will be a felony. 3 Inst. 140. 13 Rep. 143. But mealing the corpse itself, only, is not felony, but it is punishable as a misdementary, by indictment at common law. 8 Black. 286.

CORPUS CUM CAUSA, a writ issuing out of chancery, to remove both the body and the record, touching the cause of any man lying in execution upon a judgment for shelt in the king's heach, &c., there to lie, until he have satisfied the judgment.

CORRECTOR OF THE STAPLE, a clerk belonging to the staple, who writes and records the bargains of merchanta there; made.

CORRUPTION OF BLOOD, as infection growing to the states of a man attainted of felony or treason. Restitution of bloods in item true nature and extent, can only be by act of partiament. 4 Black. 388. See Attainder.

Corruption of blood is the unavoidable consequence of attainder, both apwards and downwards; so that an attainted person can neither inherit lands nor hereditaments from his ancestor, nor retain those he has already in possession, nor transmit them by descent to any heir; but the same shall eschoat to the lord of the fee, subject to the king's superior right of forfeiture; and the person attainted shall obstruct all descents to his posterity, wherever they are obliged to derive a title through him to a remote ancestor. 4 Black. Com. 388.

CORSNED BREAD, was a kind of superstitions trial, used by our Saxon ancestors, by a piece of barley bread, first execrated by the priest, and then offered to the suspected guilty person, to be swallowed by way of purgation: for they believed a person, if guilty, could not possibly swallow a morsel so accurred; or if he did, it would chook him.

CORSEPRESENT, at any man's death, the body of the best, or second-best beast, was according to the custom, offered, or presented to the priest, and carried with the corpse, as a corse-present.

COSENING, an offence whereby any thing is done deceitfully, whether belonging to contracts or not, which cannot be properly termed by any special name.

COSHERING, a senioral prerogative, whereby the lord and his followers, lay and feasted himself at his tenant's house.

COSINAGE, a writ that lies where the tresayle or great grand-father is seized in his demesne, as of fee at the day of his death, of certain lands or tenements, and dies, and then a stranger enters, and abutes; for then shall his heir have this writ of cosinage.

COSTS. By the statute of Gloucester, 6 Ed. 1. c. 1. it is provided that the demandant may recover against the tenant, the costs of his writ, together with his damage; and that this act shall hold place in all cases, when the party is to recover damages. 2 Bac. Abr. 511.

Costs of the writ, extends to all legal costs of suit, but not expenses of travel, loss of time, &c. 2 Inst. 288.

When double damages are given by act of parliament, the costs should be doubled also; for damages include costs. Str. 1048.

Persons suing in forma pauperis, shall not pay costs. 3 Bluck. 400.

If it be an action, wherein there can be no such certifying, as debt, assumpsit, trover, trespass for taking goods, trespass for spoiling goods, trespass for beating a servant, whereby he lost his service, it is out of the statute, and the plaintiff may have full costs. Surfe. 208.

CO

Whene costs are allowed, it is not necessary for the jury to give them, but they may teave it to the court to do it, who are the best able to judge of what costs are fitting to be given. It is the course of the court of king's beach, to refer the taxation of costs to the proper officer of the court, and not to make may special rules for back matters, except it be in extraordinary cases. I Litt. Abr. 228.

The matter of costs in equity, is not beld to be a point of right, but merely discretionary, according to the circumstances of the case, as they appear more or tous favourable to the party vanquished. 8 Mack. 451.

If costs to reduced to be paid, an attachment lies. I Nels. Abr.

The king, and any power suing to his me, shall neither pay nor receive costs. Stat. 24 H. S. c. 8.

. The 16 Geo. S. c. 19. authorises any justice, who shall have board and determitted the matter of a complaint made before him. to award such custs to be paid by either party, and in such manner as to him shall seem weet, to the party injured; and if the person so whered by the justice, shall not forthwith pay, or give satisfaction to the justice, the same shall be levied by distress; and if goods and chatteds of such persons cumuet be found, the justice shall commit him to the house of correction for the place where such person shall deside: to be kept to hard fabour for any time not exceeding one impath, nor less than ten days, or till such sum, with the expenses 'attending the commitment, be first paid.

Provided, that when the conviction of any person upon a penal statute; where the penalty shall be at or exceed the sum of 51. the vaid costs shall be deducted by the justice, at his discretion, out of the penalty, so that such lieduction shall not exceed one-lifth part of the penalty; and the remainder of the penalty shall be divided among the persons who would have been entitled to the whole thereof, Whis actiond not been made.

Costs double or treble are allowed to defendants such for acting under almost every statute relating to officers of justice, customs, or other watter, highways, paving, &c.

For more matter conterning Costs see 2 Bac. Abr. & 6 Fin. Abr. tit. cosrs, and Mr. Tidd's Law of Costs.

COTTAGE. By 31 EMz. c. 7. it was enacted that no person should build or erect any manner of cottage, without laying at feast Four acres of land to the same, but that act was repealed by 15 Geo.

3. c. 32. on its having been suggested, that it had hid the industrious poor under great difficulties to procuse bahitations; that is tended much to lessen population, and in many other respects was lacon-venient to the labouring part of the popular.

COVENABLE, fit, convenient, or mitable.

COVENANT, the agreement or consent of two or meno by deed in writing, scaled and delivered; whereby either, or one of the parties, promises to the other, that something in down already, or shall be done afterwards: he that makes the coverant, is called the coverant, and be to whom it is made the coverants. Shap. Touch. 160.

A consumer is generally either in fact, or in ima. In fact, is that which is expressly agreed between the parties, and inserted in the deed. In law, is that coverant which the law intends and implies, though it be not expressed in words, as if a lessor densice and grant to his lessee, a house or lands for a certain tarm, the law will intend a coverant on the lessor's part, and the lesser shall, during the term, quietly eajoy the same against all insumbrances. I fact 386.

COVENANT TO STAND SEISED TO USES, is when a manthat bath a wife, children, brother, sisten, or kindred, dash by covenant in writing under hand and sent agree, that for their, or any of their prevision or preferment, he or his heirs will stand seized of land to their use, either in fee-simple, fee-tail, or for life.

COVERTURE, in law is applied to the condition of a married:
woman, who by the laws of this region is sub potential-viril, and therefore disabled to make bargain with any, to the projective of herself or her husband, without his amount and pointy, or at heast without his allowance and confirmation.

COVIN, is a described assent or agreement between two or more, to the projudice of another. As if a tenant for term of life, or tenant in tail, will secretly complex with another, that the other with recover against the tenant for life, the lands which he holds, &c. in projudice of him in the reversion.

COUNCIL. Rictors shall answer before the council, on certificate of the justices. 13 Hen. 4. c. 7. s. 21. Conspisation against priez counciloss, see 3 Hen. 7. c. 14.:

COUNCIL, in the city of Landen them are common councilment chosen is every ward, at a court of wasdmote both by the alderment of their respective wards, on St. Thomas's day yearly; they are to be chosen out of the most sufficient men; and sworn to give true counsel for the common profit of the city. In the court of common council, are made laws for the advancement of trade, and committees yearly appointed, &c. but acts made by them, are to have the assent of the lord mayor and aldermen by stat. 21 Geo. 1.

COUNSEL, for prisoners. The judges never scruple to allow a prisoner counsel, to instruct him what questions to ask, or even to ask questions for him with respect to matters of fact, for as to matters of law, arising on the trial, they are entitled to the assistance of a counsel. 4 Black. 835.

COUNSELLOR, one retained by a client, to plead his cause in a court of judicature. A counsellor in law retained, has a privilege to enforce any thing, which he is informed of by his client, and to give it in evidence, it being pertinent to the matter in question, and not to examine whether it be true or false; but it is at the peril of him who informs him; for a counsellor is at his peril to give in evidence, that which his client informs him, being pertinent to the matter in question, otherwise action upon the case lies against him by his client. Cro. Jac. 90.

The fees to counsellors are not in the nature of wages or pay, or that which we call salary or hire, which are duties certain, and grow due by contract for labour or service; but what is given them, is honorium, not merces; being a gift, which gives honour as well to the taker as the giver; nor is it certain or contracted; for no price or rate can be set upon counsel which is invaluable and inestimable, so as it is more or less according to the circumstances, namely, the ability of the client, the worthiness of the counsellor, the weightiness of the cause, and the custom of the country. It is a gift of such a nature, that the able client may not neglect to give it, without ingratitude, for it is but a gratuity or token of thankfulness: yet the worthy counsellor may not demand it without doing wrong to his reputation. Pref. to Dav. Rep. 22, 23.

COUNT, signifies as much as the original declaration in a-process, though more used in real than personal actions, as a declaration is more applied to personal, than real.

COUNTEE, was the most eminent dignity of a subject before the conquest: and those who in nacient time were created countees, were men of great estate and dignity. The countee, was prefectus or præpositus comitatus, and had the charge and custody of the county, whose authority the sheriff now bath. 9 Rep. 46 n.

COUNTENANCE, was antiently used for credit or estimation. 1 Ed. 3. st. 2. c. 4.

COUNTER, the name of two city prisons—the Poeltry and Gilt-spur-street counters.

COUNTERFEITS, persons obtaining any money, goods, &c. by counterfeit letters or false tokens, being convicted before justices of assize, or justices of peace, are to suffer such punishments as shall be thought fit, short of death; as imprisonment, pillory, &c. Stat 33 Hen. 8. c. 1. The obtaining money from one man, to another's use, upon a faire pretence of having a message and verbal order to that purpose, is not punishable by criminal prosecution; it depending on a bare naked lie, against which common prudence and caution may be a security. 6 Mod. 105. 1 Him. 188.

Counterfeiting the Coin. See Coin.

COUNTERMAND, is where a thing formerly executed, is afterwards by some act or ceremony made void, by the party that had first done it.

COUNTERPART, when the several parts of an indenture, are interchangeably executed by the several parties, that part or copy which is executed by the grantor, is usually called the original, and the rest are counterparts.

But a better practice is lately adopted for all the parties to execute every part; which renders them all originals. 2 Black. 296. If an original deed is in being, or may be had, the counterpart cannot be produced as evidence; otherwise, where the original cannot by any means be procured. Wood. b. 4. c. 4.

COUNTERPLEA, is in law a replication to aid prior, as is also, a counterplea to the plea of clergy.

COUNTER-ROLLS, the rolls which sheriffs of counties have with coroners of their proceedings, as well of appeals as of inquest, &c. 3 Ed. 1. c. 10.

COUNTIES PALATINE, are those of Chester, Dusham, and Lancester. Of these three, the county of Dusham is now the only one, remaining in the hunds of a subject; for the earldom of Chester was united to the crown by king Henry 8. and hath ever since given: title to the king's eldest son. And the county Palatine or duchy of Lancester, in the reign of king Bdward 4. was by act of parliament: vested in the king, and his heirs hings of England for ever. 1 Black. 118.

There is a court of chancery, in the counties Palatine of Lancaster and Durham, over which there are chancellors; that of Lancaster called the chancellor of the ducky. And there is a court of exchequer at Chester, of a mixed nature for law and equity, of which the chamberlain of Chester is judge. There is also a chief justice of. Chester; and other justices in the other counties palatine, to determine civil actions and pleas of the crown. In all of these the king's ordinary writs are of no force. And the judges of assise, who site within these franchises, sit by virtue of a special commission-fromthe owners thereof, and under the seal thereof, and not by the usual commission under the great seal of England. 3 Black. 79.

COUNTY signifies the same as shire, and contains a circuit or portion of the realm, into which the whole land is divided, for the better government of it, and the more easy administration of justice; so that there is no part of this nation which is not within some county; and every county is governed by a yearly officer, whom we call a sheriff. See Skeriff. Forlescue, c. 24.

COUNTY COURT, this was antiently a court of great dignity and splendor; the bishop and the earl, with the principal gentlemen of the shire, sitting therein to administer justice, both in lay and ecclesiastical causes. But its dignity was much impaired, when the bishop was prohibited, and the earl neglected to attend it. And in modern times, as the proceedings are removable from hence into the king's superior courts, by writ of pone, or recordare, this hath occasioned the business of the county court, in a great measure to decline.

By the 2 and 3 Edw. 6. c. 25, no county court shall be longer deferred than one month from court to court; so that the county court shall be kept every month, and not otherwise. And only twenty-eight days shall be reckoned to the month. 2 Inst. 71. And it may be kept at any place within the county, unless restrained by statute. Wood c. 4. c. 1.

The suitors, that is, the freeholders, are the judges of this court; except that in re-disseisin, by the statute of Merton, the sheriff is judge.

The jury in this coart ought to be freeholders, but the quantum of their estate is not material.

This court shall hold pleas between party and party, where the debt, or damage, is under 40s. 4 Inst. 266.

But in replevin the sum may exceed 40s. Id.

It has not cognizance of trespass vi et armis, because a fine is, thereby due to the king, which it cannot impose. Id.

But by virtue of a writ of justicies the court may hold plea of trespass vi et armis, and of any sum, or of all actions personal above 40s. Id.

Causes may be removed from this court by a writ of recordars, issuing out of the chancery, directed to the sheriff, commanding him to send the plaint that is before him in his county court (without writ of justicies) into the court of king's bench or common pleas, to the end that the cause may be there determined: whereupon the sheriff is to summon the other party to be in that court (into which the plaint is to be sent) at a day certain; and he is to make certi-

Scate of all this under his own seal, and the seal of four suitors of the same court. Read. County. C.

Causes may also be removed by pone, which differs in nothing from a recorders, except that it removes such suits as are before the sheriff by writ of justicies, and a recorders is to remove the suit that is by plaint only, without a writ. Id. And though the pica be discontinued in the county, yet the plaintiff or defendant may remove the plaint into the common pleas or king's beach, and it shall be good, and he shall declare upon the same. Id.

COUNTY RATE, by the 12 G. 2. c. 29. the justices at their general or quarter sessions, or the greater part of them (and by 13 G. 2 c. 18. justices of liberties and franchises not subject to the county commissioners) shall have power to make one general county rate, to answer all former distinct rates, which shall be amessed on every parish, &c. and collected and paid by the high countables of hundreds to treasurers appointed by the justices; which money shall be deemed the public stock, &c. But appeal lies by the churchwardens and overseers, against the rate of any particular parish. 22 G. 3. c. 17. County Rates are to be raised and employed in the following purposes, viz.

For the repairing of bridges, and highways thereto adjoining, and salaries for the surveyors of bridges. For building and repairing county gaels. For repairing shire halls. For the salary of the master of the house of correction, and relieving the weak and sick in his custody. For the relief of the prisoners in the king's bench and marshalsea prisons; and of poor hospitals in the county, and of those who shall sustain losses by fire, water, the sea, or other castalties, and other charitable purposes for the relief of the poor, as the justices in sessions shall think fit. For the relief of the priseners in the county gaol. For the preservation of the health of the prisoners. For the salary of the chaplain of the county gaol. For setting prisoners to work. For the treasurer's salary. For salary of persons making returns for the prices of corn. charges attending the removal of any of the said general county rates by certiorari. For money for purchasing lands at the ends of county bridges. For charges of rebuilding or repairing houses of correction, and for fitting up and furnishing the same, and employing the persons sent thitber. For charges of apprehending, conveying, and maintaining rogues and vagabonds. For charges of soldiers sarriages, over and above the officers pay for the same, by the several yearly acts against mutiny and desertion, and by the mulitia act. For the coroner's fee of 9d. a mile for travelling to take an inquisition, and 20s. for taking it. For charges of carrying persons to the gaol, or house of correction. For the gaoler's fees for persons acquitted of felony, or discharged by proclamation. For charges of prosecuting and convicting felons. For charges of prosecuting and convicting felons. For charges of prosecuting and convicting persons plundering shipwrecked goods. For charges of maintaining the militia-men's families, by the several militia acts. For charges of bringing insolvent debtors to the assises, in order to their discharge, if themselves are not able to pay. For the charges of transporting felons, or conveying them to the places of labour and confinement. For charges of carrying parish apprentices, bound to the sea service, to the port to which the master belongeth.

By the 12 G. 2. c. 29. the churchwardens and overseers shall, in thirty days after demand made, out of the money collected for relief of the poor, pay the sum so assessed on each parish or place. And if they shall neglect or refuse so to pay, the high constable shall levy the same by distress and sale of their goods, by warrant of two or more justices residing in or near such parish or place. Where there is no poor-rate, the justices, in their general or quarter sessions shall by their order direct the sum assessed on such parish, township, or place, to be rated and levied by the petty constable, or other peace officer, as money for the relief of the poor is by law to be rated or levied. The high constables, at or before the next sessions respectively after they have received the money, shall pay the same to the treasurer; and the money so paid, shall be deemed the public stock. And the said high constables shall deliver in a true account on oath (if required) of the money by them received, before the said justices at their general or quarter sessions. The treasurer shall pay so much of the money in his hands, to such persons as the justices in sessions shall from time to time appoint, for any uses and purposes, to which the public stock of any county, city, division, or liberty, is or shall be applicable. And shall deliver in a true account on oath (if required), of his receipts and disbursements, to the justices at every general or quarter sessions, and also the proper vouchers for the same, to be kept amongst the records of the sessions. And the discharge of the said justices, by their order at their general or quarter sessions, shall be a sefficient discharge to the treasurer. And no new rate shall be made, until it appear by the treasurer's accounts or otherwise, that three-fourths of the monoy collected, have been expended for the purposes aforesaid. If the oborchwardens and overseers of any parish or place, shall think. such parish or place is over-rated, they may appeal to the next geseral or quarter sessions.

COURT, a court is defined to be a place, appropriated to the judicial administration of justice. The law has appointed a considerable number of courts, some with a more limited, others with a more extensive jurisdiction; some of these are appropriated to enquire only, others to hear and determine; some to determine in the first instance, others upon appeal and by way of review.

The most general division of our courts, is, into such as are of record, or not; those of record, are again divided into such as are aprene, superior, or inferior.

The supreme court of this kingdom, is the high court of parliament, consisting of the king, lords, and commons, who are vested with a kind of omnipotency in making new laws, repealing and reviving old-ones; and on the right balance of these, depends the very being of our constitution.

Superior courts of record are again, those that are more or less principal: the more principal ones are the lords house in parliament, the chancery, king's beach, common pleas, and exchequer: the less principal ones are such as are held by commission of gool delivery, eyer and terminer, assise, mist prins, &c. by custom or charter, as the courts of the palatine of Lancaster, Chester, Durham; or by virtue of acts of parliament, and the king's commission, as the court of severs, justices of the peace, &c.

The inferior courts of record, as ordinarily so called, are corporation courts, courts leet, and sheriffs torn, &c.

Courts not of record, are the courts baron, county courts, hundred courts, &c.

Also the admiralty, and ecclesisstical courts, which are not courts of record, but derive their authority from the crown, and are subject to the control of the king's temporal courts, where they exceed their jurisdiction. All these are bounded and circumscribed by certain laws and stated rules, to which in all their proceedings and judicial determinations, they must square themselves. Hale's An. 35.

And here it may be proper to observe, that where a statute prohibits a thing, and appoints that the offence shall be heard and determined in any of the king's courts of record, it can be proseeded against, only, in one of the courts of Westminster Hall. Dyer, 236.

Every court of record is the king's court, though the profits may be another's; if the judges of such courts err, a writ of error lies; the truth of its records shall be tried by the records themselves, and there shall be no averment against the truth of the matter recorded. Co. Lit. 17. All such courts are created by act of parliament, letters patent, or prescription, and every court by having power given it to fine and imprison, is thereby made a court of record a the proceedings of which can only be removed by write of certificari. Co. Lit. 260.

A court, that is not a court of record, cannot impose any fine on an offender, nor award a capies against him, nor hold plea of debt or trespass, if the debt or damages amount to 40s, nor of trespass done of at armir, though the damages are laid to be under 40s.

COURT BARON, is a court which every look of the maner (nationtly called the barons) bath within his own precincts. This court is an inseparable ingredient of every manor; and if the number of the suitors should so fail, as not to louve sufficient to make a jury or homoge, that is, two tepants at the least, the manor itself is boot. 2 Black. 90.

The court basen is of two natures: the one is a customary court, appertaining entirely to the capyholders or other customary to-nunts; and of this the land, or his steward is the judge; the other is a court of common law, and is before the freeholders who owe suit and service to the manor, the steward being rather register than judge.

The copyholders or customary court, is for grants and admittances upon surrenders and descents, on presentment of the homage or jury. The homage may enquire of the death of tenants after the last court, and who is the next heir; of fraudulent alignation of lands, to defeat the load of his profits; of ront or service withdrawn; of certaint and forfeitures; of cutting down trees without license or consent; of suit not performed at the lord's mill; of waste by tenant for life; of surcharge of common; of treepest in corn, gram, meandow, woods, hedges; of pound breach; of removing mere stones and land marks; of by-laws not observed and the like. The method of punishment is by americement.

COURT OF CHANCERY. See Chanceller and Chancery.

COURT OF CHIVALRY, otherwise called the marshal court; the judges of which were the lord constable of England, and the earl marshal of England: but since the extinguishment of the hereditary office of constable, in the reign of Henry 8, this court has been holden before the earl marshal only, and if it exceed its jurisdiction, it may be prohibited by the common law courts. 2 Haw. 662. It seems at this day to have a jurisdiction, as to disputes concerning precedency and points of honor, and satisfaction therein; and may proceed against persons, for falsely assuming the name and arms of honourable persons. 2 How. 11. This court is to be governed by its own unages, us far as they go, and in other cases by the civil law host since it is no court of common law, no condemnation in it causes any forfeiture of lands, or competion of blood; neither can an error in it be remedied by a writ of error, but only by appeal to the king; yet the judges of the common law take notice of its jurisdiction, and give credit to a certificate of its judges.

OCHRE CHRISTIAN, so called, because as in secular courts, the king's laws sway and decide causes, so in acclariastical courts, the laws of Christ should rule and direct; for which cause, the judges in these courts are divines, as archbishops, bishops, archdiscous, &c.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS. See Common Phas.

COURT OF DELEGATES, is the highest court for civil affairs, that concern the whereh. See Dalegates.

COURTS ECCLESIASTICAL, are those courts which are held by the king's authority, as supreme governor of the church, for matters which chiefly concern seligion. As to exits in spiritual, or acclesizations courts, they are for the reformation of manners; as for punishing of horesy, defauntion, laying violent hands on a clork, and the like; and some of their suits are to recover something domanded, as tithes, a legacy, contract of marriage, &c. and in cases of this nature, the court may give costs, but not damages: the prococilings in the exclusionismic courts, are according to the civil and cases law; they are not courts of record.

COURT OF EXCHEQUER. See Enchoquer.

GOURT OF HUSTINGS, the highest court of second holden at Guidhall, for the city of London, before the lord mayor and absermen, the sheriffs and recorder. 4 Inst. 247. This court determines all pleas, read and mixed; and here all lands, tonoments, and here-ditaments, sents and services, within the city of London and suburbs of the same, are pleadable in two dustings; one called hustings of the plea of lands, and the other, hustings of the common pleas. In the hustings of plea of lands, are brought writs of right patent, directed to the sheriffs of London. In the bustings of common pleas, are pleaded writs on gravelet, and querola, writs of gravelet, of dozer, waste, &c. If an expensions judgment be given in the bustings, the party grieved may see a commission out of chancery, directed to cortain persons, to examine the record, and thereupon do right.

COURT OF KING'S BENCH. See King's Bench.

OOURT OF THE LEGATE, was a court obtained by Cardinal Wolsey, of pope Lee the touth, 9 Il. 8. wherein he had power to prove wills, and depense with offences against the spiritual laws, &c. This court, was however of short continuance.

COURT OF MARSHALSBA. See MARSHALSBA.

.. COURT MARTIAL, is a court for punishing the effences of effe-cers and soldiers in time of war. See 22, 29, and 32 G. 2. c. 3, 6, 25, and 34. See ARTICLES OF WAR.

COURT OF NISI PRIUS. See MISI PRIUS.

COURT OF PECULIARS, a spiritual court, held in such parishes as are exempt from the jurisdiction of the bishops, and are peculiarly belonging to the archbishop of Canterbury, in whose province there are lifty-seven such peculiars.

COURT OF PIEPOWDER, a court beld in fairs, to do justice to buyers and seliers, and for redress of disorders committed in them, so called became they are most usual in summer, when the suitors to the court have dusty feet; and from the expedition in hearing causes proper thereunto, before the dust goes off the feet of the plaintiff and defendant. The court of piepowder, may held plea of a sum above 40s. The steward before whom the court is held, is the judge, and the trial is by merchants and traders in the fair; and the judgment against the defendant shall be, quod amercietur. If the steward proceed contrary to the stat. 17 Ed. 4. he shall forfeit 54.

COURT OF REQUESTS, was a court of equity, of the same nature with the court of chancery but inferior to it. This court having assumed great power to itself, so that it became burthensome, Mich. anno 40 and 41 Eliz. in the court of common pleas, it was upon solemn argument adjudged, that the court of requests was no court of judicuture, &c. and by the stat. 16 and 17 C. 1. c. 10. it was taken away. 4 Inst. 97.

By 41 G. 3. c. 14. for extending the powers of the court of requests within the city of London, all debts amounting to bl. due from any person resident within the jurisdiction of the city, are to be exclusively sued for and recovered. Two aldermen, and not less than twenty inhabitant householders of the several wards and districts, are appointed commissioners, and sit in rotation. The process is by summons, and the commissioners have power to award payment by such instalments, as are consistent with the circumstances and ability of the debtor. In this court, an attorney's privilege is of no avail.

COURT OF SESSION IN SCOTLAND. See SCOTLAND.

COURT OF THE LORD STEWARD OF THE KING'S HOUSE. The lord steward, or in his absence, the treasurer and comptroller of the king's house, and steward of the marshalsen, may inquire of, hear and determine, in this court, all treasons, murders, manslaughters, bloodsheds, and other malicious strikings, whereby blood shall be shed in any of the palaces and houses of the king, or in any other house wherein his royal person shall abide.

COURT OF STAR-CHAMBER, a court erected by 8-21.7.c.8, for punishing persons unlawfully assembling, and for other misdemeasure. But the net was sepealed, and the court dissolved by etat. 17-C. 1, c.-10.

COURTS OF UNIVERSITIES, these courts are called the themseller's courts, and are kept by the vice chancellers of Oxford and Cambridge. Their jurisdiction extends to all causes or cleainstical and carbridge. Their jurisdiction extends to all causes or cleainstical and carbridge. Their jurisdiction extends to all causes or cleainstical and creation of the universities, is one of the parties to the suit. They proceed in a summary way, according to the practice of the givil law; and the judges in their santences thillow the justice and equity of the civil law, or the laws, claimes and customs of the universities, or the laws of the land at their discretion. Afrany erroseous judgment be given in these courts, appeal dies to the evigrogation; thence to the convention; and thence to the king in chancesy by his delegates.

COURTS &F. WALES, by $4 and $5 H. S. c. 26, it is enacted, that there shall be a court of great sessions, kept twice in every year in every of the twelve counties of Wales; and the justices of those courts may hold pleas of the crown in no large a manner as the hing's beach, dec. and also pleas of assiste, and all other pleas and actions real and personal, in as large a manner as the common pleas, &c.

Writs-of-error chall-lie from judgments in this great sessions, it being a court of record to the court of king's-bonch at Westminster. But the ordinary original writs-of-process from the king's courts at Westminster do-not-run into the principality of Wales, though process or execution does, as do also prerogative writs, as writs of certifical, que-minus, mandances, and the like.

COURT OF WARDS AND LIVERIES, abolished by 12 C. 2.

COURTESY, or CURTESY OF ENGLAND, is where a mantakes as wife seized of fee-simple, foctail general, or as beir in tailopecial, and but his issue by her, male or female, born alive; if the wife-lie, the bushand shall hold the land during his life by the lamp? England, and he is tenant by the courtesy of England.

COURT LANDS, demesnes, or land kept in demesnes, or in the bord's own hands, to serve his family.

COWS. See Cattle.

"SBANAGE, is a liberty-to use a orane, for the drawing up of wares from vessels at any creek, of the sea or wharf, to the land, and make profit of it. It signifies also the money taken, and paid for the same. State 62: C. 2. c. 11.

-CHAODING SANOZI VINGBNTII, the merrow after the feast of St. Vincent the martyr, (Jan. 22.) and is the date of the statute made at Merton: Appe 20 H. S. Commission of the statute CRAVENT OR GRAVEN. In a trial by battle upon a wait of right, if the appellant join in battle and cry graven, he shall lose liberate legem; that is become infamous, but if the appelles cry graven, be shall have judgment to be hanged. The word craven is still used for a coward.

CREAST or CREST, a word adopted by heralds, and applied to the device set over a cout of arms.

CREDIBLE WITNESSES. See WITNESS.

CREDITORS, shall recover their debte of executars, or adminis-· trators, who in their own wrong, waste, or convert to their use the estate of the deceased. 30 C. 2. c. 7. Wills and derises of lands, &c. as to creditors on bonds, or other specialities, are declared word: and the creditors may have actions of debt against the heir at laps and devisees; 3 & 4 W. & M. c. 14, and in favour of creditores, mbenever it appears to Be the testator's intent, in a will, that win land should be liable for paying his debts, in such case doubty will make them subject, though there are no express words, but there must be more than a bare declaration, or it shall be intended out of the personal estate. 2 Fern. Rep. 708, where one devises that all his debis. &c. shall be first paid, if his personal estate is not sufficient to pay the creditors, it shall amount to a charge on his real estate for that Belle de en en en anne a milital · purpose. Preced. Ghanc. 480. . .

CRIME is a positive breach of disregard of some existing public law, and generally means such offences as amount to relour. Crimes cannot exist before the resolution to do some criminal act, and can only be punished when that resolution can be proved.

4 Black. Com. 5.

CRIMINAL CONVERSATION. See Adultary, An action for criminal conversation, is the only finil case, where an actual marriage need be proved; for in every other case, general reputation, the acknowledgement of the parties themselves, and reception by their family and friends as man and wife, is prima facts, good and admissible evidence of a marriage, though no register whatever be produced. Espinasse's cases at N. P. 214, 354.

CROFT, a little close, inclosed near a dwelling-house, for any particular use.

CROISES, signify pilgrims, and also the knights of St. John of Jerusalem, because they wear the sign of the cross.

CROSSES, beads, &c. used by the Roman Catholics, are prehibited to be brought into this kingdom, on pain of præmunire, &c. CROWN-OFFICE. The court of king's beach, is divided into the plea side, and the crown side. In the plea side it takes cognizance of criminal causes, in the crown side, it takes cognizance of criminal causes, and is thereupon called the crown-office. In the crown-office are exhibited informations in the name of the king, of which there are two kinds; I. Those which are truly and properly the king's own suits, and filed ex-officio by his own immediate officer, the actorney-general. 2. Those in which, though the king is the nominal prosecutor, yet it is at the relation of some private person, or common informer: and these are filed by the king's coroner and autorney, usually called the master of the crown office.

CUI IN VITA, is a writ of entry, which a widow hath against him, to whom her hushand alienated her lands or tenements in his life time; which must contain in it, that during his life (cui in vita) she could not withstand it.

CULPRIT, is not (as is vulgarly imagined) an opprobrious name given to the prisoner before he is found guilty, but it is the reply of the clerk of arraigns to the prisoner, after he had pleaded not guilty: which plea was antiently entered upon the minutes in an abbreviated, form, non cul'; upon which the clerk of the arraigns, on behalf of the crown, replies that the prisoner is guilty, and that he is ready to prove him so; which is done by a like kind of abbreviation, cul'prit, signifying that the king is ready to prove him guilty (from cul that is culpabilis, guilty; and prit, præsto sum, I am ready to verify it). A Black. 339.

CURATE is he who represents the incumbent of a church, parson, or vicar, and officiates divine service in his stend; and in case of pluralities of livings, or where a clergyman is old and infirm, it is requisite there should be a carete to perform the cure of the church. He is to be licensed and admitted by the bishop of the diocese, or by an ordinary, having episcopal jurisdiction; and when a carete hath the approbation of the bishop, he usually appoints the salary too; and in such case, if he be not paid, the curate hath a proper remedy in the ecclesiastical court, by a sequestration of the profits of the benefice; but if he have no license from the bishop, he is put to his remedy at common law, where he must prove the agreement.

CURFEU. (Fr. Couvre-Feu) was an institution of William the Conqueror, who required, by ringing a bell at eight o'clock every evening, that all companies should immediately disperse and fire and candle be extinguished.

CURIA, it was usual for the king of England to assemble the bishops, peers, and other great men of the kingdom to some particular place, at the chief festivals in the year, and this was called curing because they comulted about the weighty affairs of the nations.

CURIA ADVISARE VULF, a deliberation which the courts sometimes takes, before they give judgment in a cause. And whose judgment is stayed, upon motion to arrest it; then it is entered by the judges, carla advisare unit.

CURTA DOMINI, the lord's court, where air the tensuity if row quireff, were bound to attend every three weeks.

CUEIA MILITUM, a court so called, asttently beld at Cortificate castle, in the Isle of Wight.

CURRIERS. No currier shalf use the trade of a butcher, tanner, &c. or shiff curry skins insufficiently thunkel; or gust any bide of leather, on pain of forfeiting for every hide or skin, &c. Si. Planycurrier, do not curry leather sent to him, withitsixteen days between Michaelmas and Lady-day, and in eight days at other times, he shall out conviction thereof forfeit of. Geo. 2. c. 25. Every currier or dresser of hides in off, shall annually take out a license from the commissioners of officers of excise.

CURSING and Swearing. See Sweaking.

CURSITOR, an officer or elerk belonging to the clicheery, who makes out original write; of these there are twenty-four himbled, and to each adulted several counties.

CURTEYNE. The name of King Edward the Confessor's sword, which is the first sword carried before the kings of England at the coronactor.

CURTIEACE, a yard, backside, or piece of ground, lying neur of dwitting thouse.

CUSTODE ADMITTENDO ET CUSTODE AMOVENDO; se write for the admissing or removing of guardians.

CUSTOBES LIBERTATES ANGLIA, AUTHORITATES PARLIAMENTS, was the stile wherein write and other judicial proceedings can during the sines of trouble from the murder of king Charles the Piret, till the asseptation of Cromwell, declared trafterous: by 12 C. S. c. S.

EUSPOM, is a law or right, nos written, which being established; by long use, and the consent of our ancestors, hath been, and is daily practised. If it is to be proved by record, the continuance of an handred years will serve. Custom is either general or particular. General when allowed through all England.

Particular is that, which belongs to this or that county, as gavel-

· Otheral customs which are used throughout England, and are the common law, are to be determined by the judges: but particular cus-

tens, such as are used in some certain towns, boroughs, cities, &c. shall be determined by a jury. I Inst. 110. But the judges of the courts of king's-bench, and common pieas, can overrule a custom, though it be one of the customs of London, if it be against natural reason. 1 Mad. 212.

custom Of LONDON. The antient city of London, being the netropolis and chief town for trade and commerce within the kingion, it was necessary, that it should have certain customs and privileges for its better government, which though derogatory from the general law of the realm, yet being for the benefit of the citizens, and for the advantage of those who trade to, and from the city, have not only been allowed good, by the judgments in the superior courts, but have also been confirmed by several acts of parliament.

The customs of London, differ from all others in point of trial, for if any of the customs be pleaded, and denied, and issue be taken thereupon, the existence of such customs shall be tried by a writ directed to the mayor and aldermen, to certify whether there is such a custom or not, and they shall make their certificate by the mouth of the recorder.

These customs of London, relate to divers particulars with regard to trade, apprentices, widows, orphans, and a variety of other matters; the custom relative to the distribution of a freeman's estate, extends only to cases of intestacy, or express agreements made in consideration of marriage. For an account of the customs of London, see Laws and Customs, &c. of London.

CUSTOMS OF MERCHANTS. See Bills of Exchange, Bankrupls, Insurance, &c.

CUSTOMS, are used for the tribute or toll that merchants pay to the king, for carrying out and bringing in merchandize.

Tonnage is a duty on wine imported, at so much a tun. Poundage a duty ad ralorem, on all other merchandize at so much a pound.

1. Black. 314.

The customs of this country are under various regulations imposed by parliament, which are too numerous and too fluctuating to admit of being here specified.

CUSTOMARY TENANTS, such tenants as hold by the custom of the manor, as special evidence.

CUSTOM HOUSE, a bouse in several cities and port towns, as London, &c., where the king's customs are received, and all business relative thereunto transacted.

CUSTOS BREVIUM, a principal clerk belonging to the court of common pleas, whose office is to receive and keep all the writs returnable in that court, and put them on files, every return by itself; and at the end of every term, to receive of the prothonolaries, aftithe records of nisi prius, called the posten. The custos brevium, also makes entry of the writs of covenant, and the convord upon every fine, and makes further exemplifications and copies of all withs and records in his office, and of all fines levied. The fines after they are ingrossed, are to be divided between the custos brevium and thinographer, whereof the chirographer keeps always the writ of covenant, and the note; the custos brevium keeps the contord and foot of the fine. This office is in the king's gift. There is also a custos brevium et rotulorum in the king's bench, who files such writs as are there used to be filed, and all warrants of attorney, and transcribes, or makes out the retords of nisi prius, &c.

CUSTOS PLACITORUM CORONÆ, this is the same as the custos rotulorum.

CUSTOS ROTULORUM. This officer has the custody of the folls, or records of the session of the peace. He is always a justice of the peace, and quorum in the county where he has his office.

CUSTOS OF THE SPIRITUALITIES. He who exercises spiritual or ecclesiastical jurisdiction of any diocese, during the vacancy of the see.

CUSTOS TEMPORALIUM, the person to whose custody a vatant see was committed by the king, as supreme lord; who as steward gave an account of the goods and profits to the escheutor; and he into the exchequer.

CUTTER OF THE TALLIES, an officer in the exchequer, who provides wood for the tallies, and cuts the sum paid upon them, and takes them into the court to be written upon.

CUTTING AND STABBING: --- By the 37 Hen. 8. c. 6, to cut of the ear or ears of another, otherwise than by authority of law, or mischance, incurs a forfeiture of civil damages, &c. By 22 and 23 Car. 2. c. 1. called the Coventry Act, if any person shall on purpose and of malice aforethought, and by lying in wait, unlawfully cut out or disable the tongue, put out an eye, slit the nose, cut off a nose or lip, or cut off or disable any limb or member of any other person, with intent to maim or disfigure him, such person, his counsellors, aiders, and abettors, shall be guilty of felony without besefit of clergy. And by the 43 Geo. 3. c. 58, if any person shall wilfully and maliciously stab or cut any of his majesty's subjects with intent to murder, rob, maim, disfigure, or disable him, or to do him some grievous bodily harm, or with intent to resist or prevent the apprehension and detainer of the person so stabbing or cutting, or of any of his accomplices for offences for which they might be lawfully apprehended and detained, he, his counsellors, aiders, and abettors shall be guilty of felway without benefit of elegy: provided that if artifects of stabbing or cutting were committed under circumstances, that if denth cancel, the same would not in law amount to the origin of nurser, then the person so indicted shall be acquitted.

The striking with the sharp or clam part of a hanner has been believe been exetting within the statute.

D

AIRIES. By 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. dniries or places kept solely for drying, keeping, and making cheese and butter, are exempted from the duties on windows.

DAMAGE-FEASANT or FAISANT, is where the beasts of another come upon a man's land, and do there feed, tread, or spoil, his corn or grass there growing; in which case, the owner of the ground may distrain and impound them, till satisfaction be made. Wood. b. 4. c. 4.

DAMAGE, generally signifies any hurt, or hindrance that a man receives in his estate; but in the plural in common law, are the recompence that is given to a man, by a jury, as a satisfaction for some injury sustained; as for a battery, imprisonment, slander, or trespass. 2 Black. 438.

In actions upon the case, the jury may find less damages than the plaintiff lays in his declaration, though they cannot find more; but costs may be increased beyond the sum mentioned in the declaration for damages; for costs are given in respect of the plaintiff's suit to recover his damages, which may be sometimes greater than the damage. 10 Co. 115.

A jury may, and now frequently do, give interest on book-debts, in the name of damages.

For a more general account of damages, see 7 Vin. Abr. and & Bac. Abr. title, Damage.

DAMAGE CLEER, was formerly a fee or gratuity (generally a tenth part of the damages recovered) paid to the prothonotaries or clerks of the king's-bench, common-pleas, and exchequer. But this is abolished by 17 C. 2. c. 6. s. 2. And if any officer shall take any money in the name of damage cleer, or in lieu thereof; or shall delay to sign any judgment until damage cleer be paid, he shall forfeit treble the sum so taken, or demanded, to the party grieved.

DANE-GELT or DANE-GELD, a tribute imposed upon our antestors of is, for every hide of land, through the realm, for clearing the sens of Danish pirates, which heretofore greatly annoyed our coasts. This Dane-gett, was released by St. Edward the Confessor, but levied again by William the First and Second, released by Henry the First, and finally by king Stophen.

DANGERIA, a payment in money, made by the forest tenants to the lord, that they might have leave to plough and sent in line of pannage, or mast-feeding.

DATE OF A DEED, is a description of the time, viz. the day, month, year of our lord, year of the reign, &c. in which the deed was made, either expressly, or by reference to some day or year mentioned in the deed before. ? Black. 304.

A deed may be dated at one time, and sealed and delivered at another; but every deed shall be intended to be delivered on the very same day it hears date, unless the contrary be proved. 2 Inst. 670. Though there can be no delivery of a deed, before the day of the date, yet after there may. Yelv. 138.

DAY, is either natural or artificial, the natural day consists of twenty-four hours, and contains the day solar and the night. The artificial or solar day begins at sun-rise and ends at sun-set.

In order to avoid disputes, the law generally rejects all fractions of a day: therefore if I am bound to pay monies on a certain day, I discharge the obligation if I pay it before 12 o'clock at night after which the following day commences. 2 Black. 141.

Days in bank, are days of appearance in the court of common-

To be dismissed without day, is to be finally dismissed the court.

. Days of grace. See Bills of Exchange.

DAY-LIGHT, before sun-rising, and after sun-setting, and an long as the day continues, whereby a man's countenance may be discerned; is accounted part of the common law, as to robberies, committed in the day-time, when the hundred is liable.

DAY WRIT. The king may grant a writ of warrantia diei, to any person, which shall save his default for one day, be it in plea of land, or other action, and be the cause true or not; and this by his prerogative.

DEACON, the lowest order in the Church of England.—By the common law, a deacon of any age might be instituted to a parsonage or vicarage: but by the statute 13 Eliz. c. 12. no person under 23 years of age, and in deacon's orders, shall be presented to any benefice with cure. And now by 44 Geo. 3. c. 43. it is enacted, that no person shall be admitted a deacon in England or Ireland before he shall have attained the age of twenty-three years complete, nor be admitted a priest before the complete age of twenty-four. But this statute data not deprive the aschbishop of Canterbury or this archbishop of Armagh of granting faculties to be admitted deacons at earlier ages. While a-man is only a-deacon he can quit his parfers only other, but not so after he is ordained priest. No one one administer the engrament but a priest; nor one a deacon preach whose he be first licensed by the bishop. If any man obtains one demons a become to preach by manny or corrupt practices, the bishop on conferring such orders feefeits 48t, and the person-receiving them this and is incorpable of any occlesiastical preferment for seven years-afters.

DEADLY FEUD, a profession of an invessed leable emaky tith metage to obtained, even by the death of that enemy, and allowed by our matters Samue laws till posturing satisfaction were made to the kinders.

DHAF, DUMB; AND BLIND, a man born deaf, flamb, and blind, is considered by the law as an idlet; he being supposed incapable of understanding, as not having these senses which furnish the mind with ideas. It Black, 30%

DEAFFORESTED, discharged from being forest, or exempted from the forest laws.

DBAN, an ecclebiantical magistrate, or digatary, who is nout under the bishop, and chief of the chapter, ordinarily in a cathodral church.

There are four sorts of deans mak denseries. The first is a dean who high a chapter combiting of prebenturies or canons, subordinate the bishop, as a council assistant to him in matters spiritual, relating to religion, and in-matters temporal, relating to the tempora milities of his bishoptic: The second is a dean who hath no chapter, and yet he is presentative and but hours of souls, he but his posuline; and a court wherein he holds exclusivation jurisdiction; but he is not subject to the visitation of the bishop or ordinary; such is the down of Buttle in Sussear: The third dean is also ecclesiastical, but the dennery it not presentative; but densitive, nor buth any cure of souls, but he is only by sevenasties condition; and he hath. also as court and pecultur, in which he holds ples and justifiction of all. such matters and things as are ecclesiastical, and which arise within his peculiar, which oftensimes extends over many partches; such a deux countituted by commission from the metropolitan of the province, is the dean of the Avolve, and the dean of Bucking in Ruchu The fourth sort of dean, is new wire is usually called the susual deans. listing no absolute judicial power in himself, but is so order the con derivations affilire within his demony and precises, by the disection of the hishop or of the archdeacon; and is a substitute of the bishop in many cases. 1 Biack. Com. 388.

i . .

DEATH OF PERSONS.—There is a natural death of a man, and a civil death; natural where nature itself expires and extinguishes; and civil, where a man is not actually dead but is indjudged so by law. If any person, for whose life any estate hath been granted, remain beyond sea, or is otherwise absent seven years, and no proof, made of his being alive; such person shall be accounted naturally, dead; though if the patty be afterwards proved living at the time of eviction of any person, then the tenant, &c. may re-enter and recover the profits. Stat. 19. C. 2. c. 6.

And persons in reversion or remainder, after the death of another, upon affidavit that they have cause to believe such other dead, may move the lord chancellor to order the person to be produced; and if he be not produced, he shall be taken as dead; and those claiming may enter, &c. 6 Anne, c. 18.

DEATH'S PART, or deadman's part, is that portion of his personal estate, which remained after his wife and children had received thereout their respective reasonable pages; which was, if he had both a wife and a child, or children, one third part; if a wifer and no child, or a child or children, and no wife, one half; if neither wife nor child, he had the whole to dispose of by his last with and testament; and if he made no will, the same was to go to his, administrators. And within the city of London, and throughout the prevince of York, at this day in case of intestacy, the wife and children are entitled to their said reasonable part, and the residue only, is disputable by the Statute of Distribution.

DE BENE ESSE, in law signification, is to accept or allow at thing as well done for the present, thus judges frequently take bail, and declarations are frequently delivered de sens esse, or conditionally, until special or common bail he filed. 3 Cro. 68.

DEBENTURE, is a certificate delivered at the custom-house, when the exporter of any goods or merchandize has complied with the regulations prescribed by certain acts of parliament, in consequence of which, be is entitled to a baunty or drawback on the exportation.

- . Stealing debentures was made felony, by 2,Geo. 8., c.,25. s. 8. .
- of write and actions. And an action shall always be in the debet st. detinet, when he who makes a bargain or contract, or lends money to another, or he to whom a bond is made, brings the action against him who is bounder, or party to the contract or bargain, or unta-the lending of money, &c. New Nat. Br. 119.

DEBET BT SOLBT, if a manche to recover any right by writ, whereof his ancestor was disseised by the towart or his ancestor, then he uses only the word debet in his writ; because solet is improper, as his ancestor was disseised, and the custom discontinued; but if he sue for any thing that is now first of all denied, then he uses both these words debet of solet; because his ancestor before him, and he himself usually enjoyed the thing sued for. Reg. Orig. 140.

DERT, a see due from one person to another, in consequence of work done, goods delivered, or money or other value, for which reimburgement has not been made.

The non-payment in these cases, is an injury, for which the proper semedy is by action of debt, to compet the performance of the contract, and recover the special sum due. 4 Co. 90.

Actions of debt are now seldom brought but upon special contracts under seal; wherein the sum due, is clearly and precisely expressed; for in case of such an action upon simple contracts, the plainstiff labours under two difficulties; first; the defendant has here the same advantages as in an action of detinue, that of waging his law, namely, purging himself of the debt by outh, if he think proper; secondly, in an action of debt, the plaintiff must recover the whole debt he claims, or nothing at all. For the debt is one single cause of action, fixed, and determined; but in an action upon the case, or what is called an indahilatus, usuampail, which is not brought to compel a specific performance of the contract, but to recover dnuages for its non-performance; these damages are in their nature indeterminate, and will therefore adapt and proportion themselves to the truth of the case, which shall be proved; without being confined to the precise demand stated in this declaration. S Black. 154.

DEBTOR. The gaoler shall not put, keep, or lodge prisoners for debt, and felons, together in one room; or chamber, on pain of forfeiting his office, and treble damages to the party grieved. 22 & 23. C. 2. c. 20.

But every gaoles ought to keep such prisoner in safe and close custody; safe, that he cannot escape; and close, without conference with others, or intelligence of things abroad. Dall. c. 170.

DECENNARY, was originally a district of ten men with their families, the inhabitants whereof living together, were sureties or piedges for each others good behaviours. See Constable.

DECEPTIONE, a writ that lies properly against him who deceitfully does any thing in the name of another, for one that receives damage or hurt thereby. DEGLES TANTUMen writtbatiles against a juvor, who but but ken manny for giving his vertice, called so of the effect, because it is to socover ten times as much as he took. Stat. 98 Edw & so. 19 and 13.

Decise sentumilies against sheriffs taking a voward-for arraying a against. H. H. C. Ic. M. Sec. Hin. Mér. 848, 18:388.

DECINERS, BEGENNIERS, or DOSINERS, such as were autiently, appointed to have the oversight and check of the filterests for the maintenance of the king's peace.

DBCAABADION; is a shewing towviting the greetent templaint to the demandant; or plaintiff, against the defendant verteaunt wherein he is supposed to have done some wrong. Iskut this august to be reliain and sentiain, both sheame it impositive the defendant, and also compels him to samewer thereto. Buck a destabilition to an action real, is termed a sount, and it is computed, that the count of electrotistic orghitic constant, demonstration, declarationy and banclusion; and in the constation the plaintiff ought to wrier, and offer to prove his suit, and shew the damages be has austained by the wrong done him. Declaration must be cartain, containing; it such conflictent estainty whereby the court may give a parametery and final final finingment upon the matter in controversy. 2. The defendant may make a tile-rect answer to the matter contained therein. 31 That the jury, writer issued spined, may give a complete vesical thereupon. 4. No blank or space, to be left therein. Brown o dans t. S.

By the general rates of how, a plaintiff must declare against a defendant, within twelve months after the return of the writ: but by the rates of court, if he do not deliver his declaration within two terms, the defendant may sign judgment of non-pros. though unless he take such advantage of the plaintiff's acglect, the plaintiff may still deliver a declaration within the year. 2 Term. Dep. 112; 3 Term. Rep. 123.

DEGREE, is a continue pronounced by the lotd chanceller in the court of chancery, and it is equally binding upon the parties, us a judgment in a court of law.

By the laws of Hingland, in decree (notificianding payreometry to thereof) shall not bind the goods, or movembles, that ealy the person. Chan. Rep. 193.

If a decree be obtained and invalled, so that the cause cannot be rebeard, then there is no remedy but by bill of newisw, which must be on error appearing on the face of the decree, or on matters subsequent thereto, as a release or a receipt discovered since. S P. Wms. Rep. 371.

DECRETALS, a volume of the canon laws, containing the decrees of sundry popes. See Canon Law.

DEDI, a warrant in law, to the feedlee and his beint; as if it be mid in a feedlment, A. B. hath given and granted, &c.

DEED, is a written contract scaled and delivered. It must be written before the scaling and delivery, otherwise it is no deed; Co. Lit. 171. and after it is once formally executed by the parties, nothing can be added or interlined; and therefore, if a deed be scaled and delivered with a blank left for the sum, which the obligee fills up after scaling and delivery, this will make the deed void.

A deed must be made by parties capable of contracting, and apon a good consideration; and the subject matter must be legally and formally set out. Co. Lit. 35.

The formal parts of a deed are:

The premises, containing the number, names, additions and titles of the parties.

The habendum, which determines the estate and interest intended to be granted by the deed.

The reddendum, or reservation, whereby the grantor reserves to bimself something out of the thing granted.

A condition, which is a clause of contingency, on the happening of which, the estate granted, may be defeated.

The warranty, whereby the grantor for himself, and heirs, warrants or secures to the grantee, the estate so granted.

The covenants, which are clauses of agreement contained in the deed, whereby the contracting parties stipulate for the truth of certain facts, or bind themselves to the performance of some specific acts.

The conclusion, which mentions the execution and date of the deed, or the time of its being given or executed, either expressly or with reference to some day and year before mentioned.

A deed may be either an indenture, or a deed-poll. The former derives its name, from being indented or cut in an uneven manner, so as to tally with the counterparts, of which there ought to be as many as there are parties; when the several parts of an indenture are interchangeably executed by the several parties, the part or copy, executed by the grantor, is usually called the original and the rest are counterparts.—But of late years the practice is, for all parties to execute every part, which renders them all originals. A DEED-POLL, of which there is only one part, is so called from its being polled or shaven quite even. Litt. s. 371-2. A deed-poll is the sole deed of the party who makes it, and the words thereof are said to be his words, and shall bind him only. Ib. s. 370.

A deed is the most solemn act of law which a man can perform with respect to the disposition of his property, and therefore no person shall be permitted to aver or prove any thing against his own

All the parts of a deed indented, constitute in law but one entire deed; but every part has the same operative force as all the parts taken together, and they are deemed the mutual or reciprocal acts of either of the parties, who may be bound by either part of the same, and the words of the indenture may be considered as the words of either party. Litt. 4. 370.

If the name of baptism or surname of a party to a deed be mistaken, as John for Thomas, &c. this has been held to be dangerous. 2 Bulst. 70. Perk. s. 39.

But any mistake, as spelling, &c. not deviating from the substance of the deed, will not render it void. Perk. s. 46.

If a man get another name in common esteem than his right unme, any deed made to him under such name, will be valid. Co. Lit. 3.

Every deed must be founded upon good and sufficient consideration; not upon an asserious contract, nor upon fraud or collusion, either to deceive bona fide purchasers, or just and lawful creditors; any of which considerations will vacate the deed, and subject the parties to forfeiture, and in some cases to imprisonment. Perk. s. 533. 13 Eliz. c. 5. 27 Eliz. c. 4.

A deed also without any-consideration is void, and is construed to enure only to the benefit of the party making it.

Considerations may be express, or implied. An express consideration, is where a man contracts to do a certain act for a certain sum of money, or other equivalent act; and an implied consideration, is, when it may be enforced by law; thus if a person do any work, or receive any goods from another, the law implies a consideration, which it will enforce, although there was no specific agreement for remuneration.

A deed must be written upon the proper stamps prescribed by the legislature, otherwise it cannot be given in evidence. See Stamps.

The written matter of a deed, must be set forth in a legal and orderly manner, so as that there are words sufficient to explain the meaning of the parties, and at the same time to bind them to the execution of their contract; and of this sufficiency the courts of law are to determine. Although it is not indeed absolutely necessary in law, to have all the formal words which are usually drawn out in deeds, provided there be sufficient words legally and clearly to explain the meaning of the parties, yet as these formal or orderly parts, are calculated to convey the meaning of the parties in the most clear, distinct, and effectual manner, and have been well considered and sanctioned by the wisdom of successive ages, it is prudent not to depart from these without good reason, and the most urgent necessity. Co. Litt. 225. 1 Inst. 6.

DE

The force and effect which the law of England gives to a deed under sen!, cannot exist, unless such deed be executed by the party himself, or by another for him, in his presence, or with his direction, or in his absence, by an agent authorised so to do, by another deed also under seal; and in every such case, the deed must be made and executed in the name of the principal.

A deed takes effect only from the day of delivery, and therefore if it have no date, or a date impossible, the delivery will in all cases ascertain the date of it; and if another party seal the deed, yet if the party deliver it himself, he thereby adopts the sealing and signing, and by such delivery makes them both his own. Co. Litt. 46.

The delivery of a deed may be alledged at any time after the date, but, unless it be scaled, and regularly delivered, it is no deed. Perk. 130.

Another requisite of a deed is, that it be properly witnessed or attested; the attestation, is however, necessary, rather for preserving the evidence, than as intrinsically essential to the validity of the instrument.

There are four principles adopted by the courts of law for the exposition of deeds; viz.

That they be beneficial to the grantee or person in whose favour they are intended to operate.

That where the words may be employed, to some interest, they shall not be void.

That the words be construed according to the meaning of the parties, and not otherwise; and the intent of the parties shall be carried into effect, provided such intent can possibly stand at law.

That they are to be consonant to the rules of law, and deeds shall be expounded reasonably without injury to the grantor, and to the greatest advantage of the grantee. Deeds are further expounded upon the whole; and if the second part contradict the first, such second part shall be void; but if the latter expound or explain the former, which it may, both parts may stand.

In construction of law, the first deed of a person, and the last will, stand in force; and where a deed is by indenture between parties, none can have an action upon such deed, but the person who is a party to it. In a deed-poll however, one person may covenant with another who is not a party, to do certain acts; for the non-performance of which he may bring his action. 1 Inst. 45. 2 Lev. 74.

Where a man justifies his title under any deed, he ought to produce that deed; if it be alledged in pleading, it must be produced to the court, that it may determine whether the deed contain sufficient words to make a valid contract. 10 Rep. 88.

In modern practice, however, the deed is not actually brought into court, but generally remains in the hands of the party's attorney, who gives over and a copy of it, if demanded, to the attorney of the other party.

The stealing of deeds is, by various acts of parliament, made felony.

DEED-POLL, is a deed polled, or shaven, quite even, in contradistinction from an indenture, which is cut unevenly, and answerable to another writing that comprehends the same words. A deed poll is properly single, and but of one part, and is intended for the use of the feoffee, grantee, or lessee; an indenture always consists of two or more parts and parties. Every deed that is pleaded, shall be intended to be a deed-poll, unless it be alledged to be indented. See Deed, p. 193, and Stamp.

DEEMSTERS, or DEMPSTERS, all controversies in the Isle of Man, are decided without process, writings, or any charges, by certain judges called Deemsters whom they choose from amongst themselves.

DEER. Various acts of parliament have at different times been passed for the preservation of deer and other game, of which the following is the substance:

By 28 Geo. 2. c. 19. if any person shall unlawfully set fire to, barn, or destroy, or assist in so doing, any furze, gorse, or fern in forests or chases kept for the preservation of deer, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding 51. nor less than 40s. or on default of payment be committed to the county gool for a time not greater than three months nor less than one.

By the 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. (called the Black Act) if any person being armed and disguised, shall appear in any forest, chase, park, paddock, or inclosed grounds, where deer are or have been usually kept, or shall unlawfully hunt, kill, or steal, any red or fallow deer; or if any persons, whether armed or disguised, or not, shall uslawfully and wilfully hunt, wound, kill, destroy, or steal any red or fallow deer, fed or kept in any places, in any of the king's forests, or chases, which are inclosed with rails or pales; or in any park, paddock, or ground inclosed, where deer have been usually kept; or shall forcibly rescue any offender, or procuse another to join in any of the said offences; he shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy.

. By the 16 Geo. 3. c. 30. and 42 Geo. 3. c. 107. seven years transportation is inflicted on persons, who shall course, hunt, or take in may smare, or kill, wound, or destroy; or attempt so to do, or carry away any red or fallow deer in any forest, chace, parlies, or antient walk, whether inclosed or not, or knowingly assist in such offence, without the consent of the owner of such deer, or without being duly anthorised. And if any person wilfully pull down or destroy, or cause to pulled down or destroyed, the paling or wall of any forest or ground where there are any red or fallow deer, or be discovered with the unlawful possession of any red or fallow deer, such offender incurs several pecuniary penalties, which the nature of this work will not admit to be specified. And as a further preventative against the destruction of deer, the ranger or keeper of other places where deer are kept, is empowered to take from persons trespassing thereupon, all guns, fire-arms, slips, nooses, toils, snares, engines, and dogs, in like manner as game-keepers are empowered by 29 and 23 Car. 2. c. 25. s. 2. to take dogs, nets, and other engines, from persoms not duly qualified to carry or use the same, and also to detain and carry before a justice the person having the same; and if any person shall burt or wound the ranger or keeper, or his assistants, in the exercise of such authority, or attempt to rescue any offender in his custody, he shall be guilty of felony, and transported for seven years. See FOREST, GAME, infra.

DE EXPENSIS MILITUM, an antient writ commanding the sheriff to levy so much a day for the expenses of a knight of the shire, and a like writ to levy two shillings a day for every citizen and burgess, called de expensis civium et burgensium. 4 Inst. 46.

DEFACTO. A thing really and actually done.

DEFAMATION, the offence of speaking slanderous words of another; and where any person circulates any report injurious to the credit or character of another, the party injured may bring an action to recover damages proportioned to the injury he has sustained; but it is incumbent upon the party, to prove that he has sustained an injury, to entitle him to damages. In some cases, however, as for words spoken which by law are in themselves actionable, as calling a tradesman a bankrupt, cheat, or swindler, &c. there is no occasion to prove any particular damage, but the plaintiff must be particularly attentive to state words precisely as they were spoken, otherwise he will be nonsuited.

DEFAULT, is commonly taken for non-appearance in court at a day assigned. Co. Litt. 259. If a plaintiff make default in appearance in a trial at law, he will be non-suited; and where a defendant makes a default, judgment shall be had against him by default.

DEFAULT IN CRIMINAL CASES. If an offender, being indicted, appear at the capias, and plead to issue, and is let to bail.

to attend his trial, and then make default; here the inquest, in case of felony, shall never be taken by default, but a capias ad audientum juratum shall issue, and if the party be not taken, an exigent; and if he appeared on that writ, and then make default, an exigifacias de novo may be granted: but where, upon the capias on exfgent, the sheriff returns cepi corpus, and at the day hath not his body, the sheriff shall be punished, but no new exigent awarded because in custody of record. 2 H. H. 202.

DEFAULT OF JURORS. If jurors make default in their appearance for trying of causes, they shall forfeit their tssues, unless they have any reasonable excuse proved by witnesses, in which case the justices may discharge the issues for default. Stat. 35 H. S. c. 6.

DEFEASANCE, a condition relating to a deed, as to a recognizance or statute, which being performed by the recognizar, the deed is defeated, and made void, as if it had never been done. The difference between a proviso, or a condition in a deed, and a defeatemence, is, that the condition is annexed to, or inserted in the deed or grant; and a defeasance is a deed by itself, concluded and agreed on between the parties, and having relation to another deed.

DEFENCE, in its legal signification, is merely an opposing or denial of the truth or validity of the declaration; or a general assertion that the plaintiff hath no ground of action; which assertion is afterwards catended and maintained in his plea.

DEFENDANT, is the party that is sued in an action personal; as tenant is he that is sued in an action real.

DEFENDEMUS, is a word used in a feofiment or donation, and bath this force, that it binds the donor and his heirs to defend the doner, if any man go about to lay any servitude upon the thing given, other than is contained in the donation.

DEFENDER OF THE FAITH, a peculiar title given to the king of England by pope Leo the tenth to king Henry the eighth, for writing against Martin Luther in behalf of the church of Rome, then accounted domicilium fidei catholice.

DEFORCEMENT, a withholding lands or tenements by force from the right owner.

DEFORCEANT or DEFORCEOR, one who overcomes and casts out by force, and differs from a disseisor, because a man may disseise another without force, but a man may deforce another that never was in possession; as, if many have a right to lands as common heirs, and one entering keep out the rest, the law saith, that he deforceth them, though he do not disseise them.

DEGRADATION; an ecclesiastical censure, whereby a clergyman is deprived of his holy orders which formerly he had, as of priest, or deacon. Sold. Tit. of Hon. 787.

DEI JUDICIUM, the ordeal, was so called, because it was thought an appeal to God for the justice of a cause. See Ordeal.

DEL CREDERE, commission of, is an undertaking by an insurance broker, for an additional premium, to issure his principal against the contingency of the failure of the underwriter. I Torse Rep. 112.

DELEGATES, court of, is so called, because by stat. 26 H. S. c. 19. the judges thereof are delegated by the king's commission under the great seal, to hear and determine appeals in the three following cases: 1. Where a sentence is given in any ecclesiastical cause by the archbishop or his official. S. When any sentence is given in any ecclesiastical cause in the places exempt. S. When a sentence is given in the admiral's court in suits civil and marine, by order of the civil law. This commission is usually filled with lords spiritual and temporal, judges of the courts at Westminster, and doctors of the civil law. 4 Inst. 339.

DELIVERANCE, a criminal brought to trial, to which pleading not guilty, he puts himself on God and his country; the clerk of the crown wishes him a good deliverance.

DELIVERY OF DEEDS. See DEED, page 195.

DELIVERY OF GOODS. See SALE OF GOODS.

DEMAIN or DEMESNE, signify the king's lands appertaining to him in property. No common person but any demains simply understood, for we have no land (that of the crown only excepted) which is not holden of a superior, for all depends either mediately, or immediately of the crown: thus, when a man in plending would signify his land to be his own, he says that he is or was seized thereof in his demain as of fee; whereby he means, that although his land be to him and his heire for ever, yet it is not true demain, but depending upon a superior lord, and holding by service, or sent in lieu of service, or by both service and rent. Bistur.

DEMAND, calling upon a man for any sum drawns of money, or any other thing due. By the several statutes of limitation, debts, claims, &c. are to be demanded and made in time, or they will be lost by law.

There are two manners of demands; the one in deed, the other in law; in deed, as in every precipe there is an express demand; in law, as in every entry in land, distress for rest, taking or satisfing of goods, and such like acts, which may be done without any words, are demands in law.

Where there is a duty which the law makes payable on demand, no demand need be made; but if there be no duty till demand, in such case there must be a demand to make the duty. 1 Lit. 432. Upon a penalty the party need not make a demand; as if a man be bound to pay 20% on such a day, and in default thereof to pay 40% the 40% must be paid without demand. 1 Med. 89.

If a person release to another all demands, this is the best release the releasee can have, as he is thereby excluded from all actions, duties, and seizures. But a release of all demands is no bar to a writ of error, to reverse an outlawry. 8 Co. 153, 154.

DEMANDANT, the plaintiff in a real action, so called because he demandsth lands, &c.

DEMISE, is applied to an estate in fee simple, fee tail, or for term of life, and so it is commonly taken in many writs. 2 Inst. 483.

The king's death is in law termed the demise of the king to his successor of his crown and dignity, &c..

DEMURRAGE, is an allowance made to the master of a ship by the merchants, for being detained in port longer than the time appointed and agreed for his departure. The rate of this allowance, is generally settled in the charter party.

It is now firmly established that the claim of demurrage ceases as soon as the ship is cleared out, and ready for sailing. Jameson v. Lawrie. House of Lords, Nov. 10, 1796.

DEMURRER, is a kind of pause or stop, put to the proceedings of an action upon a point of difficulty, which must be determined by the court, before any farther proceedings can be had therein.

He that demurs in law, conferment he facts to be true, as stated by the opposite party; but denies that by the law arising upon those facts, any injury is done to the plaintiff, or that the defendant has made out a lawful excuse. As if the matter of the plaintiff's declaration be insufficient in law, then the defendant demurs to the declaration; if, on the other hand, the defendant's excuse or plea be invalid, the plaintiff demurs in law to the plea; and so in every other part of the proceedings, where either side perceives any material objection in point of law, upon which he may rest his case. 3 Black. 314.

General demarrer being entered, it cannot be afterwards waved, without leave of the court; but a special demurrer generally may, unless the plaintiff have lost a term, or the assizes, by the defendant's demurring. Impey. i. K. B.

And upon either a general or special demurrer, the opposite party avers it to be sufficient, which is called a rejoinder in demurrer.

and then the parties are at issue in point of law: which issue in law, or demurrer, is argued by counsel on both sides; and if the points be difficult, then it is argued openly by the judges of the court, and if they, or the majority of them concur in opinion, accordingly judgment is given: but in case of great difficulty, they may adjourn into the exchequer chamber, where it shall be argued by all the judges. I Inst. 71.

DEMURRER TO EVIDENCE, is where a question of law arises thereon, and because juries, by direction of the court, usually find a doubtful matter specially, demurrers upon evidence are now scidom used. 5 Rop. 104.

DEMURRER TO INDICTMENTS, if a crimical join issue upon a point of law in an indictment or appeal, allowing the fact to be true as laid therein, this is a demurrer in law: by which he insists that the fact as stated, is no felony or treason, or whatever the crime is alledged to be. But demurrer to indictments are seldom used, since the same advantages may be taken upon a plea of not guilty; or afterwards in arrest of judgment, where the verdict has established the fact. A Black. 888.

DEMY SANGUE, of the balf blood, as when a man marries a woman, and bath issue by her a son or a daughter, and the wife dying, he takes another woman, and bath by her also a son or daughter; now these two sons or daughters, are but of the half blood, because they are not brothers or sisters by the mother's side, so having different mothers, and therefore cannot be heirs to one another; for he that shall claim as heir to one by descent, must be of the whole blood to him from whom he claims. Cowel.

DBN AND STROND, liberty for ships or vessels to run aground, or come ashore. This privilege was granted to the barons of the cinque ports by King Edw. I.

DENARIUS, an English penny. Stat. Edw. I. &c. do compositione mensuratum.

DENARIUS DET, God's penny, or exceet money given and received to enforce contracts.

DENBLAGE or DANELAGE, the law that the Danes made in England.

DENIZEN, a Denizen is an alien born, who has obtained letters patent whereby he is constituted an English subject. A Denizen is in a middle state, between an alien and a natural born or naturalized subject, partaking of the nature of both. He may take lands by purchase, or derive a tifle by descent through his parents or any ancestor, though they be aliens. By Stat. 25 G. II. c. 39, no natural born subject shall derive a title through an alien parent or ancestor, unless he be born at the time of the death of the ancestor, who dies seized of the estate which he claims by descent; with this exception, that if a descent shall be cast upon a daughter of an alien, it shall be divested in favor of an after-born son, and in case of an after-born daughter or daughter only, all the sisters shall be coparceners. The children born previous to the denization of their parent cannot inherit by descent, whilst those of a foreigner naturalized, are in every respect entitled to the same privileges as British subjects. See Alien.

DEODAND, is where any moveable thing inanimate, or beast animate, moves or causes the death of any reasonable creature, by mischance, without the will or fault of himself, or of any person.

3 Inst. 57.

Formerly wherever the thing which was the occasion of a man's death was in motion at the time, not only that part whereof which i numediately wounded him, but all things which moved together with it, and helped to make the wound more dangerous, were forfeited also. I Haw. 66. But juries have lately determined very differently. As these forfeitures seem to have been originally founded in the superstition of an age of ignorance, they are now discountenanced in Westminster hall. Fost. 266.

DEPARTURE from a plea or matter, is where a man pleads a plea in har of an action, which being replied to, doth in his rejoinder shew another matter contrary to his first plea, that is called a departure from his bar. It may also be applied to a plaintiff, who in his replication shews new matter from his declaration. Plowd. Com. 7, 8. Co. 2. par. Fo. 147.

DEPOSITION, is the testimony of a witness put down in writing in reply to interrogatories proposed to him, who is therefore called a deponent. Proof in the high court of chancery is by the depositions of witnesses; and the copies of such, regularly taken and published, are read as evidence at the hearing. For the purpose of examining witnesses in or near London, there is an examiner's office appointed; but for such as live in the country, a commission to examine witnesses is usually granted to four commissioners, two named on each side, or any three or two of them to take the depositions there. And if the witnesses reside beyond sea, a commission may be had to examine them there, upon their own oaths; and, if foreigners, upon the oaths of two skilful interpreters. The commissioners are sworn to take the examinations truly and without partiality, and not to divulge them till published in the court of chancery; and their clerks are also sworn to secrecy. The witnesses are compellable by process of subpana, as in the courts of common law, to appear and submit to examination. And when their depositions are taken, they are transmitted to the court with the same care, that the answer of a defendant is sent. 8 Black. 445.

DEPRIVATION, is an ecclesiastical censure, whereby a clergy-man is deprived of his parsonage, vicarage, or other spiritual promotion of dignity. Degg's Parson's Counsellor. C. 9.

Causes of deprivation: if a clerk obtain preferment in the charch by simoniacal contract, if he be an excommunicate, a drunkard fornicator, adulterer, infidel, or heretic; or guilty of murder, manslaughter, perjury, forgery, &c. if a clerk be illiterate, and not able to perform the duty of his church; if he be a scandalous person in life and conversation; or bastardy is objected against him; if he be under age, viz. the age of twenty-three years; be disohedier and incorrigible to his ordinary; or a nonconformist to the canone; if he refuse to use the common prayer; or preach in derogation of it; do not administer the sacrament, or read the articles of religion, &c. if any parson, vicar, &c. have one benefice with cure of souls, and take plurality, without a faculty or dispensation; or if he commit, waste in the houses and lands of the church, called dilapidations; all these have been held good cames for deprivations of priests. Deg. Par. Conn. 98, 99.

DERUTY, one who performs an office or duty in another's right: where an office is granted to a man and his heirs, he may make an assignce of that office, and consequently a deputy. 9 Rep. 47.

There is great difference between a deputy and an assignce of an office; for an assignee bath an interest in the office itself, and does all things in his own name; for which his grantor shall not answer unless in special cases; but a deputy bath not any interest in the office, but is only the shadow of an officer, in whose name be does all things. 9 Rep. 49.

A superior officer must answer for his deputy in civil actions, if he be not sufficient: but in criminal cases it is otherwise, where deputies are to answer for themselves. 2 Inst. 191.

DESCENT, or hereditary succession, is the title of which a man on the death of his ancestor, acquires his estate by right of representation, as his heir at law: and an estate so descending to the heir, is in law called the inheritance. 2 Black. 201.

Descent is of three kinds; by common law, by custom, or by statute. By common law, as where one bath land of inheritance in fection, and dieth without disposing thereof in his life time, and the land goes to the eldest son and heir of course, being cast upon him by the law.

Descent of fee-simple by custom, is sometimes to all the sons, or to all the brothers (where one brother dieth without issue), as in gavel-kind; sometimes to the youngest son, as in berough English; and sometimes to the eldest daughter, or the youngest, according to the customs of particular places. Descent by statute is of fee-tail, as directed by the statute of Westminster, 2. de donis.

Descent at common law is either lineal, or collateral: lineal consanguinity, is that which subsists between persons, of whom one is descended in direct line from the other, as between a man and his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather, and so upwards, in a direct ascending line; or between a man and his son, grandson, great-grandson, and so downwards in the direct descending line. Every generation, in this lineal direct consanguinity, constitutes a different degree, reckoned either upwards or downwards; the father is related in the first degree, and so likewise is the son, grandsire and grandson in the second; great-grandsire, and great-grandson in the third. This is the only natural way of reckoning the degrees in the direct line, and therefore universally obtains, as well in the civil and canon, as in the common law.

Collateral kindred answers to the same description: collateral relations agreeing with the lineal in this, that they descend from the same stock or ancestor; but different in this, that they do not descend one from the other. Collateral kinsmen are therefore such as lineally spring from one and the same ancestor, who is the stirps or root, stipes, trunk or common stock, from whence these relations are branched out. As if a man have two sons, who have each a different issue; both these issues are lineally descended from him as their common ancestor; and they are collateral kinsmen to each other, because they are all descended from this common ancestor, and all have a portion of his blood in their veins, which denominates them consanguineors.

Inheritances shall lineally descend to the issue of the person last actually seized, in infinitum, but shall never lineally ascend. 3 Black. 208.

The male issue shall be admitted before the female; and where there are two or more males in equal degree, the eldest only shall inherit (except where there are particular local castoms to the contrary); but the females shall inherit all together, except in case of succession to the crown, which is indivisible; and of succession to dignities and titles of honour; yet where a man holds an earldom to him and the heirs of his body, and dies, his eldest daughter shall not succeed of course to the title of counters, but the dignity is in suspence or abeyance, till the king shall declare which of the daughter shall have that title. 2 Black. 216.

The law of descents is of great importance in the successions to, real property: hence various canons or rules have been laid down. These are stated and amply illustrated in vol. ii. of Justice Blacks stone's Commentaries, to which the reader is referred.

DESCENT OF CROWN LANDS, all the lands whereof the king if seized in jure corones, shall attend upon and follow the crown; so that to whomsoever the crown descends, those lands and possessions descend also. Plond. 247.

DESCENT OF DIGNITIES, the dignity of peerage is personal, annexed to the blood, and so inseparable, that it cannot be transferred to any person, or surrendered even to the crown; it can move neither backward nor forward, but only downward to pesterity; and nothing but corruption of blood, as if the ancestor be attainted of treason or felony, can hinder the descent to the right heir. Lex. Const. 85.

DESCRIPTION. In deeds and grants there must be a certain description of the lands granted, the pieces where they lie, and the persons to whom granted, &c. to make them good. But wills are more favoured thangrants as to those descriptions; and a wrong description of the person, will not make a device void, if there be otherwise a sufficient certainty, what person was intended by the testator. I Note. Abr. 647.

Where a first description of land, &c. in false, though the second be true, a deed will be void: contra, if the first be true, and the second false. 3 Rep. 2, 3, 8 and 10.

DE SON TORT DEMESNE, words of form used in an action of trespass, by way of reply to the defendant's plea.

DETINUE is a writ which lies where any man comes to goods or chattels either by delivery, or by finding, and refuseth to re-deliver them; and it lies only for the detaining, when the detaining was lawful. 1 Inst. 286.

In this writ the plaintiff shall recover the thing detained; and therefore it must be so certain, as that it may be specifically known. Therefore it cannot be brought for maney, corn, or the like, for that, cannot be known from other money or corn, unless it be in a bag or sack, for then it may be distinguishably marked. Ibid.

But detinue may be brought for a piece of gold of the price of 21s. though not for 21s. in money, for here is a demand of a particular piece. Buller. N. P. 50.

In order therefore to ground an action of detime, which is only for the detaining, these points are necessary: 1. That the defendant came lawfully by the goods, as either by delivery to him, or finding them. 2. That the plaintiff have a property. 3. That the goods themselves be of value. And 4. That they be ascertained in point of identity. Upon this, the jury, if they find for the plaintiff, assess the respective values of the several parcels detained, and also damages for the detention, and the judgment is conditional, that the plaintiff recover the said goods, or (If they cannot be had) their respective values, and also the damages for detaining them. Buller. N. P. 59.

DETINUE OF CHARTERS, an action of detinue lies for charters which make the title of lands; and the heir may have detinus of charters, although he have not the land. But if they concern the freehold, the action must be in the common-pleas, and no other court. Now Nat. Bro. 308.

DETINUE OF GOODS IN FRANK MARRIAGE, is when a divorce has taken place betwint a man and his wife, after which, the wife shall have this writ of detians, for the goods given with her in marriage. Itid.

DEVASTAVIT or DEVASTAVERUNT BONA TESTATO-RIS, is a writ that lies against executors, for paying debts of simple contract, before debts on bonds, and specialities, or the like; for in this place the executors are liable to action, as if they had wasted the goods of the testator riotously, or converted them to their own use; and are compellable to pay such debts by speciality out of their own goods, to the value of what they paid so illegally. Cow.

By the 30 C. 2. c. 7. if an executor de son tort waste the goods, and die, his executors shall be liable in the same manner as their testator would have been, if he had been living. And it has been since adjudged, that a rightful executor, who wastes the goods of the testator, is in effect an executor de son tort, for abusing his trust. 3 Mod. H3: and his executor or administrator is made liable to a devastavit by 4 & 5 W.& M. c. 24.

DEVISE, is a disposition of lands, &c. by a last will and testament, to take effect after the death of the deviser. Co. Lit. 111. a.— See Executory Devise, Will.

DIAMOND, diamonds and precious stones may be imported duty free, saving the duty granted to the East-India company, on diamonds imported from any place within the limits of their charter. 6 Geo. 2. c. 7. s. 1, 2.

DICTUM DE KENELWORTH, an edict or award between king Henry 'S. and the barons, and others, who had been in arms against him, containing a composition for five years rent, for the lands and estates of those, who had forfeited them in that rebellion: so called, because it was made at Kenelworth Castle in Warwickshire.

DIEM CLAUSIT EXTREMUM, a writ issuing out of Chancery to the escheator of the county, upon the death of any of the king's tenants in capite, to inquire by a jury of what lands he died seised, and of what value, and who was next heir to him. F. N. B. 251.

DIEU ET MON DROIT, God and my right, the motto of the royal arms; intimating, that the king of England holds his empire of none but God. It was assumed by Richard the First.

DIEU SON ACT, are words often used in our law; and it is a maxim, that the act of God shall prejudice no man; and therefore if a house be beaten down by tempest or other act of God, the lessee for life, or years, shall not only be quiet in action of waste brought against him, but bath by law a special interest to take timber to build the house again, if he will, for the babitation. Co. lib. 4.63. When the condition of a bond or obligation, consists of two parts disjunctive, and both are possible at the time of the obligation made, and afterwards one of them becomes impossible by the act of God, the obligor is not bound to perform the other part, for the condition shall be taken beneficially for him. Co. lib. 5.22.

DIGNITY, signifies benour and authority, &c. and may be divided into superior and inferior: as the titles of duke, earl, viscount, baron, &c. are the highest names of dignity: and those of baronetic knight, esquire, &c. are the lowest order. Nobility only, can give so high a name of dignity, as to supply the want of a surname in legal proceedings: and as the omission of a name of dignity, may be pleaded in abatement of a writ, &c. so it may be where a peerly who has more than one name of dignity, is not named by the most mobile. 2 Haw. P. C. 185. 239. No temporal dignity of any foreign nation, can give a man a higher title than that of esquire, 2 Inst. 667. See Addition.

DIGNITY ECCLESIASTICAL, coclesiastical dignities, are those of archbishop, bishop, dean, archdeacon, and prebendary; and the possessor of these dignities are called dignitaries. Of dignities and prebends, Cambden reckom 544 in England.

DIKES, broken down secretly, to be repaired by the towns adjoining. St. West. 2. 19 Ed. 1. c. 46. 6 Geo. 1. c. 16. the mulicious destruction or damaging of dikes in particular places, is made felony without benefit of clergy, by various acts of parliament referring to those places.

DILAPIDATION, is where an incumbent of a church-living, suffers the parsonage-house or out-houses to fall down, or be ju decay for want of necessary reparation; or it is the pulling down or destroying any of the houses or buildings belonging to a spiritual living, or destroying of the woods, trees, &c. appertaining to the same; for it is said to extend to committing or suffering any wilful waste, in or upon the inheritance of the church. Deg. Pars. souns. 89.

By 13 Eliz. c. 10. If any ecclesiastical persons, who are bound to orpair the buildings, whereof they are seized in right of their place or function, suffer them to fall into decay for want of rep ir, and make fraudulent gifts of their personal estate, with intent to hinder their successors from recovering disapidations against their executors or administrators, in such case the successors that have like remedy in the ecclesiastical court, against the grantee of such personal estate, as he might have against the executor or administrator of the predecessor.

By 14 Eliz. c. 11: all monies recovered by dilapidations, shall within two years be employed upon the buildings for which they were paid, on pain of forfeiting doubte so much as shall not be so employed, to the queen.

DILATORY PLEAS, are such as are put in merely for delay, and are of three kinds. 1. To the jurisdiction of the court, alledging, that it ought not to hold plou of the matter in hand, as belonging to some other court. 2. To the disability of the plaintiff, by peason whereof he is unable to commence or continue the suit, as that he is outlawed, attainted, an infant, or the like. 3. In abatement, as for some defect in the writ, as a missiomer of the defendant, or other want of form in any material respect. These pleas were featherly used as merely dilatory, without any foundation of truth, and calculated only for delay; but now by Stat. 4 & 5 Anne, c. 16, no dilatory plea shall be admitted, without affidavit made of the truth thereof, or some probable matter shewn to the court to induce them to believe it true. 3 Black. 301. See Abatement.

DIMINUTION, is where the plaintiff or defendant in a writ of error, alledges on an appeal to a superior court, that part of the moord is omitted, and remains in the inferior court not certified; whereon he prays that it may be certified by certiorari. Co. Ent. 222. 248.

DIMISSORY LETTERS, are such as are used where a candidate for holy orders, bath a title in one diocese, and is to be ordained in another; the proper diocesan sends his letters dimissory, directed to some other ordaining bishop, giving leave that the bearer may be ordained, and have such a cure within his district. Comel.

DIOCESE, the circuit of every bishop's jurisdiction. For this realm hath two sorts of divisions; one into shires or counties, in respect of the temporal state; and another into provinces, in regard to the ecclesiastical state; which provinces are divided into dioceses. The provinces are two; Canterbury, and York, whereof Canterbury includes twenty-one dioceses, or sees of suffragan bishops; and York three, besides the bishoptic of the Isle of Man, which was annexed to the province of York by king Henry the Eighth. I Inst 94.

DISABILITY, an incapacity in a man to inherit or take a besent which otherwise be might have done, which may happen four ways; by the act of the ancestor, by the act of the party, by the act of law, and by the act of God. 1. Disability by the act of the ancestor; as if a man be attainted of treason or felony; by the attainder bis blood is corrupt, and himself and his children disabled. to inherit. 2. Disability by the act of the party himself; as if one make a feetiment to another who then is sole, upon condition, that he shall enfeoff a third before marriage, and before the feoffment made, the feoffee takes a wife; he hath by that disabled himself id perform the condition according to the trust reposed in him, and therefore the feoffer may enter, and oust him. Lit. 357. 3. Dirabilly by act of law, is when a man by the sole act of the law is disabled, as an alien born, &c. 4. Disability by the act of God, is where a person is of non-sane memory, and in cases of idiocy, &c. But it is a maxim in our law, that a man of full age, shall never be received to disable his own person. Co. lib. 4. 123, 124. See also Aliens, Dissenters, Idiocy, and Infamy.

DISAGREEMENT, will make a nullity of a thing that had effect before: and disagreement may be to certain acts to make them roid, &c. Co. Lit. 380:

DISCHARGE, is where a man confined by some legal process, performs that which the law requires, and is released from the mateter for which he is confined. If an obligee, discharge one obligor where several are jointly bound, it discharges the others. March, 129. See Arrest, Bond, Payment.

DISCLAIMER, is a plea containing an express denial, renouncing or disclaiming; as if the tenant sue a replevin upon a distress taken by the lord, and the lord avow, saying that he holds of him as his lord, and that he distrained for rent not paid, or service not performed; then the tenant denying to hold of such lord, is said to distains; and the lord proving the tenant to hold of him the tenant loseth his land. Co. on Lit. 102.

DISCONTINUANCE OF POSSESSION, a man.may not enter upon his own lands or tenements alienated (such alienation being a discontinuance of possession), whatsoever his right he to them, of his own self or by his own authority, but must bring his writ, and seek to recover possession by law. Co. Rop. 166. 3. 85.

DISCONTINUANCE OF PROCESS, is where the plaintiff leaves a chasm in the proceedings of his cause, whereby the opportunity of prosecution is lost for that time, in which case he must begin again, and usually pays costs to the defendant; or the plaintiff is dismissed the court, &c. Every sult, whether civil or criminal, and every process therein, ought to be properly continued from day to day, &c. from its commencement to its conclusion: and the suffering apy default or gap herein, is called a discontinuance. 2 Haw. 298.

DISCONTINUANCE OF PLEA, is where divers things should be pleaded to, and some are omitted; this is a discontinuance. 1 Nels. Abr. 660, 661.

DISCOVERT, a woman unmarried, or a widow; one not within the bonds of matrimony.

DISCOVERY, the act of revealing or disclosing any matter by defendant, in his answer to a bill filed against him in a court of equity.

A bill for a discovery, must shew an interest in the plaintiff in the subject, to which the required discovery relates: and such an interest as intities him to call on the defendant for the discovery. Finch. Rep. 36. 44. 1 Vern. 399.

It is a general rule, that no one is bound to answer so as to subject himself to punishment, in whatever manner that punishment may arise. 2 Ves. 245. 451. 1 Atk. 450. 2 Atk. 393.

DISCRETION, is to discern between right and wrong; and therefore whoever bath power to act at discretion, is bound by the rule of reason and law. 2 Inst. 56. 298. And the court of king's bench, hath a power to redress things that are otherwise done, notwithstanding they are left to the discretion of those that do them. 1 Lill. Abr. 477.

DISFRANCHISE, to take away from any one his privilege of freedom. 14 C. 2. c. 31.

DISFRANCHISEMENT, is the taking away a man's freedom or privilege. Corporations generally have power by their charter or prescription, to disfranchise a member for doing any thing against the duty of his office as citizen or bargess, and to the prejudice of the public weal of the city or borough, and against his oath, which he took when he was sworn a freeman thereof. But the matter which shall be the cause of his disfranchisement, ought to be an act or deed, and not an endeavour or enterprise whereof he may repent, before the execution thereof, and of which no prejudice doth enune.

DISGUISED PERSONS, not to bunt in park or warren, under nevere penalties; prosecutions against them must be within three years, and the trial may be in any county. 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. See Black Act.

DISHERITOR, one who disinherits, or puts another out of his inheritance.

DISMES, tithes or the tenth part of the fruits of the earth, and of beasts, or labour, due to the clergy.

DISPAUPER, when any person, on account of poverty, attested by his own eath, of not being worth 5t. his debts being paid, is admitted to sue in forma pauperis, if afterwards, before the suit be ended, he have any lands, or personal estate fallen to him, on that the court, where the suit depends, think fit for that or any other reason, to take away that privilege from him, then he is said to be dispanpered, and can no longer sue in forma pauperis, DISPENSATION, the archbishop of Canterbury has now power of dispensing in any case, wherein dispensations were formerly granted by the see of Rome; and may grant dispensations to the king, as well as to his subjects; but such dispensations shall not be granted out of the realm, &c. and by 28 H. 8. c. 16. dispensations to be confirmed under the great soal. Wood's Inst. 26.

DISPENSATIONS OF THE KING. The dispensation of the king, &c. makes a thing prohibited, lawful to be done by him who hath it: but makes in so will not admit of a dispensation. March. Rop. 213.

DISPENSING POWER OF THE CROWN, if any statute tend to restrain some prerogative incident to the person of the king, as the right of pardoning, or of commanding the service of the subject for the public weal, &c. which are inseparable from the king; by a clause of non obstante, he may dispense with it. 2 Haw. 390. But the pretended power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by regal authority, without consent of parliament, is illegal. 1 W. and M. Sess. 2. c. 2.

DISSEISIN, is a wrongful putting out of him that is seized of the freehold, which may be effected either in corporeal inheritances, or incorporeal. Disseisin of things corporeal: as of houses and lands must be by entry and actual dispossession of the freehold. Disseisin of incorporeal hereditaments, cannot be an actual dispossession, for the subject itself, is neither capable of actual hodily possession, or dispossession, but is only at the election and choice of the party injured, if, for the sake of more easily trying the right, he is pleased to suppose himself disselsed. And so also even in corporest hereditaments, a man may frequently suppose himself to be disselsed, when he is not so in fact, for the sake of entitling himself to the more easy and commodious remedy of an assise of novel disselsin, instead of being driven to the more tedious process of a writ of entry. 3 Black, 169.

DISTILLERS, by stat. 2 G. 3. c. 5. s. 12, persons who sell liquors chargeable with duty, and distil spirits, are deemed common distillers, and are liable to surveys, penalties, &c. See Excise.

DISSENTERS, before the revolution, many statutes were in force against dissenters, but by 1 W. stat: 1. c. 18, commonly called the toleration act, it is enacted, that none of the acts made against persons dissenting from the church of England, (except the test acts 25 C. 2. c. 2. and 30 C. 2. st. 2 c. 1.) shall extend to any person dissenting from the church of England, who shall at the general sessions of the peace, to be held for the county or place where such person shall live, take the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, and subscribe the declaration against popery, of which the court shall keep a register; and no officer shall take more than 6d. for registering the same, and 6d. for a certificate thereof signed by such officer.

Provided that the place of meeting he certified to the bishop of the diocese, or to the archdeacon of the archdeaconry, or to the justices of the peace at the general or quarter sessions; and the register or clerk of the peace, shall register on record the same, and give certificate thereof to any one who shall demand the same; for which no greater fee than 6d. shall be taken: and provided that during the time of meeting, the doors shall not be locked, barred, or boited.

Further, in order to exempt dissenting ministers from the penalties imposed by the 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 4; 15 Car. 2. c. 6; 17 Car. 2. c. 3; and 22 Car. 2. c. 1, they are required to subscribe the articles of religion mentioned in the statute 18 Eliz. c. 12, concerning the confession of the true christian faith, and the doctrine of the sacraments, with an express exception of those relating to the government and powers of the church, and to infant baptism; or if they scruple subscribing the same, shall make and subscribe the declaration prescribed by the statute 19 Geo. 3. c. 44. professing themselves to be christians and protestants, and that they believe the scriptures to contain the revealed word of God, and to be the rule of doctrine and practice. And if any person shall wilfully, maliciously, or contemptuously disturb any congregation, assembled in any church or permitted meeting-house, or shall misuse any preacher or teacher there, he shall (by virtue of the same statute 1 W. and M.) be bound over to the sessions of the peace, and forfait twenty pounds.

Protestant dissenting teachers, thus duly qualified, are (by various acts of parliament) declared to be excepted from serving parochial offices, and also from serving in the militie.

Bimenters chosen to any perochial or ward offices, and scrapling to take the oaths, may execute the office by deputy, who shall comply with the law in this behalf. I W. c. 18. But it seems they are not subject to fine, on refusing to serve corporation offices; for they may object to the validity of their election, on the ground of their own nonconformity. 8 Bro. P. C. 465.

DISTRESS, in law, is the taking of a personal chattel, out of the person of the wrong doer, into the custody of the person who is injured, to procure a satisfaction for the wrong committed. I Bluck. Comm. 6. It is of two kinds; entitle for trespassing and doing damage, or for nonpayment of rent or other duties. But the most usual injury for which a distress may be taken, is that of nonpayment of rent.

A distress may now be taken for any kind of rent in arroar, the detaining of which, beyond the day of payment, is an injury to him that is intitled to receive it. 4 G. 2. c. 23. This is the most common and best remedy, for the recovery of rent in arrear; and the effect of it is, to compel the party to replevy the distress, and contest the taking in an action against the distrainer; or which is more usual to compound or pay the debt or duty for which he was distrained. 3 Black. 6.

Distress infinite, is a process commanding the sheriff to distrain a person from time to time, and continually afterwards, by taking his goods by way of pledge, to enforce the performance of something due, from the party distrained upon. Generally, it is provided that distress shall be reasonable and moderate; but in case of distress for sait of court, or for defect of appearance, in several cases, where this is the only method of enforcing compliance, no distress can be immoderate; because be it of what value it will, it cannot be sold, but shall be immediately restored, on satisfaction made. 3 Black. 231.

Who may distrain for rent. By the common law, and the various statutes in favor of this species of remedy for recovery of rent, all persons having the reversion or remainder of lands, &c. after the determination of the particular estate, or existing term therein, may of common right distrain for rent in arrear, without any clause for that purpose contained in the lease. Co. Lit. 142.

What may or may not be distrained. Every thing upon the promises, is liable to the landlord's distress for rent, whether they are the effects of a tenant or a stranger, because of the lien the landlord has on them, in respect of the place where the goods are found, and not in respect of the person to whom they belong. Co. Lit. 47. 3 Bur. 1502. 3 Durnf. and East. 601.

. 1

Things not distrainable, are tools of a man's trade, corn sent to a mill, a horse sent to a smith's shop, or in a common ion, cloth at a taylor's, goods in the hands of a carrier. 1 Salk. 249. 1 Esp. Rep. 206. 4 T. R. 569. Dogs, rabbits, beasts of the plough, milk, fruit, and things fixed to the freehold. 3 Black. 8 and 9. 4 T. R. 569. But beasts of the plough, and working tools, if not actually in use at the time, may be distrained, if there be not sufficient without them. 4 T. R. 569. So may wearing apparel not actually in use. 1 Esp. Rep. 206. Money in a bag scaled, may be distrained.

Horses and carriages sent to stand at livery, are distrainable by the landlord. 3 Bur. 1498.

Of the time, &c. and manner of taking the distress. Distress for rent must be in the day-time, for if made at night it will be bad. Co, Lit. 142.

Strictly, the rent is demandable, and payable, before the time of sun-set, of the day whereon it is reserved. Yet the rent is not due, till the last minute of the natural day. 2 Black. 42.

Distress cannot be made therefore, till the day after that, on which the rent is reserved in the lease; for though payable, it is not strictly due till midnight of the day upon which it is reserved.

Distress, cannot be made after the rent has been tendered: if the landlord come to distrain, the tenant may, before the distress made, tender the arrears; and if the distress be afterwards taken it is illegal; and so if after the distress, and before it is impounded, the tenant tender payment, the landlord ought to deliver up the distress; and if he do not the detainer is unlawful. 2 Inst. 107.

Parole authority to distrain is sufficient, or any authority that can be proved.

By 2 G. 2. c. 19. landlords may, by the assistance of a peace officer of the parish, break open in the day-time, any place where goods are fraudulently removed and locked up to prevent a distress, nath being first made in case it be a dwelling-house, of a reasonable ground to suspect that such goods are concealed therein.

By stat. 8 Anne, c. 14. rent accruing due under a lease, must be distrained for, within six months after its determination.

If a tenant fraudulently remove goods off the premises, the landlord may seize them within thirty days. But such seizure can only be made, where the rent was actually due before the removal.

If a landlord seize only a part of the goods, &c. of his tenant for rest, in the name of them all, it will be a good seizure of the whole. 6 Med. 215.

Distresses ought not to be exessive, but in proportion to the duty. distrained for. 2 Inst. 106.

The remedy for excessive distresses, is, by a special action on the stat. of Maibridge, for an action of trespass is not maintainable upon this account, it being no injury at common law. I Vent. 104, Fitzgib. 4 Bur. 590.

Where any distress shall be made for rent justly due, and any irregularity or unlawful act shall be afterwards committed by the party distraining, or his agents; the distress itself shall not on that account be deemed unlawful, nor the party a trespasser from the first, but the person aggrieved shall recover full satisfaction for the special damage sustained by each irregularity, and no more, with full costs of suit, 11 G. 2. c. 19.

How a distress is to be disposed of. Persons distraining for rent, may impound the distress on any convenient part of the land, charge-able with the distress; otherwise the goods must be removed to a pound covert, and notice given where they are, unless the tenant consent to a person remaining in possession on the premises. Wood's Inst. 191.

All living chattels distrained, are regularly to be put in the pound covert, because the owner at his peril, is to sustain them, and therefore they ought to be put in such an open place, as that he may have resort to them for that purpose. Co. Lit. 47. b.

Household goods, and such other things as would be damaged by the weather, must be impounded in the pound covert, otherwise if they be damaged, the distrainer will be answerable for the loss. I Inst. 47.

If the distress for rent, die, or be damaged in the pound, without any default of the distrainer, he may make a fresh distress. I Salk. 248.

By 2 W. and M. it is provided, that where any goods or chattels, shall be distrained for rent due on any demise, lease, or contract whatsoever, and the owner shall not, within five days next after such distress taken and notice thereof, and of the cause of the taking left at the dwelling house, or other most notorious place on the premises charged with the rent, replevy the same, that then at the expiration of the said five days, the distrainer may with the assistance of the sheriff, undersheriff, or constable, cause the goods and chattels so distrained to be appraised by two sworn appraisers, and sold for the best price that can be got for the same, towards satisfaction of the tent for which the said goods and chattels have been distrained, and the costs and charges of such distress; appraisement, and sale, learing the overplus, if any, in the hands of the said shoriff, or comstable, for the use of the owner.

By stat. 2 W. c. 5. on any pound-breach or rescous, of goods distrained for rest, the person grieved thereby, shall in a special action on the case, recover trebts damages and costs against the offender, or against the owner of the goods, if they are afterwards found to have come to his use or possession:

DISTRESS FOR PRNALTIES, by $7 G. 2. c. 20. s. 1. In all cases where any justice of the peace shall be required or empowered by any act of parliament, to issue a warrant of distress for the levying any penalty inflicted, or any sum of money directed to be paid by such act; it shall be lawful for the justice granting such warrant, therein to order and discot the goods and chattels so to be distrained, to be sold and disposed of within a certain time to be limited in such warrant, so as such time be not less than four days, nor more than eight days, unless the penalty, or sum of money for which the distress shall be made, together with the reasonable charges of taking and keeping such distress, be sooner paid.

DISTRESS OF THE KING, by the common law, no subject can distrain out of his fee or seigniory, unless cattle are driven to a place out of the fee, to hinder the lord's distress, &c. But the king may distrain for rent service, or fee farm, in all the lands of the tenant, wheresoever they be; not only on lands held of himself, but others, where his tenant is in actual possession, and the land manured with his own beasts. 2 Inst. 132.

DISTRIBUTION OF INTESTATE'S EFFECTS, after payment of the debts and funeral expences of the deceased, is to be made according to the 22 and 23 Car. 2. c. 10. (explained by the 29 Car. 2. c. 30.) after the expiration of one whole year from the death of the intestate, be distributed in the manner following, viz.

If the deceased leave a wife and children, one third of his estate is to be given to the widow, and the residue to the children in equal proportions, or if any of them be dead, to their representatives, that is their descendants. But by the aforesaid statute, no representatives are admitted amongst collinteral relations, beyond hephews and nieces of the deceased. If there be no children, nor lineal descendants of children, one moiety shall go to the widow, and the residue to the nearest of kin to the deceased, and their representatives. If there be no wife, then the whole shall be distributed amongst the children and their representatives.

The 22 and 23 Car. 2. c. 10. also enacts, that if any child, other than the heir at law, who shall have been portioned, or otherwise then the heir at law, who shall have been portioned, or otherwise-provided for by the father during his life-time, to the amount equal to the distributive share of the other children, he shall be excepted from this distribution; and that if he shall have been in part provided for, he shall have only so much of the distributive chare, as shall make his portion equal to the rest. But the heir at law being excepted out of the statute, will have an equal distributive part of the personal property of the deceased; notwithstanding any land he may take by descent or otherwise.

If there be no wife or children living, nor representatives of children doceased, the whole is to be given to the father of the deceased. If he have no father living, the whole shall go to the mother, and brothers and sisters of the deceased, in equal proportions, and the sepresentatives of the brothers and sisters deceased. If there are noither of these, the whole will go to the mother. If there are brothers and sisters and children of such, but no mother, the whole will be given to such brothers and sisters, or their children. But if there are noither of the before-mentioned kindreds of the deceased living, then the whole shall go to the grandfather or grandmother. After these, uncles and agains, together with the nephews and neices of the deceased, are admitted in equal proportions.

If all the above-mentioned persons shall fail, then the whole shall go to the next nearest of kin to the deceased who shall be living: and in this distribution, no distinction is made between the whole and the half blood of the deceased.

DISTRECT, a territory or place of jurisdiction. See Circuit.

DISTRINGAS, is a writ directed to the sheriff, commanding him to distrain one by his goods and chattels, to enforce his complinace with what is required of him.

Distringue is also issued against peers and persons entitled to privilege of parliament, by which the effects levied, may be sold to pay the plaintiff's costs. 10 G. 3. c. 50.

DISTRINGAS JURATORES, a writ directed to the sheriff, to distrain upon a jury to appear; and return issues on their lamis, &c. for non-appearance.

DIVIDEND IN THE EXCHEQUER, one part of an indenture. 10 Ed. 1. c. 11.

DIVIDEND OF BANKRUPTS. See Bankrupts.

DIVIDEND IN STOCKS, a dividenble proportionate share of the interests of stocks, esected on the public funds.

DIVORCE, a separation of two de facto married together; of which there are two kinds; one a vinculo matrimonii, from the very bond of marriage; the other a mensa at thoro, from bed and board. Co. Lit. 335.

Causes for separation a vinculo, are consanguialty or affinity within the degrees prohibited, also imputerty or frigidity; where the marriage was merely void at initio, and the sentence of divorce only declaratory of its being so. This divorce embles the parties to marry again: but in the other case a power for so doing must be obtained by act of parliament.

The woman divorced a vinculo matrimenti, receives all again she brought with her. Ibid. Dyer, 62.

Divorce a measa et thore, is where the use of matrimony, as the use of cohabitation of the married persons, on their mutual conversation, is prohibited for a time, or without limitation of time. And this in cases of adultery, cruelty, or the like; in which case the marriage having been originally good, is not dissolved or affected as to the vinculum or bond.

The woman under separation by this diverce, may sue by her next friend; and she may sue her husband in her own name for alimony. Wood's Inst. 62.

But the children which she buth after the divorce, shall be deemed bastards; for a due obedience to the sentence will be intended, unless the contrary be shewn. Walk. 123.

DOCKET or DOCQUET, a brief in writing, on a small piece of paper or parchment, centaining the effect of a larger writing, and annexed to other papers for particular purposes. In law a docket is necessary in all judgments, and so debts will be entitled to a preference in debts, due from a party deceased, as judgment debts, unless such judgments be regularly docketed.

DOCTORS and hachelors of divinity and law, may have a dispensation for non-residence. 21 H. 8. c. 13. Doctors of civil law, may exercise ecclesiastical jurisdiction, although laymen. 37 H. 8. c. 17.

DOCTORS COMMONS, is the college of civilians in London.

DOGS. The owner of a dog is bound to muzzle him, if mischlevous, but not otherwise; and if a man keep a dog that is known to bite cattle, &c. if, after notice given to him of it, his dog shall do any hurt, the master shall answer for it. Cro, Car. 254, 487.

By 10 Geo. 3. c. 18. persons stealing dogs from the owner or person intrusted therewith, or selling, buying, receiving, or detaining dogs, knowing the same to be stolen, and convicted on the oath of one witness before two justices, shall pay not more than 30l. nor less than 20l. for the first offence, with charges, and on non payment may be committed for twelve menths, and not less than six.

For the second offence to pay 50L and not less than 80f, with charges, one moiety to the informer and the other to the poor, and on non-payment may be committed for eighteen months, and not less than twelve, and to be publickly whipped in three days. Ibid.

Search may be made for dogs and skins stolen, and the person in whose custody found, liable to the same penalties; appeal lies to the quarter sessions, where costs may be given; but no certierari. Ibid.

For the duty on dogs, see post TAXES (assessed).

DOMESDAY, is a very ancient record, made in William the Conqueror's time, and now remaining in the exchequer fair and legible, consisting of two volumes, containing a survey of all the lands in England. It was begun by five justices, assigned for that purpose in each county, in the year 1081, and finished in 1080. The question whether lands are antient demesne or not, is to be decided by the Domesday book of William the Conqueror; from whence there is no appeal. And it is a book of that authority, that even the conqueror himself submitted in some cases, wherela he was concerned, to be determined by it.

DONATIO CAUSA MORTIS, a gift in prospect of death; where a person moved with the consideration of his mortality, gives and delivers something to another to keep in case of his decease, but if he live he is to have it again. Law of Test. 179.

DONATIVE, is a spiritual preferment, be it church, chapel, or vicarage, which is the free gift or collation of a patron, without making any presentation to the bishop; and without admission, institution, or induction by any mandate from the bishop or other; but the dones may by the patron, or by any other authorized by the patron, be put into pomession. Dog. Pars. Couns. 1 c. 13. See Adventures.

DONOR AND DONEB, Donor is one who gives lands or tendments to another; and he to whom the same is given is the donos.

DOTE ASSIGNANDA, is a writ that lay for a widow, where it was found by office, that the king's tenant was selzed of tenements in fee or fee-tail at the day of his death; and that he held of the king in chief, &c. In which case the widow came into the chancery, and there made outh, that she would not marry without the king's leave; and beceupon, she had this writ to the eschentor. 15 Ed. 3. c. 4.

DOTE UNDE NIHIL HABET, a writ of dower that lies for the widow against the tenant, who bought land of her knoband in his life time, whereof he was seized solely in fee-simple or fee-tail, in such sort, as the issue of them both might have inherited it. R. N. B. 147.

DOUBLE PLEA, is that wherein the defendant alledgeth for himself two several matters in bar of the plaintiff's action, whereof either is sufficient to effect his desire, which shall not be admitted for a pica.

DOUBLE QUARREL, is a complaint made by any clerk, or other, to the archbishop of the province against an inferior wrdinary, for delaying justice in any cause ecclesiantical; us to give sentence, to institute a cierk presented, or the like: the effect whereof is, that the archbishop taking notice of such delay, directs his letters under his authentic seal, to all and singular clerks of his province, thereby commanding and authorizing them, and every of them, to admonish the said ordinary, within a certain time, nine days, to do the justice required, or otherwise to cite them to appear before him the said archbishop, or his official, at a day in the said letters prefixed, and there to alledge the cause of his delay. And lastly, to intimate to the said ordinary, that, if he neither perform the thing enjoined, nor appear at the day assigned, he himself will without delay proceed to perform the justice required; and this seems to be termed a double quarrol, because it is most commonly made both against the judge and him at whose petition justice is delayed. Clark's Prax. Tit. 84. 5.

DOUBLES, nearly the same as letters patent. Stat. 14 H. S. c. S. DOWAGER, a widow endowed, or that both a jointure; also a title or addition, applied to the widows of princes, dukes, carls, and persons of bonour only.

DOWAGER QUEEN, is the widow of the king, and as such enjoys most of the privileges belonging to her as queen consort. But, it is not high treason to conspire her death, or violate her chantity; because the treasurement to the crown is not thereby endangered.
But no man can marry her without special livense from the king, wa pain of forfeiting his lands said yours. 1 Black. 228.

DOWES, the portion which a widow but of the tande of her huitand, after his deceme, for the vastenance of herself, and the placetion of her children. I hast. 40.

. To the communities of dower, three things are necessary, via. marriage, sciole, and the feathand's weeks.

There were formerly five kinds of dower in this kingdom, viz. L. Dender By the sommon date. A. Dower by custom. S. Dower ad solium western. 4: Doner on amenda partie, and 5 Dower de la plus belle. But of all pluse-kinds of dower, only the two first are now in use.

Domer by the common law, is a third part of such lands or tenoments whereof the husband was sole seized in fee-simple, or fee-tail, during the marriage, which the wife is to enjoy during her life; for which there lies a writ of dower. See DISTRIBUTION of Intestate's Refects.

Donor by custom. This kind of dower varies according to the custom and usage of the place, and is to be governed accordingly; and where such custom prevails, the wife cannot wave the provision thereby made for her, and claim her thirds at common law, because all customs are equally antient with the common law itself. Co. Lit. 33.

Down ad ostium ecclesia, is where a man of full age, seized of lands in fee, after marriage, endows his wife at the church door, of a moiety, a third, or other part of his lands, declaring them in certainty; in which case, after her husband's death, she may enter into such lands without any other assignment, because the solemn assignment at the church door, is equivalent to the assignment in pais by meter and bounds; but this assignment cannot be made before morninge, because before she is not entitled to dower. Lit. Sect. 39. Co. Lit. 34.

Dower ex assense patris, is where the father is soized of lands in fee; and his son and heir apparent after marriage endows his wife by his father's assent, ad ostium ecclosian, of a certain quantity of them; in which case after the death of the son, his wife may enter into such parcel without any other assignment, though the father be living; but this assent of the father's must be by deed, because his certate is to be charged in future, and this may likewise be of more than a third part. Co. Lit. 35, 86.

The dowers ad estium scalesia, or an amount patris, if the wife enter and amount to them, are a good bar of her in common law; but she may if she will, wave them, and claim her dower at common law, because being made after marriage, she is not bound by them. Br. 97.

Dower de la plus belle, it, where there is a gaardian in chivalry, and the wife occupies lands of the heir as guardian in soccage; if the wife bring a writ of dower against such guardian in chivalry, he may show this matter, and pray that the wife may be endowed do la plus belle of the tenements in soccage; and it will be adjudged accordingly; and the reason of this endowment, was to prevent the dismembering of the lands holden in chivalry, which are pro bono publics, and for the defence of the realm. Lit, Sect. 48.

After judgment given, the wife may take her neighbours, and in their presence endow hernelf of the plus bells, or fairest part of the tenaments, which she bath in soccase for her life. Lit. Sect. 48.

In order that a woman may be endowed, she must be the actual wife of the party at the time of his decease. If she be divorced a vinculo matrimonii, she shall not be endowed: for where there is no marriage, there is no dower. Bract. lib. 2. c. 39. s. 4.

If a marriage be colebrated bons fide in Scutland, this will entitle the woman to dower in England; and the lawfainess of such marninge is triable by a jury in England. I H. Block. Rep. 145.

By Mag. Ghart. 9 Hen. S. c. 7. a widew shall immediately after her husband's death have her marriage inheritance; and she shall remain in the chief house of her husband forty days, within which time dower is to be assigned her; and for her dower she shall be allowed the third part of all the land which was her husband's in his life-time, except she were endowed of less at the church door.

. By 20 Hen. S. c. l. a woman deforced of her dower, or quarentine, shall recover damages, via the value thereof from her husband's death.

Widowa may device the coops growing; upon their dower, and other tenements, saving the lord's services. Ibid. c. 2.

By 8 Ed. 1. c. 49. a writ of dower shall not above, because the widow has received dower of another man, before the writ was brought, unless she has received part of her dower of the tonant himself, and in the same will.

By 6 Ed. 1. c. 7. if appear in down aliens in fee or for life, the hair shall have present recovery by writ of entry.

DOWRY, in antient time applied to that which the wife brings her husband in marriage; otherwise called marriagium, or marriage goods: but these are termed more properly, goods given in marriage, and the marriage portion. 1 Dut. 31.

DOZELN, one of the articles for stewards in their lects to enquire of, is, if all the dessins: (or decimers) he in the assize of our local the king, and which not, and who receive them. See Decimers.

DRAFTS. See BILLS OF BROWNIGH.

DRAWLATCHES, thieves and robbem, they are mentioned in stat. 5 Ed. S. c. 14.

DREIT DREIT or DROIT DROIT, signifies a double right, that is, jus possessionis et jus domini. Brast. Lib. 4. c. 27.

DRIFT OF THE FOREST, a view or examination of what sattle are a the forest, that it may be known whether it be over-charged, or not, and whose the beasts are; and whether they are commontable beasts, &c. A Inst. 309.

SECPLAND or DRYFLAND, an antient quit rent, or yearly payment made by some tenants to the king, or their tandlords, for driving their cattle through the manor to fairs or markets. 'Court.

BEOIT, right, it is the highest of all real weits whatsoever, and has the greatest respect, and the most assured and final judgment; and therefore is called a writ of right, and in the old books, droit. I fint. 156. There are discrete fittees write used in our law, as drait de advewwent, droit de gard, droit patent, droit sationabili, droit sat tiechnimer, &c.

DROVERS OF CATTLE. By 5 Eliz. c. 12. drovers are required to be licewed, and also to be householders and married men; but this last clame is now become obsolete. By 8 Car. 1. c. 1. no decrease are to travel on Sundays on pain of forfeiting 20s.

DRUNKENNESS, excuseth no crime; but he who he guilty of may crime whatever, through his voluntary drunkenness, shell be punished for it as such as if he had been sober; for the law seeing how easy it is to counterfest this excuse, and how weak an excuse it is (though real), will not suffer any man thus to privilege one crime by mother. A Black. 36. Tippling is a species of drunkenness.

By several statutes temp. Jac. every person convicted of drunkenness shall forfeit ös. or he committed to the stocks for six hours, and effending a second time, shall be bound in a recognizance of 101. for forme good behaviour. And an alchouse-keeper, convicted of drunkenness, shall, besides the other penalties, be disabled to keep any such alchouse for three years.

DUCES TECUM, is a writ out of chancery, commanding a person to appear at a certain day in court, and bring with him some writings, evidences, or other things, to be inspected and examined in court.

DUELLING, or single combat, between any of the king brobjects, of their own heads, and for private malice or displeasure, is probibited by the laws of this realm; for in a settled state governed by law, no man for any injury whatever ought to use private revenge. S Inst. 157.

And where one party kills the other, it comes within the notion of murder, as being committed by malice afore thought; where the parties meet with an intent to murder, thinking it their duty as gentlemen, and claiming it as their right, to wanton with their own lives, and the lives of others, without any warrant for it either human or divine; and therefore the law hath justly fixed on them the crime and panishment of murder. A Black. 199.

And the law so far abbors all duelling in cold blood, that not only the principal, who actually kills the other, but also his seconds, are gullty of murder whether they fought or not; and it is holden that the seconds of the party slain, are likewise guilty as accessaries. 12 Haw. 8.

DUKE, in England, dake is the next secular dignity to the Prince of Wales.

DUM FUIT INFRA ÆTATEM, a writ that lies for him, that before he came to his full age, made a feofment of his land in fee, or for term of life, or in tail, to recover them again from him, to whom he conveyed them.

DUM NON FUIT COMPOS MENTIS, a writ that lies against the alience, or lessee, for him that not being of sound memory, aliened any lands or tenements in fee-simple, fee-tail, or for term of life, or for years.

DURESS, is where a man is kept in prison, or restrained of his liberty, contrary to the order of law, or threatened to be killed maimed, or beaten; and if such person so in prison, or in fear of such threats, make any specialty or obligation by reason thereof, such deed is void in law: and in any action brought upon such specialty, the party may plead, that it was made by duress, and so he may avoid the action. Cowel.

Every legal contract must be the act of the understanding, which they are incapable of using, who are under restraint and terrors; and therefore the law requires the free assent of the parties as essential to every contract, and that they be not under any force or violence. 2 Bac. Abr. 155.

DURHAM. See Counties Palatine.

DUTCHY COURT, a court wherein all matters appertaining to the dutchy or county palatine of Lancaster, are decided by the decree of the chancellor of that court. See Counties Palatine.

DUTIES, sums payable on importing, exporting, or manufacturing an article as a tax. The word is most generally applied to taxes on exports and imports.

There are also various assessed dulies on private property, both real and funded, on carriages, horses, houses, windows, &c. &c. which on account of the political changes daily occurring, cannot, with propriety be entered into, in this book.

DYERS, by stat. 3 & 4 Ed. 6. c. 2. no dyer may dye any cloth with orchel, or with brazil, to make a false colour in cloth, wool, &c. on penalty of 20s. By stat. 28 Eliz. c. 9. dyers are to fix a seal of lead to cloths, with the letter M. to shew that they are well mathered, &c. or forfeit 3s. 4d. per yard. By stat. 28 Geo. 3. c. 13s. several penalties are inflicted on dyers who dye any cloths deceitfally, and not wonded throughout with indigo and mather. Dying the impection of the dyers' company, who may appoint searchers; and out of their limits, justices of the peace in sessions are to appoint them. Opposing the searchers incare a penalty of 10%

E.

TALDERMAN, a man chosen to a place of superiority, on mecount of his togo and experience; hence the word alderman in corporations. See Alderman.

BARL, a great title, and is the most sutient of any in the pecrage; and astiently there was no earl, but who had a shire or county for his earldom. But of later times the number of earls greatly encreasing, they have sometimes for their title some particular part of a county, town, village, or place of residence. Their place is next to a marquis, and before a viscount. See Seillon's titles of konour, 576.

EARNEST, is the money advanced to bind the parties to the performance of a verbal agreement. The person who gives it, is in strictness obliged to abide by his bargain; and it case he declines, is not discharged upon ferfeiting his carnest, but may be sucd for the whole money stipulated, and damages: and by the statute of Trauds 29 C. 2. c. 3. no contract for the sale of goods to the value of 167. or more, to be valid, unless such earnest is given.

EASEMENT, a service or touvenience, which one neighbour has of another by charter, or prescription, without profit; as a way through his ground, a sink, or the like. Kitch. 105.

EAST-INDIA COMPANY, a corporation or united company of merchants of England trading to the East-Indies, which name is given to them in stat. 6 Anne, c. 17. s. 13. more explicitly according to their charter and adjustment of their rights, by stat. 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 44 s. 61. trading into and from the Fast-Indies, in the countries and ports of Asia and Africa, and into and from the islands, ports, havens, cities, creeks, towns, and places of Asia. Africa, and America, or any of them, beyond the Cape of Good of Hope, to the straights of Magellan, where any trade or traffic of merchandize is or may be used and had, to and from every of them.

The temporary rights of the company consist of 1st. the sole and exclusive trade with India, and other parts within the limits already described; so that no other of the king's subjects can go thither, by trade there, but by permission of the company; or pursuant to the directions of stat. 33 Geo. 3. c. 52. 2dly, They have the administration of the government and revenues of the territories of India, acquired by their conquests during their term in the exclusive trade; subject nevertheless to the various checks and restrictions contained in the several statutes, which vest that administration in them.

The rights in perpetuity, are to be a body corporate and politic, with perpetual succession; to purchase, acquire, and dispose at will of lands and tenements in Great Britain, so that the value therein do not exceed 10,000l. per annum; to make settlements to any extent, within the limits of their exclusive trade; build forts and fortifications; appoint governors; erect courts of judicature; coin money; raise, train, and muster forces at sea and land; repel wrongs and injuries; make reprisals on the invaders or disturbers of their peace; and continue to trade within the said limits, with a joint stock for ever, although their exclusive right of trading shall be determined by parllament.

The only privileges they can be constitutionally deprived of, are those of trading to the exclusion of others, and of governing the countries, and collecting and appropriating the revenues of India. For further particulars concerning the East-India Company, see Stat. 9 & 10 W. c. 44. s. 69; 6 Anne, c. 3; 7 Geo. 1. c. 5; 25 Geo. 2. c. 26; 7 Geo. 3. c. 47; 12 Geo. 3. c. 54; 13 Geo. 3. c. 63; 17 Geo. 3. c. 8; 21 Geo. 3. c. 70; 24 Geo. 3. c. 25; 26 Geo. 3. c. 57; 33 Geo. 8. c. 52; 34 Geo. 8. c. 41; 37 Geo. 3. c. 117 & 140; 39 Geo. 3. c. 89 & 109; 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 79; 43 Geo. 3. c. 48 & 63; 47 Geo. 3. sess. 2. c. 42 & 68.

EASTLAND TRADE, all the king's subjects may use the Bastland trade, or be admitted a free member of the company, for which purpose it is only necessary to pay 40s.

EAVES DROPPERS. Sec Eves Droppers.

ECCLESIA, is generally used for the place where the Almighty is worshipped; a church.

ECCLESIASTICAL COURTS. See Courts Ecclesiastical.

ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION, the doctors of the civil law, although laymen, may exercise ecclesiastical jurisdiction. 37 H. S. c. 17.

EGYPTIANS (Gipsies), are a kind of commonwealth among themselves of wandering impostures and jugglers, who made their first appearance in Germany, about the beginning of the sixtcenth century, and have since spread themselves over all Europe and Asia. By the laws of England, gipsies were formerly subject to imprisonment and forfeiture of goods, but they are now considered chiefly as

t.

regues and vagaionds, and are described as such in the vagrant act. 4 Black. 106.

EJECTMENT, an ejectment is a mixed action, by which a lesser for years, when outted, may recover his term and damages; it is real in respect of the lands, but personal in respect of the damages. Since the disuse of real action, this mixed proceeding is become the common method of trying the title to lands or tenements. Runnington on Ejectments.

The modern method of proceeding in ejectment, entirely depends on a string of legal Sctions; no actual losse is made; no actual entry by the plaintiff; no actual suster by the defendant; but all are merely ideal for the sole purpose of trying the title. this end, a lease for a term of years is stated in the proceedings, to have been made by him who claims title to the plaintiff, who is generally an ideal fictitions person, who has no existence; though it ought to be a real person to answer for the defendant's costs. In this proceeding, which is the declaration; (for there is no other process in this action) it is also stated, that the louses, in consequence of the demise to him made, entered into the premises; and that the defendant who is also now another ideal actitions person, and who is called the casual ejector, afterwards entered thereon and ousted the plaintiff; for which ouster the plaintiff brings this action. Under this declaration is written a notice, supposed to be written by this casual ejector, directed to the tenant in possession of the premises: in which notice the casual ejector informs the tenant, of the action brought by the lesses, and assures him, that as he the casual ejector, has no title at all to the premises, he shall make no defence, and therefore, he advises the tenant to appear in court, at a certain time and defend his own title, otherwise as the casual-ejector, will suffer judgment to be had against him, by which the actual tenant will inevitably be turned out of possession. 2 Cromp. Prac. 152.

The entient way of proceeding, was by actually scaling a lease on the premises, by the party in interest who was to try the titles; and this method is still in use in the following cases:

First, where the house or thing for which ejectment is brought is surpty.

Secondly, when a corporation is lessor of the plaintiff, they must give a letter of attorney to some person to enter and seal a lease on the land; for a corporation cannot make an attorney or a bailiff except by deed, nor can they appear but by making a proper person their attorney by deed; therefore they cannot enter and demise upon the land as natural persons can. L. Raym. 135.

Thirdly, when the several interests of the lessor of the plaintiff are mot known, for in that case, it is proper to scal a lease on the premises; lest they should fail in setting out in their declaration, the several interest which each man passes.

Fourthly, whose the proceedings are in an inferior court, they must proceed by actually scaling a lease, because they cannot make raise confess lease, entry, and outter, inasmuch as inferior courts have not authority to imprison for disobedience to their rules.

It is a general rule, that no person can in any case, bring an ejectment, unless he have in himself at the time, a right of entry; for atthough by the modern practice, the defendant is obliged by rule of court, to confess lease, entry, and ouster; yet that rule was only designed to expedite the trial of the plaintif's right, and not to give him a right which he had not before; and therefore, when it happens that the persons claiming title to the lands, has no right of entry, he cannot maintain his action. 3 Black. 206.

The damages recovered in these actions, though formerly their only intent, are now usually (since the title has been considered asthe principal question) very small and inadequate, amounting commonly to one shilling, or some other trivial sum. In order therefore to complete the remedy, when the possession has been long detained from him that has right, an action of trespans also lies, after a recovery in ejectment to recover the mosne profits which the tenant in possession had wrongfully received; which action may be brought in the name of either the nominal plaintiff in the ejectment, or his lessor, against the tenant in possession, whether he be made party to the ejectment, or suffer judgment to go by default.

FIGNB, the eldest, or first born.

EIRE or EYEE, signifies the court of justice itinsrant. Eyes in also taken to signify the justice seat. See Justices in Eyes.

ELECTION, is where a person has by law two remedies, and is compelled to declare which he will abide by: Thus a creditor, in cases of bankruptcy, may either prove his debt under the commission, or proceed at law; but in this case he is compelled to make his election. Where also a person having obtained a judgment, and is entitled to execution, he may either take his remedy against the goods or the person, and he may choose either; but if he proved against the person in the first instance, he cannot afterwards have recourse to the goods; but if he take the goods, and these should be found inadequate to his demand, he may afterwards take the body.

ELECTION OF BISHOPS. See Rinkops.

ELECTION OF A CLERK OF STATUTES MERCHANT, a writ that lies for the choice of a clerk assigned to take and make bonds, called statutes merchant, and is granted-out of the chancery upon suggestion made, that the cierk formerly amigned is gone to dwell in another place, or is hindered from following that business, or bath not land sufficient to answer his transgression if he should deal amiss. F. N. B. 184.

ELECTION OF ECCLESIASTICAL PERSONS. If any person that bath a voice in elections, take any reward for an election in any church, college, school, &c. such election shall be void: and if any such societies resign their places to others for reward, they incur a forfeiture of double the sum: and the party giving, and the party taking it, are thereby rendered incapable of such place. 31 Eliz. c. 6. See Biskops.

BLECTION OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT. Quenticetten of the candidates. No member shall sit or vote in either house of parliament, unless he be twenty-one years of age. 4
Inst. 47.

They must not be aliens born: they must not be any of the twelve judges; because they sit in the lord's house. But persons who have judicial places in the other courts, ecclesiastical or civil, are ell-gible. 4 Inst. 47. Nor of the clergy; the reason assigned for which, is, that they might sit in the convocation. Nor persons attainted of treason or felony, for they are unfit to sit any where. Id.

By the 30 C. 2. st. 2. c. 1. and 1 Geo. 1. c. 13. in order to prevent papists from sitting in either house of parliament, no person shall sit or vote in either, till he hath in the presence of the house, taken the oaths of allegiance, supremacy, and abjuration, &c.

Sheriffs of counties, and mayors and bailiffs of boroughs, are not eligible in their respective jurisdictions, as being returning officers; but a sheriff of one county may be chosen knight of another. I Black. 175.

By several statutes, no persons concerned in the management of any duties or taxes created since 1692, except the commissioners of the treasury; nor any of the officers following, viz. commissioners of prizes, transports, sick and wounded, wine licenses, navy and victualling; secretaries or receivers of prizes; comptrollers of the army accounts; agents for regiments; governors of plantations; officers of Minorca or Gibraltar; officers of the excise and custo ma clerks or deputies in the several offices of the treasury, exchaquer, navy, victualling, admiralty, pay of the army or navy, secretaries of state, salt, stamps, appeals, wine licenses, backney-coachese backers and pediars; nor any persons that hold any new office under the crown, created since 1705, are capable of being elected. 1 Black. 175.

But this shall not extend to, or exclude the treasurer or comptroller of the navy, secretaries of the treasury, secretary to the chancellor of the exchequer, secretaries of the admiralty, under secretary of state, deputy paymester of the army, or any person holding any office for life, or so long as he shall behave himself well in his office. 15 Geo. 2. c. 28.

By the 6 Anne, c. 7. s. 26. if any member shall accept an office of profit under the crown, except an officer of the army or navy accepting a new commission, his election shall be void: but he shall be capable of being re-elected.

No person having a pension from the crown during pleasure, shall be capable of being elected. 6 Anne, c. 7. s. 25.

By the 22 Geo. 3. c. 45. no contractor with the officers of government, or with any other person for the service of the public, shall be capable of being elected, or of sitting in the house, as long as he holds any such contract, or derives any benefit from it. But this does not extend to contracts with corporations, or with companies, which then consisted of ten partners; or to any person to whom the interest of such a contract shall accrue by marriage or operation of law, for the first twelve months. And if any person disqualified by such a contract shall sit in the house, he shall forfeit 500% for every day; and if any person who engages in a contract with government, admit any member of parliament to a share of it, he shall forfeit 500% to the prosecutor.

No person shall be capable to sit or vote in the house of commons, for a county, unless he have an estate freehold or copyhold, for his life, or some greater estate, of the clear yearly value of 600! nor for a city or borough, unless he have a like estate of 300! and any other candidate or two electors, may require him to make oath thereof at the time of election, or before the day of the meeting of parliament; and before he shall vote in the house of commons, he shall deliver in an account of his qualification, and the value thereof under his hand, and make oath of the truth of the same. But this shall not extend to the eldest son or heir apparent of a peer, or of any person qualified to serve as knight of a shire, nor to the members of either of the two universities. 9 Anne, c. 5. 33 Geo. 2. c. 20.

By 41 Geo. 3. (u. k.) c. 52. all persons disabled from sitting in British parliaments shall be disabled from sitting in the united parliament as members for Great Britain. And all persons disabled from sitting in Irish parliaments shall be disabled from sitting for Ireland. But persons disabled by British statutes shall not hereby be enabled to sit for Ireland nor e contra. Persons who shall hold certain places in Ireland shall be disabled from sitting in any future parliament of the united kingdom: viz. commissioners of customs, excise, and stamps (except Treasury), commissioners of appeals, commissioners of accounts, army agent contractors (except members of trading companies, as such); deputies, or clerks in the treasury, auditors, tellers, or chancellor of the exchequer's offices, except the secretary of the chancellor, or of the commissioners of stamps or appeals. Persons holding new places under the lord-lieutenant shall, in future, be disabled. Disabled persons, presuming to sit in parliament, shall incur the penalties under former British or Irish acts; or if disabled under this act, shall forfelt 500l. per day. The act shall not extend to offices held for life or during good behaviour, except the commissioners of imprest accounts, and persons concerned in the managing, collecting, or farming duties. Members accepting any office whatever from the king, or lord-lieutenant of Ireland, shall-vacute bis sent.

By 41 Geo. 3. (u. k.) c. 101. the act 33 Geo. 2. c. 20. is extended to members to the united parliament for England, Wales, Berwick, or Ireland; and the qualification may be situate either in England, Wales, Berwick, or Ireland. s. 28.

Qualifications of Electors. No person shall be admitted to vote, under the age of twenty-one years. This extends to all sorts of members, as well for boroughs as counties. 7 & 8 W. c. 25.

Beery elector of a knight of a shire, shall have freebold to the value of 40s. a year within the county; which is to be clear of all charges and deductions, except parliamentary and parochial taxes. I Black. 172.

No person shall vote in right of any freehold, granted to have fraudulently, to qualify him to vote, and every person who shall prepare or execute such conveyance, or shall give his vote under it, shall forfeit 401. 10 Anne, c. 23.

No person shall vote for a knight of the shire, without having been in the actual possession of the estate for which he votes, or in the recept of the rents or profits thereof to his own use, above twelve calendar months; unless it come to him by descent, marriage, marriage-settlement, devise, or promotion to a benefice or office. 18 Geo. 2. c. 1.

. No person convicted of perjury, shall be capable of voting at an election.

No person shall vote in respect of an annuity or rent-charge, unless registered with the clerk of the peace: twelve calendar months before. Such annuity or rent-charge issuing out of a free-hold estate.

· No person shall vote for a knight of a shire, in respect of any incisuages, lands, or tenements, which have not been charged to the land-tax, six calendar months before. 20 Geo. 3. c. 17.

No person shall vote for any estate holden by capy of caust roll-21 Gao. 2. c. 14.

in marigaged, or trust-estates, the mortgages, certay que trust, shall rate, and not the trustes or marigages upless they be in actual possession.

All conveyances to multiply voices, or to aplit vates, shall be void; and no more than one voice shall be admitted for one and the name bouse or tenomont.

The right of election in horoughs is various, depending entirely on the several charters, customs, and constitutions of the respective places; but by 2 Gep. 2, c. 24. this right of valing, for the future shall be allowed according to the last determination of the house of semination conserving it.

And no person, claiming to vote in right of his being a freeman of a corporation (other than such as claim by hirth, marriage, or service), shall be allowed, unless he have been admitted to his freedom twelve calendar months before. 3 Geo. 3. c. 15.

Af election, as it is essential to the very being of parliaments that election should be absolutely free, all undes influence whatever upon the electors, is illegal, and strongly prohibited. As soon, therefore, as the time and place of election within counties ar barranghs, are fixed, all soldiers quartered in the place are to remove, at least one day before the election, to the distance of two miles or more, and not to return till one day after the poll be ended; except in the liberty of Westprinster, or other residence of the rayal family, in respect of his majesty's guards, and in fortified places. I Geo. 2. c. 30.

By the 7 & 8 W. c. d. to prevent bribery and corruption, no candidate, after tests of the writ of summons, or after a plura becames specially and time, shall, by himself, or by any other ways op means on his behalf, or at his charge, before his election, didestly, or indirectly, give, an promise to give, to any elector any money, meat, drink, provision, present, reward, or entertainment, to or for any such elector in particular; or to any county, city, town; borough, port or place in general, in order to his being electbeh, on pain of being incapacitated.

To grand still more against grow and flagrant acts of buibery, it is exacted by 2 Geo. 2. c. 24. explained and enlarged by 2 Geo. 2. c. 38. and 16 Geo. 3. c. 11. that if any money, gift, office, employment or reward, be given, or premised to be given, to any votes, at any time in order to influence him to give or withhold his vote, as well be that takes, as he that offers such a bribe, forfeits 500% and is for ever disabled from voting and holding any office in any corporation; unless before conviction, he will discover some other offender of the same kind, and then he is indemnified for his own offence.

If the election shall not be determined upon view, with the consent of the freeholders there present, but a poll shall be demanded, the same shall commence on the day on which such demand is made, or on the next day at farthest (if it be not Sunday, and then on the day after), and shall be proceeded in from day to day (Sundays excepted) until it be finished, and shall not continue more than fifteen days (Sandays excepted); and the poll shall be kept open seven hours at least each day, between eight in the morning and eight in the evening. 25 Gen. 3. c. 84. The shoriff shall allow a cheque-book for each candidate, to be kept by their impectors at the place of taking the poll. 19 Geo. 2. c. 28.

By 34 Geo. S. c. 73. in order to expedite the business at elections, the returning officers are enabled, an request of the candidates, to appoint persons to administer to voters, the oaths of nilegiance, so-premacy, the declaration of fidelity, the oath of abjuration, and the declaration or affirmation of the effect thereof, previously to their coming to vote; and to grant the voters certificates of their baving taken the said oath; without which certificate, they shall not be permitted to vote, if they are required to take the oaths.

And every freeholder, before he shall be admitted to poil for a knight of the shire, shall, if required by a candidate, or any elector, make oath of his qualification to vote; in which case the sheriff and clerks shall enter, the place of his freehold, and the piace of his abode, as he shall disclose the same at the time of giving his vote; and shall enter jural against the name of every such voter who shall have taken the oath. 10 Anne, c 23. s. 5.

And by 42 Geo. 3. c. 62. when a poll shall be demanded at any election for any place in England, the returning officer shall appoint two or more persons to administer all the oaths required by law, which persons shall be sworn truly to administer the same.

Of the return. After the election, the names of the persons chosen shall be written in an indenture, under the scale of the electors, and tacked to the writ.

The election being closed, the returning officer in boroughs, returns his precept to the sherist, with the persons elected by the majority. And the sherist returns the whole, together with the writ for the county, and the names of the knights elected thereupon, to the clerk of the crown in chancery, before the day of meeting if it be a new parliament; or within fourteen days after the election, if it be an occasional vacancy; and this under the penalty of 500%. If the sherifide upt return such knights only as are duly elected, he forfaits by stat. H. VI. 100% and the returning officer of a horough, for a like false return 40% and by the late statutes they are liable to six action at the mit of the party duly elected, and to pay double damages, and the like remedy shall be against an officer making a double return. I Black. 180.

If two or more sets of electors make each a return of a different member (which is called a double election), that return only, which the returning officer to whom the sheriff's precept was directed, has signed and sealed, is good; and the members by him returned shall sit, until displaced on petition. Sim. 184.

On petition to the house of commons, complaining of an undue election, forty-nine members shall be chosen by ballot, out of whom each party shall alternately strike out one, till they are reduced to thirteen, who, together with two more, of whom each party shall nominate one, shall be a select committee for determining such controverted election, 10 and 11 Geo. 3. c. 16 and 40. See Partiament.

By 42 Geo. 3. c. 84. where two or more petitions are to be taken into consideration on the same day, all the parties may be ordered to attend, and after the list of forty-nine members is balletted to form the first committee, the house shall immediately proceed to form successive committees as may be requisite, which shall accordingly he severally appointed. But 200 members must be present on forming such successive committees; and the numes of members excused, for reasons applying specially to one petition, may be redrawn-Names of members intended for, and consenting to be, numinces, shall be set aside. Lists may be formed of one or of successive committees, as far as the house is enabled by the numbers present. Parties may withdraw, and reduce lists between two ballots; and any committee being aworn may leave the house. But when there are more than two parties, the committees shall not choose nominees under II Geo. 3. c. 48. till all the other committees ballotted for are sworn, and then in their turns. Committees shall be attended by a short-band writer. This not was originally to be in force for two years only, but it was revived and is now made perpetual by 48 Geo. S. sess. 1. c. 1. which statute further enacts that the adding of two members, or one member, to any committee of thirteen, appointed to try any petition on controverted elections, shall not take place until all the other select committees, to be balletted for on that day, shall have been sworn; and the first-committee ballotted shall have the presence in such choice. s. A.

ELEEMOSINARIUS, the absoner, who received the electrosinery reats and gifts, and duty distributed them to pious and charitable uses.

ELEGIT, is a writ of execution, either upon a judgment upon debt on damages, or upon a forfeiture of the recognizance taken in the king's court. I last. 289.

By the common law, a man could only have satisfaction of goods, chattels, and the present profits of feads, by the writs of finni facial or leveri facial; but not the possession of the lands themselves: so that if the defendant aliened his lands, the plaintiff was ousled of his remody.

The statute 13 Ed. 1. c. 18, therefore granted this writ, which is called an elegit, because it is in the election of the plaintiff, whether he will sue out this writ or one of the former. 3 Black. 418.

RLOPEMENT, is, when a married woman of her own accord, departs from her husband, and dwells with an adulterer; for which without voluntary reconciliation to the husband, she shall less her dower by the statute of Westminster 2. c. 34.

If a wife willingly leave her husband, and go away and continue with her avorterer, she shall be harred for ever of action to demand her dower that she ought to have of her husband's lands, if she he convicted thereof; except that her husband willingly and without coercion of the church, reconcile her, and suffer her to dwell with him, in which case she shall be restored to her action. 13 Ed. 1. st. 1. c. 34. See Adultery,

EMBEZZLEMENT, by stat. 39 Geo. 3. c. 85. for protecting masters against embezzlaments by their clerks and servants; servants or cierks, or persons employed for the purpose or in the capacity of servents or clerks, who shall, by virtue of such employment, receive or take into their possession, any money, goods, boud, bill, note, banker's druft, or other valuable security or effects, for or in the name, or on the account of their master or employer, or who shall fraudently embessie, secrete, or make away with the same, or any part thereof; every such offender shall be deemed to have feloniously stolen the same from his master or employer, for whose use, or on whose account the same was delivered to, or taken into the possession of such servant, clerk, or other person so employed; although such money, gonds, hond, bill, note, banker's draft, or other valuable security, was or were no otherwise received into the possession of kis or their-servants, clerk, or other-person so employed; and every each effender, his advisor, procurer, aider, or abetter, being thereof lawfully convicted or attainted, shall be liable to be trausparted to such past, beyond the seas, as his majesty, by and with the

-ndvice of his privy council, shall appoint; for any term not exceeding fourteen years, in the discretion of the court before whom such offender shall be convicted or adjudged.

EMBEZZLEMENT OF SECURITIES. See SECURITIES.

EMBLEMENTS, signify the profits of land sown; but the word is sometimes used more largely, for any profits that arise and grow naturally from the ground, as grass, fruit, hemp, flax, &c. Cough

EMBRACERY, is an attempt to corrupt or influence a jary, or any way incline them to be more favourable to the one side than the other, by money, promises, letters, threats, or persuasions; whether the juror on whom such attempt is made, give verdict or not, or whether the verdict given be true or false. 1 Haw. 250.

The punishment of an embracer or embraceer is by five and imprisonment; and for the juror so embraced, if it be by taking mency, the punishment is (by divers statutes) perpetual infany, imprisonment for a year, and forfeiture of tenfold the value. 4. Black. 140.

EMBROIDERY. By 22 Geo. 2. c. 36. no foreign embroidery, or gold or silver brocade, is permitted, to be imported into this kingdom on pain of being seized and burned, and a penalty of 100%. for each piece. No person is allowed to sell any foreign embroidery, gold or silver thread, lace, fringe, brocade, or make up the same into any garment, upon pain of having it burned, and penalty of. 100%.

EMPARLANCE. See Imparlance.

ENCROACHMENT, an unlawful gaining upon the rights or possessions of another.

ENDEAVOUR, where one who has the use of his reason, endeavours to commit felony, &c. he shall be punished by our laws, but not to that degree as if he had actually committed it. 3 Inst. 68, 60.

ENDORSEMENT. See Indorsoment, Bills of Exchange, and Acceptance.

ENDOWMENT, is the widow's portion; being a third part of all the freehold lands and tenements, of which her husband was seized at any time during the coverture. Of lands not freehold, herportion varies according to the custom in different places.

ENEMY, is properly an alien or foreigner, who in a public capacity, and in an hostile manner, invades any kingdom or country. If a prisoner he rescued by enemies, the goaler is not guilty of an escape; as he would have been if subjects had made the rescue, when he might have a legal remedy against them. 2 Haw. 130.

ENFRANCHISEMENT, the incorporating a person into apy-society or body politic; then one who is made a citizen of London, am. other city, or bargers of any town corporate, is enfranchised became he is made particles of the liberties which appearain to the corporation, whereinto he is admitted. 11 Rep. 91.

ENGRAVINGS. See Booms.

ENTAIL, signifies for-tail, or fee-intailed. See Estate.

ENTIERTY, denotes the whole, in contradistinction to moiety which denotes the half.

ENTIRE THNANCY signifier a sale pessention in one mun.

ENTRY, writ of, in a writ directed to the sheriff, requiring him to command the tenant of the land, that he render to the demandant the premises in question, or appear in court on such a day, and shew who he hath not done it. Of this writ there are four kinds. writ of entry sur desseisin, that lies for the disseisee against the diseiser, upon a discisin dense by himself; and this is called a writ of entry in the nature of an amine. 2. A writ of entry sur disselsin in the per, for the heir by descent, who is said to be in the per, as he comes in by his ancestor. 3. A writ of entry sur disseisin in the par and cui, where the froffee of a dimeisor maketh a feofiment over to another; and then the form of a writ is, that the tenant had no title to enter, but by a prior alience, to whom the intruder demised it. 4. A writ of entry sur disscioln in the post, which lies when after a disscisin, the land is removed from hand to hand, in case of a more remote seisin, whereanto the other three degrees do not extend. 1 Inot. 238.

But all these write are now disused, as the title of lands is now usually tried upon actions of ejectment or trespuss.

ENTRY AD COMMUNEM LEGEM. The writ of entry ad communem legem [lies, where tenant in dower, or tenant by the courtesy, or for life, aliess in fee, or for the life of another, or in tail, the lands which they hold, &c. after their drath, he in the reversion who has it in fee, or for life, shall have this writ against whomsoever is in passession of the land. New Nat. Br. 206.

ENTRY AD TERMINUM QUI PRÆTERIT, a writ of entry ad terminum qui praterit, lies where a man brases lands or tenements for term of life, or years, and afterwards the term expires, and he to whom the lease was made, or a stranger, enters upon the land, and occupies the same, and deforces the besor; the besor or his hoirs shall have the upit. And this writ lies in the per, 'cui, and post; for if the tessee hold grow his term, and afterwards make a feofiment; the lessor or heirs, may have this writ against the feofice in the per; and if the feofice make a feofiment over, he may have it against the second feofice in the per and cui, and against the third feofice in the post. Itiel 447, 448.

PNTRY IN CASU CONSIMILI, a writ of entry in cash consimilities where tenant by the courtesy, or for life, or for another's life, aliens in fee, or in tail, or for life; now he in the reversion, who has an estate there for life, or in fee simple, or in tail, shall have that writ during the life of the tenant for life, who aliened. Fitzh. Nat. Br. 206.

ENTRY IN CASU PROVISO. The writ of entry in case previso, lies where tenant in dower aliens in see, for life, or in tail, the land which he holds in dower; he who hath the reversion in see, or in tail, or for life, shall maintain that writ against the alience, and against him who is the tenant of the freehold of land during the life of the tenant in dower, &c. and the writ may be made in the per, evi, and post. New Nat. Br. 456.

ENTRY CAUSA MATRIMONII PRÆLOCUTI, lies where lands or tenements are given to a man, on condition, that he shall take the donor to his wife within a certain time, and he does not esponse her within the limited time, or esponses another, or otherwise disables bimself, that he cannot take her according to the said condition; then the donor and her heirs shall have the said writ against him, or against whoever else is in the said land. Ibid.

ENURE, to take place or effect, as a release made to a tenant for a term of life, shall enurs to him in the reversion.

EQUALITY. The law delights in equality, so, that when a charge is laid upon one, and many ought to bear it he shall have relief against the rest. 2 Rep. 25.

EQUITY, is a construction made by the judges, that cases out of the letter of a statute, yet being within the same mischief or cause of making the same, shall be within the same remedy that the statute provideth. And the reason hereof is, that the law maker could not possibly set down all cases in express terms: thus though it may be unlawful to kill a man, yet it is not unlawful for one to kill another assaulting him, in order to preserve his own life. 4. Inst. 24.

- EQUITY OF REDEMPTION ON MORTGAGES. If where money is due on a mortgage, the mortgage is desirous to bar the equity of redemption, he may oblige the mortgagor either to pay the money, or be foreclosed of his equity, which is done by proceedings in the court of chancery.
- ERROR, signifies an error in pleading, or in the process; and the writ which is brought for remedy thereof, is called a writ of cerror.
- A writ of error, is a commission to judges of a superior court, by which they use authorized to examine the record, upon which a judgment was given in an inferior court, and on such examination, to affirm or reserve the same according to law. Jenk. Rep. 25. For particulars as to the practice of write of error, see Impey's K. B. & C. P.

- ESCAPE, an escape is, where one who is arrested gains his liberty, before he is delivered by course of law.

Escapes are either in civil or criminal cases; and in both respects, escapes may be distinguished into voluntary and negligant; voluntary, where it is with the consent of the keeper; negligant, where it is for want of due care in him.

In civil cases: after the prisoner hath been suffered voluntarily to escape, the sheriff can never after retake him, but must answer for the debt; but the plaintiff may retake him at any time. In the case of a negligent escape, the sheriff upon fresh pursuit, may retake the prisoner; and the sheriff shall be excused, if he bath him again before any action brought against himself for the escape.

When a defendant is once in custody in execution, upon a capias ad satisfaciendum, he is to be kept in close and safe custody; and if he be afterwards seen at large, it is an escape; and the plaintiff may have an action thereupon for his whole debt: for though upon arrests, and what is called mesne process, being such as intervenes between the commencement and end of a suit, the sheriff, till the statute 8 and 9 W. c. 21. might have indulged the defendant as he pleased, so as he produced him in court to answer the plaintiff at the return of the writ; yet, upon a taking in execution, he could never give any indulgence; for in that case, confinement is the whole of the debtor's punishment, and of the satisfaction made to the creditor.

A rescue of a prisoner in execution, either in going to gaol, or in gaol, or a breach of prison, will not excuse the sheriff from being guilty of and answering for the escape; for he ought to have sufficient force to keep him, seeing he may command the power of the county. 3 Black, 415 and 6.

In criminal cases; an escape of a person arrested, by cluding the vigilance of his keeper before he is put in hold, is an offence against public justice, and the party himself is punishable by fine and imprisonment: but the officer permitting such escape, either by negligence or consivance, is much more culpable than the prisoner, who has the natural desire of liberty to plead in his behalf. Officers therefore, who after arrest negligently permit a felon to escape, are also punishable by fine; but voluntary escapes, amount to the same kind of offence, and are punishable in the same degree, as the offence of which the prisoner is guilty, and for which he is in custody, whether treason, felony, or trespass; and this whether he was actually committed to gaol, or only under a frare arrest. But the officer earnest be thus punished, till the original delinquent is actually found guilty or convicted by verdict, confession, or outlawry; otherwise, it might happen that the officer should be punished for trenson or felony, and the party escaping turn out to be an impocent man. But before the conviction of the principal party, the officer thus neglecting his duty, may be fined and imprisoned for a misdemeanor. 4 Black. 129.

If any person shall convey or cause to be conveyed into any gaol, any dispute, instrument, or arms, proper to facilitate the escape of prisoners, attainted or convicted of treason or felony, although no escape or attempt to escape be made; such person so offending, and convicted, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and be transported for seven years. 16 G. 2. e. 31.

ESCHEAT, in our law, denotes an obstruction of the course of descent, and a consequent determination of the tenure, by some unforescen contingency; in which case, the land naturally results back, by a kind of reversion, to the original grantor, or lord of the fee. 2 Black. 244.

Eschent impress either for want of heirs of the person inst seized, or by his attainder for a crime by him committed; in which latter case, the blood is tainted, stained, or corrupted, and the inheritable quality of it is thereby extinguished.

For sont of ketrs, is where the tenant dies without any relations on the part of any of his ancestors, or where he dies without any relations of these ancestors, paternal or maternal, from whom his estate descended; or where he dies without any relations of the whole blood. Busturds are also iscapable of inheritance; and therefore if there he no other claimant than such illegitimate children, the landshall eschent to the lord; and, as bustards cannot be heirs to themselves, so neither can they have any heirs, but those of their own bodies, and therefore if a bastard purchase lands, and die selved these of without issue and intestate; the land shall eschent to the lord of the few. Aliem also, that is persons born out of the king's allogiance, are incapable of taking by descent, and unless naturalized are also incapable of taking by purchase; and therefore, if there he no natural born subjects to claim, such lands shall in like manner escheat.

By attained for treason or other felony, the blood of the person attained is corrupted and stained, and the original donation of the fend is thereby determined, it being always granted to the vassal on the implied condition of his well demeaning himself. In consequence of which corruption and extinction of hereditary blood, the land of all felous would immediately revert in the lord, but that the superior law of forfeiture intervence, and intercepts it in his passage; in case of treason, for ever; in case of other felony, for only a year and a day; after which time it goes to the lord, in a regular counce of eachest. 2 Black. c. 15.

ESCHEATOR, was an naticut officer, so called because his office was properly to look to moderate, mandahips, and other namealties belonging to the crown. This office basing its chief dependence on the courts of wards is now out of date. Co. Lit. 13 b. 4 Inst. 225.

BSCUAGE, signifies a kind of knight's service, called escales of the shield, whereby the tenant is bound to follow this lord into the Scatzk or Welch wars, at this town expense. He who held a whitle knight's fee, was bound to serve with horse and arms forty days at his own charge, and the who held half a language, was to serve twenty days. Lit. s. 95, 96.

Escuage was tilso a permittery aid or contribution, reserved by particular loads, instead of personal service; in sorder that they might be the better enabled to support the expense of their ownest-tendance and warfare, when the hing made war on Soutland or Wales, or apon any foreign country, if the tenure was so expressed.

Madex's Hist. Exch. 452.

ESQUIRE, is a name of dignity, next above the common title of gentlemen, and below a height; heretofore it signified one that was attendant, and had his employment as a servant, waiting on such as had the other of knighthood, bearing their shields, and helping him to horse and such like.

All Irish and foreign peers, are only esquires in our law, and must be so named in all legal proceedings. 1 Black. 406.

ESQUIRES OF THE KING, are such who have the title by creation: these when they are created, have a collar of SS. put about their necks, and a pair of silver spars is bestowed on them; and they were wont to bear before the prince in war, a shield or lance. There are four esquires of the king's body to attend on his majesty's person.

ESSOIN, signifies the allegation of an excuse for him that is summoned, or sought for; to appear and answer to an action real, or to perform suit to a court baron, upon just cause of absence. The causes that serve to essolutary man summoned are the following:

ESSOIN DE MALO LECTI, is when the defendant is sick in bed.

ESSOIN DE MALO VENTENDI, is when the defendant is infruin body, and not able to come. ESSOIN DE MALO VILLE, is when the defendant appears in court the first day, but departed without pleading, and being afterwards surprised by sickness, or other infirmity, cannot attend the court, but sends two esseiners, who apenly protest in court that he is detained by sickness in such a village, that he cannot come, profuerari et pro perdere; and this must be admitted for full proof, without any farther sarety, for it is incumbent on the plaintiff to prove whether the essein be true or not.

ESSOIN PER SERVITIUM REGIS, is when the defendant is in the king's service.

ESSOIN DE ULTRA MARE, when the defendant is beyond sea. ESSONIO DE MALO LECTL, a writ directed to the sheriff, for the sending of four lawful knights to view one that had esseined himself, de malo lecti. 2 °Co. Inst. 125.

ESTABLISHMENT OF DOWER. The assurance of dower made to the wife by the husband, or his friends, before or at marriage; and assignment of dower, is the setting it out by the heir afterwards, according to the establishment. Brit. c. 102, 103. See Dower.

ASTATE, signifies such inheritance, freehold, term for years, tenancy by statute merchant, staple, elegit, or the like, as any man hath in lands and tenements. Estates are real, of lands, tenements, &c. or personal of goods, or chattels; otherwise distinguished into freeholds that descend to the heir, and chattels which go to the executors. Co. Lit. 315.

Of estate in fee simple; an estate in fee-simple, is an estate in lands, tenements, lordships, advowsors, commons, estovers, and all hese-ditaments, to a man and his heirs for ever: also, where a corporation sole or aggregate, are capable of holding in succession, and lands are given to them and their successors, they are said to have a fee-simple. 2 Bac. Abr. 249.

Of estate in tail; an estate is said to be intailed, when it is ascertained what issue shall inherit it.

What things may be intailed by the statute of intails. The statute makes use of the word tenementum, and therefore the estate to be intailed, may be as well incorpored as corpored inheritances, because the word tenementum, comprehends the one as well as the other, and consequently, not only lands may be intailed, but all rents, commons, estovers, or other profits arising from lands. Co. Lit. 19. b. 20. a.

What words create an estate tail. When the notion of succession prevailed, it was necessary in fendal donations to use the word heirs, to distinguish such descendible fend from that which was granted ealy for life; but as to the word body, it was necessary to make me of that in the donation, but it might be expressed by any equivalent words, and therefore a gift to a man, and hardibus de se, or de carne quo sibi contigerit habers, or procreavit, is a good estate tail; for these sufficiently circumscribe the word heirs, to the descendants of the feudatory: and the reason of the difference is, for that inheritances being only derived from the law, and the law requires the word heirs, that comprehends the whole notion of such legal representation; but the limiting the inheritance to the descendants of this or the other body, is only the particular intention of the person that forms the gift, and therefore the law leaves every man, to express himself in such manner as may manifest that latention. 2 Bac. Abr. 259.

Of tenant in tail changing his estate. The statute de donis, affecting a perpetuity, restrained the donce in tail, either from alienating, or charging his estate tail; and by that act the tenant in tail, was likewise to leave the land to his beirs, as he received it from the donor; and upon that statute, the beir in tail might have avoided any alienation or incumbrance of his ancestor; and as the law stood upon that act, so might be in reversion, when the beirs of the donce failed, which were inheritable to the gift. The crown long struggled to break through the perpetuity which was established by this law s and in the reign of Ed. 4. we find the pretended recompence given against the vouchee in the common recovery, to be allowed an equivalent for the estate tail; and because this recompence was to go in succession as the land in tail should have done, therefore they allowed the recovery to bar the reversion as well as the issue in tail, because he in the reversion was to have the recompence in failure of issue of the donee. 2 Bac. Abr. 265.

ESTOPPEL, an impediment or bar of action, arising from the act of him that either bath, or might have had his action. For example; a tenant makes a feofiment by collusion to one, the lord accepts the services of the feoffee; by this he debars himself of the worship of the tenant's heir. There are three kinds of estoppels, viz.

By matter of record, as by letters patent, fine, recovery, pleading, taking of continuance, confession, imparlance, warrant of attorney, admittance.

By matter in writing, as by deed indented, by making of an acquittance by deed indented or deed poll, by defeasance by deed indented or deed poll.

By matter in pais, as by livery, by entry, by acceptance of rent, by partition, and by acceptance of an estate. Co. Lit. 35%.

Every estoppel, because it concludes a man to alledge the truth, must be certain to every intent, and not to be taken by argument or inference. Id.

ESTOVERS (Common of) is a liberty of taking necessary wood for the use or furniture of an house or farm. And this any tenant may take from off the land let or demised to him, without waiting for any leave, assignment, or appointment of the lessor, unless he be restrained by special covenant to the contrary. 2 Black. 35.

ESTRAYS AND WAIPS. Estrays are where any horses, sheep, hogs, beasts, or swans, or any heast that is not wild, come into a lordship, and are not owned by any man. Kitch. 23:

The reason of estray is, because when no person can make title to the thing, the law gives it to the king, if the owner do not claim it within a year and a day.

Waifs are goods which are stolen, and waved, or left by the felon, on his being pursued, for fear of being apprehended; and forfeited to the king or lord of the manner; and though waifs, are generally spoken of things stolen; yet if a man be pursued with hue and cry as a felon, and he flies and leaves his own goods, these will he forfeited as goods stolen: but they are properly the fugitive's goods, and not forfeited, till it be found before the coroner, or otherwise of record, that he fled for the felony. 2 Haw. 450.

Waifs and strays, were antiently the property of the finders, by the law of nature; and afterwards the property of the king by the law of nations. Dalt. Sher. 79.

Waifs and strays, not claimed within the year and day, are the lord's. For where the lord has a beast a year and a day, and it has been cried in the church and markets, the property is changed.

Kitch. 80.

But it must be a year and a day from the time of proclamation, and not from the time of seizure; for it does not become an estray till after the first proclamation. 11 Mod. 89.

The king's cattle cannot be estrays or forfeited. A beast-estray is not to be used in any manner, except in case of necessity; as to milk a cow, or the like, but not to ride a horse. Cro. Jac. 148. I Roll. 673.

ESTREAT, is a true copy or note of some original writing on record, and especially of fines and amercements imposed in the rolls of a court, and extracted or drawn out from thence, and certified into the court of exchequer; whereupon, process is awarded to the sheriff to levy the same. Fits. Nat. Br. 57. 76.

ESTREPEMENT or ESTREPAMENT, the spoil made by a tenant for life, upon any lands or woods to the prejudice of the re-versioner.—Estrepement, also signifies a writ, which lies in two cases; the one is, when the person having an action depending (as a formedon, or dum fuit infra etatem, or writ of right, or any other) wherein the demandant is not to recover damages, sues to inhibit the tenant from making waste during the suit. The other is for the demandant, that is adjudged to recover selsin of the land in question, and before execution sued by the writ of habers facias seisinam, for fear of waste to be made before be can get possession, be then sues out this writ. Ibid. 60, 61.

EVES-DROPPERS, or EAVES-DROPPERS, are such as stand under walls or windows, by night or day, to bear news, and to carry them to others, to cause strife and contention among neighbours. These are evil members in the commonwealth, and therefore by stat. Westminster 1. c. 33. are to be punished: and this misdemeanor is presentable and punishable in the court leet.

EVIDENCE, is the testimony adduced before a court or magistrate of competent jurisdiction, by which such court or magistrate are enabled to ascertain any fact which may be litigated between the parties.

This may be of two kinds, viz. written or verbal, the former by deeds, bonds, or other written documents, the latter by witnesses examined viva vocs.

Evidence may be further divided into absolute and presumptive; the former is direct, in positive or absolute affirmance or denial of any particular fact; the latter collateral, and from the conduct of the parties, affords an inference that such a particular fact, did or did not occur.

The party making any affirmative allegation which is denied by his adversary, is in general required to prove it, unless indeed a man be charged with not doing an act, which by law he is required to do; for here a different rule must necessarily prevail, and the rule is, that the evidence must be applied to the particular fact in dispute; and therefore no evidence not relating to the issue, or in some manner connected with it, can be received; nor can the character of either party, unless put in issue by the very proceeding itself, he called in question; for the cause is to be decided on its own circumstances, and not to be prejudiced by any matter foreign to it.

It is an established principle, that the best evidence the nature of the case will admit shall be produced, for if it appear, that better evidence might have been brought forward, the very eircumstance of its being withheld, furnishes a suspicion that it would have prejudiced the party in whose power it. is, had he produced it. Thus if a written contract be in the custody of the party, no verbal testimony can be received of its contents. Gill. L. of Ev.

The law never gives credit to the bare assertion of any one, however high his rank or pure his morals; but requires (except in particular cases with respect to quakers) the sanction of an oath, the personal attendance of the party in court that he may be examined and cross-examined by the different parties; and therefore in cases depending on parole or verbal evidence, the testimony of persons who are themselves conversant with the facts they relate, must be produced, the law paying no regard, except under very special circumstances, to the hearsay evidence. Thus in some cases, the memorandum in writing made at the time, by a person since deceased, in the ordinary way of his business, and which is corroborated by other circumstances, will be admitted as evidence of the fact.

What a party himself has been heard to say, does not fall within the objection. As to hearsay evidence, any thing therefore which the party admits, or which another asserts in his presence, and he does not contradict, is received as evidence against him; but what is said by his wife, or any other member of his family in his absence, will be rejected.

But a distinction must be made between admission, and an offer of compromise, after a dispute has arisen. An offer to pay a sum of money in order to get rid of an action, is not received in evidence of a debt, because such offers are made to stop litigation, without regard to the question whether any thing, or what is due.

Admission of particular articles before arbitration are also good evidence, for they are not made with a view to compromise, but the parties are contesting their rights as much as they could do on a trial.

In cases where positive and direct evidence is not to be looked for, the proof of circumstance and fact consistent with the claim of one party, and inconsistent with that of the other, is deemed sufficient to enable the jury, under the direction of the court of justice, to presume the particular fact, which is the subject of controversy; for the mind comparing the circumstances of the particular case, judges therefrom as to the probability of the story, and for want of better evidence, draws a conclusion from that before it.

Written evidence has been divided into two classes; the one that which is public, the other private; and this first, has been subdivided into matters of record, and others of an inferior nature.

The memorials of the legislature, such as acts of parliament, and other proceedings of the two houses, where acting in a legislative character; and judgment of the king's superior courts of justice, and denominated records, and are so respected by the law, that no evic dence whatsoever can be received in contradiction of them; but these are not permitted to be removed from place to place, to serve a private purpose, and are therefore proved by capies of them, which in the absence of the original, is the next best evidence.

Of persons incompetent to give evidence. All persons who are examined as witnesses, must be fully possessed of their understanding; that is such an understanding as enables them to retain in memory, the events of which they have been witnesses, and give them a know-ledge of right and wrong.

A conviction of treason or felony, and every species thereof, such as perjury, conspiracy, barratry, &c. prevents a man when convicted of them, from being examined in a court of justice. When a man is convicted of any of the offences before mentioned, and judgment entered up, he is for ever after incompetent to give evideuce, unless the stigma be removed, which is case of a conviction of perjury, on the stat. of 5 Eliz. c. 9. can never be by any means short of a reversal of the judgment, for the statute has in this case. made his incompetency part of his punishment, but if a man be convicted of perjury, or any other offence at the common law, and the king pardons him in particular, or grants a general pardon to all such convicts, this restores him to his credit, and the judgment no longer forms an objection to his testimony; but an actual parden must be shewn under the great seat, the warrant for it under the king's sign manual not being sufficient. To found this objection to the testimony of a witness, the party who intends to make it, should be prepared with a copy of the judgment regularly entered upon the verdict of conviction, for until such judgment be entered, the witness is not deprived of his legal privileges.

Persons may also be incompetent witnesses, by reason of their isterest in the cause. The rule which has the most extensive operation in the exclusion of witnesses, and which has been found most difficult in its application, is that which prevents persons interested in the event of a suit, unless in a few excepted cases of evident necessity, from being witness in it. Of late years the consts have endeavoured, as far as possible consistent with authorities, to let the objection go to the credit rather than to the competency of the witness; and the general rule now established is, that no objection can be made to a witness on this ground, unless he be distinctly interested, that is, unless he may be immediately benefited or injured by the event of the sait, or unless the weedlet to be obtained by his evidence, ar given against it, will be evidence for engainst him is another action, in which he may afterwards be a party; any smaller degree of interest, as the possibility that he may be liable to an action in a certain event, or that standing in a similar situation with the party by whom he is called, the decision in that cause, may by possibility inducence the minds of a jury in his own, or the like, though it furnish a strong argument against his credibility, does not destroy his competency.

On the question, how far persons who have been defrauded of securities, or injured by a perjury or other crime, can be witnesses in . prosecuting for those offences, the event of which might possibly exonerate them from the obligation they are charged to have entered into, or restore to them money which they have been obliged to pay: the general principle now established is this, the question in a criminal prosecution or personal act being the same with that in a civil cause, in which the witnesses are interested, goes generally to the credit, unless the judgment in the prosecution where they are witnesses, can be given in evidence. in this cause wherein they are interested. But though this is the general rule, an exception to it seems to be established in the case of forgery; for many cases have been decided, that a person whose hand writing has been forged to an instrument, whereby if good he would be charged with a sum of money, or one who has paid money in consequence of such forgery, cannot be a witness on the indictment. In cases where the party injured cannot by possibility derive any benefit from the verdict in a the prosecution, as in indictments for ussault, and the like personal injury, his competence has never been doubted. It is a general rule that a party cannot be examined as a witness, for he is in the highest degree interested in the event of it; but where a man is not in point : of fact interested, but only a nominal party, as where members of a. charitable institution are defendants in their corporal character, there is no objection to an individual member being examined as a witness for the corporation, for in this case he is giving evidence for the public body only, and not for himself as an individual. Peake's. Bul. N. P. 293. N. P. Cas. 153.

But instances sometimes occur, in which persons substantially interested, and even parties in a cause, are permitted to be examined from the necessity of the case, and absolute impossibility of procuring other evidence.

In an action on the statute of Winton, the party robbed is a witness; and on the same principle of necessity it has been holden, that persons who become interested in the common course of business, and who alone can have knowledge of the fact, may be called as witnesses to prove it, as in the case of a servant who has been paid money, or a porter who in the way of his business, delivers out or receives parcels, though the evidence whereby he charges another with the money or goods, exementes himself from his liability to account to his master for them; for if this interest were to exclude testimony, there would never be evidence of any such facts. Bul. N. P. 289.

As no one can be witness for himself, it follows of course husband and wife, whose interest the law has united, are incompetent to give, evidence on behalf of each other, or of any person whose interest is the same, and the law, combining the policy of marriage, also prevents them giving evidence against each other, for it would be hard that, a wife, who could not be a witness for her husband, should be a witness against him; such a rule would occasion implacable divisions, and quarrels between them. In like manner, as the law respects the private peace of men, it comiders the confidential communications made for the purpose of defence in a court of justice. By permitting a party to intrust the cause in the hands of a third person, it establishes a confidence and trust between the client and person so employed.

Barristers and attornies, to whom facts are related professionally, during a cause, or in contemplation of it, are neither obliged nor permitted to disclose the facts so divulged during the pendency of that cause, or at any future time; and if a foreigner, in communication with his attorney, have recourse to an interpreter, he is equally bound to secreey.

Where a man has by putting his name to an instrument, given a struction to it, he has been held by some judges to be precluded, or stopped from giving any evidence in a court of justice which may invalidate it; as in the case of a party to a bill of exchange or promissory note, who has been said not to be an adminible witness to destroy it, on the grounds that it would enable two persons to combine together; and by holding out a false credit to the world, deceive and impose on mankind. On this principle it was held, that an indorser could not be a witness to prove notes usurious, in an action or a bond founded on such notes, though the notes themselves. had been delivered up, on the execution of the hand. At one time this seems to have been understood as a general-principle applicable to all instruments; but in a case where an underwriter of a policy of insurance, was called to prove the instrument void as against another underwriter, and objected to on this ground; the court declared, that it extended only to negotiable instruments, and he was admitted to give evidence destructive of the policy.

When a witness is not liable to any legal objection, he is first examined by the counsel for the party on whose behalf he comes to give evidence, as to his knowledge of the fact he is to prove. This examination in cases of any intricacy, is a duty of no small importance in the counsel; for as on the one hand, the law will not allow him to put what are called leading questions, viz. to form them in such away as would instruct the witness in the answers he is to give; so on the other, he should be careful that he make himself sufficiently understood by the witness, who may otherwise omit some material circumstance of the case.

The party examined must depose those facts only of which he has an immediate knowledge and recollection; he may refresh his memory with a copy taken by himself from a day-book; and if he can then speak positively as to his recollection, it is sufficient; but, if he have no recollection further than finding the entry in his book, the book itself must be produced. Where the defendant had signed acknowledgments of having received money, in a day-book of the plaintiff, and the plaintiff's clerk afterwards read over the items to, him, and he acknowledged them all right, it was held, that the witness might refresh his memory by referring to the books, although there was no stop to the items on which the receipt was written, for this was only proving a verbal acknowledgment, and not a written receipt. Bull. N. P. part. 6.

Lord Ellenborough, upon the authority of Lord Chief Justice. Tully, has recently laid down a very important doctrine, viz. that no witness shall be bound to answer any question which tends to degrade himself, or to shew him to be infamous.

It is however enacted by the statute 46 Geo. 3..c. 37, that a witeness cannot refuse to answer a question relevant to the matter in issue, the answering of which has no tendency to accuse himself, or to expose him to penalty or forfeiture, by reason only that the answer to such question may establish, or tend to establish, that he owes a debt, or is subject to a civil suit.

EXACTION, a wrong done by an officer, or one pretending to. have authority, by taking a reward or fee, for that which the law, allows not. Co. Lit. 368.

EXAMINATION, justices before whom any person shall he brought for manelaughter or felony, or for suspicion thereof, before they commit such prisoner, shall take his examination, and information of those who bring him, of the fact and circumstances; and as much thereof as shall be material to prove the felony, shall be put in writing within two days after the examination, and the same shall certify in such manner as they should do, if such prisoner had been bailed, upon such pain, as in the act 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 13. is. limited.

EXAMINERS IN CHANCERY, are two officers who examine upon onth witnesses produced on either side in London, or near it, upon such interrogatories as the parties to any suit exhibit for that purpose. In the country witnesses are examined by commissioners, usually attornies not concerned in the cause, on the parties joining in commission, &c.

EXCEPTION is a stop or stay to any action. In law proceedings, it is a denial of a matter alledged in bar to an action; and in chancery, it is what is alledged against the sufficiency of an answer. I Lil. ab. 559.

EXCEPTION TO EVIDENCE, at common law a writ of error, lay for an error in law, apparent on the record, or for an error in fact, where either party died before judgment; yet it lay not for an error in law not appearing on the record. 2 Inst. 426.

By the stat. of Westminster, 2. when one impleaded before any of the justices, alledges an exception, praying they will allow it, and if they will not, if he that alledges the exception writes the same, and requires the justices will put thereto their seals, the justices shall so do, and if upon complaint made of the justice, the king cause the record to come before him, and the exception he not found in the roll, the plaintiff show the written exception, with the seal of the justices thereto put, the justices shall be commanded to appear at a certain day, either to confess or deny his seal, and if he cannot deny his seal, they shall proceed to judgment according to the exception, as it ought to be allowed or disallowed.

The statute extends to the plaintiff as well as the defendant, also to him who comes in loco tenentis, as one that prays to be received, or the vouchee; and in all actions, whether real, personal, or mixt. 2 Inst. 427.

EXCEPTION IN DEEDS AND WRITINGS, the exception is a clause whereby the donor, feoffor, grantor, or other person contracting, excepts, or takes a particular thing out of a general thing granted or conveyed. The thing excepted is exempted, and does not pass by the grant, neither is it parcel of the thing granted; as if a manor be granted, excepting one acre thereof, hereby in judgement of law, that acre is severed from the manor. I Wood's Convey. 241.

Exception, must be of such a thing as he who makes it may have, and does belong to him.

It must not be the whole thing granted, but part thereof only.

The thing that is excepted, must be part of the thing granted, before, and not of some other thing. The thing excepted, must be of such a thing as may be severed from the thing granted, and not inseparable incidents.

It must be of a particular thing out of a general, or of an entire 'thing, and not of a particular out of a particular, or the whole thing 'itsel' granted.

An exception, must be conformable to the grant, and not repughant thereto; and the thing excepted must be certainly described 'and set down.

EXCHANGE, an exchange is a mutual grant of equal interests, the one in consideration of the other. 2 Black. 323.

An exchange may be made of things that lie either in grant or in livery. But no livery of seising, even in exchanges of freehold, is necessary to perfect the conveyance: for each party stands in the place of the other, and occupies his right, and each of them both already had corporal possession of his own land. But entry must be made on both sides; for if either party die before the entry, exchange is void, for want of sufficient notoriety. Id.

In exchange, the estates of both parties should be equal; that is, if the one bath a fee simple in the one land, the other should have like estate in the other land; and if the one have fee-tail in the one land, the other ought to have the like estate in the other land; and so of other estates. But it is not material in the exchange, that the lands be of equal value, but only that they be equal in kind and manner of the estate given and taken. I inst. 51.

Exchange among merchants, is a commerce of money, or a bortering or exchanging the money of one city or country for that of another: money, in this sense, is either real or imaginary; real, any real specie current in any country at a certain price, at which it passes by the authority of the state, and of its own intrinsic value; by imaginary money, is understood all the denominations made use of to express any sum of money, which is not the just value of any real specie.

Whatever may be the denomination or value of the coin tirculating in any country, there is always a rate of exchange, founded upon its intrinsic value, which is called par, between every two countries; but in proportion as the demand may be greater or smaller between one country and another, bills or money become plenty or scarce. When in the market or upon 'Change, which is the moneymarket, the bills drawn are in greater quantities than the remittances, then they sink in value, and the rate of exchange is said to be against the place. When on the contrary there are more bills wanted than can easily be obtained, the rate of exchange is said to be favourable, and is above par.

Re-exchange, is when the holder of a bill, finds it not paid by the acceptor, then it becomes necessary to take those steps which the circumstances of the case, the law of the land, and the mage of merchants authorize.

The holder of a bill, upon payment being refused, may lawfully take up from a banker, in the place where it is payable, the amount of the bill, and give in return a bill payable upon sight, upon the party from whom the first bill was received, or upon any other person. If he be obliged in consequence of the course of exchange, and the balance being in favour of cash, to pay a price for the money which he receives, that price is the re-exchange, which must be compensated by the preceding parties to the bill. Lex Mercatoria.

EXCHANGE OF CHURCH LIVINGS, is where two persons baving procured licence from the ordinary to treat of and exchange, do by one instrument in writing, agree to exchange their benefices, being both spiritual, and in order thereunto resign them into the hands of the ordinary: such exchange being executed, the resignations are good. Wats. c. 4.

These exchanges are now seldom used.

EXCHEQUER. This, which is a court of law and equity, is a very autient court of record, established by William the Conqueror, as a part of the ania regis, though regulated and reduced to its present state by Ed. 1. and intended principally to order the revenues of the crown, and to recover the king's debts and duties.

The court consists of two divisions, viz. the receipt of the exchequer, which impages the royal revenue, and the judicial, which is again sujdivided into a court of equity, and a court of common law.

The court of equity is held in the exchequer, before the lord treasurer, the chancellor of the exchequer, the chief baron, and three puisse barons. The primary and original business of this court was to call the king's debtors to account, by bill filed by the attorney general, and to recover any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, goods, chattels, or other profits or benefits, belonging to the crown.

This court, which was established merely for the henefit of the king's accountant, is thrown open; and now, by suggestion of privilege, any person may be admitted to see here, as well as the king's accountant.

An appeal from the equity side of this court, lies immediately to the house of peers; but from the common law side, pursuant to 31 Ed. 3. c. 12. a writ of error must first be brought into the court of exchequer chamber, from whence, in the dernier resert, there lies an appeal to the House of Lords. Madox's Hist. of Excheq.

EXCHEQUER CHAMBER, this court has no original jurisdiction, but is merely a court of appeal, to correct the errors of other jurisdictions; and consists of the lord chancellor, the lord treasurer, with the justices of the king's-bench and common pleas. In imitation of this, a second court of exchequer-chamber was erected by 27 Eliz. c. 8. commisting of the justices of the common pleas, and the barons of the exchequer; before whom writs of error may be brought, to reverse judgments in certain suits commenced originally in the court of king's bench. Into the exchequer-chamber, are sometimes adjourned from the other courts, such causes, as the judges upon argument find to be of great weight and difficulty, before any judgment is given upon them in the court. 3 Blackst. 56. 4 Inst. 119.

EXCISE, is an inland imposition, sometimes paid upon the consumption of the commodity, or frequently upon the retail sale, which is the last stage previous to the consumption.

For more easily levying the revenue of the excise, the kingdom of England and Wales, is divided into about fifty collections, some of which are called by the names of particular counties, others by the names of great towns; where one county is divided into several collections, or where a collection comprehends the contiguous parts of several counties, every such collection is subdivided into several districts, within which there is a supervisor; and each district is again subdivided into outrides and foot-walks, within each of which there is a gauger or surveying officer. Gilb. Excheq. Append.

The commissioners or sub-commissioners in their respective circuits and divisions, shall constitute, under their finds and seals, as many gaugers as they shall find needful. 12 Car. 2. c. 24. s. 33.

Arrears of duties. By several acts of parliament, all articles in the possession of persons subject to the excise laws, together with all the materials and utensils of whatsoever description, are made limble for the arrears of duties, whether these be single or double duties; and if a trader, being in arrears for the single duties, become a bankrupt, and is convicted after the assignment of his effects, the double duties are a lien upon the exciseable commodities, utensils, and materials in the bands of his assignees, and the commissioners or magistrates, may authorise the penalty to be levied upon all such commodities, and all the materials, preparations, utensils, and vessels for making thereof, in the custody of the bankrupt; or any person or persons in trust for him. 2 Doug. 411.

Bonds, for the exportation of exciseable commodities, are to be taken by officers of excise, and they are to be given generally upon all exciseable articles, at the place where exported.

Forgery, of any stamps, liceuses, certificates, permits, or any other excise documents, is by various statutes made a capital felony.

Licenses, in all cases where licenses are required, the license will only sanction the business carried on in that particular place, for which such license was granted; but when the business is carried on by partners, one license will be sufficient to cover the firm.

Officers of excise. The officers of excise are to be appointed, and may be dismissed, replaced, or altered, by the commissioners under their bands and seals; their salaries are allowed and established by the treasury; and by I W. & M. c. 24. s. 15. if it be proved by two witnesses, that any officer has demanded or taken any money, or other reward whatever, except of the king, such offender shall forfeit his office.

By stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 24. s. 47, 48. No person shall be capable of intermeddling with any office relative to the excise, until he shall, before two justices of the peace in the county where he resides, or before a baron of the exchequer, take the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, together with an oath of office, which is to be certified to and recorded by the next quarter sessions. He must further receive the sacrament according to the usage of the Church of England, and deliver a certificate thereof in the court where he takes the said oaths. 25 Car. 2. c. 2. s. 2, 3. 16 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 3.

No commissioner or other officer of excise can vote at elections, or meddle_therein, nor can any commissioner be a member of parliament, under heavy penalties. 22 Geo. 3. c. 41. 5 W. & M. c. 20. s. 48. 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 2. s. 150, 151.

By several statutes, no process can be sued out against any officer of excise, for any act done in the execution of his office, until one month after notice given, specifying the cause of action, and the name and abode of the person who is to begin, and the attorney who is to conduct the action; and within one month after such notice, the officer may tender amends, and plead such tender in bar; and having tendered insufficient or no amends, he may with leave of the court, before issue joined, pay money into court.

Officers of excise, are empowered to search at all times of the day, entered warehouses, or places for tea, coffee, &c. But private houses can only be searched upon oath of the suspicion before a commissioner or justice of peace, who can by their warrant authorize a search.

Permits.—Persons dealing in exciseable commodities are entitled to permits for removing the same to different places in certain quantities, and under certain regulations. These permits are written upon a peculiar species of paper, manufactured expressly for the purpose; and by 23 Geo. S. c. 70. s. 11. no permit paper is to be delivered out before it shall be filled up agreeable to the request note of a trader; and officers knowingly granting any false permit, making false entries in the counter part thereof, or receiving any commodities into stock with a false or forged permit, are to be transported for seven years.

Samples. Officers of excise, are by various acts empowered to take samples of exciseable commodities, paying the prices therein regulated for the same.

Seizures. When an officer makes a seizure of any spirits or other articles, he must lay his hand on the casks, vessels, &c. so seized, and declare that he seizes such spirits, &c. and the casks or vessels containing the same, for the use of his majesty and of himself; but if the officer happen to be alone when he makes such seizure, he must afterwards in the presence of witnesses, again lay his hand on such cask, vessel, &c. and repeat the former declaration of seizure.

All informations on scizures, must be laid in the names of the offcers making the same.

By 41 Geo. S. c. 96. commissioners of excise are empowered to make restitution of exciseable goods.

Scales and weights. By various acts of parliament, traders subject to the excise laws, are to keep just and sufficient scales and weights, under penulty of 100l. for every such offence, and the scales and weights may be seized by the officer.

Traders, manufacturers, and dealers liable to the excise duties, are to assist the officers in weighing stock; and forcibly obstructing, or using any act or contrivance to prevent or impede the officer from taking a true account, incurs a penalty of 100%.

Such are the more general regulations relative to the excise. Various acts of parliament have been passed from time to time, imposing excise duties and prescribing regulations accordingly: but these, as being too numerous and too complex to be introduced into this compendious Dictionary, are on that account omitted.

EXCOMMUNICATION, is the highest ecclesiastical censure, which can be pronounced by a spiritual judge against a christian a for thereby he is excluded from the body of the church, and disabled to bring any action, or sue any person in the common law courts. Co. Lit. 133.

The sentence of excommunication, was instituted originally for preserving the purity of the church; and it seems agreed, that wherever the spiritual court bath justisdiction in any cause, and the party refuse to appear to their citation, or after sentence being admonished to obey their decree, that he may be excommunicated. I Rol. Abr. 883.

A person excommunicated, is thereby disabled to be a witness in any cause, he cannot be attorney or procurator for another; he is to be turned out of the church by the churchwardens, and not to be allowed christian burial. Gibs. Cod. 435.

The sentence of excenimunication, can only be pronounced by the bishop, or other person in boly orders, being a master of arts at least; also the priest's name pronouncing such sentence, is to be expressed in the instrument issuing under seal out of the court. Gibs. Cod. 1095.

EXCOMMUNICATO CAPIENDO, a writ directed to the sherif, for apprehending him who stands obstinately excommunicated, forty days; for such an one not seeking absolution, bath, or may have, his contempt certified into the chancery; whence issueth this writ, for imprisoning him without bail or mainprize until he conform. 5 Eliz. c. 23.

EXCOMMUNICATO DELIBERANDO, a writ to the sheriff, for the delivery of an excommunicate person out of prison, upon certificate of the ordinary, of his conformity to the jurisdiction ecclesiastical. F. N. B. 63.

EXCOMMUNICATO RECIPIENDO, a writ whereby persons excumunicate, being for their obstinacy committed to prison, and unlawfully delivered thence, before they have given caution to obey the authority of the church, are commanded to be sought for and imprisoned again.

EXECUTION is a judicial writ, grounded on the judgment of the court from whence it issues: and is supposed to be granted by the court at the request of the party, at whose suit it is issued, to give him satisfaction on the judgment which he hath obtained: and therefore an execution cannot be sued out in one court, upon a judgment obtained in another. Impsy, K. B.

Executions in actions where money is recovered, as a debt or damages, are of five sorts: 1. against the body of the defendant; 2. or against his goods or chattels; 3. against his goods and the profits of his lands; 4. against the goods and the possession of his land; 5. against all three, his body, lands, and goods. 3 Black. 414. See Capies ad satisfaciendum, Fieri facies, Loveri facies, and Elegit.

EXECUTION OF CRIMINALS, must be according to the judgment; and the king cannot alter a judgment from hanging to beheading, because no execution can be warranted, unless it be pursuant to the judgment. 3 Inst. 52.

Execution of criminals is the completion of human punishment; and this in all cases, as well capital as otherwise, must be performed by the legal officer, the sheriff, or his depaty. 4 Black. 405.

EXECUTIONE JUDICII, a writ which lies where judgment is given in any court of record, and the sheriff or halliff neglecting to do execution of the judgment, the party shall then have this writ directed to the said sheriff or halliff; and if they shall not do execution, he shall have an alias, and pluries. And if upon this writ execution is not done, or some reasonable cause returned why it is deviated, the judges of the court may amerce them.

EXECUTOR, is a person appointed by the testator, to carry into execution his will and testament after his decease. The regular mode of appointing an executor, is by naming him expressly to the will; but any words indicating an intention of the testator to appoint an executor, will be deemed a sufficient appointment. Wood's Inct. 820.

Any person capable of making a will, is also capable of heing an executor; but in some cases, persons who are incapable of making a will, may nevertheless act as executors, as infunts, or married women; to obviate, however, inconveniences which have occurred respecting the former, it is enacted by stat. 38 Geo. 3. c. 89, that where an infant is sole executor, administration, with the will annexed, shall be granted to the guardian of such infant, or such other person, as the spiritual court shall think fit, until such infant shall have attained the age of twenty-one; when, and not before, probate of the will shall be granted him.

An executor derives his authority from the will and not from the probate, and is therefore authorised to do many acts in execution of the will, even before it is proved, such as releasing, paying, or receiving of debts, assenting to licenses, &c. but he cannot proceed until he have obtained probate.

If an executor die before probate, administration must be taken out with the will annexed; but if an executor die, his executor, will be executor to the first testator, and no fresh probate will be needed. It will be sufficient if one only of the executors prove the will; but if all pefuse to prove, they cannot afterwards administer, or in any respect act as executors. I Saik. 290.

If an executor become a hankrupt, the court of chancery will appoint a receiver of the testator's effects, as it will also upon the application of a creditor, if he appear to be wasting the attests.

If an executor once administer, he cannot afterwards renounce; and the ordinary may, in such case, issue process to compel him to prove the will. 1 Mod. 213.

If an executor refuse to take upon him the execution of the will, he shall lose the legacy therein contained.

If a creditor constitute, his debtor his executor, this is at ice, best not in equity, a discharge of the debt, whether the executor act or not, provided bowever, there be mucto sufficient to discharge the debts of the testator. Pland. 184. Saik. 200. S Bro. Cha. Ca. 100.

The first daty of an executor or administrator is to bury the deceased in a mitable manner; and if the executor exceed what is necessary in this respect, it will be a waste of the substance of the testator. I field, 236.

The next thing to be done by the executor, is to prove the will, which may be done either in the common form, by taking the outh to make due distribution, &c. or in a more solemn mode, by witnesse to its execution. Williams's L. of Wills, 68.

By stat. 87 G. 3. c. 9. s. 10. every person who shall administer the personal estate of any person dying without proving the will of the deceased, or taking out letters of administration within six calcular months after such person's decease, shall forfeit 50%.

Upon proving the will, the original is to be deposited in the registry of the ordinary, by whom a copy is made upon parchaent under his seal, and delivered to the executor or administrator, together with a certificate of its having been proved before him, and this is formed the probate. 1 Black. Com. 508.

If all the goods of the deceased lie within the same jurisdiction, the product is to be made before the ordinary or bishop of the diocese, where the deceased raided; but if he had goods and chattels to the value of 54 in two distinct dioceses or jurisdictions, the will may be proved before the metropolitan or archbishop of the province in which the deceased died. 4 Inst. 885.

An executor, by virtue of the will of the testator, has an interest in all the goods and chattels, whether real or personal, in possession or in action of the deceased; and all goods and effects coming to his hands will be the assets to make him chargeable to creditors and legatees.

An executor or administrator, stands personally responsible for the deceased due discharge of his duty; if, therefore the property of the deceased be lost, or through his wilful negligence become otherwise irrecoverable, he will be liable to make it good; and also where he retains manoy in his hands langer than is necessary, he will be chargeable not only with interest but costs, if any have been incurred.

But one executor shall not be numberable for money received, or detriment occasioned by the other, unless it have been by some act does between them jointly.

An executor or administrator, has the same remedy for recovering debts and duties, as the deceased would have had if living.

Neither an executor nor administrator can maintain any action, for a personal injury done to the deceased, when such injury is of such a nature for which damages may be received: in actions however, which have their origin in breach of promise, although the suit may abate by the denth of the party, yet it may be revived either by his executors or administrators, who may also sue for rent in arrear, and due to the deceased in his life time.

By the custom of merchants, an executor or administrator may inderse over a bill of exchange, or promissory note.

An 'executor or administrator may also, on the death of a lessee for years, amign over the lease, and shall not be answerable for rent after such amignment, nor shall he be liable for rent due after the lessee's death, from premises which in his life time he had assigned to another.

An executor or administrator, is bound only by such covenants in a lease, as are said to run with the land.

The executor or administrator, previous to the distribution of the property of the deceased, must take an inventory of all his goods and chattels, which must, if required, be delivered to the ordinary upon oath.

He must then collect, with all possible convenience, all the goods and effects contained in such an inventory; and whatever is so recovered that is of a saleable nature, and can be converted intomoney, is termed assets, and makes him responsible to such amount to the creditors, legatees, and kindred of the deceased.

The executor or administrator, having collected in the property, is to proceed to discharge the debts of the deceased, which he must do according to the following priorities, otherwise he will be personally responsible.

- 1. Funeral expenses, charges of proving the will, and other expenditures incurred by the execution of his trust.
  - 2. Debts due to the king on record, or by speciality.
- 3. Debts due by particular statutes, as by 30 C. 2. c. 23. For-feitures for not burying in woolien, money due for poor rates, and money due to the post office.
- 4. Debts of record, as judgments, statutes, recognizances, and those recognized by a decree of a court of equity: and debts due on mortgage. 3 Peere Wms. 401.
- 5. Debts on special contract, as bonds or other instruments under seal, and also reut in arrear.
- 6. Debts on simple contract, viz. such as debts arising hy mere verbal promise, or by writing not under seal, as notes of hand, servants' wages, &c.

The executor is bound at his peril to take notice of debts on record, but not of other special contracts, unless he receives notice.

If no suit be actually commenced against an executor or administrator, he may pay one creditor in equal degree the whole debt, though there should be insufficient remaining to pay the rest, and even after the commencement of a mit, he may by confessing judgement to other creditors of the same degree, give them a preference. 1 P. Wms. 295. Vaugh. Rep. 89.

Executors and administrators are also allowed, amongst debts of equal degree, to pay themselves first, but they are not allowed to retain their awadebt, to the prejudice of others in a higher degree; neither shall they be permitted to retain their own debts, in preference to that of their co-executor or co-administrator of equal degree, but both shall be discharged in equal proportion. 3 Black. Com. 18.

A mortgage made by the testator must be discharged by the representative out of the personal estate, if there be sufficient to pay the rest of the creditors and legatees. Where such inortgage, however, was not incurred by the deceased, it is not payable out of the personal estate. See Legacies and Assets.

Special bail is not required of executors or administrators, is any action brought against them for the debt of the deceased, unless where they have wasted his goods: nor shall costs be had against them. Cro. Eliz. 503. 3 Salk. 106.

EXECUTORY ESTATE, estates executed, are when they pass prescutly to the person to whom conveyed, without any after-act. 2 Inc. 518, and leases for years, rents, annuities, conditions, &c. are called inheritances executary. Id. 298.

EXECUTORY DEVISE, is defined a future interest, which cannot vest at the death of a testator, but depends upon some contingency which must happen before it can vest. Abr. Eq. 186.

An executory device differs from a remainder, in three very material points: 1. That it needs not any particular estate to support it.

2. That by it a fee-simple, or other less estate, may be limited after fee-simple.

3. That hereby a remainder may be limited of a chattel interest, after a particular estate for life created in the same.

2 Black, 172.

Executory devises of terms for years. If a farmer devise his term to A. for life, the remainder to another, though A. have the whole estate (for that is in him during his life) and so no remainder can be limited over, at common law, yet is good by way of executory devise. I Rol. Abr. 610.

The law relative to executory devises and contingent remainders, (which is confessedly among the most abstrace branches of English law) the reader will find amply discussed in Mr. Fearms's luminous Essay on these subjects.

EXEMPLIFICATION OF LETTERS PATENT, a copy or duplicate of letters patent made from the involument thereof, and sealed with the great seal of England, which exemplifications, are as exectual to be shewn or pleaded, as the originals themselves. See Evidence.

EXEMPTION, a privilege to be free from service or appearance. See Privilege.

EXHIBIT, when a deed, acquittance, or other writing, is in a chancery suit exhibited to be proved by witnesses, and the examiner writes on the back, that it was shewn to such an one at the time of his examination; this is there called an exhibit.

EXIGENT, a writ that lies where the defendant in an action personal cannot be found, nor any thing within that county, whereby he may be attached or distrained; and is directed to the sheriff, to proclaim and call him, five county court days one after another, charging him to appear on pain of outlawry; and if he come not at the last day's proclamation, he is said to be quinquies exactus (five times exacted) and then is outlawed. Cromp. Juris. 188.

This writ, lies also in an indictment of felony, where the party indicted cannot be found.

EXIGENTER, is an officer of the court of common pleas, of whom there are four in number: they make exigents and proclamations in all actions where process of outlawry lies. Impey's K. B.

EXILE, is either voluntary, as where a man leaves his country apon disgust; or by restraint, as when forbidden by government. See Banishment.

EX MERO MOTU, words formerly used in the king's charter, to signify that he grants them of his own will and mere motion, without petition or suggestion made by any other; and the effect of these words, are to bar all exceptions, that might be taken to the charters, &c. by alledging that the king in granting them, was abused by any false suggestions.

When these words " ar mero mota" are used in any charter, they shall be taken most strongly against the king. 1 Co. Rep. 451.

EX OFFICIO, is so called from the power which an officer hath, by virtue of his office, to do certain acts without being particularly applied to; as, a justice of the peace may not only grant surety of the peace at the complaint or request of any person, but he may in several instances, demand and take it ex officio. Dalt. 270.

Ex Officio Informations, are informations at the suit of his majesty, filed by the attorney general, ex officio, i. e. by virtue of his office, without application made to the court (wherein they are filed) for leave, or without opportunity being given to the defendant, of shewing cause why such informations should not be filed.

EX PARTE, of one part, as in the court of chancery, a commission ex parte, is that which is taken out and executed by one party only; the other party neglecting or refusing to join.

EX PARTE TALIS, a writ that lies for a bailiff, or receiver, who having auditors assigned to take his account, cannot obtain of them reasonable allowance, but is cast into prison by them. F. N. B. 129.

EXPECTANT, is used in common law with the word fee, and then is opposite to fee simple. For example, lands are given to a man and his wife in frank-marriage to have and to hold to them and their heirs; in this case, they have fee-simple; but if it be given to them, and the heirs of their body, &c. they have tail and fee expectant. Kitchen, 153.

EXPECTANCY, signifies baving relation or dependance upon something future. See Expectant.

EXPEDITATE, in the forest laws, signifies to cut out the ball of dogs fore feet, for the preservation of the king's game. And every one who keeps a great dog not expeditated, forfeits three shillings and four-pence to the king. 4 Inst. 308.

EXPENDITORS, the stewards or sworn-officers, who supervise the repair of the banks and water-courses in Romney Marsh.

EXPORTATION, the shipping or carrying out the native commodities of England, to other countries.

The law, relative to exports, consists principally of prohibitory or restorative regulations with respect to builton, corn, wool, tools, raw materials for manufacturing, machinery, &c. the exportation of which might diminish the necessary supply of provisions at home, or enable foreigners to depreciate the wealth of the country, by impairing its manufactures.

EXPOSITION OF DEEDS, in the construction of deeds, it must be considered, how a deed in the gross shall be taken and enure; and how it shall be taken and expounded in the several parts and pieces of it. If several join in a deed, and some are able to make such a deed, and some are not, this shall be said to be the deed of those alone who are able. And so e converse, if a deed be made to one that is incapable, and to others that are capable, in this case, it shall enure only to him that is capable. Co. Lit. 302.

EXPOSITION OF WORDS AND SENTENCES. Words and sentences, that may be employed to some intent, shall never be void and words tending to enlargement, shall not be construed restraint of a former clause. L. Raym. 269.

EX POST FACTO, a term in law signifying something done after another thing done, that was committed before.

EXTEND, signifies in a legal sense, to value the lands or tenements of one bound by statute, &c. (that hath forfeited his bond) at such an indifferent rate, as by the yearly rent the creditor in time be paid his debt.

EXTENT, sometimes means a writ or commission to the sheriff, for the valuing of lands or tenements; sometimes the act of the sheriff upon this writ. Bro. 313.

EXTINGUISHMENT, wherever a right, title, or interest is destroyed, or taken away by the act of God, operation of law, or act of the party; this is called an extinguishment. Co. Lit. 147. b.

Of the extinguishment of rents. If a lessor purchase the tenancy from his lessee, he cannot have both the rent and the land, nor can the tenant be under any obligation to pay the rent, when the land which was the consideration thereof, is returned by the lessor into his own hands; and this resumption or purchase of the tenancy, makes what is properly called an extinguishment of the rent. Co. Lit. 147.

Of the extinguishment of copyholds. As to the extinguishment of copyholds, it is laid down as a general rule, that any act of the copyholder, which denotes his intention to hold no longer of his lord, amounting to a determination of his will, is an extinguishment of his copyhold. Hutt. 81.

Of the extinguishment of common, if a commoner release his common in one acre, it is an extinguishment of the whole common. Show. 350.

Of the extinguishment of debts. A creditor's accepting an higher security than he had before, is an extinguishment of the first debt; as if a creditor by simple contract accept an obligation, this extinguishes the simple contract debt. 1 Rol. Abr. 470 and 471.

EXTINGUISHMENT OF SERVICES. If the ford purchases or streep's parcel of the tenancy, out of which an entire service is to be paid or done, by this the whole service will be extinct: but if the service be pro bono publico, then no part of it shall be extinguished, and homage and feulty are not subject to extinguishment, by the lord's purchasing part of the land. 6 Rep. 105. Co. Lit. 149.

EXTINGUISHMENT OF WAYS, if a man have an highway as appendant, and after purchase the land wherein this way is, the way is extinct. Though a way of necessity, to market, or to church, or to arable land, &c. is not extinguished by purchase of grounds, or unity of possession. I Inst. 155.

EXTORTION, signifies any oppression by colour or pretence of right, and in this respect it is said to be more beinous than robbery stacts, as also that it is usually attended with the aggravating sin of perjury. Co. Lit. 968.

At common law, extertion is severely punishable at the king's twit, by five and imprisonment, and by a removal from the office in the execution whereof it was committed. It Elia. c. 5. And this bratute adds a greater preadty than the common law gave, for hereby the plaintiff shall recover his double damages. I last. 210. See Colour of Office.

BXTRA-JUDICIAL, is when judgment is given in a cause of case wet depending in that court, where such judgment is given, or wherein the judge has no jurisdiction.

EXTRA-PAROCHIAL, out of any parish; privileged or exempted from the detics of a parish.

If a place be extra-parechial, and have not the face of a parish, the justices have no authority to send any poor person thither; possibly a place extra-parechial may be taxed in aid of a parish, but a parish shall not in aid of that. 2 Suit. 486.

If a place be a reputed parish, and have churchwardens and overseers of the poor, it is within 43 Eliz. though in truth it be no parish; but if it be merely extra-parochial; as the justices cannot send to such place so they extra-parochial; as it is exempt from receiving, so it shall not have the benefit of removing, for they have not proper persons to complain; persons is extra-parochial places must subsist on private charity, as all persons did at common law before 43 Eliz. which enacts that every parish shall keep their www poor; and that art does not extend to extra-parochial places.
2 Salk. 457.

EYRE. Dec Justices in Egre.

F

siding beyond the seas, or in any remote parts of the country, and in some cases constituted by letter of attorney to sell goods and merchandine, and otherwise act for his principal, either with a stipulated salary or allowance for his care, or commission. He must pursue his orders strictly, and may be concerned for several merchants. In commissions granted to factors, &c. it is customary to give them an authority in express words to dispose of the merchandize, and deal therein as if it were their own, by which the factor's actions will be excused, though they occasion loss to their prin--cipals. Goods remitted to a factor, ought to be carefully preserved; and he is accountable for all lawful goods which shall be consigned and come to his hands; yet if the factor buy goods for his principal, and they receive damage in his possession, through no negligence of his, the principal shall bear the loss; and if a factor be robbed, he shall be discharged in account brought against him by his principal. If a factor act contrary to his orders in selling goods, he is liable for the loss accrued therein, and shall answer to his principal out of his own estate. No factor acting on another man's account, can justify seceding from the orders of his principal. though there may be a probability of advantage by it. If a principal give orders to his factor, that he shall make an insurance on his ship and goods as soon as laden, and having money in his hands. he neglects to make such insurance; if the ship be lost, &c. the factor shall answer for it; so, if a factor make any composition with the insurers, after he hath insured the goods, without order or commission from his principal, he is answerable for the loss. Lex

By the stat. 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. s. 89, factors are liable to all the states concerning bankruptcy.—See BANKRUPT.

FACTORAGE, the wages or allowance paid and made to a factor by the merchant. The gain of factorage is certain, however the success prover to the merchant; but the commissions and allowances vary, according to the customs and distance of the country, in the several places where factors are resident, and are often from about two to seven or eight per cent. Lex Mercat. 155.

FACULTY, is used for a privilege, or special power granted to a man by favor, such as to hold two or more ecclesiastical livings and the like. And for granting these, there is an especial court under the archbishop of Canterbury, called the Court of the Faculties, and the chief officer thereof, the Master of the Faculties, whose power to grant such dispensations was given by 25 H. 8. c. 21.

FAILURE OF RECORD, is where an action is brought against a man, who alledges in his plea matter of record, in bar of the action, and avers to prove it by the record; but the plaintiff saith, aultiel record, viz. denies there is any such record: upon which the defendant bath a day given him by the court to bring it in; and if he fail to do it, then he is said to fail of his record, and the plaintiff shall have judgment to recover. Terms de Ley.

FAINT ACTION, a feigned action, or such action, as, although the words of the writ be true, yet for certain causes a man has no title to recover thereby. Co. Lit. 361.

FAIRS AND MARKETS, were instituted for the better regulation of trade and commerce, and that merchants and traders may be furnished with such commodities as they want, at a particular mart, without that trouble and loss of time, which must necessarily attend travelling about from place to place; and therefore as this is a matter of universal concern to the commonwealth, so it hath always been held, that no person can claim a fair or market, unless it be by grant from the king, or by prescription which supposes such grant. 2 Inst. 220.

Owners and governors of fairs are to take care that every thing be sold according to just weight and measure, and for that and other purposes may appoint a clerk of the fair or market, who is to mark and allow such weights, and for his duty herein can only take his reasonable and just fees. 4 Inst. 274. See Clerk of the Market, and Court of pie poudre.

Toll is a matter of private benefit to the owner of the fair or market, and not incident to it; therefore if the king grant a fair or market, and grant no toll, the patentee can have none, and such fair or market is counted a free fair or market. 2 Inst. 220.

No toll shalf be paid for any thing brought to fair or market, before the same is sold, unless it be by custom time out of mind, and upon such sale, the toll is to be paid by the buyer. 2 Inst. 221.

Goods in a fair or market cannot be distrained for rest, for they are brought thither for the good of the public; but if they are driving to market, and by the way are put into a pasture, it is otherwise. Wood, b. 2. c. 2.

Generally, all sales and contracts of all things vendible in fairs or open markets, shall be good not only between the parties, but also binding on all those that have any right or property therein. 2 Black. 449.

FAIT, a deed or writing scaled and delivered to prove and testify the agreement of the parties, whose deed it is; and consists of three principal points, writing, scaling, and delivery. By writing; are shewn the parties names to the deed, their dwelling places, degrees, things granted, upon what consideration, the estate limited, the time when granted, and whether simply, or upon condition.

Sealing, is a farther testimony of their consents, and delivery, though last, is not the least important; for after a deed is writtens and sealed, if it be not delivered, it is to no purpose: and in all.

decds, care must be taken that the delivery be well proved. See Deeds.

FALKLAND. See Freehold.

FALSE ACTION, if an action be brought against any one whereby he is east into prison, and dire pending the suit, the law gives no remedy; because the truth or falsehood of the matter, cannot appear before it is tried. And if the plaintiff be barred or non-wited at common law, regularly, all the punishment is assercement. Jone. Cont. 161.

Dut if a bailable action be commenced against another, and be is held to bail thereon, either without a reasonable cause, or for something considerably more than what is bone fide due, an action upon the case will lie for the vexation and injury.

FALSE CHARACTER. See Cherester.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT. To constitute the injury of falce imprisonment, two points are necessary: the detention of the person, and the unlawfulness of such detention. Every confinement of the person is imprisonment, whether it be in a common prison, or in a private bouse, or in the stocks, or even by fastibly detaining one in the streets. S Inst. 589.

By magna charta, no freeman shall be taken and imprisoned, but by the lawful judgment of his equals, or by the law of the land: and by the patition of right, 3 C. I. no freeman shall be imprisoned or detained without cause shewn, to which he may make answer according to law. And by the 16 C. 1. c. 10. if any person he restrained of his liberty, he may, upon application by his counsel, have a writ of habeas corpus, to bring him before the court of king's bench or common pleas, who shall determine whether the cause of his commitment he just, and thereupon do as to justice doth appertain.

For false imprisonment, the law hath not only decreed a punishment by fine and imprisonment, as a beinous public crime, but hath also given a private reparation to the party by action at law, wherein he shall recover damages for the less of his time and liberty.

2 Black 197.

FALSE JUDGMENT. A writ of false judgment lies, where false judgment is given in the county court, or other court which is not a court of record, in a plea real or personal, and returnable into the court of common pleas. Fitz. N. B. 17, 18.

FALSE LATIN. Before the statute directing law proceedings to be in English, if a Letter word were significant, though not good Latin, yet an indictment, declaration, or fine, should not be made void by it. 5 Rep. 121.

FALSE NEWS, slanderous to the king, or to make discord between the king and nobility, &c. to be punishable by imprisonment. 3 Edw. 1. c. 34.

FALSE OATH. If a person take a false oath, he is punishable for it by action on the case if it be not perjury, for which he may be indicted; for there is a difference between a false outh and perjury, for one is judicial, the other is extra-judicial. And the law inflicts greater punishment for a false oath made in a court of justice than elsewhere, because of the preservation of justice. Str. 337.

FALSE PLEA. See Pleading.

FALSIFYING A RECORD. It is held that he who purchases land of a person, who afterwards is outlawed of felony, or condemned upon his own confession, may falsify the record, not only at to the time wherein the felony is supposed to have been committed, but also as to the point of the offence. But it is agreed, that where a man is found guilty by verdict, a purchaser cannot falsify as to the point of the offence, though he may falsify for the time, where the party is found guilty generally of the offence in the appeal or indictment, because the time is not material upon evidence. 2 Hawa 459.

FALSIFYING A RECOVERY. Issue in tail may falsify a recovery, suffered by tenants for life, &c. And it has been held that aperson may falsify a recovery had by the issue in tail, where an estate tail is before bound by a fine. 2 Nels. Abr. 831..

FALSIFYING A VERDICT, where there is a verdict against tenant in tail, in real action, the issue can never falsify such verdict in the point directly tried; but only in a special manner, as by saying that some evidence was omitted, &c. 2 L. Raym. 1050.

FARM. By stat. 21 H. 8. c. 13. no parson or spiritual person may take farms or leases of lands, on pain of forfeiting 101. per month.

But the severity of this statute is now mitigated by the 43 Geo. 3. c. 84. which exempts them from such fines, on their obtaining the license of the bishop within whose diocese they are. By the same statute they are also permitted to buy and sell cosm and cattle, the produce of their farms, or such as are necessary for their cultivation, provided they do not buy or sell in person in any fair, market, or public sale. 48 Geo. 3. c. 84. s. 6.

FATHER AND SON. The father shall not have action for taking any of his children, except his heir; and that is, because the marriage of his heir belongs to the father; but not of any other of his sons or daughters. And the father has no property or interest in the other children, which the law accounts may be taken from him. Cro. Bits. 170.

The father is obliged by the common law to provide for his chileren. Lord Raym. 41.

Justices cannot order a maintenance for a child to be paid by the father, without adjudging that the child is poor, or likely to become chargeable. Id. 669.

FEALTY, signifies an oath taken at the admittance of every tenant, to be true to the lord, of whom he holds his land; and he that holds land by this oath only, holds in a manner the more perfectly free, than any in England under the king may hold.

The oath is now neglected in many places, but it is yet undoubtedly in force. I & 2 Black. 300. & 30.

FEASTS, the four feasts which our law especially takes notice of, are the feasts of the annunciation of the blessed Virgin Mary; of the nativity of St. John the Baptist, of St. Michael the Archangel, and of St. Thomas the Apostle, or in lieu thereof Christmas Day; on which quarterly days, rent on leases is usually reserved to be paid.

FEE. All our land here in England (the crown lands being in the king's own hands, in right of his erown, excepted) is in the nature of foudum or fee; for though many have land by descent from their ancestors, and others have clearly purchased land with their money, yet is the land of such a nature, that it cannot come to any, either by descent or purchase, but with the burthen that was laid upon him who had novel fee, or first of all received it as a besefit from his lord to him, and to all such to whom it might descend, or any way he conveyed from him; so that in truth, no man buth directum dominium, the very property or demesse in any land, but only the prince in right of his crown. Cam. Brit. 93.

FEE SIMPLE, is an estate of inheritance whereby a person is seized of lands, tenoments, or hereditaments, to hold him and his heirs for ever, generally, absolutely, and entirely; without mentioning what heirs, but referring that to his own pleasure, or to the disposition of the law. It is the most perfect tenure of any, when unencumbered; but although it is the greatest interest which by our law a subject can persess, yet it may be forfeited for treason or felony. To constitute an estate in fee, or of inheritance, the word heir is necessary in the grant or donation. Co. Lit. 1. Plant. 498. 2 Black. 49.

Fee qualified, is such a freehold estate, as has a qualification subjoined to it, and which therefore must determine whenever the qualification is at an end. Co. Lit. 27.

Proceeditional. This estate was at the common law, a fee restrained to some particular beins exclusive of others; as to the beins of a man's body, or to the beins male of his body, in which case it was held, that as soon as the grantee had losse born, the cetate was thereby converted into fee simple, at least so far as to enable him to sell it, to fewfeit it by treason, or to charge it with incumbrances. But the statute de dom's having enacted, that such estates so given, to a man, and the hoirs of his body, should at all events go to the issue, if there were any, or if none, should revert to the donor; this was by the judges denominated an estate in tail. Ploted. 251. Bee Estate.

FEE FARM, is, when the lord, upon the creation of the tenancy, reserves to himself and his being, either the rest for which it was before let to farm, or at least a fourth part of that farm rest. 9 Inst. 44.

FEE FARM RENT, so called, because a farm rest is reserved upon a grant in fee.

FBBs, are certain perquisites, allowed to officers in the administration of justice, as a recompense for their lubour and trouble; and these are either ascertained by acts of parliament, or established by anticut usuage, which gives them an equal sanction with an act of parliament. See Pin. Abr. Th. Fees.

FRIGNED ACTION. See Paint Action.

FEIGNED 196UE, is that whereby an action is feigued to be brought by consent of the parties, to determine some disputed right; without the formality of pleading, and thereby to save much time and expense is the decision of a cause. 3 Black. 452.

FBLO BE SB, a felon of himself, is a person who being of sound mind, and of the age of discretion, voluntarily kills himself; for if a person be insane at the time, it is no crime. But this aught not to be extended so far as the coroners' juries sometimes carry it, who suppose that the very act of self-murder is an evidence of insanity; as if every man who acts contrary to reason had no reason at all; for the same argument would prove every other criminal non composition will as the self-murderer. Sinst. 54.

All inquisitions of the offence, being in the nature of indictments, ought particularly and certainly to set forth the circumstances of the fact; as the particular manner of the wound, and that it was mortal, &c. and in conclusion add, that the party in such manner murdered bimself. 1 Saik. 317.

A felo de se, forfeits all chattels real and personal, which he bath in his own right, and also all such chattels real whereof he is possessed, either jointly with his wife, or in her right; and also all bonds, and other personal things in action, belonging solely to hims self; and also all personal things in action, and entire chattels in possession, to which he was entitled jointly with another, on any account, except that of merchandize; but it is said that he shall forfeit a moiety only of such joint chattels as may be severed, and nothing at all of what he was possessed of as executor or administrator. Staundf. P. C. 188, 189. Plow. 243. 269. 8 Inst. 55.

· Besides such forfeiture to the crown, there is a further punishment for this offence, viz. an ignominious burial in the highway, when a stake is driven through the body of the suicide.

FELON'S GOODS, are not forfeited, till it is found by indictment that he fled for the felony, and therefore they cannot be claimed by prescription. See Estrays and Waifs.

FELONY, in the general acceptation of law, comprises every species of crime which occasioned at common law the forfeiture of lands or goods. This most frequently bappens in those for which a capital punishment either was or is liable to be inflicted: for those felonies which are called clergyable, or to which the benefit of clergy extends, were anciently punished with death in lay or unlearned offenders; though now by the statute law, that punishment is for the first offence universally remitted. 4 Bl. Com. 91, 95.

Felony is always accompanied with an evil-intention, and therefore shall not be imputed to a mere mistake or misanimadversion; as where persons break open a door to execute a warrant, which will not justify such a proceeding. But the bare intention to commit a felony, is so very criminal, that at the common law it was punishable as felony, where it missed its effect through some accident, which no way lessened the guilt of the offender; but it seems agreed at this day, that felony shall not be imputed to a bare intention to commit it; yet it is certain that the party may be very severely fined for such an intention. I Haw. 65.

The punishment of a person for felony, by our ancient books inlet, to lose his life; 2ndly, to lose his blood, as to his ancestry, and so to have neither heir nor posterity; 3dly, to lose his goods; 4thly, to lose his lands, and the king shall have year, day and waste, to the intent that his wife and children be cast out of the house, his bouse pulled down, and all that he had for his comfort and delight destroyed. 4 Rep. 124. A felony by statute incidentally implies, that the offender shall be subject to the like attainder and forfeiture, &c. as is incident to a felon at common law. 3 Inst. 47. See Arson, Burglary, Fens, Forgery, High Treason, Homicide, Murder, PetitTreason, Piracy, Rape, Rubbery, and other Titles in this Dictionary, where the different felonies are noticed, and whether within or without Benefit of Clergy.

PBLONY UNDER COLOUR OF LAW, such is coming into a house by colour of writ of execution, and carrying away the goods. A special trust prevents the felony, until such special trust is determined. S Mod. 76

FEME COVERT, a married woman, so called from being under the court, protection, and influence, of her husband. See Husband and Wife.

FRME SQLE, a single or unmarried woman; a foice sole is liable to perform parish offices, the act only requiring the person to be a substantial bouseholder, without reference to sex.

FEME SOLE TRADER, a married woman, who, by the custom of London, trades on her own account, independent of her husband. See Buthruptcy.

FENCE, where a hedge and ditch join together, in whose ground or side the ditch is, to the owner of that hand belongs the keeping of the same hedge or fence, and the ditch belonging to it on the other side in repair and scoured. P. Off. 188.

An action on the case or trespand, lies for not repairing fences, whereby cattle come into the ground of another, and do damage. Also it is presentable in the court baron. 1 Salk. 335.

PBNCB MONTH, a menth wherein it is unlawful to hunt in the forest, because the female deer faws in that time. It being always according to the charter of the farest, aftern days before, and ending aftern days after midsummer. Manw. For. Law. part 9. c. 19. stat. 20 Car. 2. c. 3.

FENS, any person convicted of maliciously cutting or destroying any bank, mill, engine, floodgate, or sluice for draining fens, shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. 27 Geo. 2. c. 19.

PEOD or FEUD, a right which the vassal hath in land, or some immercable thing of his lord's, to use the same, and take the profit thereof hereditarily; rendering to his lord such feedal duties and services as belong to military tenure; the mere propriety of the soil always remaining unto the lord. See Fec.

FEODATORY, the tenunt who held his estate, by feodal service.

FEOFFMENT, may be defined to be the gift of any corporent hereditament to another. He that so gives or enfeaffs, is called the feoffer; and the person enfeaffed is denominated the feoffee. 2 Black. 20.

But by the mere words of the deed, the feofinent is by no means perfected. There remains a very material ceremony to be performed, called livery of seisin; without which, the feoffee hath but a mere estate at will. Id.

The end and design of this institution was, by this sort of ceremony or solembity, to give notice of the translation of the feud from one hand to another; because if the possession might be changed by the private agreement of the parties, such secret contracts would make it difficult and uncertain to discover in whom the estate was lodged, and consequently the lord would be at a loss of whom to demand his services; and strangers equally perplexed, to discover against whom to commence their actions for the prosecution and recovery of their right; to prevent therefore this uncertainty, the ceremony of livery and seisin was instituted. 2 Bac. Abr. 489.

Of the several sorts of livery. The livery in deed, is the actual tradition of the land, and is made either by the delivery of a branch of a tree or a turf of the land, or some other thing, in the name of all the lands and tenements contained in the deed; and it may be made by words only, without the delivery of any thing; as if the feedfor upon the land, or at the door of the house, says to the feedfor, I amcontent that you shall enjoy that land according to the deed, this is a good livery to pass the freehold. Co. Lit. 48, a,

The livery within view, or the livery in law, is when the feoffer is not actually on the land, or in the bouse, but being in sight-of it, says to the feoffee, I give you yonder house, or land, go and enter into the same and take possession of it accordingly; this livery in law cannot be given or received by an attorney, but only by the parties themselves. Pollexf. 47.

But this sort of livery is not perfect to carry the freehold, till an actual entry made by the feoffee, because the possession is not actually delivered to him, but only a license or power given him by the feoffor to take possession of it; and therefore if either the feoffor or scoffee die before livery, and entry made by the feoffee, the livery within the view becomes ineffectual and void; for if the feoffor die before entry, the feoffee cannot afterwards enter, because then the land immediately descends upon his heir, and consequently no person can take possession of his land without an authority delegated from him who is the proprietor; nor can the heir of the feoffee enter, because he is not the person to whom the feoffor intended to convey his land, nor had he an authority from the feoffor to take the pomession; besides if the heir of the scoffee were admitted to take possession after his father's death, he would come in as a purchaser, whereas he was mentioned in the feofiment, to take as the representative of his ancestor, which he cannot do, since the estate was never vested in his ancestor. Co. Lit. 48. b.

A feofiment, cannot be made of a thing of which livery cannot be given, as of incorporeal inheritances, such as rent, advocaon, common, &c. 2 Rol. 1. 1. 20. Though it be an advowson, &c. in gross. 21 Id.

A man may either give or receive livery in deed, by letter of attorney; for since a contract is no more than the consent of a man's mind to a thing, where that consent or concurrence appears, it were most unreasonable to oblige each person to be present at the execution of the contract, since it may as well be performed by any other person delegated for that purpose, by the parties to the contract. Co. Life 52.

There are few or no persons excluded from exercising this power of delivering seisin, for monks, infants, femes covert, persons attainted, outlawed, excommunicated, viliains, aliens, &c. may be attornies; for this being only a naked authority, the execution of it can be attended with no manner of prejudice to the persons under these incapacities or disabilities, or to any other person, who by law may claim any interest of such disabled persons after their death.

Co. Lit. 59. a. See Fins.

FEOFFOR AND FEOFFER, feoffer, he who infeoffs, or makes a feoffment to another of lands or tenements in fee simple. And feoffee is the person infeoffed, or to whom the feoffment is made. See Feoffment.

FRRE NATURE, animals, fere nature, of a wild nature, are those in which a man bath not an absolute, but only a qualified and limited property, which sometimes subsists, and at other times doth not subsist. And this qualified property is obtained either by the act and industry of man, or the impotence of the animals themselves, or by special privilege.

A qualified property may subsist in animals, for a nature, by the art and industry of man, either by his reclaiming and making them tame, or by so confining them that they cannot escape and ase their natural liberty; such as deer in a park, hares or conies in an enclosed warren, doves in a dove-house, pheasants or partridges in a mew, hawks that are fed and commanded by the owner, and fish in a private pond, or in trunks. These are no longer the property of a man, than while they continue in his keeping, or actual possession; but if at any time they regain their natural liberty, his property ceases; unless they have animum repertends, which is only to be known by their usual custom of returning.

A man may have a qualified property in animals fere nature, by special privilege; that is, he may have the privilege of hunting; taking and killing them, in exclusion of other persons. Under which head may be considered, all those animals which come under the denomination of game. Here a man may have a transient property in these animals, so long as they continue within his liberty, and may restrain any strangers from taking them therein: but the instant they depart into another liberty, this qualified property comes. 2 Black. 391.

Larreny cannot be committed of things force nature, while at their natural liberty; but if they are made fit for food, and reduced to tameness, and known by the taker to be so, it may be larreny to take them. I Man. 94. See Game.

FERRY, is a liberty by prescription, or the king's grant, to have a best for passage upon a river, for cauriage of borses and mon, for reasonable toll. Savil. 11 & 14.

Owner of a ferry cannot suppress that ferry, and put up a bridge in its place without a licence. Show. 948. 857.

And if a ferry be granted at this day, he who accepts such grants is bound to keep a heat for the public good. Id.

FEUDAL BARONILIS, fondal baronies were, when the king in the creation of baronies, gave rent and land to held of him for the defence of the scalar. There is no fewfal barony remaining at this time, except Arandel. I Saik. 368.

FRUD BOTE, a recompense for engaging in a fend or faction, and the contingent damages; it having been the custom of antient times, for all the kindred to angage in the kindred fact. Diet.

FBUDS, estates in lands were originally at will, and then they were easted manores afterwards they were for his, and then they were called beneficies and for that reason the livings of elenguan are so called at this day; afterwards they were made hearditary, when they were called fo sia, and in our law for simple. See Fee Simple. 8 Salk. 166.

FIAT, a short order or watrant of some judge, for making out

FIAT JUSTICIA, on a petition to the king, for his warrant to bring a writ of error in parliament, he writes on the top of the petition, feet justicia, and then the writ of error is made out, &c. Standarf, Provog. Reg. 82.

FICTION OF LAW, is allowed of in several cases: but it must be framed according to the rules of law; and there ought to be equity and possibility in every legal fiction.

Fictions, were invented to avoid inconvenience; and it is a maxim invariably observed, that no fiction shall extend to work an injury; its proper operation being to prevent a mischief, or remady an inconvenience, that might result from the general rule of law.

8 Black 464.

All fictions of law, are to certain respects and purposes, and extend only to certain persons; as, the law supposes the vouches to be tenant of the land, where in roi veritate he is not; but this is as to the demandant himself, and to enable him to do things us to the demandant, and which the demandant may do to him; and therefore a fine levied by vouchee to the demandant, or fine or release from the defendant to the vouchee, is good; but fine levied by the vouchee to a stranger, or lease made to him by a stranger, is void, 3 Rep. 29.

FIERI FACIAS, a writ judicial, that lies at all times within the year and day, for him who hath recovered in an action of debt or damages, to the sherif, to command him to levy the debt or damages, of his goods against whom the recovery was had.

Upon a fieri facias, the sheriff cannot deliver the defendant's goods to the plaintiff in antisfaction of his debt; nor ought he to deliver them to the defendant against whom execution is; but the goods are to be sold, and in strictness, the money is to be brought into court. Ore. Elis. 504.

If the defendant die after the execution awarded, and before it be served, yet it may be served upon his goods in the bands of his execution or administrator; for if the execution be awarded, the goods are bound, and the sheriff need not take notice of his death. I Med. 188.

And upon a fieri facias, the sheriff may take any thing but wearing clouths. Cumb. 356.

FIGURES, figures are not allowed to express numbers in indictments, but numbers must be expressed in words. Cro. Car. 109.

Roman figures are good in pleading, but otherwise of English figures. 2 Lev. 102.

PILACER or FILAZER, an officer of the court of commonpleas, so called because he files those writs whereon he makes out process. There are fourteen of them in their several divisions and counties; and they make out all writs and processes upon original writs, issuing out of chancery, as well in real, as in personal and mixed actions; and in actions merely personal, where the defendents are returned summoned, they make out posses and attachments, which being returned and executed, if the defendant appear not, they make forth a distringue, and so ad infinitum, or until he doth appear; if he be returned nibil, then process of capies infinite, &c.
They enter all appearances and special bails, upon any process made by them. They make the first scire facies upon special bails, weits of debeas corpus, distringues, super vipocomitem of dellivum, and duces tecum, and all super sedess upon special bail or otherwises writs of kabeas corpus cum causa, upon the sheriff's return, that the defendant is detained with other actions; writs of adjournment of a term, in case of pestilence, war, or public disturbance.

FILE, a file is a record of the court, and the filing of a process of court, makes a record of it. Lill. 212.

FINDING, any person finding any thing, has a special property therein, but he is answerable to the person in whom is the general property, but has a right against every person but the loser. The nuder is not answerable for a mere nonfeasance or neglect; yet if he make gain of, or abuse, or spoil the things he finds, be shall be answerable.

If bank-bills, tickets, &c. stolen or lost, are paid to or delivered to another, without consideration, an action lies against any one in whose bands they are found; and the law seems to be the same, though a consideration were given, if the party had previous notice of their being lost or stolen. Str. 505.

But the property of goods found or stolen, may be changed by sale for a valuable consideration, and without notice, in a market overt, and the party purchasing them obtains a title to them, against the original owner.

FINE, a fine is sometimes said to be a feofiment of record, though it might with more accuracy, be called an acknowledgment of a seofment on record: by which it is to be understood, that it hath at least, the same force and effect with a feofiment, in the conveying and assuring of lauds; though it is one of those methods of transferring estates of freehold by the common law, in which livery of seisin is not necessary to be actually given, the supposition and acknowledgment thereof in a court of record, however firtitious, inducing an equal notoriety. But more particularly, a fine may he described to he, an amicable composition or agreement of a suit, either actual or fictitious, by leave of the king or his justices, whereby the lands in question become, or are acknowledged to be, the right of one of the parties. In its original, it was founded on an actual suit commenced at law, for the recovery of the possession thus gained by such composition, and was found to be so sure and effectual, that fictitious actions were, and continue to be, every day commenced, for the sake of obtaining the same security. 2 Black. 349.

I. Of the several kinds of fines. Fines are of four kinds, first, that which in law French is called a fine sur cognizance de droit come ces g'il a de son done; or a fine upon acknowledgment of the right of the cognizee, as that which he hath of the gift of the cognizor. This is the best and surest kind of fine, for thereby the deforciant, in order to keep his covenant with the plaintiff of conveying to him the lands in question, and at the same time to avoid the formality of an actual feofiment, and livery, acknowledges in a court a former feofiment or gift in possession, to have been made by him to the plaintiff. This has is therefore said to be a feofiment of record; the livery thus acknowledged in court, being equivalent to an actual livery; so that this assurance is rather a confession of a former conveyance, than a conveyance now originally made; for the deforciant or cognizor, acknowledges the right to be in the plaintiff or cognizee, as that which he bath de son done, of the proper gift of himself the cognizor.

Secondly, a five, sur cognizence de droit tentum, or apon acknowledgment of the right merely, not with the circumstance of a preceding gift from the cognizor. This is commonly used to pass a reversionary interest which is in the cognizor; for such reversiom, there can be no feoffment or donation with livery supposed; as the possession during the particular estate, belongs to a third person.

Moor. 269.

Thirdly, a fine sur concessit, or upon grant, is, where the cognizor, in order to make an end of disputes, though he acknowledge; no precedent right, yet grants to the cognizee an estate de unue, usually for life or years, by way of supposed composition; and this may be done reserving a rent, or the like; for it operates as a new grant.

Fourthly, a fine sur done, grant, et render; which is a double fine, being in a manner two fines, comprehending the fine sur concessit; and may be used to create particular limitations of estate. In this species of fine, the cognizer, after the right is acknowledged to be in him, grants back again, or renders to the cognizor, or perhaps to a stranger, some other estate in the premises. But in general the first species of fine, sur cognizance de droit come ceo, &c. is more used, as it conveys a clear and absolute freehold, and gives the cognizee a seisin in law, without an actual livery; and is therefore called a fine executed, whereas the others are but executory. 2 Black. 352.

11. Operation of a fine levied. The force and effect of a fine principally depend upon the common law, and the two statutes 4 H. 7. c. 24. and 32 H. 8. c. 36. the antient common law, with respect to this point, is forcibly declared by 18 Ed. 1. c. 4. The fine is so high a bar, and of so great force, and of a nature so powerful in itself, that it precludes not only those which are parties and privies to the fine, and their heirs, but all other persons whatsoever who are of full age, out of prison, of sound memory, and within the four seas, on the day of the fine levied, unless they put in their claim within a year and a day, and by 4 H. 7. c. 24. Ave years after proclamation made.

A fine extends to parties, privies, and strangers; and the parties and privies are foreclosed by it presently, and the strangers in future. 2 Inst. 516.

III. The parties, are either the cognizors or cognizees; and these are immediately concluded by the fine, and barred of any latent right they might have, even though under the logal impediment of coverture. And indeed this is almost the only act that a feme covert is permitted by haw to do (and that, because she is privately examined as to her voluntary coment, which removes the general suspicion of compulsion by her husband), it is therefore the usual, and almost the only safe method, whereby she can join in the sale, settlement, or incumbrance, of any estate.

Privies to a fine, are such as are any way related to the parties who levy the fine, and claim under them by any right of blood, or other right of representations such as are the heim general of the cognizor, the issue in tail, the vendee, the device, and all others who must make title by the persons who levied the fine. 2 Black. 355.

Strangers to a fine, are all other persons in the world, except only parties and privies; whose right is bound unless they make claim within five years after proclamation made, except fames coverts (not being parties to the fine) infants, prisoners, persons beyond the sean, and such as are not of sound mind; who have five years allowed to them and their heirs, after such impediment removed.

Remons also, that have not a present, but a future interest only, as in remainder or reversion, have five years allowed to claim in, from the time that such right accrues. And if within that time they neglect to claim, or if they do not conformably to the statute 4 Anne, c. 16, bring an action to try the right, within one year after making such claim, and prosecute the same with effect, all persons whatsoever, are barred of whatever right they may have, by force of the statute of non claim. Id.

And the courts of law will not suffer a fine to be impeached (when once levied) on account of any defect of understanding, or even hanney or idiocy, of the cognizor. 12 Co. 124.

But in order to make a fine of any avail, it is necessary that the parties have some interest in the lands to be effected by it; otherwise two strangers, by confederacy, might defray the owners, by levying fines of their lands.

For if the attempt be discovered, they can be no sufferers as to the cetate in question, but must only remain in statu quo; whereas if a tenant for life levy a fine, it is an absolute forfeiture of his estate to, the remainder man or reversioner, if claimed in proper time. It is not therefore to be supposed that such tenants will often run so great a hazard; but if they do, and the claim is not duly made within five years after their respective terms expire, the estate is for ever, harred by it. Co. Lit. 251.

Regularly a fine may be levied of any thing, whereof a precipe; qued reddet, or facial lies, as the writ of customs and services: or whereof a pracipe qued permittant, as to have common, a way, &c. or to be short, where a pracipe qued tenest doth lie, as the writ of covenant to levy a fine, and the like. 2 Inst. 518.

Fines are now levied in the court of common pleas at Westminster, on account of the selemnity thereof, ordained by 18 Ed. 1. st. 4; before which time, they were sometimes levied in the exchequer, in the county courts, courts baron, &c. They may be acknowledged before the lard chief justice of the common pleas, as well in as out of court; and two of the justices of the same court have power to take them in open court; also justices of assise may do it by the general words of their patent or commission; but they do not usually certify them, without a special writ of dedimes potestatemed 2 Inst. 512.

- The chief justice of common pleas, may, by the prerogative of his place, take cognizance of sines in any place out of the court; and certify the same without any dedimus protestatem. But the chief justice of England cannot, nor any of the justices, except the chief justice of the common pleas, who hath this special authority by custom and not by statute. 9 Co. Read. For further information respecting the levying of fines, &c. see Impey's C. B. Practice, and Cruise on Fines and Recoveries.
- FINES FOR ALIENATIONS, were fines paid to the king, by his tenants in chief, for permission to alien their lands, according to Edw. 3. c. 12. But these are taken away by stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 24, abolishing all tenares but free and common soccage.

FINES FOR OFFENCES, originally all punishments were corporal; but after the use of money, when the profits of the courts arose from the money paid out of the civil causes, and the fines and confiscations in criminal ones, the commutation of punishments was allowed of, and the corporal punishment which was only in terrorem, changed into the pecuniary, whereby they found their out advantage. This begat the distinction between the greater and the less offences, for in the crimina majora there was lat least a fine to the king, which was levied by a capiatur; but upon the less offences there was only an amercement, which was affected, and for which a distringue, or action of debt only lay. 2 Bac. Abr. 502.

By the bill of rights 1 W. st. 2. c. 2. excessive fines ought not to be imposed; and all grants and promises of fines and forfeitures of particular persons, before conviction, are declared to be illegal and void. 4 Black. 579.

All courts of record, may fine and imprison an offender, if the unture of the offence be such as deserves such punishment. 8 Co. 39.

But no court, unless of record, can fine or imprison. 11 Co. 43. And all courts of taw that have power given them to fine and imprison, are thereby made courts of record. 1 Satt. 200.

The sheriff in his torn, may impose a fine on all such as are guiltyof any contempt in the face of the court, and may also impose what reasonable fine he shall think fitting, upon a suitor refusing to be sworn, or upon a bailiff refusing to make a passel, &c. or upon a tithing-man argierting to make his presentment, or upon one of the jury refusing to present the articles wherewith they are charged, or upon a person duly chosen constable, refusing to be swoon, 2 dust.
M2.

Also the steward of a court lost, may by recognisance bind may person to the peace who shall make an affray in his presence, fitting the court, or may commit him to ward, either for want of sureties, or by way of punishment, without demanding any sureties of him; in which case he may afterwards impose a fine according to his sinterestion. F. N. B. 82.

Also the sheriff in his torn, and the steward of a court lest, inner a discretionary power, either to award a fine or americances for contempt of the court; for a sufter's refusing to be sworn, &c. and the steward of a court lest may either americe or fine an effender, upon an indictment for an offence not capital, within his jurisdiction, without any farther proceeding or trial; especially if the crime were any way enormous, as an afray accompanied with wounding. Etchin. 48, 51.

Some courts cannot fine or imprison, but amerca, as the county, hundred courts, &c. il Co. 43.

But some courts can neither fine, imprison, nor amoree; accordences sinstical courts held before the ordinary, archdencen, fice or their commissaries, and such who proceed according to the canon or civit law. 11 Co. 44.

A find may be mitigated the same term it was set, being under the power of the court during that time; but not afterwards. L. Raym. 876. And fines assessed in court by judgment upon an information, cannot be afterwards mitigated. Cro. Car. 251. Af a fine certain is imposed by statute on any conviction, the court enamet mitigate it; but if the party-come in holoro conviction, and submit to the court, they may muess a ten Anc; for he is not convicted, and perhaps nover might. The court of exchaquer may mitigate a fine certain, because it is a court of equity, and they have a privy sent for it, 3 Sait. 58.

FIRES AND FERECOCKS, by 14 Geo. S. c. 18, charabarantees in London, and within the bills of mostality, are to Az firecocks, the, at proper distances in structs, and keep a large engine and hand engine for extinguishing fire, under the penalty of ten passade. And to prevent then, workmen in the city of London, the. must exact party walls between buildings, of brick or stone of a certain thickness, the. under the penalties therein mentioned.

On the breaking out of any Arc, all the constables and bendles abalt-repair to the place with their staves, and be amisting in putting it out, and causing people to work. No action shall be had against any person in whose house or shauber a disc shall assistantly begin.

FIRE BOTE, an allowance of fact or estovers, to maintain competent firing for the use of the tenants: which by the common law, any man may take out of the lands greated to him.

FIRE OUDEAL. See Ordeal.

PLEEWORKS. It is not lawful for any person, to make an easie to be sande, or self-or empose to unit, any squite, rockets, sorpents, or other showeaks, or any cases, woulds, as other implements for making the same 4 or to permit the same 40 be cast or fined from his home or other place thereto belonging, into any public street or rand, or to these or day, or be aiding in throwing and firing the same, in any public street, home, shop, river, or highway; and every such offence shall be adjudged a camman missance. 9 & 10 W., c. I.

PARST FRUITS AND DENTHS. First famile are the profits of every spiritual living, for one year, and tenths are the tenth part of the yearly union of each living, given antiently to the pope through all Christentism; but by stat. 26 H. S. c. 3. translated to the king hose in England, for the ordering whereof these was a court exected, 22 H. S. c. 45, but again dismined anno-prime Maria. Sees. R. c. 10. And since that time, though these profits be reduced again to the execut, by the stat. I Eliz. c. 4, yet was the court never restood, but all the matters therein went to be handled, were transferred to the exchequer.

By stat. 26 H. S. she lord chanceller, bishaps, &c. are empowered to exemine into the value of every ecolesisation! benefice and pre-forment in their several dioceses; and every elergyman entered on his living, before the first fruits are paid or compounded for, is to forfeit double value. But stat. I Eliz. c. 4, ordains, that if an insumbent on a benefice do not live half a year, or is ousted before the year expire, his executors are to pay only a fourth part of the first fruits; and if he live the year and then die, or be ousted in six months after, but half the first fruits shall be paid; if a year and a half, three quarters of them; and if two years, then the whole; not: otherwise. The archbishops and bishops, have four years allowed for the payment, and shall pay one quarter every year, if they live, so long upon the bishopric: other dignitaries in the church, pay, theirs in the same manner, as rector and vicars.

By 27 H. S. c. S. no tenths are to be paid for the first year, as: then the first fruits are due; and by several statutes of Anne, if a benefice be under fifty pounds per snowm, clear yearly value, it shall be discharged of the payment of first fruits and tenths.

The queen also restored to the church, what at first had been thus indirectly taken from it, by remitting the tenths and first fruits entirely, but by applying these superfluities of the imager benefices, to make up the deficiencies of the smaller; for this purpose she granted a charter, whereby all the revenue of the first fruits and tenths is vested in trustees for ever, to form a perpetual fund for the augmentation of poor livings under 50% a year. This is usually called queen Anne's bounty, which has been still further regulated by subsequent statutes: though it is to be lamented that the number of such poor livings is so great; that this bounty extensive as it is, will be slow, and almost imperceptible in its operation; the number of livings under 50% certified by the bishops, at the commencement of the undertaking, being 5597, the revenues of which, on a general average; did not exceed 23% per annum. Black. 285, 286.

FISH. Any person may erect a fish pond without liceme; because it is a matter of profit, and for the increase of victuals. 2 Inst. 199.

Concerning the right and property of fish, it has been held, that where the lord of the manor has the soil on both sides of the river, it is good evidence that he has the right of fishing; but where the river ebbs and flows, and is an arm of the sea, there it is common to nli; and he who claims a privilege to himself must prove it. In the Severn, the soil belongs to the owners of the land, on each side; and the soil of the river Thames, is in the king, &c. but the fishing is common to all. 1 Mod. 105.

Any person who shall unlawfully break, cut, or destroy, any head or dum of a fish pond, or wrongfully fish therein, with intent to take br kill fish, shall on conviction at the suit of the king, or of the party, at the assizes or sessions, be imprisoned three months, and pay twelst damages, and after the expiration of the three months, shall find tareties for his good absuring for seven years, or remain in prison till be doth. 5 Eliz. c. 31.

If any person shall cuter into any park or paddock, funced in and exclosed, or into any garden, orchard, or yard, adjoining or belonging to any dwelling house, in or through which park, or paddock, garden, orchard, or yard, any stream of water shall run, or wherein shall be any river, stream, post, pool, meat, stew, or other water, and by my means or device whatesever, shall steal, take, kill, or destroy, any fish bred or kept therein, without the consent of the owner thereof, or shall be aiding therein, or shall receive or buy any such fish, knowing them to be so stolen or taken as aforesaid, and shall be convicted thereof at the unizer, within six calendar months witer the effence shall be comitted, he shall be transported for seven years. And any offender, surrendering himself to a justice, or being apprehended or in rustedy for such offence, or on any other account, who shall make confession thereof, and a true discovery on eath of his accomplice or accomplices, so as such accomplice may be apprehended, and shall 'on trial give evidence, so as to convict such accomplice, shall be discharged of the offence so by him confessed.

And if any person shall take, kill, or destroy, or attempt to take, kill, or destroy, any fish in any river, or stream, pond, pool, or other water, (not in any park or paddock, or in any garden, orchard, or yard, adjoining or belonging to any dwelling house, but in any other inclosed ground, being private property) he shall on conviction before one justice, on the eath of one witness, forfeit 5% to the owner of the fishery of such river, pend, or other water; and such fusfice, on complaint upon oath, may issue his warrant to bring the person complained of before him; and if he shall be convicted before such justice, or any other of the county or place, he shall immediately pay the mid penalty of 5t. to mich justice, for the me of the person, as the same is appointed to be paid unto; and in default thereof, shall be committed by such justice to the house of correction, for any time not exceeding six months, unless the forfeiture shall be seener paid; or such owner of the fishery may, within six culpudar months after the offence, bring an action for the penalty in any of the courts of second at Westminster. 5 Geo. 8. c. 14.

Boolde the above statutes, sumerous acts, both public and local, have been passed from time to time, for protecting the fish, in different navigable rivers, &c. which will not admit of being noticed in this work.

FISHERMEN. There shall be a master, wardens, and assistants of the fishmongers' company in Lendon, chosen yearly, at the next court of the lord mayor and aldermen after the 10th of June, who are constituted a court of assistants; and they shall meet once a mouth at their common hall, to regulate abuses in fishery, register the names of fishermen, and mark their boats, &c. 9 Anne, c. 26.

FIBLING, right of. Fishery in navigable rivers, or arms of the the sea, is common and public; it prima facis belongs to the crown, and the presemption is against any exclusive right; yet an exclusive right may be prescribed for; but the proof lies on the claimers of it. In private rivers not navigable, it belongs to the lords on each side. Bur. 2184.

FISH ROYAL, these are whale and sturgeon, which the king is entitled to, when either are thrown on shore, or caught near the cousts. Ploud. 815.

FLEET, a well known prison in London. To this prison none are usually committed, but for contempt of the king and his laws, or upon absolute command of the king, or some of his courts. Or lastly, upon debt, when men are unable or unwilling to satisfy their creditors.

FLIGHT, is evading the courts of justice, by a man's voluntarily withdrawing himself. On an accusation of treason, or felony, or even petit larceny, if the jury find that the party fled for the same, he shall forfeit his goods and chattels, although he be acquitted of the offence; for the very flight itself is an offence, carrying with it a strong presumption of guilt, and is at least an endeavour to clude and stifle the course of justice prescribed by the law. But now the jury very seldem find the flight; such forfeiture being looked upon, since the vast increase of personal property, as too large a penalty for an offence, to which a man is prompted by the natural love of liberty. 4 Black, 387.

FLOTSAM, JETSAM, and LAGAN. Flotsam, is when a skip is sunk or cast away, and the goods float on the sea; jetsam, is when a ship is in danger of being sunk, and to lighten the ship the goods are cast into the sea, and the ship notwithstanding perisheth; and lagar is, when the goods so cast into the sea, are so heavy that they sink to the bottom, and therefore the mariners fasten to them a bupy or cork, or such other thing that will not sink, to enable them to find them again. 5 Rep. 106. b. The king shall have flotsam, jetsam, and lagan, when the ship is lost, and the owners of the goods are not known; but not otherwise. F. N. B. 122, where the proprietors of the goods may be known, they have a year and a day to claim for-whether foreign liquors and tobacco dereliet, jetsam, fletsam, lagan, or wreck, brought or coming into this kingdom, are by the laws now in force subject and liable to the payment of duties; and such article have by reason of such doubts been sometimes sold and carried into consumption without any duties having been paid for or in respect thereof, to the great loss of His Majesty's revenue, it is exacted, that all such liquors and tebacco dereliet, jetsam, flotsam, lagan, or wreck, brought or coming into this kingdom, shall be subject to the same duties as liquors and tobacco regularly imported. s. 1.

By sect. 2. various regulations are imposed for securing the duties; and by sect. 3. the lord of the manor on which such liquors or tobacco shall be found, having by law just claim thereto, or where no such lord of the manor shall exist, then the person or persons bringing into this kingdom, or finding or discovering on the coasts thereof, any such foreign liquor or tobacco, shall be at liberty to zetain the same in his, her, or their own custody or possession for the space of one year and one day, from such bringing, finding, or discovering thereof, on his, her, or their entering into bond to His Majesty, with two sufficient sureties to be approved of by the proper officer of customs or excise, in troble the value of such liquors or tobacco as the case may require, for the due payment of the duties in respect thereof at the end and expiration of such year and day, er in default of such payment, to sestore such liquors and tohacco at the end or expiration of such year and day, to the proper officer or officers of the customs or excise, in the same state and condition as the same was or were in at the time of such bringing, finding, or discovering thereof; anything hereinbefore contained to the contrary in anywise not withstanding.

Penalty on obstructing officers, 2002 sect. 4. And all fines, penalties, and forfeitures imposed by this act, and which shall be sued for under the commissioners of the customs in England and Scotland prespectively, or by any officer or officers of the customs, may be sued for, in such manner, as any fines or penalties incurred, or any goodsforfeited for any offence against the laws of customs may now legally be sued for, recovered, and disposed of; and the officer of the customs concerned in any such seizures or prosecutions shall be entitled to and receive such share of the produce arising from the said seizures as they are now by law entitled to, upon prosecution of seizures for unlawful importation, and to such share of the produce arising from any sach penalty or composition paid for any offences against this act as they are now by any law or regulation estitled to upon prosecutions for pecuniary penalties, sect. 5. One moiety of every such fine, penalty, or forfeiture, shall be to His Majesty, his heirs and successors, and the other mojety to the informers sect. 6.

FOLKLAND, was such as was held by no assurance is writing, but distributed among the common folk, or people, at the pleasure of the lord, and resumed at his discretion; and was no other than villenage.

FOLCMOTE or FOLKMOTE, was a common council of the inhabitants of a city, town, or berough, convened at the most ball or house. When this great assembly is made in a city, it may be called a burgemeter when in the county a shiregemete.

FORCE, in our common law, is most usually applied in its worst sense, signifying unlawful violence. Force, is either simple or compound; simple force is that which is so committed, that it is accompanied by no other crime; as if one by force shall enter into another man's possession, without doing any other unlawful act: mixed or compound force, is that violence which is committed with such a fact, as of itself only is criminal: as if one by force enter into another man's possession, and kill a man, or ravish a woman there, &c.

All force is against law; and it is lawful to repel force by force, i Inst. 267.

Where a crime in itself capital, is endeavoured to be committed by force, it is lawful to repel that force by the death of the party attempting. 4 Black. 181.

FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER. Foreible entry, is a violent actual entry into a house or land, &c. or taking a distress of any person, weaponed, whether he offer violence or fear of hurt to any there, or furiously drive any out of the pessession thereof. West Symbol. p. 2.

Where one or more persons, armed with unusual weapons, viewlently enter into the house or land of another; or where they do not enter violently, if they forcibly put another out of his possession; or if one enter another's house, without his consent, although the doors be open, &c. these are all furcible entries punishable by the law. Co. Lit. 257. So when a tenant keeps possession of the land at the end of his term against the landlord, it is a forcible detainer. I Ham. 145.

If any person be put out or disseised of any lands and tenements in a forcible manner, or put out peaceably, and after holden out with strong hand, the party grieved shall have assist of neuel disseisin, or.

writ of trespass against the disseisor; and if he recover (or if any alienation be made to defraud the possessor of his right, which is also declared by the statute to be void) he shall have treble damages, and the defendant shall also make the and ransom to the king. 8 H. S. c. 9.

But as this action is at the suit of the party, and only for the right, it lies only where the entry for the defendant was not lawful; for though a man enter with force, where his entry is lawful, he shall not be punished by way of action; but he may be indicted by the statute, for the indictment is for the force and for the king; and he shall make fine to the king, be his right ever so good. Dalt. c. 129,

He shall recover treble damages, as well for the mesme occupation, as for the first entry; and though he shall recover treble damages, the shall recover costs which shall be trebled also; for the word damages, includes costs of sait. 1 Inst. 257.

An indictment will lie at common law for a forcible entry, though generally brought on the statutes; but it must shew on the face of it sufficient actual force. 3 Bur. 1702.

If the party grieved will lose the benefit of his treble damages and costs, he may have the assistance of the justices at the general semious, by way of indictment on the statute 8 Hen. 6. which being found there, he shall be restored to his possession, by a writ of restitution granted out of the same court to the sheriff. Dalt. c. 129.

Porcible entry and detainer, is also punishable under the statute, by one justice of the peace, and by certiorari. Dalt. c. 44.

PORCIBLE MARRIAGE. If any person shall take away any woman having lands or goods, or that is helr apparent to her ancester, by force and against her will, and afterwards she be married to him, or to another by his procurement, or defiled; he, and also the procurers, and receivers of such a woman, shall be adjudged principal felom. And by 39 Bliz. c. 9. the benefit of clergy is taken away from the principals, procurers, and accessaries before. And by 4 and 5 P. et M. c. 8. If any person shall take or convey away any vamasried woman, under the age of sixteen (though not attended with fosce), he shall be imprisoned two years, or fined, at the discretion of the court; and if he deflower her, or contract matrimony with her without the consent of her parent or guardian, he shall be imprisoned five years, or fined in like manner. But the latter part o this act is now rendered almost useless by the 26th Geo. 2. c. 33, which makes such marriage totally void. The marriage of any person under the age of twenty-one, by Ucense, without such consent is void.

FORECLOSED, barred, shut out, or excluded for ever; as the barring the equity of redemption on mortgages. See Mortgage.

FOREIGN BILLS, NOTES, and COPPER MONEY. By 43 Geo. c. 3. 139. persons forging foreign bills of exchange, or notes, or uttering the same, guilty of felony, and to be transported for not exceeding fourteen years. s. 1.

No person shall engrave plates for foreign bills or notes, nor print them without a written authority, on pain, for the first offence, to be punished as for a misdemeanor, by imprisonment for not exceeding six months, or to be fined or whipped, and for the second offence by fourteen years transportation. But this is not to alter the laws in force against forgery. s. 2.

Persons counterfeiting foreign copper coin, for the first offence to be punished as for a misdemeanor, and for the second by seven years transportation. s. 3.

Persons indicted shall not traverse to a subsequent assize or session, and certificates of former conviction shall be evidence on trial for a second offence. s. 4, 5.

Persons who have more than five pieces of counterfeit foreign money in their possession, shall forfeit not more than 40s, por less than 10s, or be imprisoned three months. And the houses of suspected persons may be searched, and counterfeited coin seized. s. 6, 7.

FOREIGN COURTS. Upon a principle of the law of nations, every state being free, independent and uncontroulable, the sentence of any foreign court of competent jurisdiction, is not to be called in question, but is admitted as evidence of the fact upon which it is founded. If however, in such sentence any foreign jurisdiction should state the evidence, upon which its sentence or device is founded, subsequent evidence may be admitted to disprove such evidence, and consequently the sentence or decree which is a deduction from it. But where it is peremptorily given as a sentence, it is conclusive evidence, which the English courts will not allow to be questioned.

FOREIGNERS, are persons subject to a foreign state to which they owe an allegiance, and although made free denizers or naturalized in Great Britain, they are nevertheless expressly disabled by the act of settlement from hearing offices in the government, from heing members of the privy council, or members of parliament. See Alien.

FOREIGN OPPOSER, or APPOSER, an officer in the exchequer, to whom all sheriffs, after they are apposed of their sums out of the pipe-office, repair to be apposed by him of their green wax.

He examines the sheriff's estreats with the record, and apposet the sheriff, what he says to every particular sum therein.

FOREIGN PLANTATIONS, a writ of error lies here upon any of their judgments in foreign plantations, or in any dominions belonging to England. Vaugh. 402.

FOREIGN PLEA, a foreign plea is where the action is earried out of the county where it is laid, and is to be sworn, which a plea to the jurisdiction is not. Carth. 402.

FOREIGN SERVICE, is that whereby a mesne lord holds over of another, without the compass of his own fee. Or that which a tenant performs either to his own lord, or to the lord paramount out of the fee. Bracton, lib. 2. c. 16.

FOREIGN STATE, is the dominion of a foreign power. Thus, if any foreign subject parchase goods in London, and then depart privately to his own country, the owner of the goods may have a certificate from the Lord Mayor of London, on an affidavit being made of the sale and delivery of the goods, upon which the proper court in that state, will execute a legal process upon the party. A Inst. 38. At the instance of an ambassador also or comul, any criminal flying from justice to any foreign state, may be delivered up to the laws of the country where the crime was committed. Where any contract is made abroad, if the party be resident in England, it may be recovered in the English courts. Hob. 11. 2 Bulst. 322. a.

A foreigner may gain a settlement in England by occupying a tenement of 101. per annum, forty days. 4 East's Rep. 103.

FOREJUDGER, a judgment, whereby a man is deprived, or put out of the thing in question.

FOREJUDGED THE COURT, is when an officer or attorney of the court, is expelled the same for some offence, or for not appearing to an action by bill filed against him; and in the latter he is not to be readmitted till he shall appear. 2 H. 4. c. 8. he shall lose his office and be forejudged the court.

FORESTS, are waste grounds belonging to the king, replenished with all manner of beasts of chace or venery, which are under the king's protection, for the sake of his royal recreation and delight; and to that end, and for the preservation of the king's game, there are particular laws, privileges, courts and officers belonging to the king's forests. 1 Black. 279.

The forest courts are; the courts of attackments, of regard, of Swainmote, and of justice seat.

The court of attachments, is to be held before the verderers of the forest, once in every forty days, to enquire of all offenders against the king's deer, or covert for the same, who may be attached by their bedies, if found in the very net of transgrenies, otherwise by their goods; and in this court, the foresters are to bring in their attachments or presentment of vert and vanison; and the verderers are to receive the same, and to involve them, and to certify them under their seals, to the court of justice seat, or Smain-mote; for this court can only enquire of but not convict affenders.

The court of regard, or survey of dags, is to be holden every third year, for the lawing or expeditating of mastiffs, which is done by cutting of the claws of the fore-fleet, to prevent them from running after decr. No other dags but mostiffs, were permitted to be hopt within the king's forests, it being supposed that the keeping of these, and these only, was necessary for the defence of a man's house.

The court of Sustances, is to be holden before the verderers as judges, by the steward of the swalumete, thrice in every year, the swains or freeholders within the forest composing the jury.

The jurisdiction of this court, is, to enquire into the oppressions and grievances committed by the officers of the forest, and to receive and try presentments, cortified from the court of attackments, against the offenders in vert and ventions. And this court may not only enquire, but convict also; which conviction shall be certified to the court of justice sout; under the seals of the jusy; for this court cannot proceed to judgment.

The court of justice seat, is the principal sourt, which is held before the chief justice in syrs, or chief itinerant judge, or his deputy, to hear and determine all tresposes within the forest, and all claims of franchises, liberties and privileges, and all pleas and causes whatsoever, therein arising. It may also proceed to try presentments made in the inferior courts of the forest, and to give judgment upon the convictions that have been made in the swainmots courts. It may be held every third year. This court may fine and imprison, it being a court of record. And a writ of error lies to the court of king's beach. I Black. 289. 2 Black. 38. 3 Black. 71.

But the forest laws have long ago conted to be put in execution. 1 Black. 280.

FORESTALLING, is the beying or bargaining for any corn, tattle, or other merchandize, by the way, before it comes to any market or fair, to be sold; or by the way, as it comes from beyond the seas, or otherwise, towards any city, port, haven, or creek of this realm, to the intent to sell the same again at a higher price.

At the common law, all endeavours to enhance the common price of any merchandize, and all practices which have an apparent tendency thereto, whether by spreading fulse rumours, or by purchasing things in a market before the accustomed hour, or by buying and selling again the same thing in the same market, or by any other: such like devices, are highly criminal, and punishable by fine and imprisonment. 1 How. 234. 3 Inst. 195, 196.

Several statutes, have from time to time, been made against these offences in general, which were repealed by 12 Geo. 3. c. 71.

But though these offences are no longer combated by the statutes, they are still punishable upon indictment at the common law, by fine; and imprisonment.

FORFEITURE, is a punishment annexed by law, to some illegal act or negligence in the owner of lands, tenements, or hereditaments; whereby he loses all his interest therein, and they go to the party injured, as a recompense for the wrong which either he alone, or the public together with him have sustained. 2 Blacks. 267.

The offences which induce a forfeiture of lands and tenements, are principally the following: treason, felony, misprision of treason, premunice, drawing a weapon on a judge; or striking any one in the presence of the king's court of justice, and popish recusancy, or non-observance of certain laws enacted in restraint of papists.

By the common law, all lands of inheritance whereof the offender is seised in his own right, and also all rights of entry to lands in the hands of a wrong doer, are forfeited to the king on an attainder of high treason, although the lands are holden of another; for there is an exception in the oath of fealty, which saves the tenant's allegiance to the king; so that if he forfeits his allegiance, even the lands he held of another lord, are forfeited to the king, for the lord himself cannot give of lands but upon that condition. Cv. Lit. 8.

Also upon an attainder of petit treason or felony, all lands of inheritance, whereof the offender is seised in his own right, as also all rights of entry to lands in the hands of a wrong doer, are forfeited to the lord of whom they are immediately holden; for this by the fendal law was deemed a breach of the tenant's oath of fealty in the highest manner; his body with which he had engaged to serve the lord being forfeited to the king, and thereby his blood corrup ed, so that no person could represent him; and all personal estates, whether they are in action or possession, which the party has, or is entitled unto, in his own right, and not as executor or administrator, to another, are liable to such forfeiture in the following cases:

Ist. Upon a conviction of treason or felony.

But the lord cannot enter into the lands, helden of him upon an eachent for petit treason or felony, without a special grant, till it appear by due process, that the king hath had his prerogative of the year, day, and waste. Staunf. P. C. 191.

As to forfeiture of goods and chattele, it seems agreed that all things whatseever, which are comprehended under the notice of a personal otate are liable to such forfeiture.

2nd. Upon a flight found before the corener, on view of a dead body.

3d. Upon an acquittal of a capital felony, if the party be found to have fied. 9 How. 450.

4th. If a person indicted of petit larcency and acquitted, be found to have fied for it, he forfeits his goods as in cases of grand larceny. 2 Haw. 431. But the party may in all cases, except that of the coroner's inquest, traverse the finding of the flight: and it seems agreed, that the particulars of the goods found to be forfeited, may also be traversed.

5th. Upon a presentment by the eatin of twelve men, that a person arrested for treason or felony, fied from, or resisted those who had him in custody, and was killed by them in the pursuit or seuffle. Id.

6th. If a felon waive, that is leave any goods in his flight from those who either pursue him, or are apprehended by him so to do, he forfeits them, whether they are his own goods, or goods stolen by him; and at common law, if the ewner did not pursue and appeal the felon, he lost the goods for ever: but by 21 H. S. c. 11. for encouraging the prosecution of felons, it is provided, that if the party came in an evidence on the indictment, and attaint the felon, he shall have a writ of restitution. 4 Inst. 134.

Tth. If a man be felo do so, he forfeits his goods and chattels. & Co. 109.

8th. A convict within clergy forfeits all his goods, though he be beent in the hand; yet thereby he becomes capable of purchasing other goods. But, on burning in the hand, he ought to be immediately restored to the possession of his lands. 2 H. 383, 389.

The forfeiture upon an attainder of treason or felony shall have relation to the time of the offence, for the avoiding all subsequent alienation of the lands; but to the time of conviction, or fugam fects found, &c. only as to chattels, unless the party were killed in flying from, or recisting those who had arrested him; in which case it is said, that the forfeiture shall relate to the time of the offence. Plond. 488. See Corruption of Blood.

FORFEITURE IN CIVIL CASES, a forfeiture of copyhold

by felling timber, was relieved in equity; but the lord-keeper declared, that in ease of a wilful ferfeiture he would not relieve. Ches. Cas. 96.

In case of a forfeiture, equity can relieve, where they can give entisfaction. 1 Salk. 156.

FORFEITURE OF MARRIAGE, a writ which antiently lay against him, who, by holding knights service, and being under age, and commercied, refused her whom the lord effered him without his disparagement, and married another. F. N. B. 141.

FORGERY, is where a person counterfeits the signature of another, with intent to defrand; which by the law of England is made a capital felony.

A receipt to a cash memorandum, is not a receipt on acquittance for the payment of money within 2 Geo. 2. c. 25. against forgery.

Forgery may be committed by making a mark in the name of another person.

It may also be committed in the name of a person who never had existence.

And it may be committed of an instrument, though such an instrument as the one forgod does not exist either in law or fact.

Indorsing a real bill of exchange, with a fictitious name is forgery; although the use of a fictitious name, was not essential to the negocintion. 7 Geo. 2. c. 28. 18 Geo. 3. c. 18. or, any warrant or order for paying money or delivering goods. In the construction of the 7 Geo. 2. c. 22. it has, however, been decided that an order to a shopkeeper in a forged name to deliver goods to the bearer, is not a forgery within that statute; for a warrant or order within it must import that the person giving such warrant or order has, or at least claims, an interest in the money or goods which are the subject matter of that warrant or order; that he has, or at least assumes, a disposing power over such money or goods, and takes upon himself to transfer the property, or custody of them to the person in whose favour such warrant or order is made. Forster's Crown Law, 120. And it must be directed to the person who has the custody of the goods. Leache's Crown Law, 437. But a draft upon a banker in the name of a person who kept no cash at such banker's, is a forgery within the statute, because it takes for granted that cash was kept at the house which the drawer had authority to dispose of. Ibid. 89.

If a person puts his own name to an instrument, representing himself to be a different person of that name with an intent to defraud, he is guilty of forgery. 4 Durnf. and East's Rep. 28.

Where, however, a bill of exchange is indorsed by a person in his own name, and another represents himself to be such person, he is not guilty of forgery, but it is a misdemeanour. Leach, 268.

In order to prevent the forgery of bank notes, the 41 Geo. 3. c. 41. humanely enacts, that if any one shall knowingly have in his possession, or in his house, any forged bank notes, knowing the same to be forged, without lawful excuse, (the proof thereof to lie upon the person accused,) he shall be guilty of felony, and shall be transported for fourteen years. And if any person shall make any plate or instrument for forging bank notes, or any part of a bank note, or shall knowingly have them in his possession without authority from the governor and company of the Bank of England, he shall be guilty of felony, and shall be transported for seven years. Ibid.

A forged bank-nate (although the word pounds is omitted in the body of it), and there is no water-mark in the paper, is a counter-feit note for the payment of money.

Altering an entry of money received, made by a cashier of the bank, in the bank-book of a person keeping cash there, by prefixing a figure to increase the amount of the sum received, is forging a receipt for money.

A receipt indursed on a bill of exchange in a fictitious name, is forgery, although such name does not purport to be the name of any particular person.

If a person, who has for many years been known by a name, which was not his own, and afterwards assume his real name, and in that name draw a bill of exchange, he will not be guilty of forgery, although such a bill were drawn for fraudulent purposes.

If any person shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or willingly aid or assist in the false making or counterfeiting, any deed, will, bond, writing obligatory, bill of exchange, promissory note for payment of money, acquittance, or receipt, either for money or goods, with intent to defraud any person; or shall utter or publish the same as true, knowing the same to be false, forged, or counterfeited, be shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy; but not to work corruption of blood, or dishersion of beirs. 2 Geo. 2. c. 25.

Forging or imitating stamps to defraud the revenue, is/forgery by the several stamp acts: and the receiving them is made single felony, punishable with seven years transportation. 12 Geo. 3. c. 48.

There are likewise various other general laws, relative to the forgery of particular instruments, both of corporations and private persons, in all which the offence is felony without benefit of clergy.

FORISFAMILIARI, a son is properly said forisfamiliari when he accepts of his father's part of his lands, and is contented with it in the life time of his father, so that he cannot claim any more.

Blownt.

FORM, is required in law proceedings, otherwise the law would be no art; but it ought not to be used to empare or entrap. Hob. 232.—The formal part of the law, or method of proceeding, cannot be altered but by pagliament: for if once those outworks were demolished, there would be an inlet to all manner of innovation, in the body of the law itself. I Black. 142.

FORMA PAUPERIS, is when any person has cause of suit, and is so poor that he cannot support the usual charges of suing at law, or in equity. In this case, upon his making onth that he is not worth five pounds his debts being paid, and bringing a certificate from some lawyer, that he has just cause of suit, the judge admits him to sue in forma pauperis, that is without paying fees to counsellos, ottornies, or clerk; and he shall have original write and subpoense gratis. II H. 7. c. 18

And he shall when plaintiff, he excused from costs, but shall suffer other passishment at the discretion of the judge. And it was formerly usual to give such paupers, if nonsuited, their election either to be whipped, or pay the costs; though the practice is new discreted. S Black. 400.

It seems agreed, that a pauper may recover costs, though he pay some; for although the counsel and clerks are bound to give their labour to him, yet they are not bound to give it to his antagonist. Id.

FORMEDON, a real action which lies for the issue in tail after the death of the ancestor, or for him in remainder or revenion after the estate tail determined, and is called formedon, because the writ comprehends the form of the gift. Co. Lit. 326.

It is in the nature of a writ of right, and is the highest action that tenant in tail can have; for he cannot have an absolute writ of right, which is confined only to such as claim in fee simple; and for that reason this writ of formedon was granted him by the statute de donis. 13 Ed. 1. c. 1. Booth: 139.

This writ is distinguished into three species; in the destender, in the remainder, and in the reverter.

A writ of formedon in the descender lies, where a gift in tail is made, and the tenant in tail aliess the land intailed, or is discussed of them and dies; in this case the heir in tail shall have this writ of formedon in the descender, to recover these lands so given in tail, against him who is then the actual tenant of the freehold. F. N. B. 211, 212.

A formedon in the remainder lies, where one giveth lands to another for life or in tail, with remainder to a third person in tail or in fee; and he who bath the particular estate dieth without issue inheritable, and a stranger intrudes upon him in the remainder, and keeps him out of possession; in this case, the remainder man shall have this writ of formedon in the remainder. F. N. B. 217.

A formedon in the reverter lies, where there is a gift in tail, and afterwards by the death of the tenant in tail without issue of his body, the reversion falls in upon the donor, his heirs, or assigns; in such case, the reversioner shall have this writ to recover the lands. 3 Black. 191.

But these writs are now seldom brought, except in some special cases, where it cannot be avoided; the trial of titles by ejectment, is now the usual method, and is done with much less trouble and expense.

FORMER ACTION, in some cases a good plea to the bringing a new action.

The general rule is, that the party shall not be vexed twice for the same cause of action; but then it must appear, that the court first possessed of the cause, bad jurisdiction; and nothing shall be intended to be within the jurisdiction of an inferior court, but what is averred so to be. Gibb. 314.

FORNICATION, the act of incontinency in single persons; for if either party be married, it is adultery; the spiritual court hath the proper cognizance of this offence; but the suit must be instituted within eight months after the offence committed, and not at all after. intermarriage of the parties offending (27 Geo. 3. c. 44.) Formerly, the courts leet had power to enquire of and punish fornication and adultery; in which courts the king had a fine assessed on the offenders, as appears by the book of Domesday. 2 Inst. 488.

FORPRISE, an exception or reservation.

FOOTGELD, or FOUTGELD, an amercement for not cutting out the balls of great dogs feet in the forest.

To be quit of footgeld, is a privilege to keep dogs within the forest, without punishment or controul.

FRACTION, the law makes no fraction of a day; and therefore if a person die of a wound he received, the year and day shall be computed from the beginning of the day on which the wound was given, and not from the precise minute or hour. 2 Haw. P. C. 163.

FRAMES (DESTROYING OF)—By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 16. "for the more exemplary punishment of persons destroying or injuring any stocking or lace frames, or other machines or engines used in the frame work knitted manufactory, or any articles or goods in such frames or machines," after reciting the 28 Geo. 3. c. 55. This act makes the cutting or destroying frame work, knitted pieces, or marchines used in such manufacture, is made felony without benefit of clergy. And persons, in whose house or custody any such frames, &c. are destroyed, are to give notice to the owners, and go before a magistrate. But this act is to continue in force only until the first of March, 1814.

FRANCHISE, is taken for a privilege or exemption from ordinary jurisdiction, and sometimes an immunity from tribute; it is either personal or real, that is, belonging to a person immediately, or else by means of this or that place, or court of immunity, whereof he is either chief or a member. Crompt. Jurisd. 141.

FRANK-ALMOIN, signifies a tenure or title of lands and tenements bestowed upon God, that is given to such people as devote themselves to the service of God, for pure and perpetual alms; whence the feoffers or givers cannot demand any terrestrial service, so long as the lands, &c. remain in the hands of the feoffees. F. N. B. 211.

These donations in frank-almoine, are now out of use, as none but the king can make them; but they are expressly excepted by the stat. 12 C. 2. c. 24. abolishing tenures, and therefore subsist in many instances at the present day. 2 Black. 101.

FRANK BANK. See Free Bench.

FRANK CHASE, is a liberty of free chase, whereby all men having lands within that compass, are prohibited to cut down any wood, &c. without the view of the forester, though it be in his own demesnes. Cromp. Juried. 187.

FRANK FEB, that which is in the hands of the king, or lord of any manor, being antient demesne of the crown, is called a frank fee, and that which is in the hands of the tenant is antient demesne only: whence that seems to be frank fee, which a man holds at the common law to himself and his heirs, and not by such service as is required in antient demesne, according to the custom of the manor. Reg. Orig. 12.

FRANK FERM, lands or tenements, wherein the nature of fee, is changed by feofiment out of knight-service, for several yearly services; and whence neither homage, worship, marriage, nor relief, may be demanded, nor any other service not contained in the feofiment. Britt. c. 66.

FRANK FOLD, is where the lord hath the benefit of folding his tenant's sheep within his manor, for manuring his land. Keil. Rep. 198.

FRANK LAW, the benefit of the common law of the land.

FRANK MARRIAGE, is a tenure in tail special, whereby the donees shall have the land to them and the heirs of their bedies, and shall do featly to the donor, till the fourth degree Lit. s. 17.

FRANK PLEDGE, a pickge or surety for the behaviour of freemen, by a certain number of neighbours becoming bound for each other, to see each man of their pledge forthcoming at all times, to answer the transgression committed by any gone away, so that whosoever effected, it was forthwith enquired in what pledge he was, and those of that pledge, either produced him within thirty-one days, or satisfied for his offence. 4 Inst. 78.

FRANK TENEMENT, a possession of freehold lands and tenements.

FRATERNITY, many persons united together in respect of mystery and business into a company, but their laws and ordinances cannot bind strangers, for they have not a local power of government. 1 Salk. 193.

FRATRIAGIUM. The inheritance of younger brothers, for whatever they possess of The father's estate, they possess in rations fratriagil, and are to do homage to the elder brother for it, because he is bound to do homage for the whole to the superior lord. Breet. Hb. R. c. 5.

FRAUD. All deceitful practices in defrauding or endeavouring to defraud another of his own right, by means of some artful device, contrary to the plain rules of common honesty, are condemned by the common law, and punishable according to the heisonsness of the offence. Co. Lit. 8. 5.

The distinction laid down, as proper to be attended to in all cases of this kind, is this, that in such impositions or deceits, where common predence might guard persons from the offence, it is not indictable, but the party is left to his civil remedy; but where false weights or measures are used, or false tokens produced, or such measures taken to defraud or deceive, as people cannot by any ordinary care or predence be guarded against, there it is an offence indictable. Burr. 1120.

Persons convicted of obtaining money or goods by false pretences, or sending threatening letters to extort money or goods, may be penished by fine and imprisonment, or by pillory, whipping, or transportation. 88 G. 2. c. 24.

Beside this act, various other statutes have at different times been passed by the legislature, to prevent frauds, of which the following are the most material: viz.

By 1 Ric. 2. c. 9. 4 Hen. 4. c. 7. and 11 Hen. 6. c. 3. a feofinent of lands or gifts of goods by fraud, or for maintenance shall be void a and actions may be maintained against such feeders as take the profits.

By 3 Hen. 7. c. 4. all deeds of gifts of goods and chattels to the use of the person who made the same, to the intent to defraud oroditors, shall be void.

By 13 Elis. c. 5. all fraudalent conveyances, books, and deeds, made to defraud or binder creditors, shall be void; and parties and privies shall forfeit one year's value of lands, and the whole value of goods; and so much money as shall be mentioned in such books. But common recoveries shall be good, and the act shall not extend to voucher in formedon, or to purchasers for a valuable consideration.

By Maiz. c.4. conveyances made to defrand a purchaser, against such purchaser only, shall be void; and parties justifying the conveyance as made bosa fide, shall forfeit one year's value of the lands, and be imprisoned half a year. Where lands are conveyed with clause of revocation, and afterwards sold for valuable consideration, the first conveyance shall be void against the vendee. But mort-gages made bona fide, are not impeached. And statutes merchant shall be entered in six months, and for searching the same, the fee is 2d. a term.

By 29 Car. 2. c. 3. (usually called the STATUTE of FRAUDS) parol leases of freehold shall have the force of estates at will only, except leases not exceeding three years, whereon the rent reserved amounts to two-thirds of the improved value. No action shall be brought upon any special promise to charge any executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate, or to charge any defendant for the debt of another, or upon any agreement on consideration of marriage, or upon any contract for lands or any interest therein, or upon any agreement that is not to be performed within one year, unless the agreement, or memorandum thereof, be in writing signed by the party. No contract for sale of goods for ten pounds or more, shall be good, except the buyer accept part of the same, or give carnest, or some memorandum be made.

By 3 & 4 W. & M. c. 14. wills of lands shall be deemed, only as against band creditors, to be fraudulent. And they may sue the devisee and the heir of the obligor, jointly, and such devisee shall be chargeable for a false plea, as an heir. Devises for raising younger children's portions, pursuant to marriage contract, shall be good. If the heir or devisee aliem before action brought, he shall still be liable to the value of the land.

FREE BENCH, is the wittow's share of her husband's copy-

according to the customs in different places. In some manors it is one-third, sometimes half, sometimes the whole, during her widow-hood, of all the copyhold or customary lands, which her husband died possessed of. In some places by custom she holds them only during her chaste viduity. Kitch. 102.

FREE CHAPEL, is so called, from its being free or exempt from the jurisdiction of the ordinary. Most of the free chapels, were built upon the manors and antient demesnes of the crown, whilst in the king's hands, for the use of himself and his retinue when he came to reside there. And when the crown parted with these estates, the chapels went along with them, and retained their first freedom. These chapels are visitable by the king, and not by the ordinary; which office of visitation is executed for the king by the lord chancellor. See Chapel.

FREEHOLD, may be in deed or in law. A freehold in deed, is metual seisin of lands or tenements in fee-simple, fee-tail, or for life. A freehold in law, is a right to such lands or tenements before entry or scizure.

So there is a seisin in deed, and a seisin in law: a seisin in deed, is when a corporal possession is taken; and a seisin in law, is where lands descend before entry, or where something is done which amounts in law to an actual seisin. 1 Inst. 31.

Tenant in fee-simple, or fee tail for life, is said to have a free-hold, so called, because it distinguishes it from terms of years, chattels upon uncertain interests, lands in villenage, or customary or copyhold lands. 1 Inst. 43.

A freehold caunot be conveyed to pass in futuro, for then there, would be want of a tenant against whom to bring a præcipe, and therefore, notwithstanding such conveyance, the freehold continues in the vendor: but if livery of seisin be afterwards given, the freehold from thence passes to the vendee. 2 Wils. 165.

A man is said to be seised of freehold, but to be possessed of other estates, as of copyhold lands, leases for years, or goods and chattels. See Estate and Fee-simple.

FREEHOLDERS, such as hold any freehold estate.

FREEMAN, is a term applied to certain members of a corporate city or town, who have either purchased their freedom, or acquired it by serving an apprenticeship, &c.

FREIGHT, is the consideration money agreed to be paid for the use or hire of a ship, or in a larger sense, the burthen of such ship.

Lex Mercat.

The freight is most frequently determined for the whole voyage without respect to time, sometimes it depends on time; in the former case it is either fixed at a certain sum for the whole cargo, or so much per ton, barrel, bulk, or other weight or measure, or so much per cent. on the value of the cargo. Ibid.

If a certain sum be agreed on for the freight of the ship, it must all he paid, although the ship when measured should prove less, unless the burthen be warranted. If the ship be freighted for transporting cattle at so much per head, and some of them die on the passage, freight is only due for such as are delivered alive; if for lading them, it is due for all put on board.

When a whole ship is freighted, if the master suffer any goods besides those of the freight to be put on hoard, he is liable for damages.

If the voyage be completed according to the agreement, without any accident, the master has a right to demand the freight, before the delivery of the goods; but if such delivery is prevented by negaligence, or accidents, the parties will be reciprocally responsible in the following manner.

If the merchant should not load the ship within the time agreed on, the master may engage with another and recover damages.

If the merchant recal the ship after she is laden, and sailed, he must pay the whole freight; but if he unload before the ship has actually sailed, he will-in such case only be responsible for damages.

If the merchant load goods which are not lawful to export, and the ship be prevented from proceeding on that account, he must never-theless pay the freight.

If the master be not ready to proceed on the voyage at the time stipulated, the merchant may loud the whole or part of the cargo on board another ship, and recover damages, but any real casualties will release the master from all damages.

If an embargo be laid on the ship before she sail, the charter party is dissolved, and the merchant pays the expense of loading and unloading; but if the embargo be only for a short limited time, the voyage shall be performed when it expires; and neither party is liable for damages.

If the master sail to any other port than that agreed on, without necessity, he must sail to the port agreed on at his own expense, and is also liable for any damages in consequence thereof.

If a ship be taken by the enemy, and retaken or ransomed, the charter party continues in force.

If the master transfer the goods from his on ship to another, without necessity, and they perish, he is responsible for the full value, and all charges; but if his own ship be in imminent danger, the goods may be put on board another ship at the risk of the owner. If a ship be freighted out and home, and a sum agreed on for the whole voyage, nothing becomes due until the return of such ship.

If a certain sum be specified for the bomeward voyage, it is due, although the correspondent abroad, should have no goods to send home.

A skip was freighted to a particular port and bome, a particular freight agreed upon for the homeward voyage, with an option reserved for the correspondent to decline it, unless the ship arrived before a certain day. The master did not go to the port agreed on, and therefore became liable to damages; the obligation being absolute on his part, and conditional only on the part of the freighter.

If the goods be damaged without fault of the ship or master, the owner is not obliged to receive them and pay the freight, but he must either receive or abandon the whole; he cannot receive those that are not damaged, and reject the others.

If the goods be damaged through the insufficiency of the ship, the master is liable for the same; but if it be owing to stress of weather, be is not neconstable.

If part of the goods be thrown everboard, or taken by the enemy, the part delivered pays freight.

The master is accountable for all the goods received on hoard by himself and mariners, naless they perish by the act of God, or the king's enemies.

The master is not liable for leakage of liquors, nor accountable for contents of packages, unless packed in his presence.

FRESH FORCE, a force dome within forty days. If a man be disselsed of any lands or tenements, within any city or becough, on deferred from them after the death of his ameritor, to whom he is heir, or after the death of his tenant for life, or in tail; he may, within forty days after his title account, have a bill out of chancery to the mayor, &c. Fits. N. B. 7.

FRESH SUIT, is such a ready and earnest following of an offender, as never ceases from the time of the offence being committed or discovered, until he be apprehended. And the effect of this in the pursuit of a felos, is, that the party pursuing shall have his goods again, whereas otherwise, they are forfeited to the king. Staundf. Pl. Cor. lib. 3. c. 10.

It seems to have been antiently holden, that to make a fresh suit the party ought to have raised a bue and cry with all convenient speed, and also to have taken the effender; but at this day it seems to be settled, that if the party have not been guilty of gross neglect. but bath used all reasonable care and diligence in enquiring after, pursuing, and apprehending, the felon, he ought to be allowed to have made sufficient fresh suit, whether any hue and cry were levied or not, and whether such offender were taken by means of such pursuit, or without any assistance from it. 2 Haw. 169.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES. These prudent institutions are exclusively peculiar to the British dominions: and as the most beneficial effects have resulted from them, the legislature has placed them under various salutary regulations, calculated, on the one hand to give full effect to their benevolent design, and on the other to prevent frauds in the conducting of them. The following are the principal clauses of the different acts of parliament, relating to benefit societies, viz.

. By the 33 Geo. 3. c. 54. s. 1. Any number of persons may form themselves and establish one or more society or societies of good fellowship, for raising, by subscription of the members thereof, or by voluntary contribution, a fund for the mutual relief or maintenance of their members in old age, sickness, and infirmity, or for the relief of the widows and children of deceased members; and such members, or such member of them as shall be appointed a committee for that purpose, may assemble together, and make such rules, orders, and relogations for the government of the same, as to a majority of such society, or committee thereof so assembled, shall seem meet, so as the same be not contrary to the law, nor to this act. And they may impose such reasonable fines and forfeitures upon the members who shall offend against such rules, orders, and regulations, as shall be just and necessary for duly enforcing the same, to be paid for the use of such society, as they shall by such rules, orders, or regulations direct; and they may after and amend such rules, orders, and regulations as occasion shall require, or annul and repeal the same, and make new ones in lieu thereof.

Provided, that all such rules, orders, and regulations, with all convenient speed after the same shall be made, altered, or amended, and also after every making, altering, or amending thereof, shall be exhibited in writing to the justices at the sessions, or adjournment thereof for the county or place where such society shall be established; and such rules, orders, and regulations shall be subject to the review of such justices, who may, after due examination, at the then or the next subsequent sessions, annul and make void all such rules, orders, and regulations as shall be repugnant to this act, and shall allow and confirm such as shall be conformable thereto; and after having been so confirmed, shall be signed by the clerk of the peace at such sessions, and a duplicate thereof on parchment shall be deposited with and filed by the clerk of the peace at such sessions without fee, and the same shall be binding upon all purties. Ibid. s. 2.

And by the 43 Geo. 3. c. 111. such society who shall have exhihited the rules, &c. made for government thereof, at any general or quarter sessions having peculiar jurisdiction for the place where such society is established, and not to the sessions for the county, &c. at large, may exhibit the rules, &c. of such society at the general duarter sessions, or at any adjournment thereof, to be holden for the county, &c. where such society is established; such rules, &c. beating the certificate of the town clerk or other proper officer, of the time when such rules, &c. were respectively first exhibited as aforesaid; or may exhibit in like manner a duplicate or a true copy of such rules, &c. with an affidavit unnexed, to be taken before any justice of the county where such society is established, of the time when such rules, &c. so first exhibited, subject to the like examination, review, allowance, and confirmation of such last-meationed general quarter sessions, or adjournment thereof, as is directed by the 33 Geo. 3. c. 54. s. 2; and such rules, &c. being confirmed by such last-mentioned general quarter sessions, or any adjournment thereof, to the manner directed by the said recked act, may be flied at such sessions, and shall be as valid and effectual from the time the same were first exhibited at the sessions bewing such peculiar jurisdiction as aforesaid, as if the same had been originally exhibited and filed at the sessions held for the said county, riding, division, or shire. 43 Geo. 3. c. 111.

Provided, that no rule, order, or regulation, confirmed in manner aforesaid, shall be altered, rescinded, or repeated, unless at a general meeting of the members of such society, convened by public notice in writing, signed by the secretary or clerk, in pursuance of a requisition by three or four members, and publicly read at the two usual meetings of such society held next before such general meeting for that purpose, miless a committee of such members shall have been nominated for that purpose, in which case such committee shall be convened in like manner; and that such afteration or repeal shall not be hinding, unless made with the appronation of three-fourths of the members or committee then present. and agreed to and confirmed by the justices of such sessions or adjournment, as aforesaid. Such society may at a general meeting, or by their committee, appoint such officers as shall be necessary for carrying into execution the purposes of such institution; and may require of them security for the faithful discharge of their shall be chargeable with stamp duty. 33 Geo. c. 54, s. 4.

Every such society may elect any number of the members thereof, but not less than eleven, to be a committee, whose acts shall-have as much force as if done at a general meeting; the powers of standing committees to be declared in the rules of the society, sad flied at the sessions aforesaid, and of particular ones (five of the members of which will at least be necessary to concur in any act of such committee) to be entered in a book by the secretary of elerk. 2. 3.

Committees are controllable by the society; and treasurers or trustees may, with the consent of such society, lay out the surplus of such contributions as the exigencies of the society do not call for, either upon private security, or may vest the same in the public funds, in either case in the name of such treasurer or trustee; and with the consent of the society may after and transfer such securities and funds, and make sale thereof respectively, bringing the proceeds, dividends, and interest thereof to account for the use of two society.

Treasurers are to render accounts, and to pay over the balances remaining in their hunds, and in default thereof, the society may exhibit a petition in chancery, without paying any fees or stump duties. s. 6-0.

If any person appointed to any office by any such society, and having in his hands any money, effects, or securities belonging to the same, shall die, or become bunkrupt, or insolvent, his creditors, administrators, or anigm, shall within forty days, after demand made by the order of the society, or the major part of them anomabled at any meeting, deliver all things belonging to such society to such person as they shall appoint, and shall pay out of the suchs or effects all money remaining due, before any of his other debts. All the effects belonging to such societies shall be vested in the treasurer, or trustee for the time being, for the benefit of the society, and after his death or removal, shall, without any transfer or anignment whatever, vest in his successor, who may bring and defend actions, which shall not be discontinued by the death or removal of such person. s. 10, t1.

Before any of the rules, &c. of such societies shall be allowed, it shall be declared by one or more of the general rules, &c. of such society, for what intent and purpose it is intended to be established, and it shall be therein specified to what uses and purposes the money which shall be subscribed, paid, or given, for the benefit thereof, &c. shall be applied, and under what circumstances my member or other person shall become entitled to the same, or any part thereof. And by the same section it is provided, that it shall not be lawful for any such society to dissolve or determine the same, or direct the division or distribution of such stock, or any part thereof, so long as the intents and purposes declared by them remain to be carried into effect, without the consent of five sixths of the then existing members, and also of all persons then receiving or entitled to receive relief, testified under their hands. All rules, orders, &c. to be entered in a book, and signed by the members, who may at all reasonable times inspect the same; and are to be received in evidence in all courts. s. 12, 13.

Societies may receive donations, which shall be applied in like manner as the contributions of the several members.

Members thinking themselves aggrieved may, on oath, complain to two justices, who may hear and determine the same without appeal. Where general rules direct disputes to be settled by arbitration, whatever award, order, or determination such arbitrators, or the major part of them, make according to the true purport and meaning of the rules of such society, shall be binding and conclusive without appeal. s. 14—16.

By the 49 Geo. 3. c. 125. if any person, baving been admitted a member of any society established under the authority of the 33 Geo. 3. c. 51. shall offend against any of the rules, orders, and regulations of such society, it shall be inwful for any two justices, residing within the county, riding, division, shire, stewartry, city, liberty, or place, within which such society shall be held, upon complaint made, on oath, by any member, to summon such person against whom such complaint shall be made; and upon his appearance, or in default thereof, upon due proof, upon onth, of the service of such summons, such justices shall proceed to hear and determine the said complaint according to the rules, &c. of the said society, confirmed as directed by the said act, and shall make such order thereon as to them shall seem just, and in case the said justices shall adjudge any sum of money to be paid by such person against whom such complaint shall be made, and such person shall not, on notice of such order, forthwith puy the sum of money so adjudged to the person or persons, and in the manner directed by this act, such justices shall, by warrant under their hands and seals, cause the same to be levied by distress and sale of the goods of such person on whom such order shall have been made, together with such costs as shall be awarded by the said justices, and also the costs and charges attending such distress and sale.

FRUIT. Every person who shall bark any fruit tree, shall forfeit to the party grieved, treble damages, by action at the common law; and also 10% to the hing. 37 Hen. & c. 6.

Every person who shall sob any orchast or garden, or dig or pull up any fruit trees, with intent to take the same away (the same not being felosy by the laws of this realm), shall, on conviction, before one justice, give to the purty such satisfaction for damages, as such justice shall appoint; and in default of payment to be whipped.

43 Eliz. c. 7.

And with respect to what shall be deemed folony by the laws of this realm, the distinction seems to be, that if they be any way annexed to the freehold, as trees growing, or apples growing upon the trees, then the taking and carrying them away is not felony, but trespose only, for a man cannot steal part of a freehold; but if they be severed from the freehold, as wood cut, or apples gathered from the trees, then the taking of them is not a trespose only, but felony. Id-

Fine and imprisonment may be indirect on persons destroying fruit trees. 1 G. 1. c. 48.

Robbing orchards or gardens of fruit growing therein, may be punished by fine, whipping, &c.

FUEL. All faggots made for sale, shall contain in compass, besides the knot of the bond, twenty-four inches of assize; and every faggot stick within the bond, shall contain full three feet of assize, except only one stick to be but one foot long, to stop or harden the binding. 43 Eliz. c. 14.

All billets (except those made of beech) that lie exposed in the public places, where they are usually bought or sold, shall be assized and cut as directed by 9 Anne, c. 15.

FUGAM FECIT, is where it is found by inquisition, that a person fled for treason or felony; as to which it is agreed, that wheresoever a person found guilty by such inquest, either as a principal, or as an accessary before the fact, is found also to have fled for the same, he forfeits his goods absolutely, and the issues of his lands, till he be pardoned or acquitted.

But wherever the indictment against a man is insufficient, the finding a fugam fecit, will not burt him; and that in all cases, the particulars of the goods found to be forfeited, may be traversed. 9 Hen. 450.

FUGITIVE'S GOODS, are the proper goods of him that flies, which after the flight lawfully found, belong to the king, or lord of the manor. 5 Co. Rep. 109. See Felon's Goods.

FUNERAL EXPRISES, are allowed previous to all other debts and charges; but if the executor or administrator be extravagunt, it is a species of devastation or waste of the substance of the deceased, and shall only be prejudicial to himself, and not to the creditors or legatees of the deceased. 2 Black. 503.

But in strictness, no funeral expenses are allowable against a creditor, except for the shroud, coffin, ringing the bell, parson, clerk, grave-digger, and bearers' fees, but not for pall or ornaments. I Salk. 190.

And in general it is said, that no more than 40s. in the whole for funeral expenses, shall be allowed against creditors. 3 Atk. 249.

FURBOTE, FYRBOTE, FIREBOTE, a liberty granted by the lord to his servant, to take underwood for fire.

FURCA, in antient privileges, signified a jurisdiction of punishing felons, viz. the men with hanging, the women with drowning.

FURCAM ET FLAGELLUM, the meanest servile tenure, when the bondman was at the disposal of his lord, for life and limb.

FURTA, a privilege derived from the king, as prime lord, to try, condemn, and execute thleves and felons within certain bounds.

G

CABEL, tribute, toll, custom, yearly rent, payment, or revenue.

GABALET, an antient and special kind of cessavit used in Kent, where the custom of gavel kind continues, whereby the tenant shall forfeit his lands and tenement to the lord, of whom he holds, if he withdraw from him his rent and services.

GAFOLD GYLD, signifies the payment or rendering of tribute or custom.

GAFOL-LAND, land liable to tribute or tax.

GAGE, to give security that a thing shall be delivered: for if he who distrained, being sued, but not delivered the cattle that were distrained, then he shall not only avow the distress, but gage deliverance, that is, put in sureties that he will deliver the cattle distrained F. N. B. 74.

GAINAGE, signifies the draft oxen, horses, wain, plough, and furniture, for carrying on the work of tillage by the baser sort of sokemen and villains; and sometimes the land itself, or the profit raised by cultivating it. Bract. Lib. 1. c. 9.

GAME. It is a maxim of the common law, that goods of which no person can claim any property, belong to the king by his prerogative. Hence those animals for a natura, which come under the denomination of game, are styled in our laws his majesty's game; and that which he has he may grant to another; in consequence of which another may prescribe to have the same, within such a precinct or lordship. And hence originated the right of lords of manors, or others, to the game within their respective liberties. As the sole right of taking and destroying game belongs exclusively to the king, as such he may authorize the only persons who can acquire any property, however fugitive and transitory, in the animals coming under that denomination. A Bl. Com. 175.

For the preservation of these species of animals, for the recreation and amusement of persons of fortune, to whom the king with the advice and assent of parliament, has granted the same, and to prevent persons of inferior rank from misemploying their time, the following acts of parliament have been made. The common people are not injured by these restrictions, no right being taken from them which they ever enjoyed; but privileges are granted to those who have certain qualifications therein mentioned, which, before rested solely in the king. 2 Bac. Abr. 612.

For the sake of perspicuity we have arranged the different acts of perliament in alphabetical order.

Certificates, to be dated the day of the month when issued, and shall be in force till the first of July following and no longer; and if any clerk of the peace, his deputy, or steward, clerk, &c. issue certificates otherwise than directed, to forfeit 201. 25 Geo. 3. Sess. 2. c. 50.

No person to destroy game until he has delivered an account of his name and place of abode to the clerk of the peace, or his deputy, or to the sheriff, or steward clerk of the county, riding, shire, stewartry or place where such person shall reside, and annually take out a certificate thereof, which must have a stamp duty of three pounds thirteen shillings and sixpence. 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. Their servants or gamekeepers duly registered, one pound five shillings. Ibid.

Any person counterfeiting or forging any seal or stamp directed to be used by this act, with intent to defraud the revenue, or shall utter or sell such counterfeit, on conviction thereof shall be adjudged a felon, and shall suffer death without benefit of clergy; and all provisions of former acts relative to stamp duties, to be in force in executing this act. 25 Geo. 3. c. 50.

Every qualified person, shooting at, killing, taking, or shooting any pheasant, partridge, heath-fowl, or black game, or any grouse or red game, or any other game, or killing, taking, or destroying, any hare, with any greyhound, pointer, spaniel, setting dog, or other dog, without having obtained such certificate, shall forfeit the sum of 201. Id.

Clerks of the peace or their deputies, or the sheriff, or steward clerks, in their respective counties, ridings, shires, stewartries, or places, shall on or before November 1, 1785, or sooner if required by the commissioners of his majesty's stamp duties, transmit to the head office of stamps in London, a correct list in alphabetical order, of the certificates by them issued between the 25th day of March in the year 1785, and the first of October in the same year; and shall also in every subsequent year, on or before the first of August in each year, make out and transmit to the stamp office in London, correct alphabetical lists of the certificates so granted by them, distinguishing the duties paid on each respective certificate so issued, and on delivery thereof, the receiver-general of the stamp duties shall pay to the clerk of peace, &c. for the same, one halfpenny a name; and in case of neglect or refusal, or not inserting, a full, true, and perfect account, he shall forfeit 20t. Id.

Lists may be inspected at the stamp-office for 1s. each search; id. which lists shall once or oftener in every year, be inserted in the newspapers in each respective county.

If any qualified person, or one having a deputation, shall be found in pursuit of game, with gun, dog, or net, or other engine for the destruction of game, or taking or killing thereof, and shall be required to show his certificate, by the lord or lady of the manor, or proprietor of the land whereon such person shall be using such gun, &c. or by any duly appointed game-keeper, or by any qualified, or certified person, or by any officer of the stamps, properly authorized by the commissioners, he shall produce his certificate: and if such person shall refuse, upon the production of the certificate of the person requiring the same, to shew the certificate granted to him for the like purpose; or in case of not having such certificate to produce, shall refuse to tell his christian and surname, and his place of residence, and the name of the county, where his certificate was issued, or shall give in any faise or fictitious name, he shall for-Peit 50!. Id.

Certificates do not authorize any person to shoot at, kill, take, or destroy, any game at any time that is prohibited by law, nor give any person a right to shoot at, &c. unless he be duly qualified by law. Id.

No certificate obtained under any deputation, shall be pleaded or given in evidence, where any person shall shoot at, &c. any game out of the manors or lands for which it was given. The royal family are exempted from taking out certificates for themselves or their deputies. Id.

Contes. Destroying conies, transportation. 5 G. 3. c. 14.

. Robbing warrens, feleny without clergy. 9 G. 1. s. 92.

Killing them in the night, or endeavouring to kill them, time of ,10s. or commitment. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 25.

Unqualified person using gan to kill them, same may be seized.

•3 Jac. 1. c. 13.

Door. Stalking deer without leave 10%. 19 H. 7. c. 11.

Hunting or killing them 10% costs, and sureties for good behaviour. 5 Eliz. c. 21.

Buck stalls or engines kept by unqualified persons may be selsed.

S Juc. 1. c. 18.

Selling or buying them to sell again, 40%. 3 Jac. 1. c. 27.

Coarsing or killing them without consent, 20%. 13 Car. 2. c. 10.

Hunting, taking, killing, or wounding, 30% or transportation. S. W. S. c. 10. 5 G. l. c. 15. 9 G. l. c. 22. 10 G. 2. c. 39.

Destroying pales or walls of inclosed grounds, without coment, 30%. 5 G. 1. c. 15.

Keeper of parks privately killing or taking them, 50t. 5 G. 1. c. 15.

Robbing places where kept, selony without clergy. 9 G. 1, c. 22; By the $1 Geo. 3. c. 180. reciting that whereas by the 42 Geo. 3. c. 107. (see Deer, p. 196, 197) no provision was made for mitigating the penalties thereby imposed for committing the offences therein mentioned, it is exacted that, on conviction of offenders under that act, the magistrate may mitigate the penalty of 50% to 20%.

Game-keepers. All lords of manors or other revalties may appoint game-keepers, and empower them to kill game. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 25.

But if game-keeper dispose of the game without the lord's consent, he shall be committed for three months, and kept to hard labour. 5 Anne, c. 14.

But no lord shall make above one game-keeper within one manor, with power to kill game, and his name shall be entered with the clerk of the peace; certificate whereof shall be granted by clerk of the peace on payment of 10s. 6d. Unqualified game-keeper killing or selling hare, pheasant, partridge, moor, heath-game, or grouse, he shall forfeit 5L by distress, or commitment for three months, for the first offence, and for every other four. 9 Anne, c. 21.

No lord shall appoint unqualified game-keeper, or one who is not bens fide servant to such lord, or immediately employed and appointed to take and kill game for the sole use of the lord; other persons under colour of authority for taking and killing game, or keeping any dogs or engines whatsoever for that purpose, shall forfeit 5!, in like manner. S G, 1, c, 11.

Every deputation of a game-keeper to be registered with clerk of the peace, or in the sheriff's or steward's court books of the county, &c. where the lands lie, and amountly take out certificate thereof, stamped with an half-guinea stamp. 25 G. 3. Sees. 2. c. 50.

Every game-keeper from and after the passing of this act, who shall deliver his name and place of abode as aforesaid, and require a certificate, shall be annually entitled thereto, stamped as before directed from clerk of the peace or his deputy, sheriff, or steward, clock, &c. to the effect of the form in the act set forth. Id.

Clerk of the peace, &c. after signing certificate, shall bene the same stamped, to the person registering the deputation, on requiring the same, for which he may receive one skilling. Id.

If any person to whom any deputation or appointment of a game-keeper shall have been, or at any time thereafter shall be granted, by any lord or lady of a manor, &c. shall for the space of twenty days after the deputation or appointment shall be granted, neglect or refuse to register the same, and take out a certificate as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay the sum of 20% to be applied as the law directs. Id.

Neglect, or refusal of issuing certificates, incurs a forfeiture of 201 recoverable in the courts of Westminster, court of session, of justiciar, or exchequer in Scotland, by action of debt or information, for the use of the plaintiff with double costs of suit. Id.

Clerk of the peace, &c. may issue his certificate, to any game-keeper first appointed in any year after let of July in that year. Id.

If any lord or lady of a manor, or proprietor of land, shall make any new appointment of a game-kerper, and shall register the deputation with the clerk of the peace, &c. and shall obtain a new certificate thereon, the first shall be void; and any person acting under the same, after notice, shall be liable to all the penalties of the game-laws, and those against unqualified persons. Id.

Hares. Every person tracing or coursing hares in the snow shall be committed for one year, 3! Eliz. c. b. unless he pay to the churchwardens, for the use of the poor, 20 shillings for every hare, or become bound by recognizances, with two sureties in twenty pounds a piece, not to effend again: and every person taking or destroying hares with any sort of engine, shall forfeit for every hare, 20s. in like manner. 1 Jac. 1. c. 27. Persons found using engines liable to the punishment inflicted, as above, by 31 Eliz. c. 5. Unqualified persons keeping or using shooting dogs, or engines to kill or destroy hares, shall forfeit 51. to the informer, with double costs, 28 Gao. 3. c. 19. by distress, or committed for three months for the Brot offence, and for every other four. 5 Abse, c. 14. Taking or killing hares in the night-time forfeit 54 9 Anne, c. 25, the whole to the informer with double costs. 2 Geo. 8. c. 19. Killing or taking with gun, dog, or engine, har in the night, between the hours of seven at night and six in the morning, from Oct. 12 to Feb. 12, and between the hours of nine at night and four in the morning, from Feb. 12 to Oct. 12, or in the day-time upon Sanday or Christmasday, to forfeit not less than 101. nor more than 201. for the first offence; nor less than 20%, nor more than 30%, for the second offence; and 501. for the third offence, with costs and charges; and, upon neglect or refusal, be committed for six or twelve calendar months. and may be publicly whipped: final appeal to the quarter-sessions, 13 Geo. 3. c. 80. Persons armed and disguised stealing them, felony without clergy. Geo. 1. c. 22. Higler, chapman, carrier, inskeeper, victualier, or alchouse-keeper, having in his custody, or buying, selling, or offering to sale, any hare, unless sent up by some person qualified (or any person selling, exposing or offering for sale hares, &c. 28 Geo. 2. c. 22.) shall forfeit for every hare 51. the whole to the informer. 2 Geo. 3. c. 92.

Heath-fowl, for preserving beath-cocks or polts, no person what-seever, on any waste, shall presume to burn, between Feb. 2 and June 26, any grig, ling, beath, furze, gom, or fern, on pain of commitment for a month, or ten days, to be whipped and kept to hard labour. 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 23. Shooting heath-cocks, grouse, or moor-game, contrary to 1 Jac. 1. c. 27. and killing any of them in the night, or using gun, dog, or engine, with such intent, contrary to 9 Anne, c. 25. and 13 Geo. 3. c. 80. and carriers and others having such in their possession, contrary to 9 Anne, c. 14. are all liable to the same penalties, and recoverable in the same manner as. those ofences are subjected to shooting, &c. hares.

Partridges, taking partridges by nets or other engines, upon another's freehold, without special leave of the owner of the same, penalty 10th half to him who shall sue, and half to the owner or possessioner. It H. 7. c. 17. Shooting, &c. at partridges, with gun or bow, or taking them, &c. with dogs or nets, by 7 Jac. 1. c. 11. or taking their eggs out of their nest, liable as persons shooting, &c. at hares, and also 20s. for every hird or egg. Selling, or buying to sell again, a partridge (except reared and brought up in houses, or from beyond sea) forfeit for every partridge 10s. half to him who will sue, and half to the informer. I Jac. 1. c. 27. Taking, killing, or destroying partridges in the night, forfeits for every partridge 10s. half to him who will sue, and half to the lord of the manor, unless he liceuse, or cause the said taking or killing, in which case his half shall go to the poor, recoverable by churchwarden; and if not paid in ten days, to be imprisoned for one month; and moreover shall give bond to the justice, with good sureties, not to offend again for two years, 23 KHz. c. 10. To kill a partridge in the night, penalty 51. 9 Anne, c. 25. The whole whereof is given to the informer, 2 Geo. 3. c. 19. and may be recovered within three months. 5 Anne, c. 14. before a justice of peace, or within six months, by action in the courts of record at Westminster, 9 Anne, c. 25. with double costs. 2 Geo. 3. c. 19. Keeping or using any greyhounds, setting dogs, or any engine for destroying partridges, penalty 51, to be levied and recovered as the like penalty for killing bares.

By the 15 Geo. 3. c. 80. s. 1. if any person shall knowingly and wiffully kill, take, or destroy, or use any gun, dog, snare, net, or other engine, with intent to kill, take, or destroy any hare, pheasant, partridge, moor-game, or heath-game, in the night-time, viz. between seven o'clock at night and six in the morning, from the 12th of October to the 12th of February, and between nine o'clock at night and four in the morning, from the 12th of February to the 12th of October; or in the day-time, on a Sunday or on Christmas-day, he shall, on conviction, forfeit for the first offence a sum not exceeding 201. nor less than 101.; for the second, not exceeding 301. nor less than 201.; and for the third and every subsequent offence, 501. or on default of payment, be imprisoned for not less than six months, nor more than twelve, and be whipped at the end of the imprisonment.

And by 39 and 40 Geo. 3: c. 50. after reciting, that idle and disorderly persons frequently assemble and assist each other in the destruction of game in the night, and, if interrupted, are guilty of violence, to the terror of the people, it is enacted, that if any persons, to the number of two or more, shall enter into, or be found in any forest, chace, park, wood, plantation, paddock, field, meadow, or other open or enclosed ground, in the night, namely, between eight o'clock at night and six in the morning, from the 1st of October to the 1st of February, or between ten o'clock at night and four in the morning, from the 1st of February to the 1st of October, having any gan, net, engine, or other instrument for the purpose and with intent to destroy, or shall wilfully destroy, take, or kill any hare, pheasant, partridge, heath fowl, commonly called black game. or grouse, commonly called red game, or any other game; or if any person shall be found with any gun, fire arms, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, protecting, aiding, abetting, or assisting any such persons as aforesaid, the ranger, owner, or occupier thereof, or their keepers or servants, or any other person, may apprehend any who shall convey him before a justice, or in case any such offender shall not be so apprehended, any justice, on information on oath of one witness, may issue his warrant to apprehend such offender; and if it shall appear to such justice, on the oath of one witness, that such person is guilty of any of the offences aforesaid, he shall be deemed to be a rogue and vagabond within the meaning of the 17 Geo. 2. c. 5. and shall suffer as therein directed.

Carriers and others having partridges in their possession, liable to the same forfeitures and penalties as having hares; and the same law against shooting them as for shooting hares.

Pheasants. All the laws respecting the penalties and recovery of them, for taking them by nets, snares, or other engines, without license of the owner, by 11 H. S. c. 17. and for shooting or destroying them with dogs or snares, &c. by 7 Jac. 1. c. 11. or taking their eggs, by 1 Jac. 1. c. 27. and for selling, and buying them to sell again, by last cited act (except that the penalty for a pheasant is 20s.) and for destroying them in the night (except as aforesaid) by 23 Eliz. c. 10. 9 Anne, c. 25. and 13 Geo. 3. e. 80. and for keeping or using sporting dogs or engines for destroying them on Sunday or Christmas-day, by 13 Geo. 3. c. 80. and for carriers and others having them in their possession; all these laws are mutatis mutandis, verbatim, the same as those respecting partridges.

Prosecutions. Any one prosecuted for any thing done in pursuance of this act, may plead the general issue, and give the special matter in evidence for his defence; and if upon trial, verdict pass for the defendant, or plaintiff become nonsuited, defendant shall have treble costs of plaintiff. 25 Geo 3. sees. 2. s. 28.

Qualifications, for killing game, are 1. having a freehold estate of 100% per annum, 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 25. 2. A leasehold estate for 99 years, of 150% per annum. 3. The eldest son or heir apparent to an esquire, or person of superior degree. 4. The owner or keeper of a forest, park, chace, or warren. Unqualified person, keeping dogs or engines, to destroy game to forfeit 5%. 5 Anne, c. 14.

No person (other than the king's son) unless he have lands of freehold to the value of five marks a year, shall have any game of swans, on pain of forfeiting them, half to the king, and half to any person, so qualified, who shall seize the same, 22 Ed. 4. c. 6:

Any gentleman or other that may dispend 40s. a year freehold, may bunt and take wild fowls with their spaniels only, without using a net or other engine, except the long bow. 25 H. 8. c. 11. From persons not having lands of 40s. a year, or not worth in goods 200s using gun, or bow to kill deer, any person having 100L may seize the same to his use. 3 Jac. 1. c. 13.

Every person qualified to kill game, shall previous to his shooting at, killing, or destroying any game, take out a certificate. See Certificate.

Sporting Seasons. The time for sporting in the day, is from one hour before sun rising, until one hour after sun setting. 10 Geo. S. c. 19.

For Bustards. The sporting season is, from December 1st to March 1st.

For Grouse, or red grouse, from August 11 to December 10.

Hares may be killed all the year, under the restriction, in 10 Geo. 3. c. 19.

Heath-fowl, or black game, from August 20 to December 20. 13 Geo. 3. c. 55. But by 50 Geo. 3. c. 55. the time within which heath-fowl may be taken in the New Forest (Hampshire) and in the counties of Devon and Somerset, is between December 10 and September 1.

Partridges, from September 1 to February 12.

Pheasants, from October 1 to February 1.

Widgeons, wild ducks, wild geese, wild fowls, at any time but in June, July, August, and September.

Summary Proceedings, from and after March 1, 1785, in all cases where the penalty by this act, doth not exceed 201. justice of peace shall, upon information or complaint, summon the party and witnesses to appear, and proceed to hear and determine the matter in a summary way, and upon due proof by confession, or upon the oath of one witness, give judgment for the forfeiture; and issue his warrant for levving the same on the offender's goods, and to sell them, if not redeemed within six days, rendering to the party the overplus; and if his goods be insufficient to answer the penalty, shall commit the offender to prison, there to be for six calendar months, unless the penalty be sooner paid; and if the party be aggricved by the judgment, he may, upon giving security amounting to the value of the forfeitures, with the costs of the affirmance, appeal to the next general quarter-sessions, when it is to be heard and finally determined; and in case the judgment be affirmed, the sessions may award such costs, incurred by the appeal, as to themselves shall seem meet. 25 Geo. 3. c. 50.

Witnesses neglecting or refusing to appear, without reasonable excuse, to be allowed of by the justice, shall respectively forfeit for every offence 10L to be levied and paid as other penalties by this act. Id.

Justice to cause conviction to be made out, to the effect of the form set forth in the act. Id.

Justice may mitigate penalties as he thinks fit, so that reasonable costs and charges of the officers and informers, for discovery and prosecution, he always allowed, over and above mitigation, and so as the same does not reduce the penalties to less than a moiety, over and above the costs and charges, any thing therein contained to the contrary not withstanding; and no such conviction shall be removeable by certificari into any court whatsoover.

No offender against this act to be imprisoned more than three mouths. Id.

The duties to be paid to the receiver-general of the stamp-duties, and by him paid into the exchequer. Id.

Swens.—It is sclony to take any swans that be lawfully marked, though they be at large; and so it is unmarked swans, If they be domestical or tame, so long as they keep within a man's manor, or within his private river, or if they happen to escape from them, and are pursued and taken, and brought back again; but if they be abroad, and attain their natural liberty, then the property of them is lost, and so long selony cannot be committed by taking them. Burn's fust. tit. Game.

Wild fowl:—same laws against shooting wild fowl as for shooting hares, by 1 Jac. 1. c. 27.

GAMING;—from the destructive and pernicious consequences, which must necessarily attend excessive gaming, both the courts of law and equity have shown their abhorrence of it; but the playing at cards and dice, &c. when practised innocently and as a recreation, the better to fit a person for business, is not at all unlawful, nor punishable as any offence whatsoever. 2 Vent. 175.

And as the gaming in the manner just mentioned, may be lawful, yet if a person be guilty of cheating, as by playing with false cards, dice, &c. he may be indicted for it at common law, and fined and imprisoned according to the circumstances of the case, and beingousness of the offence. 2 Bac. Abr. 620.

Also all common gaming-houses, are nulsances in the eye of the law, not only because they are great temptations to idleness, but also because they are apt to draw together great numbers of disorderly persons, which cannot but be very inconvenient to the neighbourhood. 1 Haw. 198.

It was therefore by 16 Car. 2. c. 7. enacted, that if any person of what degree soever, shall by any fraud, unlawful device, or other ill practice, in playing at cards, dice, tables, tennis, bowls, skittles, shuffe-board, or by cock-fightings, horse-races, dog-matches, foot-share or part in the stakes, or by betting on both sides of such as shall play, act, ride, or run as aforesaid, win or obtain to himself any sum of money or other valuable things, he shall forfeit treble the value; half to the king, and half to the party grieved, or who shall lose the money or thing so won or obtained, (provided he shall she in six months) otherwise to any other person who shall sue in one year next after the said six months, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, in any of the courts of record at Westminster, with treble costs.

And by 9 Anne, c. 14. it is further enacted, that if any person do or shall, by any fraud or shift, cosenage, circumvention, deceit, or unlawful device, or ill practice whatsoever, in playing at or with cards, dice, or any of the games aforesaid, or in or by bearing a share or part in the stakes, wagers, or adventures, or in or by betting on the sides or hands of such as do or shall play as aforesaid, win, obtain, or acquire, to himself or themselves, or to any other or others, any sum or sums of money, or other valuable thing or things whatsoever, or shall at any time or setting, win of any more person or persons whatsoever, above the sum of ten pounds; that then, every person or persons so winning by such ill practice as aforesaid, or winning at any one time or sitting, above the said same or value of ten pounds; and being convicted of any of the said offences, upon an indictment or information to be exhibited against him or them for that purpose, shall forfeit five times the value of the sum or sums of money, or other things so won as aforesaid; and in case of such ill practice as aforesaid, shall he deemed infamous, and shall suffer such corporal punishment, as in case of wilful perjury; and such penalty to be recovered by such person or persons as shall sue for the same by such action as aforesaid. Id.

And any person who shall at any one time or sitting, by playing at cards, dice, tables, or other game or games whatsoever, or by betting on the sides of such as do play, lose to any one or more persons so playing or betting, in the whole, the sum or value of tem powads, and shall pay or deliver the same, or any part thereof, the person so losing and paying, or delivering the same, shall be at liberty within three months then next, to sue for and recover the same, with costs, in any court of record; and if he shall not sue in three months, it shall be lawful for any person to sue for and recover the same, and treble value, with costs, half to the person who will sue for the same, and half to the poor of the parish where the offence shall be committed. Id.

Upon the construction of these words at any one time or sitting, in this statute, it has been held, that where fourteen guineas had been won and paid after a continuance at play, except an interruption during dinner, it was to be considered as wen at one time of sitting; but the court said, that if the action had been brought for the penalty, by a common informer, they would have held, that the money had been lost at two sittings. 2 Blackst. Rep. 1286.

And every person who shall be liable to be med for the same; shall be obliged to answer on eath such bill as shall be preferred against him, for discovering the sum of money or thing so won; 9 Anne, c. 14.

shittles, shuffle-board, or any other pastime, game or games whatsoever, other than with and for ready money, or shall bet on the sides of such as shall play, or shall lose any sum or other thing exceeding 100% at any one time or meeting, upon ticket, or credit, or otherwise, and shall not pay down the same when he shall so lose it, he shall not in such case be bound to make it good, but the contractly or contracts for the same, and for every part thereof, and all assurances and securities for the same shall be void and of no effect; and the winner shall forfeit treble value, of all such sams or other things as he shall so win above 100% half to the king, and half to him who shall suc, within one year, in any of the courts of record at Westminster, with treble costs. 16 Car. 8. c. 7.

And all notes, bills, bonds, judgments, mortgages, or other securities or conveyances whatsoever, where the whole or any part of the consideration of such securities and conveyances shall be for money or other valuable things won by gaming, or playing at cards, dice, tables, tennis, bowls, or other game or games whatsoever; or by betting on the sides of such as do game at any of the games aforesaid; or for the reimbursing or repaying of any money knowingly lent or advanced at the time and place of such play, to any person or persons so gaming or betting as aforesaid, or that shall, during such play so play or bet, shall be atterly void, frustrate and: of none effect. And where such securities shall be of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or such as incumber and affect the same; they shall coure and be to the sole use and benefit of, and devolve upon such person as should or might have such lands, in case the said grantor, or person so incumbering the same had been dead : and all grants or conveyances to hinder them from devolving on such person shall be deemed fraudulent and void. 9 Anne, c. 14.

If therefore a bill of exchange be given for money won at play, it cannot be recovered upon, even by an indersee who has given a Valuable consideration for it, and without notice: for the original vice of the consideration effects the security, even in the hands of an innocent holder. 2 Strange, 1185, Dong. Rop. 636, 736. And from a decision in the court of Chuncery, it seems that if money he paid on such security, it may be recovered back: because payment under a void security cannot be supported. Nor does the limitation of three months (within which time the statute requires the loser of the money, actually paid at the time it is lost, to bring his action to recover it back) extend to payments on account of such yold securities. Ambl. Rep. 269.

If any person shall win at play, or by betting, at any one time, the sum or value of time pounds, or within the space of twenty-four hours, the sum or value of twenty pounds, he shall be liable to be indicted for such offence in six months, either in the king's-bench, or at the amixes; and being convicted, shall be fixed five times the value of the sum won or lost; which after such charges as the court shall judge reasonable, allowed thereout to the prosecutor and evidence, shall go to the poor.

And if one offcuder shall discover another, so that he be convicted, the discoverer shall be discharged from all penalties on account of such offence, if not before convicted thereof, and shall be admitted, as an evidence to prove the same. 18 Geo. 3. c. 34.

Any two justices may cause to come or to be brought before them, every person whom they shall have just cause to suspect to have no. visible estate, profession, or calling to maintain themselves by, but do for the most part support themselves by gaming; and if such person do not make it appear to the said justices, that the principal part of his expences is not maintained by gaming, they shall require of him sufficient securities for his good behaviour for the space of twelve months; and in default of his finding such securities shall commit him to the common guol till be shall find such securities as aforespid.

And if he shall, during the time for which he shall be bound, at any one time or sitting, play or bet for any sum or sums of money, or other thing or things, exceeding in the whole the value of 20s. such playing shall be deemed a forfeiture of the recognizance.

In order to prevent such quarrels as may happen on account of gaming; if any person shall use sult and beat, or challenge to fight, any other person whatsoever, on account of any money won by gaming, playing, or betting, at any one of the games aforesaid, he shall on conviction thereof by information or indictment, forfeit to the king, all his goods, chattels, and personal estate whatsoever, and shall also suffer imprisonment without bail or mainprize, in the common goal of the county where the conviction shall be had, during the term of two years. 9 Anne, c. 14.

If any person who shall be licensed to sell any sorts of liquors, or who shall sell, or suffer the same to be sold, in his house, outhouse, ground, or apartment thereto belonging, shall knowingly suffer any gaming with cards, dice, draughts, shuffe-boards, mississipi, or billiard-tables, skittles, nine-pins, or with any other implement of gaming in his house, outhouse, ground, or apartment thereto belonging, by any journeymen, labourers, servants, or apprentices; and shall be convicted thereof on confession, or oath of one witness, before one justice, within six days after the offence committed, he shall forfeit for the first offence 40s, and for every other offence 10l. by distress, by warrant of such justice, three-fourths to the charchwardens for the use of the poor, and one-fourth to the informers. 30 Geo. 1. c. 24. See also title Lotteness, Wagen, infra.

GAOL, a strong place wherein debtors are kept, and persons are confined, to answer for offences committed against the law. Gaols are of such universal concern to the public, that none can be exected by any less authority than an act of parliament. 2 Inst. 705.

All prisons and gaols belong to the king, although a subject may have the custody or keeping of them. 2 Inst. 100.

The justices of the peace at their general quarter-sessions, or the major part of them, provided that such major part shall not be less than seven, upon presentment made by the grand jury at the amixen, of the imufficiency, inconveniency, or want of repair of the gaol, may contract for the hailding, repairing, or enlarging the same, together with the yards, courts, and outlets thereof, and adding such other building, and making such conveniences as shall be thought requisite; or for erecting any new gaol within any distance not exceeding two miles from the scite, and in that case for selling the old gaol and the scite thereof, and also the materials of the old gaol; the contractors giving security to the clerk of the peace for the performance of the contract. 24 Geo. 3. c. 54.

The expense of building, rebuilding, repairing, or enlarging such gaols, and such other necessary incidental expenses as aforesaid, shall be paid out of the county rate; and when the account of such expense, shall exceed balf the amount of the ordinary annual assessment for the county rate (to be computed at a medium for the last preceding five years), the justices in sensions may borrow in mortgage of the said rates, any sum not less than 50% hor exceeding 100% and may order the growing interest and so much of the principal sum as shall be equal at least, to such interest, to be paid off yearly, till the whole thereof shall be discharged, and an account thereof shall be kept in a book provided for that purpose; and such book shall be plelivered into court at every quarter-sessions, to be impected by the justices, who shall make such orders relating thereto as to them shall neem meet. Provided that the whole sum of money borrowed, he fally paid within fourteen years from the time of borrowing it. Id.

As there are several persons confined in the county and city gaok, under scatence and orders made by one or more justices at their sessions, or otherwise, upon conviction in a summary way without the intervention of a jury; it is therefore by $4 Geo. 3. c. 56. cuncted, that any judge of amine, or two justices, within whose jurisdiction with gaol is situate, may remove such persons to any house of confined within the same jurisdiction, there to be confined, and to remain in execution of such sentence or order.

For the relief of prisoners in gaols, justices of the peace in services have power to tax every parish in the county, not exceeding 6.8d. per week, leviable by constables, and distributed by collectors, &c. 12 Car. 2. c. 29.

But it is observed by Lord Coke, that the gaoler cannot refuse the prisoner victoris, for he ought not to suffer him to die for want of austenance. I Inst. 295.

If any subject of this realm shall be committed to any prison, for any criminal, or supposed criminal matter, he shall not be removed from thence, unless it be by habeas corpus, or some other legal writ; or where he is removed from one prison or place to another, within the same county, in order to his trial or discharge; or in case of endden fire, or infection, or other necessity; on paln that the person signing any warrant for such removal, and he who executes the same, shall forfeit to the party grieved 1001, for the first offence, and 2001, for the second, &c.

By the 58 Geo. 3. c. 160. reciting, that whereas great distress is suffered by poor persons confined under mesue process for debt in such grols as are not county grols, in consequence of their not receiving any allowance whereon to subsist during the time of such confinement, it is enacted that any one justice may order parochial relief to poor debtors in such gaols as are not county gaols, who shall be confined in such gaol under mesue process for debt, and who shall appear to such justice to be unable to support himself or herself, and who shall have applied for relief to such overseer as aforesaid. Such sum not to exceed sixpence per dism, during the time of his or ther confinement. s. 1, 2.

If the overseers doubt whether such poor person is legally settled in such parish, or place, they shall cause him or her to be examined upon oath before one or more justices of the peace, touching his or her last legal settlement, upon which examination it shall be lawful for justices to make an order for the removal of such poor person to the place of his last legal settlement, and to suspend the execution of such order of removal during the time of such person being confined in such goal under such mesne process, which suspension of the same shall be endorsed on the said order, and signed by such justices, and the subsequent permission to execute the same shall be also indersed on the said order, and signed by such justices, or by any other two justices of the peace acting for the said county, riding, or division. s. 3.

A copy of the order of removal, and of the order for suspending the execution of the same as aforesaid, shall, as soon as may be after the '... making thereof respectively, be served upon such overseers of the poor of the perish, in which such poor person shall by such order of removal be adjudged to be legally settled, who shall repay the expease attending the pauper, not exceeding sixpence per day. if the overseers refuse or neglect to pay any sum so advanced within twenty-one days after demand thereof, and shall not within the same time give notice of appeal, one justice may by warrant under his band and seal, cause the money so directed to be paid to be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the person refusing or neglecting to pay the same, and also such costs attending the same, not exceeding forty shillings; and if the parish, township, or place to which the removal was ordered to be made, he without the jurisdiction of the justice issuing the warrant, then such warrant shall be transmitted to any justice having jurisdiction within such parish, township, or place us aforesaid, who upon receipt thereof is hereby authorized and required to indorse the same for execution: vided nevertheless, that if the sum so ordered to be paid on account of such costs and charges exceed five pounds, the party or parties aggrieved by such order, may appeal to the next general quarter sessions for the county, riding, or division in which such gnol is situated, ngainst the same, as they may do against an order for the removal of poor persons by any law now in being; and if the court of quarter sessions shall be of opinion that the sum so awarded he more than of right ought to have been directed to be paid, such court may and is hereby directed to strike out the sum contained in the said order, and insert the sum which in the judgment of the said court ought to be paid; and in every such case the court of quarter sessions shall direct that the said order so amended shall be carried into execution by the said justices by whom the order was originally made, or either of them, by such other justice or justices as the said court shall direct. s. 4, 5.

But the overseers of the poor of the parish, or place wherein such poor person shall, by such order of removal, be adjudged to be legally. settled, may appeal against such order to the next general quarter sessions of the peace after the service of the copy of such order of removal, in case such copy shall have been served upon such overseers twenty-one days before the holding of such quarter sessions; but in case the same shall not be served twenty-one days before the holding of such next general quarter sessions, then the appeal may be to the next succeeding general quarter sessions, and upon such appeal the like proceedings may be had as are observed in other cases of appeals against orders of removal of poor persons by any law now in being: provided that in case such order of removal and suspension is not appealed against in manner aforesaid, or if upon appeal such order shall be confirmed, such poor person shall be deemed and taken to be legally settled in the place in which he shall by such order of removal be adjudged to be legally settled. a. 6.

GAOL, or PRISON BREAKING, at the common law was felony, for whatever cause the party was imprisoned; but by LEdw. 2.
st. 2. the severity of the common law is mitigated, which enacts, that no person shall have judgment of life or member, for breaking prison, unless committed for some capital offence; so that, unless the commitment be for treason or felony, the breaking of prison is not felony, but is otherwise punishable as a misdemeanor only, by fine and imprisonment. 4 Black, 120.

Any place whatever, wherein a person under a lawful arrest for a supposed crime, is restrained of his liberty, whether in the stocks or street, or in the common gaul, or the house of a constable, or a private person, is a prison in this respect, for a prison is nothing else but a restraint of liberty; and therefore this extends as well to a prison in law, as to a prison in deed. 2 Inst. 589.

He that breaks prison, may be proceeded against for such a crime, before he be convicted of the crime for which he is committed; because the breach of prison is a distinct independent offence; but the sheriff's return of a breach of prison, is not a sufficient ground to arraign a man without an indictment. 2 Haw. 197.

It is not sufficient to indict a man generally for having feloniously broken prison: but the case must be set forth specially, that it may appear that he was lawfully in prison, and for a capital offence. 8 Inst. 591. Hale's P. C. 109.

GAOLER, the person to whom custody of a prison or gaol is committed. The sheriffs are bound to appoint such persons gaolers for whom they must answer to the king if it be a criminal matter, and to the party injured, if it be a civil affair. Besides the duties enjoined to gaulers by act of partitionest, and the abuses for which by statute they are punishable, the common law subjects them to fine and imprisonment, as also to the forfeithre of their offices, for gross and palpable abuses in the execution of their offices. 2 Inst. 381.

Also gaolers are punishable by attachment, as all other officers are, by the courts to which they more immediately belong, for any gross misbehaviour in their offices, or contempt of the rules of such courts, and punishable by any other courts for disobeying writs of habeas corpus awarded by such courts, and not bringing up the prinoner at the day prefixed by such writs. 2 Ham. 154.

If the gaoler, by keeping the prisoner more strictly than he ought, occasion the prisoner's death, this is felony in the gaoler by the common law. Therefore if a prisoner die in gaol, the coroner ought to sit upon him; and if the death were occasioned by cruel and oppressive usage on the part of the gaoler, or any officer of his, it will be deemed wilful nurder in the person guilty of such duren. S Inst. 91.

But if a crimbual endeavouring to break gaol, assault the gaoler, he may be lawfully killed by him in the affray. Jenk. 23. 1

A gaoder is considered as an officer relating to the administration of justice, and is under the same special protection of the law, that other ministers of justice are. If a person threaten him for keeping a prisoner in safe custody, he may be indicted, and fined and imprisoned for it. 2 Rol. Abr. 71.

If in the secessary discharge of his duty he should meet with resistance, whether from prisoners in civil or criminal suits, or from others in behalf of such prisoners, he is not obliged to retreat as far as he can with safety, but may freely and without retreating, repel force with force: and if the party so resisting, happen to be killed, this will be justifiable homicide in the gaster, or his officer, or any person coming in aid of him. On the other hand, if the gaster, or his officer, or any person in aid of him, should fall in the conflict, this will amount to wilful murder in all persons joining in such resistance; for it is homicide in defiance of the justice of the kingdom. Fost. 321.

The justices in their sewions, or in any special adjournment held for such express purpose, may, if they shall think it necessary or proper, appoint salaries or allowances to gnolers, in lieu of the profits derived from the sale of liquors, as to them shall been meet, and order the same to be paid out of the county rate, by a certificate of such allowance being signed by the chairman of the sessions: but no chairman shall sign such certificate, unless notice of such intended application, signed by the clerk of the peace, have been given fourteen days at least, before the holding of such session, or adjournment thereof, by two several advertisements, in some newspaper, which shall be printed and circulated in such county. 24 Geo. 3. c. 54.

It seems clearly agreed, that a gaoler by suffering voluntary escapes, by abusing his prisoners, by extorting unreasonable fees from them, or by detaining them in goal after they have been legally discharged, and paid their just fees, forfeits his office; for that in the grant of every office it is implied, that the grantee execute it fuithfully and diligently. Co. Lit. 283. See Escape.

GAOL DELIVERY, the judicial process, which by condemnation or acquittal of persons confined, evacuates the prison. By the law of the land, that men might not be long detained in prison, but might receive full and speedy justice, commissions of gaol delivery are issued out, directed to two of the judges, and the clerk of assize associate; by virtue of which commission, they have power to try every prisoner in the gaol, committed for any offence whatsoever. 4 Inst. 168.

GARBLING. The office of garbling spices, &c. with all the fees and profits thereof, is granted to the mayor and citizens of London; and all spices and drugs are to be cleansed and garbled before sold, on pain of forfeiting the same, or the value.

- GARNISHEF, the party in whose hands money is attached, within the liberties of the city of London, so used in the sheriff of London's court, because he has had garnishment or warning not to pay the money, but to appear and answer to the plaintiff creditor's suit.

GARNISHMENT, a warning given to one for his appearance, for the better furnishing of the cause and court.

. GARTER, the ensign of a noble order of knights, called Knights of the Garter, or Saint George, which is superior to all others.

This order consists of twenty-six distinguished persons, of whom the king of England is the sovereign, and the rest are either nobles of the renlm, or princes of foreign countries, friends and allies of this kingdom.

GAVELKIND, of the many opinions concerning the original of this custom, the most probable seems to be, that it was first introduced by the Romina clergy, and therefore propagated more extensively in Kent, because there the Christian religion was first propagated. This tenure is reckoned by the best antiquaries, to be the same with the Saxon Bookland, which was aliedial, and exempt from the feudal services 2 Bac. Abr. 637.

Gavefkind is a tenure or custom annexed and belonging to lands in.

Kent, whereby the lands of the father are equally divided at his feath among all his sons; and in more antient times still, amongst all the children male and female. Lit. 210. But now all or most of these lands both in Kent and Walss, are by several acts of parliament disgardled, and made descendible according to the common laws.

One property of gavelkind, was, that it did not eschent in case of an attainder and execution for felony.

GAUGER, is an officer appointed in different parts of the kingdom, to ascertain the contents of exciseable commodities.

The commissioners or sub-commissioners, in their respective circuits and divisions, may constitute under their hand and scals as many gaugers as are needful. 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

GAZETTE, the only authentic paper published by royal authority. Dissolution of partnerships, commission of bankruptcy, legal notices by advertisement, proclamation relative to the shutting up the ports, quarantine, embargoes, suspension or continuation of bounties, are all inserted in the gasette, which is considered as legal notice to all those whom it concerns.

GBLD, a fine or compensation for an offence.

GRMOTE, an assembly.

GBNERAL ISSUE, is that which traverses and denies at once, the whole declaration, without offering any special matter whereby to evade: and it is called the general issue, because by importing an absolute and general denial of what is alledged in the declaration, it amounts at once to an issue; that is, a fact affirmed on one side, and denied on the other. 3 Black. 305.

GENEROSA, (or Gentlewoman) seems of late to be a good addition; for if a gentlewoman be named Spinster in any original writ, appeal, or indictment, she may abate, and quash the same. 2 Inst. 688.

GENTLEMAN, according to Sir Edward Coke, is one who bears cont-armour, the grant of which adds gentility to a man's family. 2 Inst. 667.

GIFT, a transferring the property in a thing from one to another without a valuable consideration; for to transfer any thing upon a valuable consideration, is a contract or sale: he who gives any thing is called the donor; and he to whom is given in called the donor.

By the common law, all chattels real or personal may be granted or given, without deed, except in some special cases; and a free gift is good without a consideration, if not to defraud creditors.

Perk. 57.

But no leases, estates, or interests, either of freehold, or term of years, or any uncertain interest, not being copyhold of customary interest, of, in, to, or out of, any messuages, manors, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, shall at any time, he assigned, granted, or surrendered, unless it be by deed or not in writing signed by the party so assigning, granting, or surrendering the same, or their agents thereunto lawfully authorized by writing, or by act and operation of law. 29 Car. 2. c. S.

A gift of any thing without a consideration, is good; but it is revocable before delivery to the donee, of the thing given. Jenk. 109. pl. 9.

GILD, is a compensation or fine for a fault.

GILD (or GUILD) MERCHANT, was a certain privilege or liberty granted to merchants, whereby they were enabled among other things, to hold certain pleas of land within their own precincts; such as the gild merchant granted by king John to the burgesses of Nottingham.

GIST of action, is the cause for which the action lieth; the ground and foundation thereof, without which it is not maintainable. $ Mod. 305.

GLASS, by several statutes, regulations are made for making, importing, and exporting glass, which is to be under the management of the officers of the customs and excise.

GLEANING:—it hath been said, that by the common law and custom of England, the poor are allowed to enter and glean upon another ground after the harvest, without being guilty of trespass; and that this humane provision seems borrowed from the mosaical law. 3 Black. 212.

But it is now positively settled, by a solemn judgment of the court of common pleas, that a right to glean in the barvest field, cannot be claimed by any person at common law: neither have the poor of a parish, legally settled, such a right. 1 H. Black. Rep. 51—63.

GLEBE, GLEBELAND, is a portion of land, meadow, or pasture, belonging to, or parcel of the parsonage or vicarage, over and above the tithes. Godolph. Rep. 409.

Glebe lands in the hands of the parson, shall not pay tithes to the vicar; nor being in the hands of the vicar, shall they pay tithe to the parson. Degge's Pars. Couns. c. 2.

By stat. 28 H. 8. c. 11, every successor on a month's warning, after induction, shall have the mansion house, and the glebe belonging thereto, not sown at the time of the predecessor's death.

He that is instituted, may enter into the glebe land before induction, and has right to have it against any strangers. Roll. R. 122-

GOD AND RELIGION, offences against. See Apostacy, Blas-PHEMY, Dissenters, Heresy, Reviling of the Church, Swearing and Cursing, &c.

GOOD ABEARING, an exact carriage or behaviour of a subject to the king and his liege people, to which men of evil course of life, or loose demension, are sometimes bound. Lamb. Biren. 1. 2. c. 2.

GOOD BEHAVIOUR, surety for the good behaviour, is the bail or pledge for any person, that he shall do or perform such a thing; as surety for the peace, is the acknowledging a recognizance or bond to the king, taken by a competent judge of record, for keeping the king's peace. Dalt. c. 116.

A binding to the good behaviour, is not by way of punishment; but it is to shew, that when a man has broken the good behaviour, he is not to be trusted. 12 Mod. 566.

Justices of the peace may chastise rioters, harretors, and other offenders, and also imprison and punish them according to law, and by discretion and good advisement; and also bind persons of evil fame to the good behaviour, &c. 34 Edw. 3. c. 1.

This statute being penned in such general words, seems in a great measure to have left it to the discretion of justices of the peace to determine what persons should be bound to their good behaviour, and consequently seems to empower them, not only to bind over those, who seem to be notoriously troublesome, and likely to break the peace, as eves-droppers, &c. but also those who are publicly scandulous, or contempers of justice, &c. as haunters of bawdy-houses, or keepers of lewd women in their own houses, common drunkards, or those who sleep in the day, and go abroad in the night, or such as keep suspicious company, or such as are generally suspected as robbers, or such as speak contemptuous words of inferior magistrates, as justices of peace, mayors, &c. not being in the actual execution of their offices; or of inferor officers of justice, as constables, &c. being in the actual execution of their office; but it seems that rash, quarreisome, or unmannerly words spoken by one private person to another, unless they directly tend to a breach of the peace, are not sufficient cause to bind a man to his good behaviour. 1 Haw. 158.

GOVERNMENT, an orderly power constituted for the public good, to maintain order, distribute justice, &c.

Government, may be reduced to three kinds: the government of one, the government of the many, or the mixture of the two, which makes a third. The first is termed absolute monarchy; the second republican; and the third mixed monarchy. But the experience of past times has taught us, that a mixed monarchy is that, which unites the udvantages wished to be attuined in the most complete manner of any.

GRAIN, GRANARIES, Hay and Straw, &c. Burning of. By 48 Blis. c. 13. whoever shall wilfully and of malice, burn or cause to be burnt, or aid, procure, and consent to the burning of any barn, or stack of corn or grain, within any of the counties of Cumberland, Northumberland, Westmoreland, and Durham, shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy.

By 9 Geo. 1. c. 22, if any person shall set fire to any house, barm, or out house; or to any hovel, cock, mow, or stack of corn, straw, hay, or wood, &c. he shall be guilty of felony without benefit of elergy.

By 22 and 23 Car. 2, maliciously, unlawfully, and willingly, in the night time, to burn, or cause to be burnt or destroyed, any ricks or stacks of corn, hay, or grain, barns, houses, buildings, or kilms, is felony; but the offender may make his election to be transported for seven years.

By 11 Geo. 2. c. 22, if any person shall maliciously or wilfully pall down, or otherwise destroy any store-house or granary, or other place where corn shall be there kept in order to be exported; or shall unlawfully enter such store-house, granary, or other place, and sake and carry away any corn, flour, meal, or grain therefrom, or shall throw abroad or spoil the same, or any part thereof; or shall unlawfully enter on beard any ship or venel, and wilfully and maliciously take and carry away, cast out therefrom, or otherwise spoil or damage any meal, flour, wheat or grain therein, intended for exportation, he shall be guilty of felony, and transported for seven years.

And by 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. If any person shall send any letter, without any name subscribed thereto, or signed with a fictitious name, threatening to burn any house, out house, barn, stack of corn or grain, hay or straw, he shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy.

Uninofully taking Corn. By 11 Geo. 2. c. 22. wilfully and maliciously to bent, wound, or use any other violence to any person, with intent to deter or hinder him from buying corn in any market or other place; or unlawfully to stop or seize upon any waggon, eart, or other carriage, or borse, loaded with wheat, flour, meal, malt, or other grain, in the way to or from any city, market town, or sen port, and wilfully and maliciously to break, cut, separate, or destroy the some, or any part thereof, or the harness of the horses; or unlawfully to take off, drive away, kill or wound any of such horses; or unlawfully to beat or wound the drivers, in order to stop the same; or to scatter such wheat, &c. or to take or damage the same, or sny part thereof; subjects the offender to imprisonment in the house of correction for any time not exceeding three months, nor less than one; and to be once publicly whipped during the time. For the second offence, the offender is liable to be transported for seven years.

And by the 43 Eliz. c. 7. every person who shall unlawfully cut or take away any corn or grain growing, shall on conviction, for the first offence, pay such damages as the justices shall appoint, or on default thereof be whipped; and for every other offence, he shall in like manner be whipped.

But if the person shall cut it at one time, and come again at another time and take it away, it is felony.

GRAND DAYS, are those days in every term, which are solemnly kept in the inns of court and chancery, such as Ascension Day, &c.

CRAND DISTRESS, a writ which lies in two cases, either when the tenant or defendant is attuched, and so returned, and appears not but makes default, then a grand distress is to be awarded; or else when the tenant or defendant hath once appeared, and after makes default, then this writ lies by the common law, in lieu of a petit cape.

GRAND JURY, the sheriff of every county is bound to return, to every commission of over and terminer and of gaol delivery, and to every session of the peace, twenty-four good and lawful men of the county, some out of every hundred, to inquire, present, do, and execute, all those things, which on the part of our lord the king, shall then and there be commanded them. They ought to be freeholders; but to what amount is not limited by law. Upon their appearance, they are sworn upon the grand jury, to the amount of twelve at the least, and not more than twenty-three, that twelve may be a majority.

They are not only to hear evidence on hebalf of the prosecution; for the finding an indictment is only in the nature of an enquiry or accessation, which is afterwards to be tried and determined; and the grand jury are only to enquire, upon their oaths, whether there be sufficient cause, to call upon the party to answer it. 4 Black. 802 and 303.

GRAND SERJEANTRY, is when a person holdeth his lands of the king by such services as he ought to do in person; as to carry the king's banner, or his lance, or to carry his sword before him at his coronation, or to do other like services; and it is called grand serjeantry, because it is a greater and more worthy service, than the pervice in the common tenure of soccage. Lit. 153.

GRAND LARCENY. See Larceny.

GRANT, a gift to writing of such a thing, as cannot aptly be passed or conveyed by word only.

A grant is the regular method, by the common law, of transferring the property of incorporcal hereditaments, or such things whereof no livery of seisin can be had. For which reason all corpored hereditaments, as lands and houses, are said to be in livery; and the others us advowcons, commons, services, rents, reversions, and such like lie in grant. He that granteth, is termed the grantor; and he to whom the grant is made, is termed the grantee. A grant differs from a gift in this; that gifts are always gratuitions, grants, are upon come consideration or equivalent. 2 Black. 440. See DEED, GIFT, åst.

GREENCLOTH, of the king's household, so termed from the green cloth on the table; it is a court of justice composed of the lord steward, treasurer of the household, comptroller, and other officers, to whom is committed the government and management of the king's court, and the keeping of the peace within the verge.

GREEN-WAX, signifies the estreats of fines, issues, and amercements in the exchequer, under the seal of that court made in greenwax, to be levied in the county.

GUARDIAN, a guardium is one appointed by the windown and policy of the law, to take care of a person and his affairs, who by reason of his impecility and want of understanding is incapable of acting for his own interest; and it seems by our law, that his office originally was to instruct the word in the arts of war, as well as those of husbandry and tillage, that when he came of age be might he the better whie to perform these services to his land, whereby he held his own hard. 2 Bac. Abr. 672.

There are several kinds of guardians, as, guardian by nature, gwardian by the common law, guardian by statute, gwardian by custom, guardian in chivalry, guardian in soccage, and guardian by uppointment of the lord chancellor.

Guardian by nature, is the father and mother; and here it should be observed, that by the common law every fisther both a right of guardianship of the body of his son and heir, until he attain to the age of twenty-one years. Co. Lit. 84.

This guardinuship extends no further than the custody of the in-Cant's person. 1 Inst. 84.

It yields as to the custody of the person, to guardianship in seccence, where the title to both guardianships concur, in the same individuals. I Inst. 88. b.

But guardianship in soccage ending at fourteen, it seems that after that age, the father or other ancestor, having a like title to both guardianship, becomes guardian by nature till the infant's age: of twenty-one. Carth. 384.

Lastly, the father may disappoint the mother, and other ancestors, of the guardinuship by nature, by appointing a testamentary guardian under the statutes 4 & 5 P. et M. c. 8, and 12 Car. S. c. 24.

Guardian by nature, but boniy the care of the person and education of the infant, and hath nothing to do with his lands merely in virtue of his office; for such guardian may be, though the infant have no lands at all, which a guardian in soccase cannot.—
Co. Lit. 84.

Guardian by the common law. If a tenant in soccage die, his hele being under foorteen, whether he be his issue or cousin, make or female, the next of blood to the heir, to whom the inheritance cannot descend, shall be guardian of his body and land till, his age of fourteen; and although the nature of sacage tenure be in some measure changed from what it originally was, yet it is still called socago tenre, and the guardian in socage is still only where lands of that kind, as most of the lands in kagland now are, descend to the heir within age 1 and though the heir after fourteen may choose his own grandian, who shall continue till he is twenty-one, yet as well as the guardian before fourteen, as he whom the infant shall think by to choose after fourteen, are both of the same nature, and have the same office and employment assigned to them by the law, without any intervention or direction of the infant himself; for they were therefore appainted, because the infant in regard of his minority, was supposed incapable of managing himself and his catate, and consequently derive their authority not from the infant, but from the law; and that is the reason they transact all affairs in their own name, and not in the name of the infants, as they would be obliged to do, if their nuthority were derived from him. Co. Lit. 87.

Hence the law has invested them, not with a bare authority only, but also with an interest till the guardianship ceases; and to prevent their abuse of this authority and interest, the law has made them accountable to the infant, either when he comes to the age of fourteen years, or at any time after, as he thinks fit; and therefore are not to have any thing to their own use, as the guardian in chivalry had.—

Co. Lit. 90. a.

Guardian by statute: -- by the common law, no person could appoint a guardian, because the law had appointed one, whether the father were tenant by knight service, or in socage. 3 Co. 37.

The first statute that gave the father a power of appointing, was the 4 & 5 P & M. c. 8. which provides under severe penalties, such as fine and imprisonment for years, that no one shall take away any maid or woman child unmarried, being within the age of sixteen years, out of or from the possession, custody, or governance, and against the will of the father of such maid or woman child, or of such person or persons to whom the father of such maid or woman child, by his last will and testament, or by any other act in his life time, both or shall appoint, assign, bequeath, give, or grant the order, keeping, education, and governance of such maid or woman child. 1 Sid. 362.

In the construction of this statute, the following opinion has been halden.

That a testamentary guardian, or one formed according to this statute, comes in loco parentis, and is the same in office and interest with a guardian in socage, and differs only as to the modus habending or in a few particular circumstances: as first that it may be held for a longer time, viz. till the heir attain the age of twenty-one, where before it was but fourteen; secondly it may be by other persons held, for before it was the next of kindred not inheritable, could have it; and now who the father names shall have it. Vaugh. 178

Guardian by custom. By the custom of the city of London, the custody and guardianship of orphans under age, unmarried, belongs to the city. 2 Bac. Abr. 675.

By the custom of Kent, where any tenant died, his heir within age, the lord of the manor might and did commit the guardianship to the next relation within the court of justice, in whose jurisdiction the land was; but the lord was bound on all occasions to call him to account; and if he did not see that the accounts were fair, the lord himself was bound to answer it. This province the lord chancellor hath taken from inferior courts, only in Kent, where these customs are continued.

Guardian in Chivalry. By the common law, if tenant by knight service had died, his heir male being under the age of twenty-one years, the lord shall have the land holden of him, till such heir had arrived at that age, because till then he was not intended to be able to do such service; and such lord, had likewise the custody of the body of the infant, to bring him up, and mure him to martial discipline, and was therefore called guardian in chivalry. Co. Lit. 74

Gardian in Socage. Guardians in socage are also called guardians by the common law. Wardship is incident to tenure in socage, but of a nature very different from that which was formerly incident to knight-service: for if the inheritance descend to an infant under four-teen, the wardahip of him does not, nor ever did belong to the lord of the fee; because in this tenure, no military or other personal service being required, there was no occasion for the lord to take the profits in order to provide a proper substitute for his infant tenant. Co. Lit. 84.

how this jurisdiction was acquired; it is certainly of no very antient date, though now indisputable: for it is clearly agreed, that the king as pater patriæ, is universal guardian of all infants, idiots, and lunatics, who cannot take care of themselves; and as this care cannot be exercised otherwise than by appointing them proper curators or committees, it seems also agreed, that the king may, as he has done, delegate the authority to his chancellor; and that therefore at this day, the court of chancery is the only proper court, that hath jurisdiction in appointing and removing guardians, and in preventing them and others, from abusing their persons or estates. 2 Inst. 14.

And as the court of chancery is now vested with this authority, hence in every day's practice we find that court determining, as to the right of guardinuship, who is the next of kin, and who the most proper guardian; as also orders are made by that court on petition or motion, for the provision of infants during any dispute therein; as likewise guardians removed or compelled to give security; they and others punished for abuses committed on infants, and effectual care to prevent any abuses intended them in their persons or estates; all such wrongs and injuries being reckoned a contempt of that court, that hath an established jurisdiction, for the protection of all persons under natural disabilities. 2 Mod. 177. But the court never appoints a guardian to a woman after marriage. 1 Ves. 157.

GUARDIAN OF THE CINQUE PORTS, a principal magistrate who hath the jurisdiction of those havens in the cost part of England, which are called the Cinque Ports. See Cinque Ports.

GUARDIAN OF THE SPIRITUALTIES, is he to whom the spiritual jurisdiction of any diocese is committed, during the vacancy of the see. The archbishop is guardian of the spiritualties, on the vacancy of any see within his province; but when the archiespiscopal see is vacant, the dean and chapter of the archbishop's diocese are guardians of the spiritualties.

GUEST, a lodger or stranger in an inn, &c. action lies against an innkeeper refusing a guest lodging, &c.

GUILD, a fraternity or company. See GILD.

GUILD-RENTS, rents payable to the crown by any guild or fraternity, or such rents as formerly belonged to religious guilds or fraternities, and came to the crown at the general dissolution ordered by by saie by 22 Car. 2. c. 6.

GUNPOWDER AND COMBUSTIBLES. No person shall make gunpowder but in the regular manufactories established at the time of making the stat. 12 Geo. 3. c. 61. or licensed by the sessions, pursuant to certain provisions, under forfeiture of the gunpowder and 2s. per lb. nor are pestle mills to be used under a similar penalty.

Only 40 lbs. of powder to be made at one time under one pair of stones, except Battle-powder, made at Battle and elsewhere in Sussex.

Not more than 40 cwt. to be dried at one time in one stove; and the quantity only required for immediate use to be kept in or near the place of making, except in brick or stone magazines, 50 yards at least from the mill.

Not more than 25 harrels to be carried in any land carriage, nor more than 200 harrels by water, unless going by sea or coastwise, each barrel not to contain more than 100 lbs.

No dealer to keep more than 200 lbs. of powder, nor any person not a dealer, more than 50 lb. in the cities of London or Westminster, or within three miles thereof, or within any other city, borough, or market-town, or one mile thereof, or within two miles of the king's palaces or magazines, or half a mile of any parish-church, on pain of forfeiture, and 2s. per lb. except in licensed mills, or to the amount of 300 lbs. for the use of collieries, within 200 yards of them.

GYPSIES. See Egyptians.

H.

ABBAS CORPORA, a writ which lies for the bringing in of Land, a juny, or so many of them as refuse to come upon the usnire.

Socais, for the trial of a cause brought to issue.

HABRAS CORPUS, a writ which a man indicted of a trespass. before justices of the peace, or in a court of franchise, and heing apprehended for the same, may have out of the king's bench, to remove. himself thither at his own costs, and to answer the cause there.

This is the most relebrated writ in the English law. Of this there are various kinds made use of by the courts at Westminster, for removing primare from one court isto another, for the more casy administration of justice.

The most efficacious of which writs, in all manner of illegal confinement, is that of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum, which is the subject's writ of right, in cases where he is aggrieved by illegal imprisonment, or any unwarrantable exercise of power.

This writ is founded upon common law, and has been secured by various statutes; of which the last and most efficacious, was the 31st Car. 2. c. 2. which is emphatically termed the habeas corpus act. This act may justly be deemed a second magna charta.

By this important statute it is enacted, that on complaint in writing, by or on behalf of any person committed and charged with any crime (nuless committed for felony or treason expressed in the warrant, or as accessary, or on suspicion of being accessary before the fact to any petit treason or felony plainly expressed in the warrant, or unless he be convicted or charged in execution by legal process). The lord chancellor, or any other of the twelve judges in vacation, upon viewing a copy of the warrant, or affidavit that the copy is denied, shall (unless the party have neglected for two terms to apply to any court for his enlargement) award an habeas corpus for such prisoner, returnable immediately before himself or any other of the judges, and upon return made, shall discharge the party, if bailable, upon giving security to appear, and answer to the accusation in the proper court of judicature.

That such writs shall be indersed, as granted in pursuance of this act, and signed by the person awarding them.

That the writ shall be returned, and the prisoner brought up within a limited time, according to the distance, not exceeding in any case 20 days.

That the officers and keepers neglecting to make due returns, or not delivering to the prisoner or his agent, within six hours after demand, a copy of the warrant of commitment, or shifting the custody of a prisoner from one to another, without sufficient reason or authotherity (specified in the act), shall, for the first offence forfeit 100% and for the second offence 200% to the party grieved, and be disabled to hold his office.

That no person, once delivered by hadeas corpus, shall be recommitted for the same offence, on penalty of 5001.

That every person committing treason or felony, shall if he require it, the first week of the next term, or the first day of the sensions of oyer and terminer, be indicted in that term or session, or else be admitted to bait, unless the king's witnesses cannot be produced at that time; and if acquitted, or if not indicted and tried in the second term or session, he shall be discharged from his imprisonment for such imputed offence: but no person, after the assize shall, he open for the county in which he is detained, shall be removed by habeas corpus till after the assizes are ended, but shall be left to the justice of the judges of assize. And, lest this act should be evaded by demanding unreasonable bail or sureties for the prisoner's appearance, the 1 W. & M. stat. 2. c. 2. requires that excessive bail shall not be demanded.

That any such prisoner may move for and obtain his habeas corpus, as well out of the chancery or exchequer, as out of the king's bench or common pleas; and the lord chancellor, or judges denying the same, on sight of the warrant or oath that the same is refused, forfelt severally to the party grieved, the sum of 500l.

That this writ of kabeas corpus, shall run into the counties Palatine, cinque ports, and other privileged places, and the island of Jersey, Guernsey, &c.

That no inhabitants of England (except persons contracting, or convicts praying to be transported, or having committed some expital offence in the place to which they are sent) shall be sent prisoners to Scotland, Ireland, Jersey, Guernsey, or any places beyond the seas, within or without the king's dominions, on pain that the party committing, his advisers, aiders, and assistants, shall forfeit to the party grieved a sam not less than 5001. to be recovered with treble costs, shall be disabled to bear any office of trust or profit, shall incur the penalties of premunics, and shall be incapable of the king's pardon.

The writ of habeas corpus being an high prerogative writ, issuing out of the king's-bench or common-pleas, not only in term but in vacation, by a fiat from the chief justice, or any other judge, and running into all parts of the king's dominions; if issuing in vacation, it is usually returnable before the judge himself who awarded it, and he proceeds by himself thereon, unless the term should intervene, when it may be returned in court.

To obtain this writ, application must be made to the court by motion, as in the case of all other prerogative writs.

This writ may also be obtained to remove every unjust restraint or personal freedom in private life, though imposed by an husband, or a father; but when women or infants are brought up by habeas corpus, the court will set them free from an unmerited or unreasonable confinement, and will leave them at liberty to choose where they will go.

Thus, the habeas corpus ad subjictendum, is that which issues in criminal cases, and is therefore deemed a prerogative writ, which the king may issue to any place, as he has a right to be informed of the state and condition of the prisoner, and for what reason he is confined. And it is therefore also, in regard to the subject, deemed his writ of right, that is, such a one as he is entitled to ex debito justiciæ, being in nature of writ of error to examine the legality of the commitment, and commanding the day, the caption, and cause of detention to be returned. 2 Inst. 55. 4 Inst. 182. 2 Roll. Abr. 69.

The habens corpus ad factendum et recipiendum issues only in civil cases, and lies where a person is shed, and in gaol, in some inferior jurisdiction, and is willing to have the cause determined in some superior court, which hath jurisdiction over the matter; in this case the body is to be removed by habens corpus, but the proceedings must be removed by certiorari. 3 Bac. Abr. 2.

This writ suspends the power of the court below; so that if they proceed after, the proceedings are void, and coram non judice.

1 Salk. 302

By this writ, the proceedings in the inferior court are at an end, for the person of the defendant being removed to the superior court, they have lost their jurisdiction over him, and all the proceedings in the superior court are do novo, and bail do novo must be put in, in the superior court. Skin. 244.

Habens corpus ad respondendum, is where a man hath a cause of action against one who is confined by the process of some inferior court; in which case, this writ is granted to remove the prisoner to this new action in the court above. Dyer, 197.

Habeas corpus ad delibérandum et recipiendum, is a writ which lies to remove a prison to the proper place or county, where he committed bosie criminal offence. B Bac. Abr. 2.

Habeas corpus ad satisfaciendum, lies after a judgment; and on this welt, the attorney for the plaintiff must indorse the number roll of the judgment, on the back of the writ.

Hubens curpus upon a cepi, lies where the party is taken in execution in the court below.

Hideas corpus ud testificandum, lies to remove a person in confinement, in order to give his testimony in a cause depending.

HABENDUM, in a deed, is to determine what estate or interest is granted by the deed, the certainty thereof, for what time, and to what use. It sometimes qualifies the estate, so that the general implication thereof, which by construction of law, passes in the premises, may by the habendum be controlled: in which case the habendum may lessen or enlarge the estate, but not totally contradict or be repugnant to it. As if a grant be to one and the heirs of his body, to leave to him and his heirs for ever; here he hath an estate tail by the grant, and by the habendum he hath a fee simple expeqtant thereon. But if it had been in the premises to him and his heirs, to have for life, the habendum would be atterly void; for an estate of inheritance is vested in him before the habendum comes, and shall not afterwards be taken away, or divested by it. Black. 298.

The habendum cannot pass any thing that is not expressly mentioned, or contained by implication in the premises of the deed; because the premises being part of the deed by which the thing is granted, and consequently that makes the gift; it follows that the habendum, which only limits the certainty and extent of the estate in the thing given, cannot increase or multiply the gift, because it were absurd to say, that the grantee shall hold a thing which was never given him. 2 Roll. Abr. 65. See Deed.

HABERE FACIAS SEISINAM, a writ of execution directed to the sheriff, communding him to give to the plaintiff possession of a freehold: if it be a chattel interest, and not a freehold, then the writ is entitled habere focias possessionem. S Black. 412.

In the execution of these writs, the sheriff, if needful, may take with him the power of the county, and may justify breaking open doors, if the possession be not quietly delivered; but if it be peacefully delivered up, the yielding of a twig, a turf, or the ring of a door in the name of seisin is sufficient. Id.

HABERE FACIAS VISUM, a writ that lies in divers cases in real actions, as in dower, formedon, &c. where view is required to be taken of the lands or tenements in question.

HALF SEAL, is used in chancery for the sealing of commissions to delegates, appointed upon any appeal, either in ecclesiastical or marine causes. 8 Eliz. c. 5.

HALLAGE, a fee due for cloths brought for sale to Blackwell-hall in London. Also the toll due to the lord of a fair or market, for such commodities as are vended in the common-hall of the place. 6 Rep. 62.

HALMOTE or HALIMOTE, is what is now called a court-room, because it was a meeting of the tenants of one half or manor.

HALYMOTE, an holy or ecclesiastical court; but there is a court held in London by this name, before the lord mayor and sheriffs for regulating the bakers, and was formerly held on the Sunday next before St. Thomas's day, and therefore called the halymote, or holy court.

HAMLET, HAMEL, and HAMPSEL, are diminutives of Ham which signifies habitation.

HAMSOKEN, is used in Scotland for the crime of him that violently, and contrary to the king's peace, assaults a man in his own house, which is punishable equally with ravishing a woman.

HANAPER OFFICE, in the court of chancery, is that out of which issue all original writs that pass under the great seal, and all commissions of charitable uses, sewers, bankrupts, idiocy, lunacy, and such like. These writs, relating to the business of the subject, and the returns to them, were originally kept in a hamper, in hanaperio; the other writs, relating to such matters wherein the crown is immediately or mediately concerned, were preserved in a little suck or bag, in parva baga; and thence buth arisen the distinction of the hanaper office, and petty bag office; both of which belong to the common law court in chancery. S Black. 48.

HARES. See Game.

HARIOT. See Heriot.

HARRIERS. See Dogs.

HARBOUR, a port or haven for the security of shipping. Various statutes have been made for the improvement and protection of harbours, and inflicting penalties upon persons guilty of misances, by throwing ballast or otherwise obstructing them.

HAWKERS AND PEDLARS, are such dealers or itinerary petty chapmen, who travel to different fairs or towns with goods or wares, and are placed under the control of commissioners, by whom they are licensed for that purpose pursuant to Stat. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 25. and 29 Geo. 3. c. 26.

Traders in linen and woollen manufactories sending their goods to markets and fairs, and selling them by wholesale; manufacturers selling their own manufactures, and makers and sellers of English bone-lace going from house to house, &c. are excepted out of the acts, and not to be taken as hawkers.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 108. No wholesale dealer in lace, woollen, silk, cotton, or mixed goods, or any of the goods, wares, or manufactures of Great Britain, and selling the same by wholesale, shall be deemed a hawker and pedlar: but such persons, their apprentices, servants or agents, may go from house to house, and from shop to shop, to any of their customers who sell again by wholesale or retail. Nor shall the hawkers' and pedlars' duty extend to any person, currying about coals in carts, or on borses, mules, and asses, and selling the same by retail.

HAWKS, hawking or falconry seems now entirely disused, and has long been declining, if a judgment may be formed from the statute on that subject; for formerly if a man stole a hawk, it should be done of him as of a thief that stole a horse or other thing, that is, he should be guilty of felony, but should have his clergy. S Inst. 98.

And if any manner of person should hawk in another man's corn after it were cared, and before it were shocked, and be thereof convicted at the assises, sessions, or leet, he should forfeit 40s. to the owner, and If not paid within ten days, he should be imprisoned for a month. 28 Eliz. c. 10.

HAY AND STRAW. See GRAIN.

HAY-BOTE, signifies either a fine or recompense for holgebreaking; or a right to take wood necessary for making hedges, either by tenant for life or for years, though not expressed in the grant or lende. Co. Lit. 41.

HEADBORROW, or HEADBOROUGH, the chief of the frank pledge, and him that had the principal government of them within his own pledge. And as he was called Road-borrow, so was he called burrow-head, bursholder, third-borrow, tithing man, chiefpledge, or borrow-elder, according to the diversity of terms in several places. The same officer is now occasionally called a conitable. The headborough was the chief of the ten pledges, the other nine were called, hardboroughs, or inferior pledges. See Deciner, and Frankpledge.

HEARSAY, is generally not to be admitted as evidence; for no evidence is to be allowed but what is upon outh; for if the first speech were without onth, another onth that there was such speech, makes it no more than a bare speaking, and so of no value in a court of justice; and besides, the adverse party had no opportunity of a cross-examination; and if the witness be living, what he has been heard to say is not the best evidence that the nature of the thing will namit. But in some cases, hearthy evidence is allowed to be admitsible; us to prove who was a man's grandfather, when he married, what children he had, and the like; of which it is not reasounble to presume that there is better evidence. So in questions of prescription, it is allowed to give hearmy evidence, in order to prove general reputation; as where the issue was of a right to a way byer the plaintiff's clase, the defendant was admitted to give exdeace of a conversation between persons not interested, then dead, wherein the right to the way was agreed. Theory of Brid. 3. See . Evidence.

· HEUGE-BOTE, necessary stuff for making hedges, which the lessee for years, &c. may of common right take in his ground leased.

HI DGE-BREAKBRS, by 43 Eliz. c. 7. shall pay such damages us a justice of the peace shall think fit; and on non-payment shall be whipped. And 15 Car. 2. c. 6. the constable may apprehend a person suspected, and by warrant of a justice, may search his houses and other places; and if any hedge-wood shall be found, and he shall not give a good account how he came by the same, he shall be adjudged the stealer thereof.

HEIR, is be to whom lands, tenements, or hereditaments, by the act of God and right of blood, do descend of some estate of inheritance. Co. Lit. 7. b.

Heir apparent. Here we must observe, that no person can be held until the death of his ancestor; yet in common parlance, he who stands nearest in degree of kindred to the ancestor, is called even in his life time, heir apparent. Co. Lit 8. s.

Also the law takes notice of an heir apparent, so far as to allow the father to bring an action of trespass for taking away his son and heir, the father being guardian by nature to his son, where any lands descended to him. Co. Lit. 37.

Heir general:—the heir general, or heir at common law, is he who after his father's or ancestor's death hath a right to, and is introduced into all his land, tenements, and hereditaments; but he must be of the whole blood, not a bastard, alien, &c.

None but the beir general, according to the course of the common hw, can be heir to a warranty, or sue an appeal of the death of his ancestor. Co. Lit. 14.

Customary heir, a custom in particular places varying the rules of descent at common law is good; such is the custom of gavelkind, by which all the sons shall inherit, and make but one heir to their uncestor; but the general custom of gavel kind lands extends to sons only, but a special custom, that if one brother die without issue, all his brothers may inherit, is good. Co. Lit. 140. a.

To prevent the wrong and injury to creditors by the alienation of the lands descended, &c. by 3 & 4 W. & M. c. 14. it is enacted, that in all cases, where any heir at law shall be liable to pay the debt of his ancestor, in regard of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments descending to him, and shall sell, alien, and make over the same before any action brought or process sued out against him, that such heir at law shall be answerable for such debt or debts in action or actions of debt to the value of the said land so by him sold, alienated, or made over; in which case all creditors shall be preferred, as in actions against executors and administrators, and such execution shall be taken out upon any judgment or judgments so obtained against such heirs, to the value of the said land, as if the same were his own proper debts; saving that the lands, tenements, and hereditaments bona fids aliened before the action brought, shall not be liable to such execution.

Provided, that where any action of debt upon any specialty, is brought against any heir, he may plead risas per descent at the time of the original writ brought, or the bill filed against him; any thing therein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. And the plainiff in such action may reply, that he had lands, tenements, or hereditaments from his ancestor before the original writ brought, or the bill filed; and if upon issue joined thereupon, it be found for the plaintiff, the jury shall inquire of the value of the lands, tenements, or hereditaments so descended, and thereupon judgment shall be given, and execution shall be awarded as aforesaid; but if judgment be given against such heir, by confession of the action with confessing the assets descended, or upon demurrer, or nikil dixil, it shall be for the debt and damages, without any writ to enquire of the lands, tenements, or hereditaments so descended.

Before this statute, if the ancestor had devised away the lands, a creditor by specialty had no remedy, either against the seir or devisee. Abr. Eq. 149.

But by the said statute, it is enacted that all wills and testaments, limitations, dispositions, or appointments, of or concerning any manors, messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any rent, profit, term, or charge out of the same, whereof any person at the time of his decease, shall be seized in fee simple, possession, reversion, or remainder, or have power to dispose of the same by his last will and testament, shall be deemed and taken, only against such creditor as aforesaid, his heirs, successors, executors, administrators, and assigns and every of them, to be fraudulent, and clearly, and absolutely, and utterly void, frustrate and of none effect; any pretence, colour, feigned, or presumed consideration, or any other matter or thing to the contrary not withstanding.

And for the means, that such creditors may be enabled to recover their said debts, it is further enacted, that in the cases before mentioned, every such creditor shall and may maintain his action of debt, upon his said bonds and specialties, against the heir at law of such obligor, and such devisee and devisees jointly, by virtue of this act; and such devisee and devisees, shall be liable and chargeable for a false plea by him or them pleaded, in the same manner as any heir should have been for false plea by him pleaded, or for not confessing the lands or tenements to him descended.

Provided, that where there both been or shall be any limitation or ap pointment, devise or disposition, of any manors, messuages, landa, tenements, or hereditaments, for the raising or payment of any real or just debt, or any portion, sum or sums of money, for any child or children of any person, other than the heir at law, in pursuance of any marriage contract or agreement in writing bona fide made before such marriage; the same and every of them shall be in full force, the same manors, &c. may be holden and enjoyed by every such person, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, for whom the said limitation, appointment, device, or disposition was made, and by his trustee, his heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, for such estate or interest, as shall be so limited or appointed, devised, or disposed, until such debt or debts, portion or portions, shall be raised, paid, and satisfied; any thing contained in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

And it is further enacted by the said statute, that all and every devisee and devisees made liable by this act, shall be liable and chargeable in the same manner as the heir at law, by force of this act, notwithstanding the lands, tenements, and hereditaments to him or them devised, shall be aliened before the action brought.

In the construction of this statute it bath been holden, that though a man is prevented thereby from defeating his creditors by will, that yet any settlement or disposition he shall make in his life-time of his lands, whether voluntary or not, will be good against bond creditors; for that was not provided against by the statute, which only took care to secure such creditors from any imposition, which might be imposed in a man's last sickness; but if he gave away his estate in his life time, this prevented the descent of so much to the heir, and consequently took away their remedy against him, who was only liable in respect of the lands descended; and as a bond is no lien whatsoever on the lands in the hands of the obligor, much less can it be so, when they are given away to a stranger. Abr. Eq. 149.

HEIRESS, is a female heir to a person having an estate of inheritance of lands. If there be more than one, they are called coheiresses, or rather in legal expression, co-heirs. The effence of stealing an heiress is founded on the statute 3 H. 7. c. 2. which enacts, that if any man shall, for lacre, take any woman, being maid, widow, or wife, and having substance either in goods or lands, or being heir apparent to her ancestor, contrary to her will, and afterwards she be married to such misdoer, or by his coment to another, or defiled; he, his procurors, and abettors, and such as knowingly receive such woman, shall be deemed principal felons: and by 39 Eliz. 3. the benefit of clergy is taken away from principals, procurors, and accessaries before. And it is not material, whether awoman so taken, contrary to her will, be at last married or defiled, with her own consent or not, if she were under the force at the time.

HEIR-LOOMS, are such goods and personal chattels, as contrary to the nature of chattels, shall go by special custom to the heir, along with the inheritance, and not the executor of the last proprietor. Co. Lit. 18, 185.

HEMP AND FLAX, no hemp or flax is to be watered in any river, running water, stream, brook, or pond, where beasts are used to be watered, but only in their several ponds for that purpose, on pain of 20s. 33 H. 8. c. 17.

Any person may in any place, corporate town, privileged or unprivileged, set up manufactories of hemp or flax; and persons coming from abroad, using the trade of hemp or flax-dressing, and of making thread, weaving cloth made of hemp or flax, or making tapestry hangings, twine or nets for fishery, cordage, &c. after three years; shall have the privilege of natural horn subjects. 15 Car. 2. c. 15.

HERALD, is an officer at arms, whose business is to denounce war, proclaim peace, or be otherwise employed by the king in martial messages or other business.

Heralds are the judges and examiners of gentlemen's coats of arms, and preservers of genealogies; and they marshall all so emuities at the coronation of princes, and funerals of great persons.

Their office in adjusting armorial ensigns, and preserving genealogies, is now but little attended to; so much falsity and confusion having crept into their records, that though formerly some credit hath been paid to their testimony, yet now even their common seal will not be received as evidence in any court of justice. But their original visitation books, compiled when progresses were solemnly and regularly made into every part of the kingdom, to enquire into the state of families, and to register such marriages and descents as were verified to them upon eath, are allowed to be good evidence of pedigrees. It were to be wished, that this practice of visitation at certain periods were revived; for the failure of inquisition post mortem, by the abolition of military tenures, combined with the negligence of the heralds in omitting their usual progresses, bath rendered the proof of a modern descent, for the recovery of an estate, or succession to a title of honour, more difficult than that of an antient. This will indeed be remedied for the future, with respect to claims of peerage, by a standing order of the house of lords, 11 May 1767, directing the herald to take exact account, and preserve regular entreies, of all peers and pecresses of England, and their respective descendants a and that an exact pedigree of each peer and his family, shall on the day of his first admission, be delivered to the house by garter, principal king at arms. But the general inconvenience, affecting more private successions, still continues without a remedy. 3 Black. 105.

HERBAGE, is most generally used for a liberty that a man hath to feed his cattle in another man's ground, as in the forest. Cromp. Jurisd. 197.

HERBDITAMENTS, all such things immoveable, whether corporeal or incorporeal, as a man may leave to him and his heirs, by way of inheritance: or not being otherwise devised, do naturally descend to him who is next heir of blood, and fall not within the compass of an executor or administrator, as chattels do. It is a word of large extent, and much used in coveyances; for by the grant of hersditaments, isles, seignories, manors, houses, and lands of all sorts, charters, rents, services, advowsous, commons, and whatever may be inherited, will pass. Co. Lit. 6.

Hereditaments, are of two kinds, corporeal and incorporeal.— Corporeal hereditaments, consist wholly of substantial and permanent objects, all which may be comprehended under the general denomination of land only: for land comprehends in its legal signification, any ground, soil, or earth whatsoever, as arable, mendows, pastures, woods, moors, waters, marshes, furzes, and heath. 1 Inst. 4.

Incorporeal hereditaments, are not the object of sensation, neither can they be seen or handled, are creatures of the mind, and exist only in contemplation: they are principally of ten sorts, viz. advowsoms, tithes, commons, ways, offices, dignities, franchises, corodies or presents, and rents. 2 Black. Com. 20.

HERESY, among protestants, is said to be a false opinion, repagnant to some point of doctrine clearly revealed in scripture, and either absolutely essential to the Christian faith, or at least of most high importance. 1 Haw. 3.

All old statutes, that give a power to arrest or imprison persons for heresy, or introduce any forfeiture on that account, are repealed; yet by the common law, an obstinate heretic being excommunicated, is still liable to be imprisoned by force of the writ, de excommunicate capiendo, till he make satisfaction to the church. I Haw. 5.

And if any person having been educated in, or having made profession of the Christian religion within this realm, shall be convicted in any of the courts at Westminster, or at the amizes, of denying any of the persons in the holy trinity to be God, or maintaining that there are more Gods than one, or of denying the truth of the Christian religion, or the divine authority of the holy scriptures, he shall for the first offence, be adjudged incapable of any office, and for the second shall be disabled to sue any action, or be guardian, executor, or administrator, or take by any legacy or deed of gift, or to bear any office civil or military, or bepefice ecclesiastical, for ever, and shall also suffer imprisonment for three years, without bail or main-prize, from the time of such conviction. 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 32.

HERIOT, signifies a tribute given to the lord, for his better preparation towards war. And by the laws of Canute, it appears, that at the death of the great men of this nation, so many horses and arms were to be paid for, as they were in their respective lifetimes obliged to keep for the king's service.

A heriot was first paid in arms and horses; it is now by custom sometimes the best live heast which the tenant dies possessed of, sometimes the best innaimate good, under which a jewel or piece of plate may be included. 2 Black. 422.

As to the several kinds of heriots, some are dee by rustom, nome by tenure, and by reservation on deeds executed within time of memory; those due by custom are the most frequent, and arose by the contract or agreement of the lord and tenant, in consideration of some benefit or advantage accruing to the tenant, and for which an heriot, as the best beast, hest piece of household furniture, &c. became due, and belonged to the lord either on the death or alienation of the tenant, and which the lord may seize, either within the manor or without, at his election. Dyer, 199. 5.

It hath been solemaly adjudged, that for an beriot service, or for an heriot reserved by way of tenure, the lord may either seize or distrain; for when the tenant agrees that the lord shall on his death have the best heast, &c. the lord hath his election which beast he will take, and by seizing thereof reduces that to his possession, wherein he had a property at the death of the tenant, without the concurring act of any other person; and it is not like the case where the tenant receives 20s. or a robe, for there the lessee has his election which he will pay, and being to do the first act, the lord cannot seize, but must distrain: Ploud. 96.

If the tenure be by rent and heriot service, viz. to have the hest beast after the death of the tenant, and the lord distrain for the heriot, he need not in his avowry shew which was the best beast that he was entitled to, nor of what value it was; for the tenant might have estoined the cattle, and thereby it might have been impossible for the lord to know which was the best beast; and the tenant at his peril is to render the best beast, or sufficient recompence. Cro. Car. 260.

Upon the whole, the custom of the manor is the law of it, in all such like cases.

HERRINGS, it is unlawful to buy or sell herrings at sea, before the fishermen come into the haven, and the cabal of the ship he drawn to the land. 31 Ed. 3. c. 2.

No herrings shall be sold in any vessel but where the harrel contains 32 gallons, and half-barrel and firkin accordingly; and they must be well packed, of one time's packing and salting, and be as good in the middle as at the eads; on pain of forfeiting 3s. 4d. 4 barrel.

Vessels for herrings are to be marked with the quantity and place where packed: and packets are to be appointed and sworn in all fishing ports, and under the penalty of 1031. 15 Car. 2. c. 16.

HIDE OF LAND, is said to be one hundred and twenty acted; but according to sir Bidward Coke, a kuight's fee, a bide or plought land, a yard land, or an oxgung of land, do not contain any certain number of actes.

HIGHWAY, a public pussing for the fing's people; whence it is called the king's highway. It seems that untiently there were but four highways in England, which were free and common to all the king's subjects, and through which they might pass without any toll, unless there were a particular consideration for it; all others which we have at this day, are supposed to have been made through the ground of private persons, on writs of ad quod dammum, &c.-which being un injury to the owner of the soil, it is said they may prescribe for toll, without any special consideration. S Buc. Adv. 54.

There are three kinds of ways, a foot-way, a pack and prime way, which is both a horse and foot-way, and a cart way, which contains the other two. I Inst. 30.

But notwithstanding these distinctions, it seems that any of the said ways which is common to all the king's subjects, whether it lend directly to a market-town, or only from town to town, may properly be called an highway: and that any such cart-way may be called the king's highway; that a river common to all men may also be called an highway; and that nuisantes in any of the taid ways are pasistuble by indictment; otherwise they would not be punished, at all: for they are not netionable unless they cause a special damage to some particular person; because if such action would lie, a multiplicity of saits would ensue. 2 Durinf. & Bust.

But it seems that a way to a parish-church, or to the common field of a town, or to a village which terminates there, may be called a private way, because it belongs not to all the king's subjects, but only to the particular inhabitants of such parish, house, or village, each of which as it seems, may have an action for a misance therein. I Ham. 201.

If pinsengers have used time out of mind, where the roads are bad, to go by outlets on the land adjoining to an highway in an open field, such outlets are parcels of the highway; and therefore if they be sown with corn, and the track foundrous, the king's subjects may go upon the corn. 1 Roll. Abr. 390.

If a way which a man has, become impassable or very bad, by the owner of the land tearing it up with his carts, by which means it is filled with water; yet he who has the way, cannot dig the ground to let out the water, for he has no interest in the soil. But he may bring his action against the owner of the land for spoiling the way. Godd. 52.

Where a private way is spoiled by those who have a right to pass thereon, and not through the default of the owner of the land, it seems that they who have the use and benefit of the way, ought to repair it, and not the owner of the soil, unless he be bound thereto by custom or special government. 2 Burn. 483.

Repairing highways.—It seems agreed that, by the common laws the general charge of repairing all highways lies on the occupiers of the lands in the parish wherein they are. But it is said that the tenants of the lands adjoining are bound to scour their ditches. I Roll. Abr. 39.

Particular persons may be burdened with the general charge of repairing an highway, in two cases: in respect of an Incioeure, or by prescription. As where the owner of lands not inclosed, next adjoining to the highway, incloses his lands on both sides thereof; in which case he is bound to make a perfect good way, and shall not be excused for making it as good as it was at the time of the inclosure, if it were then any way defective; because, before the inclosure, when the way was bad, the people for their better passage, went over the fields adjoining, out of the common track, a liberty which the inclosure has deprived them of.

And particular persons may be bound to repair an highway by prescription; and it is said that a corporation aggregate, may be compelled to do it by force of a general prescription, that it ought and has used to do it, without shewing that it used to do so in respect of the tenure of certain lands, or for other consideration; because such a corporation in judgment of law, never dies, and therefore if it were ever bound to such duty, it must continue to be always so; neither is it any plea, that such a corporation has always done it out of charity, for what it has always done, it shall be presumed to have been always bound to do. But it is said that such a general prescription is not sufficient to charge a private person, because no man is bound to do a thing which his ancestors have done, unless it be for some special reason; as having lands descended to him holden by such service, &c. 1 Ham. 202, 203.

.It seems certain in all cases, whether a private person he bound to repair an highway by inclosure or prescription, that the parish cannot take the advantage of it on the general issue, but must plead it specially; and that therefore, if to an indictment against the parish for not repairing an highway, they plead not goilty, this shall be intended only that the ways are in repair, but does not go to the right of reparation. I Mod. 112.

At common law, it is said that all the county ought to make good the reparations of an highway, where no particular persons are bound to do it; by reason the whole county have their case and pasage by the said way. Co. Rep. 13.

By the antient common law, villages are to repair their highways, and may be punished for their decay; and if any do injure or straiten the highway, he is punishable in the king's-beach, or before the justices of peace, in the court beet, &c. Cromp. Juried. 76.

Destroying any public turnpike-gate, or the rails or fences thereto belonging, subjects the offender to hard labour for three months, and to be publicly whipped. 1 Geo. 2. c. 19.

On conviction at the assizes, the offender may be transported for seven years. And on a second offence, or on demolishing any turn-pike-house, he shall be guilty of felony, and transported for seven years. But in both these cases the prosecution must be within six months; and on the convict's returning from transportation, be shall suffer death, 5 Geo. 2 c. 33.

Every justice of the peace, by the statute, upon his own view; or on oath made to him by the surveyor, may make presentment of touch being out of repair; and thereupon like process shall be issued: as apon indictment.

HIGHWAYMEN.—In order to encourage the apprehension of highwaymen, it is enacted by the 4 and 5 W. and M. c. 8. that such as apprehend a highwayman, and prosecute him to conviction, shall receive a reward of 40l. from the public, to be paid to them (or, if killed in the endenvour to take him, to their executors) by the sheriff of the county; besides the horse, furniture, arms, money, and other goods taken upon the person of such robber; with perservation of the right of any person from whom the same may have been stolen: to which the statute 8 Geo. 2. c. 16. superadds 10l. to be paid by the hundred indemnified by such takings

HIRING AND BORROWING, are contracts by which a qualified property may be transferred to the hirer, or horrower; in which there is only this difference, that kiring, is always for a price, a stipend, or additional recompence; borrowing is merely gratuitous. But the law in both cases is the same. They are both contracts, whereby the possession and a transient property is transferred for a particular time or use, on condition or agreement to restore the goods so hired or borrowed, as soon as the time is expired, or use performed; together with the price or stipend, in case of hiring, either expressly agreed on by the parties, or left to be implied by law, according to the value of the service. 2 Black. 454.

HOLDING OVER, is keeping possession of the land after the expiration of the term.

If any person shall hold over after the determination of any term for life or years, and after demand made, and notice in writing given for delivering possession, he shall pay double the yearly value, to be recovered by action of debt. 4 G. 2. c. 28.

And if any person shall hold over, after himself hath given notice (either verbal or in writing) to quit, he shall pay double rent; to be recovered in like manner as the single rent. 11 G. S. c. 19.

HOLDING OVER A TERM, &c. Lands being devised to one till 800% raised; if the beir at law, or he in reversion or remainder, in case of lease or limitation of a life, enter on him to whom the lands are devised or limited, and expel him, it is in the election of him so expelled, either to bring his action and recover the mean profits which shall be accounted parcel of the sum, or he may reenter and hold over till he shall levy the entire sum, not accounting the time of his expulsion. But otherwise, if the expulsion were by a stranger. 4 Rep. 82.

HOLYDAYS, or days of rest, are certain days on which religious festivals were formerly held, and upon which labour or business are prohibited. Thus Sunday, Good-Friday, and Christmas-day, are days expressly constituted holidays by statute: there are also certain days which are kept by the public offices as holidays.

A bill of exchange, if falling due on Sunday, is payable on Saturday; and if in case where Christmas-day fell upon a Saturday, and the bill become thus payable, it has never been legally determined whether such bill is demandable upon the Friday, which contrary to the custom of merchants, is allowing only one day of grace; or on the Monday following, which is allowing five, although the former mode is the usual practice.

Where bills of exchange and promissory notes become payable on Good-Friday, the same shall be payable on the day before, and the holders thereof may protest the same for non-payment on such preceding day. 40 Geo. 3. c. 42.

HOMAGE, in the original, grants of lands and tenements by way of fee, the lord did not only tie his tenants to certain services, but also took a submission, with promise and onth, to be true and loyal to him as their lord and benefactor. This submission was called hemage: it was abolished by the 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

HOMAGE ANCESTREL, is where a man and his ancestors time out of mind held their lands of their lord and his ancestors by

Assage; and if such lord have received homage, he is bound to acquit the tenant against all other lords above him of all service; and if the tenant have done homage to his lord, and be impleaded, and vouch the lord to warranty, the lord is bound to warrant him; and if the tenant lose, he shall recover in value against the lord so much of the lands as he had at the time of the voucher, or any time after.

HOMAGE JURY, a jury in a court baron, consisting of tenants that do homage to the lord of the fee; and there by the feudists are called pares curiæ: they inquire and make presentments of defaults and deaths of tenants, admittances, and surrenders in the lord's court, &c.

HOMAGIO RESPECTUANDO, a writ directed to the eschentor; commanding him to deliver seisin of lands to the heir that is of full age, notwithstanding his homage not done, which ought to be performed before the heir have livery, or his lands; except there shall fall out some reasonable cause to hinder it. F. N. B. 269.

HOMAGIUM REDDERE, to renounce homage, when the vastal wade a solemn declaration of disowning and defying his lord. For which there was a set form and method prescribed by the feudal laws.

HOMESOKEN. The privilege or freedom which every man hath in his bouse; and he who invades that freedom is properly said facers homesoken. This was probably what we now call burglary, which is a crime of a very heinous nature, because it is not only a breach of the king's peace, but a breach of that liberty which a man hath in his house; which, as is commonly said should be his castle, and therefore ought not to be invaded. Bracton. Lib. 8.

HOMICIDE, properly so called, is the killing of a man by a man. Of this there are several species, as homicide by self-defence, homicide by misadventure, justifiable homicide, manslaughter, chance medley, and murder.

Homicide by self-defence. Homicide se defendendo, or in a man's own defence, seems to be, where one has no other possible means of preserving his life from one who combats with him on a sudden quarrel, and kills the person by whom he is reduced to such inevitable necessity. I Haw. 75.

And not only he who on an amount retreats to a wall, or some such strait, beyond which he can go no farther, before he kills the other is judged by the law to act upon unavoidable necessity; but also he, who being assaulted in such a manner, and in such a place, that he cannot go back without manifestly endangering his life, kills the other without retreating at all. Id.

And though a person who retreats from an amount to the wail, should give the other wounds in his retreat, yet if he give him no-mortal wound till he get thither, and then kill him, he is guilty of homicide se defendends only. Id.

But if the mortal wound were given first, then it is manslenghter.

Male's Pl. 49.

Homicide by misadventure, is where a man in doing a lawful act, without any intent of burt, unfortunately chances to kill another; as where a labourer being at work with an batchet, the head thereof free off, and kills one who stands by. 1 Haw. 73.

It seems clear, that neither homicide by misadocature, nor homicide so desendendo, are selonious, because they are not accompanied with a selonious intent, which is necessary in every selony. I Haw. 29.

Justifiable hemicide. To make homicide justifiable, it must be owing to some unavoidable necessity, to which a person who kills another must be reduced, without any manner of fault in himself.

And there must be no malice coloured under pretence of necessity; for wherever a person who kills another, acts in truth upon malice, and takes occasion upon the appearance of necessity to execute bis own private revenge, he is guilty of murder. 1 Haw. 69.

But if a woman kill him who assaulteth to ravish her, it is no fellony: or if a man come to burn my house, and I go out thereof and kill him, It is no fellony. Id. 39.

If any evil disposed person, shall attempt feloniously to reben murder any person in any dwelling-bouse or highway, or feloniously attempt to break any dwelling-house in the night time, and shall happen to be slain in such felonious attempt, the slayer shall be discharged and shall forfeit no lands, nor goods. 24 H. S. c. 5.

Justifiable homicide of a public nature, is such as is occasioned by the due execution or advancement of public justice, with regard to which it must be observed.

- 1. That the judgment, by virtue whereof any person is put to death, must be given by one who has jurisdiction in the cause; for otherwise both judge and officer may be guilty of felony.
- 2. The execution must be pursuant to, and warranted by the judgment, otherwise it is without authority; and consequently, if a sheriff shall behead a man, when it is no part of the sentence to cut off the head, he is guilty of felony. 1 Haw. 70.

Manslanghter. Homicide against the life of another, is either with or without malice; that which is without malice is called manslaughter, or cometimes channe medley, by which is understood such killing as happen either on a sudden quarrel, or in the compilesion of any unlawful act, without any deliberate intention of doing any mischief at all. 3 Inst. 56.

Hence it follows, that there can be no accessaries to this offence before the fact, because it must be done without premeditation; but there may be accessaries after the fact. Id.

The only difference between murder and manulaughter, is, that marder is upon malice aforethought, and manulaughter upon a sudden occasion, as if two meet together, and striving for the wall, the one kills the other, this is manulaughter and felony. And so it is if they bad, on that sudden occasion, gone into the field and fought, and the one had killed the other, this had been but manulaughter, and no murder; because all that followed was but a continuance of the first sudden occasion, and the blood was never couled till the blow was given. 3 Inst. 55.

Chance or chance medley. Authors of the first authority disagree about the application of this word: by some it is applied to homicide by misadventure, by others to manslaughter. The original meaning of the word seems to favour the former opinion, as it signifies a sudden or casual meddling or contention; but homicide by misadventure supposes no previous meddling or falling out.

Marder, is the highest crime against the law of nature, that a man is capable of committing.

Murder is when a man of sound memory, and at the age of discretion, uniawfully killeth another person under the king's peace with; malice aforethought, either expressed by the party, or implied by the law, so as the party wounded or burt, die of the wound or burt within a year and a day. 3 Inst. 47.

And the whole day on which the hurt was done, shall be reckoned the first. I Haw. 79.

By malice expressed, is meant a deliberate intention of doing any bodily harm to another, whereunto by law a person is not authorized.

And the evidences of such mulice, must arise from external circumstances discovering that inward intention; as lying in wait, menacings antecedent, former grudges, deliberate compassings, and the like, which are various, according to the variety of circumstances. I.H. H. 451.

Malice implied, is where a person voluntary kills another, without any provocation; for in this case the law presumes it to be malicious, and that he is a public enemy of mankind. 1 H. H. 455.

In general any formed design of doing mischief may be called malice; and therefore not such killing only as proceeds from premeditated hatred or revenge against the person killed, but also in many other circs, such as is accompanied with circumstances which shew the heart to be perversely wicked, is judged to be of malice prepense, or aforethought, and consequently murder. 2 Hav. 80.

If a man kill a naother, it shall be intended prima facts that he did it maliciously, unless he can make the contrary appear, by shrwing that he did it on a sudden provocation or the like.—

1 Haw. 82.

When the law makes use of the term malies aforethought, as descriptive of the crime of murder, it must not be understood in that narrow restrained seme, to which the modern use of the word malice is apt to lead one, a principle of malevolence to particulars; for the law by the term matter, in this instance means, that the fact has been attended with such circumstances, as are the ordinary symptoms of a wicked heart, regardless of social duty, and fatally beat upon marchief. Fore. 256.

The law so far abbars all deelling in cold blood, that not only the principal who actually kills the other, but also his seconds are gailty of muttler, whether they fought or not; and it is holden that the seconds of the person killed, are also equally guilty, in respect to that countenance which they give to their principals in the execution of their purpose, by accompanying them therein, and being ready to bear a part with them. I Haw. 82.

Also it seems agreed, that no breach of a man's word or promise, no trespons cither to land or goods, no affront by bare words or gestures, however false or malicious it may be, and aggrav ated with the most provoking circumstances, will excuse him from being guilty of murder, who is so far transported thereby, as immediately to attack the person who effents, in such a manner as manifestly endangers his life, without giving him time to put himself upon his guard, if he kill him in pursuance of such amount, whether the person shall did at all fight in his defence or not. Id.

Self-murder. Sac Felo de se.

HOMINE REPLECIANDO, a writ to bail a man out of prish. When one conveys away secretely, or keeps in his custody another man against his will; then upon oath made thereof, and a petition to the lord chancellor, he will grant a writ of replegiari facias, with an alias, and pluries, upon which the sheriff returns an elongulus and thereupon issues a capias in withernam, made by the filazer, and when he is thereupon taken, the sheriff cannot take bail for him; but the court where the writ is returnable may, if they think fit, grant an habeas corpus to the sheriff to bring him into court, and bail him, or else remand him. I Black. Com. 120. This writ is now superseded by that of habeas corpus.

HOMINES, a sort of feudatory tenants, who claimed a privilege of having their causes and persons tried only in the court of their HOND-HABEND, signifies a circumstance of manifest theft, as when a person is apprehended with the mainour or mainover, that is, the thing stolen in his band.

HONQUE, is used especially for the more noble sort of seigniosies on which other inferior lordships or manors depend, by performance of some customs or services to those who are lords of them. Before the stat. 18 Ed. 1. the king's greater barons, who had a large extent of territory holden under the crown, frequently granted out smaller manors to inferior persons to be holden of themselves a which do therefore now continue to be held under a superior lord, who is called in such cases the lord paramount over all these manors; and his seigniory is frequently termed an honour, not a manor, especially if it hath belonged to an antient feudal baron, or hath been at any time in the hands of the crown. 2 Black. 91.

When the king grants an honour with appurtenances, it is superior to a manor with appurtenances; for to an honour, by common intendment, appertain franchises, and by reason of those liberties and franchises, it is called an honour. Roll. 161.

Abeyance of dignities and titles of honour. Where dignities or titles of honour are descendible to male heirs, and the last possessor of the title dies, leaving only female issue; such dignity is said to be in abeyance, and can only be determined by the sovereign granting it to one of the female co-heiresses. Many cases on this point are collected in Mr. Cruise's valuable Treatise on Dignities.

HONOUR COURTS. There is a court of honour of earl marshal of England, &c. which determines disputes concerning precedency and points of honour. See Court of Chivalry.

HONOURARY SERVICES, are such as are incident to grand serjeantry, and annexed commonly to some honour.

HOPS, by several statutes, regulations are made for the curing of hops, &c. which being placed under the inspection of the officers of excise, are too numerous to admit of being here specified.

HORNEGELD, a tax within a forest to be paid for horned beasts.

HORS DE SON FEE, an exception to avoid an action brought for rent issuing out of certain lands, by him that pretends to be the Jord, or for some customs and services; for if the defendant can prove the land to be without the compass of his fee, the action fails. 2 Rep. 30.

HORSE DEALERS. By 52 Geo. 3.c. 93. every person exercising the trade or husiness of a horse-dealer, must take out a license from the stamp office, for which he shall pay annually, if within London, Westminter, the bills of mortality, the parish of St. Pancras, or the borough of Southwark, 25% clsewhere 12% 10s.

The commissioners are to grant licenses to horse-dealers for sot exceeding one year; and every license shall cease on Sept. 29, then in the year for which the same shall be issued and commence from the date; and every license taken out for any year subsequent to the year in which the same shall be issued, shall commence from Sept. 29 then next ensuing, and continue to Sept. 29 following; and a fresh license is to be taken out ten days at least before the expiration of the year.

One license is sufficient for partners, and the license is confined to the place mentioned therein.

But no licenses to be granted to horse-dealers, unless they declare they seek their living by buying and selling horses, and add the name of the place where the said business is carried on. 29 Geo. 3. c. 49.

Horse-dealers so licensed, shall cause the words licensed to deal in horses, to be painted or written in large and legible characters, either on a sign hung out, or on some visible place in the front of their house, gateway, or stables; and if they shall sell any horse, without fixing such token, they shall forfeit 10% to be recovered by action; half to the king, and half to the informer. 36 G. 3. c. 17.

Horse-dealers who shall after Jan. 1, 1796, carry on the said business without having obtained a license under this act, shall be liable to be assessed the duties on riding horses, and shall deliver lists thereof as other persons.

HORSES. It shall be lawful for any person, native, or foreigner, at any time to ship, lade, and transport by way or merchandize, borses into any parts beyond the seas, in amity with his majesty, paying for each horse, mare, or gelding, 2s. and so more.

No person convicted for feloniously stealing a horse, mare, or gelding, shall have the privilege of clergy. 1 Ed. VI. c. 12.

And not only all accessaries before such felony done, but also all accessaries after such felony, shall be deprived and put from all benefit of their clergy, as the principal, by statute heretofore made, is or ought to be,

If an horse be stolen out of the stable, or other curtilage of a dwelling-house, in the night time, it falls under the denomination of burglary; if in the day time, it falls under the denomination of terpeny from the house; and in either case there is a reward of 401. for convicting an offender, and the prosecutor is entitled to a certificate, which will exempt him from all parish and ward offices in the parish and ward where the burglary, or larceny is committed, and which may be once assigned over, and will give the same exemption to the assignee, as to the original proprietor. Burn's Just. 621.

If an amount horse be said at the price of a sound horse, though not absolutely marranted to be sound, the selier sins against the law of morality, and the law of the land; but if he acknowledge him not to be sound, and sell him greatly under the value of a sound horse, as if he dispose of him for 251, when he would have been worth 501, if sound, such sale may be considered as fair and legal.

If a horse which is warranted sound at the time of sale, be proved to have been at that time unsound, it is not necessary that he should be returned to the seller. No length of time clapsed after the sale will alter the nature of a contract originally false. Neither is notice necessary to be given: though the not giving notice will be a strong presumption against the buyer, that the horse at the time of sale had not the defect complained of, and will make the proof on his part much more difficult. The bargain is compleat, and if it be fraudulent on the part of the seller, he will be liable to the buyer in damages, without either a return or notice.

If on account of an horse warranted sound, the bayer shall sell him again at a loop, an action might perhaps be maintained against the original seller, to recover the difference of the price. I Hen. Black. 17.

Slaughtering harses:—great abuses having arleen, and many horses having been stolen, from the facility and sufety of disposing of them to those who kept slaughter houses for horses, some regulations and restrictions seemed absolutely necessary. It was no uncommon thing for horses of great value to be sold for the purpose of making food for dogs; the thief rather choosing to receive twenty shillings for a stolen horse, without fear or danger of detection, than venture to dispose of him publicly, though he might possibly have found a purchaser who would have given as many pounds for him. These considerations induced the legislature to pass the act of 26 G. 3. c. 71, for regulating these slaughter-houses.

Killing or maining horses:—where any person shall in the night time, maliciously, unlawfully, and willingly kill, or destroy any horses, sheep; or other cattle of any person, every such offence shall be adjudged friony, and the offender shall suffer as in the case of felony. 22 & 23 Car. 2, c. 7.

Offenders may be transported for seven years, either at the assizes, or at the sessions, by three justices of the peace; one to be of the quorum.

By the 9 G. 1. c. 22, commonly called the black act, it is enacted, that if any person shall unlawfully and maliciously kill, main, or would any cattle, every person so offending, being thereof lawfully convicted, in any county of Ragland, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and shall suffer death, as in cases of felony, without benefit of clergy.

But not to work corruption of blood, loss of dower, nor forfeiture of lands or goods.

Prosocution upon this statute, shall or may be commenced, within three years from the time of the offence committed, but not after.

If an horse, or other goods, he delivered to an inn-keeper or his servants, he is bound to keep them safely, and restore them when his guest leaves the house. 2 Black. 451.

If an horse he delivered to an agisting farmer, for the purpose of depasturing in his meadows, he is answerable for the loss of the horse, if it he occasioned by the ordinary neglect of himself or his servants.

Jones on Ballm. 91.

If a man ride to an ion, where his horse has eat, the host may detain the horse, till he he satisfied for the enting, and without making any demand. 14 Fin. Abr. 437.

But an horse committed to an inn-keeper, can only be detained for his own meat, and not for that of his guest, or any other horse; for the chattels in such case, are only in the custody of the law for the debt which arises from the thing itself, and not for any other debt due from the same party. 2 Rol. Abr. 85.

By the custom of London and Exeter, if a man commit an horse to an inn-keeper, if he eat out his price, the inn-keeper may take him as his own, upon the reasonable appraisement of four of his neighbours; which was it seems a custom, arising from the abundance of traffic with strangers, that could not be known so as to be charged with an action.

But it hath been holden though an inn-keeper in London, may, after long keeping, have the horse appraised and sell him, yet, when he has in such case had him appraised, he cannot justify the taking him to himself, at the price he was appraised at. Vin. Abr. 293.

HORSE-RADES. By the 13 Geo. 2. c. 19, which was passed for the salutary purpose of preventing the multiplicity of horse races, and consequently of checking gaming, it is enacted that no plates or matches under 50t. value shall be run, upon penalty of 200t. to be paid by the owner of each horse running, and 100t. hy such as advertise the plate. At Newmarket and Black Hambleton, however, a race may be ron for any sum or stake less than 501. But though such horse races are lawful, yet it has been determined, that they are games within the statute 9 Ann. c. 14, and that of consequence, wagers above 101, upon a lawful horse race, are illegal. 2 Blackst. Rep. 706.

HOVERING .- Ships of 50 tons, laden with customable or probibited goods, hovering on the coasts of this kingdom, within the limits. of any port (and not proceeding from foreign parts) may be entered by officers of the customs, who are to take an account of the lading. and to demand and take a security from the master, by his bond to his majesty, in such sum of money as shall he treble the value of such foreign goods then on board; that such ship shall proceed (as wind and weather, and the condition of the ship will permit) en her vyage to foreign parts, and shall land the goods in soule foreign p it: the master refusing to enter into much bond, on demand, or whe saving given bond, shall not proceed on such voyage (unless otherwise suffered to make a longer stay by the collector, or other principal officer of such port where the vessel shall be, not exceeding twenty days); in either of the said cases, all the foreign goods on beard, may be taken out by the custom house-officers, by direction of the collector, and properly secured; and if they are customable the duties shall be paid; and if prohibited they shall be forfeited.

The officers of the customs may prosecute the same, as also the ship, if liable to condemnation. 3 G. 3. c. 21.

Commanders of men of war, and custom-house officers, may compel ships of fifty tone, or under, hovering within two leagues of shore, to come into port. 6 G. 1. c. 21.

If my ship or vessel shall be found at anchor, on hovering within eight lengues of the coast (except between the North Foreland and Beachy Head) unless by distress of weather, having on board foreign epiffts, in any vessel or cask which shall not contain sixty gallons, at least, or any wine in casks (provided such vessel have wine on board) shall not exceed sixty tons burthen, or six pounds weight of tea, or twenty pounds weight of coffee, or any goods whatever liable to for-feither upon importation, that such goods, with the ship and furniture, shall be forfeited; spirits for the use of seamen, not exceeding two gallons per man, excepted. 42 Geo. 3. c. 82.

HOUSAGE, a kind of fee paid for housing goods, by a carrier, or at a wharf or quay.

HOUSE. Every man's house is as his castle, as well to defend him against injuries as for his repose. 2 Inst. 16.

Upon recovery in any real action or ejectment, the sheriff may break the house and deliver seisin, &c. to the plaintiff, the writ, being habers facias seisinam, or possessionem; and after judgment it is not the house of the defendant in right and judgment of the law.

In all cases where the king is a party, the sheriff, if no door be open, may break the parties' house to take him, or to execute other process of the king, if he cannot otherwise enter; but he ought first to signify the cause of his coming, and request the door to be opened; and this appears by the statute Westm. 1, 17. which is only in affirmance of the common law; and without default in the owner, the law will not suffer a house to he broken. 5 Rep. 91.

In all cases where the door is open, the sheriff may enter and make execution at the suit of any subject, either of body or goods; but otherwise where the door is shut, there he cannot break it to execute process at the suit of a subject.

Though an house be a castle for the owner himself and his family, and his own goods, &c. yet it is no protection for a stranger flying thither, or the goods of such a one, to prevent lawful execution; and therefore in such case, after request to enter, and denial, the sheriff may break the house. 5 Rep. 91.

If a person authorized to arrest another who is sheltered in an house, be denied quietly to enter into it, in order to take him; it seems generally to be agreed, that he may justify the breaking open the doors upon a capias from the king's beach or chancery, to compel a man to find sureties for the peace or good behaviour, or even upon a warrant from a justice of peace for such purpose.

So where one known to have committed treason, is parsued either with or without a warrant, by a constable or private person.

So where an affray is made in an house in the view or hearing of a constable; or where those who have made an affray in his presence fly to an house, and are immediately pursued by him, and he is not suffered to enter in order to suppress the affray, in the first case, or to apprehend the affrayers in either case. 2 Haw. 86, 87.

A man ought so to use his house, as not to damnify his neighbour: and a man may compel another to repair his house, in several cases by the writ de dome reparanda. 1 Salk. 360.

If a man build his house so close to mine, that his roof overhangs my roof, and throws the water of his roof upon mine, this is a nuisance for which an action will lie.

But depriving one of a mere matter of pleasure, as of a fine prospect, by building a wall or the like; this, as it abridges nothing really convenient or necessary, is no injury to the sufferer, and thereore not an actionable nuisance. 3 Black. 217.

HOUSE-BOTR, signifies estovers, or an allowance of necessary timber out of the lord's wood, for the repairing and support of an house or tenement. And this belongs of common right, to any lesses for years or life; but if he take more than is needful, he may be punished by an action of waste. Co. Lit. 41.

HOUSE-BREAKING. See Burglary.

HOUSE-BURNING. See Mrson.

MOUSES OF LORDS AND COMMONS. See Parliament.

HUE AND CRY, is the autient common law process after felone, and such as have dangerously wounded any person, or assaulted siny one with intent to rob to him. And it hath received great countenance and authority by several acts of parliament. In any of which cases, the party grieved, or any other, may resort to the constable of the vill; and Pl. give him such reasonable assurance thereof, as the nuture of the case will bear; 2. if he know the name of him that did it, he must tell the constable the same; 3. if he know it not, but can describe him, he must describe him, his person, or his habit, or his horse, or such circumstances as he knows, which may conduce to the discovery; 4. if the thing be done in the night, so that he knows none of these circumstances, be must mention the number of persons, or the way they took; 5. if none of all these can be discovered, as where a robbery, or burglary, or other felony is committed in the night, yet they are to acquaint the constable with the fact, and desire him to search his town for suspected persons, and to make hae and cry after such as may probably be suspected, as being persons vagrant in the same night; for many circumutances may happen to be useful for discovering a malefactor, which cannot at first be found out.

For the levying of has and cry, although it is a good course to have a justice's warrant, where time will permit, in order to prevent causeless hue and cry; yet it is not necessary, nor always convenient, for the felon may escape before the warrant be obtained. And apon hue and cry levied against any person, or where any hue and cry comes to a constable, whether the person be certain or uncertain, the constable may search suspected places within his viti, for the apprehending of the felon. And if the person, against whom the hue and cry is raised, be not found in the constablewick, then the constable, and also every officer to whom the hue and cry shall afterwards come, ought to give notice to every town round about him, and to one next town only; and so from one constable to another, until the offender be found, or till they come to the sen-side. And this was the law before the conquest.

And in such cases it is accdful to give notice in writing, to the pursuers, of the thing stolen, and of the colour and masks thereof; as also to describe the person of the felon, his apparel, horse, or the like, and which way he is gone, if it may be: but if the person that did the fact, be neither known, nor describable by his person, cloaths, or the like, yet such an hue and cry is good, and must be pursued, though no person certain can be named or described.

2 H. H. 160, 103.

HUNDRED. In the time of king Alfred, the kingion was in gross, and then divided into counties and hundreds, and all persons came within one hundred or other.

By stat. 2 Ed. 3. c. 12. it was enacted, that all handreds and wapentakes granted by the king, shall be annexed to the county and not severed.

And by 14 Ed. 3. c. 9. that all should be annexed, and the sheriff should have power to put in bailiffs, for which he will answer, and no more should be granted for the future.

Hundreds are not answerable to persons who are robbed travelling on a Sunday. 29 Car. 2. c. 7.

Hundreds are liable to penalty on expertation of wool. 7 & & W. S. c. 28.

Hundreds are liable to damages sustained by pulling down buildings. 1 G. 1. c. 5.

Hundreds are liable for damages, by killing cattle, cutting down trees, burning houses, &c. 9 G. 1. c. 22. and 29 G. 2. c. 36.

Hundreds are liable for damages incurred by destroying turnpikes, or works on navigable rivers. 8 G. 2. c. 20.

By cutting hop binds. 10 G. 2. c. 32. By destroying corn to prevent exportation. 11 G. 2. c. 22. By wounding officers of the customs. 19 G. 2. c. 34. or by destroying wood, &c. 29 G. 2. c. 36.

All monies recovered against the hundred to be levied by a rate. 22 G. 2. c. 46.

HUNDREDORS, men impanelled, or fit to be impanelled on a jury upon a controversy, dwelling in the hundred where the land in question lies. Hundredor signifies also him that hath the jurisdiction of an hundred, and holds the hundred court.

HUNDRED-LAGH, the hundred court, from which all the officers of the king's forests were exempted by the charter of king Canute.

HUNTING. See Dogs and Game.

HUSBAND AND WIFE, usually termed baron and fome, are one person in law: that is, the very being or legal existence of the woman, is suspended during the marriage; or at least is incorporated and consolidated into that of the busband, under whose wing, protection and cover, she performs every thing: she is therefore called in our law French, a feme covert, that is, under the protection and influence of her husband, her baron, or lord; and her condition during her marriage is called her coverture.

A man cannot grant lands to his wife during the coverture, nor any estate or interest to her, nor enter into covenant with her. But he may by his deed covenant with others for her use, as for her jointure, or the like; and he may give to her by devise or will, hecause the devise or will, doth not take effect till after his death. I Inst. 112.

her coverture, are wold; except it be a fine, or the like matter of record, in which case she must be solely and secretly examined, that it may be known whether or no her act be voluntary. It Black. 444.

A wife is so much favoured in respect of that power and authority which her bushand has over her, that she shall not suffer any punishment for committing a bare theft in company with, or by coercion of her husband.

But if she commit a theft of her own voluntary act, or by the bare command of her husband, or be guilty of treason, murder, or robbery, in company with, or by coercion of her husband, she is punishable as much as if she were sole; because of the odiousness and dangerous consequence of these crimes. 1 Haw. 2.

By marriage, the husband hath power over his wife's person; and the courts of law still permit an husband to restrain a wife of her liberty, in case of any gross misbehaviour. But if he threaten to kill her, &c. she may make him find surety of the peace, by suing a writ of supplicavit out of chancery, or by preferring articles of the peace against him, in the court of king's-bench, or she may apply to the spiritual court for a divorce propter sævitatem.

The husband by marriage gittains a freehold in right of his wife, if he takes a woman to wife that is seized of a freehold; and he may make a lease thereof for twenty-one years or three lives, if it be made according to the statute. 32 H. 8. c. 28.

The husband also gains a chattel real, as a term for years, to dispose of if he please, by grant or lease in her life time, or by surviving her: otherwise it remains with the wife. And upon execution for the husband's debt, the sheriff may sell the term during the life of the wife. 1 Inst. 351.

The husband also by the marriage, bath an absolute gift of all ekattels personal in possession of the wife in her own right, whether he survives her or not. But if these chattels personal are choses in action; that is, things to be sued for by action, as debts by obligation, contract, or the like, the hasband shall not have them, unless be and his wife recover them. I Inst. 351.

By custom in London, a wife may carry on a separate trade; and as such, is liable to the statutes of bankruptcy, with respect to the goods in such separate trade, with which the bushand causet intermedile. Burr. 1776.

If the wife be indebted before marriage, the husband is bound afterwards to pay the debt, living the wife; for he has adopted her and her circumstances together. I Black. 143.

But if the wife die, the husband shall not be charged for the debt of his wife after her death; if the creditor of the wife do not get judgment during the coverture. 9 Co 72.

The husband is bound to provide his wife necessaries; and if she contract for them, he is obliged to puy for the same; but for any thing besides necessaries he is not chargeable.

And also if a wife clope, and live with another man, the husband is not chargeable even for necessaries; at least if the person who furnish them be sufficiently apprized of her clopement. I Black. 442.

A man having issue by his wife born alive, shall be tenant by the courtesy of all the lands in fee simple, or fee tail general, of which she shall die seized. Litt. 52.

And after her death, he shall have all chattels real; as the term of the wife, or a lease for years of the wife, and all other chattels in possession, and also, all such as are of a mixed nature (partly in possession and partly in action), as rents in arrest, incurred before the marriage or after: but things_merely in action, as of a bond or obligation to the wife, he can only claim them as administrator to his wife, if he survive her. Wood. b 1. c. 6.

If the wife survive the husband, she shall have for her dower, the third part of all his freehold lands: so she shall have her term for years again, if he have not altered the property during his, life: so also she shall have again all other chattels real and mixed: and so things in action, as debts, shall remain to her, if they were not received during the marriage. Id.

But if she clope from her husband, and go away with her adulterer, she shall lose her dower; unless her husband had willingly, without coercion ecclesiastical, been reconciled to her, and permitted her to cohabit with him. 1 Inst. 32.

HUSTINGS, this court is held before the lord mayor and aldermen of London. Error or attaint lies there, of a judgment or fathe verdict in the sheriff's court. Other cities and towns, as York, Lincoln, &c. also have had a court of the same name. See Court of Hustings.

HYPOTHECATE, a term in Marine Insurance. To hypothecate a ship, is to pawn the same for necessaries; and a master may hypothecate either ship or goods for relief when in distress at sea; for he represents the traders as well as owners; and in whose hands soever a ship or goods hypothecated, come, they are liable. It Salk. 34.

I & J.

boasts or gives out, that he or she is married to the other, whereby a common reputation of their matrimony may ensue. On this ground the party injured may libel the other in the spiritual court; and unless the defendant undertake, and make out a proof of the actual marriage, he or she is enjoined perpetual silence on that head. 3 Black. 93.

IDENTITATE NOMINIS, is a writ that lies for him, who upon a capias or exigent is arrested in a personal action, and committed to prison for another man of the same name; in such case he may have this writ directed to the sheriff, which is in the nature of a commission to inquire, whether he be the same person against whom the action was brought; and if not, then to discharge him. Reg. Orig. 194.

IDENTITY OF THE PERSON, is when the defendant in a criminal cause, pleads that he is not the same person that was attainted; in which case, a jury shall be impanelled to inquire concerning the identity of the person. And this shall be done immediately, and no time allowed to the prisoner to make his defence, or produce his witnesses, unless he will make outh that he is not the person attainted. 4 Black. 396.

IDEOTS, an ideot is a fool or madman from his nativity, and one who never has any lucid intervals; therefore the king has the protection of him and his estate, during his life, without rendering any account; because it cannot be presumed that he will ever be capable of taking care of himself or his affairs.

By the old common law, there is a writ de ideota inquirendo, directed to the sheriff, to inquire by a jury, whether the party be an ideot or not; and if they find him a perfect ideot, the profits of his lands and the custody of his person, belong to the king according to the stat. 17 Ed. 2. c. 9. by which it is enacted, that the king shall have the custody of the lands of natural fools, taking the profits of them without waste or destruction, and shall find them necessaries of whose fee soever the land shall be holden. And after the death of such ideots, he shall render it to the right heir, so that such ideots shall not aliene, nor their heirs be disinherited. But it seldom happens, that a jury finds a man an ideot from his nativity; but only non compos mentis from some particular time; which has an operation very different in point of law: for in this case, he comes under the denomination of a lunatic; in which respect, the king shall not have the profits of his lands, but is accountable for the same to the lunatic when he comes to his right mind, or otherwise to his executors or administrators. 1 Black. 303.

It seems to be agreed at this day, that the king as parens patric, hath the protection of all his subjects; and that in a more peculiar manner he is to take care of all those, who by reason of their im becility and want of understanding, are incapable of taking care of themselves. Staundf. Prorog. c. 9. f. 33.

But though a lunatic is by commission to be under the care of the public, and such committee is to be appointed for him by the lord chancellor, whose acts are subject to the correction and controul of the court of chancery; yet such an one, whether so appointed, or whether he of his own head take upon him the care and management of the estate of a lunatic, is but in nature of a bailiff or trustee for him, and accountable to him, his executors, or administrators. 4 Co. 127.

And as the committees of a lumatic have no interest, but an estate during pleasure, it has been ruled, that they cannot make leases, nor any ways incumber the lumatic's estate, without a special order from the court of chancery, where the profits are not sufficient to maintain the lumatic. 1 Vern. 262.

In case of a lunatic's recovery, he must petition the chancellor to supersede the commission; upon the hearing of which, the lunatic must attend in person, that he may be inspected by the chancellor; it is also usual for the physician to attend, and to make an affidavit that the lunatic is perfectly recovered. Fonblanque's Treat. Eq. c. 2. s. 3.

An ideot, or person non compos, may inherit, because the law in compassion to their natural infirmities, presumes them capable of property. Co. Litt. 2.

Also an ideot or person of non sane memory, may purchase, be-memory they agree thereto, they cannot avoid it; but if they die during their lunacy, their heirs may avoid it, for they shall not be subject to the contracts of persons who want capacity to contract; so if after their memory recovered, the lunatic, or person non conspes, die without agreement to the purchase, their heirs may avoid it. Co. Litt. 2.

If an ideat or lunatic marry, and die, his wife shall be endowed; for this works no forfeiture, and the king has only custody of the inheritance in one case, and the power of providing for him and his family in the other; but in both cases the freehold and inheritance is in the ideat or lunatic; and therefore if lands descend to an ideat or lunatic after marriage, and the king, on office found, takes those lands into his custody, or grants them over to another as committee in the usual manner; yet this seems no reason why the husband should not be tenant by the courtesy, or the wife endowed, since their title does not begin to any purpose till the death of the husband or wife, when the king's title is at an end. Co. Litt. 31.

But by the 51 Geo. 3. c. 37. if lunatics marry before they are pronounced to be of sane mind by the lord chancellor or law keepers of the great seal, or by the majority of their respective trustees, such marriages are null and void.

It is laid down as a general rule, that ideots and lunatics, being by reason of their natural disabilities incapable of judging between good and evil, are punishable by no criminal prosecution whatsoever-1 Haw. 2.

And therefore a person who loses his memory by sickness, infirmlty, or accident, and kills himself, is no felo de se. 3 Inst. 54.

And as a person non compos cannot be a felo de se by killing himself, so neither can be be guilty of homicide in killing another, nor of petit treason; also if one committed for a capital offence become non compos before conviction, he shall not be arrainged; and if after conviction, he shall not be executed. 1 H. H. 90.

We must distinguish between acts done by ideots and lunatics in pais, and in a court of record; that as to those solemnly acknowledged in a court of record, as fines and recoveries, and the uses declared on them, they are good, and can neither be avoided by themselves, nor their representatives, for it is to be presumed, that had they been under these disabilities, the judges would not have admitted them to make those acknowledgments. 4 Co. 124.

Therefore if a person non compos neknowledge a five, it shall stand against him and his heirs; for though the judge ought not to admit of a fine from a madman under that disability, yet when it is once received, it shall never be reversed, because the record and judgment of the court being the highest evidence that can be, the law presumes the conusor at that time capable of contracting; and therefore the credit of it is not to be contested, nor the record avoided by any averment against the truth of it. 2 Inst. 413.

As to acts done by them in pais, they are distinguished into void and voidable, though as to themselves they are regularly unavoidable, because no man is allowed to disable himself, for the insecurity that may arise in contracts from counterfeited madness and folly; besides, if the excuse were real, it would be repugnant that the party should know or remember what he did; but their heirs and executors may avoid such acts in pais, by pleading the disability; because if they can prove it, it must be presumed real, since no body can be thought to counterfeit it, when he can expect no benefit from it himself.—

4 Co. 124.

There are frequent instances in equity, where not only ideots and lunatics, who come within the protection of the law, but also persons of weak understandings, have been relieved, when they appeared to have been imposed upon in their dealings, and unreasonable purchases, and securities obtained from them set uside in their favour. 1 Chan. Ca. 113.

any will or testament; as are also persons grown childish by reason of extreme old age; so one actually drunk, if he be so drunk as to have lost the use of his reason: but though a person who wants understanding cunnot make a will, yet the rule herein is not to be taken from his not being able to measure an eil of cloth, tell twenty, or the like, but whether he have sense enough to dispose of his estate with understanding. Swimb. 71.

When an ideot sues or defends, he shall not appear by guardian, procksin amy, or attorney, but he must be ever in proper person. Co. Lit. 135. b.

But otherwise of him who becomes non compos mentis; for he shall appear by guardian if within age, or by attorney if of full age. 4 Co. 124.

By the 51st Geo. 3. c. 70. for the better care and maintenance of lunatics, being pumpers or criminals, in England, it is enacted that whenever application shall be made by the overseers of any parish of any county in which any lunatic asylum is erected, for a warrant for the conveyance of any lunatic, the justice may refuse it, stating his reasons, and all persons aggrieved may appeal to the quarter sessions. Sect. 1, 2. Justices are required to make returns to the quarter sessions of the cases brought before them; and overseers are to produce certificate from a medical person of the state of the latic. Sect. 13, 4. The medical superintendant of every asylum must make returns of the state of persons catrusted to his care. Sect. 5, The expenses of removal of a pasper shall be paid by the parish in which the pasper shall be legally settled. Sect. 6. Bastards of lumetics to have the legal settlement of the mother. Sect. 7.

IDEOTA INQUIRENDO VEL EXAMINANDO. See Ideots. JETSAM, may thing thrown out of a ship, being in the danger of wreck, and by the waves driven to the shore. See Flotsam.

JEWS, Here in England in former times, the Jews and all their goods belonged to the chief ford where they lived; and he had such an absolute property in them, that he might sell them; for they had not liberty to remove to another lord without leave. They were detelinguished from the Christians in their lives, and at their deaths; for they had proper judges and courts, where their causes were decided.

By stat. Edw. 1. the Jews to the number of 15,000 were banished out of England; and never returned till Oliver Cromwell re-admitted them.

Whenever any Jew shall present himself, to take the oath of abinvation, in pursuance of the 10th Geo. 3. c. 10. the words upon the true faith of a Christian, shall be omitted out of the said oath in administering it to such persons, and the taking the said oath by persons, professing the Jewish religion, without the said words, in like, manner as Jews are admitted to give evidence in courts of justice, shall be deemed a sufficient taking of the abjuration oath.

By 26 Geo. 2. c. 26. bills in parliament were permitted for natura-lizing, Jews, but this was repealed by 27 Geo. 2. c. 1.

LGNORAMUS, was formerly indersed by the grand jury on the back of a bill, for which they did not find, sufficient evidence; but now, since the proceedings, were in English, they inderse no bill, or not a true bill, or which is the better way, not found. 4 Black. 305.

ignorance of it, though it be invincible, where a man offering that that he hath done all that in him lies, will not excuse him.

But though ignorance of the law excuseth not, ignorance of the fact doth; as if a person buy an horse or other thing in open market, of one that had no property therein, and not knowing but he had right; in that case he hath good title, and the ignorance shall excuse him. But if the party bought the borse out of the market, or the seller had no right, the baying in open market would not have ex-

And an infant at the age of discretion shall be punished for crimes, though he be ignorant of the law sthat infants of tender age have ignorance by nature to excuse them; and so person soon company have ignorance by the hand of God. Stud. Com. 88.

ILLEVIABLE, that may or chance be levied, and therefore take? Is a word set upon a debt fileviable.

IMPANEL, to impanel a jury, to the enter into a parthulent schedule by the theriff, the numes of the jury samusand to appear, for the performance of such public service as juries one ployed in.

IMPARLANCE, is a priltion in coart, for a play to comider up advise what mower the defendant shall wake to the action of the plaintiff; being a continuance of the cause till another day, or a larger time given by the court, which is generally till the siext term.

Formerly the defendant in all cases, had an impariance to the term next after the return of the process, except the proceedings were by original, or for or against attornies or other privileged persons, or against prisoners in the custody of the marshal; in which eases the defendant was bound to plend without any impariance, and the same term the declaration was delivered (if delivered four days before the end of the term) and except the proceedings were by and deas corpus, or the process were returnable the first return of Baster or Michaelmas term, and the action taid in London or Middinex; and in which last cases; if the declaration were delivered before the emoin day of Cras. Ani, the defendant was to plead two days before the subsequent term. Mich. 5 Anne.

But now by a rule made in Trimity term's & Geo. 2. upon all process to be sued out of this court, returnable the first or setond return of any term, if the plaintiff declare in London or Middlesex, and the defendant live within twenty miles of Lordon, the declaration shall be delivered with notice to plead within eight days after the delivery, and the defendant shall plead within the said right days, without any imparlance; and in default of pleading in either of these cases, judgment may be entered. In both these cases the declaration must be delivered at least four days before the end of the term, exclusive of the day of delivery, otherwise the defendant will be entitled to an imparlance.

The defendant may impart if he amend his declaration; otherwise, if he accept of costs; for by such amendment it shall be accounted as a new declaration; but if the defendant accept of costs for such amendment, it is intended that he is satisfied for what has projected by the americant, and therefore it is reason by should plead to the declaration to amendad, and not impurity Li P. Ri St.

imparliament, for treason, or other crime and misdemeasor. An imparationent before, the lords by the company of Great Britain, is a presentment to the most high and supreme court of criminal jurisdicy tion; by the most observed inquest of the whole kingdom. A commoner cannot be imparabled before the lords for any capital offence, but sonly for high misdemensors; but a peer may be impeached for any crime. The articles of imparablement are a kind of bills of indictment, found by the house of commons, and afterwards tried by the lords, who are, in cases of misdemeaners, considered, not only as their own peers, but so the peers, of the whole nation. By stat. 18 and 48 We c. 2: no parden under the great seal, shall be; pleadable to tem impeachment by the commons in parliament. 4-Rick, 250.

IMPRINCERIBBILL OF WASTE, signifies a restraint from committing of waste, upon lands and temperate: and therefore be that bothen beans without improchament of waste, both by that a property or interest given him in the houses, and trace, and, may, make waste in them without being improched for it, that is, without being query thouse, or demanded any recomposed or the waste deportal, Regions.

IMPRDMBNIES. IN LAW, persons under impediments are those within age, under covertuse, non compos mentis, in pricop, or beyond sons; who by a saving in our laws, have time to claim and prosecute the rightly after the impediments removed, in case of finer levited, dec.

BMPLBAD, to sue or prosecute by course of law.

PMPECATION, is where the law implies something that is not declared between the parties in their deeds and agreements; and when our law gives any thing to a man, it gives implicitly whatsomer is necessary for enjoying the same. 4 Black. 200.

- · Assimplied contract is such, where the terms of agreement are not suppremy set forth in words, but are such as reason and justice digetate, and which therefore the law presumes that every man understakes to perform. Id.
- " An implication cannot be intended by deed, unless these are aps" words, but otherwise in a will. Brown: 1694

IMPOSSIBILITY, a thing impossible in law, is all one with a thing impossible in nature: and if any thing in a bond or deed, be impossible to be done, such deed, &c. is void. Yet where the condition of a bond becomes impossible by the act of God, in such case it is held, the obliger ought to do all to his power toward a performance; as when a man is bound to enfert the obligee and his heim, and the obligee dies, the obligor must enfeoff his heirs. 2 Ca. Rep. 74.3

IMPOST, a duty on the importation of an article into a state or kingdom. It may in some degree be distinguished from custom, because custom is rather that profit which the prince makes of wares thipped out; yet they are frequently confounded.

IMPOTENCY, in the ecclesiastical law, signifies as isability of generation, or propagating the species, which is a cause of divorce a vinculo matrimonii, as being merely wold, and therefore accessorily a sentence declaratory of its being so.

IMPRESSING MEN. The power of impressing scames for the sea service, by the king's commission, has been a matter of some dispute, and submitted to with great relactance, though it hath very elently and learnedly been shown by Str Michael Forster, that the practice of impressing, and granting power to the admiralty for that purpose, is of a very antient date, and hath been uniformly continued, by a regular veries of precedents, to the passent-time, where he concludes it to be a part of the common law. The difficulty arises from hence, that no statute has expressly declared this power to be in the crown, though many of them very strongly imply it. The stat. 2 R. 2. c. 4. speaks of mariners being accested and retained for the king's service, as of a thing well known and practised without dispute; and provides a remedy against ranning tway.

By stut. 2 & 3 P. & M. c. 16., if any waterman who uses the river Thumes, shall bide himself during the execution of any commission for the king's service, be is liable to heary practice.

By stat. 5 Eliz. c. 6. no fisherman shall be taken by the queen's commission to serve as a mariner; but the commission shall be first brought to two justices of the peace, inhabiting near the sea equal where the mariners are to be taken, to the intent that the justices may choose out, and return such a number of able bodied mena; is the commission are contained to serve bee majesty.

And by stat. 7 & 8 W. c. 21. A pue c. 6. 4 & 5 Anne c. 19.

18 Geo. 2. c. 17. especial protections are allowed to sepment in pure ticular circumstances, to prevent them from being impressed. All which do most evidently imply a power of impressing to rapide some where; and if any where, it must, from the spirit of our compiler-tion, as well as from the frequent mention of the king's commission reside in the crown alone. 1 Black, 419.

IMPRISONMENT, is the restraint of a man's liberty under the custody of another; and extends not only to a goal, but an house, stocks, or where a man is held in the street, or any other places for in all these cases, the party so restrained is said: to be a prisoner, so long as he hath not his liberty freely to go about his husiness, so at other times. Co. Lit. 253.

None shall be imprisoned but by the lawful judgment of his poets; or by the law of the land. M. C.

IMPROPRIATION, is properly so called, when a benefice ecclesiantical is in the hands of a layman; and appropriation when in the hands of a bishop, college, or religious house, though sometimes these terms are reasonated. It is said there are three thousand eight hundred and forty-five impropriations in England.

IN AUTER DROIT, in another's right, as where executors or administrators see for a debt or duty, &c. of the testator or intestate.

· INCENDIARY: See Areen.

PREBRION, the same person is patron and incumbert, and he devises the next avoidance; it was objected that by his death the church is void, and then the presentation is a chose in action, and not grantable, and the devise takes not effect till after the death of the devisor; and therefore void; but held a good devise, because it has inception in his life. Col. Rep. 214:

INCEST, is the earnal knowledge of persons within the Levitical degrees of hindred. These by our law, are totally prohibited to marry with each other; and sentence of divorce in such case, is only declaratory of the illegality of the marriage, for the marriage itself is void ab initio.

as more principal. For example, a court baren is so incident to a manor, and a court of pye-powder to a fair, that they cannot be severed by grat, for if a manor or fair be granted, these courts can not be severed. Co. Lit. 151.

INCLOSURES, any person who shall wilfully or maliciously demolish, pull down, or otherwise destroy or damage, any feace raised or made for dividing or inclosing any common, waste, or other lands, is pursuance of any act of parliament, or shall cause or procure the same to be done, that he guilty of felony, and transported for seven years. Prosecution to be commenced in eighteen months after the offence committed.

Inclosures. By 41 Geo. S. (a. k.) 'c. 119. no person shall act as a commissioner under any future inclosure uct (except by signing notice of the first meeting, and administering the oath), until he shall have taken an oath to act without favour or affection, and the oaths and appointment of new commissioners shall be enrolled with the award, and a copy shall be evidence. s. 1.

Commissioners declining to act shall give notice to the others, and no commissioner, shall purchase lands within the parish where inclosures are made, for five years after their award. 4. 2.

Commissioners shall enquire into the boundaries of parishes, and if not sufficiently ascertained, they shall fix them, giving previous hotice of their intention so to do; and the commissioners shall cause a description of the boundaries to be celivered to the churchwardens and overseers of the respective parishes; and lords of menors, and persons dissatisfied, may appeal to the quarter sessions, whose decision shall be final. s. 3.

A survey, admeasurement, plan, and valuation of the lands to be inclosed, shall be made, and kept by the commissioners, which shall be verified by the persons making them, and proprietors may impose admeasurements and plans, and take copies. And until the division shall be completed the lands may be entered by the commissioners, or any persons they may appoint, to make surveys; but maps made at the time of passing the acts may be used, without making new ones, if the commissions shall think fit. s. 4, 5.

Claimants of common, in lands to be inclosed, shall deliver to the commissioners, schedules of the particulars, or shall be excluded, which claims may be inspected and copies taken; and objections to claims shall be delivered at or before the meeting appointed for that purpose, or shall not be received, except for special cause.

5. 6.

Commissioners are not hereby authorised to determine disputes, touching title to lands; but shall assign the allocaments to the persons in actual seizin or pessession, and disputes as to title shall not delay inclosures. s. 7.

The commissioners, before making any allotments, shall appoint public carriage roads, and prepare a map thereof, to be deposited. with their clerk, and give notice thereof, and appoint a meeting, at which if any person shall phject, the commissioners, with a justice of the division, shall determine the matter; and where commissioners may be empowered to stop up any old road, it shall not be done, without the order of two justices, subject to appeal to quarter sersions. s. 8.

Carriage roads shall be fenced on both sides, according to the direction of the commissioners; and no person shall erect any gate across any road, or plant any trees on the sides, at less than fifty yards distance. And such commissioners shall appoint surveyors, whose salary, and the expence of making the road (above the statute duty), shall be raised as other expences, and paid before the execution of the award.

The surveyors shall be subject to the control of the justices, and shall account to them for monies received.— Justices may levy rates. Surveyors neglecting to complete the roads, within a limited time, shall furfeit 20% and the inhabitants shall not be chargeable (except to statute duty) until the roads are declared to be completed at a special sensions. * s. 9.

The commissioners shall appoint private roads, footways, ditches, drains, watering places, quarries, bridge-gates, fences, and marks. The grass and berbage on roads shall belong to the proprietors of lands adjoining, and all roads which shall not be set out shall be allotted and inclosed; but no turnpike-road shall be altered without the consent of the trustees. s. 10, 11.

Commissioners in making allotments shall have due regard to the vituation of the bouses, as well as the quantity and quality of land; Commissioners may direct small allotments to be laid together, and ring fenced, and stocked, and depastured in common by the proprietors. Allotments shall be in full compensation for all rights in the lands, which shall cease on notice from the commissioners, affixed on the church door. s. 12-14.

Commissioners may exchange allotments, messuages, lands, and the like, with the coment of the proprietors, or if belonging to churches, with the coment of the bishop and of the patron. And also make allotments in severalty to joint tenants, or tenants in common, s. 15, 16.

Persons shall accept their allotments within two calendar months after the award, or forfeit their right. Guardians, trustees, and committees may accept for incapacitated persons, and tenants for life shall accept of allotments. And their non-acceptance shall not prejudice the rights of the cestui que trusts, who shall accept within twelve months after their inability is removed. s. 17, 18.

Before execution of the award, allotments may be disched and inclosed, with the consent of the commissioners. Timber and other trees and bushes shall be allotted with the lands whereon they stand; the parties paying to the owners such sums as the commissioners shall direct; but in case of neglect, the owners may cut them down, and take them away. c. 19, 20,

Where money is to be paid for lands, and which ought to be laid out in other purchases, to be settled to the same uses, the commissioners may thereout defray a proportion of the expense of passing the act, and putting it in execution; and if the surplus amounts to 2004, it shall as soon as may be, be laid out in other purchases, and in the mean time be paid into the bank, and applied under the direction of the equit of changery. A 21.

If such money be less than 2007, and upwards of 201, it shall, at the option of the person entitled to the rents, be paid into the bank, or to two trustees, to be approved of by the commissioners, for the same purposes. s. 22.

If less than 20% it shall be applied to the use of the persons entitled to the rents of the lands. If any person does not necept, inclose, and fence in his allotment as the commissioners shall direct, they may cause it to be inclosed and fenced, and let and receive the rents until the expences are satisfied, or they may charge them upon the proprietor. s. 28, 24.

During seven years after fencing the allotssents, the sences may be erected on the outside of the ditches; and the materials carried away by the proprietors. No stunding fonces or hedges shall be destroyed this the execution of the award, without the consent of the commissioners; and if assigned as a boundary fonce, shall be left enout, the persons entitled to the allotments making compensation thereof.—
a. 25, 26.

Where the boundary of any common fields shall be fenced by may mound, the proprietors of adjoining allotments shall not be compelled to fence them, but such boundaries shall be maintained by the proprietors so before, or as the commissioners may appoint.—
4. 27.

Persons destroying fonces put up under the authority of any acts shall forfeit 5!. and the proprietor or occupier of the lands may give evidence. s. 38.

. When the expenses of obtaining and carrying any net into execution shall be paid by the preprietors, the commissioners may on neglect cause the same to be levied by distress, or may take possession of the allotments, and receive the rents till satisfied. s. 29.

Guardians, trustees, committees, and tenants for life, or in tail, may charge allotments with expenses, if not exceeding bt per acre, and if persons in possession shall advance the money, the commissioners may mortgage the lands to them for reimbursement. ... 30.

The commissioners may deduct from allotments for charity or school lands, what shall be deemed equal to the proportionable tharm of the expenses, and allot the same to persons undertaking to pay.

4. 81.

When the expenses of obtaining and carrying any act into execution shall be to be paid by sale of part of the lands, the commissioners shall set out and sell a part, and the purchasers shall immediately make a deposit, which shall be forfeited if the purchase money be not duly paid. s. 38.

Commissioners may summon witnesses; and if they neglect to ut-tend, or refuse to be examined, they are to forfeit not more than 10% nor less than 5%; but no witness shall be obliged to travel above eight miles. After allotment the commissioners shall draw up their award, which shall be read and executed at a meeting of the proprietors, and proclaimed the next Sunday in the church, and then considered as complete. s. 33-35.

The award shall be in one of the courts at Westminster, or with the cierk of the peace of the county, and may be inspected and copies obtained—the award and copies shall be legal evidence and the award binding on all parties interested—and the commissioners may annex maps to the award, which shall be deemed part thereof. c. 55.

The commissioners shall keep accounts of all monies, which may be impected at their clerk's office gratis, on pain of his forfeiting not more than 10% nor less than 5% s. 86.

Monies raised shall be deposited as directed by a majority in value of the proprietors, and not inned without an order from the commissioners. s. 87.

The rector or with r, with the consent of the bishop of the diocese, and of the patron of the living, may lease allotments for twenty-one years, at a rack rent. s. 38.

Penalties are recoverable before one justice by distress, and are to be applied according to the directions of the commissioners. s. 29.

The rights of tords of manors, the king, and others, except so far an they are affected hereby, are saved. s. 40, 41.

Two justices may take affidavits of the naticea sequired having been given.—Persons taking false on the to be deemed guilty of perjury. And the act is hinding in all cases, except where other provisions are made. s. 42—44. See also Common, infra.

INCORPORATION, power of. To the erection of any corporation, the king's consent is necessary, either impliedly, or expressly given; the king's implied consent, is to be found in corporations which exist by force of the common law, to which our former kings are supposed to have given their concurrence; of this sort are all bishops, passons, tigan, churchwardem, and some others, who by common law have ever been held to have been corporations by virtue of their office.

Another method of implied consent, is with regard to all corporations by prescription; such as the city of London, and many others, which have existed as corporations for time immemorial; for though the members thereof can show so legal charter of incorporation, yet in cases of such high antiquity, the law presumes there once was one, and that by variety of accidents which a length of time may produce, the charter is fost or destroyed. The methods by which the king's consent is expressly given, are either by act of parliament or charter; but the immediate theative act, is usually performed by the bing alone, in vistoe of his royal prorogatives is Black 479;

INCUMBENT, a cierk diligently resident on his benefice with core; and called incumbent of that church, because he does or ought to apply himself sodulously to discharge the day of his cure. Co. Litt. 119.

INDEBITATUS ASSUMPOLT, is used in duclarations and law proceedings, where one is indebted anternanther in any certain sum; and the law creates it: it is also an action thereupon. Practs Attorn.

And it has been held, that the action, upon indebitates assume sit lies in no case, but where debt: will lie for the something it Suits 22.

1NDRGIMABLE, not titheble, on aught not to pay any tithe.

2 Inst. 490.

· INDEFEISABLE, that causet be defeated; undone; or made wide, are good and indefeisable estate, by:

INDEMNITY, when a church is appropriate to my abbuy of college, then the archdencon for ever-loss which induction manay; in recompense whereof, he shall have yearly out of the church imputy two peace or two skillings, more or less form yearly pention, as it is agreed at the time of appropriating; and his payments are called pensions or indemnities.

Indemnity, is also an agreement to save harmless from alirdnmage or danger that may result from any particular transactions: thus, impouring any person against a risk, perils of the sea, or fre, is termed accontract of indemnity against these risks respectively.

Acts of indemnity are passed every-session of parliament, for the relief of these who have neglected to take the necessary online, do required to qualify them for their respective offices.

INDENTURE, is a writing, comaining a conveyance introcent two or more, indented or ent unevenly, or in and out, on the top or side, answerable to another writing that likewise comprehends the same words. Formerly when deeds were more concide than at present, it was usual to write both parts on the same piece of parchment; with some words or letters written between them; through which the parchment was cut, either in a straight or indented line, in such a matther as to leave half the word on one part, and half on the other; and this custom is still preserved in making out the indentures of a fine. But at last, indenting only both come into use, Without cutting through any letters at all; and it seems at present to herve for fittle other purpose, than to give name to the species of the leed. 2 Black. 294. See Deed Stamps.

INDICTMENT, is a written accusation of one or more persons, of a trime or misdemensor, preferred to, and presented on oath by, a grand jury. 4'Black: 302.

An indictment may be found on the oath of one witness only, unless it be for high treason, which requires two witnesses. And unless in any instance it is otherwise specially directed by acts of parliament.

The sheriff of every county is bound to return to every session of the pence, and every commission of over and terminer, and of general gaol delivery, twenty-four good and lawful men, of the county, some out of every hundred, to enquire, present, do, and execute all those things which on the part of our tord the king, thall then and there be commanded therein. As many as appear upon this panel are sworn of the grand jary, to the amount of twelve, at the least, and not more than twenty-three, that twelve may be a majority. grand jury is previously instructed in the articles of their enquiry, by a charge from the judge on the bench. They then withdraw from court to sit and receive indictments, which are preferred to them in the name of the king, but at the suit of any private prosecutor; and they are only to bear evidence on behalf of the prosecution: for the finding an indictment is only in the nature of an enquiry or accusation, which is afterwards to be tried and determined; and 'the grand'jury are only to enquire upon'their oaths whether there be safficient cause to call upon the party to answer it.

It seems generally agreed, that the grand jury may not find part of an indictment true, and part false; but either find a true bill, or ignoramus, for the whole; and if they take upon them to find it specially, or conditionally, or to be true for part only, and not for the rest, the whole is void, and the party cannot be tried upon it, but ought to be indic ed unew. 2 Haw. 210.

All expitul crimes whatsoever, and all kinds of inferior crimes which are of a public nature, as misprisons, contempts, disturbances of the peace, oppressions, and all other misdehleanors whatsoever of a public evil example, against the common law, may be indicted, but no injuries of a private nature, unless they in some degree concern the king.

And generally where a statute prohibits a matter of public grievance to the liberties and security of a subject, or commands a matter of public convenience, as the repairing of the common streets of the town, every disobedience of such statute is punishable, not only at the suit of the party grieved, but also by may of indictment for contempt of the statute, unless such method of proceeding shall manifestly appear to be excluded by it. Yet if the party offending, have been fined in an action brought by the party (as it is said be may in every action for doing a thing prohibited by statute); such fine is a good bur to the indictment, because by the fine the end of the statute is satisfied; otherwise he would be liable to a second fine for the same offence. 2 Inst. 55.

If several offenders commit the same offence, though in law they are several offences in relation to the several offenders, yet they may be joined in one indictment; as if several commit a robbery, or burglary, or murder. 2 H. H. 173.

No indictment for high treason, or misprision thereof (except indictments for counterfeiting the king's coin, seal, sign or signet), nor any process or return thereupon, shall be quashed for mis-reciting, mis-spelling, false or improper Latin, unless exception concerning the same be taken and made in the respective court where the trial shall be, by the prisoner or his counsel assigned, before any evidence given in open court on such indictment; nor shall any such mis-reciting, mis-spelling, false, or improper Latin, after conviction on such indictment, be any cause or stay, or arrest of judgment; but nevertheless any judgment on such indictment shall be liable to be reversed on writ of error, as formerly.

An indictment accusing a man in general terms, without ascertaining the particular fact laid to his charge, is insufficient; for no one can know what defence to make to a charge which is uncertain, nor can plead it in bar or abatement of a subsequent prosecution; neither can it appear, that the facts given in evidence against a defendant on such a general accusation, are the same of which the indictors have accused him; nor can it judiciously appear to the court what punishment is proper for an offence so loosely expressed.
2 Have. 266.

It is therefore best to lay all the facts in the indictment as near to the truth as possible; and not to say, in an indictment for a small assault (for instance) wherein the person assaulted received little or no bodily hurt, that such a one, with swords, staves, and pistols, beat, bruised, and wounded him, so that his life was greatly despaired of; nor to say in an indictment for an highway being obstructed, that the king's subjects cannot go thereon, without manifest danger of their lives, and the like. Which kind of words not being necessary, may stagger an honest man upon his oath, to find the fact as so laid.

No indictment can be good, without expressly shewing some place been within jurisdiction of the court. 2 Has. 236.

There are several emphatical words of art, which the law has appropriated for the description of an officer, which no circumitation will supply; as foloniously, in the indictment of any felody; burgleriously in an indictment of burglary, and the like. 2. H. H. 184.

An indictment on the black act for shooting at any person, must tharge that the offence was done milfully and maliciously.

By 10 & 11 W. c. 23, it is cancted, that no clerk of assize, clerk of the peace, or other person, shall take any money of any person bound over to give evidence against a traitor or felon for the discharge of his recognizance, nor take more than 2s. for drawing any bill of indictment against any such felon, on pain of 5l. to the party grieved, with full costs. And if he shall draw a defective bill, he shall draw a new one gratie, on the like penalty.

With respect to drawing indictments for other misdemeanours, not being treason or felony, no fee is limited by the statute, the same therefore depends on the custom and antient mage.

Every person charged with any selony or other crime, who shall on his trial be acquitted, or against whom no indictment shall be, send by the grand jury, or who shall be discharged by proclamation for want of prosecution, shall be immediately set at large in spen court, without payment of any see to the sheriff or gaoler; but in lieu thereof, the treasurer, on a certificate signed by one of the judges or justices before whom such prisoner shall have been discharged, shall pay out of the general rate of the county or district, such sum as has been usually paid, not exceeding 13s. 4d.

But an action cannot be brought by the person acquitted against the prosecutor of the indictment, without obtaining a copy of the record of his indictment, and acquittal; which in prosecutions for felony, it is not usual to grant, if there be the least probable cause to found such prosecution upon. For it would be a very great discouragement to the public justice of the kingdom, if prosecutors who had a tolerable ground of suspicion, were liable to be such at law whenever their indictments miscarried. But an action on the case for a malicious prosecution, may be founded on such an indictment whereon no acquittal can be, as if it be rejected by the grand jury, or be coram non judice, or be insufficiently drawn; for it is not the danger of the plaintiff, but the scandal, vexation, and expence, upon which this action is founded. However, any probable cause for preferring it, is sufficient to justify the defendant, provided it do not appear, that the prosecution was malicious. 3 Black 126, INDOMENENT, signifies any thing written upon the back of a deed or other instrument.

On son ling a bond, the condition of the bond may be indered, and then the bond and indertement shall both stand together.

In order to the executing a justice of the peace's worrant in another county, it must be independ by some justice in such other county, which is commonly called backing the warrant.

It is emitted to inderse the receipt of the consideration money upon a deed; or an ussignment of a lease may sometimes be made by indersement.

indersoned, is also that act, by which the holder of a bill of exchange, or promissory note payable to order, transfers such instrument, and his interest therein, to some other person, who is then termed the inderese, and who, by such transfer and assignment reny ders himself responsible for presenting such instruments and using all due diligence to obtain payment of the acceptor or maker. See BLLL, p. 86.

thing; and is used specially in many cases; as, there is an inducement in actions, to a traverse in pleadings, a fact or offence committed, &c.

Inducements to actions need not have so much certainty as in other cases: a general indebitatus is not sufficient where it is the ground of the action; but where it is the inducement to the action, as in consideration of forbearing a debt till such a day (for that the parties are agreed upon the debt), this being but a collateral promise, it most without shewing how due. 2 Mod. 70.

An inducement to a traverse must be such matter, as is good and justifiable in law.

There is an inducement to a justification, when what is alledged against it, is not the substance of the plea. Moor. 847.

INDUCTION, is the giving a clerk instituted to a benefice, the actual possession of the temporalities thereof, in the nature of livery of scisin. It is performed by a mandate from the bishop to the archdeacon, who commonly issues out a precept to some other clergyman who inducts him, indorses a certificate of his induction on the archdeacon's mandate, and they who were present testify the same under their hands. And by this the person inducted, is in full and complete possession of all the temporalities of his charch. I Black Com. 891.

IN ESSE. There is this difference between things in esse, and things in posse, or potentia; a thing apparent and visible, is in esse, that is, has a real being so instanti, whereas the other is casual, and but a possibility. As a child before he is born, or even conceived; is a thing in posse, or which may he; after he is born, he is said to be in cose, or actual being.

INFAMY, which extends to forgery, perjury, grees cheats, fordisables as man to be a witness or a jeror; but a pardon of crimes restores a person's credit to make him a good evidence. It How. 432.

INFANT, is one under age; from the observations daily made on the actions of infants, as to their arriving at discretion, the laws and customs of every country have fixed upon particular periods, on which they are presumed capable of acting with reason and discretion; in our law, the full age of man or woman is twenty-one years. 3 Bace Abr. 118.

The ages of male and female are different for different purposes a male at twelve years of age may take the oath of allegiance; as fourteen, is of years of discretion, and therefore may consent or disagree to marriage, may chuse his grandian, and if his discretion be actually proved, may make his testament of his personal counts; as executer may be a procurator or an executer; and at twenty-one, is at his own disposal, and may alien his lands, goods, and chattele. A female at seven years of age may be betsethed or given in marriage; at nine, is intitled to dower; and at twelve, is of years of maturity, and therefore may coment or disagree to marriage, and if proved to have sufficient discretion, may bequeath her personal counts; at fourteen, is at years of legal discretion, and may chuse a grandian; at seventeen may be executrix; and at twenty-one, may dispose of herself and her lands. I. Black. 468.

An infant is capable of inheriting, for the law presumes him each pable of property; also an infant may purchase, because it is intended for his benefit, and the freehold is in him till he disagree thereto, because no agreement is presumed, it being for his benefit, and because the freehold cannot be in the granter contrary to his own met, nor can be in obeyance, for them a stranger would not know against whom to demand his right: and if at his full age, the infant agree to the purchase, he cannot afterwards avoid it; but if he die during his minority, his beiss may avoid it; for they shall not be bound by the contracts of a person, who wanted capacity to contract. Co. Litt. 3.

As to infinite being witnesses, there seems to be no fixed time atwhich children are excluded from giving evidence: but it will depend in a great measure on the sense and understanding of the childdren, as shall appear on examination in court. Bull, Na.P. 202. And where they are admitted, concurrent testimony seems persidently desirable. 4 Black. 214.

deliver goods to an infant upon a contract, &c. knowing him to be so infant, he shall not be chargeable in trover and conversion, or may other action for them; for the infant is not capable of any contract but for necessaries, therefore such delivery is a gift to the infant; but if an infant without any contract, wilfully take away the goods of another, trover lies against him; also it is said, that if he take the goods under pretence that he is of full age, trover lies, because it is a wilful and fraudulent trespass. I Sid. 129.

Infants are disabled to contract for any thing but necessaries for their person, suitable to their degree and quality, and what is necessary must be left to the jury. Co. Litt. 172.

An infant knowing of a frand, shall be as much bound as if of sge-13 Vin. Abr. 536.

But it is held that this rule is confined to such acts only as are voidable, and that a warrant of attorney given by an infant being absolutely void, the court will not confirmate, though the infant appeared to have given it knowing it was not good, and for the purpose of collusion.

*:As to acts of infants being void, or only voidable, there is a diversity between an actual delivery of the thing contracted for, and a hare agreement to deliver it; the first is voidable, but the last absolutely void.

As necessaries for an infant's wife, are necessaries for him, he is chargeable for them, unless provided before marriage; in which case he is not answerable, though she wore them afterwards. It str. 168.

An infant is also liable for the nursing of his lawful child.

Where goods are furnished to the son, he is himself liable if they be necessaries. If tradesmen deal with him, and he undertakes to pay them, they must resort to him for payment; but if they furnished the infant on the credit of his father, the father only is liable. 2 Esp. 4714

With respect to education, &c. infants may be charged, where the credit was given bona fide to them. But where the infant is under the parent's power, and living in the house with them, he shall not be liable even for necessaries. 2 Black. Rep. 1325...

If a taylor trust a young man under age for cloaths to an extravegant degree, he cannot recover; and he is bound to know whether he deals at the same time with any other taylor. 1 Esp. Rop. 212.

If one lend money to an infant to pay a debt for necessaries, and he do pay it, although he is not bound in law, it is said he is in equity; but, if the infant mis-apply the money, it is at the peril of the lender.

A promissory note given by an infant for beard and ledging, and for teaching him a trade, is valid, and will support an action for the money. 1 T. R. 41.

And debts contracted during infuncy, are good considerations to support a promise made to them when a person is of full age; but the promise most be express.

A bond without a penalty for necessaries will bind an infant, but not a bond with a penalty. Esp. Rep. 164.

Legacies to infants cannot be paid either to them or their parents.

An infant cannot be a juror, seither can be be an attorney, bailiff, factor, or receiver. Co. Litt. 179.

By the custom of Loudon, an infant unmarried, and above the ageof fourteen, if under twenty-one, may hind himself apprentice toa freeman of Loudon, by indenture with proper covenants, which covenants by the custom of Loudon, will be as binding as if:
of age.

If an infant draw a bill of exchange, yet he shall-not be liable on: the custom of merchants, but he may plead infancy in the same manner as he may to any other contract.

An infant cannot be sued but under the protection and joining the same of his-guardian; but he may sue either by his guardian or his next-friend who is not his guardian. Co. Lit. 135.

An action on an account stated will not lie against an infanty. though it be for necessaries. Co. Ett. 178.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 32. for the relief of infant suitors in courts of equity, entitled to stock or annuities in any of the public or other funds, transferable at the bank of England, it is enacted, that the court of chancery or exchequer may order dividends or stocks, &c. in the books of the bank belonging to infants, to be paid to guardians for the maintenance of such infants, &c. and the receipt of such guardians for such dividend or money so ordered to be paid to them, or any part thereof, shall be as good, valid, and effectual.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 158. The provisions of the preceding act, and also of the 36 Geo. 3. c. 90. for the relief of persons entitled to the several stocks and answities transferable at the bank of England, are extended to south sea stock, East India stock, and all other stocks, sect. 1.

The court of chancery is empowered to give the orders necessary for the performance of the various duties, required by those acts. sect. 2.

Acts done under this act not to be impeached in any court of law or equity; and this act is declared to he, a full and complete indemnity and discharge to the south sea company, the East India company, and all other companies and societies, their officers and servants, for all things done by them pursuant thereto. sect. 3.

INFINITY OF ACTIONS. The lord of the soil may have a special action against him who shall dig soil in the king's highway. But one subject cannot have his action against another for common nuisances; for if he might, then every man would have it, and so the actions would be infinite, &c. 2 Inst. 56.

IN FORMA PAUPERIS. When any man who has a just cause of suit either in chancery, or any of the courts of common law, will come before the lord keeper, master of the rolls, either of the chief justices, or chief baron, and make outh, that he is not worth five pounds, his debts paid; either of the said judges will, in his own-proper court, admit him to see in forma properis, and he shall have enused, clerk or attorney assigned him to do his business, without paying any feet.

INFORMATION. An information may be defined an accusation or complaint exhibited against a person for some criminaloffence, either immediately against the king, or against a private person; which from its enormity or dangerous tendency, the public good requires should be restrained and punished. It differs principally from an indictment in this, that an indictment is an accusation found by the oath of twelve men, but an information, is only the allegation of the officer who exhibits it. 3 Bac. Abr. 164.

Informations are of two kinds: first, those which are partly at the suit of the king, and partly at the suit of a subject; and secondly, such as are only in the name of the king: the former are usually brought upon penal statutes, which inflict a penalty on conviction of the offender, one part to the use of the king and another to the use of the informer, and are a sort of qui tam, or popular actions, only carried on by a criminal instead of a civil process.

Informations that are exhibited in the name of the king alone, are also of two kinds; first, those which are truly and properly his own suits, and filed ex officio by his own immediate officer, the attorney-general; secondly, those in which, though the king is the nominal prosecutor, yet it is at the relation of some private person, or common informer; and they are filed by the master of the crown office, under the express direction of the court. The objects of the king's own prosecutions, filed ex officio by the attorney-general, are properly such enormous misdeamours, as peculiarly tend to disturb of endanger the government. The objects of the other species of informations, filed by the master of the crown office, upon the complaint or relation of a private subject, are any gross and notorious misdemennours, riots, batteries, libels, or other immoralities of an atrocious kind, not peculiarly tending to disturb the the government, but which on account of their magnitude, or pernicious example, deserve the most public animadversion. And when an information is filed either thus, or by the attorney-general ex officio, it must be tried by a petit jury of the county where the offence arises; after which, if the defendant be found guilty, he must resort to the court of king's beach for his punishment. 4 Black. 308.

If a common informer shall willingly delay his suit, or discontinue or be nousait, or shall have a verdict or judgment against him, he shall pay costs to to the defendant. 18 Eliz. c. 5.

And in the court of king's bench, particularly if the defendant shall appear and plead to issue, and the prosecutor shall not at his own costs, within a year after issue joined, procure the same to be tried; or if a verdict pass for the defendant, or the informer procure a noti prosequi to be entered, the said court of king's bench may award the defendant his costs, unless the judge shall certify that there was a reasonable cause for exhibiting such information, and if the informer shall not, in three months after such costs taxed, and demand made, pay the same, the defendant shall have the benefit of the recognizance above mentioned, to compel him thereunto. 4 & 5 W. c. 18.

INFORMATUS NON SUM, is a formal answer made of course by an attorney who is authorized by his client to let judgment pass in that form against him. It is commonly used in warrants of attorney, given for the express purpose of confessing judgment.

INFORMER, one who informs against or prosecutes in any of the king's courts, those who offend against any law or penal statute.

INGRESS, EGRESS, AND REGRESS, words in leases of lands, to signify a free entry into, going out of, and returning from some part of the lands let; as to get in a crop of corn, &c. after the term expired.

INGRESSU, a writ of entry, whereby a man seeks entry into lands or tenements; it lies in many cases, and hath many several forms.

INGRESSUS, the relief which the heir or successor at full age paid to the prime lord, for entering upon the fee or lands which were fallen by the death or forfeiture of the former feudatory.

IN GROSS, is that which belongs to the person of the lord, and not to any manor, lands, &c. as villain in gross, advenses in gross, &c. Co. Lit. 120.

INGROSSER. See Forestalling.

INGROSSING OF A FINE, is making the indentures by the chirographer, and the delivery of them to the party unto whom the cognizance is made.

INHABITANT, a dweller or householder in any place; as, inhabitants in a vill, are the householders in the vill. 2 Inst. 702.

But the word inhabitant does not extend to lodgers, servants, or the like, but to householders only. 2 Inst. 762.

INMERITANCE, is a perpetuity in lands or tenements, to a man and his heirs; and the word inheritance is not only intended where a man hath lands or tenements by descent, but also every for-simple, or fee-tail, which a person bath by purchase, may be said to be an inheritance, because his heirs may inherit it. Lit. s. 9.

Inheritances are corporeal or incorporeal. Corporeal inheritances, relate to houses and lands, which may be touched or handled; and incorporeal hereditaments, are rights issuing out of, nunexed to, or exercised with corporeal inheritances; as advowsome, tithes, annuitles, offices, common, franchises, privileges and services. I Inst. 49

There are several rules of inheritances of land, according to which estates are transmitted from ancestor to beir, vis. 1. That inheritances shall lineally descend to the issue of the person last actually seized, in infinitum, but shall never lineally ascend. 2. The male issue shall be admitted before the femule. 3. Where there are two or more males in equal degree, the eldest only shall inherit: but the femalesaltogether. 4. The lineal descendants in infinitum, of any person deceased, shall represent their ancestor; that is, shall stand in the same place as the person himself would have done had be been living thus the child, grand-child, or great grand child (either male or female), of the eldest son, succeeds before the younger son, and so ininfinitum. 5. On failure of issue of the person last seized, the inheritance shall descend to the blood of the first purchaser. 6. The collateral heir of the person last seized, must be his next collateral kinsman of the whole blood. 7. In collateral inheritances, the malestocks shall be preferred to the female, unless where lands are descended from a female: thus the relations on the father's side are admitted in infinitum, before those on the mother's side are admitted at all; and the relations of the father's father, before those of the father's mother, and so on. 2 Black. c. 14.

INHIBITION, a writ to inhibit or forbid a judge from farther proceedings in the cause depending before him. F. N. B. 89.

INJUNCTION, an injunction is a prohibitory writ, restraining a person from committing or doing a thing which appears to be against equity and conscience. 2 Bac. Abr. 172.

An injunction is usually granted for the purpose of preserving property in dispute pending a suit; as to restrain the defendant from proceedings at the common law against the plaintiff, or from committing waste, or doing any injurious act. Mitf. Treat. Chambellead.

Injunctions issue out of the courts of equity in several instances the most usual injunction is to stay proceedings at law; as if one make bring an action at law against another, and a bill be brought to be relieved either against a penalty, or to stay proceedings at law, or some equitable circumstances, of which the party cannot have the benefit at law. In such case the plaintiff in equity, may move for an injunction either upon an attachment, or praying a dedimus, or praying a farther time to answer; for it being suggested in the bill, that the suit is against conscience, if the defendant be in contemps for not answering, or pray time to answer, it is contrary to conscience to proceed at law in the mean time; and therefore an injunction is granted of course; but this injunction only stays execution touching the matter in question, and there is always a clause giving liberty to call for a plea, to proceed to trial, and for want of it, to obtain judgment; but execution is stayed till answer, or farther order.-B Bac. Abr. 173.

When a bill in chancery is filed in the office of the six clerks, if an Injunction be prayed therein, it may be had, at various stages of the cause, according to the circumstances of the case. If the bill be to stay execution upon an oppressive judgment, and the defendant do not put in his answer within the time allowed by the rules of the court, an injunction will issue of course; and when the answer comes in, the injunction can only be continued upon a sufficient ground appearing from the answer itself. But if an injunction be wanted to stay waste, or other injuries of an equally unjust nature, then upon the filing of the bill, and a proper case supported by affidavits, the court will grant an injunction immediately; to continue tili the defendant have put in his answer, and till the court shall make some further order concerning it; and when the answer comes in whether it shall then be dissolved, or continued till the hearing of the cause; is determined by the court upon argument, drawn from considering the nawer and affidavits together. 3 Black. 443.

The methods of dissolving injunctions are various; when the answer comes in, and the party bath cleared his contempt by paying the costs of the attachment, if there is one, he obtains an order to dissolve nisi, and serves it on the plaintiff's clerk in court; this order takes notice of the defendant's baving fully answered the bill, and thereby denied the whole equity thereof, and being regularly served, the plaintiff must shew cause at the day, or the defendant's counsel, where there is no probability of shewing cause, may move to make the order absolute, unless cause, sitting the court. S Bac. Abr. 177.

If the plaintiff who hath an injunction die pending the suit, in strictmen the whole proceedings are abated, and the injunction with them; but even in this case the party shall not take out execution without special leave of the court; he must move the court for the plaintiff to revive his suit within a limited time, or the injunction to stand dissolved; and as this is never denied, so if the suit be not revived, the party takes out execution. There are some instances where a plaintiff may move to revive his injunction; but as that rurely happens, so it is rurely granted, especially where the injunction hath been before dissolved: but where a bill is dismissed, the injunction and every thing else is gone, and execution may be taken out the next day. S Bac. Abr. 178.

INJURY, a wrong or damage to a man's person or goods. The law will suffer a private injury rather than a public evil; and the act of God or of the law doth injury to none. 4 Rep. 124.

INLAND BILLS. See Bills of Exchange.

INMATE, is one who is admitted to dwell in the same house with another person. Inmates, by 31 Eliz. c. 7. were prohibited to be in cottages, but by 15 Geo. 3. c. 32. the said statute of Eliz. was repealed; setting forth that the same had laid the industrious poer under great difficulties to procure habitations, and tended very much to lessen population.

INNS AND INNKERPERS, common inns were instituted for passengers, and the duty of innkeepers extends chiefly to the enterationing and harbouring of travellers, finding them victuals and lodgings, and securing the goods and effects of their guests; and therefore if one who keeps a common inn refuse either to receive a traveller as a guest into his house, or to find him victuals or lodging, upon his tendering a reasonable price for the same, he is not only liable to mader the damages for the injury in an action on the case, at the suit of the party grieved, but also may be indicted and fined at the suit of the king. Dyer 158.

In return for such responsibility, the law allows him to retain the horse of his guest until paid for his keep: but he cannot retain such horse for the hill of the owner, although he may retain his goods for such hill; neither can be detain one herse for the food of another. I Bulst. 207, 217.

An inskeeper, however, is not bound to receive the horse, unless the master lodge there also. 2 Brown. 254.

Neither is a landlord bound to furnish provisions unless paid before hand. 9 'Co. 87.

If an innkeeper make out unreasonable bills, he may be indicted for extortion; and if either he or any of his servants knowingly sell-bad wine or bad provisions, they will be responsible in an action of deceit.

Any person may set up a new inn, unless it be inconvenient to the public, in respect of its situation, or to its increasing the number of inns, not only to the prejudice of the public, but also to the hindrance and prejudice of other antient and well governed inns: for the keeping of an inn is no franchise, but a lawful trade, open to every subject, and therefore there is no need of any license from the king for that purpose. 2 Roll. Abr. 84.

An innkeeper is distinguished from other trades, in that he cannot be a bankrupt; for though he buys provisions to be spent in his house, yet he does not properly sell them, but utter them at such rates as he thinks reasonable, and the attendance of his servants, furniture of house, &c. are to be considered; and the statutes of bankruptcy only mention merchants that use to buy and sell in gross, or buy retail, and such as get their living by buying and selling; but the contracts with innkeepers are not for any commodities in specie, but they are contracts for house-room, trouble, attendance, lodging and necessaries, and therefore cannot come within the design of such words, since there is no trade carried on by buying and bartering commodities. I Jones, 437.

But where an innkeeper is a chapman also and buys and sells, he may on that account be a bankrupt, though not barely as an innkeeper, and this has been frequently seen. 7 Vin. Abr. 57.

Innkeepers are clearly chargeable for the goods of guests stolen or lost out of their inns, and this without any contract or agreement for that purpose; for the law makes them liable in respect of the reward, as also in respect of there being places appointed and allowed of by law, for the benefit and security of traders and travellers.—.

Dyer 266.

But if a person come to an innkeeper, and desire to be entertained by him, which the innkeeper refuses, because his house is already full; whereupon the party says he will shift among the rest of his guests, and there he is robbed, the host shall not be charged.— Dyer 158.

If a man come to a common inn to harbour, and desire that his horse may be put to grass, and the host put him to grass accordingly, and the horse is stolen, the host shall not be charged; because by law the host is not bound to answer for any thing out of his inn, but only for those things that are infra hospitium. 8 Co. 32 b.

Innkeepers may detain the person of the guest who eats, or the horse which eats, till payment, and this he may do without any agreement for that purpose; for men that get their livelihood by entertainment of others, cannot annex such disabliging conditions that they should retain the party's property in case of non-payment, nor make such disadvantageous and impudent a supposition, that they shall not be paid: and therefore the law annexed such a condition without the agreement of the parties. Roll. Abr. 85.

By the custom of London and Exeter, if a man commit an horse to an hostler, and he eat out the price of his head, the hostler may take him as his own, upon the reasonable appraisement of four of his neighbours; but the innkeeper hath no power to sell the horse, by the general custom of the whole kingdom. Moor. 876. 3 Bulst. 271.

But it has been held that though an inukeeper in London, may after long keeping, have the horse appraised and sell him; yet when he has in such case had him appraised, he cannot justify the taking him to himself, at the price it was appraised at. 1 Vin. Abr. 233.

INNS OF COURT, are so called, because the students therein study the law, to enable them to practice in the courts at Westminster, or elsewhere; and also because they use all other gentle exercises, as may render them better qualified to serve the king in his court. Fortesc. c. 49.

INNUENDO, is a word used in declarations and law pleadings, to ascertain a person or thing which was named before; as to say he, (innuendo the plaintiff) did so and so, when there was mention before of another person.

Innuendo, may serve for an explanation, where there is precedent matter, but never for a new charge; it may apply what is already expressed, but cannot add or enlarge the importance of it. 2 Salk. 513.

INQUEST, an inquisition by jurors, or a jury, which is the most usual trial of all causes both civil and criminal within this realm, for causes civil, after proof is made on either side, of so much as each party thinks good for himself; if the fact be in doubt, it is referred to the discretion of twelve indifferent men, impanuelled by the sheriff for that purpose, and as they bring in their verdict, so judgment passes. See Jury.

INQUISITION, a manner of proceeding by way of search or examination, and used in the king's behalf on temporal causes and process; in which sense it is confounded with office. Standf. Practog. 51.

This inquisition is upon an outlawry found in case of treason and felony committed; upon a felo de so, &c. to entitle the king to a forfeituze of lands and goods; and there is no such nicety required in an inquisition as in pleading: because an inquisition is obly to inform the court how process shall issue for the king, whose title accrues by the attainder, and not by the inquisition; and yet in cases of the king and a common person, inquisitors have been held void for incertainty. Lane. 30.

Some of the inquisitions are in themselves convictions, and cannot afterwards be traversed or denied; and therefore the inquest ought to hear all that can be alledged on both sides: of this nature are all inquisitions of felo de se; of flight in persons accused of felony; of deodands and the like; and presentment of petty offences in the sheriff's torn or court leet, whereupon the presiding officer may set a fine. Other inquisitions may be afterwards traversed and examined; as particularly the coroner's inquisition of the death of a man; for in such eases, the offender may be arraigned upon the inquisition, and dispute the truth of it. 4 Black. 301.

INQUISITORS, are sheriffs, coroners super visum corporis, or the like, who have power to enquire into certain causes.

INROLMENT, is the registering, recording, or entering in the rolls of the chancery, king's-bench, common-pleas, or exchequer, or by the clerk of the peace in the records of the quarter-sessions, of any lawful act; a statute or recognizance acknowledged, a deed of bargain and sale of lands and the like; but the involling a deed doth not make it a record, though it thereby becomes a deed recorded; for there is a difference between a matter of record, and a thing recorded to be kept in memory; a record being the entry in parchment of judicial matters controverted in a court of record, and whereof the court takes notice, whereas an involument of a deed, is a private act of the parties concerned, of which the court takes no cognizance at the time of doing it, although the court permits it. 2 Lill. Aba. c. 9.

By stat. 27 H. S. c. 16. no lands shall pass, whereby any estate of inheritance or freehold shall take effect, or any use thereof be made, by reason only of any bargain and sale thereof, except the pargain and sale be made by writing indented, sealed, and within six months involled in one of the king's courts of record at Westminster; or else within the county where the lands lie, before the clerk of the peace, and one or more justices.

But by 5 Eliz. c. 26. in the counties palatine, they may be inrolled at the respective courts there, or at the assizes.

Every deed before it is involted, is to be acknowledged to be the deed of the party, before a master of chancery, or a judge of the court wherein it is involted; which is the officer's warrant for involting the sames and the involtment of a deed, if it be acknowledged; by the grantor, it will be a good proof of the deed itself upon trial. 2 Lill. Abr. 69.

But a deed may be involved without the examination of the party himself; for it is sufficient if onth be made of the execution. If two are parties, and the deed be acknowledged by one, the other is bound by it. And if a man live abroad, and would pure lands here in England, a nominal person may be joined with him in the deed, who may acknowledge it here, and it will be binding. 1. Salk. 389.

INSIMUL COMPUTASSENT, is a writ that lies apon a stated account between two merchants or other persons; in which case the law implies, that he against whom the balance appears but remgaged to pay it to the other, though there be not any actual promise: and from this implication, it is frequent for actions on the case to be brought, declaring that the plaintiff and defendant had settled their accounts together, insimul computament, and that the defendant engaged to pay to the plaintiff the balance, but but in the legal remedy is by bringing a writ of account, de compute, commanding the defendant to render a just account to the plaintiff, or shew to the court good cause to the contrary. 3 Black. 162.

INSOLVENT, till of late the chancery would not put out an imsolvent trustee, for that he was intrusted by the denor.

An insolvent person made an executor cannot be put out by the ordinary; for he is instructed by the testator. Comb. 185.

But chancery granted an injunction against him, not to intermeddle with the assets any farther than to satisfy the legacy given to himself; for in equity he is but a trustee for other legatees (infants), and when a trustee is insolvent, the court of chancery will compel him to give security before he shall enter upon the trust.

Carth. 458.

INSOLVENT DEBTORS, insolvent acts, are statutes passed from time to time for the purpose of releasing from prison, and sometimes their debts, persons whose transactions have not been of such a nature as would subject them to the bankrupt laws. Their discharge is usually from all suits and imprisonment, upon delivering up all their estates and effects, real and personal, for the benefit of their creditors.

While this article was passing through the press, a new insolvent act was enacted by parliament; which, not being printed in time for insertion, the reader will find in the APPENDIX to this work.

INSTANT, an impact is not to be comblered to law as in logic, as a point of time; but in our law, things which are to be done in an impact, have in consideration of law, a priority of time in them; as lesse for life makes a lesse for years, they both surrender to him in reversion, though it is made in an impact, yet it shall be understood to have degrees, silicut, the surrender of the lessee for years to tenant for life, and then the surrender of tenant for life. 88ec. 247.

INSTITUTION, institution to a benefice, is that whereby the ordinary commits the cure of souls to the parson presented, as by induction he obtains a temporal right to the profits of the living.—Previous to the institution, the oath against simony, the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, are to be taken, and if it be a vicarage, the oath of residence. They are also to subscribe the thirty-nine articles, and the articles concerning the king's supremacy, and the hook of common prayer.

INSUPER, a word need by the auditors in their accounts in the exchequer, when they say so much remains insuper to such an account, that is, so much remains due upon such account.

INSURANCES. Merchants and jurists define insurance, or (as it is also termed) assurance, to be a contract or agreement; by which one or more persons, who are respectively denominated assurers, or insurers, oblige or bind themselves to be responsible for the loss of goods, a house, ship, or other article or thing, in consequence of a premium paid by the proprietors of the things assured.

Marine insurance, is an admirable invention of modern times, by which commercial adventures by sea are saved from that immediate destruction which might otherwise ensue from sudden losses occasioned by any of the perils mentioned in the policy, or instrument whereby the insurance is effected.

Although much ingenuity and learning have been displayed by preiton of celebrity, with the view of ascertaining the origin of marine, assumed, we have in fact no authentic evidence for carrying its artiquity higher than the 13th century; when the Hameatic league was formed. The towns of Lubeck and Hamburgh, which were among the earliest members of that far famed commercial confidency, distinguished themselves by the extent of their views and the wisdom of their laws respecting trade. By the Lombards in the thirteenth century, incurance seems to have been introduced into England.

At common law, any man or company of men might have been insurers: and individuals, upon their own separate account, have still the same right; but commerce having suffered comiderably by persons in insolvent circumstance underwriting polices of insurance, it was thought expedient to establish two companies for the purpose of making marine insurances, with sufficient funds to answer all demands on their policies; still however, leaving the merchants to the option of insuring with individual underwriters when they thought proper. To this end the stat. 6 Geo. 1. c. 18. authorized the king to grant charters to two distinct companies or corporations, called the Royal Exchange Assurance, and London Assurance; for the insurance of ships, goods, and merchandizes at sea, or going to sea, and for lending money on bottomry. They are invested with all the powers usually granted to corporations, and the privilege of purchasing lands to the amount of 1000/. per annum each, to provide a sufficient capital to insure all demands on their policies. All other companies are restrained from insuring ships and goods at sea, or lending money on bottomry. And all policies made by any other corporation shall be void, and the sums underwritten forfeited, and all bottomry bonds deemed usurious; but the right of individual insurers continues as before the act. And the court of common pleas has determined that all contracts are unlawful and void, which are made in derogation of the privileges of the above-mentioned insurance companies. 2 Blackst. Rep. 379. But notwithstanding the stability which the legislature provisions of Geo. 1. contributed to give to marine insurances, this branch of commercial law made but slow progress, nor was it until within the last fifty years, that this subject received that legal consideration it deserved, and which has raised our British insurance code to the high degree of celebrity is has attained.

I. Nature of an insurance—What persons and things may be insured. The agreement, which constitutes an insurance is denominated a contract of indemnity, whereby the party in consideration of a stipulated sum, undertakes to indemnify the other against certain specific perils or risks to which he is exposed, or against the occurrence of such events. The party who takes on himself the risk, is called the insurer; the party protected by the insurance is called the insured; the sum paid to the insurer as the price of this risk, is called the premium; and the written instrument, in which the contract is set forth, and reduced into form is called a policy of insurence.

Marine insurance is made for the protection of persons having an interest in ships, or goods on board, from the loss or damage which may happen from the perils of the sea, during a certain voyage, or for a fixed period of time.

In this country all persons, whether British subjects or alient, may in general be insured; the only exception is in the case of an alien enemy. He cannot maintain an action on a policy on goods, though they were shipped before the war commenced; nor can an agent of: such insured maintain the action, though he he a creditor of the insured for more than the sum insured.

Thus, bottomry and respondentia are a particular species of property, which may be insured; but in this case, it must be distinctly specified in the policy to be respondentia interest; because, under to general insurance on goods, the party issued easest repover momry lent on bettomry, 3 Berr. Rep. 1894, and Blacket. Bep. 498. It has however anbiegueatly been ruled that money, laid out by the gaptain for the use of the ship, and for which respondentin interest was charged, may be recovered under an insurance upon goods, specie, and effects, provided it is sanctioned by the usage of trade, which always is received with deference in questions of this nature. Park en insurance, p. 11. A reasonable expectation of profit, ona well founded expectation of future interests in the thing insured isan inegrable interest. So persons, having captured ships as prince, many insura their interests therein, before such ships are condemned s. but they are not entitled to any premium, in the event of the sapture not being condemned, and sentence being passed by the Admisally court of scatitution to the owners. But seamen's wages compos he issand; noither can the ships or merchandize of enemies.

II. Of the Policy. A policy of insurance is the name given to the implement by which the contract of insurance is effected and reduced into famp, and it is not, like most contracts, signed by both parties, but only by the insurer. As the premium, which is the consideration of the promise made by the insurer, is paid, or supposed to be paid, at the time the policy is subscribed, the contract contains nothing in nature of a counter-promise to be performed by the insured a in general therefore, it contains only the contract on the part of the insurers.

When policies of improve are once underwritten; it is a general pule that they can never be altered by any authority whatever; for this would tend to let in fraud into a species of contract, to which precision and certainty are most indispensibly requisite. Cases indeed occur, in which by mutual consent of the parties policies are altered after execution, and in which also they may be altered on proper evidence. Of this last description are manifest and unquestionable mistakes, which courts of law have always remedied; being bound, in these subjects, by the same rules of construction that prevail in equity. 1 Atk. Rep. 545,

As it respects the reality of the interest of the parties insured, policies are divided into to two classes, wager policies and interest policies. A wager policy is a pretended insurance, founded on an ideal risk, where the insured has no interest in the thing insured, and can therefore sustain no loss by the occurrence of any of the misfortunes insured against. Insurances of this sort, are usually expressed by the words interest or no interest, or without further proof of interest than the policy, or without benefit of salvage to the insurer.

Policies of this description are thus expressed in order to preclude all enquiry into the nature of the interest of the party assured; and as a consequence of the impred person's having no interest in the pretended subject of the policy, it necessarilly follows that he is liable for any loss or damage the thing insured may partially sustain.

An interest policy is, where the party insured has an actual tabstantial interest in the thing insured, which interest may be assigned over to another, and in which case only it is a contract of indemnity. Policies of this description are further divided into open and valued. An open policy is where the amount of the insured is not fixed by the policy, but is left to be ascertained by the insured in case a lowshould happen.

A valued policy, is where a value has been set our the ship or goods insured, and the value is inserted in the policy in the nature of liquidated damages, to save the necessity of proving it in case of total loss; for by the allowing the value to be thus inserted in the policy, the insurer agrees that it shall be taken as there stated.—This value is or ought to be the real value of the ship, or the prime cost of the goods at the time of effecting the policy.

In a valued policy also, if a part of the cargo be on board when the ship is lost, the rest bring ready to be shipped, the insured may recover to the whole amount. Term Rep. v. iil. 362.

A printed form of the policy is now universally used, and all particular conditions are subjoined in written clauses, which being the immediate act of the parties, they have superior authority whenever they militate against the printed words: and courts of justice als averally upon them as expressing the intention with which the agreement was made.

The form now used is nearly the same which was adopted two bundred years ugo.

The custody of the policy belongs, of right, to the assured; and an action of trover will lie for this, as for any other valuable paper or property.

11L Of the requisites of a Policy. In order to constitute a good.

and available one, ten particulars are to be introduced, which are briefly detailed in the following notice.

I. The name of the party insured.— By 28 Geo. 3. c. 56. persone making policies are required to insert in the policy, the name or names, or the usual style or firm of dealing of one or more of the persons interested in such assurance; or instead thereof there must be inserted the name or names, or the usual style or firm of dealing of the consignor or consignors, consignee or consignees, of the goods or property so to be insured; or the name or names, or the usual style or firm of dealing, of the person or persons residing in Great Britain, who shall receive the order for, and effect such policy, or of the person or persons who shall give the order or directions to the agent-or agents immediately employed to negociate or effect such policy. Pursuant to this statute every policy, made or underwritten contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, shall be suff and void to all intents and purposes.

Where a policy is effected by an agent, it is not necessary to add the word agent or any other description to his name, in the policy itself: and a policy effected by a broker, describing himself therein as agent is a sufficient compliance with the requisition of the statute 25 Geo. 3. Park. p. 18.

- 2. The names of the underwriters.—By 35 Geo. 3. c. 63. sect. 11. all policies not having them specified, are declared to be null and void: this, however, is only declaratory of the usage which has always prevailed; because without it, there could be no insurer.
- 3. The names of the skip and her muster.—By the law and usage of merchants, it seems to be necessary that the names of the ship and master should be inserted, although there are insurances generally, upon any ship or ships;" and their validity has been fully ascertained. 2 Black. Rep. 343. 345.
- 4. The nature of the things insured, viz.—Whether they be ships, goods, or merchandizes, upon which the insurance is made. It is absolutely necessary that there should be a specification upon which of these the underwriter assures. But it is another question, whether in policies upon goods, it be necessary to declare the particulars. The practice is very unsettled: in the opinion however, of very respectable merchants, the particulars of goods should be specified, if possible, by their marks, numbers, and packages, and not under the general denomination of merchandize, (1 Magens, 8.) When goods are coming from abroad, it is better to assure under general expressions, on account of the various casualties which may happen to obstruct the purchase of the commodities intended to be sent.

There are certain kinds of merchandize, of a perishable nature, gach as corn, fish, sait, fruit, flour, and seed, on which, the underwriters will not be amwerable for a partial less, but general average only, unless the ship be stranded. And in insurances on sugar, hemp, flax, hides, skins, and tobacco, they consider themselves free from partial lesses, not amounting to five per cent. On all other goods, as well as on the ship and freight, for a partial less under three per cent, unless arising from a general average, or the stranding of the ship, they consider themselves also discharged.

These things are ascertained by a memorandum, introduced in the year 1740, and altered by the two companies in 1754, by striking ant, " or the ship he stranded," in consequence of a decision by shief justice Ryder, that a ship having run aground (although she get off again) was a stranded ship within the meaning of the memorandum.

, These are some kinds of property which do not fall under the general denomination of goods in a policy; such as goods lashed on special ship's provisions, and captain's clothes. Goods in a policy speak strictly such only as are merchantable, and a part of the same.

is. The name of the place-where the goods are leden, and the part to which they are bound.—This has always been held to be necessary and, from the very nature of the contract, must be requisite. It is exclosure further to specify at what part or place the ship may inchest or that during the voyage; so that it shall not be considered a deviation from her course, to go to any of such places.

& The commencement and continuence of the risk.—In Ragland the commencement of the risk of the ship varies in almost every In outward bound voyages, it is generally made to commence from her beginning to load at her port of her departure. Sometimes privateers on a cruise, ships engaged in the coasting trade, or in short sees dom qi.baa ; sonit do boirse hatimit a rof hatippi ana assang the risk commences and each with the term, wherever the thip may then happen to be. If a ship is insured from the port of London to apy other pert, and before she breaks ground any accident happensto her, the insurers are not answerable, for the risk does not commence till she sets said on her departure from the port of Landon. But if the insurance be allowed, and from the part of Landan, the insurers are liable to any accident that may bappen to her from the time of subactiving the policy. When a ship, expected to arrive as a certain place abroad, is inspred at and from that place, or from her arrival there; the risk begins from the first moment of her arrival at the place specified, and the words first arrival are implied, and always naderstood, in policies so worded. The risk in such insured; but if all thought of the voyage be laid aside, and the ship be suffered to lay there for a length of time with the owner's privity, the insurers are not liable. In English policies, it is usually made to continue only until the ship has moored at anchor twenty-four hours in good safety, and on such policies the insurer is liable for no loss after that time.

- 7. The risks and perils against which the underwriter assures. -- Inbusances may be made against all the risks or perils which are incident to sea voyages, subject however, to certain exceptions founded in public policy and the interests of humanity, which require that in certain cases men should not be permitted to protect themselves against some particular perils of insurance. But an insurer cannot make bimself answerable for a loss, proceeding from the fault of the insured. No imprance can be made, even against the perils of the sea supen illegal commerce. In order to confine insurances against real and important losses arising from the perils of the sear and to obvious disputes, respecting losses from the perishable quality of the goods insured, and all trivial subjects of litigation, it appears to be the general law of all states, that the insurer shall not be liable for any average loss, unless it exceed one per cent.; beside which a slause has been introduced into policies, that the insurer shall pot be liable for any partial loss under a given rate per cent. In England it is now constantly stipulated in all policies, that upon certain enumerated articles the insurer shall not be answerable for any partial loss whatever; that upon certain others, liable to partial injuries, but less difficult to be preserved at ses, he shall only be liable for partial losses above three per cent. But this does not extend to the losses, however small, called general average, and losses occasioned by the stranding of the ship, and the loss by stranding must be an immediate loss.
- 8. The premium or consideration for the risk. This is the most essential part of the policy, and is always expressed to have been received at the time of underwriting, although in practice, policies are effected, in general, by the intervention of brokers, between whom and the insurers open accounts are kept by the usage of trade. As the underwriter may have an action against the broker for money had and received to his use, it would appear that the broker alone is the debtor to the underwriter. Airy and others, assigness of Milton v. Bland, Trin. sittings at Guildhall. 14 Geo. 3. Park on Insurance.
- 9. The day, month, and year, wherein the policy is executed. This is necessary to ascertain whether any of the parties have been guilty of fraud or improper conduct, in the event of litigation on any past of the policy.

policies are specified in the title STAMPS, which see, it is here only accessary to observe that by 85 Geo. 3. c. 63. sec. 11. all contracts for insurance must be engressed or printed, and called a policy of insurance; and that the premium paid or given, the particular risk or advententure insured against, with the names of the subscribers and underwriters, and sums insured, shall be respectively expressed to the policy, otherwise it shall be not and void.

By section 12 no policy is to be made for any certain term, longer than twelve calendar months.

Section 13th provides for the making any alteration in the policy office it has been underwritten, so that it be made before notice, after the determination of the risk originally insured, and the premium exceed 10s. per cent. and so that the thing insured remain the property of the same person, and that the afteration do not prolong the term allowed by this act, or any further same be insured by reason thereof.

Sections 15th and 16th impose a penalty of 500% on persons procuring, and brokers effecting, insurances not daily stamped; and the latter cannot cannot either demand brokerage, or the money expended for premiums.

Section 17th. Every underwriter is also liable to the like penalty for subscribing such illegal policy.

Construction of the Policy.—In the construction of policies, it is an invariable principle to give effect to the intention of the parties and to the usage of trade with reference to the particular voyage or risk to which the policy relates.

A policy of insurance shall be construed to run until the ship shall have ended, and be discharged of the voyage; for arrival at the port to which she was bound is not a discharge till she is unloaded. Skin. Rep. 245.

But where the owner of goods insured, brought down his own lighter, received the goods out of the ship, and before they reached land, an accident happened whereby the goods were damaged, a special jury of merchants, under the express direction of lord chief justice Lee, found that the insurer was discharged, although the insurer was upon goods to London, and till the same should be safely landed there.—Sparrow v. Carruthers, 2 Str. 1236.

But although this construction be right, where the policy is general from A. to B. yet if it contains the words usually inserted—"and till the ship shall have moored at unchor twenty-four hours in good safety," the under-writer is not liable for any loss arising from selected after the has been twenty-four hours in part, even if such solution was in consequence of an act of barratry (such as smuggling) of the master during the voyage.—Lockyer and others v. Officy; 1 Turns Rep. 252.

"Warranted to depart with convoy" must be construed according to the usage of merchants; that is, from such place where convoys are to be had. (2 Saik. 443', Letklowiller's case).-This principle was also admitted in the case of Bond v. Gonzales (Park, 34.) upon as assurance from Bremen to the port of London, warranted to dow part with convoy. The ship William sailed from Bremedunder the conduct of a Datch man of war to the Eibe, where they were joined! by two other Dutch men of war and several Dutch and English merchant skips, whence they sailed to the Texel, where they found a squadron of English men of war and an admiral. After a stay of nine weeks, they set sail from the Texel: the ship was separated in a storm, taken by a French privateer, and retaken by a Dutch privateer, and paid eighty pounds salvage. It was ruled by lord chief justice Holt, that the voyage ought to be according to usage; that their going to the Elbe, though out of the way, was no deviation, for till after the year 1703, (prior to which time this policy was made,) there was no convoy for ships directly from Bremen to London.

In an insurance upon freight, if an accident happens to the ship before any goods are put on board, which prevents her from sailing; the assured upon the policy cannot recover the freight which her would have earned if she had sailed.—Park: 38.

But, if the policy be a valued policy, and part of the cargo be out board when such accident happens, the fest being ready to be ship appeal, the assured may recover to the whole amount.—Mongomery v. Egginson; 3 Term Rep. 363.

So likewise in an open policy on freight, at and from London and Teneriffe to any of the West India islands, (Jamaica excepted) the underwriters were held liable to pay the insurance, though the ship sailed from London in ballast, and was captured before her arrival at Teneriffe, where her cargo was to be put on board. But as the ship was under a charter party to depart out of the river Thames, and proceed to Teneriffe, and then to load and receive on board from the freighters 500 pipes of wine to be delivered in the West Indies; for the freight of which 500 pipes the freighters covenanted to pay 362, per pipe; the court held, that the instant the ship departed from the Thames, the contract for freight had its inception, and the plaints? Was entitled to recover.

It has been decided in several cases, that the outward risk upon the ship senses 34 hours after her arrival in the first part of the island whither she was bound; but the outward policy on goods continues until such goods are safely landed.

Again, policies are to be construed for the benefit of trade and for the assured. (Tiernay v. Etherington, 1 Burr. Rep. 348.) Thus, where goods were insured from Malaga to Gibraltar, and from thence to England or Hoiland, the parties having agreed that the goods might be unloaded at Gibraltar, and re-shipped in one or more British ship or ships, and it appearing in evidence that there was no British ship at Gibraltar, but the goods had been unloaded and put into a storeship (which was always considered as a warehouse) the insurers were held to be liable for the loss of these goods in the store-ship which had been lost in a storm.

The usage in trade has been more notorious in the East India voyages than in any other; and the charter parties of the India company give leave to prolong the ship's stay in India for a year. a common practice by a new agreement to detain her a year longer; and the words of the policy are also very general, without limitation of time or place. On this account the insurers have been held liable, not only for events which may possibly happen from the port of discharge to that of delivery, but also for intermediate or country voyages, and upon which the ship may be dispatched by order of the council of any of the East India Company's settlements abroad. And this construction of East India policies prevails, whether the words of them be large and comprehensive, such as with liberty to touch, stay, and trade, at any port or places; whatsoever, or restrained and limited, such as to touch and stay at any port or places Salvador v. Hopkins, 3 Burr 1707. Gregory v. in this royage. Christic, Trin. Term. 24 Geq. S. Farquharson v. Hunter; Hilary:

But the contracting parties may, by special agreement, prevent such latitude of construction, and express words of exclusion are not necessary to be inserted in the policy; for if it can be collected from the terms used, that such was the intention of the parties, that construction shall prevail. Dougl. Rep. 27. Fletcher v. Pool; 1 Term Rep. 127.

An underwriter, on goods is not liable for freight paid by the owner to the proprietor of the vessel; where such goods were partly lost. Nor is an underwriter on ship and goods liable for demurrage (an allowance made by merchants to the master of the ship for detection beyond his proper time); for the freight and not the ship istable for this loss.

Provisions sent out for the use of the crew are protected by a pulicy on the ship and furniture.—4 Term Rep. 206. Although it has a besudecided, in an assumence upon a Greenlander, that the value of lines, and tackle employed in the fishery is not recoverable under a pulicy made upon the ship, tankle, and furniture.—Hoshins v. Pickeregilly in E. B. 23 Geo. 3:

In order to intitle the insured twirecover, the loss must be a direct and immediate consequence of the peril insured against, and not are remote one. The principle was Inid. down and acted upon in the case of Jones v. Schmeil. I Term Rep. 130. Purk 55. This was an action on a policy, to revover the value of some negations who had preinholdly mutiny; which by a special memorandum in the policy was one of the risks insured against. The court decided that the underwriters were liable for all those who were killed in the mutiny, on who died of their wounds, that all those who died of the bruises which they received in the mutiny, though accompanied by other causes, were to be paid for by the underwriters. But they were not liable for these who had swallowed salt water, and died in consequence thereof, on who leaped into the sea, and hung upon the sides of the ship without being otherwise bruised, or who died of chagrin; all these having been lost by tow-remote a consequence.

The abolition of this nefatious traffic in human stesh has for ever we trust, laid this question at rest; although it may be observed, that this case was not considered as forming a general precedent to affect (the them) future amurances on African voyages, as the 34 G. 3. 83, & 35 G. 3...c., 90, (which statutes regulated the African slave trade), expressly declared that lowes of this description are not insurable.

In the construction of policies of imprance for time, the same liberality prevails, as in other cases, in order to give effect to the intention of the parties. Thus when an insurance was made "at and from Liverpool to Antigue, with liberty to croise six weeks, and taxquara to Ireland, or Falmouth, or Milford, with any prize or prizes;" it was held that this means a connected portion of time, and not a desaltery cruising for six weeks at any time. System.

Bridges Dough 500.

IV. Non-compliance with warranties with attach be policy. A warranty, in insurance policies, is a condition that a certain thing shall be done, or shall happen; and, unless that event takes place, there can be no valid contract. Warranties are either express or implied. An express warranty is a particular stipulation introduced into the written contract by the agreement of the parties; as that the thing insured is neutral: property, that the ship shall said by a given day, that the ship shall said by a given day, that the ship shall depart with corresp. &c.

An implied warranty, is that which reasonably results from the nature of the contract, as that the ship shall be sea-worthy when she sails on the voyage insured, that she shall be navigated with reasonable skill and care, that the voyage is lawful, and shall be performed according to law, and in the usual course, and without deviation, &c. It is however immaterial with what view a warranty (whether express or implied) is introduced into the policy: but when it is once inserted, the party insured is bound by it, and must shew that he has literally fulfilled it; or his contract will be the same as if it had never existed. I Term Rep. 345.

Warranty to sail with convoy. Another species of warranty often imerted in policies in time of war, is to sail or depart with convoy. This like other warranties, must be strictly performed; and if the ship depart without convoy, from whatever cause, the policy becomes void, and the insurer shall not be answerable even for the peril of the seas. Park 349.

There are five things essential to a sailing with convoy: 1. It must be with the regular convoy appointed by government. 2. It must be from the place of rendezvous appointed by government. 3. It must be a convoy for the voyage. 4. The ship insured must have sailing instructions. 5. She must depart and continue with the convoy till the end of the voyage, unless separated by necessity.

Warranty of neutrality is a stipulation that the ship or goods Insured are neutral property. On this point, it has been decided, that if the ship and property are neutral at the time when the risk commences, this is a sufficient compliance with a warranty of neutrality. The insurer takes upon himself the risk of war and peace: for, if the property be neutral at the time of sailing, and a war break out the next day, the insurer is liable. Eden v. Parkinson, Dougl. 705. Tyson v. Gurney, 3 Term Rep. 477.

Neutral property, in the sense of which that expression must be understood in this warranty, is that, which belongs to the subjects of a state in amity with the belligerent powers.

The documents requisite for neutral ships are: 1. The passport. This is a permission from the neutral state to the captain or master of the ship to proceed on the voyage proposed, and usually contains his name and residence, the name, description, and destination of the ship, with such other matters as the practice of the place requires. This document is indispensibly necessary for the safety of every neutral ship.

2. The sea-letter or sea brief, which specifies the nature and quantity of the eargo, the place from whence it comes, and its destination. This paper is not so necessary as the passport, because the former in mos articulars supplies its place.

- 3. The proofs of property, which ought to shew that the ship really belongs to the subjects of a neutral state. If she appear to either belligerent, to have been built in the enemy's country, proof-is generally required that she was purchased by the neutral before captured, and legally condemned since the declaration of war; and in the latter case the bill of sale, properly authenticated, ought to be produced.
- 4. The muster roll, containing the name, age, quality, place of residence, and above all the place of birth, of every person of the ship's company.
  - 5. The charter party.
- 6. The bill of inding, by which the captain acknowledges the receipt of the goods specified therein, and promises to deliver them to his consignee or his order.
- 7. The invoices, which contain the particulars and prices of each parcel of goods, with the amount of the freight, duties and other charges thereon, which are usually transmitted from the shippers to their factors or consignees. These invoices prove by whom the goods were shipped, and to whom consigned.
- 8. The log-book, or ship's journal, which contains an account of the ship's course, with a short history of every occurrence during the voyage.
- 9. The bill of health, which is a certificate, properly authenticated, that the ship comes from a place where no contagious distentioner prevails, and that none of the crew at the time of her departure were infected with any such distemper.

Upon this subject of the ship's documents, it is to be observed, that though by the law of nations the want of some of these papers, may be taken as strong presumptive evidence; yet the want of none of them amounts to conclusive evidence against the ship's neutrality.

V. Fraud in policies, (including representation and concealment.) In policies of insurance both the assurer and the assured are mutually bound to disclose every circumstance that can at all affect the risk.

A representation insurance is denoted to be a collateral statement, either by parole or in writing, of such facts or circumstances relative to the proposed adventure, and not inserted in the policy, as are necessary for the information of the insurer, to enable him to form a just estimate of the risk. Such representations are often the principal inducements to the contract, and afford the best ground on which the premium can be calculated.

A misrepresentation in a material point avoids the contract; and the issued cannot recover on the policy for less arising from a cause unconnected with the fact misrepresented. So if: it-be-made-without knowing whether it he true or false, or even if the presentating it, believe it to be true; but if he only give it as his belief, without howing the contrary, it will not affect the cantact.

Cancelment consists in a fraudulent suppression of any fact or circumstance material to the risk. This, like every other fraud, avoids the contract ab initio, upon principles of natural justice plant as the facts on which the nink must be estimated, lie generally within the knowledge of the insured or his agent, the underwriter must in most cases rely on him for all necessary information to enable him to decide upon what turns be will take upon himself the proposed risk; and the computes the premium, and enters into the contract, in the confidence that the insured, being fully informed of all circumstances relating to the intended vayage, has dealt fairly with thim, and has kept back nothing which it might be material for him to know.

But it is:not merely on the ground of fraud that concealment a wold the contract; even an innocent concealment if material, will avoid the policy; the immer should therefore not conceal any necessary information, but disclose all material circumstances; for a concealment is to be considered not with reference to the event, but to its effect at the time of making the contract.

Sea morthiness. In every insurance, whether of ship or goods, there is an implied warrasty of the sea worthiness of the ship, that is to say, that she shall be tight, stanuch, undervoug, properly manuel, and provided with all secondary stores, and in every wher respect fit for the vayage. Doug! 108.

Where a ship is lest, or in the course of the waysge candemned as incoproble; of proceeding to the photosofther destination, and this cannot be ascribed to stress of weather or any accident, the promote tionis, what she was sunt sea worthy, in so far as to those the punof that she was sea avorthy, anothe insused.

Aship mention only the perfect besself, but mast from the mature of her structure, be capable of performing the voyage on which the insurance was made, to then wise the is not tight, stanged, and strong, according to the tonor of the chanter-party; and it is also required that there shall be good and sufficient evidence of this, and also that the insured shall thring forward all the evidence he that, of the condition of the ship at time she animal, and when the loss dispersal, or she are confumed or unfit to proceed on ther moyage. If, on the other hand, the loss or disability of the ship may be fairly married to see demage, the proof of the sure as awar things lies on the jures.

Desiation, is a voluntary departure, without reasonable cause, from the regular course of the voyage insured. From the moment this happens the contract becomes void. The course of the voyage does not mean the nearest possible way, but the usual and regular course. Accordingly, stopping at certain places on the voyage is no deviation, if it be customary so to do; but such usage can only be supported by long and regular practice. Park 294.

Loss is the injury or damage sustained by the insured in consequence of one or more of the accidents or misfortunes against which the insurer, in consideration of the premium, has undertaken to indemnify the insured, and which perils are all distinctly enumerated in the policy.

Loss is either total or partial. The term total loss means not only the total destruction of, but also such demage to the thing insured, as renders it of little or no value to the insured, although it may specifically remain. Thus a loss is said to be total, if in consequence of the misfortune that has hap, ened, the voyage be lost or not worth pursuing, and the projected adventure frustrated; or if the value of what is saved be less than the freight, &c.

A partial loss is any thing short of a total loss. Thus if a ship insured for a particular voyage arrive at her port of destination, and there remain twenty four hours, moored in safety, or if she be insured for a term, and survive the term, no injury which she could have sustained during the voyage in one case, or during the term in the other, however great, can amount to a total loss. So in the case of an insurance on goods, the insurer contracts that they shall arrive safe at the port of delivery. If they specifically remain, and are landed at the port of delivery, however damaged in the voyage, the injury will only amount to a partial loss; being of the nature of those losses, which are the subject of average contributions. Partial losses are sometimes stiled average losses. Park. 55, 102.

Losses by perils of the sea. These are generally understood to be such accidents or misfortunes as proceed from sea damage; that is to say, such as arise from stress of weather, winds, waves, lightning, tempests, rocks, sands, &c. This sort of loss may happen by the ship's foundering at sea; and then it must in most cases, be a total loss. It may be by stranding, either accidental, where the ship is driven on shore by the winds and waves; or voluntary, when she is run on shore, either to preserve her from a worse fate, or with a fraudulent purpose. If the stranding be followed by shipwreck, then it becomes a total loss; if she is got off and rendered fit to continue, the voyage, it is a partial and general average loss. It may also.

happen from the ship striking on a sudden rock, which may occasion the springing a leak, or absolute ship wreck. Park, 62.

If a ship be not heard of for a reasonable time, she shall be presumed to have foundered at sea, and the insured has a right to recover as such, from the underwriters. Park, 63. 2 Str. 1199.

A loss by fire, which is merely accidental, and not imputable to the master or maginers, is undoubtedly within the policy. If a ship be burnt by order of the state where she happens to be, to prevent infection, this also has been held a loss within the policy.

If a ship be attacked by an enemy, and the captain, unable to defend her, leave and set fire to her to prevent her from falling into the enemy's hands, the insurer is said to be liable.

Capture, is where a ship is taken by an enemy in war, or by way of reprisals, or by a pirate. Capture may be with an intent to possess the ship and cargo, or only to seize the goods on board as contraband: the former is a capture, the latter only an arrest or detention. Every capture, whether lawful or unlawful, is within the policy; provided the words of the policy be sufficiently comprehensive. Park, 77. Where the ship is re-captured before abandonpent, it is a partial loss; and the insurer is bound to pay the salvage, and other necessary expenses the insured may have incurred to recover his property. In general, wherever a ship is taken by the enemy, the insured may abandon and demand as for a total loss; but he is not hound to abandon; if he do, the insurer, in case of regapture, will stand in his place and is liable for all fair charges occasioned by the capture.

Loss by detention of princes, &c. There is an obvious difference between this and capture; the object of the one is prize, that of the other detention, with a design to restore the ship or goods detained, or pay the value to the owner: and though neither of these should be done, still it must be considered as the arrest of princes, the character of any action depending on the original design with which it was done. An arrest of princes may be at sea, as well as in port, if it be done from public necessity, and not with a view to plunder. Park, 79.

Loss by barratry. Barratry is any species of fraud committed by the master or mariners, whereby the owners sustain an injury; as by running away with the ship, wilfully carrying her out of her course, sinking or deserting her, embezzling the cargo, smuggling, or any other offence, whereby the ship or cargo may he subjected to arrest, detention, loss, or forfeiture. No fault of the master or mariners amounts to barratry, unless it proceed from an intention to defraud the owners; therefore a deviation, if made through ignorance, un-skilfulness, or any motive which is not fraudulent, although it will evoid the policy, does not amount to barrairy. Park, 84. Comp. 154.

١

Lass by average contributions. The goods on board are, in proportion to their respective interests, towards any particular loss or expense incurred for the general safety of the ship or cargo, so that the particular loser may not be a greater sufferer than the other owners of the goods. Thus, where the goods of a particular merchant are thrown overhoard to lighten the ship; where the masts, cables, anchors, or other furniture of the ship are cut away or destroyed for the safety of the whole; in these and similar cases, the loss is the proper subject of a general contribution, and ought to be rateably borne by the owners of the ship, freight, and cargo, so that the loss may fall proportionably to all.

As to the articles liable to contribute, the rule is, that the ship, freight, and every thing remaining of the cargo, is subject to this charge; therefore money, plate, and jewels, are as much liable as more heavy and bulky goods. But the persons on board, their wearing apparel, and the jewels belonging to it, shall not contribute; neither are seamen's wages liable to contribute.

Loss by expense of salvage. At common law, the party has a lien on every thing saved, till payment of salvage; but the segulations now principally in force, are ascertained by the statutes 12 Anne, c. 18. 26 G. 2. c. 19. 33 G. 3. c. 66.

The justiced need not in his action declare for salvage, but may recover under a declaration, for the loss which occasioned it, and the damage which the goods have sustained. In case of neutral ships captured by the enemy, and re-taken by British men of war, or privateers, the court of admiralty has a discretionary power of adjusting the salvage. Before an action will lie for a loss by payment of salvage, the amount must be ascertained by decision of the court of admiralty. Park, 140.

Abandanment. The insused may abandon is every case, where, in consequence of any of the perils insured against, the voyage is lost, or not worth pursuing; where the thing insured is so damaged as to be of little or no value to the owner, where the salvage is immoderate, where what is saved is of loss value then the freight, or where further expense is necessary, and the insurer will not undertake to pay that expense, &c. Park, 144.

Shipscreek is generally a total loss. What may be saved of the ship or cargo is so uncertain, that the law cannot distinguish this from the less of the whole. The wreck of a ship may remain, but the ship be lost. A thing is said to be destroyed, when it is so broken, disjointed, or otherwise injured, that it no longer exists in its original nature and essence. So goods may remain; but if no ship can be procured in a reasonable time, to carry them to the place of their destination, the voyage is lost. But a mere stranding of the ship is not of itself a total loss; it is only where the stranding is followed by shipwreck, or the ship is otherwise incapable of prosecuting her voyage.

Adjustment of loss. In settling the amount of the indemnity which the insured is entitled to, and fixing the proportion to be paid by each underwriter, the general rule is, that the contract of insurance should not be lacrative to the insured, nor enable him to make a profit out of the loss of another, and he is entitled only to a fair indemnity, according to the dumage sustained and the sum insured. Park, 128.

FIRE INSURANCE. A policy of insurance against fire is a contract of indemnity, by which the insurers are bound to be responsible against any loss which the insured may sustain from accidents by fire.

A premium is given as a consideration for this policy, and several companies and societies have been established in London and different parts of the country for this purpose: some of these are called contribution societies, in which the parties insured become members or proprietors, participating in profits and losses, such as the Hand-in-Hand and Westminster fire-offices, and the Union, for the insurance of goods; the other companies, as the Sun, the London Assurance; the Phænix, the Royal Exchange, the Imperial, the British, and the Globe, insure bouses and goods at their own risk.

The conditions of insurance, which vary in the different offices, are contained in the respective proposals.

The London Assurance inserts a clause, that they will not be liable for any damage by fire, occasioned by any invasion, foreign power, or any military or usurped power whatever: under this clause it has been held, that the insurers were liable to make good a loss by fire occasioned by a mob, which, under pretext of the high price of provisions, assembled riotously and burned down the plaintiff's malting-house.

The Sun Fire-office, in its exempting clause, introduces civil commotions; and under this it was held, that they were exonerated from the losses occasioned by the rioters in the year 1780.

The Phoenix Fire-Office has a clause, that the insured, to be entitled to recover, shall produce a certificate, signed by the minister and church-wardens, as to the character of the insured, and their belief of the loss he has sustained, which is in law a condition; and this office will not be liable, unless such certificate be produced.

The proposals of these societies comprise the terms of the contract, and the conditions upon which they agree to insure; these proposals, therefore, must be strictly complied with; and when any loss happens, the insured ought to give notice immediately of the loss, stating as particular account of the value as circumstances will permit.

A policy of insurance is not in its nature assignable, nor can it be transferred, without the express consent of the office; when however, any person dies, his interest shall remain in his executors or administrators respectively, who succeed or become entitled to the property, provided such representatives respectively procure their right to be in orsed on the policy.

The party insured, to be entitled to indemnity, must prove an interest in the property insured, at the time the fire happened. The subject of insurance may be considered under two points of view.

First, The unture and commencement of the risk.

Second, The interest of the insured.

First, The nature and commencement of the risk.—The risk commences in general from the signing of the policy, upless there he some other time specified. Policies of insurance may be annual, or for a term of years, at an annual premium; and it is usual for the office, by way of indulgence, to allow aftern days after each year for the payment of the premium for the next year in succession, and provided the premium were paid within that time, the insured has always been considered as within the protection of the office.

The Royal Exchange, the Phoenix, and some other insurance companies, hold themselves liable, during the fifteen days, on annual polictes only; but every policy for a shorter period than a year, ceases at six o'clock of the day therein mentioned.

The Sun fire office differs still further in its printed proposals, by stipulating, that all persons, on bespeaking policies, shall make a deposit for the policy stamp-duty and mark, and shall pay the premium to the next quaster day, and from thence for one year more at least; and as long as the managers agree to accept the same, make all future payments annually at the said office, within fifteen days after the day limited by the respective policies, upon forfeiture of the benefit thereof; and no insurance is to take place until the premium is actually paid by the insured or his agent. Upon this, however, it has been determined, that if the insured in a policy agree to pay the premium half yearly, within fifteen days after the expiration of the former half year, and any loss happen within the lifteenth day, but before payment of the renewed premium, the insurers are not liable.

though the premium were tendered before the end of the fifteen days.

In case of the burning of bouncs under lease, and there is an exception of damages by fire, the landlord is not obliged to re-build, although he may have insured; and if there be an express covenant to pay the rent, the tenant is bound by law to pay the rent for the remainder of the term, although he have no premises to occupy.

Under a general covenant to repair, without any exception as to fire, the tenant, in case of accidental fire, will be compelled to rebuild.

Any trustee, mortgagee, reversioner, factor, or agent, has sufficient interest in the goods under his custody, to effect a policy of insurance, provided the nature of such property be distinctly specified at the time of executing such policy.

The advantages resulting from insurance are such, that every prudent tradesman will not hesitate to obtain them; since, by the annual payment of a certain small sum, proportionate to his risk, under the denomination of a premium, he is absolutely indemnified against an eventual large, and perhaps ruinous loss.

In insuring against losses by fire, the sum for which the premium is paid, may safely be one-third or one-fourth less than the real value of the property insured, because it seldom happens that the loss is total; and when insured to the full value, the person rather gains than losses by a fire, which may excite suspicion, and occasion expensive and troublesome litigations.

This article has been principally abridged from Mr. Serjeant Marshall's Treatise on the Law of Insurance.

INTENDMENT OF LAW. The understanding, intention, and and true meaning of law. 1 Inst. 78.

The law presumes that every one will act for his best advantage; and therefore credits the party, in whatsoever is to his own prejudice.

In every agreement the intent is the chief thing that is to be considered; and if by the act of God, or other means not arising from the party himself, the agreement be not performed according to the words, yet the party shall perform it as near the intent as he may. Ibid.

INTERCOMMONING, is where the commons of two manors lie together, and the inhabitants of both have time out of mind, depastured their cuttle promiscuously in each. See Common.

INTERDICTION, is an ecclesiastical centure, prohibiting the administration of divine ceremonies. But this censure hath been long dismed; and nothing of it appears is the laws of church or state since the reformation.

INTEREST, is usually taken for a term, or chattel real, and more particularly for a future term.

A mortgage is an interest in land, and on non-payment, the estate is absolute in law, and the mortgage's interest is good in equity to entitle him to receive and enjoy the profits till redemption or satisfaction, and on a foreclosure, has the absolute estate both in law and equity. 9 Mod. 196.

INTEREST of money, is the premium paid for the use of a sum, and is by law in this country, limited to five per cent. per annum.

The laws relative to interest are extremely strict, and many different opinions have been formed on the subject. Thus the sum of 1000L horrowed for twelve months, on good security, may be well enough paid for with 50L and it may be difficult in general to employ it, so as to be able to reap advantage by paying more; but the sum of 20L horrowed for one month, can never be adequately paid for by 1s. 8d.

The law as it now stands, forbids under an beavy penalty, a greater sum to be paid; and the person who would take 3s. 4d. for the loss of 20l. for the period last mentioned, would incur that penalty as indisputably as if he had committed an extertion to a great amount.

The nature of things, however, which is paramount to the regulations of men, has so ordered it, that a loan of a small sum, for a short time, may be as impositionally wanted as a larger one; and it may be, proportionably considered, employed to much greater advantage: the law in this case then, prohibits a transaction which would be beneficial to both parties, and which in its nature, is just as fair as any of the large transactions which it does allow of.

Where an estate is devised for payment of debts, chancery will not allow interest for book debts. Ch. Rep. 94.

In case of a vested legacy, due immediately, and charged on land, or money in the funds, which yield an immediate profit, interest shall be payable thereon from the testator's death; but if charged only on the personal estate, which cannot be immediately got in, it shall carry interest only from the end of the year after the death of the testator. 2 Pers. Wms. 26, 27.

Where lands are charged with the payment of a sum in gross, they are also chargeable in equity with payment of interest for such sum. Fin. Rep. 286.

INTEREST COMPOUND, or interest upon interest, is no the latter designation expresses, when the interest instead of being paid, is added to the capital sum, and becomes an increased capital. This is not allowed by law, though it can be practised without infringingany statute, by renewing the bond or instrument, and comprising the whole in it, or by lending the interest separately.

INTERLOCUTORY JUDGMENTS, are such as are given-in the middle of a cause, upon some plan, proceeding or default; which is only intermediate, and doth not finally determine, or complete the suit. S Black. 295. See Judgments.

INTERLOCUTORY ORDER, is that which does not decide the cause, but only settles some intervening matter relative to the cause; as where an order is made, by motion in chancery, for the plaintiff: to have an injunction to quiet his possession, till the hearing of the cause.

INTERROGATORIES, are questions exhibited in writing to beasked witnesses or contempore, to be examined.

These interrogatories are in the nature of a charge or accusation; and if any of them be improper, the defendant may refuse to answer it, and move the court to have it struck out. Str. 444.

INTESTATES. There are two kinds of intestates; one that makes no will at all; and mother that makes a will, and nominates executors, but they refuse; in which case he dies an intestate, and the ordinary commits administration. 2 Par. Inst. 397.

The ordinary by special acts of parliament, is required to grant administration of the effects of the deceased to the widow or next of kin, who shall first pay the debts of the deceased, and then distribute the surplus amongst the kindred, in the manner and according to the proportions directed by 22 and 29 Car. 2. e. 10.

INTRUSION, is when the ancestor dies seized of any estate of inheritance, expectant upon an estate for life; and then tenent for life dies, between whose death, and the entry of the heir, a stranger intrudes. Co. Lit. 227:

INVENTORY, a catalogue or schedule regularly made out, of persons, goods, and chattels, after death, previous to a sale or transfer of the property.

An inventory after decease nught to contain an appraisement of the value by indifferent persons. In ordinary speech however, as previous to à sale, the inventory is only intended to certify the existence of the articles contained in it.

IN VENTRE-SA MERE, is where a woman is with child at the time of her husband's death; which child if he had been born, would be helr to the land of the husband. And the law hath consideration of such child, on account of the apparent expectation of his birth. For a devise to an infant in wentre sa more, is good, by way of fa-ture executory device. And where a daughter comes into land by descent, the see been after, shall out her and have the land. S Rey. 66. Pland. 675.

INVEST, signifies to give possessions we me likewise to (nuest the tenants, by delivering them a verge or red in their hands, and ministering them an outh which is called investing.

INVESTITURE, is the giving possession of lands by actual solution. The antient fendal investiture was, where the remains on decent of lands, was admitted in the hord's court, and there received this sciain, in the nature of a renewal of his ancestor's grant, in the presence of the rest of the tenunts: but in after times, entering on any part of the lands, or other notorious possession, was admitted to be equivalent to the formal grant of scioin and investiture. Stark. 200.

The manner of grant was by wards of pure douation, have given and granted: which are still the operative words in our modern in-deutations or deeds of faciliment. This was perfected by the ceremony of corporal investitues, or apen and notorious delivery of posterois in the presence of the other vassals.

But a corporal investiture being sometimes inconvenient, a symbolical delivery of presention was in many cases antiently allowed of; by transferring samething near at impd, in the presence of condible witnesses, which by agreement should serve to represent the very thing designed to be conveyed; and an occupancy of this sign or symbol, was permitted as equivalent to the occupancy of the land itself. And to this day, conveyance of many of our copyhold contacts is made from the stiler to the lord, or his steward, by delivering of a rod or verge, and then from the lord to the purchaser, by a re-delivery of the same, in the presence of a jury of tenants. Black. 313.

INVOSCE, an account in writing of the particulars of goods or entrobandine sent by any one conveyance or at one time, and transmitted from one person in trade to another: or a particular, of the waits, custom, and charges of any goods sent by a merchant in another man schip, and consigned to a factor or correspondent in another equality.

JOINDER IN ACTION, is the coupling or joining of two in a suit or action against another.

JOINDER OF 188UE, an tone of fact, is where the fact only, and not the law, is disputed. And when he that denies or traverses the fact pleaded by his antagenist, has tendered the issue, time, and this he prays may be inquired of by the country, or, and of this he puts, himself upon the country, it, may be immediately subjoined by the other party, and the said A. B. doth the like; which done, the imue is said to be joined; both parties having agreed to rest the fate of the cause upon the truth of the fact in question. 8 Black. 315.

JOINT ACTIONS, in personal actions; several wrongs may be joined in one writ; but actions founded upon a tort, and a contract cannot be joined, for they require different pleas and different process. I Vent. 336.

JOINT AND SEVERAL, an interest cannot be granted jointly and severally; as if a man grant the next advewson, or make a least for years, to two jointly and severally; these words (and severally) are void, and they are joint tenants. 5 Rep. 19.

JOINT FINES, if a whole vill is to be fined, a joint fine may be laid, and it will be good for the necessity of it; but in other cases, fines for offences are to be severally imposed on each particular offender, and not jointly upon all of them. I Rol. Rop. 83.

JOINT LIVES, lease for years to busband and wife, if they or any issue of their bodies should so long live, has been adjudged so long as either the husband, wife, or any of their issue should live; and not only so long as the busband and wife, &c. should jointly live. Moor. 532.

JOINT TENANTS, are those that come to, and hold lands or tenements by one title, pro indivise, or without partition.

These are distinguished from sole or several tenants, from parceners, and from tenants in common: and they must jointly impleed, and jointly be impleaded by others, which properly is common between them and coparceners; but joint tenants have a sole quality of survivorship, which coparceners have not; for if there be two or three joint tenants, and one bath issue and dies, then he or these joint tenants that survive, shall have the whole by survivorship.
Cowel.

The creation of an estate in joint tenancy depends on the working of the deed or devise, by which the tenant claims title; for this estate can only arise by purchase or grant, that is, by the act of the parties; and never by the mere act of law. Now if any estate be given to a plurality of persons, without adding any restrictive, exclusive, or explanatory words, as if an estate be granted to A. and B. and their heirs, this makes them immediately joint tenants in fee of the lands; for the law interprets the grant, so as to make all parts of it take effect, which can only be done by creating an equal estate in them bot. As therefore, the granter has then united their names, the law gives them a thorough union in all other respects.

2 Black. 180.

If there be two joint tenants, and one release the other, this passeth a see without the word heirs, because it resent to the whole see, which they jointly took, and are possessed of by force of the first conveyance; but tenants in common cannot release to each other, for a release supposeth the party to have the thing in demand, but tenants in common have several distinct freeholds, which they cannot transfer otherwise than as persons who are sole seized. Co. Lit. 9.

Although joint tenants are seised per mis et per tout, yet to divers purposes each of them hath but a right to a moiety; as to enfeoff, give, or domise, or to forfeit or lose by default in a pracipe; and therefore where there are two or more joint tenants, and they all join in a feofment, or each of them in judgment gives but his part. Co. Lit. 186.

The right of survivership shall take place immediately upon the death of the joint tenant, whether it be a natural or civil death; as if there be two joint tenants, and one of them enters into religion, the surviver shall have the whole. Co. Lit. 181.

At common law, joint tenasts in common were not compellable to make partition, except by the custum of some cities and boroughs. Co. Lit. 187.

But now joint tenants may make partition; the one party may compel the other to make partition, which must be by deed: That is to say, all the parties must by deed actually convey and assure to each other the several estates, which they are to take and enjoy severally and separately. 2 Black. 324.

Joint tenants being select per mis et per tout, and deriving by one and the same title, must jointly implead, and be jointly impleaded with others. Co. Lit. 180.

If one joint tenant refuse to join in action, he may be summoned and severed; but herein it is to be observed, that if the person severed die, the writ abates, because the survivor then goes for the whole, which he cannot do on that writ, where on the summons and severance he went only for a moiety before, for the writ cannot have a double effect, to wit, for a moiety in case of summons and severance, and for the whole in case of survivorship. Co. Lit. 188.

But in personal and mixed actions where there is summons and severance, and yet after such summons and severance the plaintiff goes on for the whole, there if one of them die, yet the writ shall not abate, because they go on for the whole after summons and severance; and if they were to have a new writ, it would only give the court authority to go on for the whole. Co. Lit. 197.

JOINTURE, a jointure strictly speaking, signifies a joint estate, limited to both husband and wife; but in common acceptation; it extends also to a sole estate, limited to the wife only; and may be thus defined, via. a competent livelihood of freehold for the wife of lands and tenements, to take effect, in profit or placement, presently after the dentil of the husband; for the life of the wife at least. 2 Blank, 197.

By the statute of the 27 H. 8. c 10. if a jointure be made to the wife, it is a birr of her dower, so as she shall not have both jointure and dower. Anilto the making of a perfect jointure within that statute six things are observed: I. Her jointure is to take effect presently after husband's decease. 9. It must be for the term of heb own lift, or greater estate. 3. It should be made to herself. 4. It must be made in satisfaction of her whole dower, and not of part of her dower. 5 It must either be expressed or averred to be in satisfaction of her dower. 6. It should be made during the covernments of that: 39.

- 1. The estate must take effect protently after her hardend's deceme; therefore if an estate be made to the husband for life, remainder to another person for life, remainder to the wife for her jointure, this is no good jointure, for it is not within the words or intent of the atmore; for the statute designed nothing as a satisfaction for dower, but that which came in the same place, and is of the same us to the wife, and though the other person die during the life of the war burd, yet this is not good; for every interest not equivalent to dower not being within the statute, is a void limitation to deprive the wife of the dower. 4 Go. 3:
- 2: The estate must be for term of the wife's life, or a greater estate's therefore if an estate be made for the life or lives of many others, the is no good jointure; for if she survive such lives, as she way, then it would be no competent provision during her life, an every jointure within the statute ought to be. Co. Lit. 35.
- 3. The column should be made to horself; but as the intention of the statute was to secure the wife a competent provision, and after to exclude her from claiming dower, and likewise her settlement; it seems that a provision or settlement on the wife, though by way of trust; if in other respects it answer the intention of the statute, will be inforced in a court of equity.
- 4: The estate must be in satisfaction of the whole dowers the read son hereof is, that if it be made in satisfaction of part only, it is use certain for what part it is in satisfaction of her dower, and therefore void in the whole. Co. Litt 36.
- 5. The estate must be expressed or averred to be in suttefaction of her down. Lord Cohe says, that it must be expressed or averred to be in satisfaction of her dower; but quere, for this does not seem requisite either within the words or intention of the statute.—Co. Lit. 36.

- 6. It should be made during the coverture; this the very words of the act of parliament require, and therefore if a jointure be made to a woman during her coverture in satisfaction of dower, she may wave it after her husband's death; but if she enter and agree thereto, she is coucladed; for though a woman is not bound by any act when she is not at her own disposal, yet if she agree to it when she is at liberty, it is her own act; and she cannot avoid it. Co. Lit. 86. 4 Co. 8.
- . JOINTRESS, a woman who bath an estate settled on her by her husband, to hold during her life, if she survive him.

Ajointure hath a great advantage over dower in one respect: the jointress may enter without any formal process; whereas no small trouble, and a very tedious method of proceeding, is necessary to compel a legal assignment of dower. 2 Black. 139.

JUURNEYMAN. See Master and Servant.

JOURNEY'S ACCOMPTS, a term in our old law to be thus understood: if writ abated without the default of the plaintiff or demandant, but merely by default of the clerk, or sheriff, the plaintiff might purchase a new writ, which if purchased by journey's accompts, that is within as little time as possible after the abatement of the first writ, (and the space of fifteen days has been held a convenient time for the purchase of it) then this second writ shall be a continuance of the first. Co. Rop. 6 fol. 9.

This doctrine is now of little use, it being customary to enter a judgment that the writ be quashed, and then to sue forth another.

IPSO FACTO, a term used to signify the instant any thing is dene, as, the charch is made void for not reading the articles; adjudged, that there needs no deprivation, but it becomes ipso facto void, presently by not reading the articles. Cro. Elia 679.

IRELAND, by statutes 39 and 40 Geo. 3. c. 67. the kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, shall upon the first day of January, 1801, and for ever after, he united by the name of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland; and that the royal stile and titles appertaining to the imperial crown of the said united kingdom and its dependencies; and also the emigus, armorial flags and banners thereof, shall be such as his majesty, by his royal proclamation under the great seal of the united kingdom, shall be pleased to appoint.

Where a debt is contracted in England, and a bond is taken for it in Ireland, it shall carry Irish interest; for it must be considered as referable to the place where it is made; but if it were a simple contract debt only, it ought to carry Baglish interest, the variation of place-in-this-case making no-difference. 2 Ath. 388.

IRONY, in libels, makes them as properly libels as what is expressed in direct terms. I How 198.

I-BREGULARITY, in the cases law signifes way impediment; which hindury a mentious taking hoty orders; as if he be best bere; notorious; définited of any crime, &c.

IRREPLEVIABLE or IRREPLEVISABLE, that seithermay nor digit to be replevied or delivered appropriately

ISBUR, hathmany significations is law; cometimes being used for the children begotten between a man and his wife; cometimes for profits of lands or tenements; convenient for that points of matter depending in a suft, when, in the course of plending, the parties in the cause affirm a thing on one side and deny it on the course of provider, they are then used to be at issue; all their debates being at last contracted into a single point, which must be determined either in favour of the plaintiffer defendant. S Black. Si8.

ISSUES ON SHERIFFS, are for neglects and defaults by attercement and fine to the king, levied out of the inner and profit of the lands; and doubte and treble issues may be laid on a sheriff for not returning write, &c. but they may be taken of hefore estrents into the exchequer by rule of court, on good reason shems. The ASP:

IPINISHANT:—Those were anticatly casted justices itinerant, who were sent with a commission into divers countless to bear sockiedades specially, as were termed pleas of the crown, and the journeys themselves were that as JUDGE. The judges are the chief magistrates in the law, to my civil and columnal causes. Of these there are twelve in England, view the lords chief justices of the courts of king's bench, and common pleas; the lord chief baron of the exchequer; the three points of inferior judges of the two former courts, and the three pulsar burons of the latter.

By stat. I Geo. 3. o. 28. the judges are to continue is their viscos during their good behaviour; not withstanding any denise of the crown (which was formerly hold immediately to vacate their state), and their full salaries are absolutely secured to them during the continuance of their commissions, by which means the judges-are remidered completely independent of the bing, ministers, or his successions.

A judge at his evention takes on such; that he will serve the kingand indifferently administer justice to-all men, without respect of perright to any, though the king or any other, by letters, or by expression worth, command the contrary, &c. and in default of duty, to be suswerable to the king in blody, land, and goods.

Where a judge has an interest, neither he nor his deputy can determine a cause, or six in court, and if he do, a problibition lies:— Harda. 503.

By 30 G: 3. c.-170. an augmentation shall be made of the salaries of certain judges, to be put out of the comoffdated fund, viz. so much as will make the salaries of the master of the rolls and chief baron amount in the whole to 4000R eachy and those of the puisne judges and barons to 3000L each. s. I. An account of the salaries and pecumary profits of such judges shall be delivered to the treatury on September 29, and March 25, in each year. And the sum received half yearly shaff be made up 2000f. to the master of the rolls and chief bares, and 1500% to the puisse judges and barons, respectively. s. S. In case of docth of resignation, a proportionable part of the said sams shall be puld to the personal representatives; but the successor shall-receive salaties and profits from the death or resignation of his predecessor. s. 4, 5. His majesty may grant to the lord chanceflor; or keeper of the great sent, so animity of 4000f. to commesse on resignation, payable wharterly, out of the consulidated fund, free from taxes: But bis mujesty may limit the duration and payment of such ammity to an extensite for or keeper; to such periods as he shalf hot bold any offee of profit: si 6. The king may grant the following annuities to the other judget, on resignation, payuble quarterly out of the complicated fond, free from taxes, viz. chief justice of the king's bench, 3000f. muster of the rolls, chief justice of the commons pleas, and chief bardo; earli 2560/. pulme judge or baron, 2000/. hat Moved granted secto judges shall be valid, unless the party shall have continued in officer years, or shall by infirmity be unable to exetate the office. si T.

By 35 Geo. S. c. 113: bis majesty during any vacation, while the effect of chief justice or judge of the courts is vacant, may cause a writ to be issued out of the court of chintery to any barrister at law be sink think it, to appear in that court, and take upon himself the dignity of a serjeant at law; and such person shall, on taking the need outh, be, without further ceremony, deemed a serjeant at law; and his majesty may grant to that person the office of chief justice, chief baron, or judge or baron of the courts.

Jedges are punishable for will'al ordences, against the duty of their shundans; instances of which happily live only in remembrance. There are antient precedents of judges; who were fined when they transgressed the laws, though commanded by warrants from the king.

. A judge is not answerable to the king, or the party, for mistakes or errors of his judgment, in a matter of which he has jurisdiction. 1 Salk. 397.

JUDGMBNT. The opinion of the judges is so called, and is the very voice and final doom of the law; and therefore is always taken for unquestionable truth; or it is the sentence of the law propounced by the court, upon the matter contained in the record-

Judgments are of four sorts, viz. 1. Where the facts are confessed by the parties, and the law determined by the court, which is termed judgment by demurrer.

- 2. Where the law is admitted by the parties, and the facts only are disputed, as in judgment upon a demurrer.
- 3. Where both the fact and the law arising thereon, are admitted by the defendant, as in case of judgment by confession or default.
- 4. Where the plaintiff is convinced that fact or law, or both, are insufficient to support his action, and therefore abandons or withdraws his prosecution, as in case of judgment upon a nomit or retraxit. See Warrant of Attorney.

Judgments are either interlecutory or final.

Interlocutory Judgments are such as are given in the middle of a cause, upon some plen, proceeding or default, which is only intermediate, and doth not finally determine or complete the suit; as apen dilutory plens, when the judgment in many cases is that the defradant shall answer over: that is, put in a more substantial plea.

Final judgments, are such as at once put an end to the action, by declaring that the plaintiff hath either entitled himself, or bath not, to recover the remedy he sues for. 3 Black. 398.

For further information respecting, signing, entering, and setting eside judgments, see Impay's B. R. and C. B. Practice.

JUDGMENTS IN CRIMINAL CASES, are of two kinds, I. such as are fixed and stated, and always the same for the species of of crimes. 2. Such as are discretionary and variable, according to the different circumstances of each case. 2 Haw. 444.

JUDICATORES TERRARUM, persons in the county palatine of Chester, who on a writ of error out of chancery are to consider of the judgment given there, and reform it; and if they do not, and it be found erroneous, they forfeit 1001. to the king by the custom. Dyer 348.

JUDICIAL, DECISIONS, OPINIONS, for DETERMINA-TIONS, as far as they refer to the laws of this kingdom, are for the matter of them of three kinds.

- hi They are cither such an base their remoss singly in the laws and customs of this bingdom; as who shall success so hair to the ancestor; what is the customary requisite for passing a freehold; what estate, and how much the wife shall have for her dower; and many such matters, wherein the antient and expressed laws of the king-dom; give an express decision, and the judge seems only the instrument to pronounce it; and in those things the law or custom of the reals in the only rule and measure to judge by, and in reference to those matters, the decisions of courts are the conservatories and existence of these laws. Or,
- 2. They are such decisions, as by way of deduction and illation upon those have, are formed or deduced; as for the purpose, whether of an estate than or thus limited, the wife shall be endowed? whether if thus or thus limited, the heir may be barred? and many more of the like complicated questions. And herein the rule of decision is, first, the common line and custom of the realm, which is the great unitaristic the maintained; had then antiforities of decisions of former times in the same or like once; and then the reason of the thing itself.
- 3. They are such ar seem to have up other guide but the common reason of the thing, unless the same point has been formerly decided, we in the expectation of the intention of chauses in deeds, wills, extremently decided and relationsly givere relational account of the meaning of the parties, and in such cases the judge does much better berein, thus what a bare grammarian or logistan, or other product men could; for in many cases there have been former resolutions, either in print, or attalogy; with the case in question; or probage also the clause to be expounded, is mingled with some term or clauses that require the knowledge of the law to belp out with the construction or exposition; both which often happen in the same case, and therefore it requires the knowledge of the law, to render and expound such clauses and sentences; and doubtiess a good common lawyer is the best exposition of ruch clause, &c. Male's Hist. Com. Law.

JUDICHUM DEL. See Ordoni.

JURATO, officers in the mature of abdermen, for the government of their severi corporations, as the mayor und javate of Maidcline, &c.

JURISDACTION, an authority of power given, which a man bath to do justice in cruses of completes made before him, of which there are two kinds: the one which a man bath by reason of bits feet; the other is a justification given by the printe to a bailing. 4 Ites.

JURIS UTRUM, a writ which lies for the incumbent, whose predecessor bath alienated his lands and tenements.

JURY, a certain number of persons sworn to enquire of and try some matter of fact, and to declare the truth upon such evidence as shall be laid before them.

The jury are sworn judges upon all evidence in any matter of facts

Juries may be divided into two kinds, common and special. Resort is generally had to the latter in commorcial cases, which involve some difficulties relative to mercantile regulations, and are best decided by a special jury of merchants.

A common jury is such as is returned by the sheriff, according to the directions of the statute 3 Geo. 2. c. 25, which appoints that the sheriff's officer shall not return a separate pannel for every separate cause, but one and the same pannel for every cause to be tried at the same assizes, containing not less than forty-eight, nor more than seventy-two jurors, and their names being written on tichets, shall be put into a qox or glam, and when each classe is called, twelve of those persons, whose names shall be first drawn not of the box, shall be sworn upon a jury, saless absent, challenged, or excused.

. When a sufficient number of persons are impannelled, they are then separately sworn well and truly to try the issue between the parties, and true verdict given accounding to the evidence,

Special juries: these were originally introduced in trials at her, when the causes were of too great nicety for the discussion of ordinary fresholders. To obtain a special jury, a motion is made in court, and a rule is granted thereupon, for the sheriff to attend the master, prothonotary, or other proper officer, with his freeholders' book, and the officer is to take indifferently furty-eight of the principal freeholders, in the presence of the attornies on both sides, who are each of them to strike off tweive, and the remaining twenty-four are returned upon the pannel.

By 4 Geo. 8 c. 7. no person shall be returned as a juror in Middlesex, who has been returned in the two terms preceding. And leaseholders in Middlesex, where the improved reuts amount to 501. per annum, shall be liable to serve on juries. By 24 Geo. 8. c. 18. persons applying for special juries shall pay the expenses of striking, and also all the charges occasioned by the trial, without allowance whom taxation of costs, unless the judge shall certify that the cause was proper to be tried by special jury. No person serving on such jury shall take more than the judge shall think reasonable, not exceeding 11. 1s. except where a view was directed. Venire for trial of issues upon penal statutes or the like, shall be awarded of the body of the county where triable. No challenge shall be taken to any pannel of jarors for want of a knight's being returned.

Jurous are punishable for sending for, or receiving instructions from either of the parties, concerning the matter in question.

Where more than one of the persons returned on a jury shall appear, but not a sufficient number to make an inquest, and some of the others come within view of the court, or into the town where the court is holden, but refuse to come into the court to be swors; on proof thereof, the court may at the prayer of the party, order the jurors who appeared, to inquire into the yearly value of such defaulter's lands, and after such enquiry made, either summon them to appear on pain of forfeiting such sum as their lands have been found to be worth by the year, or some less sum, or impose a fine of the like sum upon them, without any farther proceeding. But it seems that such juror shall be liable to lose his issues only for such default, and not the yearly value of his lands, unless the party pray it: but a juror who has actually appeared, and afterwards makes default, is said to be subject to such forfeiture of the yearly value of his lands, whether the purty pray it or not; because his contempt sppears to the court by its own record; yet even in this case, the court in discretion will sometimes only impose a small fine. Also it seems, that a jurar who makes default without ever coming into the town wherein the court is holden, is liable only to hold his issues, or to be amerced, but not to be fined. 2 Haw. 146.

And in causes at min prine, every person whose name shall be drawn, and who shall not appear after being openly called three times, shall on onth made of his having been lawfully summoned, forfeit a sum not exceeding 5% nor less than 40s, unless some reasonable cause of absence be proved, by eath or afadavit, to the satisfaction of the judge. 3 G. 8. c. 25.

If may jurer shall take of either party to give his verdict, he shall, on conviction by bill or plaint, before the court where the verdict shall puss, forfeit ten times as much as he ims taken; half to the king, and half to him who shall sue. 5, 34, and 36 Rd. 8. c. 10, 8, and 12.

A man who shall assault or threaten a juror for giving a verdict against him, is highly punishable by fine and imprisonment; and if he strike him in the court, in the presence of the judge of assize, he shall lose his hand and his goods, and the profits of his lands during life, and suffer perpetual imprisonment. 1 Haw. 57.

JURY OF MATRONS.—A jury of matrons is permitted by the wisdom of our laws to be impanuelled in two cases. 1. When a widow execut herself to be with child, its order to exclude the neut beir, and a suppositions birth is suspected to be designed; then, a suit de verree encressense (which article see) is issued, and a jury n. women is appointed to try the question, whether such widow is pregnant or not. Ore. Elie. $66. 2. When a women is convicted of a capital offence; and, sentence of death being passed on her, she plends pregnancy in arrest of execution, a jury of matrons is in like manner impanselled to try whether sho is so with child or not. If they find that the convict is pregnant, the execution of her sentence is graphed until after her delivery.

JURY Mediciatis Lingues see Mudsetates Langua.

JUS ACORESCENDI, the right of survivorship between joint because.

JUSCORONE, the right of the crown, is part of the law of England, though it differs in many things from the general law, relating to the subject.

JUS GENTIUM, the law by which society in general and metions are governed. See Law of Nations.

JUS HERBULPATIS. The right of inheritance. See Heir.

JUS PATRONATUS, the right of presenting a clerk to a be-

JUSTICE and right shall not be sold, denied, or delayed. M. C. JUSTICE, significe him who is deputed by the king to do right by way of judgment.

JUSTICES IN EXER in antient times, were sent with commission into several counties to how such enuses especially, as were tormed pleas of the ensem. And this was done for the case of the people, who must otherwise have been hurried to the king's beach, if the case were too high for the county-court: they differed from the justices of over and dorminer, because they were sent upon one or for special causes and to one place; whereas the justices in syre were real through the province and counties of the land, with more indefinite and general commissions.

JUSTICES OF GAOL: DELIVERY, such as one sent, with commission to hear and determine all causes appertaining to such as: for any offence are cast into the gaol.

JUSTICES OF CHER AND DERMINER some the justices of masses and minigrius, are appointed to try civil course, so are the justices of open and terminer, and gust delivery, to try indictments for all crimes all over the kingdom, at what are generally denominated the circuits or maises; and the towns where they came to execute their commission, are called the sasies towns, and are generally the county towns. A Black, 260.

JUSTICES OF THE PAVILLION, are certain judges of a pie pender court, of a most transcendent jurisdiction, held under the bishop of Winchester at a fair on St. Giles's Hill, near that city, by virtue of letters patent granted by Richard 2. and Edward 4.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, are persons appointed by the king's commission, to attend to the peace of the county where they dwell. They were called guardians of the peace, till the thirty-sixth year of Edw. 3. c. 12, where they are called justices.

A justice of the peace must before he acts, take the oath of office, which is usually done before some persons in the country, by virtue of a dedimus potestatem out of chancery.

Sheriffs, coroners, attorneys, and proctors, may not act as justices of the peace.

The power, office, and duty of this magistrate, extends to an almost infinite number of instances, specified in some hundreds of acts of parliament, which are every year accumulating.

The commission of the peace doth not determine by the demise of the king, nor until six months after, unless sooner determined by the successor: but before his demise, the king may determine it, or may put out any particular person; which is most commonly done by a new commission, leaving out such person's name.

Justices of the peace can only be appointed by the king's special commission, and such commission must be in his name; but it is not requisite that there should be a special suit or application to, or warrant from the king for the granting thereof, which is only requisite for such as are of a particular nature; as committed the mayor of such a town and his successors perpetual justices of the peace within their likerties, &c. which commissions are neither revocable by the king, mor determinable by his demise, as the common commission of the peace is, which is made of course by the Lord Chancellor according to his discretion. 1 Lev. 219.

The form of the commission of the peace, as it is at this day, was according to Hawkins, settled by the judges about the 23 Bliz.—4 Inst. 471.

Justisdiction. It seems now to be settled, that justices of the peace have no power to hear and determine felonies, unless they are authorized so to do by the express words of their commissions; and that their jurisdictions to hear and determine murder, manslaughter, and other felonies and trespasses, is by force of the word assignations in their commission, which gives them, or two of them, whereof one is of the quorum, power to hear and determine felonies, &c. 2 Haw. P. C. 38.

And hence it bath lately been adjudged, that the caption of an indictment of tresposs before justices of the peace, without adding nec non ad diversas felonias, &c. assignat', is naught. Trin. 7 G. Ic in B. R.

But though justices of the peace, by force of their commission have authority to hear and determine murder and manslaughter, yet they seldom exercise a jurisdiction herein, or in any other offences in which clergy is taken away, for two reasons.

- 1. By reason of the monition and clause in their commission, viz. in case of difficulty to expect the presence of the justices of assize.
- 2. By reason of the direction of the statute of 1 & 2 P. & M. e. 13. which directs justices of the peace in case of manslaughter and other felonies, to take the examination of the prisoner, and the information of the fact, and put the same in writing, and then to bail the prisoner if there be cause, and to certify the same with the bail, at the next general gaol delivery; and therefore in cases of great moment they bind over the prosecutors, and bail the party, if bailable to the next general, gaol delivery; but in smaller matters, as petty larceny; and in some cases they bind over to the sessions, but this is only in point of discretion and convenience, not because they have not jurisdiction of the crime.

As to inferior offences, the jurisdiction herein given to justices of the peace by particular statutes, is so various, and extends to such a multiplicity of cases, that it were endless to endeavour to numerate them; also they have, as justices of the peace, a very ample jurisdiction in all matters concerning the peace.—

6 Mod. 128.

And therefore it hath been held, that not only assaults and batteries, but libels, barratry, and common night-walking, and haunting bawdy-houses, and such like offences, which have a direct tendency to cause breaches of the peace, are cognizable by justices of the peace, as trespasses within the proper and natural meaning of the word. 1 Lev. 139.

- 1. Qualifications.—On renewing the commission of the peace (which generally happens when any person is newly brought into the same) a writ of dedimus potestatem is issued out of chancery to take the oath of him who is newly inserted, which is usually in a schedule annexed; and to certify the same into that court at such a day as the writ commands. Unto which oath are usually annexed the oaths of allegiance and supremacy. Lamb. 53.
  - 2. Duty. Justices of the peace are to hold their sessions four times

Easter, and St. Thomas. They are justices of record, for none but justices of record can take a recognizance of the peace. Every justice of the peace hath a separate power, and may do all acts concerning his office apart and by himself; and even may commit a fellow justice upon treason, felony, or breach of the peace: und this is the antient power which conservators of the peace had at common law. By several statutes, justices may act in many cases where their commission does not reach; the statutes themselves being a sufficient commission. Wood. Inst. 79, 80.

Justices of the peace are authorized to do all things appertaining to their office, so far as they relate to the laws for the relief, maintenance, and settlement of the poor; for passing and pusishing vagrants; for repair of the highways; or to any other laws concerning parochial taxes, levies, or rates; notwithstanding they are rated or chargeable with the rates, within any place affected by such their acts. Provided that this shall not empower any justice for any county at range, to act in the determination of any appeal to the quarter sessions of such county, from any order, matter, or thing, relating to any such parish, township, or place, where such justice is so charged or chargeable. 16 G. 2. c. 18.

3. Power.—The power of justices is ministerial, when they are commanded to do any thing by a superior authority, as the court of B. R. &c. In all other cases they act as judges; but they must proceed according to their commission, &c. Where a statute requires an act to be done by two justices, it is an established rule, that if the act be of a judicial nature, or the result of discretion, the two justices must be present to concern and join in it, otherwise it will be void; as in the orders of removal and filiation, the appointment of overseers, and the allowance of the indenture of a parish apprentice; but where the act is merely ministerial, they may act separately, as in the allowance of a poor-rate. This is the only act of two justices which has been construed to be ministerial; and the propriety of this construction has been justly questioned. 4 Duraf. & Bast. 386.

If a justice of peace do not observe the form of proceeding directed by a statute, it is coram non judice, and void; but if he act according to the direction of the statutes, neither the justices in sessions, nor B. R. can reverse what he has done. Jones 170.

Where a justice shall exceed his authority in granting a warrant, the officer must execute it, and he is indemnified for so doing; but if it be in a case wherein he has no jurisdiction, or in a matter whereof he has no cognizance, the officer ought not to execute such warrant; for the officer is bound to take notice of the authority and jurisdiction of the justice. 10 Co. 76.

Justices acting improperly. If a justice of the peace will not, on complaint to him made, execute his office, or if he shall misbehave in his office, the party grieved may move the court of king's beach for an information, and afterwards may apply to the court of charcery to put him out of the commission.

But the most usual way of compelling justices to execute their office, in any case, is by writ of mandamus out of the court of hing's bench.

Where the plaintiff in an action against a justice, shall obtain a verdict, and the judge shall in open court certify on the back of the record, that the injury for which such action was brought, was nilfully and maliciously committed, the plaintiff shall have double costs. 24 G. 2. c. 44.

And if a justice of peace act improperly, knowingly, information shall be granted. 27 G. 3.

No justice shall be lightle to be punished both ways, that is, crieminally, and civilly, but before the court will grant an information, they will require the party to relinquish his civil action, if any such be commenced. And even in the case of an indictment, and though the indictment be actually found, the attorney general on application made to him, will grant a not punsignt upon such indictment, if it appear to him that the prosecutor is determined to carry on a civil action at the same time. Bur. 718.

If any action shall be brought against a justice for any thing done by virtue of his office, he may plead the general issue, and give the special matter in evidence; and if he recover, he shall have double costs. I Jac. c. 5.

Such action shall not be laid but in the county where the fact was committed. 21 Jac. c. 12.

And no suit shall be commenced against a justice of the peace.

And unless it is proved upon the trial, that such notice was given, the justice shall have a verdict and costs.

And no action shall be brought against any comtable or other officer, or any person acting by his order and his aid, for any thing done in obedience to the warrant of a justice, till demand hath been made, or left at the usual place of his abode, by the party or by his attorney, in writing, signed by the party demanding the same, of the perusal and copy of such warrant, and the same has been sefund or neglected for six days after such demand.

And no action shall be brought against any justice for any thing done in the execution of his office, unless commenced within six months after the act committed. 24 G. 2. c. 44.

By the 48 Geo. 3. c. 141, for protecting justices of the peace in the execution of their duty, it is enacted, that in all actions which shall be brought against any justice of the peace on account of any conviction, in case such conviction shall have been quashed, the plaintiff, besides the amount of the penalty which may have been levied, shall not recover greater damages than two-pence; nor any costs, unless it shall be alledged in the declaration in the action, (which shall be an action upon the case only) that such acts were done maliciously, and without any reasonable or probable cause. But, on the other hand, any malicious or tyrannical abuse of their office is usually severely punished; and all persons who recover a verdict, for any malicious or wilful injury, are entitled to double costs.

JUSTICES OF PEACE WITHIN LIBERTIES, are such in cities and other corporate towns, as those others of the counties, and their authority or power is the same within their several precincts.

JUSTICES OF TRAILE-BASTON, were a kind of justices appointed by king Edward the First, on account of the great disorders grown in the realm, during his absence in the Scotch and French wars. Their office was to make inquisition through the realm, by the verdict of substantial juries, upon all officers, as mayors, sheriffs, bailiffs, escheators, and others, touching extortion, bribery, and other such grievances; as intrusions into other men's lands, barretors, and brenkers of the peace, with divers other offenders; by means of which inquisitions, many were punished by death, many by ransom, and the rest flying the realm, the land was quieted, and the king gained great riches towards the support of his wars.

JUSTICIAR or JUSTICIER, a judge, justice, or justicier. The whole jurisdiction which is now distributed amongst the several courts of Westminster-hall, seems in the first reigns after the conquest, to have been lodged in one court, commonly called the king's court, where justice is said to have been administered sometimes by the king himself in person, and sometimes by the high justicier, who was an officer of very great authority, and in the king's absence beyond the sea, governed the realm as viceroy. 2 Haw. 6.

JUSTICE SEAT, is the highest court of the forest, being always holden before the chief justice in eyrs, or chief itinerant judge, or his deputy, to hear and determine all trespanses within the forests.

and all claims of franchises, liberties, and privileges, and all pleas and causes whatsoever, therein arising. It may also proceed to try presentments made in the inferior courts of the forest, and give judgment upon the convictions that have been made in the swainmote courts. It may be held every third year. This court may fine and imprison, being a court of record: and a writ of error lies to the court of king's beach. 2 Black. 72.

JUSTICIES is a writ directed to the sheriff to do justice in a plea of tresposs vi et armis, or of any sum above 40s. in the county court; of which he hath no cognizance by ordinary power. It is in the nature of a commission to the sheriff; and is not returnable. 4 Inst. 266.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE. See Homicide.

JUSTIFICATION, is an affirming or shewing good reason in court, why one does such a thing as he is called to answer; as to justify in a cause of a replevin. Broke.

K

EELAGE, a privilege to demand money for the bottom of ships resting in a port or harbour.

KEEPER OF THE FOREST, also called the chief warden of the forest, who hath the principal government of all things therein, and the check of all officers belonging to the same.

KEEPER OF THE GREAT SEAL, is a lord by virtue of his exalted office, and stiled the lord keeper of the great seal of England; he is one of the king's privy council; through whose hands pass all charters, commissions, and grants of the king under the great seal; without which seal, all such instruments by law are of no force.— For the king is in the interpretation of law a corporation, and passeth nothing firmly but under the said seal, which is as the public faith of the kingdom, in the high esteem and reputation justly attributed thereto. This lord keeper, by the statute 5 Eliz. c. 18, hath the same place, authority pre-eminence, jurisdiction, execution of the laws, and all other customs, commodities, and advantages, as hath the lord chancellor of England for the time being. He is constituted by the delivery of the great seal to him, taking his oath.—Co. 4. See Chancery.

KEEPER OF THE PRIVY SEAL, is a lord by virtue of his office, through whose hands pass all charters signed by the king before they come to the great send. He is of the king's privy council, and was antiently called clerk of the privy seal.

KEY or QUAY, a wharf to land or ship goods or wares at:

KEYUS, KEYS, a guardian, warden, or keeeper. In the Isle of Man, the twenty-four chief commoners, who are considered as conservators of the liberties of the people, are called keys of the bland.

KIDNAPPING, is the forcible taking and carrying away a mane woman, or child, from their own country, and sending them to another. This is an offence at common law, and punishable by fine, imprisonment, and pillory.

By stat. Il & 12 W. 3. c. 7. if any captain of a merchant vessel shall during his being abroad force any person on shore, and wilfully leave him behind, or refuse to bring home all such men as he carried out, if able and desireus to return, he shall suffer three months imprisonment.

Exclusive of the above punishment for this as a criminal offence, the party may recover upon an action for compensation in damages for the civil injury.

KILLING a man at see, by a shot fired from a gun on land is properly triable at the admiralty session. See Homicide.

KINDRED. See Descent.

KING, signifies him who hath the highest power, and absolute rule over the whole land; and therefore the king is in intendment of law, cleared of those defects which common persons are subject to; for he is always supposed to be of full age, though never so young. He is taken as not subject to death, but is a corporation in himself. He is supra legson by his absolute power. And though for the better and more equal course in making laws, he admits the three estates, that is lords spiritual, lords temporal, and the commons, in council; yet this derogates not from his power; for whatever they act, he by his negative voice may quash. He pardoneth life and limb to offenders against the crown and dignity, except such as he bindeth himself by outh not to forgive. He may alter or suspend any particular law that seems hartful to the public.

The law ascribes to his majesty, in his political capacity, and absolute immortality. The king never dies. For immediately on the decease of the reigning prince in his natural capacity, his imperial dignity, by act of law, without any interregram or interval, is vested at once in his heir, who is so instanti king to all intents and purposes. And so tender is the law of supposing even a possibility of his death, that his natural dissolution is generally called his de-drive; an expression signifying merely a transfer of property.—

By the articles of the union of the two kingdoms of England and Scotland, all papists, and persons marrying papists, are for ever excluded from the imperial crown of Great Britain; and in such case, the crown shall descend to such person being a protestant, as should have inherited the same, in case such papist, or person marrying a papist, were naturally dead. 5 Anne, c. 8. See Prenogative, Privy Council, Treason, &c.

KING'S BENCH. The king's bench is the supreme court of common law in the kingdom; and is so called, because the king used to sit there in person: it consists of a chief justice, and three puisne justices, who are by their office, the sovereign conservators of the peace, and supreme coroners of the land.

This court has a peculiar jurisdiction, not only over all capital offences, but also over all other misdemeanours of a public nature, tending either to a breach of the peace, or to oppression, or faction, or any manner of misgovernment. It has a discretionary power of inflicting exemplary punishment on offenders, either by fine, imprisonment, or other infamous punishment, as the nature of the crime, considered in all its circumstances, shall require.

The jurisdiction of this court is so transcendant, that it keeps all inferior jurisdictions within the bounds of their authority; and it may either remove their proceedings to be determined here, or prohibit their progress below; it superintends all civil corporations in the kingdom; commands magistrates and others, to do what their duty requires, in every case where there is no specific remedy; protects the liberty of the subject, by speedy and summary interposition; takes cognizance both of criminal and civil causes; the former in what is called the crown side, or crown office; the latter in the plea side of the court. S Bl. Com. c. 4.

This court has cognizance on the plea side, of all actions of trespass, or other injury alledged to be committed vi et armis; of actions for forgery of deeds, maintenance, conspiracy, deceit; and actions on the case which alledge any fulsity or fraud.

In proceedings in this court, the defendant is arrested for a supposed trespass, which, in reality he has never committed; and being thus in the custody of the marshal of this court, the plaintiff is at liberty to proceed against him for any other personal injury, which surmise of being in the custody of the marshal, the defendant is not at liberty to dispute.

This court is likewise a court of appeal, into which may be removed, by writ of error, all determinations of the court of common pleas, and of all inferior courts of record in England. Ibid.

KING'S BENCH PRISON. King's Benck new rules. 80 G. S. it is ordered by the court, that from and after the first day of trinity term next, the rule made in the sixth year of the reign of king George the first, and all other rules for establishing the rules of the king's beach prison, shall be and the same are hereby repealed. And it is further ordered, that from and after the said first day of trinity term next, the rules of the king's beach prison, shall be comprized within the bounds following, exclusive of the public houses hereinafter mentioned: that is to say, from Great Cumber Court in the parish of St. George the Martyr, in the county of Surry, along the north side of Dirty-lane, and Melancholy walk, to Blackfriar'sroad, along the western side of the said road to the obclisk, and from thence along the south-west side of the Lundon-road, round the direction-post in the center of the roads, near the public house known by sien of the Elephant and Castle, and from thence along the eastern side of Newington causeren, in Great Cumber-court mforesuid: and it is also ordered, that the new good Southwark, and the highway, exclusive of the houses on come side of it, leading from the king's bench prison, to the new gaol, shall be within and part of the said rules. And it is lastly ordered, that all taverus, victualling-houses, ale-houses, and wine-vaults, and houses or places licensed to sell gin or other spirituous liquors, shall be excluded out of and deemed no part of the said rules.

It is ordered, that from and after the first day of trinity term next, we prisoner in the king's bench prison, or within the rules thereof, shall have, or be entitled to have, day rules above three days in such term. And it is further ordered, that every such prisoner having a day rule, shall return within the walls or rules of the said prison, at or before nine o'clock in the evening of the day on which such rule shall be granted.

. KING'S PALACE. The limits of the king's palace at Westminster, extend from Charing-cross to Westminster-hall, and shall have such privileges as the antient palaces. 28 H. S. c. 12.

KING'S SILVER, otherwise called a post fine, is a sum of money paid to the king, in the court of common piezs, for a license granted to levy a fine of lands, tenements, or hereditaments; and this must be compounded for, at the rate of ten shillings for every five marks of lands; that is, three twentieth parts of the supposed annual value. 2 Inst. 511

KNIGHT, originally signified a servant; but there is now but one instance were it is taken in that sense, and that is knight of a shire, who properly serves in parliament for such a county; but in all other instances, it signifies one who bears arms; who for his virtue and martial prowess, is by the king, or one having his authority, exalted above the rank of gentleman, to an higher step of dignity.

They were called milites, because they formed a part of the royal army, by virtue of their feudal tenures; one condition of which was, that every one who held a knight's fee, immediately under the crown (which in Edward the Second's time amounted to 201. per anaum) was obliged to be knighted. He was also to attend the king in his wars, or fine for his non-compliance. The execution of this prerogative, as an expedient to raise money in the reign of Charles the First gave great offence; though then warranted by law, and the recent example of queen Elizabeth: it was therefore abolished by 16 C. I. c. 20. Considerable fees accrued to the king on the performance of the ceremony. Edward the Sixth, and queen Elizabeth, had appointed commissioners to compound with the persons who had lands to the amount of 401. a year, and who declined the honour and expense of knighthood. 1 Black. 404.

KNIGHTS BACHELORS, the most antient, though the lowest order of knighthood. King Alfred, conferred this order on his son Atheleton. 1 Black, 404.

KNIGHTS BANNERET. These knights are only made in the time of war; they are ranked next after the barons; and their precedence before the younger some of viscounts, was confirmed by Jac. 1. in the tenth year of his reign. But to entitle them to this rank, they must be created by the king in person in the field, under the royal banners in time of open war; otherwise they rank after baronets. 1 Black. 403.

KNIGHTS OF THE BATH, they are so called from their bathing the night before their creation; this order was re-established by king George the First, in 1725; who erected the same into a regular military order for ever, by the name and title of the Order of the Bath, to consist of thirty-seven knights besides the sovereign.

They have each three honorary esquires, and now wear a red ribbon across their shoulders, have a prelate of the order (the bishop of Rochester) several heralds and other officers. 1 Black. 404.

KNIGHTS OF THE CHAMBER, seem to be such knights bachelors as are made in time of peace, because usually knighted in the king's chamber, not in the field, as in time of war.

KNIGHT'S COURT, a court baron, or honour court, held twice a year under the bishop of Hereford, at his palace; wherein those who are lords of manons, and their tenants, holding by knight's service of the honour of that bishopric, are suitors. If the suitor appear not at it, he pays 2s. suit silver for respite of homage.

KNIGHT'S FEE, is so much inheritance yearly, as is sufficient to maintain a knight with convenient revenue; which in Henry the Third's days was 151. and in the time of Edward the Second, 201.

KNIGHTS OF THE GARTER, an order of knights first created by king Edward the Third, after having obtained some signal victories, who, for furnishing of this bonourable order, made choice out of his realm, and all christendom, of the best and most excellently renowned knights in virtue and honour, bestowing this dignity on them, and giving them a blue garter, decked with gold, pearl, and precious stones, and a buckle of gold to wear daily on the left leg only, a kirtle, crown, cloak, chaperon, a collar, and other stately and magnificent apparel, both of stuff and fashion. Of which he and his successors, kings of England, were ordained sovereigns, and the rest fellows and brethren to the number of twenty-six. honourable society is a college or corporation having a common seal belonging to it, and consisting of a sovereign guardian, who is the king of England, who always governs this order by himself or his deputy; of twenty-five champions called knights of the garter, and fourteen secular canons who are priests, or must be within one year after their admission; thirteen vicars also priests; and twenty-six poor knights, that have no other sustenance, or means of living, but ' the allowance of this house, which is given them in respect to their daily prayer to the bonour of God and St. George. There are also certain officers belonging to this order, viz. the prelate of the garter. which office is inherent to the bishop of Winchester for the time being; the chancellor of the garter; the register, who is always the dean of Windsor; the principal king of arms, called garter, whose chief business is to manage and marshal their solemnities at their yearly feasts and installations, lastly the usher of the garter, who is also the usher of the black rod.

KNIGHTS' HOSPITALLERS, were an order of knights that had their names from an hospital erected at Jerusalem, for the use of the pilgrims coming to the holy land, and dedicated to St. John the baptist. Being driven out of the, holy land they retired to Rhodes, from whence also they were compelled to fly, and take up their abode at Malta, where they lately resided, (prior to the capture of that island by the French) and are therefore called knights of Malta.

KNIGHT MARSHAL, an officer of the king's house, having jurisdiction and cognizance of transgressions within the king's house, and verge of it; as also of contracts made within the same house, whereto one of the house is is a party.

KNIGHT SERVICE, a tenure, where several lands were held of the king, which draw after it homage and service in war, escuage, ward, marriage, &c. but is taken away by statute 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

KNIGHTS OF THE SHIRE, were so called, because antiently they were to be real knights; and still the form of the writ rum, that they be knights girt with the sword. But now by several statutes, notable esquires may be chosen; and their qualification is to be determined according to the value of the estate, which is not to be less than 6001. a year. See Election.

. KNIGHTS TEMPLARS, an order of knighthood instituted by pope Gelesius, in 1118, and so called, because they dwelt in a part of the building belonging to the temple at Jerusalem, not far from the sepulchre of our Lord. But this order is long since abolished.

KNIGHTS OF THE THISTLE AND ST. PATRICK. See Precedency.

L

ABEL, is a narrow strip of paper or parchment, affixed to a deed or writing to hold the seal belonging to it. Any paper annexed by way of addition or explication to any will or testament, is also called a label or codicil.

LABOURERS. See Master and Servant.

LACHES, signifies slackness or negligence; as when we say, there is a lackes of entry, it means the same as to say, there is lack of entry.

LAGAN, at first was that right which the chief lord of the fee had to take goods, which were cast on shore by the violence of the sea; but afterwards it signified a right, which any one had to goods which were shipwrecked and floating in the sea. See Flotsam.

LAMPS. None but British oil shall be used for lamps in private houses, under the penalty of 40s. 8 Anne, c. 9.

The wilfully breaking or extinguishing any lamp, incurs the penalty of 20s. for each lamp or light destroyed or extinguished. If G. 3. c. 49.

LAND, in a general and legal signification, comprehends any ground, soil, or earth; as meadows, pastures, woods, moors, waters, march, furse and heath: it judies also messuages, (that is bouses), tofts, (that is, places where houses once stood), mills, eastles, and other buildings; for in conveying the land, the buildings pass with it. I Inst. 4.

LAND-BOC, a charter or deed whereby lands or tenements were beld.

LAND CARRIAGE, sutward, all foreign goods sent by land carriage from one part of this kingdom to another, must be accompanied with cortificates under the band of the collector, customer, and comperciter of the part from whence they are sent, otherwise any officer of the customs may stop them till due proof be made that the duties have been paid. 6 G. 1. c. 31.

LAND-CHEAP, an action quasiomory fine, paid either in cattle or money at every alienation of land lying in some particular manor, or the liberty of some borough.

LANDLORD. See Distress, Ejectment, Lease, Ront, Tenant.

LAND-TAX, a tax imposed on land and personal property, by statutes annually passed for that purpose. This and the mait-tax are considered as annual taxes imposed on the subject.

The assessment or valuation of estates, made in 1692, though far from a perfect one, had this effect, that a supply of half a million sterling was equal to is. in the pound, of the value of the estates given in. And according to this valuation, from the year 1698 to the present time, the land-tax has continued an anomal charge upon the subject, above half the time at 4s. in the pound; sometimes at 8s. sometimes at 8s. twice at is, but without any total interminion. The method of raising it, is by charging a particular sum on each county, according to the valuation in 1692: and this sum is assessed upon individuals by commissioners appointed in the act.

By the 58 Geo. 3. c. 60. The land-tax is made perpetual, subject however to redemption or purchase, either by the owner of the land, or on his default by any other persons disposed to purchase. The money so raised is applied to reduce the national debt. Other statutes have since been passed for promoting the beneficial operation of that act, as the 42 G. 3. c. 16. 45 G. 3. c. 77. 46 G. 3. c. 183. 50 G. 8. c. 56. and 58 G. 8. c. 60. the previsions whereof will not admit of analysis in this work. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 143. persons forging any contract, assignment, certificate, receipt, or uttested copy of a certificate relative to the redemption or onle of the land-tax; and also persons knowingly uttering any such forged instrument, are respectively declared to be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy, and shall suffer death accordingly. s. 6.

LAND-TENANT, he who actually pessence the land, or hath it in manual occupation.

LAPSE, the omission of a patron to present to a church, within six months after voidable; by which neglect, title is given to the ordinary to collate to such church. And, in such case, the patronage devolves from the patron to the bishop, from the bishop to the archbishop, and from the archbishop to the king.

A donative doth not go in lapse; but the ordinary may compel the patron by ecclesiastical censures to fill up the vacancy. But if the donative have been augmented by the governors of queen Amne's bounty, it will lapse in like manner as presentative livings.

LAPSED LEGACY, is where the legatee dies before the testator; or where a legacy is given upon a future contingency, and the legatee dies before the contingency happens. As if a legacy be given to a person when he attains the age of twenty-one years, and the legatee dies before that age; in this case, the legacy is a lost or lapsed legacy, and shall sink into the residuum of the personal estate. 2 Black. 618. See Legacy.

LARCENY, is the felonloss and fraudulent taking away of the personal goods of another; which goods, if they are above the value of 12d. it is called grand larceny; if of that value or under, it is petit larceny; which two species are distinguished in their punishment, but not otherwise. 4 Black. 229.

The mind only makes the taking of another's goods to be felony, or a bare trespass only; but as the variety of circumstances is so great, and the complications thereof so mingled, it is impossible to prescribe all the circumstances evidencing a felonious intent, or the contrary: it must therefore be left to the due and attentive consideration of the judge and jury, wherein the best rule is, in doubtful matters, rather to incline to acquittal, than conviction. But in general it may be observed, that the ordinary discovery of a felonious intent, is, if the party do it secretly, or, being charged with the goods, deny it. 1 H. H. 509.

As all felony includes trespass, so every indictment must have the words feloniously took, as well as carried away; whence it follows, that if the party be guilty of no trespass in taking the goods, he cannot be guilty of felony in carrying them away. 1 Haw. 89.

With respect to what shall be considered a sufficient carrying away, to constitute the offence of larceny; it seems that any the least removing of the thing taken, from the place where it was before, is sufficient for this purpose, though it be not quite carried off. I Haw. 93.

As grand larceny is a felonious and fraudulent taking of the mere personal goods of another above the value of 12d. so it is petit lar-veny, where the thing stolen is but of the value of 12d. or under. In the several other particulars abovementioned, petit larceny agrees with grand larceny. 1 Haw. 95.

In petit larceny there can be no accessaries either before or after.

1 H. H. 530.

1. Larceny from the person. If larceny from the person be done privily without his knowledge, by picking of pockets or otherwise, it is excluded from the benefit of clergy by 8 Eliz. c. 4. provided the thing stolen be above the value of 12d. 2 H. H. 336.

But if done openly and avowedly before his face, it is within the benefit of clergy. 1 Haw. 97.

- 2. Larceny from the house. Every person who shall be convicted of the feloniously taking away in the day-time, any money or goods of the value of 5s. in any dwelling-house, or out-house thereunto belonging, and used to and with the same, though no person be therein, shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy.—39 Eliz. c. 15.
- 8. Receiving stolen goods. Any person who shall buy or receive any stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen; or shall receive, harbour, or conceal any feloms or thieves, knowing them to be so, shall be deemed accessary to the felony; and being convicted on the testimony of one witness, shall suffer death as a felon convict. But he shall be entitled to his clergy. 5 Anne, c. 31.

Any person convicted of receiving or buying stolen goods, knowing them to stolen, may be transported for fourteen years. 4 Geo. 1. c. 11.

Where the principal felon is found guilty to the value of 10d. that is, of prit larceny only, the receiver, knowing the goods to have been stolen, cannot be transported for fourteen years, and ought not to have been put upon his trial. For the acts which make receivers of stolen goods knowingly, accessaries to the felonies, mustice be understood to make them accessaries in such cases only, where, by law an accessary may be; and there can be no accessary to petitiarceny. Fost. 74.

Every person who shall apprehend any one guilty of breaking open houses in a felonious manner; or of privately and feloniously stealing, goods, wares, or merchandises, of the value of 5s. in any shop, warehouse, coach-house, or stable, though it be not broken open, and though no person be therein to be put in fear, and shall prosecute him to conviction, shall have a certificate without fee, under the hand of the judge, certifying such conviction, and within what parish or place the felony was committed, and also that such felon was discovered and taken, or discovered or taken, by the person se discovering or apprehending; and if any dispute arise between several persons so discovering or apprehending, the judge shall appoint the certificate into so many shares, to be divided among the persons concerned, as to him shall seem just and reasonable. Leach's Crow. Law. 307. See Burglary.

LAST, in the marshes of East Kent, signifies a court held by twenty-four jurnes, and summoned by the two bailiffs thereof, whereib they make orders, impose and levy taxes, penalties, &c. for the preservation of the said marshes.

LAST HEIR, he to whom lands come by escheat for want of lawful heirs, that is, the lord of whom they held, in some cases, but in others, the king.

LATH, LATHE, or LETH, a large division of a county, sometimes containing three or more bundreds or wapentakes.

LATHREVE, an officer who formerly had authority over the lath or lathe.

LATIN, formerly all law proceedings were in Latin, but by stat. 4 & 6 Geo. S. c. 26 and 14. all records and proceedings shall be in English.

LATITAT, a writ, wherehy all seen in personal actions are called originally to the king's hearb. F. N. B. 78.

A latitude may be considered either as the commencement of the action, or only as a process to bring the defendant into court, at the election of the plaintiff. Bul. N. P. 151.

. If it be stated as the commencement of the action to avoid a tender, the defendant may deny that the plaintiff had any cause of action at the time of suing it out. 1 Wile. 141.

Or if it be replied to a plea, of the statute of limitations, the defound, in order to maintain his plea, may aver the real time of suing it out, in opposition to the test. 2 Burr. 950. See Impey's B. R. und C. B. Practice.

.LAW, in its most comprehensive sense, signifies a rule of action, whether animate or inanimate, rational or irrational. And it is a rule of action, which is prescribed by some superior, and which the inferior is bound to obey. I Black. 38.

LAW OF ENGLAND. The law of England consists of three parts, viz. 1. The common law. 2. Statutes or acts of parliament. 3. Particular customs.

The common the is derived from the English, Saxone, and Dates; and it is so called, from comprising general customs well known and observed throughout the nation; and is distinguished from written or statute law, as being of that astiquity that its origin cannot be easily traced. Customs being only matter of fact, and existing only in the memory of the people, and is neither made by wharter or parliament: . whose origin is therefore known, these being matters of record.

- 2. The statutes or acts of parliament. These are laws adapted by the legislature to particular exigencies, and prescribing regulations, for all the different varieties of civil intercourse. These statutes are in force as soon as enacted; and to these the people at large by their representatives are parties, and are bound to yield obedience to them.
- 3. Particular customs, which are peculiar to certain places, and which are observed as part of the common law, which is composed of these general and local customs, of principles and maxims, and; certain particular laws; and the whole are collectively founded upon the laws of nature, of nations, and of religion.

These laws extend, more or less particularly, to all part of the. British empire; their objects are the safety and preservation of the persons and properties of individuals, from civil injuries and criminal. violence, and promoting that general peace and harmony, upon which depend all the comferts and advantages of society. 1 Black. Com.

LAW OF ARMS. See Court of Chivalry.

LAW DAY, was properly any day in open court, and commonly used for the more solemn courts of a county or hundred.

LAW OF MARQUE, is where those are driven to make use of this law, and taking the shipping or goods of that people of whom they have received wrong, and cannot get ordinary justice, when they can find them within their own bounds or precincts. See Letters of Marque.

LAW OF NATIONS, is a system of rules deducible by natural reason from the immutable principles of natural justice, and established by universal consent amongst the civilized inhabitants of the world, in order to decide all disputes, and to insure the observance of justice and good faith, in that intercourse which must. frequently, occur between them, and the individuals belonging to each; or they may depend upon mutual compacts, treaties, leagues, and agreements between the separate, free, and independent communities.

In the construction of these principles, there is no judge to resort to but the general law of nature and of reason, being the only law with which the contracting parties are all equally conversant, and to which they are all equally amenable.

Laws have properly their effect only in the country where and for which they they have been enacted. However, 1. Those which relate to the state, and to the personal condition of the subjects, are acknowledged in foreign countries. 2. A foreigner, who is plaintiff.

against a subject, must abide by the decision of the law of the comptry in which he pleads. 3. When the validity of an act done is a foreign country is in question, it ought to be decided by the laws of that foreign country. 4. Sometimes the parties agree to the question being determined by particular laws of a foreign country. 5. A foreigness, sometimes obtain the privilege of having their disputes.
with each other settled by the laws of their own country.

LAW PROCEEDINGS, of all kinds, are to be in the English linguage, except hoown abbreviations, and technical terms. 6 Geo. 2. c. 14.

LAW SPIRITUAL, is the societisstical law, allowed by our law, where it is not against the common law, nor against the statutes and customs of the realm. And regularly, according to such ecclesiastical laws, the ordinary and other ecclesiastical judges, proceed in charge within their cognizance. Co. Lil. 344.

LEAD MINES. See Mines.

LEASE, is a conveyance of lands or tenements, in consideration of rent or other annual recompense made for life, for years, or at will, but always for a less time than the interest of the lessor in the premises; for if it were of the whole interest, it would be more properly an assignment.

In all leases there must be a lessor and lessee. He that domines or lets to farm, in the lessor; and he water whom it is demised or let, in the lessee. Recod. b. 2. c. 3.

A lease may either be made in writing or by word of month, the former of which is the most usual; but by the statute of frauds, 29 Car. 2. c. 3. all leases of lands, except leases not exceeding three years, must be made in writing, and signed by the parties themselves, or their agents duly authorized, otherwise they will operate only as leases at will.

If a loase be but for haif a year, or a quarter, or less time, the lessee is respected as a trush for years; a year being the shortest term of which the law in this case takes notice. Lis. s. 58.

To constitute a good lease, there must be a lessor not restrained from making such lease, a lease capable of receiving it, and the interest demined must be a decisionable interest, and he sufficiently and properly described. If it his for years, it must have a certain commencement and determination, it is to have all the small coremoties, as sealing, delivery, &c. and there must be an acceptance of the thing demised. I last. 46. See Dead.

LEASE AND RELEASE, a conveyance of the fee simple, right or interest, in lands, or tenements, which in law amounts to a feedment. 1-Inst. 207.

It was invented to supply the place of livery of scisin, and is thus contrived; a lease, or rather burgain and sale, upon some pecuniary consideration, for one year, is made by the tenant of the freehold to the lease or purchaser, which verts in the said purchaser the use of the term for a year; and then the statute of uses $7 M. S. c. 10. immediately transfers the user into posterion. He therefore being thus in presention, is employe of receiving a release of the freehold and reversion; and accordingly, the next day, a release is granted to him. 2 Black. 330.

By the 20 Geo. 2. c. 21. guardians of infants, lanatics, and femes coverts, in order to the surrender and renoval of LEASES, may apply to the court of chancery in a summary way; and by the order of that court, they may surrender and renew such leases, as the court; shall direct, the new leases to be the same uses as the former ones.

LEATHER:—by several statutes, regulations are made for the tanning and manufacturing of leather, to which on account of their length' we refer the reader, vis. 27 H. S. c. 14. 18 Elis. c. 9. 20 Car. 2. c. 5. 1 Jac. 1. c. 38. 27 Geo. 3. c. 15. and 28 Geo. 3. c. 37. 52 Geo. 3. c. 18.

EECTURERS, in wany churches in London and other places, are appointed as amistants to the rectors or vicars. They are assumy chosen by the vestry, or principal infrabitants, and are generally the afternoon preachers.

LERT. See Court Last.

LHGACY, is bequest of a sum of money, or any personal effects of a testator, and these are to be paid by Me representatives, after all the debts of the deceased are discharged as far as the assets will exceed.

All the goods and chattels of the deceased, are by law vertes in the representative, who is bound to see whether there be left a sufficient foul to pay the debts of the textstor, which if it should prove inadequate, the pecuniary logaries must proportionably ubate; a special legacy bowever; is not to about affect there be insufficient without it.

If the legatee die before the testator, such will in general betermed a lapsed legacy, and full into the general fund; where however from the general import of the will, it can be collected that the testator intended such a vessel legacy, it will in such case, go to the representative of the deceased legace.

If a bequest be made to a person, if or when, he attain a certain age, the legacy will be lapsed, if he die before he attain that age; but if such legacy may be made payable at that age, and the legace die before that age, such legacy will be vested in his representative.

If in the latter case, the testator devise interest to be paid in the mean time, it will nevertheless be a vested legacy.

Where a legacy is bequeathed over to another, in case the first legatee die under a certain age, or the like, the legacy will be payable, immediately on the death of the first legatee; and though such legacy be not bequeathed over, yet if it carry interest, the representative will become immediately estitled to it.

In case of a vested legacy due immediately, and charged on land, or money in the funds which yields an immediate profit, interest shall be payable from the death of the testator; but if it be charged on the personal estate only of the testator, which cannot be collected in, it will carry interest only from the end of the year, after the death of the testator. 5 Ves. Jun. 509.

If a bequest be for necessaries, and of small amount, the executor will be justified in advancing a part of the principal; but this should be done under very particular circumspection, as the executor may be compelled to pay the full legacy on the infunt's attaining his majority, without deducting the sum previously advanced.

When all the debts and partcular legacies are discharged, the residue or surplus must be paid to the residuary legatee, if any be so appointed in the will; but if there be none appointed or intended, it will go to the executor or next of kin.

When this residue does not go to the executor, it is to be distributed among the intestate's next of kin, according to the statute of distributions, except the same is otherwise disposable by particular customs, as those of London, York, &c. See Executor.

LEGEM FACERE, to make oath. Legem habere, to be enpable of giving evidence upon oath.

LEROY LE VEUT, by these words the royal assent is signified by the clerk of the parliament to public bills, and to a private bill his answer is sell foit comme il est desiré.

LE ROY S'AVISERA, by these words to a bill presented to the king by his parliament, are understood his absolute, but civil denial of that bill: and the bill thereby becomes wholly null.

LESSOR AND LESSEE. See Lease.

LETTER, a servant of the post-office is within the penalty of 5 Geo. 3. c. 25. which makes it a rapital felony to secrete a letter containing any bank-note, though he have not taken the oath required by 9 Anne, c. 10.

LETTER, threatening, all persons who shall knowingly send or deliver any letter or writing, with or without a name or names, threatening to accuse any person of any crime punishable by law, with death, transportation, pillory, or other infemous punishment, with a view or intent to extert or gain money, goods, wares, og merchandizes, from the person or persons so threatened to be accused, shall be deemed offenders against the law and the public peace; and the court before whom they shall be convicted, may order such offenders to be fined and imprisoned, or put in the pillory, or publicly whipped, or to be transported according to the laws made for the transportation of felone. 9 Geo. 1. c. 92. 27 Geo. 2. c. 15. 30 Geo. 2. c. 24. and further, by 52 Geo 3. c. 64. persons sending such threatening letters, with an intent to extort money or goods, shall be punished in the same manner as if they had actually obtained such money or goods by false protences. s. 1.

LETTERS ( Franking of ) see Post Office.

LETTER OF ATTORNEY, an instrument or deed whereby a person is authorized to act for another, either generally or in any specific transaction. A letter of attorney is in its nature revocable, and its revocation may also be either general, or special.

LETTERS CLOSE, are grants of the king, specially distingainted from letters patent, in that the letters close, being not of public concern, but directed to particular persons, are closed up and scaled.

LETTER OF CREDIT, is where a merchant or correspondent writes a letter to another, requesting him to credit the bearer with a tertain sum of money. Morob. Dict.

LETTER OF LICENSE, is a written permission granted to a person under embarramment, allowing him to conduct his affairs for a certain time without being melested. Such instrument will bind all the creditors by whom it is executed, and it generally contains certain etipulations to be observed by all parties.

LRTTERS OF MARQUE, are extraordinary commissions granted to captains or merchants for reprisals, in order to make a reparation for those damages they have sustained, or the goods they have been deprived of by strangers at sea.

These appear to be always joined to those of reprise for the reparation of a private injury; but under a declared war, the former only are granted. Lex Mercut.

By 41 Geo. 3. (a. k.) c. 76. the admiralty, at the request of the commissioners of customs or excise, may issue letters of marque to persons nothinated by the said commissioners, and prizes taken shall be divided as commissioners of customs and excise shall direct.

"LETTERS PATENT, writings scaled with the great seal of England, whereby a man is authorized to do or enjoy any thing, which otherwise of himself be could not do.

LEVANT AND COUCHANT, cattle that have been so long in unother man's ground, that they have lain down, and are arisen again to feed. 2 Lil. Ab. 617.

LEVARI FACIAS, a writ directed to the sheriff, for the levying a sum of money upon the lands and tesements of him that bath for-feited a recognizance.

LEVARI FACIAS DAMNA DE DISSEISITORIBUS, a writte directed to the sheriff, for the levying of dumages wherein the disseisor, hath formerly been condemned to the disseisee.

LEVARI FACIAS RESIDUUM DEBITI, a writ directed to the sheriff, for levying the remnant of a debt upon lands and tensments, or chattels of the debtor, that hath in part satisfied before.

LEVARI FACIAS, QUANDO VICE COMES RETUR-NAVIT QUOD NON HABUIT EMPTORES, a writ commanding the sheriff to sell the goods of the debtor, which he hath alreadytaken, (and returned that he could not sell them) and as much more of the debtor's goods as will satisfy the whole debt.

· LEVY, signifies to gather or collect.

LEWDNESS, is punishable not only with fine and imprisonment, but with all such infamous punishment as to the court in discretion shall seem proper. I Haw. 196.

LEX TERRE, the law and custom of the land, distinguished by this name from lex civilis.

LIBEL, a libel is defined a malicious defamation of any person, especially a magistrate, expressed either in printing or writing, or by signs, pictures, &c. tending either to blacken the memory of one who is doud, or the reputation of one who is alive, and thereby exposing him to public hatred, contempt, and ridicule. 2 Haw. 192.

With regard to libels in general, there are, as in many other cases, two remedies; one by indictment, or information; and the other by action. The former for a public offence; for as has been repeatedly remarked, every libel has a tendency to the breach of the peace, by provoking the person libelled to break it; which offence, we have seen, is the same is point of law, whether the matter contained be true or false; and therefore it is, that the defendant on an indictment for publishing a libel, is not allowed to alledge the truth of it by way of justification. But in the remedy by action on the case, which is to repair the party in damages for the injury done him, the defendant may, as for words spoken, justify the truth of the facts, and shew that the plaintiff has received no injury at all. The chief excellence therefore of a civil action for a libel, consists in this, that it not only affords a reparation for the injury sustained, but it is a full viadication of the innocence of the person traduced. 3 Black. 125.

By 32 ties. 3. c. 60. on the trial of an indictment for a libel, the jury may give a general verdict, upon the whole matter put in issue, and shall not be required by the court to find the described guilty, merely on the proof of the publication, and the sense ascribed to it, in the information. But the court shall give their opinion and directions in the matter in issue, as in other criminal cases. The jury may also find a special verdict, and the defendant may move in arrest of judgment as before the passing of this act.

LIBEL, in the ecclesiastical court, is the declaration or charge drawn up in writing, on the part, of the plaintiff; to which the defendant is obliged to answer.

LIBERATE, a writ issuing of chancery, to the treasurer, chamberlain, or barons of the exchequer, or clerk of the hannper, &c. for the payment of any annual pension or other sums granted under the great seal.

Or sometimes to the sheriff for the delivery of any lands or goods taken upon forfeits of recognizance: it also lies to a gaoler, for the delivery of a prisoner, that bath put in bail for his appearance.

LIBERAM LEGEM, in the antient trial by battel, if either party became recreant, or yielded and submitted, he was condemned to lose his liberam legem, that is, to become infamous, and not to be accounted liber et legalis home, and never after to be put upon a jury, or admitted as a witness in any cause. 3 Black, 340.

LIBERTATIBUS ALLOCANDIS, a writ lying for a citizen, or burgess of any city or borough, who contrary to the liberties of the city or town whereof he is, is impleaded before the king's justices, or justices errant, or justices of the forest, &c. to have his privilege allowed. F. N. B. 229.

LIBERTATIBUS ERIGENDIS IN ITINERE, a writ whereby the king commands the justice in eyre, to admit of an attorney, for the defence of another man's liberty before them.

LIBERTIES AND FRANCHISES, are synonimous terms, and are defined a royal privilege, or branch of the king's prerogative, subsisting in the hands of a subject. 2 Black. 37.

LIBERTY, is a privilege held by grant or prescription, by which men enjoy some benefit beyond the ordinary subject; but in a more general signification, it is said to be, a power of doing whatever the law permits.

The absolute rights of every Englishman (which taken in a political and extensive sense, are usually called their liberties) as they are founded on nature and reason, so they are coeval with our form of government, though subject at times to factuate and change, their establishment excellent as it is, being still human. At some times we have seen them depressed by overbearing and tyranuical princes; at others, so luxuriant as to bend even to anarchy, which is a worse state than tyranny itself. But the vigour of our free constitution, bath always delivered the nation from these embarrassments: and their fundamental articles have been from time to time asserted in parliament, as often as they were thought in danger. See Magna Charta, Bill of Rights, and Act of Bettlement.

LIBRARIES (Parochial).—By the 7 Anne, c. 14. in every parish where a library shall be erected, it shall be preserved for the uses to which it is given. Incumbents before they use the library, shall give security to preserve it; if any book be taken away they may maintain trover and recover treble damages to the use of the library. The ordinary may inspect and amend the library; the incumbent within six months after admission, shall make and sign a catalogue of the books, to be delivered to the ordinary, and registered.

'Upon the death or removal of any incumbent, the churchwardens shall lock up the library till a new minister is appointed.

The vestry or other meeting may be held in such libraries if usual; the incumbent shall keep an account of the benefactions and books; and the ordinary and donors may make orders concerning the libraries. Books shall not be alienable without consent of the ordinary. If any book be lost, a justice of peace may grant a warrant to search for it; and if found it shall be restored to the library; but this act does not extend to the library in the parish of Ryagate.

LIBRATA TERRÆ, contains four oxgangs of land, and every oxgang, 13 acres.

LICENSE to marry: see MARRIAGE.

LIEN, a law term having two significations; viz. personal tien, such as bond, covenant, or contract; and real tien, a judgment or statute, recognizance, which oblige and affect the land.

LIEU, instead or in place of another thing.

LIEUTENANT, he who occupies the king's or any other person's place, or represents his person, as the lieutenant of Ireland.

LIFE, the life of every man is under the protection of the law. Wood's Inst. 11.

LIFE ESTATES, or estates for life, are of two kinds; either such as are created by the act of the parties; or such as are created by the operation of law, as estates by courtesy or dower. 2 Black. 190.

Estates for life, created by deed or grant, are, where a lease is made of lands or tenements to a man, to hold for the term of his own life, or for that of another person, or for more lives than one; in any of which cases, he is called tenant for life: only when he holds the estate by the life of another, he is usually termed tenant pur autor vie, for another's life.

Estates for life, may be created not only by the express terms before mentioned, but also by a general grant, without defining or limiting any specific estate. 2 Black. 121.

If such persons, for whose life any estate shall be granted, shall absent themselves seven years, and no proof made of the lives of such persons; in any action commenced for the recovery of such tenements by the lessors or reversioners, the persons, upon whose lives such estate depended, shall be accounted as dead; and the judges shall direct the jury to give their verdict, as if the person absenting himself were dead. 19 Car. 2. c. 6.

LIFE RENT, is a rent which a man receives either for term of life, or for sustentation of life.

LIGBANCE, is such duty or fealty, as no man may owe or bear to more than one lord: and therefore it is chiefly used for that duty and allegiance, which every good subject owes to his leige lord the king. Co. Lit. 129.

LIGHTS, stopping lights of any house is a nuisance, for which an action will lie, if the house be an antient house, and the lights antient lights: but stopping a prospect is not, being only matter of delight, not of necessity; and a person may have either an assize of nuisance against the persons erecting any such nuisance, or he may stand on his own ground and abate it. 2 Salk. 247.

LIMITATION, a certain time prescribed by statute, within which an action must be brought. The time of limitation is two fold; first in write, by divers acts of parliament; secondly to make a title to any inheritance, and that is by the common law. Co. Lit. 114, 115.

1. Limitation on penal statutes. All actions, suits, bills, indictments, or informations, which shall be brought for any forfeiture upon any statute penal, made or to be made, whereby the forfeiture is of shall be limited to the queen, her heirs or successors only, shall be brought within two years after the offence committed, and not after two years; and all actions, suits, bills, or informations, which shall be brought for any forfeiture upon any penal statute, made or to be made, except the statutes of tillage, the benefit and suit whereof is or shall be by the said statute limited to the quesu, her heirs or successors, and to any other that shall prosecute in that behalf, shall be brought by any person that may lawfully sue for the same, within one year next after the offence committed; and in default of such pursuit, that then the same shall be brought for the quesa's majesty, her heirs or successors, any time within the two years, after that year is ended: and it is provided, that where a shorter time is limited by any penal statute, the prosecution must be within that time. S1 Eliz. c. 5.

2. Limitation in regard to personal actions of assault and battery, and actions arising upon contract and trespass.

All actions of trespass, of assault, battery, wounding, imprisonment, or any of them, shall be commenced and sued within four years next after the cause of such actions or suits, and not after. 21 Jac. 1. c. 16.

3. Limitation of actions of account, &c. All actions of trespans quare clausum fregit, all actions of trespans, detinue, trover, and replevin, all actions of account, and upon the case, (other than such accounts as concern the trade of merchandize, between merchant and merchant) all actions of debt grounded upon any lending, or contract without specialty, (that is, not being by deed or under seal) all actions of debt for arrewages of rent, and all actions of assault, menace, battery, wounding, and imprisonment, shall be commenced within the time and limitation as followeth, and not after; that is to say, the said actions upon the case, (other than for slander) and the said actions for account, and the said actions for trespans, debt, detinue, and replevin, and the said action for trespans quare clausum fregit, within six years, after the cause of such action. 21 Jac. c. 16.

Exception in relation to infants. It hath been holden, that if an infant during his infancy, by his guardian bring an action, the defendant cannot plead the statute of limitation; although the cause of action accrued six years before, and the words of the statute are, that after his coming of age, &c.

Exception in relation to merchants accounts. As to this exception, it bath been matter of much controversy, whether it extends to all actions and accounts relating to merchants and merchandize, or to actions of account open and current only. But it is now settled, that accounts open and current only are within the statute; and that therefore, if an account be stated and settled between merchant and merchant, and a sum certain agreed to be due to one of them, if in such case, he to whom the money is due, do not bring his action within the limited time he is harred by the statute. 2 Mod. 312.

Exception in relation to persons beyond sea; it seems to have been agreed, that the exception as to persons being beyond sea, extends only where the creditors or plaintiffs are so absent, and not to debtors or defendants, because the first only are mentioned in the statute; and this construction has the rather prevailed, because it was reputed the creditor's folly, that he did not file an original, and outlaw the debtor, which would have prevented the bar of the statutes.

Executor or administrator. If A receive money belonging to a person who afterwards died intestate, and to whom B takes out administration, and brings an action against A, to which he pleads the statute of limitations, and the plaintiff replies, and shews that administration was committed to him such a year, which was within six years, though six years are expired since the receipt of the momey, yet not being so since the administration committed, the action is not barred by the statute. 1 Salk. 421.

3. Where a dobt barred by the statute shall be revived. Any acceledgment of the existence of the debt, however slight, will take it out or the and the limitation will then run from that time: and where an expression is any it shall be left to the consideration of the jury, whether it amounts or not, knowledgment. 2 Term. Rep. 760.

It is clearly agreed, that if after the six years, the debtor acknowledge the debt, and promise payment thereof, that this revives it, and brings it out of the statute: as if a debtor, by promissory note, or simple contract, promise within six years of the action brought, that he will pay the debt; though this was barred by the statute, yet it is revived by the promise; for as the note itself was at first but an evidence of the debt, so that being barred the acknowledgment and promise is a new evidence of the debt, and being proved, will maintain an assumpsit for recovery of it. I Salk. 28.

LITERARY PROPERTY. Authors have not by the common law, the sole and exclusive copy-right remaining in themselves or their assigns in perpetuity, after having printed and published their compositions. But by stat. 8 Anne, c. 19. it is secured to them for fourteen years from the day of publishing; and after the end of fourteen years, the sole right of printing or disposing of copies shall return to the authors, if then living, for other fourteen years. Bur. 2409. See Books.

When an author transfers all his right or interest in a publication ar 2 to another, and happens to survive the first fourteen years, the second term will result to his assignee, and not to himself.

LO

LITIGIOUS, in a legal sense, is where a church is void, and two prescutations are offered to the bishop upon the same avoidance; in which case the church is said to become litigious; and if nothing further is done by either party, the bishop may suspend the admission of either of the clerks, and suffer a lapse to incur. 8 Black: 946.

LIVERY OF SEISIN, a delivery of possession of lands, tenements, or other corporeal thing (for of things incorporeal no livery of selsin may be) to one that has right, or a probability of right thereunto. See Estate and Fee Simple.

LIVERY AND OUSTER LE MAINE, is where by inquest before the escheator, it was found that nothing was held of the king: then he was immediately commanded by writ, to put from his bands, the lands taken into the king's hands.

LIVERYMEN OF LONDON, are chosen out of the freemen as assistants to the master and wardens of the several companies in matters of council, and for their better internal regulations. If may liveryman refuse to take upon him the office, the lord mayor and aldermen may fine him in a certain sum, and bring an action of debt for the same. I Mod. Rep. 10.

LOCAL ACTION, is an action, which may be laid in any county at the plaintiff's discretion. In local actions, where possession of land is to be recovered, or damages for an actual trespass, or for waste or the like, affecting land, the plaintiff must lay his declaration, or declare his injury to have happened in the very county and place that it really did happens but in tramitory actions, for injuries that may happen any where, as debt, detinue, slander, and the like, the plaintiff may declare in what county he pleases, and then the trial must be in that county in which the declaration is laid; though if the defendant will make affidavit that the cause of action, if any, arose not in that, but in another county, the court will oblige the plaintiff to declare in the proper county. 3 Black. 294.

LOCKMAN, (in the Isle of Man,) is an officer to execute the orders of the governor or deemsters, much like our under-sheriff.

LONDON. See Custom of London.

LORD'S DAY, all persons not having a reasonable excuse, shall resort to their parish-church or chapel (or some congregation of religious worship allowed by the toleration act) on every Sunday, on pain of punishment by the censures of the church, and of forfeiting one shilling to the poor for every offence. To be levied by the churchwardens by distress, by warrant of one justice.

The hundred shall not be answerable for any robbery committed on the lord's day.

'. No person upon the lord's day shall serve or execute any writ, process, warrant, order, judgment, or decree (except in cases of treason, felony, or breach of the peace), but the service thereof shall be void.

LORD HIGH ADMIRAL. See Admiral.

LORD OF A MANOR. See Copyhold.

LORD IN GROSS, he who is lord having no manor, as the king in respect of his crown.

LOTTERIES, are declared to be public nuisances; 5 Geo. 1. c. 9. but for the public service of the government, lotteries are frequently established by particular statutes, and managed by special officers and persons appointed.

By the statute 10 and 11 W.S. c. 17. all pretended lotteries are declared to be public nuisances, and all grants or licenses for the same to be contrary to law. By the 22 Geo. 3. c. 47. no one shall ' keep an office for the sale of tickets in the public lottery, without a license from the stamp-office, under a penalty of 100%. And if any person shall self the chance or share of a ticket for less time than the whole time of drawing, or shall insure for or against the drawing of any ticket, or shall receive any money to return money or goods upon any contingency depending upon the tickets in the lottery, he shall forfeit 50f. And by the 27 Geo. 3. c. 1. persons guilty of any of the preceding offences, may also be proceeded against as rogues and vagahonds, under the vagrant act; but if they are convicted as vagabonds, they are discharged from the pecuniary penalties. And no person shall sell any share less than a sixteenth, or without a stamp, under a penalty of 501. But the owner of a whole ticket may insure his ticket with a licensed lottery-office keeper, so as toindemnify himself, and receive its value only. The insurance must be made for the whole remaining time of the drawing of the lottery, and in the manner prescribed by the act. The penalties under these statutes must be sued for within six months in the courts at Westminster, and the defendant may be held to bail to the amount of 600%.

By the 42 Geo. 3. c. 119. all lotteries, called little goes, are declared to be public nuisances; and if any one shall keep an office or place to exercise or expose to be played any such lottery, or any lottery whatever not sufficient by parliament, or shall knowingly suffer it to be exercised or played at in his house, he shall forfeit 500% and be deemed a rogue and vagabond. And if any person shall promise to pay any money or goods on any contingency relative to such lottery, or publish any proposal respecting it, he shall forfeit 1001.

If any editor of a newspaper, or other person, advertises any illegal scheme of gaming in the lottery, he is subject to a penalty of 501.

LUNATIC. See Idegt.

M

AGISTRATE, a contemptuous carriage and behaviour to a magistrate is a breach of the good behaviour, and he to whom such afront is offered may bind him to the good behaviour, or if he have no sureties, commit him till he find some. If any magistrate, or minister of justice, is slain in execution of his office, or in keeping of the peace, it is murder, for the contempt of the king and of his laws. See JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

MAGNA CHARTA. See CHARTA MAGNA.

MAIHEM, MAYHEM or MAIM, signifies a corporcal wound or burt, by which a man loseth the use of any member.

By the old common law, castration was punished with death, and other members with the loss of member for member; but of latter days, maihem was punishable only by ins and imprisonment,—2 Inst. 62.

If a man attack another with an intent to marder him, and he does not murder the man, but only main him, the offence is nevertheless within the statute 28 & 23 Car. S. c. 1. usually called the Coventry Act. 1 How. 118.

MAINOUR, denotes the thing which the thief takes away or steals: as to be taken with the mainour, is to be taken with the thing stolen about him.

MAINPERNABLE, bailable.

MAINPERNORS, those persons to whom a man is delivered out of custody or prison, and they become surety for him, either for appearance or satisfaction.

MAINPRISE, the taking or receiving a man into friendly cuttody, that otherwise is or might be committed to prison, upon security given for his forth coming at the day assigned. See Ball Bond.

MAINTENANCE, is the unlawful taking in hand, or upholding of a came or person: this offence bears a recombiance to bureatry, being a person's intermeddling in the suit of another, by maintaining or assisting him with money, or otherwise, to prosecute or defend it. A man may maintain the suit of his near kinsman, servant, or poor neighbour, out of charity or companion, without being guilty of maintenance.

By the common law, persons guilty of maintenance, may be prosecuted by indictment, and be fined and imprisoned, or be compelled to make antisfaction by action, &c. and a court of record may committe man for an act of maintenance done in the face of the court. I fast. 368.

MAJORITY. The only method of determining the acts of many is by a majority: the major part of members of parliament enact laws, and the majority of electors choose members of parliament. Stud. Comp. 25.

MALEFRASANCE, an evil act or transgression.

MALICE, a formed design of doing mischief to another. Malice is of two kinds; express or implied. Malice express is, where one with a sedate deliberate mind, doth kill another; which formed design is evidenced by external circumstances, discovering that inward intention; as lying in wait, antecedent menaces, former gradges, and concerted schemes to do him some bodily harm. Malice implied is various; as where one voluntarily kills another without any provecation, or where one wilfully poisons another; in such like cases, the law implies malice, though no particular enuity can be proved. A Black, 198. See Homicids.

MALT. See Escise.

MALUM IN SE, an offence is said to be malom in es, or unlawful in itself, when it is either against the law of nature, or so ar against the public good, as to be indictable at common law2 Haw. 889.

MAN Isle of, an island of the coast of Cumberland, Westmere-land, and Lancashire, in the channel which parts Ireland from England. This island was purchased of the last preprietor, the duke of Athol, under authority of stat. 5 Geo. 3. c. 26. whereby the whole island, and all its dependencies (except the landed property of the Athol family, their manerial rights and emoluments, and the patronage of the bishapric and other occlusiastical benefices) are unalienably vested in the crown, and subjected to the regulations of the British excise and customs. 1 Black. 165.

MANDAMUS, is a writ issuing in the king's name out of the court of king's bench, and directed to any person, corporation, or inferior court of judicature, commanding to some particular thing therein specified, as appertuining to their office and daty.

A writ of mandamus is an high prerogative writ, of a most extensive remedial nature, and may be issued in some cases, where the injured party has also another more tealous method of redress, as in the case of admission or restitution to an office; but it issues in all cases, where the party hath a right to have any thing done, and hath no other specific means of compelling its performance.—

3 Black. 100.

And this general jurisdiction and superintendency of the king's-bench over all inferior courts to restrain them within their bounds, and to compel them to execute their jurisdiction, whether such jurisdiction arises from a modern charter, subsists by custom, or is created by act of parliament, yet being in subsidium justicle, has of late been exercised in a variety of instances.

Mandamus was also a writ that lay after the year and a day, (where in the mean time the writ called dism clausit extremum had not been sent out) to the escheator, commanding him to inquire of what lands holden by knight service the tenant died seised, &c. F. N. B. 561.

Mandamus, was also a writ to charge the sheriff, to take into the king's hands all the lands and tenements of the king's widow, who, against her outh formerly given, marries without the king's consent. Rog. 295.

MANDATE, a commandment judicial of the king, or his justices, to have any thing done for dispatch of justice.

MANOR, was a district of ground, held by iords or great personages, who kept in their own hands, so much land as was necessary for the use of their families, which were called terræ dominicales, or demesse lands, being occupied by the lord, or dominus manerii, and his servants. The other lands they distributed among their tenants, which the tenants held under divers service. The residue of the manor being uncultivated, was termed the lord's waste, and served for common of pasture to the lord and his tenants. All manors existing at this day must have existed as early as king Edward the first. A Black, 90. See Court Baron.

MANSLAUGHTER. See Homicide.

MANSTEALING. See Kidnapping.

MANUCAPTIO, a writ that lies for a man who being takes upon suspicion of felony, and offering sufficient bail for his appearance, cannot be admitted thereto by the sheriff, or other having power to let to mainprise. F. N. B. 149.

MANUFACTURERS AND MANUFACTURES. Various regulations have from time to time been framed by the legislature for the greater security of our manufactures, and the preventing of tools. and artisans from being sent out of the country. As almost every branch of manufacture is regulated by its peculiar laws (which are too numerous and complex to admit of insertion here), we annex the following general provisions which are applicable to every class of manufactures and manufacturers.

To prevent the transporting and seducing our artists to settle abroad, the 5 Geo. S. c. 27. enacts, that all such persons as entice or seduce them shall be fined 100% and be imprisoned three months; and for the second offence shall be fined at discretion, and be imprisoned a year; and the artificers, so going into foreign countries, and not returning within six months after warning given them by the British ambamador where they reside, shall be deemed aliens, and forfelt all their lands and goods, and shall be incapable of any gift or legacy, and be deemed an alien, and out of the king's protection.-By statute 28 Geo. 2. c. 13. the seducers incur, for the first offence, in forfeituge of 5001, for each artificer contracted with to be sent abroad, and impringement for twelve months; and for the second, 1906L and are liable to two y---- imprisonment; and by the same atnume (see also by the 14 Geo. S. c. 71.) if any person exports any tools or stensils used in the silk, linen, cotton, or woollen manufactures, (except by 15 Geo. S. c.5. s. 9. stock cards not exceeding Me. per pair, and spinsers' cards not exceeding la. 6d. per pair, intended to be exported to North America) he forfeits the same and 400% and the captain of the ship, having knowledge thereof, 100% And if any captain of a king's ship, or officer of the customs, knowingly suffers such expertation, he forfeits 100% and his employment; and is for ever made incapable of bearing any public office: and every person collecting such tools or utensile, in order to export the the same, shall on conviction at the assizes, forfeit such tools and also 2004

By 21 Geo. 3. c. 3. if any person shall put on board any ship, not bound to any place in Great Britain or Ireland, or shall have in his custody, with intent to export, any engine, tool, or implement, used in the linea, cotton, woollen, or silk manufactures, he shall forfeit the same, and also the sum of 200% and shall be imprisoned twelve calendar months, and till the forfoiture is paid.

And every captain and custom-home officer who shall knowingly secreive the same, or take an entry of it, shall forfeit 200!.—Provided that nothing herein shall extend to the preventing of woolless cards or stock cards from being exported to America.

By 22 Geo. 3. c. 40. if any person shall entice or encourage any artificer employed in printing callicoes, cottons, muslims, or linear, to leave the kingdom, he shall forfeit 509!. and be imprisoned que year. And persons who export, or attempt to export, any engines or implements used in that manufacture, shall forfeit 500%. Captains of ships and custom-house officers conniving at these offences, forfeit 100% and become incapable of holding any office under the crown.

By 25 Geo. 3. c. 67. any person who entices or encourages an artificer in the iron or steel manufactures to leave the kingdom, shall forfeit 5001. and he imprisoned for one year. Persons who attempt to export the articles specified in the statute 26 Geo. 3. c. 89. shall forfeit 2001. and to be imprisoned one year. And captains and custom-house officers, conniving at the offence, are subject to the same penalty, and become incapable of exercising any public employment.

Finally, by the 52 Geo. 3. c. 130. Persons wilfully destroying any building or engine whatsoever used in manufacturing, shall, on being lawfully convicted thereof, be guilty of felony, without benefit of clergy, and shall suffer death as in cases of felony without benefit of clergy. sect. 1.

And it where passing this not, any person — parsons unlawfully, riotously, and tumultuously assembled together in disturbance or unpublic peace, shall demolish or pull down, or begin to demolish or pull down, any such erection and building or engine, or warehouse, such offender shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy, and shall suffer death accordingly. s. 2.

The value of, or damage done to manufactories and machinery therein may be recovered, as under 1 G. 1. c. 5. sect. 3.

But no person shall recover any damages by virtue of this act, unless he or they, by themselves or by their servants within two days after such damage or injury done, shall give notice thereof unto some of the inhabitants of some town, village, or hamlet, near unto the place where any such fact shall be committed, and shall within four days after such notice, give in his, her, or their examination upon oath, " or the examination upon oath of his, her, or their servant or servants, that had the care of his or their erections, buildings, engines, or machinery so destroyed or damaged, before any justice of the peace of the county, liberty, or division where such fact shall be committed, inhabiting within the said hundred where the said fact shall happen to be committed, or near unto the same, whether he or they do know the person or persons that committed such fact, or any of them; and if upon such examination it be confessed that he or they do know the person or persons that committed the said fact, or any of them, that then he or they so confessing shall be bound by recognizance to prosecute such offender or offenders by indictment or otherwise, according to the law of this realm: provided also, that no person who shall sustain any such damage shall be thereby enabled to sue or bring any action against any inhabitants of any hundred where such offence shall be committed, except the party or parties sustaining such damage shall commence his or their action or suit within one year next after such offence shall be committed: and the notice hereby required may and shall be given in Scotland to the sheriff or steward depute or substitute of the county or stewartry where such fact shall happen to be committed, in order that such measures may be taken as the law of Scotland prescribes in such cases. s. 4.

MANUMISSION, was the freeing a villain or slave from bondage: there were two kinds of manumission, one expressed, the other implied.

Manumission expressed, is when the lord makes a deed to his villain, to infranchise him by this manumitters.

Manumission implied, is when the lord makes an obligation for the payment of money to the bondman at a certain day, or sucs him, when he might enter without suit; or grants him an annuity; or leases lands to him by deed, for years, or for life, and such like. Cowel.

MARCHERS, or LORDS MARCHERS, those noblemen who lived on the marches of Wales or Scotland, who antiently had their private laws like petty kings, but which were all abolished, by statute 27 H. S. c. 26.

MARCHES, the bounds and limits between England and Wales, or Eugland and Scotland.

MARITAGIO AMISSO PER DEFALTAM, a writ for the tenant in frank marriage, to recover lands, &c. whereof he is deforced by another.

MARITAGIUM, is the right which the lord of the fee, had to dispose of the daughters of his vassals in marriage after their decease: Others say, it was that profit which might accrue to the lord by the marriage of one under age, who held his lands of him by knight's service.

MARITAGIUM HABERE, to have the free disposal of an heiress in marriage, a favour granted by the kings of England, while they had the custody of all wards or heirs in minority.

MARKET, the establishment of public marts or places of huying and selling, with the tolls thereunto belonging, is commerated as one of the king's prerogatives, and can only be set up by virtue of the king's grant, or by long and immemorial usage.

All sales and contracts, of any thing saleable in markets overt, shall not only be good as between the parties, but binding also upon all persons, having property therein.

In London, every shop in which goods are exposed publicly to sale, is market overt for such things only, as the owner professes totrade in: Though if the sale be in a warehouse, and not publicly in the shop, the property is not altered. But if goods are stolen from one, and sold out of the market overt, the property is not altered, and the owner may take them wherever he finds them. 5 Rep. 83.

If a man buy his own goods in a market, the contract shall not bind him, unless the property had been previously altered by a former sale.

MARK OF GOODS, is used to ascertain their property or quality, &c. and if one man shall use the mark of another, with intent to do him damage, upon injury proved, an action on the case will lie. 2 Cro. 471.

MARQUE. See LETTERS OF MARQUE.

MARQUIS or MORQUESS, a title of honour next above an earl, and next under a duke.

MARRIAGE, is not only the lawful conjunction of man and wife, but also the interest of bestowing a ward or a widow in marriage.

Taking marriage in the light of a civil contract, the law treats it at it does all other contracts: allowing it to be good and valid in all cases where the parties at the time of making it, were in the first place willing to contract; secondly, able to contract; and lastly, actually, did contract, in the proper forms and solemnities required by law. 1 Black. 435.

By several statutes, a penalty of 1001. is inflicted for marrying any persons without banns or license. But by 26 G. 2. c. 33. if any person shall solemnize matrimony without manus or license, obtained from some persons having authority to grant the same, or in any other place than a church or chapel where banns have been usually published, unless by special license from the archbishop of Canterbury, he shall be guilty of felony, and transported for four-teen years, and the marriage shall be void.

MARSHAL OF ENGLAND. See Court of Chivalry.

MARSHAL OF THE KING'S BENCH, power of appointing the marshal of the king's bench, revested in the crown. 27 Geo. 2. c. 2.

MARSHALSEA, court, is a court of record originally instituted to hear and determine causes between the servants of the king's household, and others within the verge; and bath jurisdiction of things within the verge of the court, and of pleas of trespass, where either party is of the hing's family, and of all other actions personal, wherein both parties are the hing's servants; but the court hath also power to try all personal actions, as dobt, trespan, slamder, trover, action on the case, &c. between party and party, the liberty whereof extends twelve miles about Whitehall.

The judges of this court are the staward of the king's household, and high marshal for the time being the staward of the court or his deputy, is generally an eminent counsel.

If a cause of importance is brought in this court, it is generally removed into the court of king's banch, or common pleas, by an habeas corpus cum causa.

MASTERS AND SERVANTS. In London and other places, the mode of biring is by what is commonly eniled a month's warming, or a-month's wages; that is the parties agree to separate, on either of them giving to the other a month's notice for that purpose, or in lies thereof, the party requiring the separation, to pay, or give up a month's wages.

But if the hiring of a servant be general, without any particular time specified, it will be construed to be an hiring for a year certain, and in this case, if the servant depart before the year, he fore feits all his wages. Noy. Max. 107.

And where a servant is hired for one year certain, and so from year to year, as long as both parties shall agree, and the servant enter upon a second year, he must serve out that year, and is not merely a servant at will after the first year.

if a women servent murry, she must according sorve out her term, and her husband cannot take her out of her master's service.

If a servent be disabled in his master's service by an injury seceived through another's default, the master may recover damages for loss of his service.

And also a master may not only maintain an action against any one who entices away his servant, but also against the servant; and if without any inticement, a servant leaves his master without just cause, an action will lie against another who retains him with a knowledge of such departure.

A master has a just right to expect and exact fidelity and obedience in all his lawful commands; and to enforce this, he may correct his servant in a reasonable manner, but this correction must be to enforce the just and lawful commands of the master. Bul. N. P. 18.

In defence of his master, a servant may justify, assaulting another, and though death should ensue, it is not murder, in case of any, unalteristical atack upon his master's person or property.

Acts of the servant, are in many instances deemed acts of the master; for as it is by indulgence of law, that he can delegate the power of acting for him to another, it is just he should answer for such substitute, and that his acts being pursuant to the authority given him, should be deemed the acts of his master. 4 Bac. Abr. 583.

If a servant commit an act of trespass by command or encouragement of his master, the master will be answerable. But in so doing, his servant is not excused, as he is bound to obey the master in such things only as are honest and lawful.

If a servant of an innkeeper, rob his master's guest, the master is bound to make good the loss.

Also, if a waiter at an inn sell a man bad wine, by which his health is impaired, an action will go against the master; for his permitting him to sell it to any person, is deemed an implied general command. 1 Black. 430.

In like manner if a servant be frequently permitted to do a thing by the tacit consent of his master, the master will be liable, as such permission is equivalent to a general command.

If a servant be usually sent upon trust with any tradesman, and he takes goods in the name of his master upon his own account, the master must pay for them: and so likewise if he be sent sometimes on trust, and other times with money; for it is not possible for the tradesman to know when he comes by the order of his master, and when by his own authority, or when with and without money. I Str. 506.

But if a man usually deal with his tradesmen himself, or constantly pay them ready money, he is not answerable with what his servant may take up in his name, for in this case there is not as in the other, any implied order to trust him.

Or if the master never had any personal dealings with the tradesman, but the contracts have always been between the servant and the tradesman, and the master has regularly given his servant money for payment of every thing had on his account, the master shall not be charged. Esp. N. P. 115.

Or if a person forbid his tradesman to trust his servant on his account, and he continue to purchase upon credit, he is not liable.

The act of a servant, though he has quitted his master's service, has been held to be binding upon the master, by reason of the former credit given him on his master's account, and it not being known to the party trusting, that he was discharged. 4 Bac. Abr. 586.

The master is also answerable for any injury arising by the fault or neglect of his servant when executing his master's business. 6 T. R. 659, but if there be no neglect or default in the servant, the master is not liable. Esp. Rep. 533.

If a smith's servant lame a horse whilst shoeing him, or the servant of a surgeon make a wound worse, in both these cases an action for damages will lie against the master, and not against the servant. But the damage must be done whilst the servant is actually employed in his master's service, otherwise be is liable to answer for his own misbehaviour or neglect.

A master is likewise chargeable, if his servant cast any dist, &c. out of the house into the common street, and so for any other nuisance occasioned by his servants, to the damage or annoyance of any individual, or the common nuisance of his majesty's people. Lord Raym. 264.

A servant is not answerable to his master for any loss which may happen without his wilful neglect, but if he be guilty of fraud of gross negligence, an action will lie against him by his master.

A master is not liable in trespass for the wilful act of his servant, as by driving his master's carriage against another, done without the direction or assent of his master, no person being in the carriage when the act was done. But he is his ble to answer for any damage arising to another from the negligence or unskilfulness of his servant acting in his employ. Mc'Manus, v. Crickitt. Mich. 41 G. 3.

If a servant retained for a year, happens within the time of his service to fall sick, or be otherwise hurt or disabled in the service of his master; the master cannot put him away, nor abate any part of his wages for that time. Dalt. c. 58.

A master is not bound to give a servant a character, there being no legal obligation to that effect. But if he does give a character, he must take care to give a true one; though if the words are spoken in confidence and without malice, no action lies; as where a mistrem told a lady, enquiring after the character of a servant, that sho was saucy and impertinent, and often lay out of her own bed; but was a clean girl, and could do her work well; notwithstanding, the plaintiff proved that she was by this means prevented from getting a place. But had this been said without ground, and purely to defame, action would lie. 3 Espin. N. P. Cases, 201.

As masters are responsible for the acts of their servants, the legislature has wisely interposed to prevent them from being deceived by the giving of false characters to their servants. Accordingly the 32 Geo. 3. c. 56. enacts, that if any person shall give a false character of a servant, or a false account of his former service; or if any servant shall give such false account, or shall bring a false character, or shall alter a certificate of a character, he shall, upon conviction before a justice of the peace, forfeit 20% with 10s. cost. And if any servant will inform against an accomplice, he shall be acquitted. See also CHARACTER.

MASTER IN CHANCERY. The masters in chancery are assistants to the lord chancellor and unster of the rolls; of these there are some ordinary and others extraordinary; the masters in ordinary are twelve in number; some of whom sit in court every day, during the term, and have referred to them interlocatory orders for stating accounts, and computing damages and the like; and they also administer ouths, take addavits, and acknowledgments of deeds and recognizances; the masters extraordinary, are appointed to act in the country, in the several counties of England, beyond ten miles distant from London; by taking addavits, recognizances, acknowledgments of deeds, &c. for the case of the suitors of the court.

MASTER OF THE COURT OF WARDS AND LIVERIES.
This court was abolished by 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

MASTER OF THE FACULTIES, an officer under the archblehop of Canterbury, who grants licenses and dispensations.

MASTER OF THE ROLLS, is an assistant to the lord chancellor of England in the high court of chancery, and in his absence beareth causes there, and gives orders.

By stat. 36 G. 2. c. 25. 1260t. per annum, is directed to be paid to the master of the rolls.

MASTER OF THE TEMPLE, notwithstanding the abolition of the order of the templars, the chief minister of the Temple Church, is still called master of the temple.

MATRONS (jury of). See Jury of Matrons, supra.

MAXIMS IN LAW. Mexims are the foundations of the law, and conclusions of reason; and therefore ought not to be impugned, but always to be admitted; but they may by reason be conferred and compared the one with the other, though they do not vary, or it may be discussed by reason, which thing is nearest the maxim, and the mean between the maxims, and which is not; but the maxims can never be impenched or impugued, but ought always to be observed, and held as firm principles and authorities of themselves. Plond. Com. 37. b.

MAYOR, is the chief magistrate in a city or town corporate, who hath under him aldermen, common council, and officers of different kinds.

MEASURE, there shall be one measure through the realm.— 9 H. S. c. 25. Bushels, gallous, and ells, shall be according to the standard and scaled. 25 Edw. S. c. 10.

MEDICINES (PATENT), Duty on. See Stamps.

MEDIETAS LINGUÆ, a jury or inquest impanelled, whereof one half consists of natives or denizens, the other strangers; and is used in pleas, wherein the one party is a stranger, the other a denizen.

MEDIA ACQUIETANDO, a writ judicial, to distrain a lord for acquiring a mean lord for a rest which he formerly acknowledged in court not to belong to him.

MELIUS INQUIRENDO, a writ that lies for a second identity of what lands and tenements a man dieth seized, where partial dealing was suspected upon the writ diem clausit extremum.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT. See Election and Parliament.
Their privilege of franking letters. See Post Office.

MEMORY, time of, is ascertained by our law, from the time of the transfretation of king Richard the First to the holy land; and any custom may be destroyed by evidence of its non-existence in any part of that long period to the present time. 2 Black. 31.

MERCHANT, every one who buys and sells, is not to be depominated a merchant, but only he who traffics in the way of commerce by importation or exportation, or otherwise in the way of emption, vendition, barter, permutation, or exchange, and whomakes it his living to buy and sell. See also Custom of Merchants.

MERCHENLAGE, is one of the three laws, out of which the conqueror framed our common laws with a mixture of those of Normandy, and was the law of the Mercians, when they governed a third part of this realm.

MERGER, is where a less estate in lands, &c. is drowned in the greater; as if the fee come to the tenant for years or life, the particular estates are merged in the fee; but an estate tail cannot be merged in an estate in fee; for no estate in tail can be extinct, by the accession of a greater estate to it. 2 Co. Rep. 60.

MESNE, he who is lord of a manor, and so hath tenants holding of him; yet himself holds of a superior lord. 15 Vin. Abr.

MESNE PROCESS, is an intermediate process, which issues pending the suit, upon some collateral interlocutory matter, as to summon juries, witnesses, and the like: sometimes it is put in contradistinction to final process, or process of execution; and then it signifies all such process as intervenes between the beginning and end of a suit. 3 Black. 279.

• MESSENGER OF THE EXCHEQUER, an officer in that court, of which there are four, who as pursuivants attend the lord treasurer, to carry his letters and precepts.

MESSUAGE, a dwelling house, with some adjacent land assigned to the use thereof. MILES. See Knight.

MILITIA, the notional soldiery, the standing army of the nation. This unbushle body of soldiers is spiced, disciplined and paid under various militia acts, the provisions of which cannot be here latresuced, on account of their length, and of the continual medifications they are receiving under the authority of parliament. The following persons, by reason of their rank or offices are exempt from serving in the milities, viz. - Prove; commissioned officers in the forces, castles, or forts; afficers on half pay: non-commissioned officers or privates in the forces; commissioned officers serving, who have served four years in the militia; members of the universitie; clergymen, licemed tenchers, whose grant of worship was licemed for twelve mouths before the annual meeting in October; contables and peace officers; articled clerks and appreptices; seamen; persons mustered at the dock yards, at the Tower, Woolwich, the gua wharfs at Portsmouth, the powder mills; freemen of the water men's company; poor men who have more than one child born in wedlock, are not liable to serve or find a substitute; nor shall any person who shall have served personally, or found a substitute, he liable until, by rotation, it comes to his turn.

Mill. From and after July 1, 1796, every miller shall have in his mill, a true balance with proper weights, and every miller in whose mill shall be found no bulnace or weights, shall forfeit are exceeding 90c.

Every person may require the miller to weigh, in his process, the corn before it shall be ground, also after it shall be ground, and if he refuse, he shall forfeit not exceeding 40s.

Every miller, shall if required, deliver the whole produce of the corn, allowing for the waste in grinding, and toll, when toll is have inafter allowed to be taken, on pain to forfeit not exceeding is per bushel and trable the value of the deficiency. Whose toll is allowed to be taken, it shall be deducted before the corn is put into the mill.

From and after June 1, 1796, no miller shall, ender the penalty of 51, take any part of the corn, or of the produce for tall, but in lies thereof he shall be entitled to demand payment in money.

But where the party shall not knowner to pay for grinding, the miller with his consent, may take such part of the cotu, as will be equal to the money price, expressed in their table of prices for grinding. Also nothing in this clause shall extend to the antient mills, called soke mills, or such others where the passensers are bound to grind for particular persons, or within particular districts, and to take a fixed toll.

From and after June 1, 1706, every willer shall put up to his mill, a table of the prices, or of the amount of tell at his mill, on pain of forfeiting not exceeding 20s.

MINES:—by the old common law, if gold and eliver be found in mines of base metal, the whole was said to be a royal mine, and be-longed to the king; but by etatutes I & 5 W. c. 30. and 6. no mine of copper, tin, iron, or lead, shall be deemed a royal mine, notwithstanding gold or silver may be extracted from them in any quantities.

Coal mines by name are rateable to the poor; but other mines are not. 43 Eliz. c. 2.

By 25 Sec. 2. c. 10. entering any mines of BLACK LEAD, with intent to steal, shall be deemed felony, and the offender shall be transported. Returning before the time, follows without clergy, and a certificate of the former conviction shall be sufficient proof thereof. The receivers of lead, knowing the same to be unlawfully taken, shall be deemed guilty of follows. See also Coals, p. 135.

MINOR, one in his minority, or under age. See Infant.

MINUTE TITHES, small tithes, such as usually belong to the vicer, as of weel, lambs, pigs, butter, cheese, herbs, seeds, eggs, hency, wax, &c. 2 Just. 646.

MISADVENTURE, when applied to homicide, is, where a man is doing a lawful act, without intent of hart to another, and death casually ensues. 4 Black. 188. See Homicide.

MISDEMEANOUR, a crime or mistemeanour, is an act committed or omitted, in violation of a public law, either ferbidding or commanding it.

Miss, is a customary gift or present which the people of Wales, give to every new king or prince of Wales, at their untrace into that principality.

MISFEASANCE, a misdeed or trespass.

MISNOMER, the using of one name for another.

Where a person is described so that he may not be certainly distinguished and known from other persons, the emission, or in some cases the mistake of the same shall not avoid the grant. 11 Rep. 90.

if the christian name to wholly mistaken, this is regularly fatal to all legal instruments, as well declarations and pleadings, as grants and obligations.

The mistake of the arrange does not vitiate, because there is no repugnancy that a person shall have different surnames; and therefore if a man enter into an obligation by a particular same he may be impleaded by the name in the deed, and his real name brought in by an alias, and then the name in the deed he cannot deny, because he is estopped to say any thing contrary to his own deed. 2 Rol. Abr. 146.

But a mistake in the name of a corporation, in their leases and grants is muterial, and will vitiate. 2 Bend. 1.

MISPRISION, is generally understood to be of all such high offences as are under the degree of capital, but bordering thereon, and it is said, that a misprision is contained in every treason and felony whatsoever; and, that if the king please, the offender may be proeceded against for the misprision only. 4 Black. 119.

MIS-RECITAL, in deeds, is sometimes injurious, and sometimes not; if a thing be referred to time, place, and number, and that is mistaken, all is void.

MISTAKE. Mistakes in law proceedings are generally subversive of the whole cause or suit. Any party who is injured through the negligence or mistake of the person employed by him, is intitled to an action, and will recover proportionate damages. If money be paid by mistake, or upon a consideration which happens to fail, or if money be obtained by imposition (express or implied) or extertion, or oppression, or through any undue advantage taken of the plaintiff's situation, such money may be recovered back. See 4 Bl. Com. 27.

MITTENDO MANUSCRIPTUM PEDIS FINIS, a judicial writ, directed to the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer, to search and transmit the part of a fine acknowledged before the justices in eyes, into the common pleas.

MITTIMUS, a writ by which records are transferred from one court to another. This word is also used for the precept directed to a gaoler, under the hand and seal of a justice of the peace, for the receiving and safe keeping a felon, or other offender, by him committed to gaol. 2 Inst. 500.

MIXED TITHES, are these of cheese, milk, &c. and of the young of beasts. 2 Inst. 649.

MODERATA MISERICORDIA, a writ for him who is amereed in a court baron, for other court, being not of record, for any transgression or offence beyond the quality of a fault. It is directed to the bord of the court, or his bailiff, commanding them to take a moderate americament of the party. Fits. Nat. Br. 167.

MODO ET FORMA, words of art in process and pleadings, and in answer of the defendant, whereby he denies himself to have done the thing laid to his charge, modo et forma declarata.

MODUS DECIMANDI, is when either land, a sum of money, or yearly pension is given to the person, &c. by composition or custom, as satisfaction for his tithes in kind. 2 Inst. 400.

MOIETY, the half of any thing.

MONASTERIES, were dissolved and given to the crown by stat. 31 H. S. c. 13.

MONBY, is a material representing a fixed and certain value, generally made of metal, struck with a peculiar mark, indicating its weight, fineness, and the value for which it passes.

No person is obliged to take in payment any money which is not lawful metal, that is, of silver and gold, except for sums under sixpence. 2 Inst. 577.

But it was decided in hilary term, 1790, that bank notes are considered as money, and therefore a proper tender in payment. See however the article Bank (in the Appendix.)

By the $2 Geo. S. c. 64. reciting the 30 Geo. 2. c. 34. (for punishing persons obtaining money or goods under false pretences) it is exacted that persons, obtaining by false pretences money or goods, or securities for money, and also persons sending threatening letters to accuse persons of having committed crimes with an intent to extort money or goods, are respectively declared offenders against law and the public peace, and shall be punished in the same manner as if they had knowingly and designedly obtained such money or goods by false protences. See also Corn and Formign Corn.

MONOPOLY, is an allowance by the king, by his grant, commission, or otherwise, to any person or persons, bodies politic, or corporate, or of or for the sole buying, selling, making, working, or using of any thing, whereby any person or persons, bodies politic or corporate, are sought to be restrained of any freedom or liberty they had before, or hindered in their lawful trade. 3 Inst. 181.

But it seems that the king's charter, impowering particular persons to trade to and from such place is void, so far as it gives such persons an exclusive right of trading, and debarring all others; and it seems now agreed, that nothing can exclude a subject from trade-but an act of parliament. Raym. 489.

MONSTRANS DE DROIT, in a legal sense denotes a writ issuing out of chancery, for the subject to be restored to lands and tenoments, which he shows to be his right, though by office found to he in the possession of another lately dead; by which office the king he entitled to a chattel, freehold, or inheritance in the said lands. Stausf. P. C. c. 21. 4 Rop 54.

MONSTRANS DE FAITS OU RECORDS, the skewing of deeds or records is thus; in an action of debt brought upon an obligation after the plaintiff bath declared, he ought to shew his obligation, and so it is of record. Cowel.

MONSTRAVERUNT, a writ which lies for the tenants in antient demesns, being distrained for the payment of any toll to imposition, contrary to their liberty, which they do or should enjoy. 4 Inst. 259

MONTH, a space of time, containing (if a lunar month) 28 days; if a calendar month, sometimes 30 and sometimes 31 days. By the common law (and generally by the statute law also, unless the contrary be directed) a month is but 28 days. But where the statute accounteth by the year, half year, or quarter of a year, it shall be reckoned agreeably to the calendar. 1 Inst. 135. 6 Rep. 62. 6 Term. Rep. 224.

In the later decisions of the bourts however, particularly in the case of imprisonment for crimes or offences, calendar months are now specially mentioned in passing sentence.

MOOR GAME. See Game.

MOOT, a term well understood in the inns of court, to be the practice of arguing cases, which young students perform at appointed times, the better to enable them to support or defend their client's causes.

MORATUR, or DEMORATUR IN LEGE, whenever the counsel is of opinion, that the count or plea of the adverse party insufficient in law, then he demurs, or abides in law, and refers the same to the judgment of the court.

MORTGAGE, signifies a pawn of land or tenement, or any thing immoveable, laid or bound for money borrowed, to be the creditor's for ever, if the money be not paid at the day agreed upon; and the creditor holding land and tenement upon this bargain, is called tenant in mortgage. He who pledgeth this pawn or gage, is called the mortgagor, and be who taketh it, the mortgages.

The last and best improvement of mortgages seems to be that in the mortgage deed of a term for years, or in the assignment thereof, the mortgagor should covenant for himself and his heirs, that if default be made in the payment of the money at the day, that then he and his heirs will, at the costs of the mortgagee and his heirs, convey the freehold and inheritance of the mortgaged lands to the mortgagee and his heirs, or to such person or persons (to prevent merger of the term) as he or they shall direct and appoint: for the reversion, after a term of fifty or a hundred years, being little worth, and yet the mortgagee for want thereof continuing but a termer, and subject to forfeiture, &c. and not capable of the privileges of a free-holder; therefore when the mortgagor cannot redeem the land, it is but reasonable the mortgagee should have the whole interest and inheritance of it, to dispose of it as absolute owner. 8 Bac. Abr. 633.

Although after breach of the condition, an absolute fee-simple is vested at common law in the mortgagee; yet a right of redemption being still inherent in the land, till the equity of redemption is fore-closed, the same right shall descend to, and is invested in such persons as have a right to the land, in case there had been no mortgage or incumbrance whatsoever; and as an equitable performance as effectually defeats the interests of the mortgagee, as the legal performance doth at common law, the condition still banging over the estate, till the equity is totally foreclosed; on this foundation it bath been held, that a person who comes in under a voluntary conveyance, may redeem a mortgage; and though such right of redemption be inherent in the land, yet the party claiming the benefit of it, must not only set forth such right, but also shew that he is the person entitled to it. Hard. 465, 1 Ves. 182, 193.

But if a mortgage be forfeited, and thereby the estate absolutely vested in the mortgagee at the common law, yet, a court of equity will consider the real value of the tenements compared with the sum borrowed. And if the estate be of greater value than the sum lent thereon, they will allow the mortgagor at any reasonable time, to recall or redeem the estate, paying to the mortgagee his principal, interest, and costs. This reasonable advantage, allowed to the mortgagors, is called the equity of redemption. 2 Black. 159.

It is a rule established in equity, analogous to the statute of limitation, that after twenty years possession of the mortgagee, he shall not be disturbed, unless there be extraordinary circumstances; as in the case of femes covert, infants, and the like. 3 Atk. 313. Eq. Ca. Abr. 313. 2 Bro. 399. 2 Ves. jun. 83.

Where however the mortgagor commits a fraud upon the mortgagee by concealing former incumbrances, he loses his equity of redemption, and the honest mortgagee (for such only can have this benefit, 2 Fern. 589.) acquires an absolute estate and interest in the land mortgaged. By the 4 and 5 W. and Mary, c. 16. therefore if any person shall borrow any money, and for payment thereof, or for any other valuable consideration, shall voluntarily give a judgment, statute, or recognizance, and shail afterwards borrow any other sum of another, or for other valuable consideration become indebted to such other, and for securing the repayment and discharge thereof shall mortgage lands, or any part thereof, to the second lender, &c. or to any other in trust for, or to the use of such second lender, &c. and shall not give notice to the said mortgagee, of such previous judgment, &c. in writing under his hand, before the execution of the said mortgage or mortgages; unless such mortgagor or his heirs, upon notice given by the mortgagee, his heirs, &c. in writing, &c. attested, by two witnesses, of any such former judgment, &c. shall within siz months pay off the said judgment, &c. and all interest and charges, and procure the same to be vacated, dec. then the mortgager or his heirs, &c. shall have no bearfit or remedy against the said morrgages or his hoirs, acc. in equity or observere, for redemption; but the mortgagee shall hold the lands, &c. for such cotate and term as was granted to the mortgager, against the avortgagor, and all persons chaining under him, freed from equity of redemption, &c. Buther, if any person who shall once mortgage lands for valuable consideration, shall again mortgage the same lands, or any part thereof, to any other person for valuable consideration, (the former marigage being in force,) and shall not discover to the second mortgagee the former mortgage, in writing under his hand, such mortgager, his boirs, &c. shall have no relief or equity of redemption against the second or after mortgagee, &c. And such second or third mortgagoes may redeem any former mortgages, upon payment of the principal, debt, interest, and costs of suit, to the proper mortgages, he. But this statute does not har any widew of any mortgager from her dower, who did not legally join with her husband in such mortges, as otherwise lawfally exclude berself.

By 7 Geo. 2. c. 20. in actions conclining mortgages, or ejectements, no suit to foreclose being depending, the mortgager's tender of principal, interest, and costs in court, shall be deemed full satisfaction, and the court may compel the mortgages to susrender. On bills to foreclose, the court, on defendant's request, may proceed to a decree before a regular hearing. This is not to extend to cases where the right of redemption is controverted, or the money due not adjusted, or to prejudice any subsequent mortgage.

MORTMAIN, significs an alienation of lands and tenements, to any guild, corporation or fraternity, and their successors, as bishops, parsons, vicase, &c. which may not be done without the king's lineasse, and the lord of the manor, or of the king alone, if it be insectionally holden of him.

But in order to prevent any imposition in respect to the disposs of lands to charitable uses, which might arise in a testator's last hours, and in some measure from political principles to restrain devises in mortmain, or the too great accumulation of land in hand, where it lies duad, and not subject to change possession, it is provided by stat. 9 Gas. 2. c. 36. (called the statute of mortmain) that no manors, lands, tonements, rents, advowsom, or other hereditaments, corpored, or incorpored, whotsoever, nor any mm, or same of money, goods, chattels, stocks in the public funds, securities for mer, or other personal estate whatsoever, to be laid out or disposed of in the purchase of any lands, tentments, or hereditaments, shell be given, limited, or appointed by will, to any persua or persons, bodies politic or corporate, or otherwise, for any counte or interest whatsoeyer, or any ways charged or incumbered by any person or paraons whatseaver, in trust, or for the benefit of any charitable use whatsoever; but such gift shall be by deed indented, sealed and delivered in the presence of two or more credible witnesses, twefve calendar months at least, before the death of such donor, and be inrolled in the high court of chancery within six calendar months after execution, and the same to take effect immediately after the execution for the charitable use intended, and be without any power of reversion, reservation, or trust for benefit of the donor. And all gifts and appointments whatsoever, of any lands, tenements, or other hereditaments, or of any estate, or interest therein, or of any charge or incumbrance, affecting or to affect any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, any personal estate, to be laid out in the purchase of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or any estate, or interest therein, or of any charge or incumbrance affecting or to affect the same, to or in trust for any charitable use whatsoever. made in any other manner than is directed by this act, shall be abso. lutely null and void. But the two universities, their colleges, and the scholars upon the soundation of the colleges at Eton, Westminster, and Winchester, are excepted out of this act; but with this provise, that no college shall be at liberty to purchase more adwowsons than are equal in number to one moiety of the fellows or students upon the respective foundations.

MORTUARY. See Corse Present.

MOSS-TROOPERS, a rebellious sort of people in the north of England, who lived by roberry and rapine, for whose suppression the statutes 4 Jac. 1. c. 1; 7 Jac. 1. c. 1; and 14 Car. 2. c. 22. were enacted.

MOTION IN COURT, is an occasional application by the party or his counsel, in order to obtain some rule or order of court, and is usually grounded upon an affidavit of the truth of the suggestion. 3 Black. 304.

MULIER, in the common law is used for melior, and signifies the lawful issue born in wedlock (though hegotten before), preferred before an elder brother born out of matrimony.

MULTE, or MULTURA EPISCOPI, a fine given to the king, that the hishop might have power to make his will and testament, and to have the probate of other men's, and the granting administration. 2 Inst. 491.

MULTO FORTIORI, or A MINORI AD MAJUS, is an'argaement thus used; if it be so in a feedfment passing a new right, much emere it is for the restitution of an antient right, &c. Co. Lit. 253.

MURAGE, a toll or tribute to be jevied for the building or repairing of public walls; it is due either by grant or prescription. 2 Inst. 222.

MURDER. See Homicide.

MUTE. If any person being arraigned on any indictment or appeal for felony, or on any indictment for piracy, shall upon such arraignment stand mute, or will not answer directly to the felony or piracy, he shall be convicted of the offence, and the court shall thereupon award judgment and execution, in the same manner as if he had been convicted by verdict or confession; and by such judgment shall have all the same consequences as a conviction by verdict or confession. 12 G. 3. c. 20.

And the law is the same with respect to an arraignment for petit treason or larceny; for before this act, persons standing mute in either of these cases, were to have the like judgment as if they had confessed the indictment. 2 Inst. 177. This horrid punishment, however, is now become obsolete.

MUTUAL PROMISE, is where one man promises to pay money to another, and he in consideration thereof, promises to do a certain act, &c. &c. such promises must be binding, as well of one side as the other; and both made at the same time. 1 Salk: 21.

MUTUS ET SURDUS, a person dumb and deaf, and being tement of a manor, the lord shall have the wardship and custody of him. But if a man be dumb and deaf, and have understanding, he may be granter or grantee of lands, &c. 1 Co. Inst. See DEAF.

A prisoner deaf and dumb from his birth, may be arraigned for a capital offence, if intelligence can be conveyed to him by signs of symbols. Leach's Cr. Law. 97. See Evidence.

N

NAMIUM VETITUM, an illegal taking the cattle of another, and driving them to an unlawful place, pretending damage done by them. In this case the owner may demand satisfaction for the injury, which is called placitum de namio vetito. 3 Black. 149.

NATURAL AFFECTION, is a good consideration is a deed.

Carth. 138.

NATURALIZATION, is when an alien born, is made the king's natural subject.

Hereby an alien is put in the same state as if he had been born in the king's ligeance, except only, that he is incapable of being a member of the privy council, or parliament, and of holding any office or grant. No bill for a naturalization, can be received in either house of parliament, without such disabling clause in it; nor without a clause disabling the person from obtaining any immunity in trade thereby, in any foreign country, unless he shall have resided in Britain seven years next after the commencement of the session in which he is naturalized. Neither can any person be naturalized, or restored in blood, unless be have received the sacrament within one month before the bringing in of the bill, and unless he also take the oaths of allegiance and supremacy in the presence of the parliament. 1 Black. 874. See Alien.

NAVY, for the regulation of the officers and seamen belonging to the navy, see ARTICLES of the NAVY, also the Statutes 29 Car. 2. c. 3. 22 G. 2. c. 33. 31 G. 2. c. 10. 9 Geo. 3. c. 30. 33 Geo. 3. c. 67. (made perpetual by 41 Geo. 3. c. 19. s. 4.) 85 Geo. 3. c. 28. 37 Geo. 3. c. 53 and 73. 43 Geo. 3. c. 119. 46 Geo. 3. c. 101 and 127.

NE ADMITTAS, a writ that lies for the plaintiff, in a quare impedit, or him who hath an action of darreis presentment depending in the common beach, and fears the bishop will admit the clerk of the defendant, during the suit between them; which writ must be sued within six calendar months after the avoidance, because after six months, the bishop may present by lapse. Fits. N. B. 87.

NECESSITY. The law charges no man with default where the act is compulsory, and not voluntary, and where there is not a consent and election; and therefore if either there be an impossibility for a man to do otherwise, or so great a perturbation of the judgment and reason, as in presumption of law, man's nature cannot overcome, such necessity carries a privilege in itself.

Necessity is of three sorts; necessity of conservation of life, necessity of obedience, and necessity of the act of God, or of a stranger.

And first, of conservation of life: if a man steal viands to satisfy his present hunger, this is no felony nor larceny.

The second necessity is of obedience: and therefore where baron and seme commit a selony, the seme can neither be principal, nor accessary, because the law intends her to have no will in regard of the subjection and obedience she owes her husband.

The third necessity is of the act of God, or of a stranger; or if a man be particular tenant for years of an house, and it be overthrown, by thunder, lightning, and tempest, in this case, he is excused of waste. Bac. Elem. 25, 26, 27.

NE EXEAT REGNO, is a writ to restrain a person from going out of the kingdom without the king's lidense.

Within the realm, the king may command the attendance and service of all his liege men; but he cannot send any man out of the realm, or even upon the public service, except seamen and soldiers, the nature of whose employment necessarily implies an exception.

13 Black. 138.

This writ is now mostly used, where a suit is commenced in the court of chancery against a man, and he intending to defeat the other of his just demand, or to avoid the justice and equity of the court, in about to go beyond sen, or however, that the duty will be chearened if he go.

if the writ be granted on behalf of a subject, and the party taken, the either gives security by bond in such mem as is demanded, or he antisties the court by asswering (where the answer is not already is). So by allidwit, that he intends not to go out of the realm, and gives such reasonable security at the court directs, and them he is discharged. P. R. C. 252:

NEGLIGENCE, is where a person neglects or omits to do a thing which he is obliged by law to do. This where one has goods of another to keep to such a time, and he hath a certain recomprace or reward for the keeping, he shall stand charged for injury by negligence, &c.

NEGLIGENT ESCAPE. Set Escape.

NE INJUSTE VEXES, a writ that lies for a tenant that is distanced by his lord for other services than he ought to perform, and is a probibition to the ford, commanding him not to distrain.

NEMINE CONTRADICENTE, words used to signify the unit mimous coment of the members of the home of commons to a vote or resolution.

. BRW TRIAL, formerly the only remedy for a reverse of a vereditat madely given, was by writ of attaint; but this course is now justly exploded, and a new trial is granted. S Black. 389.

A new trial ought only to be granted to votale real justice, and not to gratify litigious passions. Bur. 11.

A new trial therefore, in among cases, may be absolutely necesmany, but a new trial is not granted upon nice and formal objections, which do not go to the real merits. It is not granted where the scales of evidence hang nearly equal; for that which leads injustant the verdict, ought always very strongly to prependerate. 8 Mack. 301. NIENT COMPRISE, an exception taken to a petition, as anjust, because the thing desired, is not contained in the act or deed whereon the petition is grounded.

NIHIL, is a word which the sheriff answers, that is apposed concerning debts illeviable, and that are nothing worth by reason of the insufficiency of the parties from whom they are due.

NIHIL CAPIAT PER BREVE, is the judgment given against the plaintiff, either in bar of his action, or in abatement of his writ. Co. Lit. 363.

NIHIL DICIT, a failing to put in answer to the plea of the plaintiff by the day assigned, which if a man omit, judgment passes against him of course by nikil dicit, because he says nothing in his own defence, why it should not.

NISI PRIUS, a commission directed to the judges of assize, empowering them to try all questions of fact issuing out of the courts at Westminster that are then ready for trial by jury. The original of which name is this; all causes commenced in the courts of Westminster-hall, are by course of the courts, appointed to be tried on a day fixed in some Easter or Michaelmas term, by a jury returned from the county wherein the cause of action arises; but with this proviso, nisi prius justiciarii ad assisas capisadas venerint: that is, unless before the day prefixed, the judges of assize come into the county in question, which they always do in the vacation preceding each Easter and Michaelmas term, and there try the cause. And then, upon the return of the verdict given by the jury, to the court above, the judges there give judgment for the party for whom the verdict is found. S Black. 59. See Assizes.

NOBILITY, the civil state of England, consists of the nobility and commonalty. The nobility are all those who are above the degree of knight, under which term is included that of a baronet pannely, dukes, marquisses, earls, viscounts and barons. 1 Black. 396.

NOLLE PROSEQUI, is sued where the plaintiff will proceed nofarther in his action, and may be as well before as after a verdict, and is stronger against the plaintiff than a nonsuit, which is only a default in appearance; but this is a voluntary acknowledgment, that he hath no cause of action. Impey's B. R.

NOMINATION, is to be taken for a power that a man by virtue of a manor, or otherwise, but to appoint a clerk to a patron of a benefice, by him to be prescribed to the ordinary.

NON-ABILITY, an exception taken against the plaintiff uponsome cause why he cannot commence suit at law, as premunire, Se.

NONAGE. See Age and Infancy.

NON ASSUMPSIT, a plea in personal actions, whereby a man denies any promise made, &c.

NON-CLAIM, where one person has a demand upon another, and does not enforce his claim within a reasonable time, he is precluded by law from bringing his action to enforce it; and where a creditor neglects to make his claim upon a bankrupt's estate within a certain period, he will not be let in afterwards, so as to disturb the dividend. See Limitation.

NON COMPOS MENTIS. See Ideats.

NON-CONFORMITY to the Bstablished Church. Since the article Dissenters was printed off, the law relative to nonconformity has undergone a very important change, by the passing of the statute 52 Geo. 3. c. 155. By this act, the 13 and 14 Car. 2. c. 1. the 17 Car. 2. c. 2. and the 22 Car. 2. c. 1. are respectively repeated. 3. 1.

No congregation or assembly for religious worship of protestasts (at which there shall be present wore than twenty persons besides the immediate family and servants of the person in whose house or upon whose premises such meeting shall be had) shall be permitted, uples the place of such meeting, if the same shall not have been saly certified and registered under any former act or acts of parliament relating to registering places of religious worship, shall be certified to the bishop of the diocese, or to the archdeacon of the archdeaconry, or to the justices of the peace at the general or dunder Me sions of the peace for the county, riding, division, city, town, of place which insuch meeting shall be held; and all places of meeting so certified to the bishop or nrchdeacon's court, shall be returned by such court once in each year to the quarter sessions of the courty, riding, division, city, town, or place, and all places of meeting which shall be so certified to the quarter sessions of the peace shall be also returned once in each year to the bishop or archdeacon; and all such places shall be registered in the said bishop's or archdeacon's court respectively, and recorded at the said general or quarter sessions; the registrar or elerk of the peace whereof respectively is required to register and record the same; and the bishop or registrar or clerk of the peace to whom any such place of meeting shall be certified under this act shall give a certificate thereof to such person or persons as abalt request or demand the same, for which there shall be no greater fee or reward taken than two shillings and sixpence; and every person who shall knowingly permit or suffer any such congregation or assembly as uforesaid to meet in any place occupied by him, until the same shall have been so certified as aforesaid, shall forfeit for every time any such congregation or assembly shall meet contrary to the Provisions of this act, not exceeding 201, nor less than 20s, at the discretion of the justices who shall convict for such effence. s. 2.

And every person who shall teach or preach in any congregation or assembly as aforesnid, in any place, without the consent of the occupier thereof, shall forfeit for every such offence not exceeding 30!. nor less than 40s. at the discretion of the justices who shall convict for such offence. s. 3.

Every person who shall teach or preach at, or officiate in, or shall resort to any congregation or congregations, assembly or assemblies for religious worship of protestants, whose place of meeting shall be duly certified according to the provisions of this act, or any other act or acts of parliament relating to the certifying and registering of places of religious worship, shall be exempt from all such prime and penalties under any act or acts of parliament relating to religious worship, as any person who shall have taken the oaths, and made the declaration prescribed by the I W. & M. c. 18. or any act amending the said act, is by law expempt, as fully and effectually as if all such pains and penalties, and the several acts enforcing the same, were recited in this act, and such exemptions as aforesaid were severally and separately careted in relation thereto. 9. 4.

Every person not having taken the ouths, and subscribed the declaration herein-after specified, who shall preach or teach at any place of religious worship certified in pursuance of the directions of this act, shall, when thereto required by any one justice of the peace, by any writing under his hand or signed by him, take and make and subscribe, to the presence of such justice of the peace, the oaths and declaration specified and contained in 19 Geo. 3. c. 44. and no such prison who, upon being so required to take such ouths and make such declaration as aforesaid, shall refuse to aftend the justice requiring the same, or to take and make and subscribe such oaths and declaration as aforesaid, shall be thereafter permitted or allowed to teach or preach in any such congregation or assembly for religious worship, until he shall have taken such ouths, and made such declaration as aforesaid, on pain of forfeiting, for every time he shall so teach or preach, not exceeding 10% nor less than 10s. at the diserction of the justice convicting for such offence. s. 5.

But no person shall be required by any justice of the peace to go to any greater distance then five miles from his own home, of from the place where he shall be residing at the time of such requisition, for the purpose of taking such ouths as aforesuld. s. 6.

Any person may appear before one justice to produce to him a printed or written copy of the suid onths and declaration, and require such justice to administer such onths and to tender such declaration to be made, taken, and subscribed by such person; and thereupon it shall be lawful for such justice, and he is hereby authorized and required to administer such oaths and to tender such declaration to the person requiring to take and make and subscribe the same; and such person shall take and make and subscribe such oaths and declaration in the presence of such justice accordingly; and such justice shall attest the same to be sworn before him, and shall transmit or deliver the same to the clerk of the peace, before or at the next general or quarter semions of the peace, s. 7.

Every justice before whom any person shall make and take and subscribe such oaths and declaration as aforesaid, shall forthwith give to the person having taken, made, and subscribed the same, a certificate thereof under the hand of such justice, the fee of such certificate to be 2s. 6d. and the certificate itself conclusive evidence, that the party named therein has made and taken the oaths and subscribed the declaration in manner required by this act. s. 8.

Dissenting teachers having taken the oaths, &c. are exempt from the civil offices specified in 1 W. and M. c. 18. and also from the militia and local militia. s. 9.

The penalty on producing false certificate is 50l. recovered in any court of record by the informer. s. 10.

The doors of places where religious assemblies are held, are not to be bolted or barred, on pain of forfeiting not more than 201. nor less than 40s. at the discretion of the justices convicting for such of fence. s. 11.

If any person wilfully and maliciously or contemptuously disquiet or disturb any meeting, assembly or congregation of persons assembled for religious worship, permitted or authorized by this act, or any former act or acts of parliament, or shall in any way disturb, molest, or misuse any preacher, teacher, or person officiating at such meeting, assembly, or congregation, or any person or persons there assembled, such offender, upon proof thereof before any justice, by two or more credible witnesses, shall find two sureties to be bound by recognizances in the penal sum of 50% to answer for such offence, and in default of such sureties shall be committed to prison, there to remain till the next general or quarter semions; and spos conviction of the said offence at the said general or quarter semions, shall suffer the pain and penalty of 40%. s. 19.

But nothing in this act shall affect or prejudice the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of the church of England and Ireland. s. 13.

. Nothing in this act shall extend to the people called Quakers, nor to any of their meetings for religious worship; or in any manner alter or repeal or affect any act other than and except the 13 and 14 Car. &

e. I. and 28 Gar. 2. c. I. berein before repealed, relating to the people called Quakers, or relating to any assemblies or meetings for religious worship beld by them. s. 14.

Offenders are to be convicted before two or more justices, and all forfeitures to be levied by distress. And in case of no sufficient distress whereby to levy the penalties, or any or either of them imposed by this act, any justice before whom the offender shall be convicted, may commit him to prison for such time not exceeding three months, as the said justice shall think fit. s. 15.

In case any person who shall hereafter be convicted of any of the offences punishable by this act, shall conceive himself to be aggrieved by such conviction, such person may appeal to the general or quarter sessions of the pence holden next after such conviction, giving unto the justices before whom such conviction shall be made, notice in writing within eight days after any such conviction, of his, or their intention to appeal; and the said justices in their said general or quarter sessions shall and may proceed to hear and determine the matter of such appeal, and to make such order therein, and to award such costs to be paid by and to either party, not exceeding 40s. as they in their discretion shall think fit. s. 16.

All penalties under this act must be sued for and prosecuted within six months. s. 17.

If any action or sait be commenced against any person for any thing done in pursuance of this act, every such action shall be commenced within three months next after the fact committed, and not afterwards, and shall be brought in the county wherein the cause of action shall have accrued, and not elsewhere; and the defendant or defendants in such action may plead the general issue, and give this act and the special matter in evidence on any trial to be had thereupon, and that the same was done in pursuance and by authority of this act; and if it shall appear so to be done, or if any such action or suit shall be brought after the time so limited for bringing the same, or shall be brought in any other county, city, or place, then and in such case the jury shall find for such defendant or defeudants; and upon such verdict, or if the plaintiff or plaintiffs, shall be nonsuited, or discontinue his, her, or their action or actions, or if a verdict shall pass against the plaintiff or plaintiffs, or if upon demorrer judgment shall be given against the plaintiff or plaintiffs, the defendant or defendants shall have and may recover treble costs, and may have the like remedy for the same, as any defendant or defendants hath or have for costs of suit in other cases by law. s. 18.

This act shall be deemed and taken to be a public act, and shall be judicially taken notice of as such by all judges, justices, and others, without specially pleading the same. s. 19.

NON CUL', abbreviated from non culpabilis, is a plea of not guilty to any action of trespass or wrong in any civil suit, or to an indictment in a criminal matter.

NON EST FACTUM, is a plea where an action is brought upon a bond or any other deed, and the defendant denies it to be his deed whereon he is impleaded. In every case where the bond is void, the defendant may plead non est factum; but where a bond is voidable only, he must shew the special matter. 2 Lit. 226.

NON EST INVENTUS, the sheriff's return to a writ, when the defendant is not to be found in his bailiwick.

NON-FEASANCE, an omission of what ought to be done.

NON IMPLACITANDO ALIQUEM DE LIBERTO TENE-MENTO SIVE BREVI, a writ to inhibit bailiffs, &c. from distraining any man touching his freehold, without the king's writ.

NON-JURORS, persons refusing to take the oaths to government, and who are liable to certain penalties; and those who deny that oaths are unlawful, were for a third offence to abjure the realm, by stat. 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 1. now repealed by 52 Geo. 3. c. 155. s. 1.

NON MOLESTANDO, a writ which lies for him who is molested.

contrary to the king's protection granted him.

NON OBSTANTE, was a clause frequent in the king's letters ptent, granting a thing, notwithstanding any statute or act of parliament to the coutrary; which assumed power, setting the prerogative above the laws, was effectually demolished by the bill of rights.

NON OMITTAS, PROPTER ALIQUAM LIBERTATEM, is a writ directed to the sherist, where the ballist of a liberty or franchise, who hath the return of writs, refuses or neglects to serve a process, for the sherist to enter into the franchise, and execute the king's process himself or by his officer.

NON PLEVIN, by 9 Ed. S. c. 2. it was enacted, that none benceforth should lose his land because of non plevin; that is when the land was not replevined in due time.

NON PONENDIS IN ASSISIS ET JURATIS, a writ for freeing and discharging persons from serving on assizes and juries; particularly by reason of their old age; but by 4 and 5 W. c. 24. no such writ shall be granted, unless upon oath made, that the suggestions upon which it is granted are true.

NON PROS. If the plaintiff neglect to deliver a declaration for two terms after the defendant appears, or is guilty of other delays or defaults against the rules of law in any subsequent stage of the action, he is adjudged not to pursue his remedy as he ought; and thereupon a nonsuit or non prosequitur, is entered, and he is then said to be non pros'd. 3 Black 395.

NON RESIDENCE, is applied to those spiritual persons who are not resident, but absent themselves by the space of one month together, or two months at several times is one year, from their dignities or benefices, which is liable to the penalties, by the statute against man residence. 21 H. 8. c. 13.

But chaplains to the king, or other great persons mentioned in this statute, may be non resident on their livings; for they are excused. from residence whilst they attend those who retain them. See further RESIDENCE.

NON SANE MEMORY. See Ideots.

NON-SUIT, where a person has commenced an action, and at the trial fails in his evidence to support it, or has brought a wrong action. See Calling the Plaintiff.

There is this advantage attending a nonsuit, that the plaintiff, though he pay costs, may afterwards bring another action, for the same cause; which he cannot do after a verdict against him. Tidd's K. B. Practice.

NON-TENURB, an exception to a count, by saying that he the defendant, holdeth not the land specified in the count.

NON-TERM, the time of vacation between term and term.

NORTHERN BORDERS. See Black Mail and Moss Troopers. NOSE-SLITTING, if any person shall of malice aforethought and by laying wait, slit the nose, or cut off a nose or lip, of any person with intent to disfigure him, he shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. See Maikem.

NOT GUILTY, the general issue or plea of the defendant in any eriminal action or prosecution; as also in an action of trespass, or spon the case for deceits and wrongs; but not on a promise of assumpsit. Palm 393. See Non Cul.

NOTARY, is a person duly appointed to attest deeds and writings; he also protests and notes foreign and inland bills of exchange and promissory notes, translates languages, and attests the same, cuters and extends ship's protests, &c.

NOTARIAL ACTS, are those acts in the civil law, which require to be done under the seal of a notary, and which are admitted as evidence in foreign courts.

NOTE OF A FINE, is a brief of a fine made by the chirographer before it is engrowed.

NOTES PROMISSORY. See Bills of Exchange.

NOTICE, is the making something known, that a man was or saight be ignorant of before; and it produces divers effects; for by it the party that gives the same, shall have some brasht, which otherwise he should not have had: and by this means, the party to whom the notice is given, is made subject to some action or charge, that otherwise he had not been liable to, and his estate in danger of prejudice. Co. Lit 309.

The plaintiff and descendant are both bound at their peril to take notice of the general rules of the practice of the court; but if there be a special particular sule of court made for the plaintiff, or for the defendant, he for whom the rule is made, ought to give natice of this rule to the other; or else he is not bound generally to take notice of it, nor shall be in contempt of the court, although he do not obey it. 2 L. P. R. 204.

NOVEL ASSIGNMENT, is an assignment of time, place, or the like, in an action of trespass, otherwise than as it was before in the writ assigned.

NUDE CONTRACT, a bare promise without any consideration, and therefore void.

NUL TIEL RECORD, the plea of a plaintiff, that there is so such record, on the defendant's alledging mutter of record in bar of the plaintiff's action.

NUISANCE, signifies generally any thing that worketh hurt, isconvenience, or damage, to the property or person of another.-Nuisances are of two kinds; public, or private nuisances, and either affect the public or the individual. The remedy for a misence is by action on the case for damages. Every continuance of a misance, is a fresh nuisance, and a fresh action will lie.

ATH, an affirmation or denial of any thing before one or more persons, who have the authority to administer the same, for the discovery and advancement of truth and right. See Affidavit.

OATHS (Unlawful). By the 52 Geo. 8. c. 104. every person, who shall in any manner or form whatsoever administer or be aiding in administering, any oath or engagement binding the party to commit treason, shall be GUILTY OF PELONY WITHOUT BEREPIT OF CLERGY; and persons taking the same, not being compelled there. to, shall be transported for life, or for such term as the court shall adjudge.

OBLATION. Sec Offerings.

OBLIGATION, a bond containing a penalty, with a condition annexed, either for payment of money, performance of covenants, or the like. This security is called a specialty. Co. Lit. 172. See Bond and Deed.

OBLIGOR, he who enters into an obligation, and obliges the per-

OCCUPANT, if a tenant for a term of another's life die, leaving cestus que vie; he who first enters shall hold the land during that other man's life; and he is in law called an occupant, because his title is by his first occupation; and so, if tenant for his own life, grant over his estate to another, if the grantee die, there shall be an occupant. Co. Lit. c. 6.

The law of occupancy is founded upon the law of nature; and is simply the taking possession of those things, which before belonged to nobody: and this is the true ground and foundation of all property.

OFFENCE, is an act committed against any law. Offences are either capital, or not capital. Capital offences are those for which an offender shall lose his life; not capital, where the offender may lose his lands and goods, be fined, or suffer corporal punishment, or both, but not loss of life.

High treason, petit treason, and felony, constitute capital offences; other offences, not capital, include the remaining part of criminal offences or pleas of the crown, and come under the denomination of misdemeanours.

OFFERINGS.—Oblations and offerings partake of the nature of 'tithes, and all persons who by the laws of this realm ought to pay their offerings, shall yearly pay to the parson, vicar, proprietary, or their deputies, or farmers of the parishes where they dwell, at such four offering days as heretofore within the space of four years last past bath been accustomed, and in default thereof, shall pay for the said offerings at Easter following. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 13.

OFFERINGS OF THE KING, offerings made at the holy aftat by the king and queen, and distributed among the poor by the dean of the chapel, on twelve great festivals of the church, which days are called offering days. Lex Constit. 184.

OFFICE, is that function, by virtue whereof a person hath some employment in the affairs of another.

An office is a right to exercise any public or private employment, and to take the fees and emoluments thereunto belonging, whether public as those of magistrates, or private as of bailiffs, receivers, &c. 2 Bl. Com. 86.

The stat. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 16. declares all securities given for the take any reward, or promise of reward, for any office, or the deputation of any office, concerning the revenue, or the keeping of the king's castles, or the administration and execution of justice, unless it be such an office as had been usually granted by the justices of the king's bench or common pleas, or by justices of assize, every such person shall not only forfeit his right to such office, or to the nomination thereof, but the person giving such reward, &c. shall be disabled to hold such office.

But it has been decided, that where an office is within the statute, and the salary certain, if the principal make a deputy, reserving by bond a less sum out of the salary, it is good; or, if the profits are uncertain, reserving a part, as half the profits, it is good; for the fees still belong to the principal, in whose name they must be seed for. Salk. 466: but where a person so appointed, gives a bond to the principal to pay him a sum certain, without reference to the profits, this is void under the statute. Salk. 465.

To offer money to any officer of state, to procure the reversion of an office in the gift of the crown, is a misdemeanour at common law, and punishable by information; and even the attempt to induce him under the influence of a bribe, is criminal, though never carried into execution.

Any contract to procure the nomination to an office, not within the stat. 6 Ed. 6. is defective on the ground of public policy, and the money agreed to he given, is not recoverable.

OFFICIAL, by the antient law, signifies him who is the minister of or attendant upon a magistrate. In the canon law, it is especially taken for him to whom any bishop generally commits the charge of his spiritual jurisdiction, and in this sense there is one in every diocese called officialis principalis, whom the laws and statutes of this kingdom call chancellor. 32 H. 8. 15.

OFFICIARIIS NON FACIENDIS VEL AMOVENDIS, a writ directed to the magistrates of a corporation, willing them not to make such a man an officer, and to put him out of the office be bath, until inquiry be made of his manners, according to an inquisition formerly ordained.

OLERON LAWS, are laws relating to maritime affairs, so called because made when king Richard the First was at the Isle of Oleron, in Aquitaine.

OMISSIONS, in law proceedings render them victors and defective.

ONUS PROBANDI, the burden of proving any thing.

OPERATIO, one day's work performed by an inferior tenant to the lord; whence, those bound to perform servile labours for their landlords, are often called operarii.

OPPRESSION, in a private sense, is the trampling upon, or bearing down, on pretence of law, which is unjust: but where the law is known and clear, though it appear to be inequitable, the judges must determine according to that. Faugh. 37.

OPTION, every bishop, whether created or translated, is bound immediately after confirmation, to make a legal conveyance to the archbishop, of the next avoidance of such dignity or benefice belonging to the see, as the said archbishop shall choose, which is therefore called an option. Cowel. See also Election.

ORDEAL, was antiently a form of trial for discovering innocence or guilt; and it was of two sorts; either fire ordeal, or water ordeal; the former being confined to persons of higher rank, the latter to the common people. Both these might be performed by deputy, but the principal was to answer for the success of the trial; the deputy only venturing some corporal pain, for bire, or perhaps for friendship. FIRE ORDEAL, was performed either by taking up in the hand a piece of red hot iron, of one, two, or three pounds weight; or else by walking bare foot and blindfold, over nine red het plough-shares, laid at unequal distances; and if the party escaped unburt, he was adjudged innocent; if not, he was condemned as guilty. WATER ORDEAL was performed, either by plunging the bare arm up to the elbow in boiling water, and escaping unburt thereby, or by casting the person suspected into a river or pond of water; and if he floated therein, without any action of swimming, it was deemed an evidence of his guilt: but if he sunk he was acquitted. 4 Black. 340.

This trial by ordeal, was abolished by parliament, anno 3 Hen. 3. ORDERS, are of several sorts, and by several courts, as of the chancery, king's-bench, common-pleas, and exchequer, for the particulars thereof we refer the reader, to Mitford's Pleading in Chancery, Impey's King's-Bench and Common-Pleas, and Fowler's Exchequer Practices.

ORDERS or ORDINATION, no person shall be admitted to the boly order of deacon, under twenty-three years of age: nor to the order of priest, unless he be twenty-four complete; and none shall be ordained without a title. And he shall have a testimonial of his good behaviour. And the hishop shall examine him, and if he see cause, may refuse him. And before he is ordained, he shall take the oath of allegiance and supremacy before the ordinary, and subscribe the thirty-nine articles. 13 Eliz. c. 12. 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 4.

ORDINARY, in the civil law, significs any judge that hath authority to take cognizance of causes in his own right, as he is a magistrate, and not by deputation; but in the common law, it is taken for him who hath exempt and immediate jurisdiction in causes ecclesiastical. 2 Inst. 19.

ORGILD, a restitution made by the hundred, or county, of any wrong done by one who was in pledge. See Frank Pledge.

ORIGINAL, in the court of king's-bench, the usual original writ issued in the actions; as for action of trespass upon the case; and this court doth not issue originals in actions of debt, covenant, or account, &c. Whereas the court of common pleas proceeds by original in all kinds of actions: but to arrest and sue a party to outlawry, it is used in both courts. See Impay's B. R. and C. B.

ORPHAN, in the city of London, there is a court of record established for the care and government of orphans.

OVERSEERS OF THE POOR. 1. Appointment of overseers. The proper number of overseers of the poor for each parish, must be duly appointed under the hands and scale of, and swore before two justices of the peace, one whereof asset be of the quorum.

The overseers thus appointed, and taking on them the office, shall within fourteen days, receive the books of assemments, and of accounts from their predecessors, and what money and materials shall be in their hands, and reimburse them their armers. If Geo. 2. c. 38.

And shall take order from time to time, with the coment of two such justices as aforestid, for setting to work the children of such parents who shall not by the said overseers, he thought able to keep or maintain them, and using no ordinary and daily trade of life to get their living by. 43 Eliz. c. 2.

Justices neglecting to appoint overseers for any place, where no nomination has been made, forfeit 5l. for relief of the poor, to be. levied by warrant from the sessions. ibid. 2. 10.

The following persons are exempt from serving the office of overseers, either at law or by virtue of various statutes, viz. justices of the peace (where any other sufficient persons can be found, I Burr. 245.) apothecaries, attornies and officers of the courts of law at Westminster, harristers, dissenting ministers duly licensed, Roman Catholic elergymen duly qualified, militia men, physicians and surgeons, revenue officers, persons apprehending and prosecuting to conviction burglars, shop-lifters, and horse-stealers, and (it should seem according to Hawkins, vol. II. c. 10. s. 39.) servants of members of parliament. Persons who conceive themselves to be aggriced by any act of appointment by the justices, may appeal to the next quarter explained by 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. s. 4, 5. 1 (Const's) Bott's Poor Laws, 237, 239.

2. Overseers' accounts. By the 43 Eliz. c. 2. the churchwardens and overseers shall, within four days after the end of their year, and after other overseers nominated, make and yield up to two justices (one to be of the quorum) true accounts of all sums received, or rated and assessed and not received, and also of such stock as shall be intheir hands, or in the hands of any of the poor to work, and of all other things concerning their office; and such money as shall be in their hands shall pay over to the new churchwardens and overseers. And the subsequent church wardens and overseers, by warrant from two such justices, may levy by distress and sale of the offenders. goods, the money or stock which shall be behind upon any account so made; and in defect of such distress, such two justices may commit bim or them to the common gaol, there to remain until payment of the said sum and stock. And such two justices may commit to the said prison every one of the said churchwardens and overseers which shall refuse to account, there to remain without bail or mainprize until he have made a true account and satisfied and paid somuch as upon the said account shall be remaining in his hands. s. 4.

By 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. the churchwardens and overseers shall yearly,... within fourteen days after other overseers shall be appointed, deliver in to such succeeding overseers a just account in writing, fairly entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and signed by them. of all sums by them received, or rated and not received; and also of. all goods, chattels, stocks and materials in their hands, or in the hands of any of the poor to be wrought, and of all monics paid by suchchurchwardens and overseers so accounting, and of all other things. concerning the said office. And shall also pay and deliver over all. money, goods, and other things in their hands, to the succeeding. overseers; which account shall be verified by onth, or affirmation before one justice, who is to assign and attest the caption of the same, at the foot of the account, without fee. And the said book. shall be preserved by the churchwardens and overseers in some pub-Lie or other place, in every parish or township; and they shall permit any person assessed, or liable to be assessed, to impect the same at all seasonable times, paying 6d. for such inspection; andshall, upon demand, forthwith give copies, at the rate of 6d. for every three hundred words, and in proportion for any greater or less. number. And if they shall refuse or neglect to make and yield up. such account, verified as aforesaid, within the time limited, or shalkrefuse or neglect to pay and deliver over such money and other things in their hands, any two justices may commit them to the commongaoi, uptil they shall have given such account, or shall have paid and yielded up such money and other things as aforesaid. And if any overmer shall remove, he shall, before such removal, deliver over to some churchwarden or other overseer, his accounts verified as aforesaid, with all rates, books, papers, monny, and other things concerning his office, under the like penalties. If any overseer shall die before the expiration of his office, his executors or administrators shall, within forty days after his decease, deliver over all things concerning his office to some church warden or other overseer, and shall pay out of the amets all sums of money remaining due, which he received by virtue of his office, before any of his other debts are paid. And in case any person shall refuse or neglect to pay any sum that be shall be rated at, the succeeding overseers are to levy such arrests. and thereout reimburse their predecessors all money which they have expended for the use of the poor, and which are allowed to be due to them in their accounts.

By the stat. 50 Geo. S. c. 49. reciting 43 Bliz. c. 2. s. 2, 4, and 17 Geo. 3. c. 38. And that it was expedient that two or more justices should be empowered to examine and correct and to allow and approve accounts of overseers and charchwardens, before the same should be signed and attested; It is enacted, that all accounts of churchwardens and overseers of the poor, shall be submitted by them to two or more justices at a special sessions held under the last recited act, and in case such churhwardens and overseers or any of them, shall refuse or neglect to make and yield up or to submit such account, or to verify the same by oath, or to deliver over to their mocessors within ten days from the signing and attesting such accounts, any goods, chattels, or other things, which on the examination and allowance of such account in manner aforesaid, shall appear to be remaining in the hands of such churchwardens or overseers, it shall and may be lawful for any two or more justices of the peace to commit him, or them, to the common gaol, until he or they shall have made and yielded such account, and verified the same as aforesaid, or shall have delivered over such goods, chattels, and other things which shall appear to be so remaining in his or their hands as aforesaid; and in case such churchwardens and overseers, or any of them, shall refuse or neglect to pay to their successors within fourieen. days from the signing and attesting such account, any sum of money or arrearages which on the examination and allowance of such account in munner aforesaid shall appear or be found to be due and owing from such churchwardens or overseers, or any of them, or remaining in their hands, it shall be lawful for the subsequent churchwardens and overseers by warrant from any two or more justices of the peace, to levy any such sum of money by distress and sale of the offenders goods, rendering to the parties the overplus, and in default of such distress, it shall be lawful for any such two justices of the peace, to commit the offender to the common good of the county, there to remain without ball or mainprize, until payment of, such sum of arrearages as aforesaid. s. 1.

Provided that if such churchwardens, or overseers, shall feel aggrieved by the disallowance or reduction of any such charges or payments, and be desirous of appealing against any order in that respect, made by may such two or more justices of the peace, it shall be lawful for him or them to enter an appeal against such order at the next general or quarter sessions to be helden next after the tenth day from the making of such order, he or they having first paid or delivered over to the succeeding churchwardens and overseers, such sum of money, goods, chattels, and other things, as on the face of the account which shall have been submitted by him or them, to. such two or more justices in manner aforesaid, shall appear and be. admitted to be due and owing from him or them, or remaining in his or their hands, and having also entered into a recognizance before one or more such justice or justices, with two sufficient securities to be approved of by such justice or justices before whom such recognizance shall be acknowledged, in not less than double the sum or value in dispute, to enter such appeal at such next general or quarter sessions, and abide by such order as shall at that or any subsequent, sessions be made on such appeal: and it shall be lawful for the justices of the pence assembled at such general or quarter sessions, on proof of the matters aforesadi, and on the production of such recognizance and proof of the same having been duly entered into, to adjourn such appeal if they shall see occasion, or to hear the samea. and to examine into and to confirm or reverse such disallowance or reduction in the whole or in part, as to such justices at such sessions shall seem just; and in any such case, the saidjustices at such sessions may (if they shall think ht) make an order that such churchwardens and overseers shall have the costs by them incurred, upon any such appeal defrayed out of the poor rates of the parish or place; and the order of the general quarter sessions in execution of the powers given to them by this act shall be binding on all parties. s. 2.

But nothing herein contained shall take away any power of appeal against any such account, by any other person entitled to appeal against the same by virtue of the said recited acts or either of them. s. S.

And every mayor, bailiff, or other head officer of every town and place corporate and city in Great Britain, or any two magistrates of such town or place corporate or city, being justice or justices of peace respectively, shall have the same authority by virtue of this act within the limits and precincts of their jurisdictions as is by this act limited, prescribed, or appointed to justices of the peace of the county, or any two or more of them, for the execution of this act; subject nevertheless to an appeal to the general or quarter sessions in every such town or place corporate or city respectively as aforesaid: provided that in any town or place corporate, or city, where there are not four justices of the peace, it shall and may be lawful for any person where an appeal is given by this act, to appeal, if he or they shall think fit, to the next general or quarter sessions of the peace for the county, riding, or division wherein such towa or place corporate, or city is situate. s. 4.

The proceedings of quarter sessions are final. s. 5.

Nothing in this act contained shall extend or apply to the accounts of any churchwarden or overseer of the poor in any parish or place where, by the provisions of any act relating to the poor of such parish or place, or by the construction of any such act such churchwardens and overseers are exempted from rendering the accounts required by the herein-before recited acts of the forty-third year of the reign of her late majesty queen Elisabeth, and of the seventeenth year of the reign of his late majesty king George the second, or either of them; and nothing in this act contained shall extend to the city of London. s. 6.

Nor to alter or repeal any of the previsions or regulations contained in the said recited acts, 43 Bliz. or 17 Geo. 2. or either of them, other than except only such provisions or regulations as are expressly mentioned in this act, and so far as the same are expressly amended or altered by this act. s. 7.

By 17 Geo 2. c. 38. if any person shall find himself aggrieved by or have any material objection to such account as aforesaid, or any part thereof, or shall find himself aggrieved by any neglect, act, or thing done or omitted by the churchwardens, overseers or justices, such person giving reasonable notice to the churchwardens, or overseers, may appeal to the next general or quarter sessions for the county, riding, division, corporation or franchise; and the justices there assembled shall receive such appeal, and, hear and finally determine the same. s. 4.

But if it appear to the said justices that reasonable notice was not given, then they shall adjourn the said appeal to the next quarter sessions, and then and there finally hear and determine the same.

Ibid.

And the justices may award to the party for whom such appeal shall be determined, costs, in the same manner as in appeals concerning settlements, by 8 & 9 Will. 3. c. 30. Ibid.

And in all corporations or franchises which have not four justices, persons may appeal, if they think fit, to the next general or quarter accessions of the county, riding or division. s. 5.

By 43 Eliz. c. 2. if any action of trespans, or other suit, shall be brought against any person for any thing done by authority of this act, the defendant may either plead not guilty, or make anowry, cognisance, or justification for the taking of the distresses, making of sale, or other thing done by virtue of this act, alledging, that the thing, whereof the plaintiff complained, was done by authority of this act, without expressing any other matter. To which the plaintiff shall reply, That the defendant did the act of his own wrong, without any meh cause alledged by the said defendant. And after such issue tried for the defendant, or nonsuit of the plaintiff after appearance, the same defendant to recover trable damages, with his Gests, and that to be assessed by the same jury, or writ to inquire of the damages, s. 19.

Further by the 7 Jac. 1. c. 5. if any action shall be brought against any justice of peace, mayor or bailiff of any city or town corporate, headborough or constable (or against any churchwardens, or persons called suorn men executing the office of churchwarden, or any oversees of the poor, or others, which in their aid and assistance, or by their commandment, shall do any thing concerning their office, 21 Jac. 1. c. 13. s. 3. 5.) every such person may plead the general impe, not guilty, and give the special matter in evidence. And if the verdict shall pass with him, or the plaintiff become non-suit, the judge before whom the matter shall be tried, shall by virtue of this act allow unto the defendant double costs.

By 34 Geo. 2. c. 41. No action shall be brought against any constable, headbarough, or other officer, or any person acting in his mid, for any thing done in obedience to any warrant of any justice of the peace, until demand hath been made at the usual place of his abode by the party, or his attorney, in writing, signed by the party demanding the same, of the perusal and copy of such warrant, and the same hath been refused or neglected for six days after such demand: and if after compliance therewith, any action shall be brought, without making the justice defendant, or producing and proving such warrant at the trial, the jury shall give their verdict for the defendant, notwithstanding any defect of jurisdiction in such justice: and if such action he brought jointly against such justice, and such officer or person acting in his aid, then on proof of such warrant the jury shall find for such officer, or person so acting, notwithstanding such defect of jurisdiction as aforesaid; and if the verdict shall be given against the justice, the plaintiff shall recover his costs against him, to be taxed in such manner, as to include such costs as such plaintiff is liable to pay to such defendant for whom such verdict shall be found as aforesaid. s. 6.

And where the plaintiff in such action against any justice shall obtain a verdict, if the judge before whom the cause shall be tried, shall in open court certify on the back of the record, that the injury was wilfully and maliciously committed, the plaintiff shall have double costs. s. 7.

But no action shall be brought against any justice or other officer, or person acting as aforesaid, unless commenced within six calendar months after the act committed. s. 8.

4. Punishment of overseers for misbehaviour in the discharge of their office, and for neglect of duty.—As the legislature has thus wisely provided for the security and protection of overseers, in the proper execution of their office, so it has effectually guarded against their mis-management of the trust delegated to them for the benefit of the poor. Thus, the 43 Eliz. c. 2. enacts that if the churchwardens and overseers be negligent in their office, or in the execution of the orders made by and with the assent of the justices of the peace, or any two of them, one to be of the quorum, they shall forfeit for every such default 20s. to be employed to the use of the poor of the parish, and towards a stock and habitation for them, and other necessary uses; and to be levied by the charchwardens and overseers, or one of them, by warrant from any two justices, one to be of the quorum, or the mayor, alderman, or head officer, of any city or place corporate, by distress and sale; or in defect thereof, It shall be lawful for any two such justices, &c. to commit the offender to prison till the forfeitures be paid. s. 2. 11.

By 17 Geo. 3. c. 38. If any churchwarden, overseer of the poor, or other officer of any parish, township, or place, shall neglect to obey the directions of that act, where no penalty is provided, or act contrary thereto, he shall for every such offence, on oath thereof made, within two calendar months after the offence, before any justices, forfeit for the use of the poor a sum not exceeding 5l. nor less than 20s. to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant from such justice; which sum shall be paid to some churchwarden or overseer of such parish or place. s. 14.

By 33 Geo. 3. c. 55. It shall be lawful for two justices, at any special or petty sessions, upon complaint upon onth of any neglect of duty, or of any disobedience of any lawful warrant or order of any justice by any overseer or other parish officer, (such overseer or other officer having been duly summoned to appear and answer such complaint) to impose upon conviction any reasonable fine, not exceeding 40s. as a punishment for such disobedience, or neglect of duty, and by warrant under their hands and seals, to direct such fine, if not paid, to be levied by distress and sale; and such fine shall be applied for the relief of the poor of the parish, at the discretion of the justices; and if any person shall be aggrieved by the imposition of such fine, or by any order or warrant for levying the same, or by the determination of the sald justices, or by any act to be done in the execution of such warrant, he may appeal to the next general or quarter sessions, of which appeal ten days notice shall be given; and for want of distress, such person shall be committed to the house of correction for not exceeding ten days. 33 Geo. 3. c. 55. s. 1.

But no person acting under such warrant of distress shall be deemed a trespasser ab initio, by reason of any irregularity or informality in the warrant or proceedings, but the person aggrieved may recover special damages in an action. s. 2.

By 3 Will. & Mar. c. 11. In all actions to be brought for recovery of any money mis-spent or taken by churchwardens or overseers of the poor to their own use, the evidence of the parishioners, other than such as receive aims, or any pension, or gift out of the collections or public monies of the parish, shall be admitted. s. 12.

On the construction of these statutes very numerous decisions have been made: for these, the render is referred to Burn's or Williams's elaborate works on the office of Justices of the Peace and the Poor Laws, where the cases are fully stated. See also Poor.

OVERT ACT. In the case of trenson in compassing or imagining the death of the king, this imagining must be munifested by some open act; otherwise being only an act of the mind, it cannot fail under any judicial cognizance. Bare words are held not to amount to an overt act, as arguing a more deliberate intention. No evidence shall be admitted of any overt act, that is not expressly laid in the indictment. 7 W. c. 3.

OUSTED, put out, or removed.

OUSTER LE MAIN, denotes a judgment given for him that traversed or sued a monstrans le droit, and is indeed a delivery of lands out of the king's hands; for when it appears upon the matter discussed, that the king hath no right or title to the thing seized, then judgement shall be given in chancery, that the king's hands be amoved, and thereupon an amoveus manum shall be awarded to the escheator, which is as much as if the judgment were given, that the party shall have his land again. Staundf. Prerog. c. 24.

OUTLAWRY, is being put out of the law, or out of the king's protection. It is a punishment inflicted for a contempt in refusing to be amenable to the process of the higher courts. By outlawly in civil actions, a person is put out of the protection of the law, so that he is not only incapable of suing for the redress of injuries, but may be imprisoned, and forfeits all his goods and chattels, and the profits of his land; his personal chattels immediately upon the outlawry, and his chattels real, and the profits of his lands, when found by inquisition. I Salk. 395.

It seems that originally process of outlawry only lay in treason and felony, and was afterwards extended to trespass of an enormous nature; but the process of outlawry at this day lies in all appeals, and in all indictments of compliancy and deceit, or other crimes of an higher nature than trespass vi et armis; but it lies not in an action, nor on an indictment on a statute, unless it be given by such statute either expressly, as in the case of a pramsmirs, or impliedly, as in cases made treason or felony by statute, or where a recovery is given by an action in which such process lay before, as in cases of forcible entry. Staundf. 192.

- 1. Process of outlawry. The exigent must be sued in the county where the party really resides, for there all actions were originally laid; and because that outlawries were at first only for treason, felony, or very enormous trespasses, the process was to be executed at the torn, which is the sheriff's criminal court; and this held not only before the sheriff, but before the coroners who were antient conservators of the peace, being the best men in each county, to preside with the sheriff in his court, and who pronounced the only lawry in the county court on the partles being quinto exactus; and therefore antiently there was no occasion for any process to any other county than that in which the party actually resided. But the inodern practice being different the reader is referred to Tidd's Pract. K. B.
- 2. Of the reversal of outlawries. There are two ways of revering an outlawry; first, by a writ of error returnable coram nobis; secondly by motion founded on a plen, averment, or suggestion, of some matter apparent; as in respect of a supesedeas, omission of process, variance, or other matter apparent on the record.

OYER, a term antiently used for what is now called assizes.

OYER OF DEED, is when a man brings an action upon a deed, bond, &c. and the defendant appears and prays that he may hear the bond, &c. wherewith he is charged, and the same shall be allowed him. And he is not bound to plead till he has it, paying for the copy of it.

The time allowed for the plaintiff to give eyer of a deed, &c. to the plaintiff, is two days exclusive after it is demanded. Certh. 454. 2 Durnf. & Bast. 40.

OYER AND TERMINER, is a court held by virtue of the king's commission, to hear and determine all treasons, felonies, and misdemenors. This commission is usually directed to two of the judges of the circuit, and several gentlemen of the county; but the judges only are of the quorum, so that the rest cannot act without them.—See Assises. 4 Black. 269.

OYBR DE RECORDO, is a petition made in court, that the judges for more satisfactory proof, will be pleased to bear or look upon any record. Coxel.

OYES, corrupted from the French oyes, hear ye, is an expression weed by the crier of a court, in order to enjoin silence, when any proclamation is made. 4 Black. 340.

P

ACKETS, packet-vessels are prohibited from exporting or importing goods under certain penaltics.

PAIS, trial per pais, is a trial by the country or jury.

PALATINE COUNTIES, are those of Chester, Durham, and Lancaster. See Counties Palatine.

PANEL, a little pane, an oblong piece of purchment, containing the names of the jurors, annexed to the writ of venire facias, and returned by the sheriff to the court from whence the process issued.

PANNAGE or PAWNAGE, the fruit of trees, as acorns, crads, wats, must of beech, &c. which the swine feed upon in the woods.

PAPER. By 52 Geo. 3. c. 143. if any unauthorised person make, or assist in making, or (without lawful excuse, proof thereof to lie on the party accused) have in their possession any frame for making paper, with the words "Excise Office" visible in the substance of such paper; or if they shall make or assist in making any paper in the substance whereof those words shall be visible, or shall by any contrivance cause them to become visible; or shall engrave or make any mark, in imitation of the marks used by the commissioners of excise, in Great Britain, for stamping permits for the removal of exciseable commodities; every such offender shall on conviction be adjudged guilty of felony, and suffer death accordingly. 2. 9.

PAPISTS, persons professing the popish religion. By several statutes, if any English priest of the church of Rome, born in the dominions of the crown of England, came to England from beyond the seas, or tarried in England three days without conforming to the church, he was guilty of high treason; and they also incurred the guilt of high treason, who were reconciled to the see of Rome, or procured others to be reconciled to it. By these laws also, papists -were disabled from giving their children any education in their own religion. If they educated their children at home, for maintaining the schoolmaster, if he did not repair to church, or was not al-Jowed by the bishop of the diocese, they were liable to forfeit los a month, and the schoolmaster was liable to the forfeiture of 40s. s day: if they sent their children for education abroad, they were lisble to forfeit 100% and the children so sent were incapable of inheriting, purchasing, or enjoying, any lands, profits, goods, debts, legacies, or sums of money: saying mass was punishable by a forfelture of 200 marks; and hearing it by a forfeiture of 1001.

But during the present reign, the Roman Catholics have been in a great measure relieved from the odious and severe (if not unjust) restrictions formerly imposed on them, by the statutes 18 Geo. 3. c. 60; 31 Geo. 3. c. 22; and 43 Geo. 3. c. 30. to which on account of their length and consequence, the reader is referred.

PAR. See Exchange.

PARAMOUNT, the supreme or highest lord of the fee. This seigniory of a lord paramount, is frequently termed an konour, and not a manor; especially, if it have belonged to an antient feudal baron, or bath been at any time in the hands of the crown—2 Black. 91.

PARAPHERNALIA, are the woman's apparel, jewels, and other things, which, in the life time of her busband, she wore as the oran ments of her person, to be allowed by the discretion of the court, according to the quality of her and her husband. The husband cannot devise such ornaments and jewels of his wife; though during his life, he hath power to dispose of them. But if she continue in the use of them till his death, she shall afterwards retain them against his executors and administrators, legatees and all other persons, except creditors where there is a deficiency of assets.—

8 Black. 436.

PARCELS See Porterage.

PARCENERS, persons holding lands in copartnership, and who may be compelled to make division. See Coparceners.

PARCHMENT. See Stamps.

PARCO FRACTO, a writ that lies against him who violently breaks a pound, and takes out beasts, which for some trespass done were legally impounded.

PARDON is the remitting or forgiving a felony or other offence committed against the king.

Blackstone mentions the power of pardoning offences to be one of the greatest advantages of monarchy in general, above every other form of government; and which cannot subsist in democracies. Its utility and necessity are defended by him, on all those principles which do honour to human nature. See 4 Black. 896.

Pardons are either general or special; general as by act of parliament; of which, if they are without exceptions, the court must take notice ex officio; but if there are exceptions therein, the party must aver, that he is none of the persons excepted. 3 Inst. 239.

Special pardons, are either of course, as to persons convicted of manslaughter, or so defendendo, and by several statutes to those who shall discover their accomplices in several fedonies; or of grace, which are by the king's charter, of which the court cannot take notice on officio, but they must be plended: 2 Inst. 283:

A pardon may be conditional, that is the hing may extend his merey on what terms he pleases; and may annex to his bounty a condition either precedent or subsequent, on the performance whereof, the validity of the pardon will depend; and this by the common lawe. 2 Haw. 37.

All pardons must be under the great seal. The effect of a pardon, is to make the offender a new man; to acquit him of all corporal penalties and forfeitures annexed to that offence, and to give him a new credit and capacity: but nothing but an act of parliament can restore or purify the blood after an attainder.

PARENTS AND CHILDREN, if parents run away, and leave, their children at the charge of the parish, the churchwardens and overseers, by order of the justices, may seize the rents, goods, and chattels of such parents, and dispose thereof towards their children's maintenance.

A parent may lawfully correct his child, being under age, in a reasonable manner; but the legal power of the father over the persons of his children, ceaseth at the age of twenty-one. 1 Black. 452. See Father and Son.

PARISH, signifies the precinct of a parish-church, and the particular charge of a secular priest. These districts are computed to be near ten thousand in number. 2 Black. 112.

PARISH CLERK, in every parish, the parson, vicars, &c. bath a parish-clerk under him, who is the lowest officer of the church.— These were formerly clerks in orders, and their business at first was to officiate at the altar, for which they had a competent maintenance by offerings; but now they are laymen, and have certain fees with the paraon, on christenings, marriages, burials, &c. besides wages for effeir maintenance. Count. Pars. Comp. 83, 84.

PARISHIONER, an inhabitant of or belonging to any parish

Impfully settled therein.

Parisbioners are a body politic to many purposes; as to vote as westry if they payment and lot; and they have a sole right to raise taxes for their own relief, without the interposition of any supplier court; may make hye-laws to mend the highways, and to make banks to keep out the sea, and for repairing the church, and making a bridge, &c. or any such thing for the public good.

PARK, a piece of ground included, and stored with wild bearb of chase, which a man may have by prescription, or the king's grant.

By 16 Sec. 3. c. 30. if any person shall pull down and destroy the pale or wall of a park, he shall fofeit 301.

PARKBOTE, is to be quit of inclosing a park, or my part thereof.

PARLIAMENT, the purliament is the legislative branch of the supreme power of Great Britain, consisting of the king, the lords spiritual and temporal, and the knights, citizens, burgeses, representatives of the commons of the realm, in parliament as sembled.

The power and jurisdiction of parliament, is so transcendent and absolute that it cannot be confined, either for causes or persons within any bounds. 4 Inst. 30.

I. Of the House of Commons. The house of commons is a denomination given to the lower house of parliament. In a free state, every man who is supposed a free agent, ought to be in some measure his own governor; and therefore a branch at least of the legislative power should reside in the whole body of the people. In elections for representatives for Great Britain, antiently, all the people had votes; but king Henry 6. to avoid tumults, first appointed that none should vote for knights but such as were freeholders, did reside in the county, and had forty shillings yearly revenue. In so large a state as ours, therefore, it is very wisely contrived, that the people should do that by their representatives which it is impracticable to perform in person; representatives chosen by a number of minute and separate districts, wherein all the voters are or may be easily distinguished. The counties are therefore represented by knights, elected by the proprietors of lands; the cities and boroughs are re- presented by citizens and burgesses, chosen by the mercantile, or supposed trading interest of the nation.

By the 39 & 40 Gco. 3. c. 92 several regulations were made relative to the offices in the house of commons; these have since beenrepealed by the 52 Geo. S. c. 11. which has established new and further regulations concerning such offices; but as these are not of general interest, the reader is referred to the act in question for further particulars. Since the article ELECTION was printed off, a: very important act has been passed, relative to members of the house of commons becoming bankrupt, of which the following is the. substance. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 144, reciting that whereas it is highly necessary, for the preservation of the dignity and independence of parliament, that members of the house of commons of the united kingdom, who become bankrupts, and do not pay their debts in full, shall not retain their seats: it is therefore enacted, that from the passing of this act, whenever a commission of bankruptcy shall issue against any member of the house of commons, and he shall be declared a bankrupt under the same, such member shall be and shall remain during twelve calendar months from the time of the issuing thereof, utterly incapable of sitting and voting in the house of commons, unless within the said period such commission shall be superseded, or unless within the same period the creditors of such member proving their debts under the commission of hankruptey shall be paid or satisfied to the full amount of their debts under the said. commission: provided always, that such of the debts, if any, asshall be disputed by such bankrupt, if he shall within the time aforesaid, enter into a bond or bonds, in such sum, with two sufficient sureties to be approved by the commissioners under the said commission of bankruptcy, or the major part of them, to pay such sum or sums of money as shall be recovered in any action, or other proceeding in law or equity, concerning such debt or debts, together with such costs as shall be given in the same, shall be considered for the purposes of this act as paid or satisfied. s. 1.

And if the said commission shall not within twelve calendar months from the issuing thereof be superseded, nor the debts satisfied in manner aforesaid, then the commissioners, or the major part of them named in such commission, are required, immediately after the expiration of twelve calendar months, from the issuing of the said commission, to certify the same, to the speaker of the home of commons of the united kingdom, and thereupon the election of such member shall be void; and the speaker for the time being, during any recess of the said house, whether by prorogation or adjourne ment, is required forthwith after receiving such certificate, to came notice thereof to be inserted in the London gazette, and upon the expiration of fourteen days after the day of inserting such notice in the gazette, to issue his warrant to the clerk of the crown, to make out a new writ for electing another member in the room of such member who shall have so vacated his sent: but nothing herein contained shall camble the speaker to issue his warrant for the perposes aforesaid, unless such certificate shall have been delivered to him so long before the them next meeting of the house of commons for the dispatch of business, as that the writ for the election may be isseed before the day of such next meeting of the house of commons. 5. 2.

All the provisions of the 24 Geo. 3. c. 26. for repealing so much of two former acts, as anthorised the speaker of the home of remmons to issue his warrant to the clerk of the crown for making out writs for the election of members to serve in parliament in the manner therein mentioned, and for substituting other provisions for the like purposes, so far as such powers enable the speaker of the home of commons to nominate and appoint other persons, being members of the house of commons, to issue warrants for the making out of new writs during the vacancy of the office of speaker, or during his absence out of the realm, shall be and they are hereby made to be in force for the purpose of enabling him to make the like circumstances and conditions, for the election of members of parliament in the room of such whose seats shall become vacant under the provisions of this act. a. 8.

By the 41 Geo. 3. c. 63: no person who shall have been ordained priest or deacon, shall be capable of sitting in the house of commons.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 99. in order to entitle any person to vote at an election for a member of parliament in respect of land taxt it shall not be necessary to have the same or any memorial of the contract or certificate of the purchase thereof registered, or as other fee farm rents and annuities, or a memorial of the grant thereof, are required by law to be registered, before any person can vote for electing a member of parliament in respect thereof.

II. The House of Lords consists of the lords spiritual and temperal, or of the archbishops and bishops, and of the peers of the seales.

The peculiar laws and customs of the house of commons, relate principally to the raising of taxes, and the elections of members to serve in parliament.

III. The method of making laws is nearly the same in both house. In the house of commons, in order to bring in a bill, if the relief sought be of a private nature, it is first necessary to prefer a petition; which must be presented by a member, and usually set forth a grievance required to be remedied. This petition, when founded on facts of a disputable nature, is referred to a committee of members, who examine the matter alledged, and accordingly report it to the house; and then, (or otherwise upon the mere petition), leave is given to bring in the hill. In public matters, the bill is brought in upon motion made to the house, without any petition.

If the bill begin in the house of lords, if of a private nature, it is referred to two judges, to make report.

After the second reading, the bill is said to be committed, that is referred to a committee; which is selected by the house, in mutters of small importance; or upon a bill of consequence, the house resolver itself into a committee of the whole house. A committee, of the whole house, is composed of every member: and to form it, the speaker quits the chair, and may consequently sit and debate upon the merits of it as a private member, another member being appointed chairman for the time. In these committees the bill is usually debated clause by clause, amendments made, and sometimes it is entirely new modelled. Upon the third reading, further amendments are sometimes made; and if a new clause he added, it is done by tacking a separate piece of parchment on the bill which is called a rider. I Black. 189.

The royal assent may be given two ways; I. in person, when the king comes to the house of peers, in his crown and royal robes, and sending for the commom to the bar, the titles of all the bills that have passed both houses are read; and the king's answer is declared by the clerk of the parliament. If the king consent to a public bill, the clerk usually declares, le roy le neut, the king wills it so to be; if to a private bill, soit fait comma il est desiré, be it as it is desired. If the king refuse his amont, it is in the gentle language of le roys' avisera, the king will advise upon it. When a bill of supply is passed, it is carried up and presented to the king by the speaker of the house of commons; and the royal assent is thus expressed, le roy remercie ses loyal sujete, accepte leur benevolence, et avest to vent; the king thanks his loyal subjects, accepts their benevolence, and also wills it so to be. By the stat. 83 H. S. c. 21, the king may give his assent by letters patent under his great seal, signed with his band, and notified in his absence to both houses assembled together in the upper house. And when the bill has received the royal assent to either of these ways, it is then, and not before, a statute or act of parliament.

An act of parliament thus made, is the exercise of the highest authority that this kingdom acknowledges upon the earth. It hath power to bind every subject in the land, and the dominions theresuto belonging; may even the king himself, if particularly named therein. And it cannot be altered, amended, dispensed with, suspended, or repealed, but in the same forms, and by the same authority of parliament.

- IV. Adjournment is no more than a continuance of the session from one day to another, as the word itself significs; and this is done by the authority of each house separately every day, or for a longer period; but the adjournment of one house, is no adjournment of the other. 1 Black. 186.
- V. Prorogation, is the continuance of the parliament from one sessions to another, as an adjournment is a continuation of the session from day to day. And this is done by the royal authority, expressed either by the lord chancellor, in his majesty's presence, or by commission from the crown, or frequently by proclamation, and by this, both houses are prorogued at the same time; it not being a prorogation of the house of lords or commons, but of the parliament. The session is never understood to be at an end, until a prorogation; though unless some act be passed, or some judgment given in parliament, it is in truth, no sessions at all. Id.
- VI. A dissolution is the civil death of the parliament; and this may be effected three ways; 1. by the king's will expressed either in person or representation; 2. by the demise of the crown; 3. by length of time.
- J. By the king's will; for as the king has the sole right of convening the parliament, so also it is a branch of the royal prerogative, that he may, whenever he please, prorogue the parliament for a time, or put a final period to its existence.
- 2. By the demise of the crown, this dissolution formerly happened immediately upon the death of the reigning sovereign; but the calling a new parliament immediately on the inauguration of the successor being found inconvenient, and dangers being apprehended from having no parliament in being, in case of a disputed succession; it was enacted by statutes 7 & 8 W. 3. c. 15. and 6 Anne, c. 7. that the parliament in being, shall continue for six months after the death of any king or queen, unless sooner prorogued or dissolved by the successor. That if the parliament be, at the time of the king's death, separated by adjournment or prorogation, it shall notwithstanding assemble immediately: and that if no parliament is then in being, the members of the last parliament, shall assemble and be again a parliament.

VII. Leadly, a parliament may be dissolved or expire by length of time.

The atmost extent of time that the same parliament was allowed to sit by the stat. of 6 W. c. 8. was three years; after the expiration of which, reckoning from the return of the first summons, the parliament was to have longer continuance. But by stat. 1. Geo. 1. q. 38. in order, professedly, to prevent the great and continued expenses of frequent elections, and the violent heats and animositical consequent thereupon, and for the peace and security of the government just then recovering from the late rebellion, this term was prolonged to seven years. So that as our constitution now stands, the parliament must expire, or die a natural death, at the end of overy seventh year, if not sooner dissolved by the royal preregative. See Ricction.

VIII. PARLIAMENT, (the high court of ) is the supreme court of the kingdom, not only for the making, but also for the execution of laws, by the trial of great and enormous offenders, whether lords or commence, in the method of parliamentary impeachment. peachment before the lords, by the comment britain in parliament, is a procession or the already known and established kaw, and has been frequently put in practice; being a presentment to the most high and supreme court of criminal jurisdiction by the most solemn grand inquest of the whole kingdom. A commoner cannot, however, be impeached before the lords for any capital: offence, but only for high misdemennors, a peer may be impeached for any crime. And they usually, in case of an impeachment of a poer for treason, address the crown to appoint a lord high steward, for the greater dignity and regularity of their proceedings; which high steward was formerly elected by the peers themselves, though he was generally commissioned by the king; but it hath of late years been strenuously maintained, that the appointment of a high steward in such cases, is not indispensably necessary, but the house may proceed without one. The articles of impeachment, are w kind of bills of indictment, found by the house of commons, and afterwards tried by the house of lords; who are in cases of misdemeanors considered not only as their own peers, but as the peers of the whole nation.

PAROCHIAL LIBRARTES: see Librartes (Parochial.)

PAROLE, a term signifying any thing done verbally or by word of mouth, in contradistinction to what is written; thus an agreement may be by parole. Evidence also, may be divided into parole evidence and written evidence. A parole release is good to discharge a debt by simple contract. 2 Show. 417. The holder of a bill of exchange, may authorize another to indorse his name upon it.

PAROLE ARREST, any justice of the peace may, by word of mouth, authorise any one to arrest another, who is guilty of a breach of the peace in his presence. Dalt. 117.

PAROLE DEMURRER, a privilege allowed an infant, who is sued concerning lands which came to him by descent; and the court thereupon will give judgment quod loquela prædicta remanest quouque, the infant come to the age of twenty-one years.

PAROLE EVIDENCE. See Evidence.

PARRICIDE, is properly, he who kills his father, and may be applied to him who kills his mother. See Murder.

PARSON, signifies the rector of a church. He is in himself a body corporate, in order to protect and defend the rights of the church by a perpetual succession. When a parson is instituted and inducted into a rectory, he is then, and not before, in full and complete possession. 1 Black. 391.

land, tithe, and other believes of the people, separated or dedicated to God, in any congregation for the service of his church there and for the maintenance of the minister, to whose charge the same is committed.

PARTLS FINIS NIHIL HABUERUNT, an exception taken, against a fine levied. 3 Rep. 88.

PARTIES, are those which are named in a deed or fine, as parties to it. See Fine.

PARTITION, is a dividing of lands descended by the common law or custom, among coheirs or parceners, where there are two at the least.

PARTNERS. See Copartnership.

PART OWNERS, are partners interested and possessed of certain shares in a ship. Owners are tenants in common with each other; but one or more joint owners refusing to contribute their quots to the outfit of the vessel, cannot prevent her from going to sea against the consent of the majority of the owners, who, giving security in the admiralty, may freight the ship at their own exclusive risk, by which the smaller dissentient number of owners will be excluded at once from any share, either in the risk or in the profits.

PASCAL RENTS, rents or annual duties paid by the inferior clergy to the bishop or archdeacon, at their Easter visitation.

PASSAGE. In stat. 4. Ed. 3. c. 7. this term is used for the hire man pays for being transported by any sea or river. Various star tutes of a local nature have been passed for regulating the passage of particular rivers. By a statute of Edward the Fourth, the passage from Kent to Calais is restrained to Dover.

PASSPORT, is a license for the safe passage of any person from one port to another.

PASTURE, is generally any place where cattle may feed. See Common.

PATENT. See Letters Patent.

PATRON, both in the canon and common law, signifies him that hath the gift of a benefice.

PAUPER. See Forma Pauperis.

PAWNBROKERS are persons, who lend money on pawns of pledges. By the 44 Geo. 3. c. 98. Pawnbrokers, residing in London, Westminster, Southwark, or within the bills of mortality, must take out an annual license from the stamp office, the duty on which is 10L and in any other part of Great Britain, 5L Penalty of acting as pawnbroker without such license, is 50L by 25 Geo. 3. c. 48. And no one pawnbroker shall keep more than one shop under one license; persons in partnership need take only one license, ibid.

By the 32 Geo. 2. c. 24. If pawnbrokers deal in gold or silver plate, they must take out an excise license, and pay duty accordingly.

As pawnbrokers have, of late years, greatly increased both in number and in business, they have become objects of attention to the legislature; which has passed various statutes, for the better regulation of their business and the prevention of fraud or oppression towards those, whose necessities compel them to borrow money of pawnbrokers.—The following is an outline of the statutes now in force, concerning pawnbrokers.

By 24 Geo. 2. c. 40. no retailers of spirituous liquors shall take any pawn, on pain of forfeiting 40s.

By 30. Geo. 2. c. 24. persons pawning, exchanging, or disposing of goods without leave of the owner, shall forfeit 20s. and on non-payment be committed for fourteen days to hard labour; and if not paid within that time to be whipped, on application of the prosecutor. Pawnbrokers are to make entry of goods pawned, and give a duplicate, if required, on penalty of 5l. and must also allow satisfaction for damage done to goods by their default or neglect.

By 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 99. pawabrokers are allowed to take the following rates for profit, viz.

For every pledge not exceeding 2s. 6d. one halfpenny, for any time it shall remain in pann, not exceeding one month, and the same for every other month, including the current month in which such pledge shall be redeemed, although such month shall not be ex-penny; 7s. 6d. one penny halfpenny; 10s. two pence; 12s. 6d. two pence halfpenny; 15s. two pence; 12s. 6d. two pence halfpenny; 15s. two pence; 17s. 6d. three pence halfpenny; and 1l. four pence, and so on, and in proportion for not exceeding 40s.; exceeding 40s. and not 42s. eight pence; exceeding 42s. and not 10l. three pence, and no more, for every 20s. The pawnbroker may take for any pledge above 2s. 6d. and not more than 40s. after the rate of 4d. for the loan of 20s. per month. But parties may redeem within seven days after the end of the first month, without paying any thing extra for the seven days, or within four-teen days, upon paying for one month and a half: but parties applying to redeem after the fourteen days must pay for the second munth; and the like regulations are observable in every subsequent month when application shall be made to redeem. And pawnbroken shall give farthings in exchange. s. 5.

Pawns shall be entered in books, with a description of the goods, the money lent, the date and the name and place of abode of the person pawning; and the pawnbrokers shall give to the person pawning, a note describing the goods, the money lent, the date, the name and place of abode of the person pawning, with the name and place of abode of the pawnbroker; which note shall be given gratic if the sum lent is under 5s. but where the money lent is 5s. and under 10s. the pawnbroker may take a halfpenny for the same; for 10s. and under 20s. one penny; 20s. and under 5t. two pence; 5t. or more, four pence; upon the production of which notes the pawnbrokers shall deliver up the goods pawned. The interest taken thereon shall be indorsed on the duplicates of pledges redeemed, and kept by the pawnbrokers for one year. s. 6. 7.

Persons unlawfully pawning goods, not being authorised by the owner, shall forfelt not exceeding 51. nor less than 20s. and the full value of the goods; and on default of payment, may be committed to hard labour for not more than three months, and if the penalties are not paid within three days before the expiration of the imprisonment, the party may, upon the application of the prosecutor, be whipped; and the penalties go to the parties injured; but if he will not accept the same, to the poor. And if any persons forge or counterfeit notes, or do not give an account of themselves, on offering to pawn or redeem goods, they may be seized and carried before a justice, who, on conviction, may send the offender to the house of correction for not more than three months. s. 9.

All persons not giving a good account of themselves on offering to pawn goods, may be detained and taken before a magistrate to be examined, and committed to be dealt with according to law, when necessary, or otherwise, for not exceeding three months. s. 10.

If any persons buy or take in pledge, unfinished goods of linen or apparel, entrusted to others to wash or mend, they shall forfeit double the sum lent, and restore the goods; and peace-officers, under a warrant, may search for such things, which, if found, are to be restored to the owner, 39 and 40 Geo. 3. c. 99. s. 11. 12.

Where goods are unlawfully pawned, the pawnbroker shall restore them; the party may have a search-warrant, and if found, the justice may direct them to be restored. But if a pawnbroker will not deliver up goods to the pawner upon production of a note, and tender of the principal and interest within a year, or one year and three months as the case is, the justice may upon proof thereof convict such pawnbroker, and send him to prison without bail, there to remain till be deliver up the goods, or make such compensation as the justice thinks fit. s. 13. 14.

Persons producing notes or memorandums shall be deemed the owners; and where notes or memorandums are lost, the pawnbroker shall deliver a copy, with the form of an affidavit, according to the case, taking for such copy and form of an affidavit, where the goods pawned do not exceed 5s. one halfpenny; exceeding 5s. and not 10s. one penny; and if above 10s. according to the rates payable for the original notes: which affidavit, being made before a justice, shall anthenticate the same, and the pawnbroker shall thereupon permit the pawner to redeem. s. 15.

Pawned goods shall be deemed forfeited at the end of one YEAR, and shall be sold by public auction, where the goods are pawned for more than 10s. and not above 10l. and the auctioneer shall expose the same to view, publish catalogues, and advertise the time and place of sale, with the name of the pawnbroker, in some newspaper two days before the sale; but on notice in writing or the presence of a witness, from persons having goods in pledge, not to sell, three months further shall be allowed beyond the year for redempting.

Pictures, however, prints, books, bronzes, statues, busts, carvings fu lvory and marble, cameus, intaglios, musical, mathematical, and philosophical instruments, and china, shall only be sold four times in the year; viz. on the first Monday and following days in January, April, July, and October, in each year, and to be regularly advertised on pain of not exceeding 5l. nor less than 40s. s. 17, 18, 19, 20

An account of sales of pledges above 10s. shall be entered by the pawabrokers in a book, and the overplus paid to the owner of the goods pawaed or sold, on pain of 10L and treble the sum lent. 5. 20.

No pawnbrokers shall purchase, or ngree to purchase, any goods whilst they are in their custody, in pledge, except at auction; nor shall they take pawns from persons appearing to be under twelve years of age, or intoxicated with liquor; nor shall they purchase, or take in pawn, the notes of other pawnbrokers; nor shall they buy any goods before eight in the forenoon, or after seven in the evening; nor receive pawns before eight in the forenoon, or after eight in the evening, between Michaelmas and Lady-Day, or before seven in the morning, or after nine in the evening, during the remainder of the year, Saturday evenings, and the evenings preceding Good Friday and Christmas day excepted. s. 21.

Pawnbrokers shall place in view the table of rates allowed by this act, and the price of notes. Their names and business also must be placed over the door, on penalty of 101. for every shop so used, one balf to the informer, and half to the poor; to be levied by distress and sale, and in default thereof, the party may be imprisoned for not more than three months, nor less than fourteen days.

s. 23.

Pawabrokers having sold goods illegally, or having embezzled or injured goods, shall make such satisfaction as the justice shall award to the owners, in case the same shall not amount to the principal and profit, or if it does, the goods shall be delivered to the owner without paying any thing, under the penalty of 101. s. 24.

Pawnbrokers are required to produce their books when necessary, on penalty of paying not exceeding 101. nor less than 51.; and pawnbrokers offending against this act, in neglecting to keep books, or make entries, shall forfeit not exceeding 101. and for every other offence, where no forfeiture is provided, not less than 40s. nor more than 51. s. 25, 26.

All forfeitures are to be recovered before any justice, so that prosecutions be commenced within twelve months. s. 27.

The churchwardens and overseers nominated by a justice, are obliged to prosecute, and any inhabitant may be a witness, except persons convicted of fraud or felony. s. 28, 29, 31, 36.

This act does not extend to persons lending money at 51. per cant, without further profit. But it extends to the executors and administrators of pawnbrokers and pawners, s. 31. and an appeal from the justice's conviction lies to the sessions. s. 35.

PAYMENT, is the consideration or purchase-money for goods, and may be made by the buyer giving to the seller the price agreed upon, either by bill or note, or by money. Where a day certain is appointed for payment, the party bound, shall be allowed till the last moment of the day to pay it in, if it be an inland bilf.—4 T. R. 173.

Payment of money before the day, is in law, payment at the day; for it cannot, in presumption of law, be any prejudice to him to whom the payment is made, to have his money before the time; and it appears by the party's receipt of it, that it is for his own advantage to receive it then. 5 Co. 117. See Acquittance, Discharge, Release.

PEACE, in the law signifies a quiet and harmless behaviour towards the king and his people.

The king, by his office and dignity royal, is the principal conservator of the peace within all his dominions; and may give authority to any other to see the peace kept, and to punish such as break it; hence it is usually called the king's peace. All the great officers of state, are generally conservators of the peace, throughout the kingdom, and may commit all breakers of it, or bind them in recognizance to keep it. Also the sheriff, coroner, constables and tithingmen, are conservators of the peace within their own jurisdiction and may apprehend all breakers of the peace, and commit them till they find sureties to keep the peace. 1 Black. 350.

PEACE-OFFICERS, actions against peace-officers made local.
21 Jac. 1. c. 12.

PECULIAR, signifies a particular parish or church that hath jurisdiction within itself, for probate of wills, &c. exempt from the ordinary, and the bishop's court.

The court of peculiars, is that which deals in certain parisher, lying in several dioceses, which parishes are exempt from the jurishediction of the bishops of these dioceses, and are peculiarly belonging to the archbishop of Canterbury, within whose province there are 57 such peculiars.

PEDLARS. See Hawkers.

PEERS, in our common law, are those who are impanuelled in an inquest upon any man, for the convicting or clearing him of any offence, for which he is called in question; and the reason thereof is, because the course and custom of our nation is to try every man in such a case by his equals, or peers.

PEERS OF THE REALM, are the nobility of the kingdom, and lords of parliament; who are divided into dukes, marquises, earls, viscounts, and harons; and the reason why they are called peers, is, because notwithstanding there is a distinction of dignities in our nobility, yet in all public actions they are equal; as in their votes of parliament, and in passing upon the trial of any nobleman.

It seems clearly, that the right of peerage was originally territorial; that is, annexed to lands, houses, castles and the like; the proprietors and possessors of which were, in right of those estates, allowed to be peers of the realm, and were summoned in parliament to do suit and service to their squereign; and, when the land was alienated, the dignity passed with its appendant. bishops sit still in the house of lords in right of succession to certain antient haronies annexed, or supposed to be annexed, to their episcopal lands.

But afterwards, as alienations grew frequent, the dignity of peerage was confined to the lineage of the party enpobled, and instead of territorial, became personal. Actual proof of a tenure by barosy became no longer necessary to constitute a lord of parliament; but the record of the writ of summons to him, or his ancestors, was admitted as a sufficient evidence of the tenure.

Peers are now created either by writ, or patent; for those who claim by prescription must suppose either a writ or patent made to their ancestors, though by length of time it may be lost. The creeation by writ or the king's letter, is a summons to attend the house of peers, by the stile and title of that barony, which the king is pleased · to confer; that by patent, is a royal grant to a subject of any dignity and degree of peerage. The creation by writ, is the more satical way; but a man is not ennobled thereby, unless he actually take his seat in the house of lords; and therefore the most usual, because the surest way, is to grant the dignity by patent, which ensures to $ man and his heirs, according to the limitations thereof, though he never himself makes use of it. 1 Black. 399.

In criminal cases, a nobleman is tried by his peers. have the benefit of clergy for the first offence of felony, without being burned in the hand. I Ed. 6. c. 11. See Parliament, and High Court of Parliament.

PEERESS, as we have noblemen, so we have noble women, and these may be by creation, descent or marriage, and they are entitled to nearly the same privileges.

PENAL LAWS or STATUTES, having been made on many occasions, to punish and deter offeuders, they ought to be construed strictly, and not to be extended by rquity, but the words of them may be interpreted beneficially according to the intent of the legislators. 1 Inst. 54.

PENALTY, is a forfeiture inflicted for not complying with the regulations of certain acts of parliament: a penalty is also arnexed to secure the performance of certain covenants in a deed, articles of agreement, co-partnership, &c. In a bond also for pafment of money, it is usual to annex a penalty in double the amount of the obligation. See Bond.

PENANCE, a punishment by which a penitent is obliged to give public satisfaction to the church for the scandal he hath given by evil example.

PENSION, no person having a pension from the crown, during pleasure, or for any term of years, is capable of being elected a member of the house of commons. 1 Black. 176.

To receive a pension from a foreign prince or state, without leave of the king, has been held to be criminal, because it may incline a man to prefer the interest of such foreign prince to that of his own country. I Haw 58.

PENSIONS OF CHURCHES, certain sums of money paid to clergymen in lieu of tithes.

PENSIONS OF THE INNS OF COURT, are certain annual payments of each member to the house.

PEREMPTORY, a final and determinate act, without hope of renewing or altering.

PERJURY, is a crime committed when a lawful oath is administered, by any one who hath authority, to a person in any judicial proceeding, who swears wilfully, absolutely and falsely, in a matter material to the issue or cause in question, by his own act, or by the subornation of others. To constitute perjury, it is essential that the oath be wilfully taken; that it be in a judicial proceeding, or some other public proceeding of a similar nature: the oath must be taken before persons lawfully authorized to administer it, and also by a person sworn to depose the truth; it must also be taken absolutely and directly, and upon something material to the point in issue.

It is not material whether the false oath were credited or not, or whether the party in whose prejudice it was taken, was in the event damaged by it; for the prosecution is not grounded upon the damage, but on the abuse of public justice; neither is it material whether the thing sworn be true or false.

By stat. 5 Eliz. c. 9. persons guilty of perjury, or subornation of perjury, are to be punished with one year's imprisonment, and stand in the pillory where the offence was committed. This offence is also punished by transportation.

PERMIT, a license or warrant for persons to pass with or sell-goods, having paid the duties of customs and excise. See PAPER.

PER MY ET PER TOUT, a joint tenant is said to be seized of land he holds jointly per my et per tout, that is by every parcel and the whole.

PERNOR OF PROFITS, he who takes or receives the profits. . Y y.3.

PERPETUATING the testimony of witnesses, is, where the witnesses are old and infirm, and one of the parties institutes a suit to perpetuate their testimony; for it may be, a man's antagonist only waits for the death of some of them to begin his suit.

PERPETUITY is, where if all that have interest join in the conveyance, yet they cannot bar or pass the estate; for if by concurrence of all having interest, the estate may be barred, it is no perpetuity. 1 Chan. Ca. 213.

PERQUISITE, any thing acquired by a man's own industry, or parchased with his own money.

PERQUISITES OF COURTS, are the profits which grow to a lord of a manor by virtue of his court baron, over and above the certain yearly profits of his land; as fines of copyholds, herists, amerciaments, waifs, strays, &c.

PERSONABLE, one enabled to maintain plea in court; as, the defendant was judged personable to maintain his action.

PERSONAL, any movemble thing belonging to a man, be it quick or dead, as chattels, personal, &c.

PERSONAL ACTION. See Action.

PERSONAL TITHES, tithes paid of such profits as come by the labour of a man's person, as by buying and selling, guins of merchandize, and handicrafts, &c.

PERSONALITY, an action is in the personality, where it is brought against the right person, or the person against whom is law it lies.

PERSONATE, is the representing a person by a fictitious or assumed character, so as to pass for the person represented. Personating bail, is by stat. 21 Jac. 1. c. 26. a capital felony. By various other statutes, personating seamen entitled to wages, prize-money,

&c. is also a capital felony. See Fraud,

PETITION, no petition to the king, or to either house of parliament, for any alteration in church or state, shall be signed by above twenty persons, unless the matter thereof be approved, by three justices of the peace, or the major part of the grand jury in the country; and in London by the lord mayor, aldermen, and common council: nor shall any petition be presented by more than ten persons at a time. 3 Car. 2. stat. 1, c. 5.

PETITION IN CHANCERY, a request in writing, directed to the lord chancellor or master of the rolls, she wing some matter or cause whereupon the petitioner prays somewhat to be granted him. P. R. c. 269.

PETITION OF RIGHT. See stat. 3 Car. l. c. l. PETTY or PETIT LARCENY. See Larceny.

PRTTY SESSION. See Sessions of the Peace.

PETTY or PETIT TREASON. See Treason.

PEWS, in a church, are somewhat of the nature of heir-looms, which may descend by custom immemorial, from the ancestor to the heir, without any exclesiastical concurrence. 2 Black. 429.

PHEASANTS AND PARTRIDGES. See Game.

PHYSICIANS, no person within London, nor within seven miles of the same, shall exercise as a physician or surgeon, except he be examined and approved by the bishop of London, or by the dean of St. Paul's, calling to them four doctors of physic, and for surgery, other expert persons in that faculty, of them that have been approved; upon the pain of forfeiture for every month 5l. one half to the king, and the other half to any that will sue. 3 Hen. 8. c. 11.

One that has taken his degree of doctor of physic in either of the universities, may not practice in London, and within seven miles of the same, without license from the college of physicians.

And it bath been holden, that if a person, not duly authorized to be a physician or surgeon, undertake a cure, and the patient die under his hands, he is guilty of felony; but he is not excluded from the benefit of clergy. I Hawk. P. C. c. 32. s. 62. No physician can maintain an action for his fees. 4. Durnf. and East 317. Physicians are exempt from serving civil offices, and also in the militias.

PIE POWDER COURT. See Fairs.

PIGEONS, every person who shall shoot at, kill, or destroy, a pigeon, may be committed to the common gaol for three months, by two justices of the peace, or pay 20s. to the poor. 1 Jac. 1. c. 27.

PILLORY, a very antient instrument of punishment in this kingdom: and they that have been adjudged to the pillory, are infamous, and not to be received as jurors or witnesses. 3 Inst. 219.

PILOT, all pilots must be examined and approved by the Trinity House. 3 Geo. 1. c. 13.

For government of the pilots of the Trinity House at Deptford, see 5 Geo. 2. c. 30. & 48 Geo. 3. c. 104.

PIPE, a roll in the exchequer, otherwise called the great roll.

PIRATE, one who maintains himself by pillage and robbing at sea.

By stat. 27 Hen. 8. c. 4. and 28 Hen. 8. c. 15. all treasons, felomics, robberies, murders, and confederacies committed upon the sen, or in any haven, creek, or place, where the admiral bath jurisdiction, shall be tried in such shires, or places, as the king shall appoint by his commission, in like forms, as if such offence had been committed upon land, and according to the course of the common law, and the offenders shall suffer death without benefit of clergy.

By the stat. 11 and 12 W. S. c. 7. (made perpetual by the 6 Geo. I. c. 19.) if any natural horn subject commit any act of hostility upon the high sens against others of his majesty's subjects, under colour of a commission from any foreign power; this, though it would be only an act of war in an alien, shall be construed piracy in a subject. And farther, any commander, or other scafaring person, betraying his trust, and running away with any ship, boat, ordnance, ammunition, or goods, or yielding them up voluntarily to a pirate; or compiring to do these acts; or any person assaulting the commander of a vessel, to hinder him from fighting in defeace of his ship; or confining him, or making or endeavouring to make a revolt on board, shall, for each of these offences, be adjudged a pirate, felon, and robber, and shall suffer death, whether he be principal, or merely accessary by setting forth such pirates, or abetting them before the fact, or receiving and concealing them or their goods after k. By the 4 Geo. 1. c. 11. pirates under this last act are to be tried according to the 28 Hen. 8. c. 15. and are expressly excluded from the benefit of clergy. - By the 8 Geo. 1. c. 24. (made perpetual by 2 Geo. 2. c. 28.) the trading with known pirates, or furnishing them with stores or ammunition, or fitting out any vessel for that purpose, or in anywise consulting, combining, confederating, or corresponding with them; or the forcibly boarding any merchant vessel, though without seizing or earrying her off, and on throwing any of the goods overboard, shall be deemed piracy; and such accessories to piracy as are described by the 11 & 12 Will. 3. c. 7. are declared to be principals; and all pirates convicted by virtue of this act are made felons without benefit of clergy. By the same statutes also (to encourage the defence of merchant vessels against pirates) the commanders or seamen wounded. and the widows of such seamen as are slain, in any piratical engagement, are entitled to a bounty, to be divided among them, not exceeding one aftieth part of the value of the cargo on board: and such wounded seamen shall be entitled to the pension of Greenwick Hospital, which no other seamen are, except only such as have served in a ship of war. And if the commander shall behave cowardly, in not defending the ship, if she carries gums or arms, or shall discharge the mariners from fighting, so that the ship full into the hands of pirates, such commander shall forfeit all his wages, and suffer six months imprisonment.

By the 18 Geo. 2. c. 30, persons during any war, committing hostilities at sea, where the admirals have power, against his majesty's subjects, or giving aid to enemies at sea, may be tried as pirates. Piracies at sea are excepted out of the general pardon, by 20 Geo. 2. c. 52.

By the 39 Geo. 3. c. 37. all offences whatever committed on the high seas shall be liable to the same punishment as if committed on shore, and shall be tried and adjudged in the same manner as felonies are directed by 28 Hen. 8. c. 15. s. 1. Persons tried for murder or manulaughter, and found guilty of manulaughter only, shall be entitled to the benefit of clergy, and be subject to the same punishment as if committed on land. s. 2.

By the 46 Geo. 3. c. 54. all offences whatever committed on the sea, or in any haven, river, creek, or place, within the admiralty jurisdiction, may be tried in any of his majesty's islands or dominions, by virtue of the king's commission under the great seal, and the commissioners shall have the same powers as under 28 Hen. 8. c. 15.

By the 48 Geo. 3. c. 130. commissions for trial of offences within the Cinque Ports, issued under 28 Hen. 8. are to be directed to the admirals, or their deputies, and also to the lord warden, and to his deputies. s. 17.

PIRATE'S GOODS, go to the admiral by grant, but not piratical goods, which go to the king, if the owner be not known.

PISCARY, is a right of fishing in another man's waters.

PLACE, where a fact was committed, is to be alledged in appeals of death, indictments, &c. and place is considerable in pleadings in some cases.

PLACITA, pleas, or pleading, or debates and trials at law.

PLAGUE. See Quarantins.

PLAINT, is the exhibiting any action personal or real in writing, and the party making this plaint, is called the plaintiff.

PLANTATIONS, colonies in distant countries; and are either such where the lands are claimed by right of occupancy only, by finding them desart and uncultivated, and peopling them from the mother country; or where, when already cultivated, they have been either gained by conquest, or ceded by treaties.

PLAYS AND GAMES. See Gaming.

PLEA, that which either party alledges for himself in court. These are divided into pleas of the crown and common pleas. Pleas of the crown, are all suits in the king's name, against offences committed against his crown and dignity, or against his crown and peace. Common pleas, are those that are held between common persons.

Common pleas, are either dilatory, or pleas to the action.

Pleas Dilatory, are such as tend merely to delay, or put off the suit, by questioning the propriety of the remedy, rather than by denying the injury.

Pleas to the action, are such as dispute the very cause of suit. 3 Black. 301. See Tidd's K. B. Practics.

PLEADINGS. Pleadings in general, signify the allegations of parties to suits when they are put into a proper and legal form; and are distinguished in respect to the parties who plead them, by the names of bars, replications, rejoinders, sur-rejoinders, rebutters, sur-rebutters, &c. and though the matter in the declaration or court does not properly come under the name of pleading, yet, being often comprehended in the extended sense of the word, it is generally considered under this head. 4 Bac. Abr. 1. See Tida's K. B. Practice.

PLEDGERY, suretyship.

PLENARTY, is used in the common law in matters of benefices, and where a church is full of an incumbent; in such cases plenarty and vacation are direct contraries.

PLENE ADMINISTRAVIT, a plea pleaded by an executor or administrator, where they have administered the deceased's estate faithfully and justly before the action brought against them.

PLOUGH-BOTE, a right of tenants to take wood to repair ploughs, carts, and harrows.

PLOUGH-SILVER, was money antiently paid by some tenants, in lieu of service to plough the lord's land.

PLURALITY. By 21 Hen. 8. c. 13. if any person having one benefice with cure of souls of 81. a year in the king's books, shall accept another of whatsoever value, and be instituted and inducted into the same, the former benefice shall be void; unless he have a dispensation from the urchbishop of Canterbury, who hath power to grant dispensations to chaplains of noblemen and other under proper qualifications, to hold two livings, provided they be not more than thirty miles distant from each other, and provided, that he reside is each, for a reasonable time every year, and that he keep a sufficient curate in that wherein he doth not ordinarily reside.

POISONING, is the most detestable of all kinds of murder; because it is most horrible and fearful to the nature of man, and of all others can be least prevented, either by resistance or foresight. See Murder under the article Homicids.

POLICE, is applied to the internal regulations of large cities and towns, particularly of the metropolis. The police of the city of London is principally regulated by the 2 Geo. 3. c. 28. 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 87. (continued by the 47 Geo. 3. sess. 1. c. 37.) 43 Geo. 3. c. 115.

51 Geo. 3. c. 65 and 119. to which on account of their length, the reader is referred.

POLICY OF INSURANCE. See Insurance (Marine.)

POLYGAMY, is where a man marries two or more wives together; or a woman who has two or more husbands at the same time. See BIGAMY.

PONE, if a replevin be sued by a writ out of chancery, then if the plaintiff or defendant will move the plaint out of the county into the common pleas or king's bench, he ought to sue a writ out of the chancery, which is called a pone.

PONENDIS IN ASSISIS, a writ to shew what persons, sheriffs ought to empannel upon assizes and juries, and what not; as also what number.

PONTIBUS REPARANDIS, a writ directed to the sheriff, &c. requiring him to charge one or more to repair a bridge to whom it belongeth.

POOR.—Before the reign of our illustrious queen, Elizabeth, no regular provision was made for the support of the poor under the authority of the legislature: sines her reign various acts have been passed, the substance only of which is contained in the present article; as the legal decisions on such statutes are too voluminous to admit even of the most cursory notice.

I. Settlement of the poor. By 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 12. it is enacted, that within forty days after any poor persons shall come to settle in any tenement under ten pounds a year, two justices may remove them to the place where they were last legally settled.

But by the I Jac. 2. c. 17. such forty days continuance shall not make a settlement, but from the time of delivering notice in writing; and by 3 W. c. 11. it must be from the time of the publication of such notice in the church: but it has always been understood, that a person who is not removeable, need not give such notice; and that a person continuing forty days unremoveable, and a person not removed for forty days after such notice given and published, shall equally gain a settlement.

Where the last legal settlement of the father of a legitimate child is not known, the child may be sent to the place of its birth, as well as an illegitimate one. Blackerby. 246.

A legitimate child, shall necessarily follow the settlement of its parents as a nurse child or as a part of the family, only till it be seven years of age; and after that age, it shall not be removed as part of the father's family; but with an adjudication of the place of its own legal settlement, as being deemed capable at that age of having gained a settlement of his own.

By the 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 12. on complaint by the churchwardem or overseers of the poor, within forty days after any person shall come to settle in any parish, or any tenement under 10L a year, two justices, (one of the quorum) may remove him to the place where he was last legally settled, either as a native, householder, so journer, apprentice, or servant, for the space of forty days at the least.

If a person be bound apprentice by indenture, wherever he continues forty days in the service of his master or mistress, there such apprentice gains a settlement; and where any person serves the last forty days of his apprenticeship, that is the place of his last legal actilement.

The 8 & 9 W. c. 20. explains, that as some doubts had arise touching the settlement of unmarried persons, not having child or children, lawfully hired into any parish or town for one year, it was enacted, that no such person so hired as aforesaid, should be deemed to have a good settlement in any such parish or township, unless such person should continue and abide in such service, during the space of one whole year.

A general hiring, without any particular time agreed upon, is construed to be an hiring for a year, and therefore sufficient.

It is not the terms of the hiring, but the intention that is the criterion; for though a servant be hired for so much per week, yet if it be understood at the time, that he is to continue for the year, if approved of, it is equal to an hiring for a year.

A woman marrying an husband who has a known settlement, shall follow her husband's settlement.

The act of 9 & 10 W. c. 11. doth not require a person renting a tenement of 10l. a year, to occupy it: it is enough if he rent it and reside forty days in the parish.

II. Poor-rate. The 43 Eliz. c. 2. enacts, that the churchwardens and overseers of the poor of every parish, or the greater part of them, shall raise weekly of otherwise (by taxation of every inhabitant, parson, vicar, and other, and of every occupier of lands, houses, tithes, mines, or saleable underwoods in the said parish) a convenient stock of flax, hemp, wool, thread, iron, and other ware and stuff, to set the poor on work: and also competent sums for the necessary relief of the lame, impotent, old, blind, and such other among them being poor as are not able to work, and also for the putting out poor children apprentices.

The concurrence of the inhabitants in making a rate is not necessary; for the churchwardens and overseers, with the consent of 140 justices, may make one without them. 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 18 s. 22.

The occupier of an house, or of an estate, ought to be rated according to its full value, with all its improvements; and not according to the price which he may have paid for it, without taking into the account the value of the improvements. It v. Mast. Hill. 35 Geo. 3.

By 17 Geo. 2. c. 3. the churchwardons and overseers and other persons authorised to take care of the poor in every parish or place; shall give public notice in the church of every rate for the relief of the poor, allowed: by the justices, THE NEXT SUNDAY after the same is allowed, and no rate shall be valid, so as to collect the same; unless such notice shall have been given. s 1.

By 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. copies of all rates made for the relief of the poor shall be entered in a book to be provided by the churchward dens and overseers, who shall take care that such copies shall be entered within fourteen days after all appeals from such rates are destermined, and shall attest the same by putting their names theretog and all such books shall be preserved by the churchwardens and overseers, or one of them, whereto all persons assessed or limberto be assessed may resort, and shall be delivered over from time to time to the succeeding churchwardens and overseers as soon as they enteriate their offices, and shall be produced by them at the general originater sessions, when any appeal is to be heard. s. 13.

And if any churchwarden, overseer of the poor, or other officer, shall neglect so to do, or act contrary hereto, he shall on oath thereof made, within two calendar months after the offence, before two justices, forfeit for the use of the poor not exceeding 5t. nor less than 20s. to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant from such justices, which sum shall be paid to some church-warden or overseer of such parish or place. s. 4.

By 17 Geo 2. c. 3. the churchwardens and overseers shall permit every inhabitant to inspect such rate at all reasonable times, paying 1s. and shall upon demand forthwith give copies, paying 6d. for every twenty-four names. s. 2.

And if any churchwarden or overseer shall not permit any inhabitant to inspect the rates, or shall refuse or neglect to give copies: thereof, he shall forfeit 20% to the party aggricated, to be recovered by action in any court of record. 5. S.

The poor's rate is to be made for the purposes of raising a convenient stock of flax, bemp, wool, thread, iron, and other necessary wave and stuff to set the poor on work; AND ALSO competent sums of money for and towards the necessary relief of the lame, impotent, old, blind, and such other among them being poor and not able to work; AND ALSO for the putting out of poor children apprentices;

AND to do and execute all other things as well for the disposing of the stock, or otherwise concerning the premises, as to them shall seem convenient. 43 Eliz. c. 2. s. 1.

And in case any person shall neglect to pay to the overseers any sum that he shall be legally rated to, the succeeding overseers shall levy such arrears, and reimburse their predecessors all sums expended for the use of the poor, and allowed to be due to them in their accounts. 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. s. 11.

Where any person shall come into or occupy any house, land, or hereditament, out of which any person assessed shall be removed, or which at the making such rate was empty, every person so removing from, and every person so coming into the same, shall be liable to pay to such rate in proportion to the time that such person occupied the same, as if such person so removing had not removed, or such person so coming in had been originally rated, which proportion in case of dispute shall be ascertained by any two justices. 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. s. 12.

By 48 Eliz. c. 2. if the justices do perceive that the inhabitants of any parish are not able to levy among themselves a sufficient sum for the purposes aforesaid, then the said two justices (one to be of the quorum) shall tax, rate and assess as aforesaid ANY OTHER OTHER PARISHES or out of any parish within the hundred where the said parish is, to pay such sums to the churchwardens and oververseers of the said poor of the parish for the said purposes, as the said justices shall think fit. And if the said hundred shall not be thought by the said justices able and fit to relieve the said several parishes unable to provide for themselves, then the justices at their general quarter sessions shall rate and assess as aforesaid ANY OTHER OR OTHER PARISHES or out of any parish within the said county for the purposes aforesaid. s. 3.

Whatsoever affords a certain annual profit, is rateable to the poor. Thus, lands, ground-rents, tithes, waste lands after they have been improved, tolls, conventicles or dissenters' chapels, if let out so as to produce an annual profit, episcopal palaces, corporations, woods, the profits of the ranger of a royal park, and of a prison, together with those of weighing machines on turnpike roads, are all rateable to the poor. But the palaces and lands of the royal family, buildings bona fide used for the public benefit, hospitals and all charitable institutions, mines, and the profits of professions are all exempt from the poor rate. But whether stock in trade is rateable, is not yet fully determined, though there are strong decisions for and against rating it.

By 43 Eliz. c. 2. the father and grandfather, and the mother and grandmother, and the children of every poor, old, billed, lame, and impotent person, or other poor person not able to work, being of a sufficient ability, shall, at their own charges, relieve and maintain every such poor person in that manner, and according to that rate, as by the justices of that county where such sufficient persons dwell, or at their general quarter sessions, shall be assessed, upon pain to forfeit twenty shillings for every month which they shall fail therein.

3. 7. And such forfeiture shall go to the use of the poor of the same parish, and be levied by the churchwardens and overseers, by warrant from two justices (one to be of the quorum) or mayor, or alderman, or head officer within their limits, by distress and sale; or in defect thereof, such justices, or the said aldermen and head officers within their limits, may commit the offender to the common gaol till the forfeiture be paid. c. 11.

By the 5 Geo. i. c. 8. reciting, that whereas divers persons rusaway from their places of abode, some men leaving their wives or children, and some mothers leaving children upon the charge of the parish, although such persons have some estates, which should ease the parish, it is enacted, that it shall be lawful for the churchwardens or overseers, where any wife or children shall be so left, by warrant or order from any two justices, to seize so much of the goods, and receive so much of the annual rents and profits of the lands, of such husband, father or mother, as such justices shall direct, for the discharge of the parish for the providing for such wife, child, or children; which order being confirmed at the next quarter sessions, it shall be lawful for the justices there to make an order for the charchwardens or overseers to dispose of such goods and chattels by sale, or otherwise so much of them, for the purposes aforesaid, as the court shall think fit; and to receive the rents and profits, or so much of them as shall be ordered by the sessions, of his or her lands and tenements for the purpose aforesaid. And the churchwardens and overseers shall be accountable at the quarter sessions for all money they receive by virtue of this act. s. 2.

By the 17 Geo. 2. c. 5. all persons who threaten to run away and leave their wives or children to the parish, shall be deemed idle and disorderly persons; and any justice may commit such offenders (being thereof convicted by confession, or oath of one witness) to the house of correction, there to be kept to hard labour for not exceeding one month. s. 1. And all persons who run away or leave their wives or children, whereby they may become chargeable to the parish, shall be deemed rogues and vagabonds, and punished as such. s. 2.

. By the 32 Geo. 3. c. 45. after reciting that persons by their wilful default and neglect, permit their wives to become chargeable to their parish, it is enacted, that if it he made appear to two justices, that such person doth not use proper means to get employment, or if he is able to work, by his neglect of work, or by spending his momey in alchouses or places of bad repute, or in any other improper manner, shall not apply a proper proportion of the money he ears towards the maintenance of his wife and family, by which they or any of them become chargeable to their parish, he shall be deemed an idle and disorderly person. s. 8.

By the 17 Geo. 2. c. 83. if any person shall be aggrieved by say assessment, or shall have any material objection to any persons being put in or left out of such assessment, or to the sum charged on any person or persons thesein, he may, giving reasonable notice to the churchwardens or overseers, appeal to the next general or quarter ressions for the county, riding, division, corporation, or franchise, and the justices there are to receive such appeal, and determine the same; but if remonable nutice was not given, then they shall adjourn the said appeal to the mext quarter sessions, and then hear and determine the same, and the said fastices may named to the party from whom such appeal shall be determined, costs, in the same menner as in case of appeals concerning settlements. But in all corporations or franchises that have not four justices of the peace, it shall be lawful to appeal to the next general or quarter sessions of the peace for the county, riding, or division, where such corporation or franchise is situate. And upon all appeals from rates, the justices (where they see just cause to give relief) shall menend the same in such manner only as shall be necessary for giving relief, without siltering such rates with respect to other persons mentioned in the same; but if upon an appeal from the whole rate, it shall be found necessary to quash the same, then they shall order the charchware dens and overseers to make a new equal rate. s. 4-6.

By 41 Geo. 3. sees. 2. c. 23. all notices of appeal from or against any rate made for the relief of the poor, or from or against the account of the churchwardens and overseers, shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the person giving the same or his attorney on his behalf; and such notices shall be delivered to or left at the place of abode of the churchwardens and overseers, or any two of them, and the particular causes of appeal shall be stated in such notice; and upon the hearing, the sessions shall not inquire into any other cause of appeal than such as is stated in the notice of appeal. s. 4.

But with the consent of the overseers, signified by them or their attorney in open court, and with the consent of any other person isterested therein, the said court of sessions may proceed to hear and decide upon such appeal, although no notice thereof shall have beengiven in writing; and also with the like consent to hear and decide upon grounds of appeal, not stated or mistated in such written notice where any notice shall have been given in writing. s. 5.

By 41 Geo. 3. s. 2. c. 23. upon all appeals from any rate made for the relief of the poor, the court of general or quarter sessions of the peace shall (in all cases where they shall see just cause to give relief) amend such rate, either by inserting therein or striking out the name of any person, or by altering the sum therein charged on any person, or in any other manner which the said court shall think necessary for giving such relief, and without quashing or wholly setting aside such rate. But if the said court should be of opinion that it is necessary for the purpose of giving relief to the person appealing, that the rate should be wholly quashed, then the said court may quash the same. Nevertheless all sums of money in and by such rate charged on any person may be levied and recovered by such ways, and in the same manner, as if no appeal had been made against such rate, and all sums of money which any person charged in such rate shall pay, or which shall be levied upon or recovered from him shall be deemed payments on account of the next effective rate which shall be made. s. 1.

And all sums of money at which any persons are rated, may be levied and recovered, notwithstanding the persons so rated, or any other persons, shall have given notice of appeal against such rate for any cause whatsoever: but if any person rated shall give notice of appeal, then until the appeal shall have been heard, no proceedings shall be carried on to recover any greater sum than the sum at which he shall have been rated at the last effective rate which shall have been collected. And in case the sessions shull upon appeal order any rate to be quashed, it shall be lawful for the said court to order amy sum in such rate charged on any person, or any part of such sum, not to be paid, and in such case no proceedings shall be commenced; or if commenced, shall be no further carried on for the purpose of levying the payment of any sum so ordered not to be paid: and no justice of the peace, constable, or other officer, or other person, shall be deemed a trespasser, or liable to any action, for any warzant, order, act, or thing, done for the purpose of levying payment, before he shall have no notice in writing, of the order for the nons. 2, 3. payment.

If any person shall appeal against any rate, because any other person is ruted or is omitted therein, or because, any other person is rated at any greater or less sum, than the sum at which he ought to be rated therein, or for any other cause that may require any alteration to be made in such rate with respect to any other person; the person so appealing shall give such notice of appeal in writing, as before mentioned, not only to the churchwardens or overseers, or two of them, but also to the other person so interested or concerned in the event of such appeal; and such other person shall, if he shall so desire, be beard upon the said appeal; and it shall be lawful for the sessions, on hearing of such appeal, to order the name of such other person to be inserted in such rate, and him to be therein rated at any sum of money, or to order the name of such other person to be struck out of such rate, or the sum at which he is rated to be altered, in such manner as the court shall think right; and the proper officer of the court shall forthwith add to or alter the rate accordingly. If upon the hearing of any appeal, the court shall order the name of any person to be inserted, and him to be rated, or shall order the sum at which any person is rated to be increased, in such case the sum so ordered to be rated or to be increased, or so much thereof as shall not have been already paid may be recovered in the same manner, as if he had been originally named in such rate. s. 6.7.

If upon the hearing of any appeal, the sessions shall order the name of any person to be struck out, or the sum rated to be decreased; and if it shall be made appear that such person hath previously paid any sum in consequence of such rate which he ought not to have paid, then the court shall order such sum to be repaid by the churchwardens and overseers, together with all reasonable costs, occasioned by such persons having paid or been required to pay the same; and the sum so ordered to be repaid, may, together with all such costs, be levied and recovered from them by distress, and all such other ways as money charged on any person by the rate made for the relief of the poor can be by law levied or recovered. s. 8.

By the 43 Eliz. c. 42. it shall be lawful as well for the present as subsequent churchwardens and overseers, or any of them, by warrant from two or more justices, one of them to be of the quorum, to levy the said sums, and all arrearages, of every one that shall refuse to contribute, according as they shall be assessed, by distress and sale. s. 4.

And by 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. the goods of any person assessed and refusing to pay, may be levied by warrant of distress, not only in the place for which such assessment was made, but in any other place within the said county or precinct; and if sufficient distress cannot be found within the said county or precinct, or oath thereof before some justice of any other county or precinct, (which oath shall be certified under the hand of such justice on the warrant), such goods may be levied in such other county or precinct; and if any person find himself aggricved by such distress, he may appeal to the next general or quarter sessions for the county or precinct where the assessment was made. s. 7.

And by 43 Eliz. c. 2. for want of such distress, such two justices may commit the party to the common gaol of the county, there to remain without bail or mainprise, until payment. s. 4.

By 17 Geo. 2. c. 38. if any person shall neglect to pay any sum that he shall be rated to, the succeeding overseers are to levy such arrears, and out of the money so levied reimburse their predecessors all sums which they have expended for the use of the poor, and which are allowed to be due to them in their accounts. s. 11.

By 26 Geo. 2. c. 18. all justices may execute all acts, so far as the same relate to parochial taxes, levies or rates, notwithstanding any such justices are rated to or chargeable with any such rates; provided that nothing herein shall authorize any justice to act in the determination of any appeal to the sessions, from any matter relating to any parish or place where such justice is so taxed or chargeable. s. 1, 2.

By 17 Geo. 2. c. 18. when any distress shall be made for money justly due for the relief of the poor, the distress itself shall not be deemed unlawful, nor the party making it a trespasser on account of any defect in the warrant for the appointment of such overseers, or in the rate or in the warrant of distress; nor shall the party distraining be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards done by him; but the party aggrieved by such irregularity, shall recover satisfaction, for the special damage sustained, and no more, in an action of trespass or on the case. Provided that where the plaintiff recover, he shall be paid his cost. But no plaintiff shall recover for any irregularity as aforesaid, if tender of amends hath been made by the party distraining before such action brought. s. 3, 9, 10.

III. Relief and Employment of the Poor. The 43 Eliz. c. 2, enacts, that the churchwardens and overseers of every parish shall take order from time to time, with the consent of two justices (one to be of the quorum) dwelling in or near the same parish or division, for setting to work the children of all such whose parents shall not by the said churchwardens and overseers be thought able to keep and maintain their children; and for setting to work all such persons married or unmarried, having no means to maintain them, and using no ordinary and daily trade: and also, to raise weekly or otherwise (by taxation as aforesaid) a convenient stock of flax, hemp, wool, thread, iron, and other necessary stuff, to set the poor on work: and also, competent sums for the necessary relief of the lame, impotent.

old, blind, and such other among them being poor and not able to work; and also for the putting out such children to be apprentices. s. l.

And the said churchwardens and overseers shall meet together at least once every month in the church upon the Sunday in the afternoon after divine service, to comider of some good course to be taken, and of some meet order to be set down in the premises.—

And the said justices, or one of them, shall send to the house of correction or common gaol, such as shall not employ themselves to work, being appointed as aforesaid: and any two justices to commit to prison the churchwardens and overseers which shall refuse to account.

43 Elis. c. 2. s. 4.

And it shall he lawful for the churchwardens and overseers, by leave of the lord of the manor whereof any waste or common within their parish is parcel, to build in such waste at the charges of the parish, or of the hundred or county as aforesaid, houses of dwelling for the poor, which cottages shall not be used for any other habitation, but only for impotent and poor of the parish. s. 5.

The churchwardens and overseers may, with the consent of two justices, whereof one of the quorum, and where there are no more than one, with the assent of that one justice, set up any trade, only for the setting on work and relief of the poor. 3 Car. 1. c. 5. a. 22.

By the 9 Geo. 1. c. 7. it is enacted, that the churchwardens and overseers in any parish, township, or place, with the consent of the major part of the parishioners or inhabitants, in vestry, or other parish or public meeting for that purpose assembled, or of so many of them as shall be so assembled, upon usual notice thereof first gives, may purchase or hire any bouse or houses, in the same parish, towaship, or place, and contract with any person or persons, for the lodging, keeping, maintaining, and employing, any or all such poor in their respective parishes, townships, or places, as shall desire to receive relief or collection, and there to keep, maintain, and employ them, and take the benefit of the work, labour, and service, of any such poor persons, who shall be maintained in any such house or houses, for the better maintenance and relief of such poor persons who shall be there maintained. And any poor person who shall refuse to be lodged, kept, or maintained, in such house or houses shall be put out of the parish book, and shall not be entitled to receive relief from the churchwardens and overseers.

This act however has since been altered by the 36 Geo. 3. c. 23. which enacts, that overseers, with the approbation of the parishioners or any justice, may relieve poor persons at their out houses. Justi es may also order relief to poor persons at their own houses; but the cause of ordering such relief shall be assigned on the order of the justice. But this is not to extend to places where houses of industry are provided under 22 Geo. 3. c. 83. or under any special act.

By 9 Geo. 1. c. 7. s. 4. it is provided, that where any parish, town, or township, shall be too small to purchase or hire such house or houses for the poor of their own parish only, it shall be lawful for two or more such parishes, townships, or places, with the consent of the major part of the parishioners or inhabitants, in vestry or other public meeting for that purpose assembled, or of so many of them as shall be so assembled, upon usual notice thereof first given, and with the approbation of any justice, dwelling in or near such parish or place, signified under his hand and seal, to unite in purchasing, hirlug or taking such bouse, for the lodging, keeping and maintaining of the pour of the several parishes or places uniting, and there to keep, maintain, and employ such poor of the respective parishes so uniting, and to take and have the benefit of their work, labour, or service, for the better maintenance and relief of the poor there kept, maintained, and employed. And if any poor person in the parishes, thribahips, or places so uniting, shall refuse to be longed, kept, and maintained in the house hired or taken for such uniting parishes or places, he shall be put out of the collection book, and not entitled to ask relief. s. 4.

But no poor person or his apprentice, or child, shall acquire a settlement in the parish or place to which they are removed by virtue of this act; but their settlement shall remain in such parish or place, as it was before such removal. It is however wisely enacted by the 45 Geo. S. c. 54. that no contract made by the churchwardens and overseers with any person for the lodging, keeping, maintaining, or employing of the poor of such parish or parishes, where two or more are united, and for taking the benefit of their work, labour, and service, for their better maintenance and relief, shall be valid, binding, or effectual, unless the person during the continuance of the contract be resident within the parish contracting, or within the parish in which such poor shall be lodged.

Nor unless one or more responsible householders, resident in such parish, and to be approved of by the churchwardens, or overseers, shall, at or before the signing of such contract, by their joint and several bond, with a penalty in not less than the amount of one half of the assessment to the poor's rate of such parish, or united parishes, for the year next but one preceding that in which such contract shall be entered into, give security to the said churchwardens and overseers for the true and faithful observance and performance of such contract, on the part of the person so to be contracted with as aforesaid. Nor unless such contract shall be approved of and signed by two justices of the peace acting for such county, in which such parish, or united parishes, or one of them shall be situated. s. I.

And all contracts entered into otherwise, shall be absolutely nell and void to all intents and purposes. And every contract entered into conformably to this act, with any person who shall remove from, and cease to reside in the parish, before the expiration of the whole term for which such contract shall be intended to have continuance shall also from the time of such removal cease. But the removal of such person shall not vacate the security entered into; but the same shall continue in full force for the indemnification of the churchwardens and overseers against any loss or expense incurred in computence of such non-performance of such contract and of such removal. And nothing in this act shall extend to any parish, township, or place, where the poor are maintained under any special act of parliament. Nor to make void any contract entered into before June 27th, 1805. s. 2.

But the legislature has not only provided for the relief of the poor, its paternal attention has been directed to seeing that proper care be taken of them. Accordingly the 30 Geo. 3. c. 49. s. 1. emets that it shall be lawful for any justice of peace, or any physician, surgeon, or apothecary, authorized, by warrant under the hand and seal of such justice, or for the officiating clergyman of the parish, so authorized, to visit in the day-time any parish workhouse, or house kept for the maintenance of the poor of any parish or place, within the county or division wherein such justice shall be resident and bare jurisdiction, to examine into the state of the poor people therein, and the food, clothing, and bedding of such poor people, and the state of such house; and if upon such visitation the said justice of persons authorized shall find any cause of complaint, then such jutice or persons authorized shall certify the state of such house, and the poor therein, and of their food, clothing, and bedding, to the next quarter sessions, under their hands and seals; and such justice or persos authorized as aforesaid, shall cause the overseers, or master of the house, to be summoned to appear at the sessions, to answer such complaint; and such sessions, on hearing the parties, shall make such orders and regulations for the removing of any cause of complaint contained in such certificate, as to them shall seem meet; and all the parties shall abide by such orders.

In case however any justice, or persons authorized, shall upon such visitation, find any of the poor afflicted with any infectious disease, or in want of immediate medical or other assistance, or of sufficient and proper food, or requiring separation or removal from the other poor, then if such visitation be made by a justice, he shall apply to another justice, and certify to him the state of the poor in such house; or if such visitation shall be made by the persons authorised as aforesaid, such persons shall apply to two justices, and thereupon the said justices shall make such order therein, under their hands and seals, as they shall think proper, until the next sessions, at which sessions they are to certify the same under their hands and seals, who are to make such order for the further relief of the poor in such house, as to them shall seem meet; and the charges of realieving such poor shall be paid out of the poor rate of such place, in such manner as such sessions shall direct. But this act shall not extend to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.——send to workhouses regulated by any special act of parliament.—

· By the 24 Geo. 2. c. 40. no license shall be granted for the retailing of spirituous liquors within any work-house, or house of entertainment for any parish poor, and if the master or any officer there shall sell. use, lend, or give away, or knowingly suffer any spirituous liquors to be sold, &c. or brought in, except such as shall be given by the direction of a physician, surgeon, or apothecary, and applied from the shop of some apothcary, he shall forfeit 100% one moiety to the king, and the other with costs to the informer by action; and if he again offend, and be a second time convicted, he shall forfeit his office. And any justice, upon information upon oath, that any such spirituous liquors are kept and disposed of in any such place, may enter and search, or authorise any constable, or peace officer by warrant, to. enter and search such place, and in case any spirituous liquors be found therein (except such as are directed to be used medicinally) such officer may seize and cause the same to be staved and destroyed .-And no person shall carry or bring, or attempt to bring any distilled spirituous liquors (except in the way of medicine) into any such place as aforesaid; and if any person offend therein, the muster or other officer, or his servants, may apprehend such person, and carry him before a justice; and if by the oath of one witness, or otherwise, the justice convict such person, he shall commit him to prison, or the house of correction, for not exceeding three months, unless he immediately pay not exceeding twenty nor less than ten pounds; to: be paid one moiety to the informer, and the other moiety to the use of the poor of such house Every master of such poor-house shall. procure a copy of the three preceding clauses to be printed or written, and hung up in one of the most public places of the house, and renew the same from time to time, so that it may always be kept legible, on pain of forfeiting 40s. to be levied by warrant of any justice on conviction, in a summary way, by the oath of one witness and any justice may enter into any such place within his jurisdiction, and demand a sight of such copy, and if not forthwith shewn him, he may immediately convict such master; one moiety of the penalty to be paid to the informer, and the other moiety (or the whole if there is no informer) to the poor of such house. s. 18—16.

By stat. 3 W. c. 11. there shall be provided and kept in every parmh, a book wherein the names of all persons who receive collection, shall be registered, with the day and year when they were first admitted to have relief, and the occasion which brought them under that necessity, and yearly in Easter week, or as often as shall be thought convenient, the commissioners shall meet in the vestry or other usual place of meeting in the parish, before whom the back shall be produced, and all other persons receiving collections to be called over, and the reasons of their taking relief examined, and a new list made and entered, of such persons as they shall allow and think fit to receive collections.

To prevent fraudulent applications for relief, the 9 Geo. 1. c.7. s. 1. enacts that no justice of peace shall order relief to any poor pesson, till oath be made before such justice of some matter, which he shall judge to be a reasonable cause for such relief, and that the person had applied for relief to the parishioners at some vestry or public meeting, or two of the overseers, and was by them refused; and till such justice has summoned two of the overseers to show cause why such relief should not be given, and the person so summoned bath been heard, or made default to appear. And the person, whom such justice shall order to be so relieved, shall be entered in the parish books as one of those who is to receive collection, as long as the cause for such relief continues, and no longer. And no officer of any pasish shall (except on sudden occasions) bring to the account of the parish any monies he shall give to any poor person wha is not registered in the parish book, on forfeiture of 54 to be levied by distress and sale, by warrant of two justices, who shall have found him guilty of such offence; to be applied for the use of the poor by direction of the jus-

And by the 9 Geo. 3. c. 37. overseers are prohibited from relieving the poor in any other than the good and lawful money of Great Britain, on pain of forfeiting for each offence 10s. nor more than 20s. recoverable by distress and sale, and applicable to the poor, under the justices direction s. 7. Such are the principal legislative provisions relative to the Poor. For the legal decisions thereon, the reader (who is desirous of investigating this subject) is referred to the authorities cited in the article Oversmens (which see) and to Mr. Nolan's lucid Treatise on the Poor Laws.

Poor in incorporated districts: see the statutes 22 Geo. 3. c. $3. and also the 33 Geo. 3. c. 5. 36 Geo. 3. c. 10. 41 Geo. 3. sem. 1. c. 9. 49 Geo. 3. c. 194. 50 Geo. 3. c. 50. 52 Geo. 3. c. 73. which have been passed for explaining and amending the 29 Geo. 3. c. 83. the various provisions of which do not admit of abridgement.

POPERY. See Papists.

POPULAR ACTION, an action given in general to any person who will sue for a penalty on the breach of some penal statute. See Actions (popular), Qui Tam.

PORT, an harbour or place of shelter, where ships arrive with their freight, and customs for goods are taken.

PORTERAGE, by stat. 29 G. S. c. 58. no innkeeper, warehouse-keeper, or other person, to whom any box, basket, package, parcel, trust, game, or other thing whatsoever, not exceeding fifty-six pounds weight, or any porter or other person employed by such inn-keeper, warehouse-keeper, or other person, in porterage, or delivery of any such box, parcel, &c. within the cities of London, Westminster, or Borough of Southwark, and their respective suburbs, and other parts contiguous, not exceeding half a mile from the end of the earriage povement, in the several streets and places within the abovementioned limits, shall ask or demand, or receive or take, in respect of such porterage or delivery any greater rate or price than as follows:

Not exceeding a	quarter of a mile	three-pence.
•••••	half a mile	four-pence.
•••••	one mile	six-pence.
	one mile and a half	eight-pence.
• • • • • • • • • • • • •	two miles	ton-pence.

For every further distance, not exceeding half a mile, three-pence additional.

Persons asking or receiving more than the above rates, shall for every such offence, forfeit a sum not exceeding 20s. nor less than be.

PORTGREVE, a magistrate in certain sea-port towns, with authority something similar to that of a mayor. See Mayor.

PORTION, that past or there of a person's cotate, which was given or left to a child. See Legacy.

PORTIONER, where a parsonage is served by two or sometimes, three ministers are called portioners, because they have but their portion, or proportion of the tithes or profits of the living.

PORT-TOLL, a payment for the liberty of bringing goods into a port.

POSSE, signifies a possibility, as esse signifies a thing in being. See Esse.

POSSE COMITATUS, the power of the county.

POSSESSION is two-fold, actual, and in law; actual possession, is, when a man actually enters into lands and tenements to him descended. Possession in law, is, when the lands or tenements are descended to a man, and he hath not as yet actually entered into them. Staundf. 198.

POSSIBILITY IN LAW, is defined to be an uncertain thing, which may or may not happen.

POST DIEM, a fee by way of penalty upon a sheriff for his neglect in returning a writ after the day assigned for its return.

POST DISSEISIN, a writ for him that having recovered land or tenements by pracipe quod reddat, upon default of reddition, is again disseized by the former disseisor.

POSTEA, is the return of the proceedings by nisi prius into the court of common pleas after a verdiet, and there afterwards recorded. Plund. 211.

POSTERIORITY, a man holding lands or tenements of two lords, holds of his ancienter lord by priority, and of his latter lord by posteriority.

POST FINE, a duty to the king, for a fine formerly acknowledged before him in his court, which is paid by the cognizee, after the same is fully passed, and all things performed touching the same.

POSTHUMOUS CHILDREN, children born after the decease of their futher.

A posthumous child, either of the whole, or half blood, shall take under the statute of distribution. 1 Vez. 156. 10 & 11 W. c. 16.

By 10 & 11 Will. 3. c. 16. where estates are limited in remainder to the lawful issue of the body of any person, a posthumous son or daughter may take such estate, as if born in the lifetime, although there be no limitation to trustees to preserve the contingent remainders.

POST NATI, children of persons attainted of treason, born after the king's pardon, may inherit lands; though not those born before. Co. Lit. 391.

POST OFFICE.—A general post office was erected by the 12 Car. 2. c. 35, which by the 3 Geo. 1. c. 7. was made perpetual and a part of the general fund.

No action can be maintained against the postmaster-general for the loss of bills or articles sent in letters by the post, and lost.

Many attempts have been made by postmasters in country towns, to charge an half-penny or penny each letter, on delivery at the houses in the town above the parliamentary rates, under pretence that they were not obliged to carry letters out of the office gratis: but it has been repeatedly decided, that such demand is illegal, and that they are bound to deliver the letters to the inhabitants within the usual and established limits of the town, without any addition to the rate of postage. 5 Bur. 5709.

The following are the principal regulations relative to the postage of letters, and the management of the post office.

I. Rates of postage. These have been altered by various acts; the rates now paid, were imposed by the 41 Geo. 3. c. 7. augmented by the 45 Geo. 3. c. 11. and the 52 Geo. 3. c. 88. Of this last augmentation separate accounts are to be kept for ten years, and the proceeds thereof are to form part of the permanent public revenue. But the last additionally imposed rates do not extend to Jersey, Guernsey, or the Isle of Man, nor to the soldiers' or seamen's letters sent under the 35 Geo. 3. c. 53.

11. Franking of letters.—Various public officers are by different statutes permitted to frank letters, provided they be certified by indersement to be on his Majesty's service.

By the 9 Geo. 3. c. 35. Members of parliament may frank printed newspapers forty days before or after any prorogation; and the clerk assistant and reading clerk of the House of Lords, and out-door clerk of the House of Commons, are not to pay postage.

But by the 24 Geo. 3. c. 37. the whole superscription, on every letter to pass free, shall be the hand writing of the member directing the same, and shall have endorsed thereon the name of such member, together with the name of the post town, from which the same is intended to be sent, and day, month, and year, when the same shall he put into the post office; the day of the month to be in words at length, and the whole to be of the hand-writing of the member; and such letter is to be put into the post office the day on which it is franked; and no letter to any member of either house is to be exempted from the duty, unless such letter shall, during the sitting of any session of parliament, or within forty days before or after the summons or prorogation of the same, he directed to any such member at the place where he shall actually be, at the time of delivery thereof, or at his usual place of residence in London, or at the house of parliament, or the lobby thereof. Persons who, by virtue of their offices, are authorised to send and receive letters duty free. May continue so to do under the same restrictions as members of parliament; but this is not to extend to the penny-post. Consterfelting the hand-writing of any person in the superscription of any letter, in order to evade the duty of postage, is felony and transportation for, seven years. Ibid.

By 35 Geo. 3. c. 52. no letter to or from any member of either house of purliament, exceeding one ounce, exempt from postage. 4. 1.

Nor any letter, unless the member directing it be within twenty miles of the post town, on the day or day before it is put into the office. s. 2.

No member to send more than ten, or receive more than aftern, betters free daily; and the postage shall be charged for letters exceeding the limited number on those of the lower rates. s. 3, 4.

Persons authorised officially to send and receive letters to continue to to do; and votes, proceedings in parliament, and newspapers may be sent in open covers as usual. s. 6.

By 42 Geo. 3. c. 69. members of parliament may send daily by post, within the United Kingdom, ten letters, and receive fittees, not exceeding one ounce each, free from postage. s. 1.

The superscription of letters sent shall be of the hand-writing of the member, with the name of the post town and date. s. S.

The surplus number shall be charged with the postage. s. 3.

Forging the superscription, or altering the date thereof, is felasy, fubishable by seven years' transportation. Persons entitled to seed letters free may, in case of bodily infirmity, authorise a person to write the superscription, and, on notice to the postmaster, such letters shall go free. Members, and clerks of both houses, may seed votes and newspapers free in covers open at the sides, as also persons beretofore authorised to send the same. s. 7. 9. 10.

Packets so sent may be inspected at the post office, and if found to conceal any thing, they shall be charged treble postage; and say stamped newspapers shall be sent to the stamp office. s. 11.

Any person may send votes and newspapers by the post to Ireland, at the like inte, if left open at both ends. s. 12.

By the 46 Geo. 3. c. 92. Seamen in the royal navy may send single letters, being superscribed by their commanding officer, by the post, on paying one penny for each; and they may receive single letters free from postage, one penny having been paid, when put into the office: but this privilege does not extend to commissioned or warrant officers, midshipmen, or master's mates. In like manner, serjeants, corporals, frummers, trumpeters, fifers, and privates of the army, militia, fencibles, artillery, or marines, may send letters in liker manner, being superscribed by their commanding officer, on paying one penny for each, and may receive letters free from postage, one penny having been paid when put into the post office; but this does not extend to commissioned or warrant officers. s. 7—10.

Penalty on commanders franking letters not from such men, 51.

1. And persons not being such commanders franking letters, also forfeit 51. Persons addressing letters to seamen or soldiers intended for others, are also to forfeit 51. Persons obtaining the signature of a commanding officer, to letters not on the private concerns of their men, forfeit 51. s. 12—14.

The penalties may be recovered before any justice, and go one moiety to the king and the other to the informer, and in default of payment to be committed for one month. s. 15.

By 52 Geo. 3. c. 146. s. 11. all letters, sent to the registrars of dioceses, and indorsed agreeably to that act, are to go free of postage. See REGISTER.

111. General clauses relative to the post office: -- By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 143. if any deputy, clerk, agent, letter carrier, post boy, rider or any other person employed in the post office of Great Britain, is receiving, stamping, sorting, charging, carrying, conveying, or delivering letters or packets, or in any other business relating to the said office, shall, after the passing of this act, secrete, embeszle, or destroy any letter or packet, or bag or mail of letters with which he or she shall have been entrusted in consequence of such employment, or which shall in any other manner have come to his or her hands or possession, whilst so employed, containing the whole or any part or parts of any hank note, bank post bill, bill of exchange, exchequer bill, South Sea or East India bond, dividend warrant, either of the bank, South Sea, East India, or any other company, society, or corporation, navy or victualling or transport bill, ordnance debenture, seamen's ticket, state lottery ticket or certificate, bank receipt for payment on any loan, note of assignment of stock in the fands, letter of attorney for receiving annuities or dividends, or for selling stock in the funds, or belonging to any company, society, or corporation, American provincial bill of credit, goldsmith's or banker's letter of credit, or note for or relating to the payment of money, or other bond or warrant, draught, bill, or promissory note whatsoever for the payment of money: or shall steal and take out of any letter or packet with which he or she shall have been so entrusted, or which shall have so come to bis or her hands or possession, the whole or any part or parts of any such bank note, bank post bill. bill of exchange, exchequer bill, South Seu or East India bond, dividend warrant, either of the bank, South Sea, East India, or any other company, society, or corporation, navy or victaniliag or tramport bill, ordnance debenture, seamon's ticket, state lottery ticket or certificate, bank receipt for payment of any loan, note of anignment of stock in the funds, letter of atterney for receiving annuities or dividends, or for selling stock in the funds, or belonging to any company, society, or corporation, American provincial bill of credit, goldsmith's or banker's letter of credit or note for or relating to the payment of money, or other bond or warrant, draught, bill, or prominery note whatsoever for the payment of money; every person so offending, being thereof convicted, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and shall suffer death as a felon, without benefit of clergy.

4. 2.

And if any person shall, after passing of this act, steal and take from any carriage, or from the possession of any person employed to convey letters sent by the post of Grent Britain, or from or out of any post office or house or place for the receipt of delivery of letters or packets, or bags or mails of letters sent or to be sent by such post, any letter or packet, or bag or mail of letters sent or to be sent by such post, or shall steal and take any letter or packet out of any such bag or mail, every person so offending, and being thereof convicted, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and shall suffer death as a felon, without benefit of clergy; and such offences shall and may be soquired of, tried, and determined either in the county where the offence shall be committed, or where the party shall or may be apprehended. •. 8.

Persons assisting others employed by the post office, in any of the before mentioned offences, or knowingly buying or receiving any of the securities, &c. so stolen or embezzled, shall suffer death as felom without benefit of clergy. s. 4.

POUND, a common pound belongs to a lordship, or village, and there ought to be such a pound in every township, kept in repair by those who have used to do it time out of mind; the oversight whereof is to be by the constable or steward of the lect. See Distress.

POUND-BREACH. See Distress.

POURPARTY, to make pourparty, is to divide and sever the lands that full to parceners.

POURPRESTURE, is where a man takes to himself or increaches any thing that he ought not, whether it he in any jurisdiction, land or franchise; and generally when any thing is done to the nuisance of the king's tenants. Kitchin. 10.

POURSUIVANT, signifies a king's messenger, and also an herald, called poursuivant at arms.

POWER, is an authority which one man gives to another to act for him; and it is sometimes a reservation which a person makes in a conveyance for himself to do some acts, as to make leases or the like. 2 Lil. Abr. 369.

POWER OF ATTORNEY, an instrument or deed whereby a person is authorized to act for another, either generally, or in a specific transaction. See Agent, Broker, Beed.

POWER OF THE COUNTY, contains the aid and attendance of all knights, gentlemen, yeomen, labourers, servants, apprentices, and all others above the age of fifteen years within the county. This the sheriff at any time may raise to assist him in the execution of a precept of restitution. The power of the sounty is also called the posse comitatus.

PRACTICE, the law loves plain and fair practice, and will not countenance fraud in proceedings, nor suffer advantage to be taken thereby. 2 Lil. Abr. 342.

PRECIPE, a writ commanding the defendant to do the thing required, or to shew cause why he hath not done it.

PREMUNIRE. This punishment is inflicted upon him who denies the king's supremacy the second time; upon him who affirm the authority of the pope, or refuses to take the oath of supremacy; upon such as are seditions talkers of the inheritance of the crown; and upon such as affirm that there is any obligation by any oath, covenant, or engagement whatsoever, to endeavour a change of government either in church or state; or that both or either house of uparliament have or both a legislative power without the king, &c.

The judgment in premuntre at the suit of the king, against the defendant being in prison, is, that he shall be out of the king's protection; that his lands and tenoments, goods and chattels, shall be forfeited to the king; and that his body shall remain in prison at the king's pleasure; but if the defendant be condemned upon his default of not appearing, whether at the suit of the king or party, the same judgment shall be given as to the being out of the king's protection and the forfeiture; but instead of the clause that the body shall remain in prison, there shall be an award of a capitature.

Co. Lit. 129.

Upon an indictment of a premunire, a peer of the realm shall not be tried by his peers. 12 Co. 92.

PRESENTARE AD ECCLESIAM, denotes the patron's placing an incumbent in the church.

PREAMBLE, the beginning of an act of parliament is called the preamble.

PREBEND, the portion which every prehendary of a cathedral obsech, receives in the right of his place for his maintenance.

PRECARIAE, day's work, which the tenants of some manors were bound by reason of their tenure, to do for their lord in harvest.

· PRECEDENCE, the right to a station of honour, which all the nobility enjoy, each according to his rank.

PRECEDENTS, are examples or authorities to follow, in judgments and determinations in the courts of justice, which have always been greatly regarded by the sages of the law.

· PRECEPT, a command in writing, by a justice of the peace, or other officer, for bringing a person or records before him.

PRECONTRACT OF MARRIAGE, no suit shall be had in noy ecclesiastical court, to compel the celebration of any marriage, by reason of any contract of marriage, either per verba de præsenti, or per verba de futuro: although formerly the spiritual judge would compel a contract of present marriage to be carried into execution. 2 Geo. 1. c. 23.

PREDIAL TITHES, those which are paid of things arising and growing from the ground only, as corn, hay, fruit of trees and the like.

PREGNANCY, is a plea in stay of execution, when a woman is convicted of a capital crime, alledging that she is with child: in which case, the judge must direct a jury of twelve discreet women to enquire of the fact: and if they bring in their verdict quick with child (for barely with child is not sufficient) execution shall be stayed generally, till either she be delivered, or prove by the course of nature, not to have been with child. 4 Black. 395.

PREMISSES, is that part in the beginning of a deed, the office of which is to express the grantor and grantee, and the land or thing granted. 5 Rep. 55. See Deed.

PREMIUM. See Insurance (Marine.)

PRENDER DE BARON, is used as an exception to deprive a woman from pursuing an appeal of murder against the killer of her former husband. Standf. 59.

PREPENSED, or forethought. See Homicide.

PREROGATIVE, is a word of large extent, including all the rights and privileges which by law the king hath, as chief of the com-monwealth, and us intrusted with the execution of the laws. 4 Bac. Abr. 149.

All jurisdiction exercised in these kingdoms that are in obedience to our king, is derived from the crown; and the laws, whether of a temporal, ecclesiastical, or military nature, are called his laws; and it is his prerogative to take care of the due execution of them. Hence all judges must derive their authority from the crown, by some commission warranted by law; and must exercise it in a lawful manner, and without any the least deviation from the known and stated forms.

The king, as the fountain of justice, hath an undoubted prerogative in erecting officers, and all officers are said to derive their authority mediately, or immediately from him: but though all such officers derive their authority from the crown, and from whence the king is termed the universal officer or disposer of justice, yet it hath been held, that he hath not the office in him to execute it himself, but is only to grant or nominate; nor can the king grant any new powers or privileges to any such officers, but they must execute their offices according to the rules established and prescribed them by law.—Co. Lit. 114.

PREROGATIVE COURT, the court wherein all wills are proved, and all administrations taken, which belong to the archbishop by his prerogative; that is in case where the deceased had goods of any considerable value out of the diocese wherein he died; and that value is ordinarily 51. except it be otherwise by composition between the said archbishop and some other bishop, as in the diocese of London it is 101 and if any contention grow between two or more, touching any such will or administration, the cause is properly declared and decided in this court. 4 Inst. 335.

PRESCRIPTION, is a title acquired by use and time, and allowed by the law.

PRESENTATION. Presentation to an advowson is the act of a patron offering his clerk to the bishop of the diocese, in order to be instituted in a church or benefice of his gift which is void...... 2 Lil. Abr. 851.

No aliens born can present; neither can papists, nor guardians by socage or nurture. 2 Nois. Abr. 1890. 8 Jac. 1. c. 5. s. 18, 19. and 1 W. & M. c. 26. 12 Anne c. 14. For valuable considerations, papiets may grant advowsors, provided the grant be made to protestant purchasers, and for the benefit of protestants. 11 Geo. 2. c. 47. s. 5.

Coparceners, being but one patron, must agree in presenting a person: if they cannot agree, the eldest shall first present, and then the other tempets in common and joint tenants must unite in presentation. 2 New. 1288, 1290. The right of presentation may be lest in various ways, as by attainder of the patron, by simony, out-lawry, &c.

PRESENTMENT of offences, is that which the grand jury find of their own knowledge, and present to the court, without any bill of indictment laid before them at the suit of the king; as a presentment of a nuisance, a libel, and the like; upon which the officer of the court must afterwards frame an indictment, before the party presented can be put to answer it. There are also presentments by justices of the peace, constables, surveyors of the highways, churchwardens, &c.

PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL, an officer created by letters patent under the great seal durants bene placito, whose husiness is to attend upon the king, to propose business at the council table, and report to his majesty the transactions there.

PREST, a duty in money, to be paid by the sheriff upon his account, in the exchequer; or for money left, or remaining in his hands.

PRESUMPTION, a supposition, opinion, or belief, previously formed.

PRESUMPTIVE HEIR, is one who if the ancestor should die immediately, would in the present circumstances of things be his heir, but whose right of inheritance may be defeated by the contingency of some nearer heir being born; as a brother, whose presumptive succession may be destroyed by the birth of a child; or a daughter whose present expectation may be cut off by the birth of a son. 2 Black. 208.

PRETENDER. See Abjuration.

PRETENSED RIGHT ()R TITLE, is where a person is in posbession of lands or tenements, and another who is out claims it, and sues for it; here the pretensed right and title, is said to be in him who claims and sues.

PRIMER FINE, a sum due to the king, on suing out a précipe or writ of covenant, in order to the levying a fine.

PRIMOGENITURE, the title of an elder brother in the right of his birth.

PRINCE, is sometimes taken at large for the king himself, but more properly for the king's eldest son, who is prince of Wales.

PRINCIPAL AND ACCESSARY, the principal is the person who actually commits any crime; and the accessary is he who is not the chief actor, but is somewhat concerned therein, either before or after the felony committed, assisting to him in the doing thereof.—
2 Lil. Abr. 355.

PRINTERS. By 39 Geo. 3. c. 79. all printers shall give a notice in writing to the clerk of the peace, of the number of their presses, who shall grant a certificate thereof and file the notice, and transmit an attested copy to the secretary of state. Persons keeping presses or types without notice, or using them in any place not expressed therein, to forfeit 20%. But this is not to extend to his majesty's printers, or Letter-founders and printing-pressthe universities of Ingland. makers shall give a notice in writing, of the places where they carry on business, to the clerk of the peace, who shall grant a certificate thereof and file the notice, and transmit an attested copy to the secretary of state: and persons currying on such business without giving such notice, are to forfeit 20%. An account is to be kept of types and printing pressess sold, and to whom: to be produced to any justice when required, on pain of 20%. The name and abode of the printer shall be printed on every paper or book; and printers omitting so to do, and persons dispersing papers without such name and place of abode, shall forfeit 201. But this is not to extend to papers printed by authority of parliament. Printers shall keep a copy of every paper they print, and write therein the name and abode of their employer, on pain of 10% for neglect, or refusing to produce the copy within six months. Any person in whose presence a printed paper shall be sold without the name and abode of the printer, may seize the party and convey him before a justice, to determine whether be bath offended against this act. This is not to extend to impressions of engravings, or printing names and addreses. or the articles: in which the party deals, or papers for the sale of estates or goods, nor to alter any provisions respecting newspapers.

A justice may empower a peace affect to scarch for presses and types which he suspects to be illegally used, and to seize them and the printed papers found. Prosecutious for any penalty under this act must be commenced within three months after the penalty inscurred. Pecuniary penaltics exceeding 20% may be recovered in the superior courts with full costs, and not exceeding 10% before any justice of the peace, who may levy the same by distress, and in default thereof, commit the party for not more than six nor less than three calendar months; and the penalties go one moiety to the plaintiff or informer and the other to his majesty. 3, 23—36.

PRINTS and Engravings,: By the 8 ties. 2 c. 13, persons who shall design, engrave, atch, or work in mezzotiato or chiars obscure, any historical or other prints, shall have the sole right of printing and publishing the same for feurteen years, so as the proprietor's name is affixed to each print. Printsellers or others pirating excepying the same, are to ferfeit the plates, and also five shillings for every copy found in their outlody, if prosecuted within three months, half the penalty to the king and half to the informer; but this act does not extend to purchasers of plates from the original proprietors.

By 7 Geo. 3. c. 88. the original inventors, designors, or engravers, of historical or other prints, and such who shall cause prints to be done from works of their own invention, and also such as shall engrave any print taken from any picture, drawing, model, or sculpture, are entitled to the benefit and protection of the above act; and those who shall engrave or import for sale, copies of such prints, are liable to the like penalties, with costs, so as prosecuted within six months. The right intended to be secured by this and the above act is extended, and vested in the proprietors for the term of twenty-eight years from publication.

By 17 Geo. S. c. 57. if any engraver shall within the above term, engrave or etch any print, without the consent of the proprietor, he shall be liable to an action for damages and double costs.

PRIORITY, an antiquity of of tenure, in comparison of another not so ancient, as to hold by priority, is to hold of a lord mere settiently than that of another.

PRIORITY OF DEBTS AND SUIT, a prior suit depending, may be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent action or ipresertion.

PRISONS, places of confinement for persons guilty of offerces, or for debtors. Each county has a prison, where persons takes within its limits are committed. There are prisons also belonging to the courts of chancery, king's bench, common pleas, excheques and mare shalsen. See Gaol, Gaolen, Gaol on Prison-Breaking.

PRISONERS OF WAR. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 156. every person who shall hereafter knowingly and witfully aid or smit any alies enemy of his majesty, being a prisoner of war in his majesty's dominions, whether such prisoner shall be confined as a prisoner of war in any prison or other place of confinement, or shall be suffered to be at large in his majesty's dominions or any part thereof on his parole, to escape from such prison or other place of confinement, or from his majesty's dominions, if at large upon parole, shall spos being convicted thereof be adjudged guilty of felony, and be liable to be transported as a felon for life, or for such term of fourteen or seven years as the court before whom such person shall be convicted thall adjudge. s. 1.

And every person who shall knowingly and wilfully aid or smit any such prisoner at large on parolo in quitting any part of his man destyle dominious where he may be on his parole, although he shall met sid or assist such person in quitting the coast of any part of his majesty's dominions, shall be deemed guitty of aiding the escape of such person under the provisions of this act a 2.

Persons assisting on the high seas such prisoners to escape, shall also be adjudged guilty of sclowy, and he liable to be transported as aforesaid; and such offences committed upon the high seas and not within the bady of any county, shall and may be enquired of, tried, heard, determined, and adjudged in any county, within the realm, in like passoer as if such offences had been committed within such county."

3. 3.

This act shall not prevent any person committing any offence mentioned in this act from being prosecuted, in such manner as he might by law have been prosecuted if this act had not passed; but nevertheless no person presecuted otherwise than under the provisions of this act, shall be liable to be prosecuted for the same offence under the provisions hereof; and no person prosecuted under the provisions of this act shall for the same offence be liable to be otherwise prosecuted. s. 4.

PRIVATERRS, private ships of war, sailing under commission from the admiralty.

PRIVATION, a taking away, applied to a bishop or rector of a church, when by death or other act, they are deprived of their bishopric, or benefice.

PRIVEMENT ENSIENT, is where a woman is with child by her husband, but not quick with child.

PRIVILEGE, a particular exemption from the operation of a jaw, a certain exclusive right granted to an individual, either for a time permanent, or for a certain period. See Arrest.

PRIVY, one who is partaker, or hath an interest in any action or thing; as privies of blood.

PRIVY COUNCIL, is the principal council belonging to the bing, and is generally called by way of eminence the council.

Privy councilors are made by the king's nomination, without either patent or grant; and on taking the necessary oaths, they become immediately privy counsellors, during the life of the king that chooses them, but subject to removal at his discretion. No inconvenience now arises from the extension of the number of privy council, as those only attend, who are especially summoned for that particular occasion.

PRIVY SBAL, is a seal that the king uses to such grants, or other things, as pass the great seal.

. PROBATE OF WILLS, is the exhibiting and proving wills and testaments before the ecclesiastical judges, delegated by the bishop, who is ordinary of the place where the party dies.

PROBATOR, an accuser, or approver, or one who undertakes to prove a crime charged upon another.

PROCEDENDO, a writ which lies where a cause is removed out of an inferior to a superor court.

PROCEDENDO AD JUDICIUM, lies when the judges of any court delay the party, plaintiff, or defendant, and will not give judgment in a cause, when they ought to do it. Wood's Inst. 570.

PROCEDENDO ON AID PRAYER. If a man pray in aid of the king, in a real action, and the aid be granted; it shall be awarded, that he sue to the king in chancery, and the justices in the common pleas shall stay until the writ of procedendo de loquela come anto them; and if it appear to the judges by pleading or shewing of the party, that the king hath interest in the land, or shall lose rent or service, &c. there the court ought to stay until they have from the king, a procedendo in loquela; and then they may proceed in the plea, until they come to judgment; when the justice ought not to proceed to judgment without a writ for that purpose.

PROCESS, is the manner of proceeding in every cause, being the writs and precepts that proceed, or go forth upon the original upon every action, being either original or judicial. Britton. 188.

Process is only meant to bring the defendant into court, in order to contest the suit, and abide the determination of the law. See Impey's Practice.

PROCHEIN AMY, is the next of kin to a child in his nonage, and is in that respect allowed by law to conduct and manage his affairs.

PROCLAMATION, a notice publicly given of any thing, whereof the king thinks fit to advertise his subjects.

PROCLAMATION OF A FINE, is a notice openly and solemnly given at all the assizes held in the county, within one year after the engrossing it.

PRO CONFESSO, where a bill is exhibited in chancery, to which the defendant appears, and is afterwards in contempt for not answering, or makes an insufficient answer, the matter contained in the bill shall be taken as if it were confessed by the defendant.

PROCTOR, he who undertakes to manage another man's cause, in any court of the civil law or ecclesiastical, for his fee.

PROCTORS OF THE CLERGY, are those who are chosen and appointed to appear for the cathedral or other collegiate churches, as also for the common clergy of every diocese at the parliament to be their representatives in convocation.

PROCURATIONS, certain sums of money paid yearly by the inferior clergy, to the bishop or archdeacon, for the charges of visitation.

PROFANENESS, a disrespect shewn to the name of God, and to things and persons consecrated to him. Wood's Inst. 396. See Blasphemy, PROFER. The time appointed for the accounts of sheriffs, and other officers in the exchequer, which is twice in the year.

PROFERT IN CURIA, is where the plaintiff in an action declares upon a deed, or the defendant pleads a deed, he must do it with a profert in curia, (producing it in court) to the end that the other party may at his own charges have a copy of it; and until then he hath at his request and charges gotten a copy of the deed, he is not bound to answer it. 2 Lit. Abr. 382.

PROFITS, a devise of profits of lands, is a devise of the land itself. Dyer. 210.

PROHIBITION, is a writ properly issning only out of the court of king's bench, being the king's prerogative writ; but, for the furtherance of justice, it may now also be had in some cause out of the court of chancery, common pleas, or exchequer, directed to the judge and parties of a suit in an inferior court, commanding them to cease from the prosecution thereof, upon a suggestion, that either the cause originally, or some collateral matter arising therein, doth not belong to that jurisdiction, but the cognizance of some other court. 3 Black. 112.

Upon the court being satisfied that the matter alledged by the suggestion is sufficient, the writ of probibition immediately issues; commanding the judge not to bold, and the party not to prosecute the plea. And if either the judge or party shall proceed after such prohibition, an attachment may be had against them for the contempt, by the court that awarded it, and an action will lie against them to repair the party in damages. 3 Black. 113.

PRO INDIVISO. The possession or occupation of lands or tenements, belonging to two or more persons, whereof none knows his several portion; as coparceners before partition.

PROMISE, is, where upon a valuable consideration, persons bind themselves by words to do or perform such a thing agreed on a it is in the nature of a verbal covenant, and wants only the solemnity of writing and sealing to make it absolutely the same. Yet for the breach of it, the remedy is different; for instead of an action of covenant, there lies only as action upon the case, the damages whereof are to be estimated and determined by the jury.

PROMISSORY NOTE. See Bills of Exchange.

PROMULGE A LAW, is first to make a law, then to declare, publish, and proclaim the same to public view.

PROOF, the showing or making plain the truth of any matter alledged: either in giving evidence to a jury on a trial, or else on interrogatories, or by copies of records, or exemplifications of them.

: PROPERTY, is the highest right that a man hath, or can have, to any thing, and no ways depending upon another. And there are three sorts of rights of property; vis. property absolute, property qualified, and property possessory.

An absolute proprietor, bath an absolute power to dispose of his estate as he pleases, subject to the laws of the land.

Property in possession absolute, may be in all inanimate things, and in all such animals as are naturally tame.

. A qualified property is had under certain elecumstances, in wild, animals being tamed.

Tox on property.—Formerly, the sovereigns of this country had recourse to scatages, talliages, and subsidies, which were granted in money by their subjects. Analogous to this, was the tax on income, first levied in 1798, and regulated by various statutes. At first the contribution was 5 per cent. which was augmented to 64 and now is fixed at 10 per cent. The assessment of this tax is regulated by the 42 Geo. 3. c. 40 and 192. 43 Geo. 3. c. 15. 40 Geo. 5. c. 65.

Persons aggrieved under the property tax, may appeal to the commissioners, whose decision is final, without the intervention of a court of how to set it soids. Rex v. Bignoid. M. 58 Geo. 5. (MS.)

- PROPRIETARY, was formerly chicky applied to him who had the fruits of a benefice to himself, his heirs, and successors, as abbets, and priors.

· PRO RATA, in proportion.

PROROGUE, to put off to another day. See Farliament.

PROTECTION, is used for that benefit and safety, which every subject, denizen, or alicu, especially secured, bath by the king's laws.

-PROTECTION OF PARLIAMENT. See Arrest and Pri-

DHAME.

PROPEST, is where one openty affirms, that he doth either not at all, or but conditionally yield his consent to any act, or unto the proceeding of a judge in court, wherein his jurisdiction is doubtful, or to answer upon his oath faither than by law he is bound.

Protest, is also that act by which the holder of a foreign bill of exchange declares that such bill is dishonoured.

Protest, is also that act of a master, on his arrival with his ship from parts beyond the seas, to save him and his owners harmless and indemnified from any damage sustained in the goods of her lading, on account of storms. See Bills of Exchange and Insurance.

PROTESTATION, is a form of pleading, when one doth not directly affirm or deny any thing that is alledged by another, or which he himself alledges.

PROTESTANT CHILDREN OF PAPISTS AND JEWS. The lord chancellor is empowered to make an order on popish and jewish parents, refusing to allow their protestant children a maintenance.

PROTHONOTARY, is a chief officer or clerk of the common pleas and king's bench; the former hath three, and the latter but one; whose office is to record all civil actions, as the clerk of the crown office, doth criminal causes in that court. Those of the common pleas, enter and enroll all manner of declarations, pleadings, assizes, judgments, &c.

PROVINCE. A province is the circuit of an archbishop's jurisdiction, which is subdivided into bishoprics. The ecclesiastical division of this kingdom, is into two provinces; viz. Canterbury and York.

PROVINCIAL CONSTITUTIONS, in this kingdom, were decrees made in the provincial synods, held under divers arehbishops of Canterbury.

PROVISO, is a condition inserted into a deed, upon the observance whereof the validity of the deed depends.

PROVOST MARSHAL, an officer of the king's navy, who hath charge of the king's prisoners taken at sea.

PROXIES, are persons appointed instead of others to represent them. Every peer of the realm called to parliament, hath the privilege of constituting a proxy to vote for him in his absence, upon a lawful occasion; but such proxies are to be licensed by the king.

PUBERTY. See Age.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS, commissioners are to enquire of the accounts of the sheriffs, customers, and other the king's officers, after passed in the exchequer, and if detected of any fraud they shall pay treble damages.

PUBLICATION, is used of depositions of witnesses in a cause in chancery, in order to the hearing, and rules may be given to pass jubilication; which is a power to show the depositions openly, and to give out copies of them, &c.

PUBLIC WORSHIP. All contempers of public worship shall be specified excommunicated; and if any person shall disturb a preactor in his sermon by word or deed, he shall be apprehended and carried before a justice, who shall commit him to gad! for three months. See Nonconvenuity.

PUIS DARRIEN CONTINUANCE, a plea of new matter, pending an action.

PUISNE, younger, junior.

PUNISHMENT, the penalty of transgressing the laws.

· PUR AUTER VIB, where lands, &c. are held by another's life.

PURCHASE, signifies the buying or acquisition of lands or tenements with money, or by deed or agreement; and not obtaining it by descent, or hereditary right.

An estate taken by purchase, will not make the heir answerable for the acts of his ancestor, as an estate by descent will.

PURGATION. See Ordeal.

PURPARTY. To make purparty is to divide the lands which belong to parceners, which till partition they held jointly and undivided.

. PUTTING IN FBAR. See Robbery.

Q

UR PLURA; a writ which lay where an inquisition had been taken by an escheator in any county, of such lands or tenements is any man died seized of, and all that was in his possession was imagined not to be found by the office.

QUERY, or QUERY, implies a doubt.

QUERENS NON-INVENIT PLEGIUM, a return made by the sheriff upon a writ directed to him.

QUESTUS, is that which a man bath by purchase, as hereditas is what he hath by descent.

Making and subscribing the declaration of fidelity, mentioned in 1 W & M. shall not be liable to the penalty against others refusing to take such onths; and not subscribing the declaration of fidelity, &c. they are disabled to vote at the election of members of puriliament.

By 7 & 8 W. S. c. 34. made perpetual by i G. l. c. 6. qualters, where an oath is required, are permitted to make a molemn affirmation or declaration of the truth of any fact; but they are not capable of being witnesses in any criminal cause, serving on juries, or bearing any office or place of profit under government, unless they are sworn like other protestants; but this clause does not extend to the freedom of a corporation. I Lord Raym. 387.

By stat. 22 G. 2. c. 46. an affirmation shall be allowed in all cases (except criminal) where by an act of parliament an oath is required, though no provision be thereis made, for admitting a quaker to make his affirmation.—See also Nonconvolutty, QUALE JUS, a writ judicial, which lay where a man of religion had judgment to recover land, before execution was made of the judgment, it went to the eschentor, between judgment and execution, to enquire whether the religious person had any right to recover, or whether the judgment was obtained by collusion between the parties, to the intent, that the true lord might not be defrauded.

QUAMDIU SE BENE GESSERIT, as long as he shall behave bimself well in his office, is a clause frequently inserted in letters patent.

QUANTUM MERUIT, is an action on the case, grounded upon the promise of another, to pay him for doing any thing, so much as he should deserve or merit.

QUANTUM VALBBAT, is where goods and wares sold, are delivered by a tradesman at no certain price, or to be paid for them as much as they are worth in general; then quantum valebat lies, and the plaintiff is to aver them to be worth so much.

QUARE IMPEDIT, a writ which lies for him that hath purchased a manor, with the advowson thereto belonging, against him that disturbs him in the right of his advowson, by presenting a clerk thereto when the church is void.

QUARE INCUMBRAVIT, is a writ that lies, where two are in plea for the advowend of a church, and the bishop admits the clerk of one of them within six months after vacation of a benefice; then the other shall have this writ against the bishop, that he appear and shew cause why he buth incumbered the church. And if it he found by verdict that the bishop hath incumbered the church after a ne admittas delivered to him, and within six months after the avoidance, damages are to be awarded to the plaintiff, and the hishop directed to disincumber the church.

QUARE NON ADMISIT, a writ that lies against a bishop refusing to admit his clerk, that hath recovered in a plea of advowsen.

QUARE NON PERMITTIT, a writ that lies for one who has right to present for a turn against the proprietary.

QUARANTINE, is the space of forty days, wherein any person coming from foreign parts infected with the plague, is not permitted to land or come on shore, until so many days are expired. See 40 G. S. c. 80.

QUARTER-SESSIONS. The sessions of the peace is a court of record holden before two or more justices, whereof one is of the quorum, for the execution of the authority given them by the commission of the peace, and certain statutes and acts of parliament.

The justices shall keep their sessions in every quarter of the year at least, and for three days if need be; to wit, in the first week after the feast of St. Michael, in the first week after the Epiphany, in the first week after Easter, and in the first week after St. Thomas, and oftener if need be.

Any two justices, one whereof is of the quorum, by the words of the commission of the peace, may issue their precept to the sheriff to summon a semion for the general execution of their authority; and such session, holden at any time within that quarter of a year, is a general quarter sessions. 4 Burn. 181.

And such precept should bear teste, or be dated fifteen days before the return. Nels. Intr. 35.

The sheriff also shall cause a jury to appear at such days and places as the said justices, or such two or more of them as aforesaid shall appoint.

There are many offences, which, by particular statutes, belong properly to this jurisdiction, and ought to be prosecuted in this court: as the smaller misdemeanours against the public or commonwealth, not amounting to felony; and especially offences relating to the game, highways, alchouses, bastard children, the settlement and provision of the poor, vagrants, servants' wages, apprentices and popish recusants. Some of these are proceeded upon by indictment; and others in a summary way, by motion and order thereupon, which order may, for the most part, unless guarded against by any particular statute, be removed into the court of king's bench by certiorari, and be there either quashed or confirmed.

QUASH, to overthrow or annul.

QUEEN. The queen consort is an exempt person from the king by the common law, and is of ability and capacity to purchase and grant without the king; and is capable of taking lands or tenements of the gift of the king. Co. Lit. 153.

The queen of England is either queen regent, queen consort, of queen downger. The queen regent, regnant, or sovereign, is she who holds the crown in her own right, and hy stat. 1 Mary, 1. st. 3. e. I. such an one has the same powers, prerogatives, rights, dignities, and duties, as if she had been a king. But the queen consort, who is the wife of the reigning king, has less powers; she has, however, many privileges superior to other married women. The queen consort is a public person, distinct from the king, and like an unmarried woman, can purchase lands, make leases, and do other acts of ownership, without the concurrence of her lord. She can also take a grant from her husband, which no other wife can. may likewise sue and be sue! alone, without joining her hus-She may also have a separate property in goods as well as lands, and has a right to dispose of them by will. In short, she is in all legal proceedings looked upon as a single and not as a married woman. And the common law has established this to prevent the king from being troubled with his wife's concerns. The queen has also some exemptions. She pays no toll; nor is she liable to any amercements in any courts. But in general she is on the same footing with other subjects, being to all intents and purposes the king's subject. But the person of the queen is equally protected with that of the king. By the statute 25 Edw. 3. it is equally high treason to plot against the queen as against the king himself: and to violate or defile the queen consort amounts to the same crime, as well in the violator, as in the queen herself, if consenting. But the case is different in the husband of a queen regnant, who, though her subject, may be punished for treason committed against her, and is not guilty of treason for conjugal infidelity, because his infidelity cannot bastardize the heirs to the crown.

QUEEN DOWAGER.—A king's widow is entitled to most of the privileges she enjoyed as queen consort, except that it is not high treason to conspire her death, or to violate her chastity; the succession to the crown not being thereby endangered. Yet still, for the royal dignity, none can marry a queen downger, without special license from the king, on pain of forfeiting his lands and effects. But she, though a foreigner, after the king's death shall have dower, which no other alien has. If married to a subject, she does not lose her privileges, as do dowager peeresses when married to commoners. I Bl. Com. c. 4. Co. Lit. 133. See Charlotte.

QUEEN-GOLD. See Aurum Reginæ.

QUE ESTATE. In common law it is a plea, whereby a man infilling another to land, &c. saith that the same estate he had, he hath from him.

QUEM REDDITUM REDDAT. A judicial writ that lies for him to whom a rest charge is granted, by fine levied in the king's court against the tenant of the land, who refuses to attorn to him, thereby to cause to attorn, QUERELA, an action in a court of justice.

QUEST, an inquest, inquisition, or enquiry upon the oath of an impanelled jury.

QUIA IMPROVIDE, supersedess granted in the behalf of a clerk of chancery, sued against the privilege of that court in the common pleas, and pursued to the exigent.

QUICK WITH CHILD. See Pregnancy.

QUID JURIS CLAMAT, a judicial writ issuing out of the record of the fine, which remains with the custos brevium of the common pleas, before it is engroused; and it lies for a grantee of the reversion or remainder, when the particular tenant will not attorn.

QUID PRO QUO, the giving one thing of value, for another thing of like value, being the mutual consideration and performance of both parties in the contract.

QUIETUS, a word used by the clerk of the pipe, and auditors of the exchequer, in their acquittances or discharges given to accomptants.

QUIETUS REDDITUS, a quit rent, or small acknowledgment paid in money, so called, because such payment acquitted the tenant from all other services or duties to the lord.

QUINTO EXACTUS, the fifth and last call of a defendant, who is sued to the outlawry; where if he appear not, he is by the judgment of the coroners returned outlawed.

QUI TAM ACTIONS are popular actions, so called from the words which are used in the process, viz. qui tam pro domino rego sequitur, quam pro se-ipso, i. e. who sues as well for our lord the king as for himself. Bee Action (popular).

QUOD EI DEFORCEAT, a writ that lies for the tenant in tail, tenant in dower, or tenant for term of life, having lost their lands by default, against him that recovered, or against his beir.

QUOD PERMITTAT, a writ that lies for one who is disselsed of his common of pasture, against the heir of the disselsor.

QUO JURE, a writ that lies for him who has land wherein and ther challenges common of pasture time out of mind: and is to compel him to shew by what title he challenges it.

QUO MINUS, a writ that lies for him that hath a grant of housebote, and haybote, in another man's woods, against the grantor, making such waste as the grantee cannot enjoy his grant.

QUORUM, a word which often occurs in our statutes, and is much used in commissions both of justices of the peace, and others, and so called from the words of the commission, quarum unum esse volumus.

QUO WARRANTO, is in nature of a writ of right for the king, against him who claims or usurps any office, franchise, or liberty, to inqure by what authority he supports his claim, in order to determine the right.

R

ACK RENT, the full extended yearly value of the land, &c. let by lease, payable by tenant for life or years.

RANSOM, was the sum formerly given by captains of passengers for the redemption of a vessel captured by pirates. This is now prohibited by statute.

RAPE, a division of a county, similar to that of an hundred, and generally consists of more hundreds than one.

RAPE OF WOMEN, is where a man bath carnal knowledge of a woman by force, and against her will; by 18 Eliz. c.7. if any person shall unlawfully and carnally know and abuse any woman child under the age of ten years, whether with her consent or against it, he shall be punished as for a rape. And it is not a sufficient excuse in the ravisher, to prove that she is a common strumpet; for she is still under the protection of the law, and may not be forced. Nor is the offence of a rape mitigated, by shewing that the woman at last yielded to the violence, if such her consent were forced by fear of death or duress; nor is it any excuse, that she comented after the fact. 1 Haw. 108.

RAPINE, to take a thing openly, or by violence. 14 Car. 2. c. 22.

RASURE of a deed, so as to alter it in a material part, without consent of the party bound by it, will make the same void.

RATIFICATION, is used for the confirmation of a clerk in a prebend, &c.

RAVISHMENT. See Rape.

RAVISHMENT DE GARD, a writ which hay for the guardian by knight service, or in socuce, against him who took from him the body of his ward.

REAL ACTION, See Action.

REASON. If maxims of law admit of any difference, those are to be preferred, which carry with them the more perfect and excel-

REASONABLE AID, was a duty that the lord of the fee claimed of his tenants helding by knight's service, or in secage, to marry his daughters, or make his son a knight.

• ME-ATTACHMENT, a second attachment of him that was formerly attached and dismissed the court without day, as by the not coming of the justices, or some such casualty.

REBELLION, taking up arms traitorously against the king, be it by natural subjects, or by others once subdued. See TREASON.

REBUTTER, is the answer of the defendant to the plaintiff's sur-

RECAPTION, where one hath deprived another of his property, the owner may lawfully claim and retake it, wherever he happens to find it, so as it he not in a rictous manner, or attended with any breach of the peace.

RECEIPTS, are acknowledgments in writing of having received a sum of money or other value. A receipt is either a voucher for in obligation discharged or one lacurred. Receipts for money above 40s, must be on stamps; but a receipt on the back of a bill of exchange or promissory note which is already stamped, is good without a farther duty. Writing a receipt on a stamp of greater value than the law requires, income no penalty, and the receipt is good; but if on a stamp of a lower value, or on unstamped paper, then a receipt is no discharge, and incurs a penalty. See Stamp.

. MEGGIVER, receiving stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen, than high misdemenaous at the semmen law; and by several statutes, to made-foleny and transportation; and in some particular instances, follony without benefit of ciergy.

* RECEIVER OF THE FINES, an officer who receives the money of all such as compound with the king upon original write in chancery.

RECITAL, is the rehearsal or making mention in a deed or testing, of squething which has been done before. See Dood.

RECOGNISANCE, is an obligation of record, which a man enters into before some court of record, or magistrate duly authorized, with condition to the same particular act; as to appear at the assizes or quarter sessions, to keep the peace, &c.

RECORD, an act committed to writing in any of the king's courts; during the term wherein it is written, is alterable, being no record; but the term once ended, and the act duly enrelled, it is a record, and of that credit, which admits of no alteration or proof to the contrary.

1

RECORDARE, or RECORDARI FACIAS, a writ directed to the sheriff, to remove a cause depending in an inferior court, or court of ancient demente, hundred, or county, to the king's beach of common pleas.

RECOVERY. Common recoveries were invented by the ecclestatics to elude the statutes of mortuain; and afterwards encouraged by the finesse of the courts at law, in order to put an end to all fettered inheritances, and bar not only all estates tail, but also all remainders and reversions expectant thereon.

A common recovery is so far like a fine, that it is a suit of action, either actual or fictitious; and in it, the lands are recovered against the tenant of the freehold; which recovery by a supposed adjudication of the right, binds all persons, and vests a free and absolute free-simple in the recoverer. And a common recovery is now looked upon as the best assurance, except an act of parliament, that purchasers can have. 2 Black. c. 21.

There must be three persons at least to make a common recovery, a recoverer, a recoverer, and a voucker. The recoverer is the plaintiff or demandant that brings the writ of entry. The recoverer is the defendant or tenant of the land, against whom the writ is brought. The voucker, is he whom the defendant or tenant voucketh or calls to warranty of the land in demand, either to defend the right, or to yield him other lands in value, according to a supposed agreement. Wood. b. 2. c. 3.

And this being by consent and permission of the parties, it is therefore said that a recovery is suffered.

A common recovery may be had of such things, for the most part, as pass by a fine. An use may be raised upon a recovery, as well so upon a fine; and the same rules are generally to be observed and followed for the guiding and directing the uses of a recovery, as are observed for the guidance and direction of a fine. 1 Co. 15.

By 14 Geo. 2. c. 20. common recoveries shall be valid without surrender of freehold leases; the next in remainder for life joining. The deed making a tenant to the writ of entry, shall be sufficient evidence of a recovery for purchasers, after twenty years' phosession; and common recoveries after twenty years shall be deemed good, if it appear thereon that there was a tenant to the writ, though no deed for making such tenant appear. A recovery shall be deemed good, though the deed for making the tenant be executed after the time of the judgment, so that it be executed before the end of the term. See Firs.

RECOUPE, signifies the keeping back or stopping something, for what is due; thus an innkeeper may keep back or detain his guestly horses, &c. till he pay for his entertainment. I Cro. 196.

RECTO, a writ of right, which is of so high a nature, that whereas other rights in real actions are only to recover the possession of the lands or tenements in question, which have been lost by our ancestor or ourselves; this aims to recover both the seisia which some of our ancestors or we had, and also the property of the hiring where the ancestor died not seised as of fee; and whereby are pleaded and tried both their rights together, viz. as well of possession as of property; so that if a man ever lose his cause upon this writ, either by judgment, or assize, he is without remedy. Pract. Lib. 5.

RECTO DE ADVOCATIONE ECCLESIÆ, a writ of right, lying where a man bath a right of advocson, and the parson of the church dying, a stranger presents his clerk to the church, and he not having brought his action of quare impedit, nor darrein presentment, within six months, but suffered the stranger to usurp upon him.

RECTO DE CUSTODIA TERRÆ ET HÆREDIS, a writ that lay for him, whose tenant holding of him in chivalry, died in nonage, ngainst a stranger that entered upon the land and took the body of the heir.

RECTO DE DOTE, a writ of right of dower, which lies for a woman who bath received part of her dower, and purposes to demand the remainder in the same town, against the heir, or his guardian, if he be a ward.

RECTO DE DOTE UNDE NIHIL HABET, a writ of right which lies in a case, where the husband having divers lands or tenements, buth assured no dower to his wife, and she thereby is driven to sue for her thirds, against the heir or his guardian.

RECTO QUANDO DOMINUS REMISIT, a writ of right which lies in case where lands or tenements in the seigniory of any lord, are in demand by a writ of right.

RECTO SUR DISCLAIMER, a writ that lies where a lord in the king's court of common pleas avows upon his tenant, and the tenant disclaims to hold of him; upon which disclaimer he shall have this writ; and if the lord aver and prove, that the land is holden of him, he shall recover the land for ever.

RECTORY, is taken for an entire parish-church, with all its rights, glebes, tithes, and other profits whatsoever.

RECUSANT, a person who refuses to go to church, and worship God, after the manner of the church of England as by law established: to which is annexed the penalty of 201. a month for nonconformity. 23 Eliz. c. 1.—See Parists.

REDDENDUM, a clause in a lease whereby the rent is reserved to the lessor. See Deed.

REDEMPTION. See Mortgage.

REDISSEISIN, a disseisin made by him who once before was found adjudged to have disseised the same man of his lands or tenements; for which there lies a special writ, called disseisin.

RE-ENTRY, signifies the resuming or retaking a possession lately last.

RE-EXTENT, a second extent on lands and tenements, on complaint made, that the former extent was partially made.

REFERENCE, is where a matter is referred by the court of chancery to a master, and by the courts at law to a prothonotary or secondary, to examine and report to the court. 2 Lit. Abr. 432.

Reference, also signifies where a matter in dispute is referred to the decision of an arbitrator. See Arbitration.

REFUSAL, is where a person hath by law a right and power of having or doing something of advantage to him, and he refuseth it.

REGALIA, the royal rights of a king, which according to Civilians are six; power of judicature; power of life and death; power of war and peace; masterless goods as waifs, strays, &c. assessments; and minting of money.

REGE INCONSULTO, is a writ issued from the king to the judges, not to proceed in a cause which may prejudice the king, until he is advised.

REGENT, one who governs a kingdom during the minority, absence, or mental incapacity of the king.

REGIO ASSENSU, a writ whereby the king gives his royal assent to the election of a bishop.

REGISTER of a parish church is that, wherein the marriages, baptisms, and funerals of each parish are annually registered, and subscribed by the ministers thereof.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 146. for the better regulating and preserving parish and other registers of births, baptisms, marriages and burials, in England, it is enacted that from the 31st day of December, 1812, registers of public and private baptisms, marriages, and burials, solemnized according to the rites of the united church of England and Ireland, within all parishes or chapelries in England, whether subject to the ordinary or peculiar, or other jurisdiction, shall be made and kept by the rector, vicar, curate, or officiating minister of every parish, or of any chapelry where the ceremonies of baptism, &c. have been usually and may, according to law, be performed, for the time being, in books of parchment, or of good and durable paper, to be provided by his majesty's printer as occasion may require, at the expence of the respective parishes or chapelries;

whereou shall be printed, upon each side of every leaf, the heads of information herein required to be entered in the registers of baptisps, marriages, and barials respectively, and every such entry shall be numbered progressively from the beginning to the end of each book, the first entry to be distinguished by number one; and every such entry shall be divided from the entry next following by a printed line, according to the forms contained in the schedules assexed to this act; and every page of every such book shall be numbered with progressive numbers, the first page being marked with the number l. in the middle of the upper part of such page, and every subsequent page being marked in like manner with progressive numbers, from number l. to the end of the book. s. l.

King's printer is required to transmit the act and forms of the register to the ministers. s. 2.

Such registers shall be kept in such separate books aforesside and every rector, vicar, curate, or officiating minister shall as seen up possible after the solemnization of every haptism, whether private or public, or burial respectively, record and enter in a fair and legible hand-writing, in the proper register book, the several particulars described in the several schedules herein-before mentioned, and sign the same; and in no case, unless prevented by sickness, or other unavoidable impediment, later than within seven days after the ceremony of any such baptism or burial shall have taken place. s. 3.

Certificate of baptism or hurial when performed in any other place than the parish church, &c. to be according to schedule (ii.)

annexed to the act. s. 4.4

The several register books are to remain in custody of the rector, dic, and copies of such registers are to be verified, agreeably to the form annexed to the act. And the officiating minister's signature thereto attested by the churchwardens. s. 5, 6.

Copies of register books are to be transmitted to the registrate of each diocese: and the registrar, is to make reports to bishops, when ther the returns have been sent to them. s. 7, 8.

In case of neglect to verify copies of the register books, the charchwardens are to certify the default. s. 9.

In extra parochial places, memorandum may be delivered, of every baptism or burial, to the minister of some adjoining parish; such memorandum of baptism being duly signed by the parent of the child baptized, or a memorandum of such burial by the person employed about the same, together with two of the persons attending the same, according as the nature of the case may respectively memorandum respectively shall contain all such particulars as are herein-before required; and every such memorandum delivered to the rector, vicar, or carate of any such adjoining parish or chapelry, shall be entered in the register of his parish, and form a part thereof. s. 10.

The superscription upon all letters and packets containing the copies of such parish or other registers, to be transmitted by the post to the several offices of the said registrars as aforesaid, shall be indersed and signed by the churchwardens or chapelwardens of every respective parish and chapelry in England, in the form contained in schedule (E.) annexed to the act; and all such letters and packets shall be delivered at the offices of the said registrars, without postage or other charge being paid or payable for the same. s. 11.

Register books and memorandums, when transmitted to registrars, to be safely kept from damage. s. 12.

And whereas in many dioceses the places wherein the copies of the parochial registers of baptisms, marriages, and burials as well as the original wills proved within the same respectively are kept, are insufficient for their being preserved with due care; for which a remedy should be applied in those dioceses where it shall be found necessary; it is further enacted, That in order to a due examination thereof, the bishop, together with the custodes rotulorum of the several counties within each diocese, and the chancellor thereof, shall before Feb. 1, 1813, cause a careful survey to be made of the several places in which the parochial registers, and the wills proved within the diocese, are kept; and shall make a report to the privy council, of the state of the same, on or before the let day of March following, setting forth in each case whether the buildings are in all respects fit and proper for the preservation of papers of the above description, as well with respect to space as to security from fire, and to protection from damp, and if not, at what probable expence they can be made so; and where the instruments and papers before mentioned are keft in dwelling houses or other places, which cannot be made fit and secure for the due preservation thereof, then and in such case the persons before named shall enquire and report in like manner at what expence, proper buildings may be provided, and in what places, so as to have one place within each diocese for the due preservation of all such registers and wills; together with their opinion upon the most suitable mode of remunerating the officers employed in each registry, for their additional trouble and expence in carrying the provisions of this act into execution. s. 13.

Persons making false entries, or false copies of such entries, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and be transported for fourteen years.

a. 14.

But this regulation is not to affect accidental errors, if duly and timely corrected according to the truth and justice of the case. s. 15.

For beretofore payable, for copies of such registrations, are not to be diminished by this act: and copies of register are not subject to stamp duty. s. 16, 17.

One haif of the amount of all fines or penaltics levied in pursuance of this act, shall go to the person who shall inform or sae for the same; and the remainder of such fines as shall be imposed on any churchwarden or chapelwarden shall serve; and the remainder of such fines as shall be imposed on any rector, vicar, minister, or carate, or registrar, shall be paid and applied to such charitable purposes, in the county within which the parish or place shall be, as shall be appointed and directed by the bishop of the diocese. s. 18.

List of all registers to be transmitted to the registrar of the dio-

The provisions of this act extend to cathedral and collegiate churches, the chapels of colleges or hospitals, and the burial grounds belonging thereto; and in all such cases, the books directed to be provided, shall be provided at the expense of the body buring right to appoint the officiating minister in every such cathedral or collegiate church or chapel of a college or hospital; and copies thereof shall be transmitted to the registrar of the diocese within which such extended or collegiate church or chapel of a college or hospital shall be, by the officiating minister of such church, in like manner as directed with respect to parochial ministers, and shall be attested by two of the officers of such church, college, or hospital, as the copies of parochial registers are berein directed to be attested by church wardens; provided that nothing in this act contained shall extend to repeal any provision contained in the 26 Geo. 2. c. 33, for better preventing Clandestine Marriages. 5. 20.

REGISTRY OF DERDS, is regulated by the statutes 2 Anse, c. 4. 18 & 35. and 8 Geo. 2. c. 6. for the east, most and north ridings of Yorkshire, and by the 7 Ann. c. 20. and 25 Geo. 2. c. 4. for the county of Middleses. The registering of deeds is by no means general; and its expediency much questioned. For though it promises security of title, to purchasers of lands and mortgagees, yet it has been doubted whether more disputes have not asisen in those counties, by the omission, and mattentions of parties, than have been prevented by the use of negisters. 2 Com. c. 20.

REGRATING. See Perestalling.

REHEARING, in chancery, is when either of the parties to the patition the last chuncalles for the cause to be heard again: but a patition for rebraring must be signed by two of the counsel, certifying that they apprehend the cause is proper to be reheard. B Black. 458.

REJOINDER, is where the defendant asswers to the plaintiff's replication: it is an exception or answer thereto, and it ought to be a sufficient answer to the replication, and follow and enforce the matter of the bar pleaded; atherwise it is a departure from the plea, which the law will not allow. 2 Lil. Abr. 438.

RELATION, a fiction of law, to make a nullity of the thing from the beginning (for a certain intent) which in truth had mesence.

RELEASE, releases are distinguished into express releases imdeed, and those arising by operation of law; and are made of lands and tenements, goods and chattele; or of actions seal, personal, and mixed. Co. Lit. 264.

By a release of all demands, all actions real, personal, and mixed, and all actions of appeal, are extinct. Lit. 509.

RELEGATION, is taken for a tanishment for a time only. Co. Ett. 133.

RELEEF, a certain sum of money which the tenant holding by knight's service, grand serjeantry, or other tenure (for which hamage, or legal service is due), and being at full age at the death of his ancestor, paid to the lord at his entrance.

RELIGION, seditions words in derogation of the established religion are indictable, as tending to a breach of the peace. I How. 7.

RELINQUISHMENT, any person may relinquish an ill demand in a declaration; and have judgment for that which is well demanded.

RBMAINDBN, is an estate limited in lands, tenements, on repts, to be enjoyed after the expiration of mother postionlar cotate.

An estate in remainder, is an estate limited to take effect and be enjoyed after another estate is determined. As if a man select in fee-simple grant lands to one for twenty years, and after the determination of the said term, then to another and his heirs for ever; here the former is termit for years, remainder to the latter in fee. In the first place, an estate for years is created or carved out of the fee, and given to the former, and the residue and remainder of it is given to the latter. Buth their interests are in fact only one estates the present term of years, and the remainder afterwards, when added together, being equal only to one estates in fee. S Black, c, 11.

The word remainder is no term of art, nor is it necessary to create a remainder. So that any words sufficient to shew the intent of the party, will create a remainder; because such estates take their denomination of remainder more from the nature and manner of their existence, after they are limited, than from any previous quality inherent in the word remainder. See Fearns on Remainders.

REMANET IN CUSTODIA, entry of an action in the marshal's book, by reman. custod. where a man is actually in custody, is a good commencement of an action in B. R. 3 Selk. 150.

REMEDY, is the action or means given by law for recovery of a right; and whenever the law giveth any thing, it gives a remedy for the same.

REMITTER, is where one that both right to lands, but is out of possession, hath afterwards the freehold cast upon him by some subsequent defective title, and enters by virtue of that title: in this case, the law remits him to his antient and more certain right, and by an equitable fiction supposes him to have gained possession in consequence and by virtue thereof; and this because he cannot possibly obtain judgment at law, to be restored to his prior right, since he is himself the tenant of the land. S Black, 190.

RENDER, is used in levying a fine, which is either single whereby nothing is granted or rendered back again by the cognizee to the cognizor; or double which contains a grant or render back again of some real common, or other thing, out of the land itself, to the cognizor.

RENT, is a certain profit issuing yearly, out of lands and tenement corporeal.

There are at common law, three kinds of rents; rent service, rent charge, and rent seck, or rack rent.

- 1. Rent service, is where the tenant holds his land of his lord by fealty and certain rent; or by homage, fealty, and certain rent; or by other service and certain rent; and it is called a rent service, because it hath some corporeal service incident to it, which at least is fealty.
- 2. Rent charge, is so called because the land for payment thereof is charged with a distress.
- 3. Rent seck, or rack rent, is where the land is granted without any clause of distress for the same. 1 Inst. 141.

The time for payment of rent, and consequently for a demand, is such a convenient time before the sun setting of the last day, as will be sufficient to have the money counted; but if the tenant meet the lesser on the land at any time of the last day of payment, and tender the rent, that is sufficient tender, because the money is to be paid Indefinitely on that day, and therefore a tender on that day is sufficient. See Districts.

RENTAL, a roll wherein the rents of a menor are written, and by which the lard bailiff collects the same.

RENTS ABSOLUTE, are accounted among the fee form rents, to be said by the statute 22 Car. 2. c. 6. and ere such rents or tenths as were antiently paid to the crown, from the lands of abboys and religious houses.

REPARATIONS, a tenant for life or years may cut down timber trees to make reparations, although he be not compelled thereto; as where a house is ruinous at the time of the lease made, and the less see suffer it to full, he is not bound to rebuild it, and yet if he felt timber for reparations, he may justify the same. Co. Lit. 54.

REPARATIONE FACIENDA, a writ which lies in divers cases, whereof one is, where three are tenants in common or joint tenants, as pro indivito, of a mill or house which is fallon into decay, and the one being willing to repair it, the other two will not 1 in this case, the party willing, shall have this writ against the other two. F. N. B. 127.

BEPLEADER, whenever a repleader is greated the pleadings must begin do neap at that stage of them, whether it be the pleasure replication, rejainder, on whatever else, wherein there appears to have been the first default, or deviation from the regular course, when a repleader is awarded, it must be without costs. 3 Black. 205.

REPLEVIN, is the writ called replogiere focies by him who has cattle or other goods distrained by another, for any cause, and putting in meety to the sheriff, that upon delivery of the thing distrained, he will prosesute the action against the distrainer.—
Co. Lit. 12.

In this writ or action, both the plaintiff, and defendant, are called actors; the one, that is the plaintiff suing for damages, and the averant or defendant to have a return of the goods or cattle.—

2 Band. 84.

That the avowant is in the nature of a plaintiff, appears, let. from his being called an actor, which is a term in the civil law, and significs plaintiff; fully, from his being catitled to have judgment de reterno habeado, and damages as plaintiffe; fidly, from this, that the plaintiff might plead in abatement of the avowry, and consequently such apowry, must be in nature of an action. Carth. 112.

Replevine, by writ issue properly out of chancery, returnable into the courts of K. B. and C. B. at Westminster.

In order to obtain a replevin, application must be made to the sheriff, or one of his deputies, and security given that the party replevying will pursue his action against the distrainer; for which purpose by the antient law, he is required to put in pledges to prosecute; and that if the right be determined against him, he will return the distress again, for which purpose he is to find pledges to make return. These pledges are discretionary, and at the peril of the sheriff. 3 Black. 147.

After the goods are delivered back to the party replevying, he is then bound to bring his action of repletin against the distrainer; which may be prosecuted in the county court, be the distress of what value it may: but either party may remove it to the superior courts of king's beach or common pleas, the plaintiff at pleasure, and the defendant upon reasonable cause. 3 Black. 149.

If the sheriff he shewn a stranger's goods, and he takes them, as action of trespass lies against him, for otherwise he could have so remedy; for being a stranger he cannot have the writ de proprietate probanda, and were he not intitled to this remedy it would be in the power of the sheriff to strip a man's house of all his goods. 2 Role Abr. 552.

If it be determined for the plaintiff, namely, that the distress was wrongfully taken, he hath already got his goods back into his own presention, and shall keep them, and moreover recover damages. But if the defendant prevail, by the default or nonsuit of the plaintiff, then he shall have a writ de retorne habende, whereby the goods or chattels which were distrained and then replevied, are returned again into his custody, to be sold, or otherwise disposed of, as if no replevin had been made. If the distress were for damage feasant, the distrainer may keep the goods so returned, until tender shall be made of sufficient amends. Rel. Abr. 146.

On a retorne habendo awarded, the party desiring to have the cattle or goods restored, must shew them to the sheriff; for otherwise the sheriff may not know them.

REPLICATION, is an exception or answer of the plaintiff in a suit to the defendant's plea; and is also that which the complainant replies to the defendant's answer in chancery, &c.

The replication is to contain certainty, and not to vary from the declaration, but must pursue and maintain the cause of the plaintif's action; otherwise it will be a departure in pleading, and going to another matter. 1 Inst. 304.

REPORTS, of cases, are histories of the several cases and decisions of the courts, with a short summary of the proceedings, which are reserved at large in the record, the argument on both sides, and the reasons the court gave for its judgment, taken down in short notes by persons present at the determination. 1 Black. 71.

REPRESENTATION, there is an heir by representation, where the father dies, in the life of the grandfather, leaving a son, who shall inherit the grandfather's estate, before the father's brother, &c.

REPRIEVE, to suspend a prisoner from the execution and proceeding of the law at that time. Every judge who bath power to order any execution, bath power to reprieve.

REPRISALS. See Letters of Marque.

REPUGNANT, what is contrary to any thing said before. Repugnancy in deeds, grants, indictments, verdicts, &c. makes them void. 3 Nels. 135.

REPUTATION or FAME. The security of reputation, or good name, from the arts of detraction and slander, are rights to which every man is intitled, by reason and natural justice; since, without these, it is impossible to have the perfect enjoyment of any other advantage or right. 1 Black. 134.

Reputation is properly under the protection of the law, as all persons have an interest in their good name: and scandal and defamation are injurious to it; though defamatory words are not actionable, otherwise than as they are a damage to the estate of the person injured. Wood's Inst. 37.

REQUEST, of things to be done: where one is to do a collateral thing, agreed on making a contract, there ought to be a request to do it. 2 Lil. Abr. 464.

REQUESTS. See Court of Requests.

RRSCEIT, is an admission, or receiving a third person to plead his right in a cause formerly commenced between other two.

RESCRIT OF HOMAGE, is the lord's receiving homage of his tenant at his admission to the land. Kitchen. 148.

RESCUE, or RESCOUS, is the taking away and setting at liberty against law, any distress taken for rent, or services, or damage feasant; but the more general notion of rescous is, the forcible freeing another from an arrest or some legal commitment; which being an high offence, subjects the offender not only to an action at the suit of the party injured, but likewise to fine and imprisonment at the suit of the king, Co. Lit. 160,

If goods be distrained without cause, or contrary to law, the owner may make rescue; but if they be once impounded, or even though taken without any cause, the owner may not break the pound and take them out, for then they are in custody of the law. I Black. 12. See Distress.

. REBEISIR, a taking again of lands into the bands of the king, whereof a general livery, or easter is mains, was formerly missed, contrary to the form and order of law. Standy. Practog. 28.

RESIDENCE, signifies a man's abode or continuance in a place.

Residence, is particularly used, for the continuance of a parson or vicar, on his benefice.

By the 48 Geo. 3. c. 34. (and 169) the penalties for non-residence under the 31 Hes. 8. c. 18 are repealed, and incumbents are permitted to absent themselves three meaths without being subject to any penalty. If they are absent between three and six mouths, they forfolt one-third of the annual value of the benefice after all deductions, except the curate's stipend; between six and eight, one half; between eight and twelve, two-thirds; and the whole year, three-fourths, to any one who will sue. Sinecure rectories are excepted. All who were exempted by the statute 21 Hen. 8. c. 13, are still exempt, and this statute extends the exemption to several others specified in the atutute, and to all public officers in eletter university, and to tutors and public officers in any sollege. But hy this statute, students residing in the universities done fide for study are exempted till they are thirty years of age only.

But by this statute the bithop may, at his discretion, grant a lineome for non-residence, on account of the illness or infirmity of the incumbent, his wife or child, and where there is not a ft home of residence, if the unfitness is not occasioned by the incumbent's neglect; if he lives in his own or any relation's home within the parish; if he serves another church as curate or pseacher; and if he is a master or mater of an ondowed school, and licensed by the hishop; these and some others are grounds for the grant of a license; and if the bishop refuses, the incumbent may appeal to the archebishop. The hishop may grant licenses for causes not connected in the statute; but they must have afterwards the allowance of the archebishop. Licenses may be revoked, but if not revoked are in force for two years. No archibishop or bishop shall be liable to the penalties for non-residence.

RESIDUARY LUGATER, is he to whom the residue of a personal estate is given by will. And such legates being made executor with others, shall retain against the rest.

RESIGNATION, the giving up a benefice into the hands of the ordinary.

Every parson who resigns a honefice, must make the resignation to his superior; as an incumbent to a bishop, a bishop to an archbishop, and an archbishop to the king, as supreme ordinary.—— 1 Rop. 137. RESPITE OF HOMAGE, the forbearance of homage which ought to be performed by the tenants holding by homage.

RESPONDEAS OUSTER, is to answer over in an action to the merits of the cause. If a demutrer be joined upon a plea to the jurisdiction, person, or writ, &c. and it he adjudged against the defendant, it is a responders ouster. Jenk. Cent. 306.

RESPONSALIS, he that appears for another in a court at a day assigned.

RESTITUTION, is the yielding up again, or restoring of any thing unlawfully taken from another

Restitution is also where one being attainted of treason or felony (whereby the blood is stained or corrupted), he or his heirs is restored to his lands or possessions. The king by his charter may restore lands or goods forfeited to him by any attainder; but if hy attainder the blood be corrupted, this can only be by an act of parliament.

- There is also restitution of the possession of lands, in cases of forcible entry; a restitution of lands to an heir, on his ancestors being attainted of treason or felony; and restitution of stolen goods. Wood. b. 4. c. 5.

RE-RESTITUTION, is when there hath been a writ of restitution before granted; and restitution is generally matter of duty, but re-restitution, may be granted upon motion, if the court see cause to grant it, and on quashing an indictment of forcible entry, the court of B. R. may grant a writ of re-restitution. 2 Lil. Abr. 414.

RESTITUTIONE TEMPORALIUM, a writ that lies where a man being elected and confirmed hishop of any diocese, and hath the king's royal assent thereto, for the recovery of the temporalities or barony of the said bishopric, and it is directed from the king to the escheator of the county.

RESULTING USE, is when an use limited by a deed expires, or cannot vest, it returns back to him who raised it.

RE-SUMMONS, signifies a second summons, and calling a man to answer an action, where the first summons is defeated upon any occasion, as the death of the party or such like.

RETAINER OF DEBTS, an executor, among debts of equal degree, may pay himself first, by retaining in his hands the amount of his debt RETAINING FEE, the first fee given to any counsellor, thereby to prevent his being engaged by the opposite party.

RETRAXIT, is where the plaintiff or demandant comes in person duto the court, and says he will proceed no farther; and this is a bar of all other actions of like or inferior nature.

A retraxit is always of the part of the plaintiff or demandant, and cannot be, anless the plaintiff or demandant be in court in proper person.

RETURN, is most commonly used for the return of writs, which is the certificate of the sheriff made to the court of what he bath dene, touching the execution of any writ directed to him; and where a writ is executed, or the defendant cannot be found, or the like, this matter is indorsed on the writ by the officer, and delivered into the court whence the writ issued, at the day of the return thereof, in order to be filed. 2 Lil. Abr. 176.

RETURNO HABENDO, a writ which lies for him who has avowed a distress made of cattle, and proved his distress to be lawfully taken, for returning to him the cattle distrained, which before were replevied by the party distrained, upon surety given to prosecute the action.

RETURNS OF MEMBERS TO PARLIAMENT. See Blec-

RETURNUM IRREPLAGIABILE, a judicial writ sent out of the common-pleas to the sheriff, for the final restitution or return of cattle to the owner, unjustly taken by another, as damage feasant, and so found by the jury before justices of assize in the county, or otherwise by default of prosecution.

REVENUE, ROYAL, is that which the British constitution bath wested in the royal person, in order to support his dignity and maintain his power; being a portion which each subject contributes of his property, in order to secure the remainder.

The royal revenue, consequently, is derived from the various TAXES, which have from time to time been imposed by the legislature. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 143. all persons convicted of resisting the operation of the revenue laws (which resistance would by any of those laws, subject the offender to the penalty of death, as felous without benefit of clergy) shall be deemed felous within Benefit of clergy, and punishable accordingly, unless such offence be declared by the 52 Gro. 3. c. 143. to be felony without benefit of clergy. s. 1.—What these offences are, see Alienation, (Appendix); Debenture, (Appendix); Land Tax, Paper, Post-office, &c. If however any person be convicted of assisting with arms in the exporting wool, or any other goods, or opposing the revenue laws with such arms, he shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy, and shall suffer death accordingly. s. 11.

And if any person be charged by information on oath before any justice or other person competent to take such information, with being guilty of amembling, aiding, or assisting, or of maliciously shooting, maining, or wounding in any case wherein any such officer, or any person assisting him in his duty shall have been killed, such information shall be forthwith certified by the justice or other person. taking the same under his hand and seal to one of his majesty's principal secretaries of state, who shall forthwith lay the same before his majesty in his privy council; and his majesty may thereupon, by order in council, require and command the person so charged with such offence, that he do, within the space of sixty days, or such longer time as to his majesty shall seem fit, after the publication of such order in the London Gazette, surrender to the lord chief justice, or any other justice of the king's bench, or to any justice of thepeace, or other person competent to take such surrender as in such. order shall be specified; and may further order and require such order to be proclaimed by the sheriff of the county where the offence. shall have been committed, if committed within any county of the United Kingdom, and if not committed within any such county, then by the sheriff of any county near to the place wherein the offence shall have been committed; and the clerks of his majesty'sprivy council shall cause such order to be forthwith printed andpublished in the London Gazette, and such publication to be repeated once in every week after such first publication, until the expiration of the said sixty days, or such other time as shall be appointed by such order for the surrender of such offender, and shall also cause a copy of such order, attested by the signature of one of the said clerks, to be transmitted to the sheriff of the county specified in such order, who shall, within fourteen days after the receipt of such copy, cause the same to be proclaimed between the hours of ten in the morning and two in the afternoon, in the respective market-places, upon the respective market days of two market towns, in the same county, if there shall be two such towns; and if there shall be only one such town, flien in such town, and in some other place of general resort within such county, and shall also cause. a true copy of such copy of such order to be affixed upon some public place in each of such market towns or other place where. such proclamation shall be made; and if the person charged withsuch offence as aforesaid, shall surrender himself according to such order, the justice or other person to whom he shall so surrender, shall commit him to some guol or prison within the limits of his. jurisdiction, to be there dealt with according to law; but if such person so charged and proclaimed as aforesaid, shall not so surreuder within the time Hmited in such order, or shall after surrender and before trial for such offence escape from justice, such person.

shall, from the day appointed for such surrender, be adjudged to be a person attainted of felony, and shall suffer death as a felon, without benefit of clergy, if the offence shall be charged to have been committed in England, or within the limits of any port, harhour, or creck in England or Ircland, or within one hundred leagues of the coast thereof; and it shall be lawful for the court of king's bench, or the justices of over or general gaol delivery, or great sessions for the county or place where such offender shall be, to award execution against such offender, in such manner as if he had been convicted and attainted in the said court of king's beach, or before such justices of over and terminer, or general gaol delivery of great sessions respectively; and if the offence shall be charged to have been committed in Scotland, or within any port or harbour, or creek thereof, or within one hundred leagues of the coasts thereof, such offender shall in the like case be udjudged, deemed, and taken to be convicted of a capital crime, and shall suffer the pain of death, and confiscation of movembles, as in the case of a person found guilty of a capital crime and under sentence for the same; and it shall be lawful for the court of justiciary, or the lords of justiciary in their circuits in Scotland, to award execution against such offender, in such manner as if he had been found guilty and condemned in the said courts of justiciary or circuit courts respectively.

REVERSAL, of a judgment, is the making it void for error, and when on the return of a writ of error, it appears that the judgment is erroneous, then the court will give judgment, quod judicium revocetur, adnulletur, et penitus pro nullo habeatur.

REVERSION, hath a double acceptation in law; the one is, but an interest in the land when the possession shall fall; the other when the possession and estate, which was parted with for a time, ceases, and is determined in the person of the alicnees, assignees, graptees, or their heirs, or effectually returns to the donor, his heirs, or assigns, whence it was derived. The difference between a reversion and remainder, is, that a remainder is general and may be to any man, but to him that grants or conveys the land, &c. for term of life only or otherwise. A reversion is to himself, from whom the conveyance of the land, &c. proceeded, and is commonly perpetual as to his heirs also. Lit. Lib. 2. See Remainder.

REVIEW, bill of, in chancery, is, where a cause bath been beard, and the decree signed and enrolled; and some error in law appears upon the decree, or new matter discovered in time after the decree made.

REVILING OF THE CHURCH. The 1 Edw. 6. c. 1. and 1 Eliz. c. 1. enacts that whoever reviles the sacrament of the Lord's supper shall be punished by fine and imprisonment. And by the second section of the latter statute, if any minister shall speak any thing in derogation of the book of Common Prayer, he shall, if not beneficed, be imprisoned one year for the first offence, and for life for the second; and if he be beneficed, he shall, for the first offence, be imprisoned six months, and forfeit a year's value of his benefice; for the second offence, he shall be deprived, and suffer one year's imprisonment; and for the third, shall in like manner be desprived, and suffer imprisonment for life. And if any person whatsoever shall in plays, songs, or other open words, speak any thing in derogation, depraying, or despising of the said book, or shall forcid bly prevent the reading of it, or cause any other service to be used in its stead, he shall forfeit for the first offence an bundred marks; for the second four hundred; and for the third, all his goods and chattels, and suffer imprisonment for life.

REVIVOR, bill of, is where a bill hath been exhibited in chancery against one who answers, and before the cause is heard, or if heard, before the decree enrolled, either party dies: in this case a bill of revivor must be brought, that the former proceedings may stand revived, and the cause he finally determined.

REVOCATION, a destroying or making void a deed or will which existed before the act of revocation.

Some things may be revoked of course, though they are made irrevocable by express words; as a letter of attorney, a submission to an award, a testament or last will; for these of their nature are revocable.

By the statute of frauds, 29 Car. 2. c. 3. no devise of lands shall be revocable, otherwise than by some other will or codicil in writing, or other writing declaring the same, signed in the presence of three witnesses.

REWARDS, there are rewards given in many cases by statute; for the apprehending of criminals and bringing them to justice.

RIDER, is a schedule, or small piece of parchment, added to some part of a record, as when on the third reading of a bill in parliament a new clause is added that is tacked to the bill on a separate piece of parchment, and is called a rider.

RIDING ARMED, with dangerous and unusual weapons, is an offence at common law. 4 Inst. 160.

RIDING CLERK, one of the six clerks in chancery, who in his turn for one year, keeps the enrollment books of all grants that pass the grent seal that year.

RIDINGS, are names of the divisions of Yorkshire, which are three, viz. the east riding, the west riding, and the north riding.

REINS ARREAR, a kind of plea used to an action of debt upon arrearages of amount, whereby the defendant alledges there is nothing in arrear.

RIENS PASSE PAR LE FAIT, nothing passes by the deed, is the form of an exception taken in some cases to an action.

RIENS PER DESCENT, is the plea of an heir, where he is sued for his ancestor's debt, and hath no land from him by descent or assets in his hands.

RIGHT, in general signification includes not only a right, for which a writ of right lies, but also any claim or title, either by virtue of a condition, mortgage, or the like, for which no action is given by law, but only on entry.

RIOT, ROUT, and UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY. When three persons or more shall assemble themselves together, with an intent mutually to assist one another, against any who shall appose them in the execution of some enterprize of a private nature, with force or violence, against the peace, or to the manifest terror of the people, whether the act intended were of itself lawful or unlawful; if they only meet for such a purpose or intent, though they shall after depart of their own accord without doing any thing, this is an unlawful assembly. I Ham. 155.

If after their first meeting, they shall move forwards towards the execution of any such act, whether they put their intended purpose into executions or not; this according to the general opinion is a rout. Id.

By 34 Rd. 3. c. 1. it is enacted, that if a justice find persons ristoutly assembled, he alone has not only power to arrest the offenders, and bind them to their good behaviour, or imprison them if they do not offer good bail; but he may also authorize others to arrest them, by a bare verbal command, without other warrant; and by force thereof, the persons so commanded, may pursue and arrest the uffenders in his absence as well as presence. It is also said, that after any riot is over, any one justice may send his warrant to arrest any person who was concerned in it, and that he may send him to gaul till he shall find sureties for his good behaviour. I Haw. 160.

The punishment of unlawful assemblies, if to the number of twelve, may be capital; according to the circumstances which attend them: but from the number of three to eleven, is by fine and imprisonment only.

The same is the case by riots and routs by the common law, to which the pillory in very enormous eases, has been sometimes superadded. 4 Black. c. 11.

ROBBERY, is a felonious taking away of another man's goods from his person or presence against his will, putting him in fear, and of purpose to steal the same. West. Symbol.

To make a robbery there must be a felonious intention; and so it ought to be laid in the indictment. I H. H. 532.

It is immaterial of what value the thing taken is: a penny, as well as a pound, thus forcibly extorted makes a robbery. 1 Haw. 34.

If a man force another to part with his property, for the sake of preserving his character from the imputation of having been guilty of an unnatural crime, it will amount to a robbery, even though the party was under no apprehension of personal danger. Leach's Cro. Law. 257.

If any thing be snatched suddenly from the head, hand, or person of any one, without any struggle on the part of the owner, or without any evidence of force, or violence being exerted by the thief, it does not amount to robbery. But if any thing be broken or torn in consequence of the sudden seizure, it would be evidence of such force as would constitute a robbery: as where a part of a lady's hair was torn away, by snatching a diamond pin from her head, and an ear was torn by pulling off an ear-ring; each of these cases was determined to be a robbery. Leach's Cro. Law. 264.

By 7 G. 2. c. 21. if any person shall, with any offensive weapon, assault, or by menaces, or in any forcible or violent manner, demand any money or goods, with a felonious intent to rob another, he shall be guilty of felony, and be transported for seven years.

If any person being out of prison, shall commit any robbery, and afterwards discover two or more persons who shall commit any robbery, so as two or more be convicted; he shall have the king's pardon, for all robberies he shall have committed before such discovery. See Burglary, Hundred, and Larceny.

ROGUE. See Vagrant.

ROLLS, are parchment, on which all the plendings, memorials, and acts of courts are entered and filed with the proper officer, and then they become records of the court. 2 Lil. Abr. 149.

ROLLS OFFICE OF THE CHANCERY. See Master of the Rolls.

ROLLS OF PARLIAMENT, the manuscript registers, or rolls of the proceedings of our old parliaments.

ROME, CHURCH OF. See Papists.

ROYAL ASSENT. See Parliament.

ROYALTIES, are the rights of the king. See Prerogative.

RULES OF COURT. Atternies are bound to observe the rules of the court, to avoid confusion; also the plaintiff and defendant in a cause, are at their peril to take notice of the rules made in the court touching the cause between them. See Tidd's K. B. Practice.

RUMOURS, spreading such as are false, is criminal and punishable by common law. 1 Haw. 234.

S

SACRILEGE, is church robbery, or taking things out of an holy place, as where a person steals any vessels, ornaments, or goods of the church.

SAFE CONDUCT. A safe conduct is a security given by the king, under the great seal, to a stranger, for his safe coming into, and passing out of the realm. Passports, however, under the king's sign manual, or licences from his ambassadors abroad, which are now more usual, are obtained with equal facility.

SALE OF GOODS. If a man agree for the purchase of goods, he shall pay for them, before he carries them away, unless some term of a credit is expressly agreed upon.

If one man say the price of this article is 1001, and the other says I will give you 1001, but does not pay immediately, it is at the option of the seller whether he shall have it or no, except a day were given for the payment.

If a man upon the sale of goods, warrant them to be good, the law annexes to this contract a tacit warranty, that if they be not so, be shall make compensation to the purchaser; such warranty, however, must be on the sale.

But if the vendor knew the goods to be unsound, and hath used any art to disguise them, or if in any respect, they differ from what he represents them to be to the purchaser, he will be answerable for their goodness, though no general warranty will extend to those defects that are obvious to the senses.

If two persons come to a warehouse, and one buys, and the other to procure him credit, promises the seller, if he do not pay you, I will; this is a collateral undertaking, and void without writing, by the statutes of frauds; but if he say, let him have the goods, I will be your pay-master, this is an absolute undertaking as for himself, and he shall be intended to be the real buyer, and the other to act only as his servant. 2 T. R. 73.

After earnest is given, the vendor cannot sell the goods to another without a default in the vendee; and therefore if the vendee do not come and pay, and take the goods, the vendor ought to give him notice for that purpose; and then if he do not come and pay, and take away the goods in convenient time, the agreement is dissolved, and he is at liberty to sell them to any other person. 1 Salk. 113.

An exercise only binds the bargain, and gives the party a right to demand; but demand without payment of money is void. See also Auction.

SALVAGE. See Insurance (Marine.)

SANCTUARY, was a place privileged for the sufeguard of offenders' lives, being founded upon the law of mercy.

By 21 Jac. 1. c. 28. all privilege and sanctuary, and abjuration consequent thereupon, is utterly taken away and abolished. 4 Black. $32.

SANE MEMORY, perfect and sound mind and memory, to do any lawful act. See Ideats.

SATISFAUTION, is the giving of a recompense for an injury done, for the payment of money due on bond, judgment, &c.

SAVER DEFAULT, to excuse a default.

SCANDALUM MAGNATUM, is the special name of a statute, and also of a wrong done to any high personage of the land, as pre-lates, dukes, marquisses, earls, barons, and other nobles; and also the chancellor, treasurer, clerk of the privy seal, steward of the house, justice of one beach or other, and other great officers of the realm, by false news or horrible or false messages, whereby debates and discord, betwixt them and the commons, or any scandal to their persons might arise. 2 R. 2. c. 5.

The statute bath given name to a writ, granted to recover damages thereupon. Cowel.

It is now clearly agreed, that though there be no express words in the statute which give an action, yet the party injured may maintain one on this principle of law, that when a statute prohibits the doing of a thing, which if done might be prejudicial to another, in such case he may have an action on that very statute for his damages. 2 Mod. 152.

SCILICET, that is to say, or to wit, and is frequently used in law proceedings.

SCIRE FACIAS, is a judicial writ, and properly lies after a year and a day after judgment given; whereby the sheriff is commoded to summon or give notice to the defendant, that he appear and show cause why the plaintiff should not have execution. Inst. 290.

A scire facins, is deemed a judicial writ, and founded on some matter of record, as judgments, recognizances, and letters patent, on which it lies to enforce the execution of them, or to vacate or set them aside; and though it be a judicial writ of execution, yet it is so far in nature of an original, that the defendant may plead to it, and is in that respect considered as an action; and therefore it is held, that a release of all actions, or a release of all executions is a good bar to a scire facius. See Rol. Abr.

SCOLD, a common scold, is a public nuisance to her neighbourhood; for which offence she may be indicted.

SCOT AND LOT, a customary contribution laid upon all subjects, according to their ability.

SCOTLAND, by 5 Anne, c. 8. the union of England and Scotland was effected, and the twenty-five articles of union, agreed to by the parliaments of both nations, were ratified and confirmed as follows; viz. the succession to the monarchy of Great Britain shall be the some, as was before settled with regard to that of England. united kingdoms shall be represented by one parliament. shall be a communication of all rights and privileges between the subjects of both kingdoms, except where it is otherwise agreed-When England raises 2,000,000%, by land-tax, Scotland shall raise 480001. The standards of the coin, of weights, and measures, shall be reduced to those of England, throughout the united kingdoms. The laws relating to the trade, customs, and the excise, shall be the same in Scotland as in England. But all the other laws of Scotland shall remain in force, though alterable by the parliament of Great Britain: and particularly laws relating to public policy, are alterable at the discretion of parliament: laws relating to private right are not to be altered, but for the evident utility of the people of Scotland. Sixteen peers are to be chosen to represent the peerage of Scotland in parliament, and forty-five members to sit is the house of commons.

The sixteen peers of Scotland Shall have all privileges of parliament, and all peers of Scotland shall be peers of Great Britain, ranking next after those of the same degree at the time of the union, and shall have all privileges of peers, except sitting in the bouse of lards, and voting on the trial of a peer.

It was formerly resolved by the house of lords, that a peer of Scotland, claiming and having a right to sit in the British house of peers had no right to vote in the election of the sixteen Scotch peers: but it seems now settled, that a Scotch peer, made a peer of Great Britain, has a right to vote in the election of the sixteen Scotch peers: and that if any of the sixteen Scotch peers are created peers of Great Britain, they thereby cease to sit as representatives of the Scotch peerage, and new Scotch peers must be elected in their room.

SCRIPTURE, all profane scoffing at the holy scripture, or exposing any part thereof to contempt or ridicule, is punishable by fine and imprisonment. 1 Haw. 7.

SCRIVENERS. A scrivener is a kind of a broker between those who want to borrow money on security, and those who have money to place out at interest.

SCUTAGE, tax or contribution, raised by those who held lands, by knights' service, towards furnishing the king's army, at one, two, or three marks for every knight's fee.

SCUTAGIO HABENDO, a writ which lay for the king, or other lord, against the tenant that held by knight's service, to serve hy himself, or else to send a sufficient man in his place, or pay, &c.

SCYRGEMOTE, a court beld twice every year as the sheriff's torn is now, by the bishop of the diocese, and the ealderman (in shires that had ealdermen), and hy the bishops and sheriffs, in such as were committed to the sheriffs that were immediate to the king, wherein both the ecclesiastical and temporal laws were given in charge to the country.

SEA. The sea shall be open to all merchants. The main sea beneath the low water mark, and round England, is part of England; for there the admiralty bath jurisdiction. 1 Inst. 260.

SEAL, is either in wax, impressed with a device and attached to deeds, &c. or the instrument with which the wax is impressed.

Scaling of a deed, is an essential part of it; for if a writing be not scaled, it cannot be a deed. See Deed.

SEALER, an officer in chancery appointed by the lord chancellor of England, to seal the writs and instruments there made in his presence.

SEAMEN, by various statutes, sailors having served the king for a limited time, are free to use any trade or profession, in any town of the kingdom, except in Oxford or Cambridge.

By 2 G. 2. c. 36. made perpetual by 2 G. 3. c. 31. no master of any vessel shall carry to sea any seaman, his own apprentices excepted, without first entering into an agreement with such seaman for his wages, such agreement to be made in writing, and to declars what wages such seaman is to receive during the whole of the voyage, or for such time as shall be therein agreed upon; and such agreement shall also express the voyage for which such seaman was shipped to perform the same. The provisions of this act are enforced by a penalty of 104, for each mariner carried to sea without such agreement, to be forfeited by the master to the use of Greenwich Hospital. This agreement is to be signed by each mariner within three days after entering on board such ship, and is, when executed, binding on all parties.

By 46 Geo. 3. c. 92. s. 6, 7. private seamen in the royal may may send single letters, superscribed by their commanding officer, by post, on paying one penny for each; and they may also receive single letters free from postage, one penny being paid when put into the office. There are numerous other statutes relative to this important class of the community; but their provisions will not admit of abridgment here.

SECONDARY, an officer who is second, or next to the chief officer; as the secondaries to the prothonotaries in the courts of

B. R. and C. B.

SECOND DELIVERANCE, a judicial writ that lies after notenit after the plaintiff in a replevia, and a retorno habendo of the cattle replevied; adjudged to blue that distrained them, for the seplevying of the same cattle again upon security put in for the sedelivery of them in case the distress be justified.

SECRETARY. A secretary of state, is a great officer under the king; but it doth not seem, that in that capacity he is in any considerable degree the object of our laws, or hath any very important share of magistracy conferred upon him; except that he is allowed the power of commitment, in order to bring offenders to trial. I Black. 338.

SECTA AD CURIAM, a weit that lies against him who refused to perform his suit, either to the county, or court baron.

SECTA AD JUSTICIAM FACIENDAM, a service which a

SECTA CURIE, suit and service done by tenants at the court of their lord.

SECTA REGALIS, a suit so called, by which all persons were shound twice in a year to attend the sheriff's torn, that they might be informed of things relating to the peace of the public: it was called regalis, because the sheriff's torn was the king's leet; and it was a court held that the people might be bound by outh to bear true allegiance to the king: for all persons above twelve years old were obliged to take the oath of allegiance in this court.

BECTA UNICA TANTUM FACIENDA PRO PLURIBUS HEREI) ITATIBUS, a writ that lies for that heir that is distrained by the lord to more suits than one, in respect of the land of divers beirs descended unto him.

· SECTIS NON FACIENDIS, a writ that lies for a woman, who for her dower, ought not to perform suit or court.

SECURITATE PACIS, a writ that lies for one who is threatened with death or danger, against him that so threateneth, and is taken out of the chancery, and directed to the sheriff.

SECURITIES, (Embezzlement of.) By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 63. for more effectually preventing the embezzlement of securities for money and other effects, left or deposited for safe custody, or other special purpose, in the hands of bankers, merchants, brokers, attornies, or other agents, it is cracted, that if any person or persons with whom (as bankers, merchants, brokers, attornies, or agents of any description whatsoever) any ordnance debenture, exchequer bill, navy, victualling, or transport bill, or other bill, warrant, or order for the payment of money, state lottery ticket or certificate, seamon's ticket, bank receipt for payment of any loan, India bond, or other bond, or any deed, note, or other security for money, or for any share or interest in any national stock or fund of this or any other country, or in the stock or fund of any corporation, company, or society established by act of parliament or royal charter, or any power of attorney for the sale or transfer of any such stock or fand. or any share or interest therein, or any plate, jewels, or other personal effects, shall have been deposited, or shall he or remain for safe custody, or upon or for any special purpose, without any authority, either general, special, conditional, or discretionary, to sell or pledge such debeuture, &c. or to sell, transfer, or pledge the stock or fund, or share or interest in the stock or fund to which such security or power of attorney shall relate, shall sell, negociate, transfer, assign, pledge, embezzle, secrete, or in any manner apply to his or their own use or benefit any such debenture, &c. or plate, jewels, or other personal effects, or the stock or fund, or share or interest in the stock or fund to which such security or power of attorney shall relate, in violation of good faith, and contrary to the special purpose, for which such things shall have been deposited in the hands of such persons, with intent to defraud the owner or owners of any such instrument or security, or the person or persons depositing the same, or the owner or owners of the stock or fund, share or interest, to which such security or power of attorney shall relate, every person so offending in any part of the united kingdom, shall be guilty of a misdemennor, and, being thereof convicted according to law, shall be sentenced to transportation for any term not exceeding fourteen years, or to receive such other punishment as may by law be inflicted on a person or persons guilty of a misdemeanor, and as the court, before which such offender or offenders may be tried and conwicted, shall adjudge. s. 1.

And whereas it is usual for persons having dealings with bankers. merchants, brokers, attornies, and other agents, to deposit or place in the hands of such bankers, merchants, brokers, attornies, and other agents, sums of money, bills, notes, drafts, cheques, or orders for the payment of money, with directions or orders to invest the monies so paid, or to which such bills, notes, drafts, cheques, or orders relate, or part thereof, in the purchase of stocks or fonds, or in or upon government or other securities for money, or to apply and dispose thereof in other ways or for other purposes; and it is expedient to prevent embezzlement and mulversation, in such cases; also It is further enacted, that if any such banker, merchant, broker, attorpey, or other agent, in whose hands any such sum or sums of money, &c. shall be placed, with any order or orders in writing, and signed by the party or parties who shall so deposit or place the same, to invest such sum or sums of money or the money to which such bill. pote, draft, cheque, or order as aforesaid shall relate, in the purchase of any stock or fund, or in or upon government or other securities, or in any other way or for any other purpose specified in such order or orders, shall in any manner apply to his or their own use and benefit, any such sum or sums of money, or any such bill, pote, draft, cheque, or order for the payment of any sum or sums of money as herein-before mentioned, in violation of good faith and contrary to the special purpose specified in the direction or order in. writing becein before mentioned, with intent to defraud the owner or owners of any mich sum or sums of money, or order for the payment of any sum or sums of money; every person so offending in any part of the united kingdom, shall in like manner be guilty of a misdemeanor, and being convicted thereof according to law, shall incur and suffer such punishment as is herein before mentioned. s. 2.

But this act is not to prevent persons receiving money due on securities; nor does it extend to partners not being privy to the offence; nor to lessen any remedy at law or equity regarding the party aggrieved; nor to affect trustees or mortgagess. s. 3-6.

Nothing in this act shall restrain bankers from disposing of securities on which they have a lien. s. 8.

Persons offending in Scotland against this act, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment, or by either of them, or by trumportation for any term not exceeding fourteen years, as the judge or judges before whom such offender shall be tried and convicted may direct, s. 7.

SE DEFENDENDO, a plea for him who is charged with the death of another, saying he was compelled to do that which he did, in his own defence. See Homicide.

BEIGNIOR, denotes in the general signification as much as lord; but is particularly used for the lord of the fee, or of a manor.

SEISIN, is two fold, seisin in law, and seisin in fact. Seisin in fact, is when an actual possession is taken; seisin in law when something is done, which the law accounts a seisin, as an invollment.

SEISINA HABENDA, QUIA REX HABUIT ANNUM, DI-BM, BT FASTUM, a writ which lies for delivery of seisin to the lord of his lands or tenements, after the hing, in the right of his prenogative, hath had the year, day and waste.

SEIZURE OF GOODS FOR OFFENCES, no goods of a felouor other offender can be seized to the use of the king, before forfeited; and there are two seizures, one verbal only, to make an inventory, and charge the town or place, when the owner is indicted of the offence; and the other actual, which is the taking of them away afterwards on conviction, &c. 3 Inst. 103.

BELF-PRESERVATION. See Homicide.

SENATORS, members of parliament. See Parliament and Election.

SEPARATION OF HUSBAND AND WIFE. See Divorce.

SEQUATOR SUB SUO PRRICULO, a writ that lies where a summons ad warrantisandum is awarded, and the sheriff returns that he hath nothing whereby he may be summoned; then issues an alias, and pluries, and if he come not at the pluries, this writehall issue.

SEQUELA CAUSE, the process, and depending issue of account or trial.

SEQUELA CURIA, a suit of court.

SEQUELA VILLANORUM, all the retinue and appurtenances to the goods and chattels of servile tenants, which were at the arbitrary and absolute disposal of the lord.

SEQUESTER, is a term used in the civil law for renouncing, aswhen a widow comes into court, and disdains to have any thing to do, or to intermeddle with her husband's estate who is deceased, she is said to sequester.

SEQUESTRATION, is the separating or setting aside of a thing in controversy from the possession of both those who contend for it. And it is of two kinds, voluntary, or necessary; voluntary is that which is done by consent of each party; necessary, is what the judge doth of his authority, whether the parties will or not. It is used also for the act of the ordinary disposing of the goods and chattens of one decessed, whose estate no man will meddle with.

A sequestration is also a kind of execution for debt, especially in the case of a beneficed clerk, of the profits of the benefice, to be paid over to him that had the judgment till the debt is satisfied.

SEQUESTRO HABENDO, a writ judicial, for dissolving a sequestration of the fruits of a benefice made by a bishop at the king's command, thereby to compel the parson to appear at the suit of another; for the parson upon his appearance may have this writ for the discharge of the sequestration.

SERJEANT, at law, is the highest degree taken in that profession, as that of a doctor is in the civil law. To these serjeants, as men of great learning and experience, one court is set apart for them to plead in by themselves, which is the court of common pleas, where the common law of England is most strictly observed; yet though they have this court to themselves, they are not restrained from pleading in any other courts, where the judges (who cannot be elevated to that dignity till they have taken the degree of serjeant at law) call them brothers, and hear them with great respect, next to the king's attorney and solicitor general. These are made by the king's mandate, or writ.

There are also serjeants at arms, whose office is to attend on the person of the king, to arrest persons of condition offending.

SERJEANTY, signifies in law a service that cannot be due from a tenant to any lord, but to the king only; and it is either grand serjeanty or petit serjeanty.

Grand serjeanty, is a tenure whereby a person holds his lands of the king by such services as he ought to do in person, as to carry the king's banner, or his lance, or to carry his sword before him at his coronation, or to do other like services; and is called grand serjeanty, because it is a more worthy service, than the service in the common tenure of escuage.

Petit serjeanty, is where a person bolds his land of the king, to furnish him yearly with some small thing towards his wars, as a bow, lance, &c. And such service is but socage in effect, because such tenant by his tenure, ought not to go nor do any thing in his proper person, but to render and pay yearly, certain things to the king. Lil. 160.

SERVAGE, is when each tenant, besides the payment of a certain rent, finds one or more workmen for his lord's service.

SERVANTS. See Muster and Servant.

SERVICE, that which the tenant by reason of his fee or estate, owes unto his lord.

SERVITIUM FEODALE, ET PRÆDIALE, was not a personal service, but only by reason of the lands which were held in fee.

Ł

SERVITIUM FORINSECUM, a service which did not belong to the chief lord, but to the king.

SERVITIUM INTRINSECUM, is that service which was due to the chief lord alone, from his vassals.

SERVITIUM LIBERUM, a service to be done by the feudatory tenants, who were called liberi homines, and distinct fromvassals; so also was their service, for they were not bound to any of those base services, as to plough the lord's land, &c. but only to find a man and horse to go with the lord into the army, or to attendhis court, &c.

SERVITIUM REGALE, royal service, or the rights and prerogatives that within such a manor belong to the lord of it, as wereformerly annexed to some minors in their grant from the king.

SESSION OF PARLIAMENT. The session of parliament continues tell it be prorogued or dissolved. 4 Inst. 27. See Parliament.

SESSIONS OF THE PEACE. See Quarter Sessions.

SESSIONS FOR WEIGHTS AND MEASURES. In London, four justices from among the mayor, recorder, and aldermen, (of which the mayor or recorder to be one) may hold a sessions to enquire into offences of selling by fulse weights and measures, contrary to the statutes; and to receive indictments, pusish the offenders, &c.

SET-OFF, is when the defendant acknowledges the justice of the plaintiff's demand on the one hand, but on the other sets up a demand of his own, to counterbalance that of the plaintiff, either in the whole, or in part; as if the plaintiff sue for 10t. due on a note of hand, the defendant may set-off 9t. due to himself for merchandize sold to the plaintiff. 3 Black. SO4.

The action in which a set off is allowable upon the statute 2 & 3. Geo. 2. c. 22 & 24. are debt, covenant, and assumpsit, for the non-payment of money; and the demand intended to be set-off, must be such as might have been made the subject of one or other of these actions. A set-off, therefore, is never allowed in actions upon the case, trespass, replevin, &c. nor of a penalty, in debt on bond conditioned for the performance of covenants, &c. nor of general namages in covenant or assumpsit; but where a bond is conditioned for the payment of an annuity, a set-off may be allowed. A debt barred by the statute of limitations, cannot be set-off; and if it be pleaded in bar to the action, the plaintiff may reply the statute of limitations; or if given in evidence, on a notice of set-off, it may be objected at the trial. Tidd's Pract. K. B.

In hankruptcy cases, mutual debts and credits may be set-off, not-withstanding a secret act of bankruptcy. 46 Geo. S. c. 135. s. S.

SEVERAL ACTION, is where two or more persons are severally charged in any action.

SEVERAL COVENANT, is a covenant by two or more severally; and in a deed where the covenants are several between divers persons, they are as several deeds, written in one piece of parchment. 5 Rep. 23.

BEVERAL INHERITANCE, an inheritance conveyed, so as to descend, or come to two persons severally by moleties, &c.

SEVERAL TAIL, that whereby land is given and intailed severally to two: for example, land is given to two men and their wives, and to the beirs of their bodies begotten, the donees have joint estates for their two lives, and yet they have several inheritances, because the issue of the one shall have his molety, and the issue of the other, the other molety.

SEVERAL TENANCY, is a plea or exception taken to a writ that is laid against two as joint, which are several.

BEVERANCE, the singling or severing of two, or more, that are joined in one writ. For example, if two join in a writ de liberate probanda and the one afterwards be nonsuit, here severance is permitted; so that notwithstanding the nonsuit of the one, the other may severally proceed. F. N. B. 78.

SHEADING, a riding, tithing; or division in the Isle of Man.

BHEBP. Any person who shall feloniously drive away, or folomicrosty steal any sheep or lamb; or wilfully kill any sheep or lamb, with a felonious intent to steal the carcase or any part thereof; or mosist or ald in committing any of the said offences, shall be guilty of follows without benefit of clergy. 14 Geo. 2. c. 6.

Any person who shall apprehend and prosecute to conviction any such offender, shall have a reward of 10% for which purpose, he shall have a certificate signed by the judge, before the end of the assises, certifying such conviction, and where the offence was committed, and that the offender was apprehended and prosecuted by the person claiming the reward; and if more than one claim it, he shall therein appoint what share shall be paid to each claimant. And on tendering such certificate to the sheriff, he shall pay the same within a month, without deduction, or forfeit double with treble costs. To be allowed in his accounts, or be repaid him out of the treasury.

And any person who shall in the night time, maliciously and wil-fully main, wound, or othernise burt any sheep, whereby the same is not killed, shall forfeit to the party grieved treble damages, by action of trespass, or on the case.

And by 28 Geo. 3. c. 38. every person who shall expert any live sheep or lambs, shall forfeit 3i. for every sheep or lamb, and shall also suffer solitary imprisonment for three months, without bail, and until the forfeiture be paid; but not to exceed twelve months for such non-payment; and for every subsequent offence 5i. a piece, and imprisonment for six months, and until the forfeiture be paid; but not to exceed two years for the non-payment thereof. And all ships and vessels employed therein shall be forfeited.

SHERIFF, as keeper of the king's peace, the sheriff is the first man in the county, and superior in rank to any nobleman therein, during his office. He may apprehend and commit to prison all persons who break the peace, or attempt to break it, and may bind any one in a recognizance to keep the king's peace. He may, and is bound ex-officio to pursue and take all traitors, murderers, felons, and other misdoers, and commit them to gaol for safe custody. He is also to defend his country against any of the king's enemies, when they come into the land: and for this purpose, as well as for keeping the peace and pursuing felons, he may command all the people of his county to attend him; which is called the posse comitatus, or power of the county; which summom, every person above fifteen years of age, and under the degree of a peer, is bound to attend upon warning, on pain of fine and imprisonment. Yet he cannot exercise the office of a justice of the peace, for then this inconvenience would arise, that he should command himself to execute his own precepts. 1 Black. 343.

The sheriff hath a jurisdiction both in criminal and civil cases; and therefore he has two courts, his tern for criminal causes, which is the king's court; the other is his county court, for civil causes, and this is the court of the sheriff himself. 3 Salk. 322.

When the new sheriff is appointed and sworn, he ought at or before the next county court, to deliver a writ of discharge to the old sheriff, who is to set over all the prisoners in the gaol, severally by their names, (together with all the writs), precisely, by view and indenture between the two sheriffs; wherein must be comprehended all the actions which the old sheriff has against every prisoner, though the executions are of record. And till the delivery of the prisoners to the new sheriff, they remain in the custody of the old sheriff; notwithstanding the letters patent of appointment, the writ of discharge, and the writ of delivery. Neither is the new sheriff obliged to receive the prisoners, but at the gast. But the office of the old sheriff ceases, when the writ of discharge is brought to him. Wood, b. l. c. k.

By 3 Geo. 1. c. 15. it shall not be lawful for any person to buy, sell, let, or take to farm, the office of under-sheriff, or deputy-sheriff, or seal-keeper, county-clerk, shire-clerk, gaoler, bailiff, or any other office pertaining to the office of high sheriff, or to contract for any of the said offices, on forfeiture of 500% one moiety to his majesty, the other to such as shall see in any court at Westminster, within two years after the offence.

Provided that nothing in this act shall hinder any high sheriff from comtituting an under sheriff, or deputy sheriff, as by law he may; nor hinder the under sheriff in any case of the high sheriff's death, when he acts as high-sheriff, from constituting a deputy; nor hinder such sheriff, or under-sheriff, from receiving the lawful perquisites of his office, or for taking security for the due answering the same; nor hinder such sheriff, or under-sheriff, deputy-sheriff, seal-keeper, &c. from accounting to the high-sheriff for all such lawful fees as shall be by them taken, nor for giving security so to do, of to hinder the high-sheriff from allowing a salary to his under-sheriff, &c. or other officers.

And if any sheriff shall die before the expiration of his year, or before he be superseded, the under-sheriff shall nevertheless continue in his office, and execute the same in the name of the deceased, till another sheriff be appointed and sworn; and the under-sheriff shall be answerable for the execution of the office during such interval, as the high-sheriff would have been; and the security given by the under-sheriff and his pledges shall stand a security to the king, and all persons whatsoever, for the performing his office during such interval. Id.

SHERIFFALTY, is the sherifiship, or time of a man's being sheriff.

SHERIFFWICK, the extent of a sheriff's authority.

SHERIFFGELD, a rent formerly paid by the sheriff; and it is prayed that the sheriff in his account may be discharged thereof.

SHEWING, is especially used to be quit of an attachment in & court, in plaints skewed and not avowed.

SHIP MONEY, an imposition charged on the ports, towns, cities, boroughs, and counties of this realm, in the time of king Charles I, by writs commonly called ship-writs, under the great seal of England, in 1635 and 1636, for providing and furnishing certain ships for the king's service, &c. which was declared to be contrary to the laws and statutes of this realm, the petition of right, and liberty of the subject.

SHIPS, wilfully destroying a ship with intent to projudice the insurers; plundering a ship in distress; stealing goods of the value of 40s. from on ship board; hurning or destroying any of his majesty's shipping or stores; are by a variety of statutes, made felony without benefit of clergy.

SHIRE, is a part or portion of this kingdom, called also a county.

SHIRE-CLERK, is he that keeps the county court; his office is so incident to the sheriff, that the king cannot grant it.

SHIRE-HALL, by 29 Geo. 3. c. 20. the justices in sessions, on presentment of the grand jury at the assizes, of the ill state and condition of the shire-hall, or other buildings used for holding the assizes, and the necessity of repairing it, may order it to be repaired as they shall think fit, and the money to be levied as for other county rates.

SHOOTING, maliciously at persons in any dwelling bouse, or other place, though death should not ensue, is felony without elergy, by the 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. commonly called the black act.

SHOPLIFTERS, those who steal goods privately out of shops; which being to the value of 51. though no person be in the shop, is felony without benefit of elergy. 10 & 11 W.3. c. 23.

SHROUD, stealing a shroud from a dead body, is felony; for the property thereof remains in the executor, or the person who was at the charge of the funeral. But stealing the corpse only, which has no owner, is not felony, unless some of the grave-cleaths be stolen with it. 2 Black. 419.

SHRUBS, wilfully to spoil or destroy any trees, roots, shrubs, or plants, is for the two first offences, liable to pecuniary penalties; and for the third, the offender is guilty of felony, and transported for seven years. And stealing any of them by night, to the value of 5s. is felony for the first offence.

SICUT ALIAS, a second writ issued, where the first was not executed.

SIDEMEN or SYNODSMEN, those who are yearly chosen, according to the custom of every parish, to assist the churchwardens, in the inquiry, and presenting such offenders to the ordinary, as punishable in the court christian.

SIGN MANUAL, the signature of the king on grants or letters patent, which first pass by bill, &c.

SIGNET, one of the king's seals, wherewith his private letters are sealed, which is always in custody of the king's secretaries; and there are four clerks of the signet-office, always attending. I lust, 556.

SIGNIFICAVIT, a writ de excemmunicate capiende, issuing out of chancery upon a certificate given by the ordinary, of a man that stands obstinately excommunicated, by the space of forty days, for the laying him up in prison, without bail or mainprize, until he submit himself to the authority of the church. And it is so called, he cause the word significant, is an emphatical word in the writ.

SIGNING, of deeds and wills, is necessary to make them bind-

SIMONY, is the corrupt presentation of any one to an ecclebiastical benefice, for money, gift, reward, or benefit. It was not an offence punishable in a criminal way at the common law, it being thought sufficient to leave the clerk to ecclesiastical censures. But as these did not affect the simoniacal patron, none were effiacieous enough to repel the notorious practice of the thing, divers acts of parliament have been made to restrain it by means of civil forfeitures; which the modern prevailing usage with regard to spiritual preferments, call aloud to put in execution.— 2 Black. c. 18.

By one of the canons of 1603, every person, before his admission to any eccleriastical promotion, shall, before the ordinary, take an oath, that he hath made no simoniacal contract, promise, or payment, directly, or indirectly, by himself or any other, for the obtaining of the said promotion: and that he will not afterwards perform or satisfy any such kind of payment, contract or promise, by any other without his knowledge or consent.

To purchase a presentation, the living being actually vacant, is open and notorious simony; this being expressly in the face of the statute. Moor. 914.

The sale of an advoction, during a vacancy, is not within the statute simony, as the sale of the next presentation is: but it is void by the common law. 2 Black. 22

A bond of resignation, is a bond given by the persons intended to be presented to a benefice, with condition to resign the same; and is special or general. The condition of a special one, is to resign the benefice in favour of some certain person, as a son, kinsman, or friend of the patron, when he shall be capable of taking the same. By a general bond, the incumbent is bound to resign on the request of the patron. 4 Back. Abr. 470.

A bond with condition to resign within three months after being requested, to the intent that the patron might present his son when he should be capable, was held good; and the judgment was aftirmed in the exchequer-chamber: for that a man may without any colour of simony bind himself for good reasons; as if he take a second benefice, or if he be non-resident, or that the patron present his son, to resign; but if the condition had been to let the patron have a lease of the glebe or tithes, or to pay a sum of money, it had been simoniacal.

SIMPLE CONTRACT, debts by simple contract, are such where the contract upon which the obligation arises is neither psecretained by matter of record, nor yet by special deed or instrument, but by more aral evidence, or by notes unscaled; whereas debts by specialty are such whereby the contract is ascertained by deed or instrument under seal. S Black: 462.

RIMPLEX JUSTICIARIUS, this style was anciently used for any puises judge, who was not chief in any court.

SIMUL CUM, together with, are words used in indictments, and declarations of trespass against several persons, where some of them are known, and others are not.

SINE ASSENSU CAPITALI, a writ that lies where a dean, bishop, prebendary, abbot, prior, or master, of an hospital, alien the land holden in right of his house, without the assent of the chapter, convent, and fraternity; in which case his successor shall have this writ.

SINE CURE, is where a rector of a parish hath a vicar under bim endowed and charged with the cure; so that the rector is not obliged either to do duty or residence.

SI NON OMNES, a writ of association, whereby, if all in commission cannot meet at the day assigned, it is allowed that two or more of them may finish the business.

SINKING FUND, a name given to the sum annually assigned for payment and diminishing the capital of the national debt. Its progress is that of compound interest, and very rapidly increases as it goes on. This fund was established by Mr. Pitt for counteracting national ruin, by the too great extent of the borrowing system, but has recently been suspended by parliament.

BIX CLERKS IN CHANCERY. See Chancery.

SLAVERY, the law of England abhors, and will uset adure the existence of slagery within this nation.

A slave or negro, the moment he lands in England, falls under the protection of the laws, and so far becomes a freeman. Yet with regard to any right which the master may have lawfully acquired to his perpetual service, that will remain exactly in the same state as before: for this is no more than the same state of subjection for life, which every apprentice submits to for the space of seven year, or sometimes for a longer term. 1 Black. 127.

SOCAGE, a tenere of lands by or for certain inferior services of bushandry to be performed to the ford of the fee. This was a tenure of so large an extent, that all the lands in England, which were not held in knight's service, were held in socage.

SOCMANS, or SOKEMANS, such tenants as hold their lands and tenements by socage lenure.

SOLDIRES, the regulations respecting the soldiery, are principally contained in the annual acts against mutiny and desertion. See the Muting Act.

S() LE TENANT, he or she who holds only in his or her own right, without any other joined: for example, if a man and wife, hold land for their lives, the remainder to their son; here the man dying, the lord shall not have heriot, because he dieth not sole tenunt.

SOLICITOR, a person employed to take care of and follow suits depending in courts of equity: but he may be sworn and admitted an attorney in the court of king's-bench, or common-pless. 23 Geo. 2. c. 26.

* SOMERSET-HOUSE, was assured to queen Charlotte for life, by 2 Geo. 3. c. l. but Buckingham house has been since purchased and settled upon her in lieu thereof.

SON ASSAULT, a justification in an action of assault and battery; because the plaintiff made the first ussault, and what the defendant did was in his own defence.

: SOVERELGN, in our constitution, the law ascribes to the king the attribute of sovereignty, but that is to be understood in a qualified sense, i. s. a supreme manistrace, not us sole legislator; as the legislative power is vested in the king, lords, and common, not in any of the three estates alone.

SOUTH-SEA COMPANY, a company of merchants established for the pupose of trading to the South-sea. This company was famous for the false speculations into which it led the public, in 1719-20.

SPATE PLACITUM, pleas of the word, or a court-martial for the speedy execution of justice on military delinquents.

SPEAKER See Election and Parliament.

SPECIAL JURY. See Jury.

SPECIALTY, a bond, bill, or such like instrument; a writing or deed under the hand and scal of the parties. These are the next sort of debts after those of record; being confirmed by special evidence under seal. 2 Black. c. 30.

SPINSTER, the addition usually given to all unmarried women, from the viscount's daughter downward.

SPIRITUALITIES OF A BISHOP, are those profits which be receives as a bishop, not as a baron of parliament.

another, in any case where the right of the patronage comes not in the debate, as if a parson he made a bishop, and hath dispursation to keep his rectory, and afterwards the patron present another to the church, who is instituted and inducted. The bishop shall have against his incumbent a writ of spointion in court christian.—

F. N. B. 36.

STABBING OF PERSONS, is made felony without benefit of .elergy.

STAGE COACHES.—As various accidents have happened from time to time, by the negligence of the drivers and by other causes, the legislature has subjected stage coaches and their owners, drivers, &c. to various regulations, of which the following are now in force.

By the 50 Geo. 3. c. 48. the former statutes of 28 Geo. 3. c. 57. 30 Geo. 3. c. 36. and 46 Geo. 3. c. 136. are respectively repealed, and it is enacted that, from the passing of the said act (9th of June, 1810) any coach, berlin, landau, diligence, calash, chaise marine, or other carriage with four or more wheels, by what name soever the same shall thereafter be called or known, to be employed as a public stage coach or carriage, for conveying passengers for hire to and from different places in Great Britain, and drawn by four or more horses, shall be allowed to carry ten outside passengers and no more, exclusive of the coachman, but including the guard, where there is a guard with such couch or other carriage; and that one passenger and no more shall be allowed to sit upon the box with the coachman, and three of such passengers on the front of the roof, and the remaining six behind, in the manner the most safe and convepient for the passengers: provided that no passenger shall be allowed to sit on the luggage, or that part of the roof allatted for the same : and that all stage coaches or other carriages above described, drawn by two or three horses, shall be allowed five outside passengers and no more, exclusive of the coachman; and that all stage coaches called long coaches or double-bodied coaches, shall be permitted to carry eight outside passengers and no more, exclusive of the coachman, but including the guard, where there is a guard with such coach, under such fines and penalties as are by the act imposed in cases where more outside passengers are carried, than are allowed by the act, such fines and penalties to be imposed and levied upon the owner or proprieter, or the owners or proprietors of such coach or other carriage above described, or any one or more of them, or any person driving the same, in the manner after mentioned : provided that so child in the lap, or under seven years of age, shall be included in or counted as one of such number, unless there shall be more than one; and if more than one, that two of such children shall be accounted equal to one grown person, and so on in the same proportion; and that no person paying as an outside passenger shall be permitted to sit or remain as an inside passenger, unless with the consent of one of the inside passengers at the least, conveyed by such coach or other carriage, and next to whom such outside passenger shall be placed: and provided also, that where such coach or other carriage is of a construction peculiarly wide or commodious, and being so found, shall be day licemed for that purpose, four outside passengers instead of three, shall be allowed to sit on the front of such coach or other carriage: provided that the number of outside passengers shall not exceed ten in all. 4. 4, 2.

Provided always, that from and after March 1. 1811, it shall not be lawful for any driver, owner, or proprietor of any coach or other carriage above described, going or travelling for hire, to permit or suffer in any manner any luggage to be carried on the roof of any such coach or other carriage, or any person to ride or go as an outside passenger on or about the outside of any such coach or other carriage, the top of which shall be more than eight feet nine inches from the ground, or the bearing of which on the ground shall be less than four feet six inches from the centre of the track of the right or off wheel, to the centre of the track of the left or near wheel, under the penalty of five pounds for each offence, to be recovered and applied in the same manner as any penalty for more outside passengers than are allowed by this act can be recovered and applied. s. 3.

From and after the passing of this act, it shall not be lawful for any driver, owner, or proprietor of any such coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described, going or travelling for hire, to carry or permit or suffer any parcel or luggage whatever, exceeding two feet in height, to be conveyed on the roof of any such coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described drawn by four or more horses; and where carriages are drawn by two or three horses, then such luggage shall not exceed eighteen inches above the roof; and every such driver so oftending, and any owner or proprietor of any such coach or other carriage, where such driver is not known or cannot be found, being convicted of such offence, either by confession, the view of a justice of the peace or other magistrate, or the oath or oaths of one or more credible witness or witnesses, before any justice of the peace or other magistrate, and for the county, siding, city, town, division, or place where any offence shall be committed (which oath every such justice or other magistrate is authorized and required to administer), shall forfeit the sum of 51. for every inch above the space of two feet or of eighteen inches respectively above allowed; and in case the driver so offending shall be the owner of such coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described, he shall forfeit the sum of 10% for every inch above the spaces respectively above allowed; and is default of payment of the said penalties respectively, the person and persons so offending shalk be committed to the common gaoi or house of correction of the county, riding, city, town, division, or place where such offence shall have been committed, there to remain without bail or mainprize for the space of two months, unless such penalties shall besooner paid: provided that all packages before described, shall be so piaced on the roof of such conch, mail coach, or other carriage, as that no passenger shall sit thereon, under the penalty of 50s. for each offence; to be paid by such passenger, and to be recovered and applied in the same manner as the other penalties imposed by the act, and that the division or space on the top of the coach or other carriage aforesaid, allotted for luggage, shall be distinctly separated from the other part of the top of such coach or other carriage, by some railing or otherwise; and in case any such driver, or owner, or part owner, when required so to do, shall refuse to permit the said carriage and luggage to be measured by any justice of the peace, magistrate, constable, surveyor of any highway or turnpike road, impector of coaches duly authorized by the commissioners of stamps, or passenger, he shall forfeit the like penalty, to be recovered and applied in the manner herein-after specified. s. 4.

By s. 5. It is recited, that whereas it was expedient to lower the present height of stage coaches, in which case a greater height of laggage than two feet might be safely permitted to be carried on the outsides thereof; it is therefore enacted, that it shall be lawful to carry any laggage, parcel, or other package in manner before provided for, on the roof of any coach or other carriage above described, of a greater height than two feet; provided such laggage, parcel, or other package he not a greater height from the ground, including the height of such coach, than ten feet nine inches.

In every license to be taken out by any person who shall keep any carriage to be employed as a public stage coach or other capriage above described, for the purpose of conveying passengers for bire to and from different places in Great Brita n, shall be specified the number of outside passengers to be carried on or about the outside of such coach or other carriage above described, as well as the number of imide passengers to be carried therein as now by law directed; and that no such license shall in future be granted for more than the number of inside and outside passengers in all allowed by law, and that such license shall contain the name and the place of abode of every individual to whom such coach or other carriage shall belong, a copy of which license shall be accessible at the board or office where such license is issued, to any person applying either for a copy of or for the perusal of the same. s. 6.

Bvery person who shall be duly licensed to keep any coach or other carriage above described, for the purpose of conveying parsengers for hire to and from different places in Great Britain (mail conches always excepted), shall, and they are respectively directed and required to paint, or cause to be painted, within six months from the passing of the act, on the outside of each such coach or 'other carriage, or on some other conspicuous part thereof, in legible characters of at least one inch in length, and in a different colour from the ground on which the same is painted, and in words of length, the number of outside passengers which the liceme obtained for such carriages respectively shall specify or express (as well and in like manner as the number of inside passengers as now by law directed), together with the name or names of the person or person, or the company of proprietors or firm to whom such coach or other carriage shall belong: provided that it shall be lawful for any beard of commissioners by whom such license shall be granted, to require imstend of such inscription, that a plate made of brass or other metal shall be fixed on the side of each coach or other carriage, with the name or names of the person or persons, or the company of proprictors or firm, and a distinct number for each, to the end that the owner, and driver of such coach or carriage shall be known; and if may person, company of proprietors, or firm, shall be licensed to keep more than one coach, every one of them shall have several sumbers or other marks of distinction, in the same manner as if they did belong to several persons; and if any person shall blot out, obliterate, alter, or deface the number, figure, or mark of distinction appointed by the said commissioners, he shall forfeit 51. for every such offence; and if any person or persons shall employ or make use of any such carriage as aforesaid, for carrying any outside pamen. gers for hire to and from different places in Great Britain, without being licensed so to do, or without having the said words and number and name painted on the oatside of each door of such carriage, or in such other compicuous part thereof, and in such manner as is bersin-before directed, or shall at any time carry more estaids pasgeogers than shall be specified or expressed in the license for using such coach or other carriage, and by the words so painted on the outside of such doors or other conspicuous part of such carriage, on the numbered plate, every person so offending shall for each and every offence forfeit and pay the sum of 10% for each outside passenger beyond the number hereby allowed, and double that sum if the driver or coachman be also owner or part owner, to be recovered and applied in the same manner as any other penalty imposed by this act can be recovered and applied; and every such inscription on plate, as the case may be, shall be considered sufficient evidence of the parties to whom such coach or other description of carriage above enumerated doth belong, being owner or proprietor thereof. s. 7.

If the driver of any such coach or other carriage, going or travelling for hire, and conveying a greater number of persons in any manner or way in the inside, or on or about the outside of any suchcoach or other carriage, than are allowed by the act, or permitting more than one pameager to sit on the box (which box shall be so constructed as not conveniently to hold more than one passenger besides the coachman), shall not be known, or being known cannot be found, is every such case the owner or owners, proprietor or proprictors, or any of them, of any such coach or other carriage, shall be liable to all such fines and penalties as if such owner or owners, proprietor or proprietors, had been the driver only of any such coach or other carriage above described, at the time that such offence was committed: provided, that if any such owner or proprietor shall make out to the satisfaction of the juntice of the peace or other magistrate above mentioned, before whom any such information shall be laid, by sufficient evidence not resting on his own testimony, that the offence was committed by the driver of the coach or other carriage, without his privity or knowledge, and that no profit. advantage, or benefit, either directly or indirectly, has accrued, or could or would have accrued to such owner or proprietor therefrom. but that such offence was committed against the act by such driver. in violation of his duty to the owner or proprietor, as well as against the provisions of the act, such justice of the peace or other magistrate above mentioned, shall discharge the owner or proprieter from such penalty and expence, and levy the same upon the driver only, when found; and such driver, unless he pays the penalty for which he is liable in consequence of such offence, shall be committed to the common gaol or house of correction of the county, riding, city, town, division, or place where such offence shall be committed, to the common gael or house of correction of the county, riding, city, temp, division, or place where such offence shall have have committed, there to remain, without bail or mainprize, for any time not exceeding six months, nor less than three months, at the discretion of the justice or other magistrate above mentioned, by or before whom any such offender shall be convicted. s. 8.

And any summons inseed by any justice of the peace or other magistrate above mentioned, commanding any driver, owner, or proprietor of any coach or other carriage above described, or any person or persons, or company of proprietors, or firm of any company, to whom such coach or other carriage shall belong, to appear before him at such time or place as to such justice or other magistrate shall seem meet, for any offence committed against the act, or a copy thereof, shall be deemed to be well and sufficiently streed, in case either the original or a copy of such summons be left with the known or acting book-keeper for such coach or other carriage, in any town or place into or through which any driver, offending as aforesaid, shall drive such coach or other carriage. s. 9.

The driver of any such coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described, going or travelling for hire, stopping at any place where amistance can be procured, shall not quit his horses or the box of such coach or other carriage, until a proper person shall be employed to haid the borses or fore horses whilst such carriage stope, so as to prevent them from running away, and shall have actual holdof such horses, and that such person shall hold the same until the driver has returned to his box, or until the post-boy, who rides one of the horses, is again mounted, and has in his hands the reins for guiding the said horses, and if such driver or such person shall neglect so to do, being duly convicted thereof by confession, the view of a justice or other magistrate above mentioned, or by the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses taken before any justice or other such magistrate, shall be subject to and forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ave pounds, for each offence: provided, that nothing in this section contained shall extend to backney coaches being drawn by two horses, c. 48. s. 10.

In case the driver of any such coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described, or the person acting as guard, shall, by intoxication or negligence, or other misconduct (unavoidable accidents always excepted), endanger the safety of the passengers in their lives, their limbs, or their property, or shall not give due care or protection to any other property with which such driver or guard may be continued; or if any driver of any mail coach, or any guard, shall loider on the road, or wilfully mispend or lose time, so as to retard the arrival of his majesty's mail at the next stage; or if the driver of any mail easch shall not in all possible cases convey such mails at the speed of such a number of miles an hour as are fixed by the postmaster-general for the conveyance thereof, unless the circumstances of the weather, or the badness of the roads, or the occurrence of accident to the coach or horses, shall prevent the same; or if any driver or guard of any such coach, mail coach, or other carriage, shall not duly account to his or their employers, or persons authorized by them to account with such driver or guard, for all monies received by him, in respect of any passenger or parcel conveyed or taken by such coach or other carringe above described, then and in every such case the driver or guard (as the case may be) so offending, and being convicted thereof by his own confession, the view of a justice (in any case applicable thereto), or the oath or oaths of one or more credible witness or witnesses, before any justice or other magistrate above mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five pounds nor more than ten pounds for every such offence, and shall return the sum or same of money so embezzied; and in case of non-payment. every such justice or other magistrate, are by the act authorized to commit such offender to the common gaol or house of correction for the county, riding, city, town, division, or place where such offence shall have been committed, there to remain, without bail or mainprize, for any time not exceeding six menths, nor less than three months, at the discretion of such justice or other magistrate.... s. 11.

In case the driver or guard of any such couch or other earriege above described, shall use abusive or inmitting language to any passenger, or shall insist on or exact more than the sum to which he is legally entitled, the driver or guard (as the case may be) so offending, and being convicted thereof by his own confession, or the oath or oaths of one or more eredible witness or witnesses, before any justice, or other magistrate above mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every such offence; and is case of non payment, every such justice or other magistrate are by the act authorized to commit such offender to the common gaol or house of correction of the county, riding, eity, town, division, or place where such offence shall have been committed, there to remain, without bail or mainprize, for any time not exceeding one month, nor less than three days, at the discretion of such justice or other magistrate. s. 12.

If any constable or other peace officer, shall refuse or neglect to execute any warrant granted by any justice of the peace, or other magistrate above mentioned, pursuant to the directions of the act, svery such person so offending, and being convicted thereof before one or more justice or justices of the peace, or other magistrate of magistrates, either by his confession, or upon the oath of one of more credible witness or witnesses (which oath such justice or other magistrate is authorized and required to administer), shall for every meth offence forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds; and in case the person so convicted, doth not forthwith pay or secure to be paid the said penalty, then it shall be inwful for such justice or justices of the peace, or other magistrate or magistrates, to commit such person to the common good or house of correction of the county, riding, eity, town, division, or place where such offence shall be committed, thereto remain, without bail or mainprise, for any time not exceeding one month, unless the said penalty shall be sooner paid. 5. 18.

From and after the passing of the act, if the driver of any such coath or other carriage above described, drawn by two or more horses, and going or travelling for hire, shall permit or suffer more than ess person on the coach-box besides himself, and a greater number of entside passengers than according to the numbers allowed by this ach to be carried or conveyed by any such coach or carriage, it shall be havful for any outside or inside passenger, who shall have been regularly booked, and who has actually paid for his place, if cosveyed by such coach or other carriage, to require the driver to stop such ceach or carriage at any toll or turnpike gate, and to require the collector of the toll at such gate to count the number of passengers, or measure or ascertain the height of the luggage upon such south or other carriage; and if any such driver shall refuse, upon the demand of any such passenger, to stop any such coach or carstage, or to permit or suffer the collector at such toll or turnpike gate, who shall be so required by any such passenger, to count the number of passengers and ascertain the height of the luggage, or to make such examination, in every such case the driver of such coach shall forfeit the sum of five pounds for every such refusal, and shallif more passengers shall have been carried on such coach, or the Juggage shall exceed the beight allowed by this act, forfelt for every such offence, the committing whereof shall have been prohibited as aforesaid, double the penalty imposed by this act for such offence, the one half of such penulty to belong to the toll collector for his trouble, and the other hulf to the passenger; and if any toll collector, upon being so required by any such passenger, shall peglect or refuse to make such examination, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of Eve pounds for each offence, to be levied and applied in the same manner as the other penalties imposed by this act; and if any person shall endeavour to evade such examination, by descending from such conch or other carriage above described, previous to its seaching any turnpike gate, and re-ascending after it has passed such turnpike gate, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds, to be recovered in the same manner as the other penulties hereby imposed. s. 14.

From and after the passing of the act, if the coachman or person having the care of any coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described, shall permit or suffer any other person, without the consent of a proprietor, or against the consent of the passengers, to drive the same, or shall quit the box without reasonable occasion, or for a longer space of time than such occasion may require (although the reins for guiding or driving the horses be left for the time in the hands of the passenger on the box), or if the coachman or person having the care of any such coach, mail coach, or other carriage, shall, by furiously driving, or by any negligence or misconduct, overturn the carriage, or in any manner endanger the persons or property of the passengers, and the property of the owners or proprietors of such carriage (unavoidable accidents always excepted), every such coachman er person as aforesaid so offending, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds, to be levied and applied in the same manner as the other penalties imposed by the act. s. 15.

In all cases where any penalties and forfeitures incurred for any offence committed against this act, shall be recoverable before one or more justices of the peace, or before any other magistrate above mentioned, every such justice or other magistrate is required to administer an oath, and upon proof of any such offence, shall give judgment or sentence for the forfeiture or penalty incurred, and for the reasonable costs and charges of the prosecution; and if the same shall not be paid, shall commit the person so convicted, to the common gaol or house of correction for the said county, shire, borough, town corporate, or place, for any time not exceeding three months nor less than one month, at the discretion of such justice or other magistrate, unless such person shall enter into such recognishmed with such surety before such justices or justice, or other magistrate as herein before mentioned. a. 16.

If any such justice or other magistrate above mentioned, before whom any person shall have been convicted for any offence against the provisions of this act, shall see cause to mitigate such penalty, such justice or other magistrate may mitigate the same to any sum not exceeding one moiety, over and above all reasonable costs and charges incurred in the prosecution, and that one half either of the whole or of the moiety of such penalty with the said costs and charges, shall be paid to the informer for his own behoof, or to be at his disposal for public purposes (except in the special cases above provided for), and the other half to be paid to the trusters of the roads where such offence is committed, who are required, in consideration thereof, to direct their surveyors to watch over the description of the act, in the several roads to the superintendance of which they are respectively appointed. a. 17.

If any person going or travelling as a guard to any coach, mail coach, or other carriage above described, shall fire off the arms he is entrusted with, either while such coach or other carriage is going on the road, or going through or standing in any town, otherwise than for the defence of such coach or other carriage, or the passenger or passengers therein, every such person shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of five pounds, to be recovered and applied in the same manner as the other penalties imposed by this act. s. 18.

In case any person committing any offence against the provision of the act, for which no specific penalties shall have been provided, he shall forfelt at the discretion of one or more justices of the peach or of any other magistrate above mentioned, any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than fifty shillings, upon being convicted therest on the oath or oaths of one or more credible witness or witness, before any such justice or other magnistrate, acting in and for the county, riding, city, town, division or place where the offence shall have been committed, or by any other justice of the peace residing is any county, riding, city, town, division, or place in which the effender shall then actually be present, upon full and satisfactory proof being exhibited before such justice or other magistrate, on the path of one or more credible witness or witnesses (which outh or eaths, as well such justice or other magistrate acting in and for the country riding, city, town, division or place where the offence shall have been committed, as such justice and other magistrates as shall be resident in the county, riding, city, town, division or place where the effender shall actually be present, are authorized und required to administer); and in default of payment of the penalty which. shall have been uwarded on the conviction of such offender, he shall for every such offence be committed to the common gaol or house of correction of the county, riding, city, town, division, or place where such offence shall have been committed, or of the county, riding, city, town, division, or place where he shall actually be prosent, (as the case may be), there to remain, without bail or maisprise, for any time not exceeding three calendar months, nor less . thun five days, at the discretion of the justice or justices by of before whom such offender shall be convicted. s. 19.

If any person shall receive any sum of money for consisting at any effence prohibited by the act, either for any single offence or fee a number of such offences, or by stipulation or agreement by the day, the week, the year, or any other period of time, and shall be duly convicted thereof before one or more justices, or before any other magistrate above mentioned, he shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds for each offence, and in default of the payment thereof, shall be committed to any house of correction for any period not exceeding three months nor less than one month. s. 20.

And it is by the said act recited, that it would materially contribute to the safety of passengers, if a great part of the luggage usually conveyed by stage coaches, were conveyed in a much lower position than is generally the case, and the same restrictions in regard to the number of outside passengers on such stage coaches would not be so requisite, provided no luggage was carried by them, except in the manner herein after mentioned; it is therefore further. enucted, that all stage coaches, (long bodied coaches included,) carrying no parcels or luggage whatsoever, excepting in the inside or in the front boot thereof, or in a boot behind or under the body of such carriage; and where the top of such boot behind, when the coach is empty, is not more than six feet from the ground, having obtained a special license for that purpose, and having the name of the owner or owners, and the number of outside and inside passengers thereby allowed, painted or inscribed thereon, shall be permitted to carry two outside passengers more than the number of autoide passengers hereby limited with respect to other coaches or carriages above described, without subjecting the drivers, owners, or proprietors of such coaches or other carriages to any of the penalties, forfeitures, fines, or punishments imposed or authorized to be imposed by this

No prosecutions for any offence, committed against the act, shall be commenced within fourteen days after the offence shall have been committed, and that there shall be but one recovery for the same offence, except where the owner of stage coaches or other carringes above described, are required to paint their name or sign, and to preserve the same in a clear or legible state, in which case such prosecution may be commenced at any time, and any neglect in remedying the same for the space of one month shall be considered a new offence. s. 22.

And it is further recited by the said act, that whereas a certain number of backney coaches work, by permission, as stated stages, and which as well as other backney coaches were licensed by, and bad been hitherto under the regulations and controll of the commissioners for licensing and regulating backney coaches, the same stated stages being numbered, and to all intents and purposes back-ney coaches, yet for the public convenience were exempted from the ordinary street work of backney coaches, and permitted to be employed and driven certain prescribed routes, at fixed hours, between the metropolis and certain villages and places in its vicinity: and that whereas the said stated backney coach stages, as well as the backney coaches in general, and the owners and drivers thereof, were in all respects under the regulation and control of the said commissioners for licensing and regulating backney coaches; it is therefore further enacted, That nothing in the act contained shall extend to, or be construed to extend, to affect such hackney coaches, or their owners or drivers respectively, as are or thereafter may be licensed by the said commissioners for licensing and regulating backney coaches, whether such coaches be so licensed to be used and driven in the ordinary and indiscriminate work of backney ceaches in general, in and about the streets and places within which such hackney coaches are by law compellable to go, or be driven, or are, or may be licensed expressly for the purpose of being employed and driven as hackney coach stages between the metropolis and certain villages and places in the vicinity thereof. s. 23.

If any person shall find himself aggrieved by any determination, or conviction, and shall enter into a recognizance before the justice or other magistrate, with one sufficient surety, the condition whereof shall be, that such person shall appear before the court of the next quarter sessions for the county or other place where such determination or conviction shall have been given or made, then and there to abide the final order, judgment, and sentence of such court on the matters aforesaid; and in every such case, such person shall be at liberty to appeal to the next general quarter sessions of the peace for the said county or other place, who, upon hearing the said appeal, have full power finally to determine the same, and to award such costs to the appellant or to the prosecutor or informer, as to such court shall seem fit; and such last mentioned proceedings, final judgment, and sentence, shall not be removable by certification otherwise into any other court. s. 25.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. an annual duty of 21. 10s. is to be paid for every coachman kept for driving a stage coach, and also for every zunrd.

STAMPS. The exigencies of the state having rendered the impositions of stamp duties necessary, various acts of parliament have been passed, fixing such duties and stating the regulations for collecting them. These duties and regulations, indeed, have undergone various changes since the time of William and Mary, by whom (5 & 6 W. & M. c. 21.) they were first imposed. The collection,

&c. of these duties is placed under the superintendance of commissioners, and the receiver general is to pay the amount of stamp duty received into the exchequer

In this article we shall state as briefly as possible, the various articles subject to the stamp duty, together with such of the general regulations as the limits of this work will admit of being specified.

The last general stamp act, passed by parliament, is the 54 Geo. 3. c. 185. which divides the articles subject to the stamp duties into various classes. These we have reduced to two, and have also incorporated the other stamp duties not repealed by the above mentioned statute, together with the other additional parliamentary regulations which have lately been made.

Class I. Duties on Conveyances, &c. not included in Class II.

Administration, See letters of administration.

Admission of any advocate in any ecclesiastical or admiralty courts in England; or any Court of Scotland, 501.

Except where an advocate, admitted in one court shall be admitted in any other court, provided he shall have paid the proper stamp duty on his former admission.

Admission of any barrister at law, 501.

Admission of an attorney, solicitor or proctor, sworn clerk, side clerk, clerk in court, or other clerk or officer, in any court in England, whose emoluments (like those of an attorney or solicitor) shall depend upon his being retained and employed by clients or suitors, and shall therefore be wholly uncertain in amount, 251.

Except persons admitted as attornies or solicitors in one court and in another, in which cases the latter admission shall be free of duty.

Provided such attorney or solicitor shall have paid the proper stamp duty on his former admission.

But in all cases not expressly exempted, the said duty is to be paid on every admission of the same person.

Admission of any writer to the signet, or solicitor, agent, attorney, or procurator, in any court in Scotland; or as a clerk or officer in any court in Scotland, whose emoluments (like those of a solicitor) shall depend upon his being retained and employed by clients or suitor, and shall therefore be wholly uncertain in amount with similar exemptions to those in England, 25%.

Of any person to act as a solicitor, agent, in the court of session, justiciary, or commission of teinds, who shall not have served an apprenticeship for five years, a further duty of 60%.

To act as a procurator or solicitor, in the admiralty in Scotland, commissary court at Edinburgh, or any inferior court in Scotland, who shall not have served an apprenticeship for five years, a further duty of 30%.

Admission of any master in ordinary in chancery, or as one of the six clerks, or one of the cursitors in England; or as a sworn clerk, side clerk, clerk in court, or other clerk or officer whatsoever, in any court in Great Britain, who must necessarily be employed to do certain official business, and whose emoluments shall therefore be so far fixed and certain; where the emoluments shall not amount to 50%, per annum, 21.

amounting to	501. and under	100% per annum	4	0	0
With the second second second	100/	2001. ———	6	0	0
-	2001. ———	300 l . ———	12	0	0
	3004	500 l . ———	25	0	0
-	500l,	130 l , ———	9 5	0	0
	750L 1	,0004	50	0	0
	1,0001 1	,500 l	75	0	0
	1,500/ 9	,000%. ———	100	0	0
-	2,0001 3	,000l. ———	150	0	0
	3,000% or upwards	per annum	200	0	0

The said entoluments to be estimated according to the average amount thereof for three years preceding, if practicable; and if not, according to the best information than can be obtained.

[Exemptions.] Every officer admitted, annually, for every admission after the first; provided the duty shall have been paid on his first admission.

All admissions charged with the duties next mentioned.

But in all cases not expressly exempted, the proper duty is to be paid on every admission of the same person.

Admission in either of the four inns of court, 231.

Admission in either of the inns of chaucery, 31.

Admision of a fellow of the college of physicians, in England of Scotland, 251.

Admission or license to exercise the faculty of physic in London and within seven miles, 154

Admission, or matriculation in the universities of England or Scot-land, 1L

Admission to the degree of a bachelor of arts in England if conferred in the ordinary course, 8L

If conferred by grace, royal mandate, by reason of nobility, or out of the ordinary course, 54

Admission to any other degree, if conferred in the ordinary course,

Or otherwise out of the ordinary course, 10%.

Admission of any person to the degree of doctor of medicine, in either of the universities in Scotland, 101.

Admission into any corporation or company. Where the admission shall be in respect of birth, apprenticeship, or marriage, 11.

Upon any other ground, 31.

Except craftsmen or others entering in any corporation, in Scotland, if previously admitted freemen or burgessess, and the proper stamp duty paid on admission.

Advertisement, contained in the London Gazette, or any other paper to be dispersed and made public, weekly or oftener, or yearly, monthly, or at any other interval of time exceeding one week, or which shall be contained or published with any pamphlet whatsoever, so printed and dispersed and made public, (By 55 Geo. 3. c. 185.) 3s. 6d.

Affidavit, not made for the immediate purpose of being filed, read, or used in any court of law or equity, (55 Geo, 3, c. 184.) 2s. 6d.

Except attidarits authorised to be made before any justice; or before any commissioner of revenue, or officers acting under them; or commissioners appointed by act of parliament.—Affidavits made pursuant to the statute for burying in woollen. Affidavits required at the bank, to prove the death of any proprietor, or to identify the person of such proprietor, or to remove any other impediment to the transfer of their stocks or fund. And affidavits relating to the loss, mutilation, or defacement of any bank note or bill. Also the general exemptions at the end of this part of the Schedule.

Agreement, or any minute or memorandum of an agreement, made in England under hand only, or in Scotland without clause of registration (and not otherwise charged nor exempted from all stamp duty) where the matter thereof shall be of the value of 201, or npwards, whether the same shall be only evidence of a contract, or obligatory upon the parties from its being a written instrument, together with every schedule, receipt, or other matter, indorsed or annexed.

Where the same shall not contain more than 1080 words being fifteen common law sheets of seventy-two words each, 11.

And where the same shall contain more than 1080 words, 14. 15s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11. As,

But where divers letters shall be offered in evidence to prove any agreement between the parties, it shall be sufficient, if any one of such letters shall be stamped with a duty of 1t. 15s. although the same shall contain twice the number of 1080 words or upwards.

Exemptions.—Label, slip, or memorandum of insurances, made by the Royal Exchange and London Assurance offices. Memorandum or agreement for granting a lease or tack, at rack rest under five pounds per annum. For the hire of any labourer, artificer, manufacturer, or menial servant. Memorandum, letter, or agreement, relating to the sale of any goods, wares, or merchandize. Memorandum or agreement made between the master and mariners of any vessel, for wages, on any voyage coastwise in Great Britain. Letters containing any agreement (not before exempted) in respect of any merchandize, or evidence of such an agreement, which shall pass, by the post, between merchants or others, carrying on trade in Great Britain, and residing and actually being, at the time of sending such letters, at the distance of fifty miles from each other.

Almanack or calendar (by 55 Geo. 3. c. 185.) for one year, 1s. 3d. For several years, for each of them, 1s. 3d.

Perpetual, except it be contained in any bible or common prayer book, 10s.

Book or pamphlet serving the purpose of an almanack or calendar for a year, or for several years, 1s. 3d. each

Book or pamphlet serving the purpose of a perpetual almanack or calendar, excepting bibles and common prayer books, 10s. and by s. 8. of the same statute, if any printer's apprentices, journeymen, or servants print almanacks without stamps, any justice may commit them for not exceeding three months.

Appetntment, in execution of a power, of real or personal property, or of any use or interest therein not being a deed or will, 11. 15s.

And where the same, together with any schedule, receipt or other matter indered or annexed, shall contain 2160 words, for every 1080 words over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.5s.

Appointment of a chaplain, as a qualification to hold two benefices,

Appreisement or valuation of any estate or effects, real or personal, or of an interest therein; or of the annual value thereof; or of any dilapidations; or of any repairs wanted; or of the materials and labour used or to be used in any buildings; or of any artificers' work whatsoever;

. Where the amount of such appraisement or valuation shall not exceed 50l.

ced Jon.		• • • •	• • • •	U	Z	U
Exceeding	501. and not	1001.	• • • •	0	5	0
	1001. ——	2001.		0	10	0
	2001. ———	5001.	• • • •	0	15	0
	500 l .		• • • •	1	0	0

Exemptions - Any appraisement or valuation, in the courts of admiralty.

By 46 Geo. 3. c. 43. no person (except auctioneers duly licensed) shall exercie the calling or occupation of an appraiser, or act as such, without taking out a license annually, therein stating his true name and abode, and every such license shall continue in force until July .5, then next following.

And no person shall appraise or value, for or in expectation of hire or reward, without being so licensed as aforesaid, on pain of forfeiting for every offence 504. s. 6.

And every appraiser shall write or set down in figures every valuation or appraisement made by him, or any person for him, and the full amount thereof, and within fourteen days after the making thereof, deliver the same to his employer, on pain of forfeiting for any neglect therein, or for delivering any valuation or appraisement, or the amount thereof, on any parchment or paper, not duly stamped, the sum of 501. s. 8.

And no person who shall employ any appraiser to make an appraisement or valuation shall receive or take, or pay or make, any compensation for the making of any such appraisement or valuation, unless the same shall be written or set down in words or figures upon parchment or paper duly stamped, on pain of 204. s. 9.

Apprenticeship and clerkship of any apprentice, clerk or servant, placed with any master or mistress, to learn any profession, trade, or employment whatsoever; except articles of clerkship to attornies and others, hereinafter specifically charged. (55 Geo. 3. c. 181.)

If the money, or value of any other matter or thing, paid, given, assigned or conveyed, for the benefit of the master and mistress, or both the money and value shall not amount to 30t. 1 0 0

		_	_	_
50 i .		2	0	0
100%.		, 3 :	0	.0 ·
		6	0	0
3004.	• •	12	0	0
	• • • .	20	0	0
500%.	•••	25	0	0
.6001. .	•••	30	0	0
	• • •	40	0	.0
0001.	•••	50	0	0
1000), or upw	ards	60	0	0
	100 t	100 t 200 t 300 t 400 t 500 t 800 t	1001 3 2001 6 3001 12 4001 20 5001 25 6001 30 8001 40 0001 50	1001 3 0 2004 6 0 3004 12 0 4004 20 0 5004 25 0 6004 30 0 8004 40 0 0004 50 0

And where there shall be no such consideration; if the indenture shall not contain more than 1080 words, 11.

And if more than that quantity, 11, 15s.

Apprenticeship and clerkship of any apprentice, clerk, or servant to a new master or mistress, either by assignment or turnover, or apon the death, absence, or incapacity of the former, or otherwise.

Where there shall be any such valuable consideration as aforesaid, exclusive of any part of the consideration to the former master, which may be returned, or given, or transferred to the new master. The like duty in proportion to the amount of such new consideration only, as is charged on the original indenture.

And where there shall be no such new consideration; if the indenture shall not contain more than 1080 words, 11.

And if more than that quantity 11. 15s.

And where there shall be two parts of any such indenture, each part shall be charged with the duty before mentioned, where the same shall not exceed thirty shillings; and where the same shall excced that sum, only one part shall be charged with the ad valorem duty, and the consideration for, the other part shall be charged with a duty of 11. 15s.

Note.—And the part, bearing the ad valorem or higher duty, shall belong to and be kept by the apprentice, clerk, or servant, or some person on his behalf; and in case of any subsequent placing out, by assignment or otherwise, the part bearing the ad valorem duty on that occasion (if any) shall belong to and be kept by the former master, or his representatives, or by the apprentice, clerk, or servant, or some person on his behalf: and in each case, the other part, bearing the lower duty, shall belong to and be kept by the master, and received in evidence.

Exemptions. Indentures for placing out poor children apprentices. at the sole charge of any parish or public charity, or pursuant to the act of the 32d Geo. 3. for the further regulation of parish apprentices. And all assignment of such poor apprentices; provided there be no consideration given to the new master, other than what may have been given by any parish or township, or by public charity.

Apprenticeship and Clerkship, to serve as clerk to any attorney, or solicitor in any of the courts at Westminster, 1201.

The great sessions in Wales, counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster, and Durham; or in any other court of record in England, holding pleas to the amount of forty shillings, 60%.

And for any counterpart of such articles, 11. 15s.

Articles of clerkship, whereby any person (not being an attorney of one of the courts at Westminster) shall first become bound to serve as a clerk to a sworn clerk, in the office of the six clerks in chancery, or a sworn clerk, clerk in court, or side clerk in the office of pleas, or the office of his majesty's remembrancer in the court of exchequer, 1204

And for any counterpart thereof, 11. 15s.

Articles of Clerkship, to serve as a clerk for the residue of the term, in consequence of the death of a former master, or of a contract being vacated by consent, or rule of court, or in any other event, It. 154

And for any counterpart thereof, 11. 15s.

And where any person, having entered into any articles of clerk-ship, bearing a stamp duty of 120l. in order to his admission as a sworn clerk, clerk in court, or side clerk, or in order to his admission as an attorney or solicitor, shall afterwards enter into any such articles for any other of those purposes; the last mentioned articles shall be charged only with a duty of 1l. 15s.

And the counterpart thereof, 11. 15s.

And where the same articles shall be a qualification to any person, to be admitted, not only as an attorney or solicitor, but also as a sworn clerk, clerk in court, or side clerk, or as an attorney or soll-citor in any of the inferior courts, such articles shall not be charged with more than one duty of 120L

Articles of Clerkship to a proctor in the high court of admiralty, and the ecclesiastical courts in Doctors Commons, 1201.

And for any counterpart thereof, 11. 15s.

Articles or indenture of clerkship or apprenticeship to a proctor for the residue of the term, in consequence of the death of a former master, or of the contract between them being vacated, or in any other event, 11.15s.

And for the counterpart thereof, 14. 15s.

Articles of clerkship, to a writer to the signet, or as a solicitor, agent, or attorney, in any of the courts in Scotland, 601.

And for any counterpart thereof, 11. 15s.

Articles, or indentures of clerkship or apprenticeship, to serve as a procurator or solicitor, in the high court of admiralty, the commissary court at Edinburgh, or any other inferior court in Scotland, 301.

And for any counterpart or duplicate thereof, 11. 15s.

Articles of clerkship as aforesaid in Sctotland, for the residue of the term, in consequence of the death of the former master, or of the contract being vacated, or in any other event, 11. 15s.

And for any counterpart thereof, 11. 15s.

Assignation or Assignment of any property, real or personal, not otherwise charged nor expressly exempted from duty, 11. 15s.

And where the same, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, shall contain 2160 words or upwards, and then for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.5s.

Award in England, or Scotland, 11. 15s.

Fer every entire quantity of 1080 words therein, over and above the first 1080 a further progressive duty of 11.5s.

Bargain and sale (or lease) for a year, to accompany a release of the freebold upon sale thereof, where the purchase money in the release shall not amount to twenty pounds, 10s,

Where the same shall be above 204, and under 501. 15c.

And where the same shall amount to 50L and not amount to 150l. 1L And where the same shall amount to 150L or upwards, 1l. 15s.

Bargain and sale (or lease) for a year upon any other occasion, 11. 15s.

Bargain and sale (to be enrolled) of any estate of freehold upon any other occasion than the mortgage or sale thereof, 51.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words a further progressive duty of 12.5s.

Bill of exchange, a draft, or order, for the payment to the bearer, or to order, either on demand, or otherwise, of any sum of money

Amounting	to 40s.	and not exceeding	51. 52.	0	1	0
Exceeding	5l. 5	and not exceeding	20L	0	1	6
	201.		30 1.	0	2	0
-	301.		501.	0	2	6
	501.	(minute minu	100!	0	3	6
·····	100%.	0.010	2001.	0	4	6
	2001.		.300 l .	0	5	0
	3004		5001 .	0	6	0
•	500%.		1000 l :	0	8	6
	10007.		2000l.	0	12	6
•	2000L		2000 l .	0	15	U
(2000) - 1100 - 1100	30001.			1	5	0

Bill, draft, or order for the payment of money, though not payable to the bearer or to order, if the same shall be delivered to the payee, or some person on his behalf, the same duty as if payable to hearer or order. Bill, draft, or order for the payment of any money, weekly, monthly, or at any other stated period, if made payable to the bearer, or to order, or if delivered to the payee; where the total amount of the money shall be specified therein, the same duty as on a bill payable to bearer or order, for such total amount. And where the total amount shall be indefinite, the same duty as on a bill for the sum therein expressed only. And the following distruments shall be deemed to be inland bills, drafts, or orders, viz.

All drafts or orders for the payment of any money, by a bill or promissory note, or for the delivery of any such bill or note, in payment or satisfaction of any sum of money; where such drafts or orders shall require the payment or delivery to be made to the bearer, or to order, or shall be delivered to the payee, or some person on his behalf.

621

All receipts given by any banker, or other person, for money received, which shall entitle the person paying the money, or the bearer of such receipts to receive the like sum from any third person. And all bills, drafts, or orders for the payment of any money, out of any particular fund, which may or may not be available; or upon any condition or contingency, which may or may not be performed or happen; if the same shall be made payable to the bearer, or to order, or if the same shall be delivered to the payee or some person on his behalf.

Foreign bill of exchange, (or bill of exchange drawn in but payable out of Great Britain) if drawn singly, and, not in a set, the same duty as on an inland bill.

Foreign bills of exchange, drawn in sets according to the custom of merchants;—for every bill of each set, where the num made payable thereby shall not exceed 1001.

o increas one	II MULCA	CCCR TOATS		v	-	•
Exceeding	1001.	and not exceeding	2001.	0	8	0
-	2001.		5001.	0	4	0
	5001,		1000%	Ò	5	. 0
	10004.		2000 l .	0	7	6
•	20001.		3000%	0	10	0
	30001.	:		0	15	0

Exemptions. All bills of exchange, or bank post bills, issued by the Bank of England. All bills, orders, remittance bills, remittancecertificates drawn by commissioned officers, masters and surgeons in the navy, or by any commissioner of the navy. All bills drawn by the commissioners of the navy, victualling, transport, and sick and hurl offices, upon the treasurer of the pavy. All drafts or orders for the payment of money to the bearer on demand, and drawn upon any banker, or person acting as a banker, who shall reside or transact the business of a banker, within ten miles of the place where such drafts or orders shall be drawn; provided such place shall be specified in such drafts or orders; and provided the same shall bear date on or before the day on which the same shall be issued; and provided the same do not direct the payment to be made by bills or promissory notes. All bills, for the pay and allowances to or on account of the forces, except such as shall be drawn in favour of contractors or others, who furnish bread or forage, and who by their contracts shall be liable to pay the stamp duties.

N. B. By 31 Geo. 3. c. 25. all persons who shall write or sign, or cause to be written or signed, or who shall accept or pay, or cause to be accepted or paid, any bill, &c. without being first stamped with a proper stamp, or upon which there shall not be some stamp resembling the same, shall forfeit 20%. Increased by 55 Geo, 3. c. 184. to 50%.

Penalty for post dating bills of exchange, &c. 1001. penalty for issuing unstamped drafts on bankers, without specifying the place where issued, or if post dated, 1001. Penalty for receiving such drafts, 201, and on bankers for paying them, 1001. 55 Geo. 3. c 184. c. 11-13.

Bill of lading, of or for any goods, or merchandize, or effects to be exported (55 Geo. 3 c. 184.) 3s.

Bond in England or Scotland, given as security for money, not exceeding 50%. 1 Exceeding 501, and not exceeding 100%. 1 10 1007 2001. 0 0 200% 3001. 300%. 500*l*. 4 500l. 10001. 5 0 0 10002. 20001. 2000% 30001. 7 0 0 3000% 4000l. 8 0 40007. £000*l*. 9 0 50001. 100002. 12 0 10000% 15 15000%.

Bond given as a security for the re-payment of any money, to be thereafter lent, or which may become due upon an account current, together with any sum already advanced, or due, or without, as the case may be:

150002.

200001.

200001.

20 0

25 0 0

0

Where the total amount of the money secured, or to be ultimately recoverable thereupon, shall be uncertain and without limit, 201.

And where the money secured, or to be ultimately recoverable thereupon, shall be limited not to exceed a given sum, the same duty as on a bond for such limited sum.

Bond given as a security for the transfer, or re-transfer for any share of the government or parliamentary stocks, or stock of the Bank of England, East India, or South Sea company, the same duty as on a bond for money, equal to the value of the stock secured, on the day of the date of the bond, or on either of the ten days preceding.

Bond given as a security for the payment of any money, or for the transfer, or re-transfer of any share in any of the stocks before mentioned, which in part shall be secured by a mortgage, or other instrument herein after charged with the same duty as a mortgage, bearing even date with such bond; or for the performance of covenants contained in such mortgage or other instrument; or for both those purposes, 11.

Bond given as the only or principal security for the payment of any annuity, upon the original creation thereof.—See conveyance upon the sale of lands, &c.

Bond given as a collateral security for the payment of an annuity, upon the original creation thereof, where the same shall be granted by any other deed, liable to the ad valorem duty, herein after imposed on conveyances, 11.

Bond given as a security for the payment of any annuity, (except upon the original creation thereof) or of any money at stated periods, (not being interest for any principal sum) nor rent reserved upon any lease or tack for any certain term, so that the total amount of the money to be paid can be ascertained, the same duty as on a bond for the payment of money, equal to such total amount.

Bond given as a security for the payment of any aunuity, (except as aforesaid,) or of any money at stated periods, (not being interest for any principal sum, nor rents reserved upon any lease or tack) for the term of life, or any other indefinite period, so that the whole money to be paid cannot be previously ascertained.

Where the annuity or sum secured shall not amount to 10l. per annum,	• •	• •		• •	• •	1	0	0

	Amounting to	307.	and not	to 50 l . ]	per annum	2	0	0
•		50%	مييساند	1001.		3	0	0
		1007.		2001.		4	0	0
		2001.	-	3001.		5	0	0
		3001.		400%		6	0	0
٠,	سسمين سيمت	4001.	-	50.V.	 	7	0	0
		5001.		7501.		9	0	0
•		750 l .		10001.		12	0	0
	والمسيباتات والمبيسين	10001.		15001.		15	0	0
•		15001.		20001.		20	0	0
		20001.	and up	raards	•	25	9	0

But where there shall be both a personal and heritable bond, in Scotland, in separate deeds of the same date, for securing such annuity, or sums, and the ad valorem duty above charged, shall amount to 21. or upwards; the heritable bond only shall be charged with the ad valorem duty, and the personal bond shall be only with a duty of 11.

Bond, commonly called counterbond, for indemnifying any person who shall have become bound as surety for the payment of any money or annuity, or for the transfer of any share in any of the stocks or funds before mentioned, 11. 15s.

Bond for the due execution of an office, and to account for money received by virtue thereof, 11. 15s.

Bond given pursuant to the directions of any act of parliament, or by direction of the commissioners of customs or excise, or any of their officers in respect of any of the duties, or for any matter relating thereto, 11.

Bond, not otherwise charged, nor expressly exempted from duty,

11. 15.

Heritable bond in Scotland, not otherwise charged, nor exempted from duty, 11. 15s.

Where any such bond, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, shall contain 2160 words or upwards, there shall be charged for every entire quantity of 1080 words, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11.5s.

And where any such bond shall be given as a security for the payment of money, and also of a share in any of the stocks or funds before mentioned, or an annuity, or both; or for the payment of an annuity, and also of a share in any of the said stocks or funds, the proper ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect of each.

And where any such bond shall be given as a security for the payment or transfer, to different persons, of separate and distinct sums of money, or annuities, or shares in any of the stocks or funds before mentioned, the proper ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect of each distinct sum or annuity, or share, and not upon the aggregate amount thereof.

And where any bond shall be given as a security for the performance of any covenant or agreement for the payment or transfer of any sum of money, or annuity, or any share in any of the stocks or funds before mentioned; such bond shall be charged with the same duty, as if the same had been immediately given for the payment or transfer thereof. And where any bond for the payment or transfer, or for the performance of any covenant for the payment or transfer of any money, or annuity, or share in any of the stocks or funds before mentioned, shall be contained in the same deed or writing, with any other matter in this schedule specifically charged with any duty, (except any declaration of trust of the money, annuity, stock, or fund secured).—such deed shall be charged with the same duties as such bond and other matter would have been charged with, if contained in separate deeds. But where a bond for the performance of covenants or agreements (other-than for the payment or transfer of money or annuity, or share in any of the said stocks or funds) shall be contained in the same deed with any other matter, the same shall not be charged separately, but the whole shall be considered as one deed, and charged accordingly under its proper denomination.

Exemptions from the Duties on Bonds.

Bonds of the Royal Exchange and London Assurance corporations, exempted from duty, by the act of the 6th Geo. I. under which they were incorporated. Bond and other securities, exempted from stamp duty, by the acts for the encouragement of the British fisheries. Bonds, exempted from duty, by the acts relating to the exportation of wool, fuller's earth, fulling clay, or tobacco-pipe clay; or relating to the exportation of tobacco. Coast bonds, relating to the carrying of goods coastwise. Bonds and other securities, exempted from duty, by the acts passed for the encouragement of friendly societies. Administration bonds, given by the widow, child, father, mother, brother, or sister, of any common seaman, marine, or soldier, who shall be slain or die in the service of his majesty.

Administration bond, given by any person, where the estate to be administered shall not exceed 20% in value.

[Cards. By 44 Geo. 3. c. 98.] Playing cards, for every pack 2s. 6d.

Certificate to be taken out yearly, by every attorney or solicitor; and by every proctor; and by every writer to the signet, or solicitor, agent, attorney, or procurator in Scotland; and by every notary public; and also by every sworn clerk, clerk in court, and other clerk or officer, who, in his own name, or in the name of any other person, shall commence, prosecute, carry on, or defend any action, suit, prosecution or other proceeding, or do any notarial act whatever, for or in expectation of any fee, gain, or reward. (55 Geo. 3. c. 184.)

If he reside in London or Westminster, or within the limits of the two-peany post, or within the city or shire of Edinburgh.

And if he shall have been admitted, or been in possession of his blice, for the space of three years or upwards, 121.

Or if he shall not have been admitted or been in possession so long, 61.

If he shall reside elsewhere; and if he shall have been admitted, or been in possession of his office, for the space of three years, or upwards, 8%.

Or if he shall not have been admitted or been in possession so long, 4!.

But no one person is to be obliged to take out more than one certhicate, although he may act in one of the capacities aforesaid, or in several of the courts.

Exemptions. All clerks and officers of any of the courts, who shall act in the execution of their respective offices or appointments only, and shall not also be retained or employed by any party, or by any attorney, solicitor, agent, practor, or procurator, on behalf of any party, for or in expectation of any fee or teward, other than the established fee of their offices.

Cortificate to be taken out yearly, by every person being a member of one of the four inus of court, who, in the character of conveyancer, special pleader, draftsman in equity, or otherwise, shall, for in expectation of any fee, gain, or reward, draw or prepare any conveyance of, or deed or instrument relating to any estate or property, real or personal, or any other deed or contract whatever, or any pleading; or proceedings in any court of law or equity:

If he shall reside in London or Westminster, or within the limits of the two-penny post in England, 12L

And if he shall reside clsewhere, 8%.

Exemptions.—Serjeants at law, and barristers; attornies, solicitors, proctors, and notaries public, and other persons acting as such by virtue of any office or appointment, who shall respectively take out certificates: and public officers drawing or preparing deeds or other instruments, by virtue of their offices, and in the course of their official duty only. And by 54 Geo. 8. c. 144. s. 13. all the abovementioned certificates must be taken out between the 15th of November, and the 16th of December in each year.

Certificate of marriage, except of any common seaman, marine, or soldier, (55 Geo. 3. c. 184.) 5s.

Cortificate of any person having received the holy sacrement, 5s.

Cartificate of goods having been duly entered inwards, and issued, for enabling any person to obtain a debenture or certificate, entitling him to receive any drawback of duties of customs, 4s.

Charter of resignation, or of confirmation, or of novodamus, or upon apprising, or upon a decree of adjudication in Scotland, 9s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words, over and above the first 1060 words, a further duty of 9s.

Charter-party, or any agreement or contract for the charter of any ship or vessel, or any memorandum, letter, or other writing, between the captain, master, or owner, and any other person, relating to the freight or conveyance of money, goods, or effects, on board of such vessel, 11. 15s.

For every entire quantity of 1080 words over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.5s.

Collation, by any archbishop or bishop, to any ecclesiastical benefice, dignity, or promotion in England, of the yearly value of ten pounds or upwards in the king's books, 201.

Collution, by any archbishop or bishop, to any other ecclesiastical benefice, dignity, or promotion whatever, in England 101.

Collation, by any presbytery or other competent authority, to any ecclesiastical benefice in Scotland, 21.

Commission, to any officer in the army, or royal marines, except commissions granted to officers of yeomanry cavalry, or volunteer infantry, 11. 10s.

Commission, to any officer in the navy, 5s.

Commission, or deputation, by the commissioners of customs or excise, 11. 10s.

Commission, appointing any person receiver-general of the land or other taxes, 251.

Commission, appointing any manager or director, of any lot-tery, 201.

Composition—Deed of, between debtors and their creditors, 11, 15s. And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.5s.

Conveyance, whether grant, assessment, transfer, release, renunciation, or of any other kind upon the sale of any lands, tenements, rents, annuities, or other property, real or personal, heritable or moveable, or of any right, title, interest, or claim, in, to, out of, or upon any lands, tenements, rents, annuities, or other property; that is to say, for and in respect of the principal or only deed, whereby the lands or other things sold shall be conveyed, or vested in the purchaser, or any other person or persons, by his directions:

Where the purchase or consideration money shall not amount to 201. 10s.

Where the same shall amount to 201, and not to 501. 11.

Where the purchase or consideration money shall amount to 50%, and not to 150%.—1%. 10%.

And where the same shall amount to 1501, and not to 3001.—21.

Amounting to	3001. and not to	500/,	3	0	0
	500 l	750 l .	6	0	0
	750 l . ———	10001.	9	0	0
-	10001.	2000/.	12	0	A

		•
Amounting to	2000l. and not to	30001.	25	0	0
	30001	40007.	35	0	0
-	40001	50001.	45	0	0
Control of the latest spines	500 0 l. ———	6000%	55	0	0
	60001.	70001.	63	0	8
	7000t	80004.	75	0	0
	80001. ———	90001.	85	0	0
-	90001.	10,000%	95	0	0
	10,0001.	12,5001.	110	0	0
-	12,5004. ———	15,0001.	1.80	0	0
	15,0001. ———	20,0004	170	0	0
	20,0001.	30,000%	.840	0	0
	80,000 /	40,0001	350	0	0
	40,000/.	50,000!.	450	0	0
المستحدد	50,000i	60,0001.	550	0	G
• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • 	60,0001. ———	80,000 l .	630	0	0
	- v	•	-	0	0
	80,000 l.	100,000%.	800	0	0
	100,000l. or upwards		1000	U	v

And where any freehold shall be conveyed by feofiment, with or without any letter of attorney therein contained, to deliver seisin, or by a deed of bargain and sale inrolled, such deed of feofiment or bargain and sale, unless accompanied with a lease and realease, shall be charged with a further duty as follows:

If the consideration shall be under 201.—10s.

If it shall amount to 201. and not amounting to 1501.—15s.

If it shall amount to 50l. and not amounting to 150l.—1/.

Ditto, 150/. and upwards, 1/. 152.

But if there shall be both a feofiment and a bargain and sale inrolled, then the said further duty shall not attach on either.

The consideration is to be truly expressed in words at length, in every such principal or only deed or instrument.

And where any lands or other property, contracted to be sold at one entire price for the whole, shall be conveyed, in separate parts by different instruments, the consideration money shall be divided and apportioned in such manner as the parties shall think fit, so that a distinct consideration for each separate part may be set forth in the principal or only instrument of conveyance.

And where any lands or other property shall be sold and conveyed, subject to the mortgage, bond, or other debt, or to any gross sum of money, to be afterwards paid by the purchaser, such debt or money shall be deemed part of the consideration, in respect whereaf the said ad valorem duty is to be paid.

And to prevent doubts respecting what shall be deemed the principal deed, in certain cases it is enacted, that where any lands or hereditaments, in England, shall be conveyed by bargain and sale inrolled, and also by lease and release, or feofiment with or without any such letter of attorney as aforesaid, the release or feofiment shall be deemed the principal deed; and the bargain and sale shall be charged only with the duty imposed on deeds in general.

But the same shall not be inrolled or be available, unless also stamped for testifying the payment of the ad valorem duty on the release or feofiment.

And where any lands shall be conveyed by lease and release, and also by feofiment, with or without any such letter of attorney, the release shall be deemed the principal deed, and the feofiment shall be charged only with the duty imposed on deeds in general. But the same shall not be available, unless also stamped for testifying the payment of the ad valorem duty on the release, as directed by this act.

And where any copyhold or customary estate shall be conveyed by a deed of bargain and sale, by the commissioners of bankrupt, or by executors, or others, by virtue of a power given by will, or by act of parliament, the deed of bargain and sale shall be deemed the principal instrument.

And in other cases of copyhold or customary estates, the surrender, or voluntary grant, or the memorandum thereof, if made out of court, or the copy of court roll of the surrender, or voluntary grant, if made in court, shall be deemed the principal instrument.

And where, in Scotland, there shall be a disposition or assignation, executed by the seller, and any other instrument to complete the title, the disposition or assignation shall be deemed the principalinstrument.

And where, upon the sale of any annuity or other right not before in existence, the same shall not be created by actual grant or conveyance, but shall only be secured by a bond, warrant of attorney, covenant, contract, or otherwise; the bond or other instrument, by which the same shall be secured, or some one of such instruments, if there be more than one, shall be deemed to be liable to the same duty as on actual grant or conveyance.

And where the principal or only deed (except the surrender or voluntary grant out of court, or memorandum or copy of the court rule of any copyhold or customary estate) together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, shall contain 2160 words or upwards, then for every entire quantity of 1080 words, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.

And where any such surrender or voluntary grant out of court, or the memorandum thereof, or the copy of court roll of a surrender or voluntary grant in court, of any copyhold or customary estate, shall be the principal or only instrument of conveyance, and shall, tegether with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, contain 2166 words or upwards, then for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 15s.

And where there shall be several deeds for completing the title, such of them as are not liable to the said ad valorem daty, shall be charged with the duty to which the same may be liable, under any general or particular description of such deeds contained in this schedule.

Exemptions from the Duties on Conveyances upon the sale of lands, &c.—Leases for lives, or years, determinable on lives, or for a term absolute, not exceeding ninety-nine years, in consideration of a fine otherwise charged. All the voluntary grants, made by the lord of any manor, for a life or lives, for pecuniary consideration, and the copies of court roll thereof otherwise charged. All surrenders and other instruments, relating only to copyhold or customary estates, whose clear yearly value shall not exceed 20s. herein otherwise charged. All transfers of shares in the stock and funds of the bank, and of the South Sea and East India companies, otherwise charged.

Exemptions from the preceding, and all other Stamp Duties, except the Duty on the Receipt for the Consideration Money.—Conveyances of Rents, purchased under 34 Geo. 3. c. 75. for the sale of fee farm and other unimproveable rents, by the purchasers or their heirs, to the owners of the lands, out of which the same are payable; where the consideration on such subsequent sales shall not exceed 10/.

Examptions from the ad valorem Duty on Conveyances.—All conveyances of property contracted to be sold before April 12th, 1808. And also all releases and conveyances of annuities or Rent charges on the same being repurchased, 55 Geo. 3. c. 184. s. 80, 31.

Exemptions from the preceding and all other Stamp Duties.

All transfers of shares in any of the government or parliamentary Conveyence of any kind whatever, not otherwise charged nor expressly exempted, 11. 15s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive daty of 11. 5s.

Copy attested in the form commonly used to be a true copy, of any agreement, contract, bond, deed, or other instrument of conveyance, or any other deed whatever, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, indorsed, or annexed, or of any part thereof.

Where such copy shall be made for the security or use of any person being a party to, or taking any benefit or interest under such agreement, contract, bond, deed, or other instrument, the same duties as for the original instrument.

And where any such copy shall be made, for the security or use of any person, not being a party to, or taking any benefit or interest immediately under such agreement, contract, bond, deed, or other instrument, 1s.

And for every entire quantity of 720 words contained therein, over and above the first 720 words, a further progressive duty of 1s.

And all copies offered in evidence, shall be deemed to have been made for that purpose.

Exemptions. All copies attested as aforesaid, which shall be made for the private use only of any person having the custody of the original instruments, or of his counsel, attorney, or solicitor.

Copy, attested as a true copy, of any original will, or testament, or codicil; or of the probate or probate copy of any will or codicil; or of any letters of administration, 4a.

And for every entire quantity of 720 words, over and above the first 720 words, a further progressive duty of 1s.

And all copies offered in evidence, shall be deemed to have been made for the purpose.

Office Copy or extract of any will or codicil, deposited in any ecclesiastial court in England, is.

And for every entire quantity of 80 words, contained in such copy or extract, over and above the first 90 words, a further progressive duty of Is.

Copy-or extract of any memorial, or of the register of any memorial, registered pursuant to any act made for the public registering of deeds and conveyances, 5:.

And for every piece of vellum, parchment, or paper wherein written, after the first, a further progressive duty of 5e.

Copy or extract of any deed, or of any other instrument not falling under the description-of law proceedings, taken from the rolls or record of any court at Westminster, 2s.

And for every piece of vellum, parchment or paper, wherein written, after the first, a further progressive duty of 2s.

Attested copy or extract of any deed, instrument, or writing, given entfrom any public register, or from the books or records of any court in Scotland, 2s. 6d.

And for every entire quantity of 600 words, over and above the first, 2s. 6d.

And for any less quantity, over and above the first 600 words, or over and above any second, third, or other full quantity of 600 words, 2s. 6d.

Exemptions from the preceding duties. Extracts of the decrees of courts, other than such formal decrees of registration as are usually annexed to the extracts of writings. Copies or extracts of protests upon bills or promissory notes for any sum under 40s. sterling. Extracts of commissions of persons as delegates in Scotland, and of commissions of delegates.

Copyhold estates, and customary estates passing by surrender and admittance, or by admittance only, and not by deed: instruments relating thereto not otherwise charged under the head of mortgage or of conveyance upon the sale of lands, viz.

Any surrender made out of court, or memorandum thereof: where the clear yearly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings, 1/.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings, 5s.

Any admittance out of court, or the memorandum thereof; where the clear yearly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings, it.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty skillings, 5s.

And where both a surrender and admittance, or more than one surrender or admittance, or the memorandum thereof, shall be contained in the same instrument, the said duties shall be paid, in respect of each surrender and each admittance.

And where any such surrender or admittance, or the memorandum thereof, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter shall contain 2160 words and upwards, then for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 15s.

The copy of court roll of any surrender made in court; where the clear yourly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings, los.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings, 5s.

The copy of court roll of any admittance in court; where the clear yearly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings, 11.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings, 5s.

And where the copies of both a surrender and admittance, or of more than one, shall be contained in the same instrument, the duties shall be paid, in respect of each, except in the case of a recovery herein after provided for.

And where the copy of any such surrender or admittance, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, shall contain 2160 words or upwards, then for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.

The copy of court roll of the several surrenders, admittances, and other acts, which shall take place in court, for the purpose of perfecting a common recovery of any entailed copyhold or customary estate; from the surrender, or to make a tenant to the precipe, down to the admittance of the tenant in tail, in fec, or to the admittance for life of the former tenant for life, with remainder to the tenant in tail, in fee, upon surrender of the demandant, both inclusive: or from the surrender to make a tenant to the pracipe, inclusive, to the admittance of the tenant in tail, or tenant for life, otherwise than as aforesaid, or to the admittance of any other person, upon the surrender of the demandant, exclusive; where the clear yearly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings five times, 11.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings five times, 5s. And if the copy of court roll of any other admittance and surrender, shall be contained in the same piece of vellum, parchment or paper, with the copy of court roll of the several surrenders, admittances, and other acts for the purpose aforesaid; the same shall be charged the same duty, as if the same had been written upon a separate piece, over and above the said duties imposed on the copy of court roll of the recovery.

Any voluntary grant by the lord, or steward, of any manor out of court, or the memorandum thereof, with or without admittance thereon; where the clear yearly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings twice, 11.

Where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings twice, 5s.

The copy of court roll of any voluntary grant made in court, by the lord, or steward, with or without admittance thereon; where the clear yearly value shall exceed twenty shillings twice, 11.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings twice, 5s.

And where any voluntary grant, or the memorandum, or copy of court roll thereof, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter, shall contain 2160 words or upwards, then for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 16.

Any license to demise, or memorandum thereof, if granted out of court; and the copy of court roll of any license to demise if granted in court; where the clear yearly value of the estate shall exceed twenty shillings, 11.

And where the same shall not exceed twenty shillings, 5s.

Exemptions—Original surrenders out of court to the uses of a will, or to a trustee for the use of a will. The court rolls or books of any manor, wherein the proceedings shall be entered.

	Grant or le	etters patent.
Of the honour o	r dignity of	a duke	•	350 7.
Of a marquis		• • • •		3001.
Of an earl	• • • •			2501.
Of a viscount	• • • •	• • • •		20 0 t .
Of a baron				1501.
Of a barenet				100%
Of a congé d'elis	e to any dear	or chapter		30 1. of the royal as made by any of and presentati	ican and chap	pter, or of the	e nominatio	n election		• • • •	• • • • •	3 0/.
Of or for the rest	itution of the	temporalities	to any arch	!-
biskop or bish	op .	,	-	30/-
Of any other hos	wur, dignity,	or promotion	whatsoeve	Γ, or of any fram	chise, liberty	, or privilege		3 01.

And where two or more honours or dignities shall be granted by the same letters patent to the same person, such letters patent shall be charged with the proper duty, in respect of the highest in point of rank only. And where any honour or dignity shall be granted in remainder, the letters patent shall be charged with such further duty, in respect of every remainder, as would have been payable for an original grant of the same honour or dignity. And where any such grant or letters patent shall be contained in more than one skin, for every skin after the first, a further duty of 201.

Exemptions.—Commissions of rebellion in process. Letters patent or briefs for collecting charitable benevolence. Letters patent for confirming any dispensation herein before charged with a duty.

Grant or warrant of precedence to take rank among nobility, under the sign manual, 1001.

Grant or license to take and use a name and arms, or either, under a will or settlement, 50%. On voluntary application, 10%.

Grant, lease, or tack, under the great scal, or the seal of the exchequer in England, or the seal of the duchy or county palatine of Lancaster, or the seal kept in Scotland, in place of the great seal; or under the privy scal in England, or the quarter or privy seal in Scotland, unless directed to the great seal; or under the royal sign manual, unless directed to any of the seals aforesaid.

Of any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or heritable subjects, whatever the tenure thereof may be, which shall come to his majesty, by escheat or forfeiture, or by reason of the same being purchased by or for any alien; or which his majesty is otherwise entitled to in right of the crown, and be authorised to dispose of, absolutely, as he shall think fit; whether such grant shall be in fee or fee tail, or for term of life or years.

Or of any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or heritable subjects, belonging to the duchy of Lancaster, or to the crown in Scotland, whereof his majesty is authorised to make only certain limited grants, leases or tacks; whether the same shall be for term of life or years; or of any goods, chattels, or personal or moveable estate, or other profit, whereof the grant is not otherwise charged in this schedule.

Where such grant, lease or tack shall be intended to operate, in any degree, as a gift, except in the case next mentioned, then for every skin, upon which the same shall be written, a duty of 30%.

And where any such grant, lease or tack operating as a gift, shall be of lands or other hereditaments vested in his majesty, by escheat, or for want of heirs of any person who was a bare trustee thereof, or seised into the hands of the crown upon any outlawry, in a civil action, at the suit of any of his majesty's subjects, 11. 15s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11. 5s.

And where any such grant, lease or tack, shall be made for what shall be deemed a full and adequate consideration, either in money paid at once, or in rent, or in lands given in exchange, or otherwise—The same duty as on a grant of the like description, made by any subject.

Grant, or conveyance, under the seal of the duchy of Lancaster, made in pursuance of the act, enabling the chancellor and council of the duchy to sell rents, and enfranchise copyhold and customary tenements within their survey, (except all grants and conveyances under the seal of the duchy of Lancaster, in pursuance of an act of 19 Geo. 3. c. 45. where the consideration money shall not exceed 101.) the same duty as for any other conveyance for a onsideration of the like amount. See Conveyance.

Grant, lease or other conveyance, from his majesty, of any lands, or personal estate, the private property of his majesty, the same duty as on a conveyance, of like description from any of his subjects.

Grant under the proper seals, out of the civil list, or out of any other fund, not being part of the supplies of the year, or appropriated by parliament, of any certain sum of money not amounting to 1001.—11. 10s.

Amounting to	100l. and not to	250%	• •	4	0	0
•	250l. ———		• •	10	0	0
	500 l . ———	750 l .	• •	20	0	0	٠,
	750 l . ————————————————————————————————————	.1000 t	• •	3 0	0	0	Ī
-	1000% or upward	s, every	100/. there	of 5	0	0

Or of any annui	ly or po	ension n	ot a moui	ating to 100l	•
per annum	• •	• •	•	• •	· 1	10	0
Amounting to	1001.	and not	to 2001.	per annum	4	0	0
	2001.		400 l .		10	0	0
	4001.		6001.		20	0	0
	600%		800 t .		3 0	0	0
	8007.	•	10001.		40	Ø	0
	10001.	or upwa	rds		50	0	0

But where any such grant of annuity or pension shall be made in confirmation or by way of renewal only, of any former grant of the like amount and description, then only a duty of 11. 10s.

And where several annuities or pensions shall be granted to different persons by the same instrument, the proper duty shall be charged in respect of each; but where the grant shall be of any annuity or pension, to two or more persons jointly, the duty shall be charged in respect of the whole.

Grant, or appointment by his majesty, or by any other person, body politic or corporate, of or to any office or employment, by letters patent, deed, or writing, where the salary, fees, and emoluments appertaining thereto, shall not amount to 501. per annum, 26

Amounting to	> 50% and not to	100!. per annum	4	0	0
	100?. ———	2001. ——	6	0	0
	2001. ———	3001. ———	12	0.	0
	3001	5001. ———	25	0	Ú
	5001. ———	750 l . ———	35	0	0
	750!. ———		5 0	0	0
·	1000!. —	15001	75	0	0
	15001 5	20001. ———	100	0	0
	20001. ——— !	3000 l.	150	0	0
	3000/. per an num	or upwards.	200	0	0

The said emoluments to be estimated on the average for three years preceding; and in other cases according to the best information.

And where any such grant or appointment shall be made to two or more jointly, with distinct salaries, the same shall be charged with a separate duty, in respect of each according to the amount of salary.

But no duty shall be charged, in respect of any office granted anew, upon the revocation of any former grant, and where the grantee shall have paid a stamp duty on any former grant, unless the salary shall be augmented; and in that case a duty shall be charged, only in proportion to the amount of augmentation.

Institution to any ecclesiastical benefice, dignity, or promotion, in England; where the same shall proceed upon a presentation, 21.

Upon the petition of the patron to be himself admitted and instituted, if it be of the yearly value of 101. or upwards, in the king's books, 301.

Or if of any other description, 151, But such petition is not liable to the stamp duty.

Insurance. See Policy, infra.

Lace Dealers. See Licences, infra. p. 613, 614,

Lease or tack of any lands, hereditaments, or heritable subjects, granted under consideration of a sum of money by way of fine, premium or grassum, paid for the same, without any yearly rent, or with any yearly rent, under 201. the same duty as for the conveyance on the sale of lands for a sum of money of the same amount; except leases and tacks for a life or lives not exceeding three, as for a term of years. determinable with a life or lives not exceeding three, by whomsoever granted, and leases for a term absolute not exceeding twenty-one years, granted by eccle-iastical corporation, aggregate or sole.

Lease or tack of any lands, hereditaments, or heritable subjects, at a yearly rent, without any sum of money by way of tine, premium, or grassum, paid for the same; where the yearly rent shall not amount to 201. 201, and not to 1001. And where the same shall amount to 0 ----- 100*l*. ----- 200*l*. Q _____ 200l*. _____ 400*l*. O 4001. — 6001. 0 ---- 600*l*. ----- 800*l*. --- 8001. ---- 10001. ----- 10001. or upwards . 10

Lease or tack of any lands, hereditaments, or heritable subjects, granted in consideration of a sum of money by way of fine, premium, or grassum, and also of a yearly rent amounting to 201. or upwards, Both the ad valorem duties payable for a lease in consideration of a fine only, and for a lease in consideration of a rent only, of the same amount, except the leases and tacks herein-before excepted.

Lease, or tack of any kind, not otherwise charged in this schedule 11. 15s.

And for the counterpart or duplicate of any lease or tack, hereby charged with a duty not exceeding 11, the like duty as on the lease or tack.

And for the counterpart or duplicate of any other lease or tack whatsoever, 11. 10s.

And where any such lease or tack, or counterpart shall contain 2160 words, or more, then for every entire 1080 words, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 1%.

Exemptions. Leases, or tacks of waste lands to any poor or labouring persons, for not exceeding three lives, or ninety-nine years, where the fine shall not exceed five shillings, nor the reserved rent one guinea per ann. and the counterparts of all such leases.

Legacies, and Successions to personal Estate upon intestacy.

I. Where the testator, or intestate, died before or upon the 5th day of April, 1805.

For every legacy, specific or pecuniary, or of any other description, of the value of 20% or upwards, given by any will or testamentary instrument, of any person who died before or upon the 5th day of April 1805, out of his personal estate, and which shall be paid after the 10th day of October 1808.

Also for the clear residue (when devolving to one person) and for every share of the clear residue (when devolving to two or more persons) of the personal estate of any person who died before or upon the 5th day of April 1805 (after deducting debts, funeral expences, legacies, and other charges first payable thereout) whether the title to such residue, or share thereof, shall accrue by virtue of any testamentary disposition, or upon a partial or total intestacy; where such residue, or share of residue, shall be of the amount or value of 201, or upwards, and where the same shall be paid after the 10th day of October 1808.

Where any such legacy, or residue, or share of such residue, shall have been given or have devolved, to or for the benefit of a brother or sister of the deceased, or any descendant of a brother or sister of the deceased; a duty after the rate of 21, 10s. per cent. on the amount thereof, 21, 10s.

To a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased, or any descendant of a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased; a duty after the rate of 41. per cent. on the amount thereof, 41.

To or for the benefit of a brother or sister of a grandfather or grandmother of the deceased, or any descendant of a brother or sister of a grandfather or grandmother of the deceased; a duty after the rate of bl. per cent. on the amount thereof, 5/.

To any person in any other degree of collateral consanguinity to the deceased than is above described, or to or for the benefit of any stranger in blood to the deceased; a duty after the rate of 8/. per cent. on the amount thereof, 8/.

II. Where the testator, or intestate, shall have died after the 5th day of April 1805

ST

41

10

g 1

1

7

1

ø

For every legacy, specific or pecuniary, or of any other description, of the amount of 20% or upwards, given by any will of any person who shall have died after the 5th day of April 1805, either out of his personal estate, or out of or charged upon his real estate, or out of any monies to arise by the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of his real estate, or any part thereof, and which shall be paid after the 10th of October 1808.

Also for the clear residue (when devolving to one person) and for every share of the clear residue (when devolving to two or more) of the personal estate, of any person who shall have died after the 5th day of April 1808 (after deducting debts, funeral expences, legacies and other charges first payable thereout) whether the title to such residue, or share thereof, shall accrue by virtue of any testamentary disposition, or upon a partial or total intestacy; where such residue or share shall be of the amount of 20%, or upwards, and where the same shall be paid after the 10th day of October 1808.

And also for the clear residue (when given to one person) and for every share of the clear residue (when given to two or more) of the monies to arise from the sale, mortgage or other disposition, of any real estate, directed to be sold, mortgaged, or otherwise disposed of, by any will of any person who shall have died after the 5th of April 1805, (after deducting debts, funeral expences, legacies, and other charges first made payable thereout, if any) where such residue, or share of residue shall amount to 20% or upwards, and where the same shall be paid after the 10th of October 1808.

Where any such legacy or residue, or any share of such residue shall have been given, or have devolved, to or for the benefit of a child of the deceased or any descendant of a child of the deceased; a duty after the rate of 1/2 per cent. on the amount thereof, 1/2.

Where any such legacy, or residue, or any share of such residue, shall have been given, or have devolved, to or for the benefit of a brother or sister of the deceased, or any descendant of a brother or sister of the deceased; a duty after the rate of 3/. per cent. on the amount thereof, 3/.

To or for the benefit of a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased, or any descendant of a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased; a duty after the rate of 5/. per cent. on the amount or value thereof, 5/.

To or for the benefit of a brother or sister of a grandfather or grandmother of the deceased, or any descendant of a brother or sister of a grandfather or grandmother of the deceased; a duty after the sate of 6/. per cent. on the amount thereof, 6/.

To ar for the benefit of any person, in any other degree of collateral consanguinity to the deceased, than above described, or to or for the benefit of any stranger in blood to the deceased; a duty after the rate of 10%, percent, on the amount thereof, 10%.

And all gifts of annuities, or by way of annuity, or of any other partial benefit or interest, out of any such estate or effects shall be deemed legacies.

Bremptions—Legacies and residues, or shares of residue, to or for the benefit of the husband or wife of the deceased, or to or for the benefit of any of the royal family, and the specific legacies to corporate and other public bodies, exempted from duty by 39 Geo. 3. c. 73.

Letters of Administration without a will annexed, where the effects shall be above 20% and under 50%. 10s.

Of the value of	50/.	and under	100/.	1	0	0
	100%.		200/.	3	0	0
	200/.		300/.	8	0	0
	300/.	-	450/.	11	0	0
-	4501.		600/.	15	0	0
-	600%	·	800%.	22	0	0
	800/.		1000/.	3 0	0	0
	1000/.		1500%.	45	0	0
	1500/.		20001.	60	0	0
	20001.		30001.	75	0	0
	8 000 l .		4000%.	90	0	0
	4000 l .		50001.	120	0	0
	500 0 L ,		60001.	150	0	0
#*	6000!.	•	70001.	180	0	0
	7000 l .		.10008	210	0	0
	80001.		90007.	240	0	0
	9000 l .		10000€.	270	0	0
	100001.		12000t.	300	0	0
	120001.		14000%	330	0	0
	14000%.	-	100001.	375	0	0
	160001.		180007.	420	0	0
Company of the party of the par	180001.		200007.	465	0	0
	200001.		25000f.	525	0	0
	250001.	-	300001.	600	0	0
•	300001.	-	35000l.	675	0	0
	35000 /.		40000%	785	0	0
Committee functional property and a finite a	40000%	-	45000t.	900	0	0
	45000 l .		50000%	1010	0	0
	$00001.		6 0000 t .	1125	0	0
Contract of the Particular September 1997	6 0000L	(	70000L	1350	0	0

	700001.		800001.	1575	U	0
	800001.		900001.	1800	0	0
	90000%		1000001.	2025	0	0
	1000001.		1200001.	225 0	0	0
~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~	120000%.		1400001.	2700	0	0
	1400001.		160000 i .	3150	0	0
	1600001.		1800001.	3600	0	0
	1800001.		2000001.	4050	0	0
	200000 l .		2500001.	4500	0	0
	250000 t .		300000 l .	5625	0	0
	3000001.		3500001.	6750	0	0
	350000 l .		4000001.	7875	0	0
	4000001.		5000001.	9000	0	0
	5000001.		600000t.	11250	0	0
•	6000001.	-	7000001.	13500	0	0
	7000001.		8000001.	15750	0	0
	8000001.	-	9000001.	18000	0	0
	9000001.	•	10000001.	20250	0	0
	10000001.	and upware	eb	22500	0	0

Exemptions from all stamp duties:—Letters of administration, and inventory of the effects of any common seaman, marine, or soldier, who shall be slain or die in the service of His Majesty. For the regualtions relative to administrators, see Probate infra.

Letter or power of attorney of power, or attorney, made by any petty officer, seaman, marine, or soldier, serving as a marine, or receiving prize money, 1s. For receiving wages, 1l.

Letter or power of attorney, of any other kind, or commission or factory, in the nature thereof, 11. 10s.

And for every quantity of 1080 words therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11.

Letter of license from creditors to debtor, 11. 15e.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11. 52.

Letters of marque and reprisal, 51.

License for marriage, in England, if special, 5h.

for the non residence of any clergyman, 1i.

archbishop, bishop, chancellor, or other ordinary, or of any ecclesiastical court in England; or presbytery, or ecclestastical power in

Scotland, 2L

Ħ

ı f

, 1

1

ł

Exemptions.—Licenses to stipendiary curates in England, where the annual amount of the stipend shall be specified. And licenses for the non-residence of clergymen granted on the ground of there being no fit house of residence.

License to exercise the occupation of an appraiser, 10s.

To be taken out, yearly, by every person who shall exercise such occupation, or make any appraisement in expectation of any reward, except licensed auctioneers.

License to be taken out yearly by bankers allowed to issue re-issuable notes, 301.

License to every dealer in thread lace of foreign manufacture, who shall annually take out a license for that purpose, (46 Geo. 3. c. 84.) 31. 32.

And every dealer in thread lace of British manufacture, sha'l annually take out a license for that purpose, upon which there shall be charged a stamp duty of 5s.

If any dealer shall keep more than one house, shop, warehouse, or place, where he exposes thread lace to sale, such dealer shall take ont a distinct license in respect of every one.

From August 5, 1806, no person shall sell or expose to sale any thread lace of foreign or British manufacture, unless he shall be licensed in manner beforementioned, upon pain of forfeiting, if a dealer in foreign lace, 50l. and if a dealer in British lace, 5l. And every person who shall have taken out a license, shall cause the words, "Dealer in Foreign Lace," or "Dealer in British Lace," as the case may be, to be painted or written in large or legible characters, either over the door, or in some visible place on the front of his house, shop, or warehouse; and if a licensed hawker and pedlar, then he shall have such words painted or written on the cart or boxes used for the conveyance or sale of such lace; if a dealer in foreign lace, to forfeit 50l. and if a dealer in British lace. 5l.

License to be taken out by the proprietor and compounder of, and by every person in Great Britain, vending, or exposing to sale, or keeping ready for sale, any patent or other medicines subject to the duties by this act granted on medicines, within the cities of London or Westminster, or within the limits of the two-penny post, or within he city of Edinburgh, each license, yearly. (44 Geo. 3. c. 98.) 21.

For each such license in any other city or borough, or in any town corporate, or in the town of Manchester, Birmingham, Sheffield, or in Scotland, yearly, 10s.

For each such license in any other part of Great Britain, yearly, 5s.

License to a pawnbroker within London and Westminster, or within the limits of the two-penny post, yearly, 15%. Without the limits or in Scotland, 71. 10s.

License to be taken out by every postmaster, letting horses to travel post, or for a day, or any less period than twenty-eight successive days, bs. To be taken out by every person who shall keep any public stage coach, for carrying not more than four inside passengers, (children in lap excepted,) yearly, for each carriage, 5s. Carrying more than four, but not more than six inside passengers, for each carriage, 6s. Carrying more than six, but not more than eight inside passengers, for each carriage, 7s. Carrying at one time more than eight, but not more than ten inside passengers, for each carriage, 8s. For carrying more than ten inside passengers, for each such carriage, yearly, (44 Geo. 3. c. 98.) 9s.

Medicines, patent or quack, which shall not exceed the price of one shilling, three-halfpence.

Exceeding one shilling, and not two and sixpence, Sd.

Exceeding two shillings and sixpence, and not four shillings, 6d.

Exceeding four shillings, and not ten shillings, 1s.

Exceeding ten shillings, and not twenty shillings, 2s.

Exceeding twenty shillings, and not thirty shillings, Se.

Exceeding thirty shillings, and not fifty shillings, 10s.

Exceeding the price or value of fifty shillings, 1%.

N. B. By 42 Geo. 9. c. 56. and 43 Geo. 3. Persons selling medicines liable to duties without a license, shall forfeit 201. Persons vending such medicines, shall apply to the commissioners of stamps for covers or labels, and deliver in a note containing their name and place of abode. Such covers or labels shall be impressed with the respective duties, and shall be affixed to the medicines before exposed to sale, in such manner as the commissioners shall direct, and regulations for that purpose shall be delivered to the vendor on taking out his license.

Persons vending medicines not having the label so affixed thereto, in such manner as the commissioners shall direct, shall forfeit 10l. for every packet, &c. Persons fraudulently taking off labels after the medicines are sold, or using such labels a second time, &c. shall forfeit 20l. Persons selling or buying labels for the purpose of being used a second time, or selling any packet with such a label, shall forfeit 20l. Either buyer or seller may inform against the other and be himself indemnified, and have the same benefit as any other informer. Allowances for prompt payment of duties, 5 per cent. if to the amount of 5l. 10s. per cent. if to the amount of 50l. and 12½ per cent. if the amount of 100l. Notice shall be given to the commissioners for stamps of the place of making or vending medicines, on penalty of 10l. Covers or labels defaced in affixing them on the articles may be restarned to the commissioners of stamps; who, on oath being made that the same have not been fraudulently used, &c. shall deliver others of the like value. Persons counterfeiting stamps, marks, &c. guilty of felony.

Penalties may be recovered within six calendar months, half to the king, and half to the informer, in any court of record at Westminster, or before one justice of the peace. After the expiration of six months they are only recoverable in the name of the atterney general, and go wholly to the king. And by 43 Geo. 3. c. 73. if my person who shall receive from any proprietor or first vendor, any article whatever, subject to duty, for the purpose of selling the same again, without the label, and shall not within ten days return the same, or within that time give information thereof to the commissioners at the head office at Somerset Place, and deposit such article with the nearest distributor of stamps, he shall forfeit 201.

And upon the outside of all parcels, in which shall be contained one dozen or more of packets, boxes, bottles, pots, or phials, or other inclosures, containing any article subject to duty, sent by any or gind wendor, or any agent, to any retail vendor, by any public conveyance, or which shall be about to be exported, the word, "Medicinal shall be written; and also the name of such original vendor, and of the person sending or exporting the same if not such original vendor thereof; and any officers of the customs or excise, or any person appointed by the commissioners of stamp, by authority under the hand of any magistrate, or justice of the peace, on information and oath, that there is reason to suspect, that such parcel contains such articles not properly labelled, to open such parcels and examine the same; and if such labels are not affixed thereto, to seize the same, and send the same to commissioners at the head office, who are to reward the officer.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 150. if any person, whether licensed or not, shall utter, vend, or expose to sale, or offer to keep ready for sale, whether for foreign or home consumption, or buy, or receive, or keep for the purpose of selling by retail, either on his own account or on the account of any other person, any article of this description without a paper cover, wrapper or label, provided and supplied by the commissioners of stamps, and duly stamped, being properly pasted, stuck, fastened, or affixed so as that the packet, box, bottle, pot, phial, or other inclosure cannot be opened and the contents poured out or taken therefrom without tearing such stamped cover, so as to prevent its being made use of again, then the person so offending shall for every such offence, forfeit 101. And it is declared not to be necessary for any victualler, confectioner, pastry-cook, fruiterer, or other shop-keeper, who shall only sell any artificial or other waters

5

Į)

13

ø

3

to be drunk in his house or shop, and which shall be actually drunk therein, to take out a license, provided such waters shall be sold by him in bottles with paper covers, wrappers, or labels duly stamped; which waters are these, viz. all artificial mineral waters, and all waters impregnated with soda or mineral alkali, or with carbonic acid gas, and all compositions in a liquid or solid state, to be used for the purpose of compounding or making any of the said waters.

By 55 Geo. S. c. 184. s. 54. giuger and peppermint lozenges and other confectionary are exempt from stamp duty unless avowedly sold as medicines.

Memorial, to be registered pursuant to any act for registering of deeds, (55 Geo. 3. c. 184.) 10s. And for every piece, upon which written, after the first, a further duty of 10s.

Memorial to be registered or inrolled, of any deed whereby any annuity shall be granted, 1l. And for every piece, upon which written, after the first, a further duty of 1l.

Mortgage, conditional surrender by way of mortgage, or further charge of any lands, estate, or property, real or personal, whatsoever. Also any conveyance of any lands, estate, or property whatsoever, in trust to be sold or otherwise converted into money, which shall be intended only as a security, and shall be redeemable before the sale thereof, either by express stipulation or otherwise. Except where such conveyance shall be made, for the benefit of creditors generally, or for the benefit of creditors specified, who shall accept the provision made for payment of their debts, in full satisfaction thereof, or who shall exceed five in number.

Also any agreement, contract, or bond, accompanied with a deposit of title deeds, for making a mortgage, or such other security of conveyance as aforesaid, of any lands, estate, or property comprised im such title deeds, or for pledging or charging the same as a security.

Where the same shall be made, as a security for the payment of any certain sum of money, advanced or lent at the time, or previously due and owing, or forborne to be paid being payable.

O /	A A
Not exceeding	50 l .		1 0 0
Exceeding	50 and not	1001.	1 10 0
	100	200	2 0 0
	200	300	3 0 0
	300	500	4 0 0
	500	1000	5 0 0
	1000	2000	6 0 0
	2000	3000	7 0 0
	8000	4000	8 0 0
	4000	500 0	9 0 0

-
Mortgages exceeding	5000	and under	10060	19	0	0
	10000		15000	15	0	0
	15000	-	20000	20	0	0
	20000			25	0	0

And where the same respectively shall be made, as a security for the repayment of money, to be thereafter lent, advanced, or paid, or which may become due upon an account current, together with any sum already advanced or due, or without, as the case may be, if the total amount secured, or to be ultimately recoverable, shall is uncertain, 251.

But if the total amount shall be limited not to exceed a given sun, the same duty as for such limited sum. And where the same shall is made, as a security for the transfer or re-transfer of stock, the same duty as on mortgage for a sum equal to the value of the stock, according to the average price, on the day of the date of the mortgage, or either of the ten days preceding. And where the same shall be made. as a security for the payment of a sum of money, and also for the transfer or re-transfer of stock; the ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect to each. And in case the same shall be made, as a security for the payment or transfer, to different persons of separate same of money, or shares of stock, the ad valorem duty shall be charged for each separate sum of money, or shares of stock, and not upon the aggregate amount.

And where any such mortgage shall contain 2160 words, or up wards, then for every quantity of 1080 words contained therein, ever and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11.

Mortgage, &c.—Any transfer or assignment thereof, in all cases where the person entitled to the right of redemption or reversion, shall not be made a party, 11. 15s.

And also where the person, who originally made the mortgage, shall continue intitled to the right of redemption, and shall be made a party to such transfer or assignment, provided no further sum of money or stock be added to the principal already secured, 11. 15s.

And in all other cases, such transfer or assignment shall be charged with the same duty as an original mortgage.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11.5s.

But where several distinct deeds, falling with the description of any of the instruments hereby charged with the ad valorem duty on mortgages, shall be made at the same time, for securing the payment or transfer; the said ad valorem duty shall be charged only on one of such deeds, and all the rest shall be charged with the duty, to which the same may be liable, under any more general description.

:{

7

di)

t of

W;

4

المح

¥

!

ď

ø

3

II

ď

the commissioners of stamps shall if required, for the sake of evidence, cause all the rest of such deeds to be also stamped with some particular stamp, for testifying the payment of the ad valorem duty on proof that all the said deeds have paid the proper duties hereby charged thereon.

And where any copyhold or customary lands shall be mortgaged, by means of a conditional surrender or grant, the ad valorem duty, shall be charged on the surrender or grant, or the memorandum thereof if made out of court: or in the copy of court roll if made in court. And where such lands shall be mortgaged, or charged, together with other property, for securing one and the same sum of money, or one and the same share of stock, the ad valorem duty shall be charged on the deed relating to the other property.

Exemptions from the said ad valorem duty on mortgages, &c. but not from any other duty.—Any deed or other instrument, made in pursuance of any agreement, contract, or bond, hereby charged with, and which shall actually have paid, the ad valorem duty.

Any deed or other instrument, made for the further assurance only of any estate or property, already mortgaged, pledged or charged by any deed, which shall have paid the above or former ad valorem duty. Any deed or other instrument, made as an additional or further security, for any money, or any share of stock already secured, which shall have paid the ad valorem duty hereby charged, or the former ad valorem duty, to be exempt from the ad valorem duty hereby charged, so far as regards such money, or share of stock, before secured, in case such additional or further security shall be made by the same persons who made the original security; but if any further sum of money or stock shall be added to the principal already secured, the ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect of such further sum of money or stock. Mortgage, with a conveyance of the equity or right of redemption or reversion, or other matter, in the same deed, viz. Where any deed or writing shall operate as a mortgage, or as other instrument hereby charged with the ad valorem duty on mortgages, and also as a conveyance of the equity and right of redemption or reversion, to or in trust for, or according to the direction of a purchaser; such deed shall be charged, not only with the ad valorem duty on mortgages, but also with the ad valorem duty before charged on a conveyance upon the sale of any property: -But where the equity or right of redemption or reversion shall be thereby conveyed or limited in any other manner, such deed shall be charged only as a mortgage. And, in all other cases, where a mortgage shall be contained in the same deed, with any other matter, (except what shall be incident to such mortgage) such deed shall be charged with the same duties (except the progressive duty) as such mortgage, and such other matter, would have been separately charged with, if contained in separate deeds. And where any such deed, as it mentioned in the two preceding clauses, shall contain 2160 words or apwards, then for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first, a further duty of 11.

Newspaper or paper containing publick news, intelligence or occurrences, of half a sheet or less, whereof the same shall comist (55 Geo. 3. c. 185.) 4d. certain discounts are allowed on newspaper stamps; and newspapers are to be stamped to distinguish discount, as also to have their prices printed thereon, on pain of forfeiting 20% which fine is also incurred by selling papers higher than the stamped prices (55 Geo. 3. c. 156. s. 9, 10.)

Pamphlets, or books (containing one whole sheet, and not exceeding eight sheets octavo, or on a lesser page, or not exceeding twelve sheets in quarto, or twenty sheets in folio) printed in Great Britain, for every sheet of any kind of paper which shall be contained in one copy thereof, 3s. (55 Geo. 3. c. 185.) And all parts or numbers of any book, or literary work, published in parts or numbers, exceeding one whole sheet, but not exceeding eight sheets, in octavo, or any lesser page, or not exceeding twelve sheets in quarto, or twenty sheets in folio, shall be deemed pamphlets.

Except acts of parliament, proclamation, orders of council, forms of prayer, and thanksgiving, acts of state, printed votes or other matters by order of either house of parliament, books used in schools, or containing only matter of devotion or piety.

Nomination by his majesty, or patron, to any perpetual curacy (55 Geo. S. c. 184.) 11. 10s.

Notarial act, not otherwise charged, 5s. And for every sheet upon which the same shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 5s.

Passport, 5s.

Plate of gold, except gold watch cases, wrought in Great Britain for every ounce thereof, and so in proportion, 17s.

Plate of silver, wrought in Great Britain, for every ounce thereof and so in proportion, 1s. 6d.

Policy of assurance or insurance, upon any life or lives, or upon any event or contingency relating to or depending upon any life of lives,

Where the sum insured shall not amount to	5001.	1	0	0
And where it shall amount to 500l. and not	to 1000/.	2	0	0
10004	30001.	3	0	0
30001.	50001.	4	0	0
5000%. or upwa	rds	5	0	0

Policy of assurance or insurance, upon any building &c. from loss or damage of fire only, by any public company, or other persons duly licensed, or who ought to be licensed, by the commissioners of stamps, pursuant to 22 Geo. 3. c. 48. Majesty's reign, cap. 48. or by the Royal Exchange or London Assurance Corporation, 1s. And respect of every insurance from loss or damage by fire only, which shall at any time after the 28th day of September, 1815 be made or renewed, or continued by any public company, or other person or persons licensed, or who ought to be licensed, as above mentioned, or by the Royal Exchange or London Assurance Corporation, a duty of three shillings for every 1001. insured for a year, and at and after the rate for any fractional part of a year, as well as for any number of years for which the insurence shall be made or renewed, or continued; but no fraction of a penny shall be charged 3s. per cent, per annum, insurances on public hospitals, and on property in any foreign kingdom or state in amity with His Majesty, his heirs or successors.

Policy of assurance or insurance, or other instrument by whatever name the same shall be called, whereby any insurance shall be made, pursuant to 50 Geo. 3. c. 45. by any person or persons, not being licensed pursuant to 22 Geo. 3. c. 148. upon any building, &c. in any of the islands, settlements, or territories belonging to or under the dominion of His Majesty, in the West Indies, or elsewhere beyond the seas, from loss or damage by fire, for any period of time not exceeding twelve calender months, 2s. 6d.

And also the further or additional duty following, viz, if the whole sum insured shall not exceed 1001.—5s.

And if the whole sum insured shall exceed 1001, then for every 1001, and also for any fractional part of 1001, whereof the same shall consist, 5s.

The duties on fire insurances are to be collected by the companies undertaking the same; for which they are to have five per cent. allowed them: and they are further to render quarterly accounts there-of containing certain particulars, which accounts they may make up to their own quarter days, and must deliver them within two months after the expiration of the quarter for which such accounts shall be made up. Country insurance companies however are to transmit accounts immediately to the commissioners of stamps, if required, 55 Geo. 3. c. 184. s, 32 36.

Policy of assurance of any ship, or upon any goods or property on board, or upon the freight of any ship, or upon any other interest relating to any ship, or upon any voyage from any port in the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or in the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, or Sark, or the Isle of Man, to any other port in the said kingdom, or islands, or Isle of Man, whe the premium shall not exceed 20s. per cent. on the sum insured; if the whole sum insured shall not exceed 100l.—1s. 3d.

If it exceeds 1001, then for every 1001, and also for any fractional part of 1001, whereof the same shall consist, is. Sd.

And where the premium shall exceed 20s. per cent. in the sum insured, if the whole sum shall not exceed 100l. 2s. 6d.

If it exceeds 100l, then for every 100l, and also for any fractional part of 100l, whereof the same shall consist, 2s. 6d.

But if the separate interests of two or more distinct persons shall be insured by one policy, then the said duty shall be charged in respect of each fractional part of 100% as well as in respect of every full sum of 100% insured upon any seperate and distinct interest.

Policy of assurance upon any other voyage than before specified, or for any certain term, not exceeding twelve calendar months; where the premium shall not exceed 20s. per cent. on the sum insured, if the whole sum insured shall not exceed 1001.—2s. 6d.

If it exceeds 1001, then for every 1001, and also for any fractional part of 1001, whereof the same shall consist, 2s. 6d.

And where the premium shall exceed the rate of 20s. per cent.

on the sum insured, if the whole sum insured shall not exceed

1001.—5s

If it exceeds 1001, then for every 1001, and also for any fractional part of 1001, whereof the same shall consist, 5s.

But if the separate interest of two or more distinct persons shall be insured by one policy, then the duty shall be charged in respect of each fractional part of 100l. as well as in respect of every full 100l. insured upon any separate interest.

Policy of assurance, commonly called a mutual insurance, whereby persons insure one another without premium; upon any voyage from any port in the United Kingdom, or in the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, or Sark, or the Isle of Man, to any other port in the said kingdom, or islands or Isle of Man, for every 1001. and also for each fractional part of 1001. thereby insured to any person, 2s. 6d. Upon any other voyage wbatsoever, or for any certain time or period not exceeding twelve calendar months. For every sum of 1001. and also for each fractional part of 1001. insured to any person, 5s.

Policy of assurance, whereby any other lawfal insurance whatsoever, not herein before charged, shall be made upon any property or interest whatsoever, from loss or damage of any kind.

Where the premium shall not exceed the rate of twenty shillings per centum on the sum insured; if the whole sum insured shall not exceed 1004.—5s. And if it exceeds 1001. then for every 1001. and also for any fractional part of 1004. whereof the same shall consist, 5s.

And where the premium shall exceed the rate of twenty shillings per cent, and also where the insurance shall be made for any other than a pecuniary consideration. If the whole sum insured shall not exceed 1001.—54. And if it shall exceed 1001, then for every 1004 and also for any fractional part of 1001, whereof the same shall consist, 55.

But if the separate interests of two or more distinct persons shall be insured by one policy, then the said duties shall be charged thereon in respect of each fractional part of 100L as well as in respect of every full 100L which shall be insured upon any separate interest.

[Post horses hired by the mile or stage, to be used in travelling, if the distance shall be ascertained, per mile, three-halfpence. Where the distance shall not, at the time of hiring, be ascertained, for each day, 3s. 9d. Exemptions. Horses used in hackney coaches, where they shall be employed to no greater distance than ten miles from the city of Loudon or Westminster, or the suburbs thereof.

[N. B. By 25 Geo. 3. c. 51. post masters, inkeepers, and other persons letting post horses without a license, forfeit 101. and keeping more than one inn under one license, 201.

Every licensed person, to paint on the outside pannel of each door of the chaise, his christian and surname, and place of abode, on pain of 5!.

Also "licensed to let post horses" on the fronts of their houses, on pain of 51.]

Precept of clare constat, to give seisin in Scotland (48 Geo. 3. c. 149.) 9s. And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 9s.

Presentation by His Majesty, or by any patron, to any ecclesiastical benefice, dignity or promotion, of the yearly value of 101. or upwards in the king's books, 201. To any other ecclesiastical benefice, dignity or promotion whatsoever, 101.

Probate of a will of any person deceased, exclusive of what the deceased shall have been possessed of, as a trustee and not beneficially.

Above the value of	20 L	and under	501.	:0	10	0
Of the value of	50 l .		100%.	1	0	0
	1001.		2001.	3	0	0
	200 l .		3007.	8	. 0	0
	.300 {.		450t. ·	11	0	0
•	450 l .	*	6 00 l .	15	0	V

of the value of	600 l .	and under	8001.	22	0
	800 l .		1000/.	30	0	•
l	0001.		1500%.	45	0	(
1	5007.		20001.	6 0	0	1
2	0001.		3 000 l .	75	0	(
3	0001.		40001.	80	0
	.1000		5000 i .	90	0
5	0001.		60001.	100	0
6	.1000		70001.	120	0
7	.1000		80001.	140	0
8	0001.	•	90001.	160	0
y	0007.		100007.	180	0
10	0001.		120001.	200	0
13	0001.		140001.	220	0
14	0001.		160001.	250	0
16	0001.	-	180001.	280	0
18	0001.		200001.	310	0
20	000 l .		250001.	350	0
25	0001.		300001.	400	0
	0007.		350001.	450	0
35	0001.		400001.	525	0
40	0001.		45000l.	600	0
45	0001.		500002.	675	0
50	0001.		600001.	750	0
60	.1000		700001.	900	0
70	0001.		800001.	1050	0
80	000/.		900001.	1200	0	1
	0001.		1000001.	1350	0	ł
100	0001.	-	1200001.	1500	٠0	1
120	0001.		1400001.	1800	0	(
140	0001.		1600001.	2100	0	(
	.1000		1800001.	2400	0	(
180	.1000		2000001.	2700	0	(
20 0	0001.	-	2500001.	3000	0	(
250	0001.		3000001.	3750	0	(
3 00	0001.		3500001.	4500	0	(
350	0001.		4000001.	5250	0	(
400	0001.		5000001.	6000	0	(
500	0007.	~~····	6000001.	7800 -	. 0	(
	0007.	•	7000001.	9000	0	(
700	0001.		.1000008	10500	0	0
800	000?.		9000001.	12000	0	0

Exemptions.—Probate of will of any common soldier, seaman or marine, who shall be slain or die in His Majesty's service.

Penalty for not proving wills or taking out letters of administration within a given time, 100l. and 10 per cent. on the duty. Ecclesiastical courts are not to grant probates or letters of administration, without affidavit of the value of effects. And davits to be free of stamp duty, and to be transmitted to commissioners of stamps. Penalty for neglect, 50l. 55 Geo. 3. c. 184. s. 37-39. By s. 40, 41. provision is made for the case of too high or too little stamp duty being paid on probates, &c. And the administrator is required to give proper security before administration is duly stamped. s. 42.

Penalty on executors, &c. not paying the full duty on probates, &c. in a given time after discovery of too little paid at first, 100l. and 10 per cent. on the duty wanting.

Ecclesiastical courts not to take surrender of probates, &c. on the ground only of wrong duty paid thereon.

Commissioners of stamps may give credit for the duty on probates and letters of administration in certain cases.

Commissioners may extend the credit if necessary. And probate or letters of administration may be stamped on credit, to be deposited with the commissioners. The duty for which credit shall be so given is to be a debt to the crown, s. 46-48. By s. 49. provision is made for the case of letters of administration de bonis non, taken out before payment of the duty for which credit shall be given. And s. 50. contains directions concerning assidavits by executors, &c. residing out of England, relating to trust property. By s. 52. a return of duty on probates, &c. is directed to be made in respect of debts, if claimed in three years.

Procuration, deed, or other instrument of, 11.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words therein, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 11.

Promissory note for the payment of money to the bearer on demand, for any sum not exceeding one pound one shilling 0 0 5

		• •	•			_
Exceeding	11. 1s.	and not exceeding	21.2s.	0	0	10
-	21. 2s.		51. 5s.	0	1	3
	51. 5s.		101.	0	i	9
	101.		201.	0	2	0
	201.		3 07 .	0	3	0
	30%.		501.	0	5	0
-	501.	1	.100	0	8	6

which notes, for not exceeding 21. 2s. may be re-issued after payment, as often as thought fit, and the said notes exceeding 21. 2s. and not exceeding 1001. may be re-issued for three years from the date thereof, but not afterwards.

Promissory note for the payment in any other manner than to the bearer on demand, of any sum of money amounting to 40s. and not exceeding 51.5s. .... 0 1 0

Exceeding	51. 5s.	and not exceeding	201.	• • •	0	1	6
	2 01.		3 0?.	••••	0	2	0
	3 01.		501.	• • • •	0	2	6
				•

These notes are not to be re-issued after being once paid.

Promissory note, for the payment either to the bearer on demand or in any other manner than to the bearer on demand, of any sum of money

Exceeding 100% and not 200%	0	4	6
2001 300L	0	5	0
$00t 500t	0	6	0
500l1000l.	0	8	6
1000Z 2000 l	0	12	6
2000% 3000L	0	15	0
$000/	1	5	0

These notes are not to be re-issued after being once paid

Promissory note for the payment to the bearer or otherwise, at any time exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, of any our of money.

Amounting to 40s.	and not exceeding 5L 5s.	0	1	6
Exceeding 51.5s.	201.	0	2	0
 201.	3ot.	0	2	6
 3 01.	50 t .	0	3	6
501.	100 l .	0	4	6
100 l .	 2001.	0	5	0
2001.	300 L	0	6	0
300 /.	500L	0	8	6
500l.	1000/.	0	12	6
1000%	~~~~~2000 i .	0	15	0
ــــــ عند عند المناطقة المنا	3000 L	1	5	0
3000 l .	••••	1	10	0

These notes are not to be re-issued after being once paid.

Promissory note, for payment of money by instalments, or for the payment of several sums, at different times, so that the whole shall be certain—The same duty as on a promissory note payable after date, for any equal sum.

Ÿ.

į

11

15

F!

Įį

F

Įį.

اً ز

j l

Ľ

**$

1

And the following instrumets shall be deemed to be promissory .notes; viz.

All notes promising the payment of any money, out of any particular fund, which may or may not be available, or upon any condition, which may or may not be performed or happen; if made payable to the bearer or to order, and if the same shall be certain, and not amount in the whole to twenty pounds;—and all receipts for money deposited in any bank, or in the hands of any banker, which shall contain any agreement or memorandum, importing that interest shall be paid for the money deposited.

Exemptions from the Duties on Promissory Notes.

All notes, promising the payment of money, out of any particular fund, which may or may not be available; or upon any condition or contingency, which may or may not be performed or happen; where the same shall not be made payable to the bearer or to order; and also where the same shall be made payable to the bearer or to order, if the same shall amount to twenty pounds, or be indefinite.

And all other instruments, bearing in any degree the form of promissory notes, but which in law shall be deemed special agreements, except those expressly directed to dedeemed promissory notes.

But such of the notes here exempted from duty, shall nevertheless be liable to duty, as agreements.

Penalty for issuing unstamped drafts on bankers, without specifying the place where issued, or if post dated, 1001. Penalty for receiving such drafts, 201. and on bankers for paying them, 1001. 55 Geo. 3. c. 184. s. 13.

Promissory notes to bearer on demand, not exceeding 1001. may be re-issued by the original makers, without further duty.

Such notes not liable to further duty though re-issued by certain persons not strictly the original makers.

Notes re-issuable under 48 or 53 Geo. 3. to continue re-issuable till end of three years from the date. Penalty on frauds, 50l. s. 16. Notes with printed dates, prior to Aug. 31, 1813 to be re-issuable till Aug. 31, 1816. Issuing notes with such printed dates for the first time after Aug. 31, 1815. Penalty 50l. s. 17. Penalty on issuing notes in future with printed dates, 50l. s. 18.

Notes re-issuable for a limited period to be cancelled on payment afterwards; and notes not re-issuable, to be cancelled immediately on payment. Penalty for re-issuing notes, &c. contrary to law, and for not cancelling them, 50l. Penalty for taking notes, &c. re-issued contrary to law, 20l.

Notes and bills of the bank of England exempted from stamp duty, in the bank of England paying a composition regulated by the amount insued. But a new composition is to be made when the bank resume each payments. s. 21, 22.

The bank and royal bank of Scotland, and the British linen company, may issue small notes on unstamped paper, accounting for the duties. s. 23.

Re-issuable notes not to be issued by bankers or others without a license. But no bankers can take out more than four licenses for any number of towns in Scotland. Several towns in England however may be included in one license, in certain cases. And persons applying for licenses to deliver specimens of their notes. s. 24, 27.

Penalty for issuing notice without license, 1001. License to continue in force notwithstanding alteration in partnerships. s. 27, 28.

Promissory notes made out of Great Britain, not to be negotiable unless stamped. Penalty on circulating such notes, &c. 201. for each, s. 29.

Protest of any bill of exchange, or	promissory n	ote, of a	ıy	sum.	of money not amounting to 201.	• • • •	0	2	0	٠
Amounting to 201. and not 1001.		0	3	Q
100l 500l.	• •	0	5	0	•
500l. or upwards	• •	0 1	0	0
Protest of any other kind. Se.

And for every sheet upon which the same shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 5:.

Quack Medicines. See Medicine.

Receipt or discharge, given for or upon the payment of money

Amounting to 21. and not amounting to 51.	0	0	2
 	0	0	3
10 l 20 l .	0	0	6
20 l 50 l .	0	ì	0
 	0	ì	6
1001. ——————————————————————————————————	0	2	6
200 /. 3 00 l .	0	4	0
500/ 500l.	0	5	0
	0	7	6
1000l. or upwards	0	10	0

And where any sum of money whatever shall be therein expressed or acknowledged to be received in full of all demands ... 0 10 0

And any note, memorandum, or writing given, for or upon the payment of money, whereby any sum of money, debt or demand, or any part of any debt or demand, therein specified, and amounting to two pounds or upwards, shall be expressed to have been paid, settled, balanced, or otherwise discharged or satisfied, or which shall import or signify any such acknowledgement, and whether the same shall

ţţ

r,

, ,

ø

or shall not be signed by the name of any person, shall be deemed to be a receipt, and charged with a duty accordingly.

And any receipt or discharge, note, memorandum, or writing whatever, given for or upon payment of money, which shall contain, import, or signify any general acknowledgement of any debt, account, claim, or demand, therein not specified, having been paid, settled, balanced, or otherwise discharged or satisfied, or whereby any sum therein mentioned shall be acknowledged to be received, in full, in discharge or satisfaction of any such demands, and whether the same shall or shall not be signed with the name of any person shall be deemed to be a receipt for 1000%. or upwards, and charged with the duty of ten shillings.

And all receipts, discharges, acknowledgements, of the description aforesaid, given for or upon payments, made with any bills of exchauge, drafts, promissory notes, or other securities for money, shall be deemed to be receipts given upon the payment of money.

Exemptions from the preceding duties on receipts.

Receipts exempted by the assessed tax acts. Receipts given by the treasurer of the navy. Receipts given by any agent of the pay of the army or ordnance. Receipts given by any officer, seaman, marine, or soldier, or their representatives, for any wages, pay, or pension. Receipts given for the purchase in the public funds, or stock of the Bank, East India, or South Sea Company, or any dividend thereon. Receipts given for money, deposited in the bank of England or Scotland, or in the hands of any banker to be accounted for on demand. If not expressed to be received of a third person. Receipts written upon promissory notes, bills of exchange, drafts or orders. Letters by the general post, acknowledging the safe arrival of bills, notes, or other securities for money. Receipts indorsed upon or contained in, any bond, mortgage, or other security, or any conveyance or other deed. Releases or discharges for money, by deeds duly stamped. Receipts given for drawback or bounties, upon Receipts or discharges for the return of duties of customs, upon over entry. Receipt or acknowledgements of payment indorsed upon any bills, orders, remittance bills, or remittance certificates, drawn by commissioned officers, masters, and surgeons of the navy, or by any commissioner of the navy. Receipts or acknowledgments of payment, indorsed upon any bills drawn by the commissioners of the navy, victualling, the transport service, and sick and hurt.

Recognizance, statute merchant, and statute staple, entered into as a security, for the payment of any money or annuities, or for the transfer of any share in any of the government or parliamentary stocks or funds, or in the stock and funds of the bank, or of the East ladia, or South Sea Company.

Where such payment or transfer shall not be already secured by a bond, or mortgage, or by some other instrument charged with the same duty as a bond or mortgage—The same duty as on a bond given for the like purpose.

And where any such payment or transfer shall be already secured as above, 11.

Recognizance, statute merchant, and statute staple, entered into as a security for the performance of any covenant, contract, or agreement; or for the due execution of any office or trust; or for rendering a due account of money received; or for indemnifying any person against any matter or thing, 11. 15s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained thereis, above the first, a further duty of 1/. 5s.

Release of lands or other property, real or personal, or of any right or interest therein; not otherwise charged nor expressly exempted from stamp duty, 11. 15s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained thereis, above the first, a further duty of 11.5s.

Resignation principal, or original instrument of resignation, or service or cognition of heirs, or charter, or seisin in Scotland, or burgage tenure, 9s.

Not of burgage tenure, 9s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words, over and above the first 1080 words, a further duty of 9s.

Revocation of any use or trust, of or concerning any estate or property, real or personal made by any writing, not being a deed, or will, 11. 15s.

. And for every entire quantity of 1080 words above the first, a further duty of 11.5s.

Schedule, inventory, or catalogue, of any lands, hereditaments, or of any furniture, fixtures, or other goods or effects; or containing the terms and conditions of any proposed sale, lease, or tack, or the conditions and regulations for the cultivation or management in any farm, lands, or other property, leased or agreed to be leased; or containing any other matter of contract or stipulation whatsoever; which shall be referred to in or by, and be intended to be used or given in evidence as part of, or as material to, any agreement, lease, tack, bond, deed, or other instrument, charged with any duty in this schedule, but which shall be separate and distinct from, and not indorsed on or annexed to, such instrument, 11.5s.

And for every entire quantity of 1083 words contained therein, above the first, a further duty of 11.5s.

Exemptions.—Printed proposals, published by any corporation or company, respecting insurances; and which shall be referred to in any policy.

Seisin.—Instrument of seisin, in Scotland, not of burgage tenure, 9s. And for every additional 1080 words, 9s.

Settlement. Any deed or instrument, whether voluntary or gratuitous, or upon any good or valuable consideration, other than a bone fide pecuniary consideration, whereby any definite and certain principal sum or sums of money however charged, or any definite and certain share or shares in any stocks or funds whatever, shall be settled, or agreed to be settled, upon any persons, either in possession or reversion, either absolutely, or conditionally, or contingently, or for life, or other partial interest, or in any other matter whatsoever; if such sum or sums of money, or the value of such share or shares in all or any of the said stocks or funds, or both, shall not amount

		1	15	0
1000L and not te	20001.	2	0	0
2000 l . ———	30001.	3	0	0
30001.	40001.	4	0	0
4000 l . ———	50001.	5	0	0
5 000 l . ———	7000L	7	0	0
70004	90001.	9	0	0
90001. ———	100001.	12	0	0
120001. ———	15000 l .	15	0	0
150001. ———	200004	20	0	0
20000l. or upwards	;	25	0	0
	20001. ——————————————————————————————————	20001.       30001.         30001.       40001.         40001.       50001.         50001.       70001.         70001.       90001.         120001.       150001.         150001.       200001.	10001, and not to 20001. 2 20001. ——————————————————————————————————	3000l.       4000l.       4       0         4000l.       5000l.       5       0         5000l.       7000l.       7       0         7000l.       9000l.       9       0         9000l.       12000l.       12       0         12000l.       15000l.       15       0         15000l.       20000l.       20       0

And where any such deed, together with any schedule, receipt, or other matter indorsed thereon, or annexed thereto, shall contain 2160 words, or upwards, then for every 1080 words over and above first 1080 words, a further progressive duty of 11.5.

And for any duplicate of such deed the same duty,

Exemptions from the preceding ad valorem duties on sottlements.

Bonds, mortgages, and other securities operating as settlements, if chargeable with the advalorem duties on bonds and mortgages here-in-before granted. Deeds or instruments of appointment or apportionment, in execution of powers given by any previous settlement, deed, or will, to or in favour of persons specially named or described as the objects of such powers, trust deeds and wills.

Specification of any invention, for which a patent shall be obtained, 51. And for every 1080 words above the first, a further duty of 11.

Stage Coaches. (By 55 Geo. 3. c. 185.) Carriage, with two or more wheels, employed as a public stage coach, and which shall be licensed for carrying not more than four inside passengers, (children in tap excepted), for every mile such carriage shall travel, 2½d. For carrying more than four, but not more than six inside passengers, for every mile, 3d. For carrying more than six, but not more than eight inside passengers, for every mile, 4d. For carrying more than eight, but not more than ten inside passengers, for every mile, 4½d. For carrying more than ten inside passengers, for every mile, 5½d.

Annual license for stage coaches, 10s.

By 25 Geo. 8. c. 51. if any person shall keep any public stage toach without license, he shall forfeit for every time such carriage is used, 101. No person licensed shall, by virtue of one license, keep more than one carriage, on penalty of 10%. Every person licensed, thall paint on the outside panel of each door, his christian and sursame, with the name of place from where they set out, and to which they are going, on pain of 10t. Every licensed proprietor of any such tarriage, who shall discontinue the same, shall give notice in writing seven days before, and shall have such notice indorsed upon his license or bond, and from thenceforth he shall be no longer chargeable. By 44 Geo. 3. c. 98. every person licensed to keep any public stage coach, shall paint on the outside of each door, or on some other conspicuous part, in letters of at least two inches in length, and in a different colour from the ground, "Licensed to carry not exceeding four, six, eight, ten," or more passengers, as the license shall specify, and if any person shall make use of any carriage, without having the said words, or shall at any time carry more Inside passengers than specified in the license, and the words painted, shall forfeit 20%. Hackney coaches licensed to be used as a stage toaches, are to pay same duties as other stage coaches. And stage coaches are not to be probibited from taking up passengers in bills of mortality. 55 Geo. 3. c. 185. s. 11, 12.

Statute merchant and stople. See Recognizance.

Surrender (not otherwise charged nor expressly exempted from stamp duty) of any term of years, or of any freehold or uncertain interest, in lands, not being of copyhold or customary tenure, 11. 15s.

And for every entire quantity of 1080 words contained therein, above the first, a further duty, of 11.5s.

Testimonial or certificate of the admission of a bachelor of arts, 3L Of the admission of any person to any other degree, 10l.

Transfer of any share in the stock of the bank of England, or of the South Sea company, 7s. 9d. Of any share in the stock of the East India company, 1L 10s. Of any share in the stock of any other corporation, company, or society whatever, not otherwise charged under the head of mortgage, or of conveyance, 11. 10s.

Warrant or order beneficial, under the sign manual, except for the service of the navy, army, or ordnance, 11. 10s. And for the service of the navy, army, or ordnance, 12s. 6d. And where several persons shall be distinctly (and not jointly) benefited by one warrant, the proper duty shall be charged in respect of each.

General Exemptions of all Stamp Duties.

All bonds, contracts, &c. &c. exempted from stamp duty, by 17 Geo. 3. c. 53. or any other acts for promoting the residence of the parochial clergy. All affidavits, and other instruments whatever, exempted from stamp duty, by the acts now in force, relating to the redemption and sale of the land tax. All transfers of shares in the government or parliamentary funds. All grants and instruments exempted by any act of the present session, to improve the revenue of the crown.

CLASS II. DUTIES ON LAW PROCEEDINGS.

No. I. Duties on Proceedings in the High Court of Admiralty, the Cinque Ports; the High Court of Appeals in Prize Causes, and the High Court of Delegates in Admiralty Matters in England.

Affidavit, 5s. Allegation, 5s. Answer, 5s. Appeal, 15l. Astachment, 10s. Bailbond, or recognizance, 1l. Citation, 1l. Commission, 5s. Copy official of any affidavit courts, 5s. Copy official of any citation, monition, or warrant of the court, 5s. Copy official of any libel, allegation, answer, interrogatories depositions, or inventory, 5s. Copy official of any interlocutory decree or order, or of any definitive sentence or final decree, 5s. Decree, or order interlocutory, 1l. Depositions, 5s. Exemplification, 3l. Inhibition, 1l. Interrogatories, 5s. Inventory, 5s. Libel, 5s. Monition, 1l. Recognizance, 1l. Relaxation of any attachment or inhibition, 1l. 10s. Sentence definitive, or final decree, 1l. 10s. Warrant, issuing out of the said courts, 15s, Warrant to proctor, to commence or defend suit, 5s.

No. 11. Proceedings in the Ecclesiastical Courts, and in High Courts of Delegates, in Ecclesiastical Matters, in England.

Affidavit, 5s. Allegation, 5s. Answer, 5s. Appeal from final or interlocutory degree, 15l. Citation, 5s. Commission, 5s. Copy (Office) of any affidavit, 5s. Copy (Office) of any citation or monition, 5s. Copy (Office) of any libel, allegation, answer, interrogatories, depositions, or inventory, 5s. Copy (Office) of any interlocutory decree or order, or of any definitive sentence or final decree, 5s. Decree final, 5s. Depositions, 5s. Exemplifications 3l. Inhibition, 5s. Interrogatories, 5s. Inventory, 5s. Libel, 5s. Monition, 5s. Sentence, 5s. Warrant, to any proctor, to carry on, or defend any suit, 5s.

No. 111. Proceedings in the courts of law and equity at Westminster, including the court of the duchy of Lancaster, and in other courts in England, and the offices belonging thereto, and also before the Lord Chanceltor, in matters of bankruptcy and lunacy.

Actions in the courts of the lord mayor and sheriffs of London, and in the courts of all corporations, and other courts whatsoever, in England, holding pleas of forty shillings, and out of which no writs, process, or mandates issue, in the first instance;—for the entry of every action or plaint, except where the debt shall not amount to forty shillings, 2s. 6d. Affidavit in any of the courts of law and equity at Westminster, great sessions or counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster and Durham, or before any judge; or master, or other officer of any of the said courts; or before the chancellor, in matters of bankruptcy or lunacy, 2s. 6d. Affidavit in any other court of law of equity, in England, except where the debt shall be under forty shillings, 1s. 6d. Answer in any court of equity, 5s. Appearance in any metion at law, wherein no bail shall be filed, 2s. 6d. Assignment of a bail bond, 2s. 6d.

Bail common in any court of law, 2s. 6d. Bail, special, in any court of law, 2s. 6d. Bail bond in any action at law, 2s. 6d. Bank-rupt's certificate;—the confirmation thereof, by the great seal, 2s. 6d. Bill in equity 5s.

Certificate by any master of chancery, or the remembrancer of the exchequer, or of any default of any person, 5s. Commission to take affidavin or special bail, in any court of law or equity, 10s. Commission of bankrupt, 5s. Commission of lunacy, 5s. Commission out of any court of law or equity, for examination of witnesses, or taking depositions, 5s. Commission of any other kind, out of any court of law or equity, 5s. Copy (office) of any affidavit in any court of law or equity at Westminster, the great sessions, or counties palatine, or before any judge or master, or other officer of the said courts, or in any matters of bankruptcy or lunary, 2s. 6d. Copy (office copy) of any affidavit, in any other court of law or equity, except where the debt shall be under forty shillings, 1s. 6d. Copy (office copy) of any bill, answer, demurrer, exception, plea, replication, rejoinder, or other pleading, or of any interrogatories, or depositions in any court, where such copy shall be written wide, and not contain more than 90 words in a sheet, one with another, for every sheet of paper on which written, 4d. And where any such copy shall be written close copywise, according to the usage, then for every sheet, 2s. 6d. of any declaration, plea, replication, rejoinder, demurrer, or other pleading, in any court of law, 4d. Copy (office copy) of interrogatories and of depositions thereto in a court of law, containing not more than 72 words in a sheet, 4d. Copy (office copy) of any rule or order, in any court of law at Westminster, or by any judge of such court, 2s. 6d. Copy (office copy) of any decree, dismission, or order, made in the high court of chancery at Westminister, or in any matter of bankruptcy or lunacy, 3s. And for every sheet of paper on which any such copy shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 1s. 6d. Copy (office copy) of any decree, dismission, or order, in the court of exchequer, or duchy of Lancaster, at Westminster, or the courts of the great sessions in Wales, or of the counties palatine, 2s. 6d. Copy (office copy) or extract of any record, report, or proceeding in any court of law or equity at Westminster not otherwise charged, 2s.

Declaration in any court of law, 4d. Decree or dismission in chancery, Ss. And for every sheet, on which the same shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 1s. 6d. Decree or dismission, in the court of exchequer, or court of the duchy of Lancaster, at Westminster; or in any of the courts of great sessions in Wales, or counties palatine, or in any other court of equity whatsoever, 2s. 6d. Demurrer in any court of law, 4d. Demurrer in any court of equity, bs. Depositions taken by virtue of a commission out of any court of equity (except the paper drafts before ingrossed), bs. Depositions in any court of equity, taken by the examiner, or other proper officer, and not by commission, 4d. Depositions to interrogatories at law, 4d.

Exemptions filed in any court of equity, or in any matter of bank-ruptcy or lunacy, 5s. Exemplifications, under the seal of any court of law or equity whatever, of any record or proceeding therein (except exemplifications under the great seal charged in the first part of this schedule, 3l.

Grant of the custody of the person or estate of any lunatic, 21.

Indentures or chirograph of a fine levied in any court, for each part or indenture, 10s. Inquisition taken before any sheriff or his deputy, or before any coroner in any action at law, 10s. Interrogatories in any court of law, 5s. Interrogatories in any court of equity, or matter of bankruptcy or lunacy, 5s. Judgment (not interlocutory) signed by the master, or his deputy or by any prothonotary or his secondary, or by any other officer belonging to any of the courts at Westminster, authorized to sign judgments, 10s.

Order in the court of chancery or by the chancellor, in any matter of bankruptcy or lunacy, 3s. And for every sheet of paper on which the same shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 1s. 6d. Order in the court of exchequer, or duchy of Lancaster at Westminster, or in any of the courts of the great sessions, or counties palatine, &. 6d. Order made by any judge of any of the courts of law at Westminster, &. 6d. Except on the application of any prisoner or insolvent debtor, and except orders for the delivery of the particulars of the plaintiff's demand, or for staying proceedings on payment of debt and costs and all orders for time to plead, reply, or rejoin, after the first order.

Petition in any of the courts of equity at Westminster, or to the chancellor, in any matter of bankruptcy or lunacy, 2s. 6d. Plea in any court of law, 6d. Plea in any court of equity, 5s. Pleading of any kind, in any court of law, not otherwise charged 4d. Pleading of any kind, in any court of equity, not otherwise charged, 5s. Posters 10s.

Record of nisi prius, 10s. Rejoinder in any court of law. 4d. Rejoinder in any court of equity, 5s. Replication in any court of law, 4d. Replication in any court of equity, 5s. Report made by any master of chancery, or by the remembrancer in the exchequer, 2s. 6d. Rule or order, in any of the courts of law at Westminster, which shall be issued by the clerk of the rules, or other officer, 2s. 6d. And for the entry of every such rule or order in the book kept by the clerk of the rules for that purpose, 2s. 6d. Rules to plead, and reply to other rules, in the course of a cause in any of the courts of law at Westminster, entered in the book kept by the clerk of the rules, for that purpose; for the entry of every such rule, 2s. 6d.

Summons issued by any judge of any of the courts of law at West-minster, is. Except on the application of any prisoner or insolvent debtom and summonses for the delivery of the particulars of the plaintiff's demand, or for staying proceedings on payment of debt and costs, and summonses for time to plead, reply, or rejoin, after the first.

Warrant to any attorney or solicitor, to carry on, or defend any suit, in any court whatsoever, holding pleas, where the debt or damage amounts to forty shillings; for the memorandum thereof to be filed of record, 5s. Warrant, or summons, issued by any master of chancery, or the remembrancer of the exchequer, 1s. Warrant of attorney, 1! Writ of appeal, 1l. Writ of centiorari, 1l. Writ of covenant for levying a fine, 2l. Writ of entry for suffering a common recovery, 2l. Writ of error, 1l. Writ of supersedeas of a commission of bankrupt, 2s. 6d. Writ, mandate, or other process whatsoever, not otherwise charged, which shall issue out of any court at Westminster, the great sessions in Wales, the counties palatine, or any other court in England holding pleas, where the debt or damage amounts to 40s. except where the debt, damage, or thing shall be under the value of forty shillings, 5s.

The stamp duties on proceedings in the Scottish courts of law being very long, and comparatively uninteresting to Englishmen, are omitted.

General exemptions from the duties on law proceedings under the 55 Warrants to carry on or defend any suits, in any Geo. 3. c. 184. court whatever, where the debt shall not amount to forty shillings. Or upon indictments or information in the name of his majesty, or at the instance of the attorney general, lord advocate of Scotland, or other officer authorised to prosecute in the name or for the interest of his majesty. (But these exemptions do not extend to informations in nature of quo warranto, in the king's bench; nor to informations in courts of equity, at the relation of private persons; nor to in informations, where any other person than his majesty, shall be entitled to any penalty or share thereof.) All proceedings on behalf of persons admitted to sue or defend in forma pauperis; proceedings of courts martial; before any commissioners of sewers, or in the stannary courts. All summonses, attachments, executions, and other proceedings, in courts, of requests for the recovery of debts under 45. The following are principal general clauses in the old and new

The following are principal general clauses in the old and new Stamp Acts.

By the 44 Geo. S. c. 98. in any case where it shall appear to the commissioners of stamp duties, upon eath or assimption, that any instrument, matter, or thing whatsoever, (except bills of exchange, promissory or other notes, drafts, orders, or receipts, required by law to be on stamped vellum, parchment, or paper) hath been engrossed, printed, or written on vellum, parchment, or paper, not duly stamped with a stamp of the value required, either, by accident or inadvertency, or from urgent necessity or unavoidable circumstances, and without wilful delay by intention in any party thereto to evade the duties, and such instrument shall be brought to the commissioners to be stamped within twelve months after the execution thereof, it shall be lawful for such commissioners to remit the penalty or any part thereof. But nothing herein shall extend to prevent the commissioners from stamping any receipts allowed to be stamped, after the same shall be written and signed, under the like vircumstances, restrictions, and regulations, as such receipts may now be stamped; also it shall be lawful for the commissioners to make all such allowances as are by any acts now in force directed to be made, and are not, by this act, or the schedule hereto, varied er repealed.

All fines shall go to the use of his majesty, any thing in any act to the contrary notwithstanding. But commissioners may in every case in which any part of any fine is by any act given to any informer, give such part as they shall deem expedient to such informer.

Affidavits or affirmations relating to stamp duties, if not expressly provided for, shall be made before commissioners, &c. And persons swearing falsely shall be punished for, perjury, 55 Geo. 3. c. 184. s. 52, 53.

The regulation of former acts relating to agreements shall be applied only to such agreements as are hereby charged with a duty of 11. and the agreement hereby charged with a duty of 11. 15s. shall be subject to the same regulations as deeds. Instruments having wrong stamps, but of sufficient value, to be valid, except where stamps have been specially appropriated to any other instrument having its name on the face thereof, s. 9, 10.

Old stamps may be used to denote new duties; and two or more stamps to denote one duty, till single stamp provided. And stamps bearing the name of any instrument, are not to be used for any other. Paper, &c. stamped with former duties may be used for instrument charged with new duties of the same amount. Except stamps bearing the name of the instrument. Stamped paper &c. rendered use less by this act, may be exchanged or have additional stamps s. 4—6.

By 55 Geo. 3. c. 185. s. 6. persons forging any of the stamps, dies, or plates, imposed by any stamp act, or who shall forge any impression thereof, or shall knowingly sell or expose to sale, any paper, vellum, or other material whatsoever, having such forged impression thereon, shall respectively suffer death without benefit of clergy. And by s. 7. persons forging, or transporting or removing stamps of wrought gold or silver plate, or stamping base metal with such forged stamps, or selling plate stamped with forged dies, or without lawful excuse (proof whereof to lie on the party accused) having is their possession any such forged dies, shall suffer death without benefit clergy.

STANNARIES. See Cornwall.

STAPLE. The staple goods of England, are wool, woolfells, leather, lead, tin, cloth, butter, cheese, &c.

STAR-CHAMBER, was a very antient court, but new modelled afterwards by divers statutes. It consisted of several of the lords apiritual and temporal, being privy counsellors, together with two judges of the courts of common law, without the intervention of any jury. The legal jurisdiction extended over riots, perjury, misber haviour of public officers, and other notorious misdemeanours. By afterwards, having stretched the power beyond the utmost bounds of legality, at length this court became so odious, that it was finally abolished by the 16 Car. 1. c. 10. 4 Black. 264.

Copy official of any libel, allegation, answer, interrogatories, depositions, or inventory, 5s.

· Copy official of any interlocutory decree or order, or of any definitive sentence or final decree, 5s.

Decree, or order interlocutory, 11.

Depositions, 5s.

Exemplification, Sl.

Inhibition, 11.

Interrogatories, 5s.

Inventory, 5s.

Libel, 5s.

Monition, 11.

Recognizance, 11.

Relaxation of any attachment or inhibition, 11. 10s.

Sentence definitive, or final decree, 11. 10s.

Warrant, issuing out of the said courts, 15s.

Warrant to proctor, to commence or defend suit, 5s.

No. II. Proceedings in the Ecclesiastical Courts, and in High Courts of Delegates, in Ecclesiastical-matters, in England.

Affidavit, 5s.

Allegation, 5s.

Answer, 5s.

Appeal from final or interlocutory degree, 151.

Citation, 5s.

Commission, 5s.

Copy (Office) of any affidavit, 5s.

Copy (Office) of any citation or monition, 5s.

Copy (Office) of any libel, allegation, answer, interrogatories, de-

Copy (Office) of any interlocutory decree or order, or of any definitive sentence or final decree, 5s.

Decree final, 5s.

Depositions, 5s.

Exemplification, 31.

Inhibition, 5s.

Interrogatories, 54.

Inventory, 5s.

Libel, 50.

Monition, 5.

Sentence, 5s.

*Warrant, to any proctor, to carry on, or defend any suit, 5.

No. III. Proceedings in the courts of law and equity at Westminster, including the court of the ducky of Lancaster, and in other courts in England, and the offices belonging thereto, and also before the Lord Chancellor, in matters of bankruptcy and lunacy.

Actions in the courts of the lord mayor and sheriffs of London, and in the courts of all corporations, and other courts whatsoever, in England, holding pleas of forty shillings, and out of which no writs, process, or mandates issue, in the first instance;—for the entry of every action or plaint, except where the debt shall not amount to forty shillings, 2s. 6d.

Affidavit in any of the courts of law and equity at Westminster, great sessions or counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster and Durbam; or before any judge or master, or other officer of any of the said courts; or before the chancellor, in matters of bankruptcy or lanacy, 2s. 61.

Affidavit in any other court of law or equity, in England, except where the debt shall be under forty shillings, 1s. 6d.

Answer in any court of equity, 5s.

Appearance in any action at law, wherein no bail shall be filed, 2s. 6d.

Assignment of a bail bond, 2s. 6d.

Bail common in any court of law, 2s. 6d.

Bail, special, in any court of law, 2s. 6d.

Bail bond in any action at law, 2s. 6d.

Bankrupt's certificate;—the confirmation thereof, by the great seal, 2s. 6d.

Bill in equity, 5s.

Certificate by any master of chancery, or the remembrancer of the enchequer, or of any default of any person, 5s.

Commission to take affidavits or special bail, in any court of law or equity, 10s.

Commission of bankrupt, 5s.

Commission of lunacy, 5s.

Commission out of any court of law or equity, for examination of witnesses, or taking depositions, 5s.

Commission of any other kind, out of any court of law or equity, 5s. Copy (office) of any affidavit in any court of law or equity at West-minster, the great sessions, or counties palatine, or before any judge or master, or other officer of the said courts, or in matters of bank-ruptcy or lunacy, 2s. 6d.

Copy (office copy) of any affidavit, in any other court of law of equity, except where the debt shall be under forty shillings, le. Copy (office copy) of any bill any other degrees and other court of the copy (office copy) of any bill any other degrees.

plea, replication, rejoinder, or other pleading, or of any intercongatories, or depositions in any court, where such copy shall be write ten wide, and not contain more than 90 words in a sheet, one with another, for every sheet of paper on which written, 4d.

And where any such copy shall be written close copywise, accordering to the usage, then for every sheet, 2s. fid.

Copy of any declaration, plea, replication, rejoinder, demucrar, or other pleading, in any court of law, 4d.

Copy (office copy) of interrogatories and of depositions thereto in a court of law, containing not more than 72 words in a sheet, 4d.

Copy (office copy) of any rule or order, in any court of law at Westminster, or by any judge of such court, 2s. 6d.

Copy (office copy) of any decree, dismission, or order, made in the high court of chancery at Westminster, or in any matter of banks ruptcy or lunacy, 3s.

And for every sheet of paper on which any such copy shall be written, after the first, a further daty of 1s. 6d-

Copy (office copy) of any decree, dismission, or order, in the court of exchequer, or ducky of Lancaster, at Westminster, or the courts of the great sessions in Wales, or of the counties palatine, 2s. 6d.

Copy (office copy) or extract of any record, report, or proceeding in any court of law or equity at Westminster not otherwise charged, 2s.

Declaration in any court of law, 4d.

Decree or dismission in chancery, Se.

And for every sheet, on which the same shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 1s. 6d.

Decree or dismission, in the court of exchequer, or court of the duchy of Laucaster, at Westminster; or in any of the courts of great sessions in Wales, or counties palatine, or in any other court of equity whatsoever, 2s. 6d.

Demurrer in any court of law, 4d.

Demurrer in any court of equity, 5s.

Depositions taken by virtue of a commission out of any court of equity (except the paper drafts before ingressed), 5s.

Depositions in any court of equity, taken by the examiner, or other proper officer, and not by commission, 4d.

Depositions to interrogatories at law, 4d.

Exceptions filed in any court of equity, or in any matter of bankruptcy or lunacy, 5s.

Exemplification, under the seal of any court of law or equity whatever, of any record or proceeding therein (except exemplifications under the great seal charged in the first part of this school dule, 3L

Grant of the custody of the person or estate of any lunatic, 2L

Indentures or chirograph of a fine levied in any court, for each part or indenture, 10s.

Inquisition taken before any sheriff or his deputy, or before any coroner in any action at law, 10s.

Interrogatories in any court of law, 5s.

Interrogatories in any court of equity, or matter of bankruptcy or lunacy, 5s.

Judgment (not interlocutory) signed by the master, or his deputy or secondary, or by any prothonotary or his secondary, deputy, of elerk, or by any other officer belonging to any of the courts at West-minuter, authorized to sign judgments, 10s.

Order in the court of chancery or by the chancellor, in any mainter of bankruptcy or lunney, 3s.

And for every sheet of paper on which the same shall be written, after the first, a further duty of 1s. 6d.

Order in the court of exchequer, or duchy of Lancaster at West minster, or in any of the courts of the great sessions, or counties prolatine, 2s. 6d.

Order made by any judge of any of the courts of law at Westmisster, 2s. 6d.

Except on the application of any prisoner or insolvent debter, and except orders for the delivery of the particulars of the plaintiff demand, or for staying proceedings on payment of debt and cost, and all orders for time to plead, reply, or rejoin, after the first order.

Petition in any of the courts of equity at Westminster, or to the chancellor, in any mutter of hankruptcy or lunacy, 2s. 4d.

Plea in any court of law, 6d.

Plea in any court of equity, 5s. 4d.

Pleading of any kind, in any court of law, not otherwise charged. Pleading of any kind, in any court of equity, not otherwise charged, 5s.

Pestea, 10e.

Record of nisi prius, 10s.

Rejoinder in any court of law.

Rejoinder in any court of equity, br. 4d.

Replication in any court of law.

Replication in any court of equity, 5s. 4d.

Report made by any master of chancery, or by the remembrance in the exchequer, 2s. 6d.

Rule or order, in any of the courts of law at Westminster, which shall be issued by the clerk of the rules, or other officer, 2s. 6d.

And for the entry of every such rule or order in the book kept by the clerk of the rules for that purpose, 2s. 6d.

Rules to plead, and reply to other rules, in the course of a cause in any of the courts of law at Westminster, entered in the book kept by the clerk of the rules, for that purpose; for the entry of every such rule, 2s. 6d.

Summers issued by any judge of any of the courts of law at Western minster, 1s.

Except on the application of any prisoner or insolvent debter, and summonses for the delivery of the particulars of the plaintiff's demand, or for staying proceedings on payment of debt and costs, and summonses for time to plead, reply, or rejoin, after the first.

Warrant to any attorney or solicitor, to carry on, or defend any suit, in any court whatsoever, holding pleas, where the debt or dammage amounts to forty shillings; for the memorandum thereof to be filed of record, 5s.

Warrant, or summons, issued by any master of chancery, or the remembrancer of the exchequer, Is.

Warrant of attorney, 11.

Writ of appeal, 1L

Writ of certiorari, 11.

Writ of covenant for levying a fine, 21.

Writ of entry for suffering a common recovery, 2L

Writ of error, 11.

Writ of supersedeas of a commission of bankrupt, 2s. 6d.

Writ, mandate, or other process whatsoever, not otherwise charged, which shall issue out of, or pass the seal of any of the courts at Westminster, the great sessions in Wales, the counties palatine, or any other court in England holding pleas, where the debt or damage amounts to 40s. except in actions where the debt, damage, or thing shall be under the value of forty shillings, 5s.

No. IV. Proceedings in the Courts in Scotland.

Affidavit in the exchequer, 2s.

Deposition, 2s.

Deposition taken by commission, 2s.

Exemptions.—Depositions taken in any suit, at the instance of the public prosecutor, or before any inferior court, for a sum under the public of 51. sterling, exclusive of costs.

quer, or high court of admiralty, except at the suit of the public prosecutor, or where the remains is concerned, 4s.

Summons, warrant, precept, edict, summary petition, complaint, or other original application in any court, (other than the court of sessions, tiends, and exchequer, and high court of admiralty and court of justiciary), where the matter shall exceed the value of five pounds, 2s.

Warrant to any solicitor, attorney, agent, or procurater, to commence or defend any suit, 5s.

General exemptions from the duties on law proceedings under the 46 Geo. S. c. 149 .- Warrants to carry on or defend any suits, in any court whatever, where the debt shall not amount to forty shillings. Or upon indictments or information in the name of his majesty, or at the instance of the attorney general, lord advocate of Scotland, or other officer authorised to prosecute in the name or for the in terest of his majesty. (But these exemptions do not extend to informations in nature of quo warranto, in the king's bench; nor to it formations in courts of equity, at the relation of private persons; por to informatious, where any other person than his majesty, shall be entitled to any penalty or share thereof.) All proceedings on hebalf of persons admitted to sue or defend in forma pauperis; proceeding of courts martial; before any commissioners of sewers, or in the standary courts. All summonses, attachments, executions, and other proceedings, in courts, for the recovery of debts not exceeding fit pounds, called courts of requests.

The following are principal general clauses in the old and new Stamp Acts.

By the 44 Geo. 3. c. 96. in any case where it shall appear to the commissioners of stamp duties, upon oath or affirmation, that any instrument, matter, or thing whatsoever, (except bills of exchange, promissory or other notes, drafts, orders, or receipts, required by law to be on stamped vellum, parchment, or paper) hath been engressed, printed, or written on vellum, parchment, or paper, and duly stamped with a stamp of the value required, either by accident or inadvertency, or from urgent necessity or unavoidable circumstances, and without any wilful delay by intention in any party thereto to evade the duties, and such instrument shall be brought to the commissioners to be stamped within twelve months after the execution thereof, it shall be lawful for such commissioners to remit the penulty or any part thereof. But nothing herein shall extend to prevent the commissioners from stamping any receipts allowed to be stamped, after the same shall be written and signed, under the like circumstances, restrictions, and regulations, as such receipts may now be stamped; also, it shall be lawful for the commissioners to make all such allowances as are by any acts now in force directed to be made, and are not, by this act, or the schedule hereto, varied: or repealed.

All fines shall go to the use of his majesty, any thing in any act to the contrary notwithstanding. But it shall be lawful for the commissioners in every case in which any part of any fine is by any act given to any informer, to give such part as they shall deem expedient to any person who may inform or assist in the recovery.

By 48 Geo. 3. c. 149. no stamp appropriated to denote the duty charged upon any particular instrument, and bearing the name of such instrument on the face thereof, shall be used for denoting any other duty of the same amount, or, if so used, the same shall be of no avail.

But stamped paper, &c. rendered useless by this or any former act, shall be exchanged or have additional stamps.

The regulation of former acts relating to agreements shall be applied only to such agreements as are hereby charged with a duty of 16s. and the agreement hereby charged with a duty of 1l. 10s. shall be subject to the same regulations as deeds; and all agreements for granting leases stamped with the duty, payable in respect of leases, shall be as valid as if the same had been stamped with the proper agreement stamp, and all other agreements charged with a duty of 16s. shall be valid if stamped with a duty of 1l. 10s.

If any person shall make, sign, or issue, or cause to be made, signed, or issued, or shall accept or pay, or cause to be accepted or paid, any bill of exchange, draft, or order, or promissory note, for the payment of money, liable to any of the duties imposed by this act, without the same being duly stamped for denoting the duty charged thereon, he shall forfeit 501.

If any person shall make and issue, or cause to be made and issued, any bill, draft, or order for the payment of money, to the bearer on demand, upon any banker, or person acting as a banker, which shall be dated on any day subsequent to the day on which it shall be issued, or which shall not truly specify the place where it shall be issued, or which shall not in every respect fall within the exemption reaspecting drafts on bankers, and unless the same shall be stamped as a bill of exchange, the person so offending shall forfeit 1001. and if any person shall knowingly receive or take any such bill, draft, or order, he shall forfeit 201. and if any banker, or person acting as a banker, apon whom any such bill, draft, or order shall be drawn, shall pay, knowing the same to be post-dated, or knowing that the place where it was issued, is not truly set forth therein, or knowing that the same does not, in any other respect, fall within the said exemption, then the banker, or person so offending, shall forfeit 1001. and moreover not be allowed the money so paid, in account with the principal.

If any person shall receive or take any note, bill, draft, or order, allowed to be re-issued in payment of or as a security for the matherein expressed, knowing the same to be re-issued contrary to the intent of this act, he shall forfeit 20%.

All promissory notes, and bills of the bank of England, shall be exempted from the duties on paying into the hands of the receiver general of the stamp duties, the yearly sum of forty-two thousand pounds, the said yearly compensation to be reduced by the sum of four thousand pounds, when they shall cease to issue promisery notes for less than two pounds.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 143. persons forging any of the stamps, dies of plates, imposed by any stamp act, or who shall forge any impression thereof, or shall knowingly sell or expose to sale, any paper, vellum, or other material whatsoever having such forged impression thereon, shall respectively suffer death without benefit of clergy.

8. 7.

Persons forging, or transporting or removing stamps on wronght gold or silver plate, or stamping base metal with such forged stamps, or selling plate stamped with forged dies, or without lawful excuse (proof whereof to lie on the party accused) having in their possession any such forged dies, shall suffer death without benefit of clergy. 8.8.

STANNARIES. See Cornwall.

STAPLE. The staple goods of England, are wool, woolsells, leather, lead, tin, cloth, butter, cheese, &c.

STAR-CHAMBER, was a very antient court, but new modelled afterwards by divers statutes. It consisted of several of the lorda apiritual and temporal, being privy counsellors, together with two judges of the courts of common law, without the intervention of any jury. The legal jurisdiction extended over riots, perjury, misbehaviour of public officers, and other notorious misdemeanours. But afterwards, they stretched their power beyond the utmost bounds of legality, vindicating all the encroachments of the crown in granting monopolies, in issuing proclamations which should have the force of laws, in punishing small offences, or no offences at all, but of their own creating, by exorbitant fines, imprisonment, and corporal severities; until at last this court became so odious, that it was finally abolished by the 16 Car. 1, c. 10. 4 Black. 264.

STATUTE, is a written law, made with the concurrence of the king and both houses of parliament, 2 Bac. Abr. 683.

Divers acts of parliament have attempted to bar, restrain, suspend, qualify, or make void, the acts of subsequent parliaments: but this could never be effected, for a latter parliament hath ever power to abrogate, suspend, qualify or make void, the acts of a former, in the whole, or any part thereof, notwithstanding any words of restraint or prohibition in the acts of the former. 4 Inst. 43.

When a statute is repealed, all acts done under it, while it was in force, are good: but if it is declared null all these are void. Jenk. 233. pl. 6.

Where a statute before perpetual, is continued by an affirmative statute, for a time, this does not amount to a repeal of it at the end of that time. Lord Raym. 397.

Where two acts contradictory to each other, are passed in the same session, the latter only shall take effect. 5 Mod. 287.

All statutes now take effect from the time of their date, unless the contrary be specified in the hody of the act of parliament.

STATUTE MERCHANT, is a bond of record, acknowledged before one of the clerks of the statute merchant, and lord mayor of the city of London, or two merchants of the said city, for that purpose assigned, or before the mayor or warden of the towns, or other discreet men for that purpose assigned. This recognizance is to be entered on a roll, which must be double, one part to remain with the mayor, and the other with a clerk, who shall write with his own hand a bill obligatory, to which a seal of the king for that purpose appointed, shall be affixed, together with the seal of the debtor. 2 Bac. Abr. 331.

The design of this security, was to promote and encourage trade, by providing a sure and speedy remedy for merchant strangers, as well as natives, to recover their debts at the day assigned for payment.

But though the statute merchant seems first to be introduced, and wholly calculated for the ease and benefit of merchants, as the name itself imports; yet they were not long engrossed by them, for other men finding from their own observation, that they have much of the same nature with judgments in Westminster hall, but obtained with less trouble and expense, out of regard to their own interest and quiet, easily fell into this way of contracting, and by degrees it came to be improved into a common assurance, as we find it at this day. Winch. 83. See Insurance.

STATUTE STAPLE, is a bond of record, acknowledged before the mayor of the staple, in the presence of all or one of the comwith selony within clergy, discovering two receivers, shall be entitled to his unjesty pardon. Ibid. But this act shall not repeal any former law for punishing such offenders.

STORES. If any person who has the charge or custody, of any of the king's armour, ordnance, ammunition, shot, powder, or habiliments of war, or of any victuals for victualling the navy, shall to hinder his majesty's service, embezzle, purloin, or convey away the same to the value of 20s. or shall steal or embezzle any of his majesty's sails, cordage, or any other of his naval stores, to the value of 20s. he shall be adjudged guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. 22 Car. 2. c. 5.

The treasurer, comptroller, surveyor, clerk of the acts, or any commissioner of the navy may act as justices in causing the offender to be apprehended, committed, and prosecuted for the same.—
9 Geo. 3. c. 30.

If any person shall wilfully and maliciously set on fire, burn, or destroy, any of his majesty's military, naval, or victualling stores, or other ammunition of war, or any place, where any such stores or ammunition shall be kept: he and his abettors, shall be guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. 12 Geo. 3. c. 24.

By 39 and 40 Geo. 3. c. 89. every person (not being a contractor) who shall sell or receive any new stores of war, or who shall conceal them, shall be deemed a receiver of stolen goods, and as such transported for fourteen years, unless he produces on the trial, a certificate from the navy board, ordnance, or victualling. s. 1.

Persons in whose custody shall be found canvas or buntin, with a scrpentine blue streak (not being charged to be new, or not more than one-third worn), and persons who shall be convicted of any offence contrary to 9 and 10 Will. 3. shall besides the forfeiture thereby imposed, suffer corporal punishment; but the judge or justices may mitigate the penalty of 2001. as they see cause. But nothing herein, or in the act of Will. 3. shall exempt contractors or others, except so far as concern naval stores, which shall not have been before delivered into the king's stores, unless they have been sold or returned by the commissioners. s. 2, 3.

If any person shall deface any mark denoting the property of the crown in any stores, or shall employ any person so to do, he shall be guilty of felony, and transported for fourteen years. And if any person convicted of any offence contrary to this act, for which he shall not have been transported, or contrary to the act of Will. 3. shall be convicted of a second offence, which would not as the first, subject him to transportation, he shall be transported for fourteen years. 8. 4, 5.

Persons returning from transportation, under this act, shall suffer as felons without clergy. But the court may unitigate the punishment of transportation by pillory, whipping, fine, or imprisonment; and fines are to be applied, one half to the informer, and one half to the king. s. 6, 7.

If any person shall discover to the navy, ordnance, or victualling boards, or apprehend, any offender guilty of stealing or embezzling his majesty's stores, or of any offence against the act of Will. 3. or this, which shall not be prosecuted in a summary way, he shall on conviction, receive a reward of 20% over his share of the penalty, if not more than that sum. s. 8.

If any dispute shall arise as to the title to such reward, it shall be determined by any of the commissioners of the boards. And such reward shall be paid on certificate from the officer of the court where the offender shall be tried, for which he may charge 5s. s. 9, 10.

Any commissioner of the navy, ordnance or victualling, or any justice of the peace, may grant warrants for searching places, when oath is made that there is reason to suspect that king's stores are concealed (and if any stores or goods, marked as herein before, or in the act of Will. 3. mentioned, shall be found, the offender shall be dealt with according to law); and if upon such search, or any seizure of stores or goods marked as aforesaid, any not marked shall be found, suspected to belong to the king, and the party shall not give a satisfactory account thereof, they shall be forfeited, and he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. And the persons deputed by the commissioners of the navy, ordnance, or victualling, may detain any craft in which may be suspected to be contained any articles stolen from his majesty's stores, and the parties, who shall be dealt with according to law respecting marked stores; and those not marked, suspected to belong to the crown, not satisfactorily accounted for, shall be forfeited, and the party deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and if the person be convicted of stealing marked articles, or adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor with respect to unmarked ones, the craft in which found shall be forfeited. Person so deputed, may detain any craft, in which may be suspected to be contained any articles stolen from his majesty, and the parties, who shall be dealt with according to law, respecting marked stores; and those not marked, suspected to belong to his majesty, and not satisfactorily accounted for, shall be forfeited, and the party deemed guilty of a misdemennor. And if the person be convicted of stealing marked articles, or adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, with respect to unmarked ones, the craft in which found shall be forfeited. s. 11, 12.

Persons so deputed, or any police or peace officer, may apprehend persons suspected of having stolen articles, and may seize the articles, and convey them and the parties before a justice, and the like proceedings shall be had as with respect to stores found in any craft. Articles herein declared to be forfeited, on the parties not giving a satisfactory account of them, shall be returned into his majesty's stores, and applied for his use, unless proof be made within three months to the contrary. s. 13, 14.

The commissioner or justice, by whom any craft shall be adjudged to be forfeited, shall issue his warrant to the officers of the customs for the sale thereof, who shall cause it and the furniture to be sold publicly; and the produce shall be paid to the commissioner or justice, and disposed of, one half to the seizer of the craft, and the other to the treasurer of the navy if naval stores, or the treasurer of the ordnance if ordnance stores. s. 15.

Persons guilty of misdemeanors, shall forfeit, for the first offence, 40s.; for the second, 5l.; for the third, 10l.; which may be levied by distress: to be applied, one half to the informer, and one half to the navy or ordnance board; and if distress cannot be found, the effender, who shall be kept in custody, shall be committed for three months. Adjudications in misdemeanors, shall be certified to the next general or quarter sessions, and shall be final. s. 16, 17.

Any commissioner of the navy, ordnance, or victualling, or justice of the peace, may determine any complaint against persons, not being contractors, for unlawfully selling or receiving stores not exceeding 90s. value, and may fine the offender 10t. Which fine shall be levied by distress, and applied, one half to the informer, and one half to the navy board, or ordnance; and if sufficient distress cannot be found, the offender may be committed to the common gaol, or in lieu of the fine, may be kept to hard labour for three months; the commissioner or justice shall pay over the fines received within thirty days, or forfeit 50t. and double costs by action, half to the king and half to the informer. And the fine of 10t. may be mitigated to one half bestides expenses. s. 18, 19.

If instead of a fine the offender be imprisoned, the informer shall receive 5L reward from the navy or ordnance board, upon production of a certificate from the commissioner or justices who convicted him. But no summary proceedings are to be had before any justice without the consent of the commissioners of the navy, ordnance, or victualling. s. 20.

Persons thinking themselves aggrieved by any judgment touching stores under the value of 20s. may appeal to the quarter sessions; but no certification. And all witnesses neglecting to attend, shall forfeit 10t. s. 22, 23.

Nothing herein shall prevent parties, accused of selling or receiving stores under the value of 20s. from being presecuted as receivers of stolen goods, so as offenders be not twice punished for the same offence. And the commissioners may sell marked stores, and the buyers may keep them without incurring any penalty, on producing a certificate of their having bought them. s. 24, 25.

Penalty for giving or publishing false certificates 2001, and corporate publishment, and penalty to go half to the king and half to the informer. s. 26.

If any person shall be sued for any seizure, and shall prove on the trial that the stores were marked, or if not marked might be sue-pected to belong to the king, or if the plaintiff shall not prove that be had a certificate, the defendant shall be acquitted. s. 27.

The commissioners shall have the benefit given to justices of the peace by 7 Jac. 1. c. 5. 21 Jac. 1. c. 12. and 24 Geo. 2. c. 44.; and the peace officers acting under them, shall have the protection of the said acts. s. 28.

Persons forswearing themselves shall be liable to the pains of wilful perjury. s. 36.

STRANDED, ships stranded: See Insurance Marine.

STRANGER, a person born out of the land. See Alien.

STYLE, to call, name, or entitle one.

SUBJECTS, the members of the commonwealth and the king their head, SUBMARSHAL, an officer in the marshalsea, who is deputy to the chief marshal of the king's house, commonly called the knight marshal, and bath the custody of the prisoners there.

. SUBORNATION, a secret or underhand preparing, instructing, or bringing in a false witness, or corrupting or aliuring to do such a false act. See PERJURY.

SUBPŒNA, is a writ whereby all persons under the degree of peerage, are called into chancery, in such case only where the common law fails, and hath made no provision; so as the party who in equity hath wrong, can have no other remedy by the rules and course of common law. But the peers of the realm in such cases, are called by the lord chancellor's, or lord keeper's letters, giving notice of the suit intended against them, and requiring them to appears There is also a subpæna ad testificandum for the summoning of witnesses as well in chancery as other courts.

There is also a subpæna in the exchequer, as well in the court of equity there as in the office of pleas.

By the 45 Geo. 3 c. 92, service of subpana on parties or witnesses in any part of the United Kingdom shall be valid to compel appearance in any part. s. 2. And the expense of attendance on writs of suspense shall be tendered to witnesses. s. 3.

SUBSIDY, an aid, tax, or tribute, granted by parliament to the king, for the argent occasions of the kingdom, to be levied on every subject of ability, according to the value of his laads or goods.

SUBSTANCE, the substance of things is most to be regarded; and therefore our law prefers matter of substance, before matter of eigenstance.

SUCCESSOR, he who follows or comes in another's place.

An aggregate corporation may have a fee-simple estate in mecasion, without the word successors; and take goods and chattels in action or pomession, and they shall go to the successors. Week's Inst. 111.

SUFFERANCE. Tenant at sufferance, is he who holdeth over his term at first lawfully granted. A person is tenant at sufferance who continues after his estate is ended, and wrongfully holds against another, &c. 1 Co. Inst. 57.

Tenauts holding over, after determination of their term, and after demand made in writing to deliver possession, are rendered liable to pay double the yearly value. And tenants giving notice of their intention to quit, and not accordingly delivering up the possession at the time in such notice contained, are rendered liable to pay double rent. And it bath been held, that under this act, the notice need not be in writing, and that the landlord may levy his double rent by distress. Bur. 1608.

SUFFRAGAN, a titular bishop, appointed to aid and assist the bishop of the diocese.

SUGGESTION, a surmise or representation of a thing.

Though matters of record ought not to be stayed upon the bars suggestion of the party, there ought to be an affidavit made of the matter suggested, to induce the court to grant a rule for staying the proceedings upon the record. 2 Lil. Abr. 536.

SUICIDE, or SELF-MURDER. See Felo de se.

SUIT, is used in divers senses; first in a suit of law, and is divided into real and personal, and is the same with action real, and personal; secondly, suit of court, or suit acrvice, is an attendance that tenants owe to the court of their lord. Thirdly, suit of covenant, where the ancestor hath covenanted with another, to sue to his court. Fourthly, suit custom, when a man and his ancestors have been spized time out of mind, of his suit. Fifthly, suit real, or regal, when men come to the sheriff's torn or leet. Sixthly, suit significate the following one in chase, as fresh suit. Lastly, it signifies a pertition made to the king or any great person. Comel.

SUIT OF COURT, that is, suit to the lord's court, is that service which the feudatory tenant was bound to do at the lord's court.

SUIT OF THE KING'S PEACE, is the pursuing a man for the breach of the king's peace, by treason, insurrections or trespasses.

SUMMONER, a petty officer who calls or cites a man to any court.

SUMMONS, in general, to a writ to the sheriff to warn one to ap-

There is a summons in writs of formidon, &c. and on every summons upon the land in a real action, fourteen days before the return, proclamation is to be made thereof on a Sunday, at or near the door of the church or chapel of the place where the land lies, which must be returned with the names of the summoners, and if such proclamation shall not be had, then no grand cape shall issue, but an alies and pluries summons, until a summons and proclamation be duly made and returned. 2 Lil. Abr. 538.

SUMMONS AND SEVERANCE. The summons is only a process, which must in certain cases, issue before judgment of severance can be given.

Severance is a judgment, by which, where two or more are joined in an action, one or more of these are enabled to proceed in such action without the other or others. See Joint Tenant and Severance.

SUNDAY. No arrest can be made or process served upon a Sunday, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace, nor can any proceedings be had, nor judgment given, nor supposed to be given on Sunday.

SUPER INSTITUTION, one institution upon another; as where A. is admitted and instituted to a benefice upon one title, and B. is admitted, instituted, &c. by the presentment of another.

SUPER JURARE, when a criminal endeavoured to excuse himself by his own oath, or by the oath of one or two witnesses, and the crime was so notorious, that he was convicted by the oaths of many more witnesses, this was called super jurare.

SUPER PRÆROGATIVA REGIS, a writ which antiently lay against the king's widow, for marrying without his license.

SUPERSEDEAS, a writ that lies in a great many cases, and signifies in general, a command to stay proceedings, on good cause shewn, which ought otherwise to proceed.

By a supersedeas, the doing of a thing, which might otherwise have been lawfully done, is prevented; or a thing that has been done, is (notwithstanding it was done in a due course of law) thereby made roid. A Bac. Abr. 667.

A supersedent is either expressed or implied; an express supersect deas, is sometimes by writ, sometimes without a writ; where it is by writ, some person to whom the writ is directed, is thereby commanded to forbear the doing something therein mentioned, or if the thing has been already done, to revoke, as that can be done, the act. 4 Bac. Abr. 668.

SUPER STATUTO DE ARTICULIS CLERI, a writ lying against the sheriff or other officer, who distrains in the king's highway, or in the glebe land antiently given to rectories.

SUPERSTITIOUS USES. See Mortmain.

SUPPLICAVIT, a writ issuing out of the chancery, for taking the surety of the peace against a man: it is directed to the justices of the peace of the county, and the sheriffs.

SUPREMACY. See King and Papists.

SURCHARGE OF THE FOREST, is when a commoner puts on more beasts in the forest, than he has a right to do.

SURETY OF THE PEACE. A justice of the peace may according to his discretion, bind all those to keep the peace, who in his presence shall make any affray, or shall threaten to kill or be to any person, or shall contend together in hot words, and all those who shall go about with unlawful weapons, or attendance, to the terror of the people; and all such persons as shall be known by him to be common barrators; and all who shall be brought before him by a constable, for a breach of the peace in the presence of such constable; and all such persons, who having been before bound to keep the peace, shall be convicted of having forfeited their recognizance. Lamb. 77.

When surety of the peace is granted by the court of king's bench, if a supersedent come from the court of chancery to the justices of that court, their power is at an end; and the party as to them discharged.

If security of the peace be desired against a peer, the safest way is to apply to the court of chancery, or king's beach. 1 Ham. 127.

If the person against whom security of the peace be demanded, be present, the justice of the peace may commit him immediately, unless he offer sureties; and a fortiori he may be commanded to find mreties, and be committed for not doing it.

Where one is surety for another, and the surety has become a bankrupt, and the creditor has claimed to prove under his commission, his right to do so has been held to depend upon the surety's engagement to the creditor being absolute at the time of the bank-uptcy. I Term Rep. 17. But if the engagement is collateral, and depending upon a contingency, the debt cannot be proved under a commission against the surety. Dougles Rep. 160. Comp. Rep. 460.

By the 49 Geo. 3. c. 121. in all cases of commissions of bankrupt already issued, under which no dividend bas yet been made, or under which the creditors, who have not proved, can receive a dividend equally in proportion to their respective debts without disturbing any dividend already made, and in all cases of commissions of bankrupts hereafter to be issued, where at the time of issuing the commission any person shall be surety for or be liable for any debt of the bankrupt, it shall be lawful for such surety or person liable, if he shall bave paid the debt, or any part thereof in discharge of the whole debt, although he may have paid the same after the commission shall have issued, and the creditor shall have proved his debt under the commission, to stand in the place of the creditor as to the dividends upon such proof, and when the creditor shall not have proved under the commission, it shall be lawful for such surety, or person liable, to prove his demand in respect of such payment as a debt under the commission, not disturbing the former dividends, and to receive a dividend or dividends proportionably with the other creditors taking the benefit of such commission, notwithstanding such ! person may have become surety or liable for the debt of the bankrupt after an act of bankruptcy bad been committed by such bank, rupt, provided that such person had not at the time when he became such surety, or when he so became liable for the debt of such bankrupt, notice of any act of bankruptcy by such bankrupt committed, or that he was insolvent, or had stopped payment; provided always. that the issuing a commission of bankrupt, although such commission shall afterwards be superseded, shall be deemed such notice: and every person against whom any such commission of bankrupt has been or shall be awarded, and who has obtained or shall obtain his certificate, shall be discharged of all demands at the suit of every such person having so paid, or being hereby enabled to prove as sforesaid, or to stand in the place of such creditor as aforcsaid, with regard to his deht in respect of such suretyship or liability, in like manner to all intents and purposes as if such person had been a creditor before the bankruptcy of the bankrupt for the whole of the debt in respect of which he was surety or was so liable as aforesuid. s. 8.

SURETY OF THE GOOD BEHAVIOUR, includes the peace; and he that is bound to the good behaviour, is therein also bound to the peace: and yet a man may be compelled to find sureties both for the good behaviour and peace. Dalt. c. 122. See Good Behaviour.

SUR LUI JUR, upon his oath.

SURMISE, something offered to a court to move it, to grant a prohibition, audita querela, or other writ grantable thereon.

SURPLUSAGE, a superfluity or addition more than needful, which sometimes is the cause that a writ abates; but in pleading, many times it is absolutely void, and the residue of the plea shall stand good. Ploud. 63.

SURREBUTTER, a second rebutter.

SUR-REJOINDER, as a rejoinder is the defendant's answer to the replification of the plaintiff; so a sur-rejoinder is the plaintiff answer to the defendant's rejoinder. Wood's Inst. 586.

SURRENDER, a deed or instrument, testifying that the particular tenant of lands or tenements for life, or years, doth sufficiently consent and agree, that he which has the next or immediate remainder or reversion thereof, shall also have the present estate of the same in possession; and that he yields and gives up the same unto him; for every surrenderer ought forthwith to give possession of the things surrendered. West. Sym.

SURROGATE, one who is substituted or appointed in the ross of another; as the bishop or chancellor's surrogate.

SURVIVOR, signifies the longer liver of two joint tenants.

SUSPENSION, that suspension which relates solely to the clefg, is suspension from office and benefice jointly, or from office or benefice singly, and may be called a temporary degradation or deprivation, or both.

SUSPICION, a person may be taken up on suspicion, where a felony is done, &c. but those who are imprisoned for a light suspicion of larceny or robbery, are bailable by statute. 2 Haw. 101.

SWANS. See Gams.

SWANIMOTE, or SWAINMOTE. See Forest.

SWBARING AND CURSING, is punishable by fine on oath of one witness before any justice of peace, or before any mayor, justice, bailiff, or other chief magistrate, of any city or town corporate.

8WINDLERS. By 33 Hen. 8. c. 1. persons obtaining snother's money, goods, or other things, by any false token, or counterfeit letter, shall suffer imprisonment, pillory, or any corporal punishment, as the court, on conviction, shall adjudge. And by 30 Geo. 2. c. 24. persons convicted of obtaining money or goods by false pretences, or of sending threatening letters in order to extort money or goods, may be punished by fine and imprisonment, or by pillory, whipping, or transportation.

SYNOD, a meeting or assembly of ecclesiastical persons concerning religion.

SYNODALES TESTES, synodsmen. See Sidesmen.

T

ABLE RENTS, rents paid to bishops, &c. appropriated to their table or house keeping. See Board Land Rents.

TABLING OF FINES, is the making a table for every county where his majesty's writ runs, comprising the contents of every fine passed in any one term; as the name of the county, towns and places, wherein the lands or tenements lie; the name of the demandant and deforceant, and of every manor named in the fine.

TAIL. See Estate.

TAIL AFTER POSSIBILITY OF ISSUE EXTINCT. See Estate.

TALES, is used in law for a supply of men impanelled on a jury, and not appearing, or on their appearance challenged and disallowed, when the judge upon motion orders a supply to be made by the sheriff of one or more such persons present in court, to make up a full jury.

TALLEY, a stick cut in two parts; each of which is marked by notches or otherwise, what was due between debtor and creditor; and this was the antient way of keeping all accounts.

TAVERN. See Alchouses and Inns.

TAX, may now be defined to be a certain aid, subsidy, or supply, granted by the commons of Great Britain in parliament assembled, constituting the king's extraordinary revenue, and paid yearly towards the expenses of government. 1 Black. c. 8.

ASSESSED TAXES, extracted from the Schedules of the various Acts of Parliament by which they are imposed.

I. DUTY ON MALR SERVANTS.

Schedule (C. No. 1.) of the Duties annually payable for every Male Servant retained or employed by any person in the several capacities mentioned herein.

	NUMBER OF SERVANTS.	Amount of Duty for each Ser- vant. 49 G.S. c. 55.	al Duty, 52 Geo. 3.	Total Amount.
		L. s. d.	L. s. d.	L. s. d.
For 1 se	ervant		0 4 0	8 8 0
2	do	8 16 0	0 6 0	3 9 0
3	do	970	0 9 0	3 16 0
•	do ,	9 18 0	0 9 0	4 7 0
8	do	4 9 0	0 9 0	4 18 0
5	do	4 14 0	0 9 0	5 5 0
7	do		0 9 0	5 5 0
8	do	5 3 0	0 9 0	5 19 0
9	40	5 18 0	0 10 0	6 2 0
10	do	6 3 0	0 10 0	6 13 0
11	40 and unwards	7 1 0	0 18 0	7 13 0
For eve	do. and npwards	7.0		, 13
furth	er sum of	1 11 0	0 6 0	2 0 0

Schedule (C. No. 2.) contains the Duties payable for Male Servants retained or employed in the the several capacities herein mentioned.

For every gardener or person employed to work in any garden, under any person chargeable to the duties mentioned in the schedule (C. No. 1): (and for every gardener who shall have contracted for the keeping of any garden, wherein the constant labour of one person shall not be necessary, 50 Geo. 3. c. 104.) the sum of 6s.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 4s.—Total amount, 10s.

To be paid by each person in whose garden such person shall be employed.

Exemptions from the Duties as set forth in Schedule (C.)
No. 1 and 2.

Any person employed by the day or week to work as a day isbourer, at the usual rate of wages for day labourers in agriculture, in any garden belonging to a dwelling-house, being a farm-house, and exempted as such from the duties on houses, or in any garden belonging to a dwelling-house not chargeable to the duties mentioned in the said schedule, such garden not requiring the constant labour of one such labourer.

Schedule (C. No. 3.) Duties payable annually for every Male Perses or Servant retained or employed in the several capacities hereis mentioned.

For every male person employed by any merchant or trader at a TRAVELLER or RIDER, the following duties, viz.

Where one and no more shall be so employed, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 21. 8s. — Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 12s. — Total amount, 31.

And where more than one shall be so employed, for each, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 3l. 5s.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 1l. 10s.—Total amount, 5l.

For every male person employed by any person in trade, or exercising any profession whatever, as a clerk or book-keeper, or office-keeper, except apprentices, where no premium, or a premium less in value than the sum of 201. has been paid or contracted for with such apprentice, the duties following, viz.

Where one and no more shall be so employed, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 11. 4s. — Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 16s. — Total amount, 21.

And where more than one shall be so employed, for each, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 21. 8s.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 12s.—Total amount, 31.

For every male person employed as a steward, bailiff, overseer, or manager, or clerk under a steward, bailiss, overseer, or manager, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 21.

For every male person employed by any person in trade as a shop-man, for the purpose of exposing to sale or selling goods, wares, or merchandize in such shop or warehouse, whether by wholesale or retail; and every male person employed as a warehouseman, porter or cellarman in such shop or warehouse, except apprentices, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 24 4s.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 16s.—Total amount, 31.

And for every male person so employed, where the duty by the former act shall not be chargeable, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 24

The said duties to be paid by the employer, and to extend to every body politic or corporate, and to every society, fraternity or partnership, although not corporate; and to every manufacture or concern (except husbandry) whereby the employer shall seek a profit.

For every male servant employed as a waiter (except occasional waiters, above the ordinary number usually kept) in any taverns, coffee-bouses, or in hotels or lodging-houses, being eating or victualling bouses, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. the sum of 24. 5s.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 15s.—Total amount, 31.

And for every male person so employed, when the duty by the former act shall not be chargeable, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 31.

Occasional waiters for six calendar months, 52 Geo. S. c. 93. 2/.

Occasional waiters employed for less than six calendar months, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 11.

Every male person (not being a servant) employed as an occasional waiter in any private house, not less than six months within the year, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 11.

For every male servant retained by any stable-keeper to take care of any horse, mare, or gelding, of any other person, kept for the purpose of racing or running, for any plate, prize, sum of money, or other thing, or any horse in training for any of the said purposes, whereby such stable-keeper shall gain a livelihood or profit, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 11. 4s.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 16s. Total amount, 21.

And for every one not chargeable by the former act, 52 Geo. 2. c. 93. 21.

For every male servant bona fide retained for the purposes of hus-bandry, manufacture, or trade, by which the master or mistress shall gain a livelihood or profit, and at any time employed in any domestic employment in any of the capacities in the schedule (C.) No. 1. and not chargeable to the duties in the said schedule, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. 6s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 4s.—Total amount, 10s.

For every one so employed, who shall not be chargeable by the former act, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 10s.

For every male servant bona fide retained for the purposes of hubandry, or any manufacture or trade by which the master or mistres shall gain a livelihood or profit, and at any time employed in the capacity of a groom, stable boy, or helper in the stables, where the master or mistress shall be chargeable for one horse, and no more, to the duty on horses kept for the purposes of riding, or drawing a taxed cart, or to the duty on such taxed eart, and not on any other earriage, 46 Geo. 3. c. 55. 6s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 35. 4s. Total amount, 10s.

The said last-mentioned duties to be paid by employer, master # mistress.

And for every male person so employed, where the duty by the former act shall not be chargeable, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 10s.

For every male person employed in any of the capacities is (C. 1.) and not being a servant to his employer, where such employer shall be chargeable to the duties in (C. 1.) or (D. 1. and 2.) or for more than one horse, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 21. 8s.

And where such employer shall not be so chargeable, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 11.

EXEMPTIONS from the additional duties of 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. Apprentices for seven years, where no premium shall have been given.

Schedule (C. No. 4.) Duties payable on Servants let to hire.

For every coachman, groom, postillon, or helper, kept for the purpose of being let on hire for less than one year, and in such man mer that the stamp-office duty on horses let to hire shall not be payable on every such letting by any post-master, innkeeper, or other person, licensed to let post horses, or by any coachmaker or makes of such carriages, or other person, the annual sum of 21. 4s. 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 6s. Total 31.

And for every conchman kept for the purpose of driving any stage coach, and for every guard, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 21. 10s.

The said duty to be paid by the persons letting the same to bire; but if the person hiring the same shall not make a return thereof then the progressive duty made pavable by Schedule (C.) No. I shall be chargeable in respect of every such servant, on the person hiring, and making default, according to the number of servants retained by him, and he shall also forfeit for such default 501. b) 43 Geo. S. c. 87.

II. NEW DUTY ON CARRIAGES.

Schedule (D. No. 1.) Duties payable on all CARRIAGES of any of the descriptions mentioned kerein.

NUMBER OF CARRIAGES.	Duty for each, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55.			Additional duty 52Gen. 3. c. 93.			Total Amount.
Carriages with four wheels:	£.	s.	d.	£	I.	d.	£.	3.	4
For I such carriage, annually	11	5	0	0	15	0	12	0	0
2 do	12	7	0	0	13	0	13	0	0
8 do	13	10	0	0	10	0	14	0	Ō
4 do	14	0	0	1	0	n	15	0	0
b do	14	12	0	1	3	0	15	15	Ō
6 do	15	3	0	1	5	0	16	8	Ō
7 do	15	14	0	1	6	0	17	Õ	Õ
8 do	16	5	0	1	7	0	17	12	Ō
9 do. and upwards	16	16	0	1	7	0	18	3	Õ
And for every additional body suc- cessively used on the same carriage	_	••			-			_
or number of wheels, the sum of	5	12	0	10	14	0	6	6

Schedule (D.) No. 2, Duties for CARRIAGES with less than four wheels:

For every such carriage (and also taxed carts, kept and used by persons assessed to these duties) drawn by one horse, mare or gelding, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55.—51. 18s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.—12s. Total amount, 61. 10s.

And for every such carriage not chargeable under the former act, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.—61. 10s.

Drawn by two or more horses, 48 Geo. 3 c. 55.—81. 5s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.—15s. Total amount, 91.

And for every additional body, successively used on the same carriage or number of wheels, the further sum of 21. 16s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 7s. Total amount, 31. 3s.

Rules for charging the said Duties on the two foregoing Schedules.

1. The said duties to be charged for every coach, berlin, landan, chariot, calash, chaise marine, chaise, sociable, or caravan with four wheels; and for every calash, chaise marine, chaise curricle, chair, or car, with less than four wheels, or any number thereof respectively; and for every other carriage with four wheels, or with less than four wheels, used for the like purposes, by whatever names the same shall be called, kept by any persons for their own use, or hired by the year, or any longer period; and upon all such carriages kept to be let out to hire, or to carry passengers for hire (except such carriages for which other duties are hereinafter made payable) and which duties shall be paid by the persons keeping such carriages, and shall be chargeable upon the body, or, if more than one, upon the bodies of such carriages, according to the number thereof successively used on the same carriage of wheels, and not in respect of the wheels thereof, or any other part of such carriage to which the wheels shall be attached.

Schedule (D.) No. 3. Duties for CARRIAGES HIRED for any period of time less than one year, or kept to be let on hire, or to carry passengers:

And for every carriage kept for the purpose of being let to hire, with horses to be used therewith, for any period not exceeding twenty-eight days, so that the stamp office duty, on horses let to hire, shall be paid, and whereon the name and place of abode of the person licensed shall be painted.—[if such carriage shall have four wheels].

And also if such carriage shall have less than four wheels, the like sums as mentioned in schedule (D.) No. 2.

And for every coach, diligence, caravan, or chaise with four wheek or more, or other carriage with four wheels or more, by whatever name the same shall be called, which shall be kept and employed as a public stage coach or carriage, for the purpose of conveying passengers for hire, to and from different places (or as a post chaise, $2 Geo. 3. c. 93.), and which shall be duly entered as such with the commissioners of stamp duties, 48 Geo. 3. c. 55.—91. 9s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.—11. 1s. Total amount 101. 10s.

All which last mentioned duties shall be paid by the persons keep-ing the same.

For every carriage kept for the purpose of heing let to hire for any period of time less than one year, and in such manner that the said stamp office duty shall not be payable on such letting, and also for every such carriage, kept for the purpose of being let to hire without horses by any coachmaker, 52 Geo. S. c. 93. if such carriage shall have four wheels, the annual sum of 111. 5s.—Additional duty, 58 Geo. S. c. 93.—15s. Total amount, 121.

The last duty to be paid by the persons keeping such carriages, and if a due return thereof shall not be made, the progressive duty as set forth in schedule (D.) No. 1. shall be chargeable in respect of every such carriage on the person making such default, who shall also be subject to a penalty of 501. 43 Geo. 3. c. 27.

Schedule (D.) No 4. Duty for TAXED CARTS:

For every carriage with less than four wheels, to be drawn by one horse, built wholly of wood and iron, without any covering other than a tilted covering, and without any lining or springs, and with a fixed seat, without slings or braces, and without any ornament whatever, other than a paint of a dark colour, and which shall have the words "A Taxed Cart," and the owner's christian and surname, and abode, painted on the outside of the back part of such carriage, and the price of which, repairs excepted, shall not have exceeded fifteen pounds, and which shall not at any time be used with a covered or stuffed seat, or with a covered footboard or apron, there shall be charged the annual sum (50 Geo. 3. c. 104.) of 11.6s. 6d. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.—2s. 6d. Total amount, 11.9s.

For every taxed cart, built with a spring or springs, the original price of which shall not have exceeded 21l. or which shall be used with a stuffed seat or cushion, or with a covered footboard or apron, there shall be charged the annual sum of 2l. 10s. Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.—5s. Total amount, 2l. 15s.

Taxed carts with less than four wheels, used by persons assessed to the duty on carriages. For every such carriage with less than four wheels, if drawn by one horse, there shall be charged for every such carriage, the annual sum (50 Geo. 3. c. 104.) of 5l. 18c.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 12s.—Total amount, 6l. 10s.

Upon every maker of taxed carts not assessed as a coachmaker, of the value limited, there shall be charged the annual duty of 2s. 6d.—Additional duty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 6d.—Total amount, 3s.

And where not chargeable by the former act, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 3s.

By every such maker, for every such carriage which he shall make, build, or construct for sale, the sum of 2s. 6d.—Additional daty, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 6d.—Total amount, 3s.

And where not chargeable under the former act, 52 Geo. 3. e. 93. 8s.

Except carriages built and constructed as aforesaid, belonging to any person who are liable to be assessed to the before-mentioned duties in respect of a four-wheeled carriage, or who are liable to be assessed to the duties on male servants in respect of two, which persons respectively shall be charged for such carriages, although built and constructed as aforesaid, at the rate prescribed in schedule (D.). No. 2. on carriages with less than four wheels.

Every cart having the name and residence of the owner, and the words "Common Stage Cart" thereon, and kept without fraud to be used wholly in the affairs of husbandry, or in the carriage of goods in the course of trade, although the owner or his servants may occasionally ride therein when laden, or when returning, and although used for the purpose of riding therein or thereon, on the occasions and in the manner herein mentioned; that is to say, for the purpose of procuring medical assistance for the owner or any of his family, or for the purpose of carrying goods to or bringing back goods from market, or carrying the owner or any of his family to or from any place of public worship, or to or from any election in parliament, or to or from any courts of justice, or to or from any meets ing of commissioners of taxes, shall be exempted, provided such tart shall not have been let to hire for any of the said purposes.

Exemptions from the several Duties in Schedules (D.) No. 1, 2, 3, and 4.—Any carriages belonging to his majesty, or any of the royal family.—Any hackney coach, any carriage kept by any coach-maker bona fide for the purpose of sale, or of being lent to any person whose carriage being of the same description, shall be then making, mending, or repairing, and during the time the same shall be necessarily under repair; provided such carriage shall not, whilst in the possession of such coachmaker, be employed for his own us, or let to hire, or otherwise lent than as aforesaid.

Any cart which shall be kept truly and without fraud, to be used wholly in the affairs of husbandry, or in the carriage of good in the course of trade, and whereon the name and residence of the owner, and the words "common stage cart" shall be painted, although the owner, or his servants, may occasionally ride therein at thereon when laden, or when returning from any place to which, at when going to any place from which any load shall have been or he to be carried in the course of husbandry or trade, or for conveying the owners or their families to or from any place of divine worship on Sunday, or on Christmas day, or on Good Friday, or any day appointed for a public fast or thanksgiving, or for carrying persons going to or returning from elections of members in parliament, and used for any other purpose, or not let to hire.

Schedule (D.) No. 5. Duties payable by COACHMAKERS and MAKERS of other carriages, chargeable with duty by this act, and en carriages made or sold as herein mentioned.

By every person who shall carry on the trade of a coschmaker, or maker of any carriages, chargeable with duty by this act, is that part of Great Britain aforesaid, the annual duty of 10s. 58 Geo. S. c. 93.

By every such coachmaker, for every such carriage with four wheels, which he shall make, build, or construct for sale, 11. 5s. And for every such carriage with two wheels, 12s. 6d.

Schedule (D.) No. 6. Duties payable by persons selling any carriages, chargeable with duty by this act, by auction or on commission.

By every person who shall sell any carriage chargeable with duly by this act, by way of auction or on commission, for or in expectation of profit or reward, in Great Britain, the annual duty of 104 58 Geo. 3. c. 93.

By every such person for every such carriage with four wheelswhich he shall sell by auction or on commission, for or in expectation of profit or reward as aforesaid, 11.5.

And for every such carriage with two wheels, except Taxed Carts, 12s. 6d.

And for every such Taxed Cart, Sa.

III. NEW DUTY ON PLEASURE HORSES.

Schedule (E.) No. 1. Duties payable for all horses, mares, and geldings, kept and used by any person or persons for the purpose of riding, or drawing any carriage chargeable with duty by schedule (D.) 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

NUMBER OF HORSES.

£. s. d.	£. s. d.
For I such horse, mare,	For 11 such horse, mare, or gelding, each 2 17 6
2 4 14 6
3 5 4 0	13 6 7 6.
4 5 10 0	14
5 5 11 6	15 6 7 6
6 5 16 0	16 6 7 6
7 5 19 6	17 6 8 0
8 5 19 6	18 6 9 0
9 6 1 6	19
10 6 7 0	20 and upwards 6 12 0

The said duties to be payable annually for every horse, mare, or gelding, used on any occasion for the purpose of riding, or of drawing any carriage for which duty is payable, or bired by the year, or any longer period, and to be paid by the person using the same, except as after mentioned.

Exemptions from the said Duties.

1. Any person who shall keep any horse, which shall be used truly and without frand for the purpose of husbandry, or of drawing any carriage (except such carriages as are liable to duty) or carrying burdens in the course of the trade or occupation of the person to whom such horse shall belong, although such horse shall be used for riding in the manner hereinafter mentioned; that is to say, when returning from any place to which any load shall have been drawn, or in going to any place from whence any load shall be to be brought back, or on account of such horse having been used for riding to procure medical anistance, or to or from market, or to or from any place of public worship, or to or from any election of members of parliament, or to or from any courts of justice, or to or from any meeting of the commissioners of taxes; provided such horse shall not, on any occasion, be used for any other purpose save, as aforesaid.

- 2. Any person occupying a farm as tenant at rack-rent, the rent of which shall be less than 701. a year, and making a livelihood solely thereby; or any person occupying any estate, on any other tenare than as tenant at rack-rent solely, or such estate together with a farm at rack-rent, the value of which in the whole shall be less than equivalent to a farm at the rack-rent of 701. a year (reckoning the value of every estate occupied by the owner, or on any tenare other than as tenant at rack-rent, as equivalent to double the amount of the like farm at rack-rent) and making a livelihood solely by such his own estate, or by such estate and farm jointly, and using occasionally for the purpose of riding any horse which shall be boss fide kept for the purposes of husbandry.
- 3. Any person occupying a farm, and making a livelihood solely thereby, or any person carrying on a trade, and making a livelihood solely thereby; or making a livelihood by such occupation and trace jointly; or any ecclesiastical person not possessed of an annual income of 100%, or upwards, whether arising from any ecclesiastical preferment or otherwise, for one horse, used only for the purpose of drawing any carriage liable to the duty on taxed carts.

Schedule (E. No. 2.) Duties payable on Horses let to hire.

For every horse, mare, or gelding, let to hire for the purpose of riding, or of drawing any such carriage as aforesaid, for any period of time less than one year, in any manner so that the stamp office duty, payable on horses let to hire, shall not be payable, the sum of 21. 17s. 6d. 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

To be charged annually on the person letting the same; but if a due return thereof suall not be made by the hirer, the progressive duty, set forth in Schedule (E.) No. 1. shall be chargeable in respect of every such horse, on the person hiring the same, and making such default, and shall also for such default, forfeit 501. by the act of 43 Geo. 3.

Schedule (E. No. 3.) Duties payable on Horses kept for the purpose of racing or running for any plate, prize, or sum of money, or other thing, or kept in training for any of the said purposes.

For every horse, mare, or gelding, bona fide kept for the purpose of racing or running for any plate, prize, or sum of money, or other thing, or kept in training for any of the said purposes, whether in the stables of the proprietor or of any other person, the sum of $1.17s.6d.52 Geo. S. c. 93.

The said duty to be charged annually on the persons having the custody, charge, or management of such horses.

Ì

IV. NEW DUTY on DRAUGHT HORSES and MULES.

Schedule (F.No. 1.) Duties payable for all horses, mares, and geldings, not charged with any duty according to the schedule (E.) and also mules.

For every horse, mare, or gelding, 13 hands high, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. not chargeable with any duty, according to the schedule (E. No. 1, 2, and 3.) as aforesaid, and every mule, except in the cases berein after mentioned, wherein other duties are made payable, the sum of 11. 1s. If under 13 hands, 17s.

Schedule (F. No. 2.) Duties payable on husbandry horses, in the cases hereinaster mentioned.

For every horse, mare, or gelding, of the height of 13 hands or more, bona fide kept and used for the sole purposes of husbandry, except as after mentioned, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 17s. 6d.

Any person occupying a farm at rack rent, the rent of which shall be less than 201. a year, and making a livelihood solely thereby, or occupying any estate on any other tenure than as tenant at rack-rent solely, or such other estate together with a farm at rack-rent, the value of which in the whole shall be less than equivalent to a farm at the rack-rent of 201. a year, reckoning the value of every estate occupied by the owner, or on any tenure other than as tenant at rack-rent, as equivalent to double the amount of the like farm at rack-rent, and making a livelihood solely by such his own estate, or by such estate and farm jointly or principally thereby, and likewise a profit by any trade or employment, and keeping not more than two horses, geldings, or mules, bona fide for the purpose of such occupation, shall be charged for each, the sum of 3s.

Any person occupying a farm at rack-rent in Wales or Scotland, rent of which shall be less than 10% sterling a year, and making a livelihood principally thereby, or occupying any estate on any other tenure than as tenant at rack rent, or such other estate, together with a farm at rack-rent, the value of which in the whole shall be less than equivalent to a farm at the rack-rent of 10% sterling a year, reckoning the value of every estate occupied by the owner thereof or on any tenure other than as tenant at rack-rent, as equivalent to double the amount of the like farm at rack-rent, and making a live-lihood principally thereby, and likewise a profit by any trade or employment, and keeping not more than two horses bona fide for the purposes of such occupation, and of such trade or employment, jointly, or either of them separately, shall be charged for each of such two horses, or mules; the sum of Se.

ŧ

Rules for charging the Duties as set forth in Schedule (F.)
No. 1 and 2.

The said duties to be charged annually, and paid by the person keeping or using such horses or mules, and to be payable for every horse and mule which shall not be chargeable with any duty according to the preceding schedule, marked (E.)

Exemptions from the Duties in Schedule (F. No. 1 and 2)

Any person whatever for any horse, mare, or gelding, which shall not at any time whatever have been used for any purpose of labour or otherwise.

Exemptions from the several Duties, as set forth in the several Schedules marked (E.) and (F.)

Any horse belonging to his majesty or any of the royal family. Any postmaster, or person, licensed by the commissioners of the deties on stamps, in respect of any borse let to hire, in any manner where the stamp office duty payable on horses let to hire shall be paid on each letting, and which shall not be used for any other purpose. Any person licensed to keep any public stage coach, in respect of any horse which shall be solely used by such person in drawing such stage-coach from place to place for hire. Any person licensed to keep any hackney coach, for any horses kept for the purpose of drawing such coach, in respect of the duties in Schedule (E.) No. 1. and for two horses, and no more, kept for the purpose of drawing each coach so licensed in respect of the duties in Schedule (F.) No. 1. Any dealer in horses assessed to the duties on dealers for any horse, mare, or gelding, kept bona fide for sale, and not kept or used for any other purpose. Any person who, on account of poverty, shall be discharged from the assessment made in respect of his dwelling house, for any horse; provided such person shall not keep more than one, and the same shall not be let to hire. Any rector, vicar, or curate, actually doing duty in the church or chapel of which he is rector, vicar, or curate, who shall not be possessed of an income of 601. per annum from ecclesiastical preferment of otherwise, and who shall not keep more than one horse for the purpose of riding, except such person who shall occasionally perform the duty appertaining to any rector, vicar, or curate, without being the regular officiating minister of the parish. Every person serving in any corps of yeomanry or volunteers, who shall have attended the exercise of his corps, five days of muster and exercise at least in the course of the preceding year, unless prevented by actual sickness, and who shall be returned in the muster roll, as having used any horse for such service, shall be exempted from the payment of the

=

ø

Į.

ŗ.

it

11

15

41

ď

p1

1

1

duties in respect of such one borse. Any non-commissioned officer or private of any of the regiments of cavalry, or in the artillery, for any horse used in his majesty's service.

NEW DUTY ON DOGS.

Schedule (G.) Duties on Dogs.

For every greyhound, kept by any person, whether his property or not, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93. 1%.

For every bound, pointer, setting-dog, spaniel, lurcher, or terrier, and for every dog of whatever denomination the same may be, except greyhounds, where any person shall keep two or more dog, for his own use, or the use of any other person, the annual sum of 14s.

For every dog not being such as aforesaid, kept by any persons having one such dog and no more, whether the same be kept for his own use, or the use of any other person, the annual sum of 8s.

The said duties to be paid by the person keeping such dogs.

Exemptions from the Duties in (G.)

Any dog belonging to his majesty or any of the royal family. Any person who, on account of poverty, shall be discharged from the assessment of his dwelling house, and having one dog, and no more, the same not being a greyhound, hound, pointer, setting dog, spaniel, lurcher, or terrier. Any person in respect of a dog or whelp, which at the time of returning the list, not actually of the age of six calendar months. Any person in respect of the whole number of hounds by him kept, who shall compound for the same in any year within thirty days after the 5th of April, in pursuance of notice given to the collector of his intention so to do, and on payment of the full sum of thirty-six pounds sterling to such collector, for which a receipt shall be given within the period before mentioned. And where two or more join to keep the same and not compound, they shall be chargeable for each hound, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

VI. NEW DUTIES ON HORSE DEALERS.

Schedule (H.) Duties payable by Horse Dealers.

Every person who shall use or exercise the trade and business of borse dealer within London and Westminster, and the liberties of the same respectively, the parishes of St. Mary-le-bone and St. Pancras, the weekly bills of mortality, or the borough of Southwark, in the county of Surry, the annual duty of 251. 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

Every person who shall use the trade and business in any other part of Great Britain, the annual duty of 121, 10s.

VII. NEW DUTY ON HAIR POWDER.

Echedule (I.) Duties payable by persons in respect of Hair Powder used or worn by them.

By every person who shall have used or worn any hair powder within the period limited by this act, the annual sum of 14. 3s. 64. 52 Geo. 3. c. 96.

Rules for charging the said Duties.

- 1. The said duty to every sort of hair powder used or worn by any person as any article of, or in, or about, his or her dress, to be assessed upon and paid by the person having used or worn the same within the year preceding the term for which the assessment ought to be made, except as hereafter mentioned.
- 2. The unmarried daughters of any person shall not be chargeable, or be required to make any return, provided the parent shall have more than two unmarried, and shall have given an account of the whole number, and shall have required to be assessed for the whole number by one assessment, in which case every such parent shall be assessed in respect of the whole number of such daughters in twice the sum payable on any single person, having worn hair powder, which shall exempt the whole number from the said duties.
- 3. The master or mistress of any servant who shall have declared his intention to pay the duty in respect of such servant, and shall have given a true account of all the servants kept, setting forth their capacities, shall be charged for such servant, and every such servant shall be exempted from the said duties, during his continuance in the same service; and also every servant who shall come into the service of such master or mistress in the room of such servant named to serve in the same capacity during the year; and no servant named in such lists, or any servant serving such master or mistress in any capacity mentioned in such lists, shall, during the year, be required to make any return, or to pay the duties.

Any of the royal family, and any menial servants of his majesty or any of the royal family. Any officer in actual employ in the navy, under the rank of commander, or any officer holding a commission in the navy under the said rank, who shall be employed on the establishment of Greenwich, or any subaltern or non-commissioned officer or private in the army, artillery, militia, marines, or corps of engineers, or any person inrolled and actually serving in any volunteer corps whether of infantry or cavalry. Any clergyman who shall not be possessed of an annual income of 100% or upwards, whether arising from ecclesiastical preferment or otherwise; or any preacher of any congregation of dissenters, or any person dissenting from the church of England in holy orders, or pretended holy orders, entitled to the benefit of the several toleration acts in favour of dissenters and papists, and who shall not be possessed of an annual income of 100% or upwards, however arising; and the income arising from benefices shall be estimated on the average amount, computed on seven years next preceding.

VIII. NEW DUTY ON ARMORIAL BEARINGS.

Schedule (K.) Duties payable by persons in respect of any Armorial Bearing or Ensign, used or worn by them, by whatever name the same may be called, viz.

By every such person chargeable with any duty made payable by this act for any coach or other carriage, the annual sum of 21. 8s.—52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

By every such person not so chargeable, but who shall be chargeable to any of the duties on inhabited houses, or windows, the annual sum of 11. 4s.

By every such person not chargeable for any such coach or other carriage not being chargeable to the said duties on houses or windows, the annual sum of 12s.

The said duties to be paid by every person having used, or caused to be used, any armorial bearing or ensign within the year preceding the term for which the assessment ought to be made, and to extend to every person who within the said period shall have been possessed of, or shall have kept or had any coach or other carriage chargeable with the duty by this act, or any seal, plate, or other article, on which any armorial bearing or ensign shall have been, during the said period, painted, engraved, marked, or affixed, and whether registered in the college of arms or not; the persons liable to be assessed must insert their names in the lists, delivered by the assessors annually, under the penalty of 501.

Exemptions from the said Duties.

The royal family, or any person who, by right of office or by appointment, have worn or used any of the arms or insignia worn or used by the royal family, or used in any city, borough, or town corporate.

IX. NEW DUTIES ON PERSONS KILLING GAME.

Schedule (L.) Duties in respect of killing Game.

By every person (except of the royal family) who shall use any dog, gun, net, or other engine, for the purpose of killing any game whatever, or any woodcock, snipe, quail, or landrail, or any conies, in any part of Great Britain. 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

If such person shall be a servant to any person duly charged in respect of such servant to the duties granted on servants, and shall use

. •

3

1

١.

any dog. gun. net, or other engine, for any of the purposes before mentioned, upon any manor or royalty in England, Wales, or Berwick upon Tweed, or upon any lands in Scotland, by virtue of any deputation or appointment, duly registered or entered as game-keeper thereto, (and also where the old duty was not chargeable, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.) there shall be charged the annual sum of 11. 52.

And if such person as last aforesaid, shall not be a servant for whom the said duties on servants shall be charged, there shall be charged the annual sum of 31. 13s. 6d.

By every other person who shall use any dog, gun, net, or other engine, for any of the purposes before mentioned, there shall be charged the annual sum of 31. 13s.

Exemptions from the above Duties.

- 1. The taking or destroying of woodcocks and snipes with nets or springes.
- 2. The taking or destroying of conies in warrens, or in any inclosed grounds whatever, or by any person in lands in his own occupations, either by himself or by his direction or command.

These duties, in respect of killing game, are to be paid to the collector of the parish, and a certificate of the payment, filed with the clerk of the peace, who is also to deliver his certificate thereof to the party. They only remain in force until the 5th of April in each year after being issued; any person found in the exercise of any act for which the duty ought to be paid, not producing the certificate, or refusing to declare his name and place of abode, is to forfeit 201.; and aporting without such certificate he shall also forfeit 201. and be moreover liable to the full duty of 31. 13s. 6d. The penaltics are recoverable before one justice by distress and sale, 52 Geo. 3. c. 93.

Allowances made on account of Children out of the assessed Taxes.

By the 46th Geo. S. c. 34. and 52 Geo. S. c. 147, every person having more than two children born in lawful wedlock, and bona fide maintained at the expense of such person, is entitled for every child above two, to an allowance after the rate of 41. per centum on the amount of all assessments on such person by virtue of the assessed tax acts, if under 451, per annum.

The children by any former marriage, either of the husband or wife, or of the husband or wife deceased, equally entitle the husband or wife or surviving husband or wife maintaining such children to the allowance, as his or her own children.

The allowance cannot be claimed in respect of any child who is personally charged to any of the said duties, or who is an house-holder.

The party liable to be assessed must cause the whole number of servants, carriages, horses, mules, and other articles chargeable on him under the said acts, of which a return by him is required, in the parish where he makes his claim, or the allowance cannot be granted. And if he has two or more dwelling houses, he is to obtain a certificate of the amount of duties charged on him in respect of each dwelling house not situate in the place where he makes the claim.

And if he is guilty of any fraud in making his claim, or delivers & false declaration, or a false certificate, he will forfeit 100L

x. WINDOW AND HOUSE DUTIES.

By the 48 Geo. 3. c. 55. instead of the Duties granted by former acts, and hereby repealed, the following new and consolidated Duties shall be assessed, levied and paid, from and after the 5th of April, 1808.

For every dwelling house, together with the offices, which shall not contain more than six windows or lights, and not of the value of five pounds by the year, there shall be charged the annual sum of 6s. 6d.; but if the house is of such a value, or more, the annual sum of 8s. shall then be charged upon it.—In all cases whatsoever, the duty in Scotland is 2s. less.

The following table shows the several charges from 7 windows to 180.

Windows I			L. s.	i.		Wit	•	L. s. d.
(		•	10	0 1	1 (	37	-	1	•		10	•
containing	7 -	·	1 13	0		38	_	_		96	7	0
	9 1	1	8 8	0		39				27	4	0
	10 —	ı	9 15 0 3 19 6 4 9 5	1 10	40	to	44		98	17	6
	11	- 1		6	= i	45	to	49		31	13	6
	18 [				50	to	54	!		10	0
= = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = =	13 —		5 6	6		55	to	b9	Sum of	37	ti	0
5		1	5 6 6 3 7 0	6	containing	do	to	64		59	15	6
	15		5 6 6 3 7 0	0		65	10	69		48	0	6
ē.	16 -	. İ	7 17	0	1 2 1	70	to	74		44	ŗ.	0
8	1 17 1	9	8 14		every inhabited Dwelling-house,	75	to	79		46	10	0
every inhabited Dwelling-house,	18	Sum	9 10	6	2	80	to	84		48	15	0
	19		10 7	6		,85	to	89		51	0	0
	20 —		11 4	6	E	90	to	9+		53	4	0
	j 21 — l			0		95	to	99	( = )	55	9	ß
_ E .	88 - !	ΪŜ	12 18	0	1 27	100	to	109	7 2 5	5:1	17	0
Á	23 1	nnual	15 15	0	اکا	110	to	119	Annual	63	6	6
~	94	<	14 12	6		190	to	1 29		67	16	•
$	25	The	15 8	6	ě	130	to	139	The	72	6	0
مَد	26 [	Ţ	16 5	5	1	140	to	149		76	16	0
2	27 —	•	17 8	6	12	150	to	159		81	5	6
=	28		17 19	0		160	to	169		85	15	6
&gt;	29		18 16	0-		170	to	179		90	5	0
£.	30 —	,	19 19	6		180	and	up-	1	93	8	6
Ž	31 -		90 9	6	1		rard	B.	•		_	_
Ë	39			6	2	And	for	each	l l
For	33 -		91 6 99 5 93 0	0	For	an	d eve	erv	1
•	34		23 0	0	"	w	inda	,
	35 1		23 16	ð		ab	ove	180	!	. 0	3	0
	\36 —		21 13	đ	11	[			}	ľ	_	_

And for every inhabited house, worth (with the offices, &c.) 5% and under 20% yearly rent, the annual sum of 1s. 6d. in the pound—for every inhabited house, worth 20% and under 40% rent, 2s. 3d. in the pound—and for every inhabited house worth 40% rent, or up wards, the annual sum of 2s. 10d. in the pound.

Rules for charging windows.

- 1. The said Duties to be charged annually upon the occupier, for one whole year from April 5, to be levied of such occupier, or his executors or administrators, except as after provided.
- 2. Where any change in the occupation shall take place after the assessments, then the duties charged on the occupier, shall be paid by the occupier, landlord, or owner, for the time being, without any new assessment, notwithstanding such change in occupation. But where a tenant shall quit, on the termination of a lease or demise, and shall have given notice thereof to the assessor, the duty shall be discharged for the remainder of that year, in case it shall appear to the commissioners at the end of such year, that such house shall have continued unoccupied for the remainder of such year.
- 3. Where any dwelling house is let in different apartments, and shall be inhabited by two or more persons, the same shall be charged as if such house were inhabited by one only; and the landlord or owner shall be deemed to be the occupier, and charged.
- 4. Every house, the keeping of which is left to the care of any person or servant, shall be subject to the like duties as if it were inhabited by the owner or tenant; and, if such person shall not pay rates to the church and poor, the said duties shall be paid by the owners or tenants.
- thereof, which by due admeasurement of the whole space on the aperture of the wall of the house or building, on the outside of such window, shall exceed 12 feet in height, or 4 feet 11 inches in breadth, and not less than 3 feet 6 inches high, shall be charged as two windows, except such as shall have been made of greater dimensions prior to the 5th of April 1785; except also the windows in shops, workshops, and warehouses, and except the windows in the public room of any house licensed to sell ale, or other liquors by retail, used for the entertainment of guests; and the windows in farm houses especially exempted from the duties on houses.
- 6. Every window extending so far us to give light into more rooms, landings, or stories than one, shall be charged as so many separate windows.
- 7. When a partition or division between two or more windows fixed in one frame, is 12 inches in breadth, the window on each side shall be charged as a distinct window.
- 8 All skylights, and all windows in staircases, garrets, cellars, passages, and all other parts of dwelling houses, to what use focues applied, shall be charged to the said duties.
  - D. Lvery window in any kitchen, cellar, scullery, buttery, pantry, larder, wash-house, laundry, bake-house, brew-house, or lodging room, belonging to or occupied with any dwelling house, whether the same shall or shall not be within, or contiguous to, or disjoined from, the body of such dwelling-house, shall also be charged to the said duties.

Exemptions.—Houses belonging to his majesty, or any of the royal family; public offices; hospitals, charity schools, and poor houses, except such apartments as are occupied by the officers and servants, which are to be assessed as separate dwelling houses; the windows in any room licensed for divine worship, and used for no other purpose; and the windows of dairy and chee-e rooms, made of splines or wooden laths.—And by the 50 Geo. 3. c. 101. any window in a room of a dwelling house, wholly used for manufacture, and not communicating with the dwelling house internally, is also exempt.

TAX UPON LAND. See Land tax.

TELLER, an officer of the exchequer, of which there are four, whose office is to receive all monies due to the king, and to give the clerk of the pells, a bill to charge him therewith. They also pay to all persons any money payable by the king, by warrant from auditor of the receipt; and make weekly and yearly books, both of their receipts and payments, which they deliver to the lord treasurer.

TEMPLARS. See Knights Templars.

TEMPORALITIES OF BISHOPS, are such revenues, lands, and tenements, and lay fees, as have been added to bishop's fees, by kings and other great personages of this land, from time to time, as they are barons and lords of parliament.

This revenue of the king, which was antiently very considerable, is now, by a customary indulgence, almost reduced to nothing: for at present, as soon as the new bishop is consecrated and confirmed, he usually receives from the king, the restitution of his temporalities entire and untouched; and then, but not sooner, he has a fee simple in his bishopric, and may maintain an action for the profits. 1 Black. 283.

TENANT, signifies one who holds or possesses, lands or tenements by any kind of right, either in fee, for life, years, or at will.

TEND, to offer, tender, or present.

TENDER, is an offer to pay a debt, or perform a duty. In every plea of tender, where money is the thing demanded by the action, and the debt or duty is not discharged by the tender and refusal, money may be brought in without leave of the court: but as other things as well as money, may where a tender is pleaded, be brought into court, this is with more propriety called bringing into court generally, than a bringing money into court. In all other cases, the leave of the court must be had, before money can be brought into court. The rule, under which this leave is granted, is, ticular act of parliament. In other cases, it is founded upon a particular act of parliament. In other cases, it is founded upon that discretionary power, which is, for the furtherance of justice, vested in the court. By the discretionary rule, it is sometimes ordered, that upon bringing money into court, all proceedings in an action shall be stayed. At other times it is ordered, that the money brought into court, shall be struck out of the plaintiff's declaration, and the plaintiff shall not, at the trial of the issue, be permitted to give any evidence as to this money. This rule, by which the money brought into court, is ordered to be struck out of the declaration, is from its being more frequently granted, than that by which it is ordered that the proceeding shall be stayed, called the common rule. 5 Bac. Abr. 1.

[ 700 ]

If bank notes have been offered, and no objection made on that account, it has been considered by the court of king's bench as good tender. 3 Durnf. & Bast. 554. See also article Bank supra, and in Appendix (Bank notes a legal tender.)

TENEMENT, in its common acceptation, is applied only to houses and other buildings; but in its original, proper, and legal sense, it signifies every thing that may be holden provided it be of a permanent nature, whether it be of a substantial or unsubstantial and ideal kind. Thus frank tenement, or freehold, is applicable not only to lands and other solid objects, but also to offices, rents, common, and the like; and as lands and houses are tenements, so is an advongen a tenement; and a franchise, or office, a right of common, a peerage, or other property of the like unsubstantial kind, are all of them, legally speaking, tenements. 2 Black. 17.

TENEMENTIS LEGATIS, a writ that lies to London. or any other corporation (where the custom is, that men may demise tene ments as well as goods and chattels by their last will) for the hearing any controversy touching the same, and for rectifying the wrong.

TENENDUM, is a clause in a deed, wherein the tenure of the land is created or limited. See Deed.

TENENTIBUS IN ASSISA NON ONERANDIS, a writ which lies for him to whom a disseisor hath alienated the land, whereof it disseised another; that he may not be molested for the damage awarded, if the disseisor bave wherewith to satisfy them himself.

TENOR, of writs, records, &c. is the substance or purport of them, or a transcript or copy.

TENORE INDICTAMENTI MITTENDO, a writ whereby the record of an indictment, and the process thereupon, is called out of another court into the chancery.

TENORE PRESENTIUM. The tenor of these presents, is the natter contained therein, or rather the true intent and mouning hereof.

TE

TENTHS, that yearly portion or tribute which all ecclesiastical ivings, antiently paid to the king. See First Fruits.

TENURE, the manner whereby lands or tenements are holden, or the service that the tenant owes to his lord.

Under the word tenure, is included every holding of an inheriance; but the signification of this word, which is a very extensive one, is usually restrained by coupling other words with it; this is, ometimes done by words which denote the duration of the tenant's estate: as if a man hold to himself and his heirs, it is called tenure in fee-simple. At other times the tenure is coupled with words pointing out the instrument by which an inheritance is held: thus, if the holding be by copy of court roll, it is called tenure by copy of court roll. At other times, this word is coupled with others that shew he principal service by which an inheritance is held: as where a man held by knight's service, it is called tenure by knight's service.

TERMOR, he who holds lands or tenements for term of years or ife. Lil. 100.

TERMS, are those spaces of time, wherein the courts of justice are open for all that complain of wrongs or injuries, and seek their rights by course of law or action, in order to their redress; and suring which, the courts in Westminster-hall sit and give judgments, bec. but the high court of parliament, the chancery, and inferiorourts, do not observe the terms; only the courts of king's bench, ommon pleas, and exchequer, the highest courts at common law. If these terms there are four in every year; viz. Allary term, which egins the 25d of January, and ends the 12th of February; unless on Sundays, and then the day after; Easter term, which begins he Wednesday fortnight after Easter day, and ends the Monday ext after Ascension day; Trinity term, which begins the Friday fler Trinity Sunday, and ends the Wednesday fortnight after; and lichaelmas term, begins the 6th and ends the 25th of November.

There are in each of these terms, stated days, called days in banks, tall is days of appearance in the court of common pleas, called mally bancum, or commune bancum, to distinguish it from bancum. If it is a second of the court of king's bench. They are generally at the distance of about a week from each other, and regulated by some stival of the church. On some of these days in bank, all originals wits must be made returnable, and therefore they are generally filed, the returns of that term. 3 Black. 227.

The first return in every term is, properly speaking, the first day 202 in that term; and thereon the court sits to take assoins, or excess, for such as do not appear according to the summons of the writ; wherefore this is usually called the assoin day of the term. But the person summoned hath three days grace, beyond the return of the wait, in which to make his appearance; and if he appear on the fourth day inclusive, quarto dis post, it is sufficient. Therefore, at the beginning of each term, the court doth not sit for dispatch of business till the fourth day, and in Trinity term, by stat. 32 H. & c. 21. not till the sixth day. 3 Black. 227.

TERMS OF THE LAW, artificial or technical words at turns of art, particularly used in and adapted to the profession of the law.

TERRA EXTENDENDA, is a writ directed to the exchesion, the requiring him to enquire and find out the true yearly value of any land, &c. by the oath of twelve men, and to certify the extent into the chancery.

TERRE TESTAMENTALES, lands that were held free from feudal services, in allodio, in socagio, descendible to all the sea, and therefore called gavel kind, were devisable by will, and therefore called terre testamentales.

TERRE TENANT, he who has the actual possession of the land, which we otherwise call the occupation.

TERRIER, a book, or roll, wherein the several lands either of a single person, or of a town are described, containing the quantity of meres, boundaries, tenants' names, &c. 18 Eliz. c. 17.

TERRISLIBERANDIS, a writ that lies for a man convicted to attaint, to bring the record and process before the king, and to the man for his imprisonment to deliver him his lands and tenenced again, and to release him of the strip and waste.

TEST. By the 25 Car. 2. c. 2. commonly called the test act, if efficient civil and military, are to take the oaths and test.

TESTAMENT, is a voluntary disposition of what one would be to be done, concerning his goods and chattels, real and persenter his decease, with the appointment of an executor.

TESTATOR, he that makes a testament or will. See Will.

TESTATUM, a writ in personal actions, as if the defendant a not be arrested upon a capias in the county where the action is but is returned non est inventus by the sheriff: this writ shall sent out in any other county where such person is thought to be wherewith to satisfy; and this is termed a testatum, because the riff hath formerly testified, that the defendant was not to be found his bailiwick.

TESTE, that part of a perit wherein the date is contained, wh begins with these words, teste me ipso, &c. if it be an original writ; or if judicial, teste, chief justice, &c.

THANE, the title of those who attended the English Saxon-kings in their courts, and who held their land immediately of those kings.

.THEFT, is an unknwful felonious taking away of another man's moveable and personal goods, against the owner's will, with an intent to steal them; and this is divided into theft simply so called, and petit theft, whereof the one is of goods above the value 12d. and is felony; the other under that value, and is no felony, but is called petit larceny. See Larceny and Felony.

THEFT BOTE, is the receiving of a man's goods or other things, from a thief after stolen, not to prosecute the felon, that the thief may escape; which is an offence punishable with fine and imprisonment, &c. Hale's Pl. Cor. 130.

THELONIUM, or BREVE ESSENDI QUIETI DE THELO-NIO, a writ lying for the citizens of any city, or burgesses of any town, that have a charter or prescription to free them from tollagainst the officers of any town, or market, who would constrain them to pay toll of their merchandize contrary to the said grant or prescription.

THIRDBOROW, was the same officer in former times, as is at present called constable.

...THREATENING LETTER, if any person shall send any letter threatening to accuse any other person of a crime punishable with death, transportation, pillory, or other infamous punishment, with a priew to extort money from him, he shall be punished at the discretion of the court, with fine, imprisonment, pillory, whipping, or transportation. 30 Geo. 2. c. 24.

But if the writer of a threatening letter, deliver it himself, and do not send it, he is guilty of felony under this act. Leach's Cro. Law. 351. See also LETTER.

'TIDING PENNY, a small tax or allowance to the sheriff from each tithing, towards the charge of keeping courts, &c.

TilTing, where one kills another by fighting at tilting by the king's command, the accident is excusable; but if it be by tilting without the command of the king, it will be felony of manulaughter.

TIMBER TREES, are properly oak, ash, and elm. In some particular countries, by local custom, other trees, being commonly there made use of for building, are considered as timber. & Black. 28. Of these, being part of the freehold, largery cannot be committed; but, if they be severed at one time, and curried away at another, then the steeling of them is largery. And by several late statutes the steeling of them in the first instance, is made felony, or incurs a pecuniary forfeiture. 4 Black. 233.

For the better preservation of roots, shrubs, and plants, it is by the 6th Geo. 3. c. 48, enacted, that from and after the 24th day of June, 1766, every person convicted of damiging, destroying, or carrying away any timber tree, or trees, or trees likely to become timber, without consent of the owner, &c. shall forfeit for the first offence not exceeding 20% with the charges attending; and on nonpayment, shall be committed for not more than twelve, nor less than six months; for the second offence, a sum not exceeding 30% and on nonpayment shall be committed for not more than eighteen, and not less than twelve months; and for the third offence, is to be transported for seven years.

All oak, beech, chesout, walnut, ash, elm, cedar, fir, asp, lime, sycamore, and birch trees, shall be eeemed and taken to be timber trees, within the true meaning and provision of this act.

Persons convicted of plucking up, spoiling or taking away, any root, shrub, or plant, out of private cultivated ground, shall forfeit for the first offence, any sum not exceeding 40s. with the charges; for the second offence, a sum not exceeding 5l. with the charges; and for the third offence are to be transported for seven years. Id.

Power given to justices of the peace to put this act in excution.

The 9 Geo. 3. c. 41. extendeth this act to the king's forests, and to hollies, thorns, and quicksets, and also to the having such in custody. s. 8. And the 13 Geo. 3. c. 33. extended it to poplar, alder, maple, larch, and hornbeam.

By 45 Geo. 3. c. 66. the 6 Geo. 3. c. 48. s. 4. and 9 Geo. 3. c. 41. s. 8. are extended to all woods belonging to his majesty, and to persons taking away bark from woods of his majesty or any of his subjects, or having it unlawfully in their possession; and after more than three offences, the offenders shall be punished as incorrigible rogues. s. 1. 3.

TIPSTAFFS, officers appointed by the marshal of the king's bench, to attend the judges with a kind of staff, tipped with silver, who take into their custody all prisoners, either committed or turned over by the judges at their chambers, &c.

TITHES, are the tenth part of the increase yearly arising and accraing from the profits of lands, the stock upon lands, and the personal industry of the inhabitants. And hence they are usually divided into three kinds; prædial, mixed, and personal.

Predict tithes, are such as arise merely and immediately from the ground, as grain of all sorts, bay, wood, fruits, herbs; for a piece of land or ground, being called in Lutin predium, whether it.

be arable, meadow, or pasture, the fruit or produce thereof is called prædial, and consequently the tithe payable for such annual produce, is called a prædial tithe.

Mixed tithes, are those which arise not immediately from the ground, but from things immediately nourished from the ground; as by means of goods depastured thereupon, or otherwise nourished with the fruits thereof; as colts, calves, lambs, chickens, milk, cheece, eggs.

Personal tithes, are such as arise from the honest labour and industry of man, employing himself in some personal work, artifice, or negociation; being the tenth part of the clear gain, after charges deducted. Wats. c. 59.

Tithes with respect to value, are divided into great and small; great tithes, as corn, hay, wood: small tithes, as the predial tithes of other kinds, together with those that are mixed, and personal.

Tithes of common right belong to that church, within the precincts of whose parish they arise. But one person may prescribe to have tithes within the parish of another; and this is what is called a purtion of tithes.

Not tithe is due de jure of the produce of a mine, or of a quarry; because this is not a fruit of the earth, renewing annually; but is the substance of the earth, and has perhaps been so for a great number of years. 1 Rol. Abr. 637.

But in some places tithes are due by custom of the produce of mines. 2 Vern. 46.

No tithe is due of lime: the chalk of which this is made being part of the soil. 1 Rol. Abr. 637. Tithe is not due of bricks, which are made from the earth itself 2 Mod. 77. Nor is tithe due of turf, or of gravel: because both these are part of the soil. 1 Mod. 35. It has been held, that no tithe is due of salt, because this does not repew annually. 1 Rol. Abr. 642. But every one of these, and all things of the like kind, may by custom become titheable. 1 Rol. Abr. 642.

Of parren land converted into tillage no tithe shall be paid for the first seven years; but if it be not barren in its own nature, as if it be woodland grubbed and made fit for tillage; tithes shall be paid presently; for wood land is fertile, not barren | 1 Rol. Abr.

Glebe lands, in the hands of the parson, shall not pay tithe to the vicar, nor being in the hands of the vicar, shall they pay tithe to the parson, hecause the church shall not pay tithes to the church. But if the parson let his rectory, reserving the glebe lands, he shall pay the tithes thereof to the lessee. Gibs. 661.

No tithes are due for houses; for tithes are only due of such things as renew from year to year. 11 Rep. 16.

But houses in London are, by decree, which was confirmed by at act of parliament, and made liable to the payment of tithes. 2 last. 659.

There is likewise in most antient cities and boroughs, a custom to pay tithes for houses: without which there would be no maintenance in many parishes for the clergy. 11 Rep. 16.

As to mills, it is now settled by a decree of the house of lords upon an appeal from a decree of the court of exchequer, that only personal tithes, are due from the occupier of a corn-mill. 2 Pers Will. Rep. 463.

The occupier of a newly erected mill, is liable to tithes, although such mill is erected upon land discharged of tithes. Cro. Jac. 429.

Agistment, in the strict sense of the word, means the depastering of a beast the property of a stranger: but this word is constantly used, in the books, for depasturing the beast of an occupier of land, as well as that of a stranger. 5 Bac. Abr.

An occupier of land, is not liable to pay tithe for the pasture of horses, or other beasts, which are used in husbandry in the parish is which they are depastured; because the tithe of corn is by their labour increased. 1 Rol. Abr. 646.

But if borses or other beasts are used in husbandry out of the parish in which they are depastured, an agistment tithe is due for them. 7 Mod. 114.

No tithe is due for the pasture of milk-cattle which are milked is the parish in which they are depastured; because tithe is paid of the milk of such cattle. Lord Raym. 130.

No tithe is due for the pasture of a saddle horse which an occupier of land keeps for himself or servants to ride upon. Cro. Jac. 430.

An occupier of land is liable to an agistment tithe for all such cattle as he keeps for sale. Cro. Eliz. 446.

Milk-cattle which are reserved for calving, shall pay no tithe for their pasture whilst they are dry; but if they be afterwards sold, or milked in another parish, on agistment tithe is due for the time they were dry. Lord Raym. 180.

No tithe is due from an occupier of land for the pasture of young cattle, reared to be used in husbandry or for the pail. Cro. Eliz. 476.

But if such young beasts be sold, before they come to such perfection as to be fit for husbandry, or before they give milk, an agistment tithe must be paid for them. Het. 86.

An occupier of land, is liable to an agistment tithe for all such cuttle as he keeps for sale. Cro. Eliz. 446.

١

But if cattle, which have neither been used in husbandry, nor for the pail, are, after having been kept some time, killed, to be spent in the family of the occupier of the land on which they are depastured, no tithe is due for their pasture. Jenk. 281.

No tithe is due for the cattle, either of a stranger or an occupier, which are depastured in grounds, that have in the same year paid tithe of hay. 2 Rol. Rep. 191.

But it is generally true, that an agistment tithe is due, for depasturing any sort of cattle the property of a stranger. Cro. Eliz. 276.

No agistment-tithe is due for such beasts, either of a stranger or an occupier, as are depastured on the head-lands of ploughed fields a provided that these are not wider, than is sufficient to turn the plough and horses upon. 1 Rol. Rep. 646.

No tithe is due for such cattle as are depastured upon land, that has the same year paid tithe of corn. 1 Mod. 216.

If land, which has paid tithe of corn one year, is left unsown the next year, no agistment is due for such land; because by this lying fresh, the tithe of the next crop of corn is increased. 1 Rol. Rep. 642.

But if land which has paid tithe of corn in one year, be left ansown the next year, no agistment is due for such land, but if suffered to lie fallow longer than by the course of husbandry is usual, an agistment-tithe is due for the beast depastured upon such land.—

Shep. Abr. 1008.

Sheep after paying tithe of wool, had been fed upon turnips not severed, by which they were bettered to the value of five shillings; each, and were then sold; it also appeared, that before the next shearing-time, as many had been brought in, as were sold, and that of these tithe of wool had been paid. It was insisted, that if an agistment were to be paid for the sheep sold, it would be a double tithing: but the court held that this was a new increase, and decreed the defendant to account for an agistment-tithe. Gib. Rep. in Equi. 231.

But in a later case the court held, that no agistment-tithe should be paid, because sheep are animalia fatua. Bunb. 278.

Corn. It is held, that no tithe is due of the rakings of corn involuntarily scattered. Cro. Eliz. 278.

But if more of any sort of corn be fraudently scattered, than there would have been scattered if proper care had been taken, tithe is due of the rakings of such corn. Cro. Eliz. 475.

No tithes are due of the stubbles left in corn fields, after mowing or reaping of corn. 2 Inst. 261.

Tithe of hay is to be paid, though beasts of plough or pail, or sheep, are to be foddered with such hay. 12 Mod. 197.

But so tithe is due of hay upon the bendlands of ploughed ground, provided that such headlands are not wider than is sufficient to turn the plough and horses upon. I Rol. Abr. 616.

It is laid down in an old case, that if a man cut down grass, and while it is in the swathes, carry it away, and give it to his plough eattle, not having sufficient sustenance for them otherwise, no tithe is due thereof. 1 Rol. Abr. 645.

And in a modern case, the court exchequer was of opinion, that me tithe is due of vetches, or of clover, cut green and given to cattle in husbandry. Rumb. 279.

Weed. Tithe of wood is not due in common right, because week does not renew annually: but it was in actient times paid in many places by custom. 2 Inst. 645.

Exemptions from tithes are of two kinds; either to be whelly exempted from paying any tithes, or from paying tithes in kind.—
The former is called de non decimando: the latter de mode deimandi.

Prescription de non decimando, is to be free from the payment d' tithes, without any recompence for the same. Concerning which the general rule is, that no layman can prescribe in non decimando; that is, to be discharged absolutely of the payment of tithes, and to pay mothing in lieu thereof; unless he begin his prescription in a religiou or ecclesiastical person. But all spiritual persons, as bishops, dear, prebendaries, parsons, and vicars, may prescribe generally in non decimando. I Rol. Abr. 653.

A modus decimandi, usually cailed by the name of modus only, is where there is by custom a particular manner of tithing, different from the general laws of taking tithes in kind. This is sometimes a pecuniary compensation, as so much an acre for the tithe of last: sometimes a compensation in work and labour; as that the parsonship have only the twelfth cock of hay, and not the tenth, in consideration of the owner's making it for him: sometimes in lieu of a large quantity, when arrived to great maturity; as a couple of fowls it lieu of tithe eggs, and the like. Any means in short, wherety the general law of tithing is altered, and a new method of taking these is introduced, is called a modus decimandi, or special method of tithing. 2 Black. 29.

In order to make a modus or prescription good, several qualifications are requisite. It must be supposed to have had a reasonable commencement, as that at the time of the composition, the modus was the real value of money, it is now become much less. It must be something for the parson's benefit; therefore finding straw for he body of the church, the finding a rope for a bell, the paying 5s. the parish clerk, have been adjudged not to be good. But it is a cod modus to be discharged, that one hath time out of mind been sed to employ the profits, for the repair of the chancel, for the parameter hath a benefit by that.

A modus must be certain: so a prescription to pay a penny or hereabouts, for every aere of land, is void for the uncertainty.— and it has been held, that if a precise day of payment be not aledged, the modus will be ill; but now it is holden, that where an annual modus hath been paid, and no certain day for the payment hereof is limited, the same shall be due and payable, on the last lay of the year.

A modus must be antient; and therefore, if it be any thing near he value of the tithe, it will be supposed to be of late commencement, and for that reason will be set aside.

A modus must be durable, for the tithe in kind, being an inheriance certain, the recompence for it, should be as durable, therefore certain sum, to be paid by the inhabitants of such an honse, hath seen set aside, because the house may go down and none inhabit it.

And it must be constant and uninterrupted; for if there have been requent interruptions, no custom or prescription can be obtained. But after it hath been once duly obtained, a disturbance for ten or wenty years shall not destroy it.

When a common is divided and inclosed, a modus shall only exend to such tithes as the common yielded before inclosure, such as he tithes of wool, lambs, or agistment; but not to the tithes of hay and corn, which the common, whilst it was common, did never projuce. Bur. 1735.

The parson cannot come himself and set out his tithes, without the consent of the owner; but he may attend and see it set out; yet the wner is not obliged to give him notice when he intends to set it out, nless it he by special custom. Id. 1891.

After it is set out, the care thereof as to wasting or spoiling, rests pon the parson, and not upon the owner of the land; but the parson may spread, dry, and prepare his corn, hay, or the like, in any onvenient place upon the ground, till it be sufficiently weathered, and fit to be carried into the barn.

And he may carry his tithes from the ground, either by the comnon way, or such other way as the owner of the land uses to carry way his nine parts.

If the parson suffer his tithe to stay too long upon the land, the ther may distrain the same as doing damage; or he may have an etion on the case: but he cannot put in his cattle and destroy the corn or other tithe, for that would be to make himself judge what shall be deemed a convenient time for taking it away. Lord Reps. 189.

Payment of tithes. By I Geo. 1. c. 6. all customary payment due to clergymen, the payment of tithes, &c. is enforced; and the prosecution in this case may be, for any tithes or church-rates, any customary or other rights, dues, or payments, belonging to any church or chapel, which of right by law and custom, ought to be paid for the stipend or maintenance of any minister or curate, officiating in any church or chapel; provided that the same do not conceed 204.

But the time is not limited, within which the same shall become

And if any quaker shall refuse, to pay or compound for the same any parson, vicar, curate, farmer, or proprietor of such tithes, any churchwarden, chapelwarden, or other person who ought a have, receive, or collect, any such tithes, rates, dues, or payments, may make complaint to any two justices, other than such as is paint of the church or chapel, or interested in the tithes.

The number of days is not limited between the time of refusal, and the complaint; nor is it hereby required, that such complaint shall be in writing. But it will be more conformable to the usual practice in like cases, if it be in writing.

Upon which complaint, the said justices are required to summe in writing under their hands and seals, by reasonable warning, and quaker, against whom such complaint shall be made.

And after appearance, or on default of appearance (the warms or summons being proved before them upon oath), they may proved to examine on oath the truth of the complaint, and to ascertain as state what is due and payable.

And by order under their hands and seals, they may direct and point the payment thereof, so as the sum, ordered as aforesaid, and exceed 101. And also such costs and charges, as upon the merital of the cause shall appear, not exceeding 10s.

And on refusal to pay, any one of the two next justices, by we rant under his hand and seal, may levy the same by distress at sale, rendering the overplus, the necessary charges of distraining being first deducted and allowed by the said justice; unless it be the case of appeal, and then no warrant of distress shall be granted till the appeal shall be determined.

As no time is limited for detaining the distress, nor charges allowed for keeping it, it may be sold immediately.

Any person, who shall think himself aggrieved by the judgmen of the two justices, may appeal to the next sessions; where if the judgment shall be affirmed, they shall decree the same by order of sessions, and give costs against the appellant, to be levied by distress and sale, as to them shall seem reasonable.

And no proceeding herein, shall be removed by certiorari, or otherwise, unless the title of such tithes shall be in question.

The withholding of tithes from the parson or vicar, whether the former be a clergyman or lay-appropriator, is among the pecuniary causes cognizable in the ecclesiastical court. But herein a distinction must be taken; for the ecclesiastical courts have no jurisdiction to try the right of tithes, unless between spiritual persons, between spiritual men and lay men, and are only to compel the payment of them, when the right is not disputed. 2 Inst. 364.

TITHING MEN. In the Saxon times, for the better conservation of peace, and the more easy administration of justice, every hundred was divided into ten districts or tithings, each tithing consisting of ten friborgs, each friborg of ten families; which tithing-men, or civil deans, were to examine and determine all smaller differences between villages and neighbours, but to refer all greater matters to the superior courts, which had a jurisdiction over the whole hundred. See Decennary.

TITLE, properly is, when a man hath lawful cause of entry into lands, whereof another is seized, for which he can have no action, as title of mortmain, or title to enter for a breach of condition: but legally, this word title includes a right.

TITLE OF ENTRY, is when one seised of land in fee, makes a feoffment thereof, on condition, and the condition is broken; after which the feoffer bath title to enter into the land, and may do so at his pleasure, and by his entry, the freehold shall be said to be in him presently.

TOBACCO, not to be planted in England or Ireland, &c. under the penalty of 121. for every pole, and the forfeiture thereof.

TOFT, a messuage, or rather a place where a messuage formerly tood, but is decayed or casually burnt, and not rebuilt.

TOLL, a payment in towns, markets, and fairs, for goods bought and sold.

TOLL, or PORT TOLL, a prescription to have part toll for all soods coming into a man's port, may be good; and this it is said, without any consideration 2 Lev. 96.

By 25 Geo. 3. c. 57. all carriages or horses carrying the mail were exempted from toll.

By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 145. reciting that whereas an exemption from toll has, by several acts for repairing turnpike roads, bear in respect of cattle or carriages carrying or drawing my int nure, or compost for manuring the land, or fodder for cont that in some of the said acts there is no express provising any exemption from the payment of toll for and in respect carriage, or the cattle drawing the same, going emp? lading, or returning empty, having been so laden; and in of such omission, toll has in some cases been lately demaid received, in respect of carriages going empty for such lain; other cases disputes have arisen concerning the same: and excluding from such exemption the case of carriages going of such lading, or returning empty having been so laden, must the discouragement of agriculture, and check the due improve land, and in many cases defeat the benefit intended by to tion from tolls of carriages carrying dung, manure, or carriages fodder for cattle: and that by a clause in the 13 Geo. $63 enacted, that the regulations of weight therein before should not extend to any waggons, carts, or other carries ployed only in husbandry, or carrying only manure for bed straw, fodder, or corn unthreshed: and whereas great income will result to persons employed in husbandry, if the said end in respect of waggons, carts, or other carriages laden with and the cattle drawing the same, should be prevented from place, by reason only of any empty basket or baskets, especial or sacks, being in or upon the same, if the loading theresis etantially manure, hay, straw, fodder, or corn unthreshed: whereas great uncertainty has prevailed, as to the tolis chief carriages or horses, liable to separate tolls, when affixed, is secured to some waggon, cart, or other carriage, and madif venience has arisen therefrom: it is therefore enacted; that frest after the 25th of September, 1812, in every case in which under act of parliament for making, widening, and enlarging, repair or otherwise relating to any turnpike road, there is an exempt from toll or duty in respect of any horse, mule, ass, ox, cart, or other carriage, carrying or drawing any dung. mould, marl, lime, or compost, of any nature or kind soever, for or improving the land, or hay, straw, or any other fodder for a such exemption shall extend, in respect of every such waggon, and also in respect to the cattle drawing the same, going empty. loaded only with implements necessary for more convenient carrie or loading or unloading such lading, or returning empty, or such implements as aforesaid, having been so laden, notwithstands the said waggon, &c. shall for the purposes aforesaid so to or real ame: 52 Geo. 3. c. 145. s. 1.

prevent frauds, the tolls on empty carriages to be first paid, for in afterwards returned, on pain of the toll collector forfeiting to preservowner of the waggon, &c. not less than ten nor more than tong ? s. 2.

in high rersons aggrieved to appeal to justices of the peace of the place of the place of the place of the place of the offence was committed. s. S. The trustees of roads to reasonable elessees of tolls from their contracts at Michaelmas next, should not be a superior of tolls wishing to the place of the lessees, &c. of tolls wishing to the place of the lessees, &c. are to re-let the tolls. The place of t

The regulations of weight in the 13 G. 3. c. 78. are to extend to the law in the lawing empty baskets, sacks, makes. s. 6.

where any coach, or other four wheeled carriage, shall pass region ongh any turnpike gate, tied to any waggon or cart, it shall be s and seble to the same toll, and no more, as if it had passed through the d turnpike gate drawn by two horses; and in case any chair. or other carriage whatsoever, with two wheels only, shall irs through any turnpike gate, so tied to any waggon or cart as presaid, it shall be liable to the same toll, and no more, as the would have been if passing through the said gate drawn by one harmerse only; and where any horse shall be fastened to but not used in awing any waggon, cart, or other carriage, such horse shall not e liable to a higher toll than a single horse; provided, that if any pach, chariot, chaise, chair, cart, or other carriage, so tied to waggon or cart, shall have any goods conveyed therein, other aan the harness thereof, and such articles of packages as may be ecessary for the protection of such carriages, the same shall be simble to double the toll hereby imposed. s. 7.

TOLL, or THOROUGH TOLL, is properly where a toll in the high street. 2 Roll. in the high street. 2 Roll. k, # Abr. 522.

TOLL TRAVERSE, is properly when a man pays certain toll for passing over the soil of another man in a way not an high street.

Mod. 252.

TOLL TRADERS, is when a person claims tolls for every beast driven over his ground; for which a man may prescribe, and distrain for it in via regia. Gro. Eliz. 710.

TOLL, or TURN-TOLL, a toll paid for beasts that are driven to a market to be sold, and return unsold. 6 Rep. 46.

TOLLAGE, any manner of custom or imposition.

TOLL-CORN, an indictment lies against a miller for taking too much toll. 5 Mod. 13. See Mill.

TOLT, is a writ whereby a cause depending in a court baron, is removed to the county court.

TONNAGE, is a custom or import paid to the king for merchandize, imported or exported, according to a certain rate upon every ton.

TOURN, the sheriff's tourn, is the king's court of record, bolden before the sheriff, for redressing of common grievances within the county. 2 Haw. 55.

TRADE, in general signification, is traffic or merchandize: also a private art, and way of living.

TRANSCRIPT, the copy of an original deed, written again or exemplified, as the transcript of a fine.

TRANSGRESSIONE, a writ commonly called a writ or action of trespass; which is to be sued in the court of king's bench or common pleas.

TRANSITORY, transitory actions are such as may be laid in any county or place; as for debt, detinue, slander, or the like, which are injuries that might happen any where; whereas a local action is restricted to that particular county where the injury was actually done, as for waste, trespass, or the like.

TRANSLATION, is the removal of a bishop to another diocese.

TRANSPORTATION, is the banishing or sending away a criminal into another county.

If any offender ordered to be transported, shall return into Great Britain or Ireland, before the end of his term, he shall be liable to be punished as a person attainted of felony, without benefit of clergy, and execution shall be awarded against him accordingly. 24 Geo. 3. c. 56.

By 42 Geo. 3. c. 28. his majesty may appoint an inspector of the places of confinement, authorized by 24 Geo. 3. c. 56.; who shall report the particulars, and state of such places to parliament, at the beginning of every session; and, in cases of necessity, to the court of king's beach: but the inspector's salary is not to exceed 3504. per annum.

By 43 Geo. 3. c. 15. his unjesty may, by his sign manual, give a property in the service of offenders transported in ships belonging to his unjesty, without security being given for their transportation by his officers.

TRAVERSE, signifies sometimes to deny, sometimes to overthrow or undo a thing, or to put one to prove some matter; much used in answers to bills in chancery; or it is that which the defendant pleads or saith in bar to avoid the plaintiff's bill, either by confessing and avoiding, or by denying and traversing the material parts thereof.

TRAVERSE AN INDICTMENT, is to take issue upon the chief matter, and to contradict or deny some point of it.

A traverse must be always made to the substantial part of the title. Where an act may indifferently intended to be at one day or another, there the day is not traversable. In an action of trespass, generally the day is not material; though if a matter be done upon a particular day, there it is material and traversable. 2 Roll's Rep. 37.

TRAVERSE AN OFFICE, is to prove that an inquisition made of lands or goods by escheator, is defective and untruly made.

TRAYLBASTON. See Justices of Traylbaston.

TRAYTOR. See Treason.

TREASON, is divided into high treason, and petty treason; high treason is defined to be an offence committed against the security of the king or kingdom, whether it be by imagination, word or deed, as to computs or imagine the death of the king, queen, or prince, or to deflower the king's wife, or his eldest daughter unmarried; or his eldest son's wife; or levy war against the king in his realm, adhere to his enemies, counterfeit his great scal, privy seal, or money, or wittingly to bring false money into this realm counter, feited like the money of England, and utter the same. To kill the king's chancellor, treasurer, justices of either bench, justices in eyre, of assize, or of over and terminer, being in their place doing this office. Forging the king's sign manual, or privy signet, privy seal, or foreign coln current here, or diminishing or impairing current money. In case of treason, a man shall be drawn, hanged, and quartered, and forfeit his lands and goods to the king. 25 Ed. 3. st. 5. c. 2.

Petit treason is, whenever a wife murders her husband, a servant his master or mistress, or an ecclesiastic a prelate, or to whom he owes obedience, every one of these offences is petit treason.

As every petit treason implies a murder, it follows, that the mere killing of an husband, master or prelate, is not always petit treason; for if there are not such circumstances, in the case of killing one of these persons, as would have made it murder in the case of killing any other person, it does not amount to this offence. I Haw. 88.

There can be no accessary in high treason. 2 Haw. 310.

And it seems to be always agreed, that, what would have made a man an accessary before the fact in any other felony, makes him a principal in high treason. 3 Inst. 21.

As the person of his majesty was imagined in imminent danger, it was thought necessary to enact two law statutes, viz. 36 G. 3. c. 7. and 36 G. 3. e. 8. the former to enlarge the clauses in the stat. 25 Ed. 3. for the greater safety of his majesty's person; the latter for the preventing seditions meetings. But on account of the too great length of the acts, we are obliged to refer the reader thereto.

By 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 93. in cases of high treason and misprision of treason, where the overt act alledged in the indictment shall be assassination of the king, or any direct attempt against his life, the offender shall be tried in the same manner as if charged with murder; but punishable as in cases of high treuson (notwithstanding 7 Will. 3. c. 3. or 7 Ann. c. 21.)

TREASURER OF THE COUNTY. The justices of the peace in sessions, may appoint treasurers from time to time, of the county rates, and allow them salaries not exceeding 201. a year; which treasurers shall keep books of entries of all receipts and dishursements by them made, and account for the same to the said justices in sessions.

There are two treasurers in each county, chosen by the major part of the justices of the peace, &c. at Easter sessions. They must have 101. a year in land, or 501. in personal estate; and shall not continue in their office above a year; and they are to account yearly at the quarter sessions, or within ten days after, to their successors under penalties.

TREASURE TROVE, is where any money or coin, gold, silver, plate, or bullion, is hidden in the earth, or other private place, the owner thereof being unknown; in which case, the treasure belongs to the king, or some other who claims by the king's grant, or by prescription. Brac. Lib. 3.

But if he that hid it be known, or afterwards found out, the owner and not the king is entitled to it. I Black. 295.

It it be found in the sea, or upon the earth, it does not belong to the king, but to the finder, if no owner appear. Black. 295.

TREES. See Timber.

TRESPASS, is any transgression of the law, under treason, felony, or misprision of either. Staundf. Pl. Cor. 38.

Trespass signifies going beyond what is lawful; hence it follows, that every injurious act is, in the large sense of this word, a trespass. But as many injurious acts are distinguished by particular names, as treason, murder, rape, and other names, the legal sense of the word trespass, is confined to such injurious acts, as have not acquired a particular name. Some trespasses are not accompanied with any force; a trespass of this sort is called a trespass upon the case: and the proper remedy for the party injured, is by an action upon the case. Other trespasses are accompanied with force, either actual or implied. If a trespass, which was accompanied with either actual or implied force, have been injurious to the public, the proper remedy in every such case, is by an indictment, or by information. And if a trespass that was accompanied with an actual force, have been injurious only to one or more private persons, the offender is in every such case liable to an indictment; or to an information; for although the injury has in such case been only done to one or more private persons, as every trespass accompanied with actual force is a breach of the peace, it is to be considered and punished as an offence against the public. 5 Bac. Abr. 150.

A man is answerable for not only his own trespass, but that of his cattle also. S Black. 211.

And the law gives the party injured, a double remedy in this case; by permitting him to distrain the cattle thus doing damage, till the owner shall make him satisaction, or else by leaving him to the common remedy by action. And in either of these cases of trespass committed on another's land, either by a man himself or his cattle, the action that lies, is the action of trespass, with force and arms; for the law always couples the idea of force, with that of intrusion upon the property of another. 3 Black. 210.

In some cases, trespass is justifiable; or rather entry on another's land or house, shall not in these cases be accounted trespass; as if a man came there to demand or pay money there payable, or to execute in a legal manner the process of the law. 3 Black. 219.

To prevent trifling and vexatious actions of trespass, it is enacted by 43 Eliz. c. 6. 22 and 23 Car. 2. c. 9. and 8 & 9 W. c. 2. that where a jury who try an action of trespass, give less damages than 40s. the plaintiff shall be allowed no more costs than damages; unless the judge shall certify on the back of the record, that the freehold or title of the land came chiefly in question. But if it shall appear, that the trespass was wilful and malicious, the plaintiff shall have his full costs. And every trespass is wilful, where the defendant has been forewarned, and malicious where the intent of the defendant appears to be to harrass or injure the plaintiff. 3 Black. 370.

TRIAL, the proceeding of a court of law, when the parties are at issue, such as the examination of witnesses, &c. to enable the court, deliberately weighing the evidence given on both sides, to draw a true conclusion, and administer justice accordingly. See Tidd'e Practice, K. B.

TRITHING, the third part of a shire or county.

TRINITY-HOUSE, a college belonging to a company or corporation of seamen, who are empowered by charter to take cogninance of those who destroy sea-marks, to regulate the rates of ballastage, pilots, light-houses, &c. 5 Geo. 2. c. 20.

TRONAGE, the mayor and commonalty of the city of London, are ordained keepers of the beams and weights for weighing merchant's commodities, with power to assign clerks, porters, &c. of the great beam and balance; which weighing of goods and wares, is called tronage.

TROVER, is the remedy prescribed by the law where any person is in possession of the property of another, which he unlawfully detains. Previous to commencing this action, a demand of the property so detained, must be made in writing hy some person properly authorized by the owner of the property; and upon refusal to restore it, the law presumes an unlawful conversion; and the party is entitled to this action, and will recover damages to the value of the property detained. As trover implies trespass, the smallest damages will carry costs. A similar action may be brought for the unlawful detention of any property, on which the specific articles so detained, may be recovered; but as articles detained, must be precisely stated in the declaration, and is attended with some difficulty, this action is very seldom brought.

TRUST, is a right to receive profits of land, and to dispose of the land in equity. And one holding the possession and disposing thereof at his will and pleasure, are signs of trust. Chan. Rep. 52.

A trust is but a new name given to an use, and invented to evade the statute of uses. 21 Vin. 493.

What is a declaration of trust, and when a trust shall be raised. By stat. 29 C. 2. c. 3. all declarations or creations of trusts shall be manifested by some writing signed by the party, or by his last will in writing, or else shall be void. And by sect. 9. of the same act, assignments of trusts shall be in writing, signed by the party assigning the same, or by his last will, or else shall be of no effect.

What shall be deemed a trust by implication. By 29 Car. 2. all declarations of trusts were to be made in writing; but in the said set there is a saving with regard to trusts resulting by implication of law, which are left on the footing whereon they stood before the act; now a bare declaration by parol before the act, would prevent any resulting trust. 2 Vern. 294.

If a man purchase lands in another's name, and pay the money, it will be a trust for him that paid the money, though there be no deed made, declaring the trust thereof; for the statute of frauds and perjaries extends not to trusts raised by operations of law. 2 Feat. 861.

Charitable trusts. By the 52 Geo. 3. in order to provide a summary remedy in cases of abuses of trusts created for charitable purposes, it is enacted that in cases of breach of trust, a petition is to to be presented to the lord chancellor, &c. who shall hear the same in a summary way, and make order therein, and such order shall be final and conclusive unless the party who shall think himself aggrieved thereby, shall, within two years from the time when such order shall have been passed and entered by the proper officer, have preferred an appeal from such decision to the house of lords, to whom it is enacted and declared that an appeal shall lie from such order. s. 1.

Every petition so to be preferred, shall be signed by the persons preferring the same, in the presence of and shall be attested by the solicitor or attorney concerned for such petitioners, and every such petition shall be submitted to and be allowed by his majesty's attorney or solicitor general, and such allowance shall be certified by him before any petition shall be presented. And neither the petitions, nor any proceedings upon the same or relative thereto, nor the copies of any such petitions or proceedings, shall be subject or liable to the payment of any stamp duty whatever. s. 2, 3.

TRUSTEES OF PAPISTS, are disabled to make presentations to churches by stat. 12 Anne c. 4.

TURBARY, a right to dig turf on another man's ground.

TURNIPS, penalties on stealing. See Cabbage.

TURNO VICECOMITUM, a writ that lies for those who are called to the sheriff's tourn, out of their own bundred.

TURNPIKES, if any person shall pull down, or otherwise destroy any turnpike-gate, post, chain, bar, or other fence, or any house erected for the use of such 'gate, he shall be guilty of felony, and transported for seven years. 13 Geo. 3. c. 84.

TWELVE MEN, a jury. See Jury.

TYTHES. See Tithes.

U & V

TACATION, is all the time between the end of one term, and the beginning of another, it begins the last day of every term as soon as the court rises.

VADIUM MORTUUM, a mortgage or dead pledge; which is, where a man borrows money of another, and grants him an estate in fee, on condition, that if the money be not repaid, the estate so put in pledge shall continue to the lender as dead and gone from the mortgagor. 2 Black. 157. See Mortgage.

VAGABOND, one who wanders about and has no certain dwelling.

VAGRANTS, are all persons threatening to run away and leave their wives and children to the parish: All persons unlawfully returning to the parish or place whence they have been legally removed by order of two justices, without bringing a certificate from the parish or place whereunto they belong: All persons who have not wherewith to maintain themselves, live idle, and refine to work for the usual wages given to other labourers in the like work, in the parishes or places where they are: All persons going from door to door, or placing themselves in the streets, highways, or passages, to beg or gather alms in the parishes or places where they dwell.

All these shall be deemed idle and disorderly persons. And one justice may commit such offenders (being thereof convicted before him, by his own view, confession, or oath of one witness) to the house of correction, to hard labour not exceeding one month. And any person may apprehend, and carry before a justice, any such persons going from door to door, or placing themselves in the streets, highways, or passages, to beg alms in the parishes or places where they dwell, and if they shall resist, or escape from the person apprehending them, they shall be punished as rogues and vagabonds. And the said justice, by warrant under his hand and seal, may order any overseer where such offender shall be apprehended, to pay 5s. to any person in such parish or place so apprehending them, for every offender so apprehended; to be allowed in his accounts, on producing the justice's order, and the person's receipt to whom it was paid. 17 Geo. 2. c. 5.

The same statute also enacts, that such justice, shall order the person so apprehended, to be publicly whipped by the constable, petit-constable, or some other person to be appointed by such constable or petit-constable, of the place where such offender was apprehended; or shall order him to be sent to the house of correction (and hy 27 Geo. 3. c. 11.) the common gaol, till the next sessions, or for any less time, as such justice shall think proper.

To defray the expenses of apprehending, conveying and maintaining rogues, vagabonds, and incorrigible rogues, and all other expenses necessary, the justices in sessions, may cause such sums as shall be necessary to be raised, in the same manner as the general county raise 17 Geo. 3. c. 5.

By 23 Geo. S. c. 88. every person apprehended having any implements for housebreaking, or any offensive weapon, with felonious intent, shall be deemed a rogue within the meaning of 17 Geo. 2. c. 5.

By 33 Geo. 3. c. 45. rogues or vagabonds ordered to be conveyed by passes agreeable to 17 Geo. 2. c. 5. are to be publicly whipped, or confined in a house of correction. No reward is to be paid for apprehending rogues or vagabonds until they shall have been punished. Convicts discharged from prison, and persons acquitted, may be conveyed by masters of houses of correction. Justices at sessions are also to direct what rates are to be allowed for passing rogues. Soldiers and mariners wandering and begging, are to be deemed vagabonds. And persons, who neglect to provide for their families, are to be deemed idle and disorderly. s. 1—6.

By 43 Geo. 3. c. 61. every soldier and sailor, on carrying his discharge, within three days, to the nearest magistrate, shall receive a certificate of his settlement, on producing which, being in his rout, he shall not, for asking relief, be deemed a vagrant. s. 1.

Soldiers' wives not being permitted to embark with their husbands, shall receive from the nearest chief magistrate a like certificate, which shall entitle them to ask relief on their rout. s. 2.

New certificates are to be given in case of accident or sickness. And passes from the admiralty or war office, shall have the same effect as heretofore. s. 3, 4. (See also Burn's or Williams's Justice.—Title Vagrant.)

VALUE, has two different meanings. It sometimes expresses the utility of an object, and sometimes the power of purchasing other goods with it. The first may be called value in use, the other value in exchange.

Value in use is a mere simple effect, arising from the nature of an object, and its being more or less conducive to the necessities, the comforts, or enjoyments of men. The other value is of a compound nature, composed of the value in use, and the labour necessary to procure the object in question. Values are measured by money, which has become a common standard of comparison for all different commodities.

A man cannot say another owes him so much, when the value of the thing owing is uncertain; for which reason actions in these cases are always brought in the detinet, and the declaration ad valentiam, &c. 1 Lutw. 484.

VARIANCE, signifies any alteration of a thing formerly laid in a plea, or where the declaration in a cause differs from the writ, or from the deed upon which it is grounded. 2 Lil. Abr. 629.

If there be a variance between the declaration and the writ, it is error; and the writ shall abate. And if there appear to be a material variance between the matter pleaded, and the manner of pleading it, this is not a good plea; for the manner and matter of pleading ought to agree in substance, or there will be no certainty in it. Cro. Jac. 479.

VASSAL, signifies him that holds land in fee of his lord; we call him more usually a tenant in fee, whereof some own fidelity and service.

VASTO, a writ which lies for the heir against the tenant, for a term of life or for years, for making waste; or for him in the reversion or remainder. F. N. B. 55.

VEJOURS, are such persons as are appointed to view an offence, as a man murdered, &c.

VELLUM AND PARCHMENT. See Excise.

VENDITIONE EXPONAS, a writ judicial, directed to the under sheriff, commanding him to sell goods, which he hath formerly taken into his hands, for satisfying a judgment given in the king's court.

VENDITOR REGIS, the king's salesman; being the person who exposed to sale those goods and chattels which were seized and distrained, to answer any debt due to the king.

VENDOR AND VENDEE. Vendor is a person who sells any thing, and vendos the person to whom it is sold. Where a man sells any thing to another, it is implied that the vendor shall make assurance by bill of sale to the vendee, but not unless it be demanded.

VENIRE FACIAS, a writ judicial awarded to the sherif to cause a jury of the neighbourhood to appear, when a cause is brought to issue, to try the same, and if the jury come not at the day of this writ, then there shall go an kabeas corpora, and after a distress till they appear. 2 Haw. 298.

Venire facias, is also the common process upon any presentment, being in nature of a summons for the party to appear; and this is a proper process to be first awarded on an indictment for any crime, under the degree of treason, or felony; or mathem, except in such cases wherein other process is directed by statute. And if by the return to such venire, it appear that the party buth lands in the county, whereby he may be distrained, then a distress infinite shall be issued from time to time till be appear. But if the sheriff return that be both no lands in his bailiwick, then upon his non appearance, a writ of capias shall issue to take his body. 4 Black. 313.

VENTER, is used in the law for the children by a woman of one marringr; there is a first and second venter, &c. where a man bath children by several wives. See Descent.

VENTRE INSPICIENDO, a writ to search a woman that saith she is with child, and thereby withholds lands from the next heir. As if a man having lands in fee-simple, die, and his widow soon after marty again, and say she is with child by her former husband; in this case, this writ do ventre inspiciendo lies for the heir against her. By which writ the sheriff is commanded, that in presence of twelve men, and as many women, he cause examination to be made, whether the woman is with child or not; and if with child, then about what time it will be born; and that he certify the same to the justices of the assize, or at Westminster, under his seal, and under the seals of two of the men present. Cro. Eliz. 506,

This writ is now granted, not only to an heir at law, but to a devisee, whether for life, in tail, or in fee.

VENUE, the neighbourhood, from whence juries are to be summoned for trial of causes. In local actions, as of tresspass and ejectment, the venue is to be from the neighbourhood of the place, where the lands in question lie; and in all real actions, the venue must be laid in the county where the thing is for which the action is brought. But in transitory actions, for injuries that may have happened any where, as debt, detique, slander or the like, the plaintiff may declare in what county he pleases; and then the trial must be in that county in which the declaration is laid. Though if the defendant will make affidavit, that the cause of action, if any, arose not in that, but in another county, the court will direct a change of the venue, and oblige the plaintiff to declare in the proper county. And the court will sometimes move the venue from the proper jurisdiction (especially of the narrow and limited kind) upon a suggestion duly supported, that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had therein. S Black. 294,

With respect to criminal cases, it is ordained by stat. 21 Jac. 1. c. 4. that all informations on penal statutes shall be laid in the counties were the offences were committed.

VERDEROR, a judicial officer of the king's forest, chosen by the king's writ in the full county of the same shire, within the forest where he dwells; and is sworn to maintain and keep the assizes of the forest, and to view, receive, and enroll the attachments and presentments, of all manner of trespasses of vert and venison in the forest.

VERDICT, the answer of a jury, made upon any cause, civil, or criminal, committed by the court to their examination, and this is twofold, general, or special.

A general verdict is that which is given or brought into the court in like general terms to the general issue; as in an action of disseisin the defendant pleadeth no wrong, no disseisin; then the issue is general, whether the fact be wrong or not, which being committed to the jury, they upon consideration of the evidence come in and say, either for the plaintiff, that it is a wrong and disseisin; or for the defendant, that it is no wrong, no disseisin.

A special verdict, is when they say at large, that such a thing and such a thing they find to be done by the defendant or tenant, so declaring the course of the fact, as in their opinion it is proved; and as to the law upon the fact, they pray the judgment of the court; and this special verdict, if it contain any ample declaration of the cause from the beginning to the end, is also called a verdict at large.—

Co. Lit. 128.

A special verdict is usually found where there is any difficulty or doubt respecting the laws when the jury state the facts as proved, and pray the advice of the court thereon. A less expensive, and more speedy mode however, is to find a verdict generally for the plaintiff, subject nevertheless to the opinion of the judge, or the court above, on a special case drawn up and settled by counsel on both sides.

VERGE, the compass of the king's court, which bounds the jurisdiction of the lord steward of the king's household, and of the coroner of the king's house, and that seems to have been twelve miles compass. See Marshalsea Court.

Verge, bath also another signification, and is used for a stick or rod, whereby one is admitted tenant, and holding it in his hand, swears fealty to the lord of the manor, who for that cause is called tenant by the verge.

VERGERS, such as carry white wands before the justices of either bench.

VERT, cover for deer and also that power which a man hath by the king's grant, to cut green wood in the forest.

VERY LORD AND VERY TENANT, they that are immediate lord and tenant one to another.

VESTRY, a place adjoining to a church, where the vestments of the minister are kept; also a meeting at such place where the minister, churchwardens, and principal men of most parishes, do at this day make a parish vestry. On the Sunday before a vestry is to meet, public notice ought to be given, either in the church, or after divine service is ended, or else at the church door as the parishioners come out; both of the calling of the said meeting, and also the time and place of the assembling of it; and it is reasonable then also to deselare for what business the said meeting is to be held, that none may be surprized, but that all may have full time before to consider of what is to be proposed at the said meeting. Wats. c. 39.

VETITUM NAMIUM, forbidden distress, as when the bailiff of a lord distrains beasts or goods, and the lord forbids him to deliver them, when the sheriff comes to replevy them, and to that end drives them to places unknown: or when they are so cloined, as they cannot be replevies.

VIA REGIA, the highway or common road, called the king's way, because authorized by him, and under his protection.

VICAR, one who supplies the place of another. The priest of every parish is called rector, unless the prædial tithes are appropriated, and then he is stiled vicar; and when rectories are appropriated, vicars are to supply the rector's place. For the maintenance of the vicar, there was then set apart a certain portion of the tithes, commonly about a third part of the whole, which are now what are called the vicarial tithes, the rest being reserved to the use of those houses, which for the like reason are determinated the rectorial tithes.

VICARAGE. For the most part vicarages were endowed upon appropriation; but sometimes vicarages have been endowed without any appropriation of the parsonage; and there are several churches where the tithes are wholly impropriated, and no vicarage endowed; and there the impropriators are bound to maintain curates to perform divine service, &c. The parsons, patron, and ordinary, may create a vicarage, and endow it; and in time of vacancy of the church, the patron, and ordinary may do it: but the ordinary alone cannot create a vicarage, without the patron's assent.

VICAR GENERAL, an officer under the bishop, having cognizance of spiritual matters, as correction of manners, and the like; as the official principal hath jurisdiction of temporal matters, as of wills and administrations, and both of these are commonly united under the name of chancellor.

VICINAGE, common of vicinage, is, where the inhabitants of two townships, which lie contiguous, have usually intercommoned with one another, the beasts of the one straying mutually into the other's fields without any molestation from either. This indeed is only a permissive right, intended to excuse, what in strictness is a trespass in both, and to prevent a multiplicity of suits; and therefore neither township may inclose and bar out the other, though they have intercommoned time out of mind. Neither hath any person of one town a right to put his beasts originally into the other's common; but if they escape and stray, there of themselves, the law winks at the trespass. 2 Black. 34. See Common.

VICONTIBL JURISDICTION, 'that jurisdiction which belongs to the officers of a county, as sheriff's coroner, eschentor, &c.

VIDELICET. A videlicet in a deed may make a separation, as well as an kabendum: and if there be several kabend, of an annuity of 20% to one, and so to four others; it will be to the same effect, though it say kabendum 100% to them, to be equally divided; vis. 20% to one and so to the rest. 5 Rep. 29.

VIET ARMIS, with force and arms, are words used in indictment, &c. to express the charge of forcible and violent committing any crime or trespass: but on appeal of death, on a killing with a warpon, the words vi et armis are not necessary, because they are implied; so in an indictment of forcible entry alledged to have been made, many forti, &c. 2 Han. 179.

VIEW, is generally where a real action is brought in any of the court of record at Westminster, and it shall appear to the court to be proper and necessary that the jurors should have a view, they may order special writs of distringus, or habeas corpora to issue, commanding the sherif to have six of the first twelve of the jurors therein named, or of some greater number of them at the place in question, &c. But as the having a view was not a matter of course, though such a practice had prevailed, and had been abused to the purposes of delay, the court thought it their duty to take care that their ordering a view should not obstruct justice, and prevent the cause from being tried: and they resolved not to order one any more, without a full examination into the propriety and necessity of it. For they were all clearly of opinion, that the act of parliament meant that a view should not be granted, unless the court were satisfied that it was proper and neces sary; and they thought it better that a cause should be tried upon a view had by any six, or by fewer than six, or even without any view, than be delayed for any greater ledgth of time.—I Burr. 256.

VIEW OF FRANK PLEDGE, the office which the sherif is his county court, or the bailiss in his hundred, performs in looking to the king's peace, and seeing that every man be in some piedge.

VI LAICA REMOVENDA, a writ which lies where two persons contend for a church, and one of them enters into it with a great number of laymen, and holds out the other vi et armis; then he that is ho'den out, shall have this writ directed to the sheriff, that he remove the force.

VILL, or VILLAGE, was anciently a precinct consisting of tell tenants, on which account they are sometimes called tithings.

By intendment of law, every parish is a vill unless it be shews to the contrary. Co. Lit. 125.

Every vill must have a constable; otherwise it is but an hamlet. 12 Mod. 18.

VILLAIN or VILLEIN, a man of servile or base degree

Of these bondmen or villeins, there were two sorts in England, one termed a villain in gross, who was immediately bound to the person of his lord and his heirs. The other villein regardant to a manor, being bound to his lord as a member belonging and annexed to a manor whereof the lord was owner.

Both villains regardant, and villains in gross, were transferable by deed from one owner to another; they could not leave their lord without his permission; but if they ran away or were purloined from him, might be claimed and recovered by action like beasts or other chattels. They held indeed small portions of land to sustain themselves and families; but it was at the mere will of the lord, who might dispossess them whenever he pleased. A villain could acquire no property either in lands or goods; but if he purchased either, the lord might enter upon him, and seize them to his own use.—

1 Black. 93.

VILLANOUS JUDGMENT, is that which casts the reproach of villany upon him against whom it is given; and it was an antient judgment given by the common law in attaint, or in cases of conspiracy, whereby the offender lost his liberam ligem, and became infamous, disabled to be a juror, or witness, forfeited his goods and chattels, and his lands during life, and to have those lands wasted, his trees rooted up, and his body committed to prison.

Staundf. Pl. Cor. 157.

The punishment at this day appointed for perjuty, may partake of the name of villanous judgment; as it bath somewhat more in it than corporal, or pecuniary pain, viz the discrediting the testimony of the offender for ever.

VIOLENCE. All violence is unlawful; if a man assault another with an intention of beating him only, and he die, it is felony.

VISITATION, that office which is performed by the bishop of every diocese once every three years, or by the archdeacon once a year, by visiting the churches and their rectors, throughout the whole diocese.

VISITOR, an impector of the government of a corporation, &c. the ordinary is visitor of spiritual corporations; but corporations instituted for private charity, if they are lay, are visitable by the founder, or by whom be shall appoint, and from the sentence of such visitor their lies no appeal. 3 Salk. 381.

YIVA VOCE, is where a witness is examined personally in open court. See Evidence.

UMPIRAGE, is where two persons being appointed arbitrators in consequence of not agreeing in opinion, appoint some person to decide the difference; the party so appointed, is in such case, termed the umpirage, and his determination the umpirage. See Apard and Arbitration.

Any person who is not under a legal incapacity, may be appointed an umpire. And it has been determined that arbitrators may nominate an umpire before they proceed to consider the subject referred to them: and so far is this from putting an end to their authority, that it is the fairest way of choosing an umpire. 2 Term Rep. 645.

The duty of an umpire is, finally to determine on the whole subject in dispute, where the arbitrators cannot do it; and, by adopting their opinion as far as they agree and incorporating it with his own on the other points, he effectually makes such final determination. 4 Term Rop. 589.

UNA CUM OMNIBUS ALIIS, in the grant of a deed, is a new edition of other things, than were granted before; and hath its own conclusion attending it. Hob. 175.

UNCORE PRIST, or ENCORE PRIST, is a plea for the defendant, being sued for a debt, due at a day past, to save the forfeiture of his bond, saying that he tendered the debt at the time and place, and that there was none to receive, and that he is still ready to pay the same.

UNDER SHERIFF. See Sheriff.

UNIFORMITY, one form of public prayers, and administration of sacraments, and other rites and ceremonies of the church of England, to which all must submit, prescribed by statutes, I C. 2. and 14 Car. 2. c. 4.

UNION OF ENGLAND AND IRELAND. See Ireland.
UNION OF ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND. See Scotland.

UNITY OF POSSESSION, signifies joint possession of two rights, by several titles. As for example, if a man take a lease of land from another person at a certain rent, and afterwards buy the fee-simple, this is an unity of possession, by which the lease is extinguished, by reason that he, who before had the occupation only for his rent, is become lord of the same, and is to pay rent to none but himself.

UNIVERSITY. By universities in general, we understand those seminaries of learning, where youth are sent to finish their education, and to be instructed in the liberal sciences. With us, by universities, are more particularly denoted those two learned booles of Oxford and Cambridge, which are invested with several peculiar privileges.—
5 Bac. Abr. 330.

UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY. See Riots.

UNLAWFUL OATHS. Sec Oaths.

UNQUES PRIST, always ready, a plea whereby a man professes bimself always ready to do or perform that which the demandant requires. For example, a woman sues the tenant for her dower, and he coming in at the day, offers to aver, that he was always ready, and still is, to perform it. In this case, except the demandant will aver the contrary, he shall recover no damages. Kitch. 243.

VOCIFERATIO. See Hue and Cry.

VOIDANCE, a want of an incumbent upon a benefice, and this is double, either in law as when a man hath more benefices incompatible, or in deed, as when the incumbent is dead, or actually deprived. Bro. 51.

VOID AND VOIDABLE, in the law, some things are absolutely void, and others only voidable. A thing is void which is done against law at the very time of doing it, and no person shall be bound by such an act; but a thing is only voidable which is done by a person who ought not to have done it, but who nevertheless cannot avoid it himself after it is done; though it may be by some act in law made void by his heir, &c. 2 Lil. Abr. 807.

VOIR DIRE, is where the party is examined upon oath, to speak the truth, or make true answer to such questions as the court shall demand of him: so where it is prayed upon a trial at law, that a witness may be sworn, whether he shall get or lose by the matter in controversy, this is called a voir dire; and if it appear that the witness be disinterested, his testimony is allowed, otherwise not.—3 Black. 332.

VOLUMUS, the first word of a clause in the king's writs of protection, and letters patent.

VOLUNTARY, when applied to a deed, is where any conveyance is made, without a consideration of either money, marriage, &c. Thus remainders limited in settlements, to a man's right heirs, &c. are deemed voluntary in equity, and the persons claiming under them are called volunteers.

VOLUNTAS, is when the tenant holds at the will of the lessor, or lord, which may be done in two different ways; one is, when a person makes a lease to a man of lands to hold at his will, then he may put him out at his pleasure, but if the tenant sow the ground, and he put him out, then the tenant shall have his corn with egresss and regress, till it be ripe to cut, and carry out of the ground. And such tenant at will, is not bound to sustain and repair the house, as tenant for years is. But if he make wilful waste, the lessor shall have against him an action of trespass.

The other tenant at will of the lord, is, by copy of court roll, according to the custom of the manor; and such a tenant may surrender the land into the hands of the lord, according to the custom, to the use of another for life, in fee, or in tail; and then he shall take the land of the lord, or his steward, by copy, and shall make fine to the lord.

VOUCHER, a term of art, when the tenant in a writ of right, calls another into the court who is bound to him to warranty. And that is either to defend the right against the demandant, or to yield him other lands, &c. in value; and extends to lands or tenements of freehold or inheritance: he that voucheth, is called voucker, and he that is vouched, is called the vouckee. See Recovery.

USAGE, differs from custom and prescription: no man may claim a reut, common, or other inheritance, by usage though he may by prescription. B. Ca. 65.

USANCE. See Bills of Exchange.

USE, is a trust and confidence reposed in another who is tenant of the land, that he shall dispose of the land according to the intention of cestury que use, or him to whose use it was granted, and suffer him to take the profits. 2 Black. 328.

By stat. 27 Hen. 8. c. 10. commonly called the statute of uses or the statute for transferring uses into possession, the cestury que use is considered as the real owner of the estate; whereby it is enacted that when any person is seized of lands to the use of another, the person, intitled to the use in fee-simple, fee-tail, for life or years, or otherwise, shall stand and be seized or possessed of the land, in the like estate, as he hath of the use, trust or confidence. And thereby the act makes cestury que use, complete owner both at law and in equity. 2 Black. 302.

USES, SUPERSTITIOUS. See Mortmain.

USUCAPTION, the enjoying a thing by continuance of time, or receiving the profits, long possession, or prescription.

USURIOUS CONTRACT any hargain or contract, whereby any man is obliged to pay more than legal interest. See Usury.

USURPATION, the using that which is another's; an interruption, or disturbing a man in his right and possession, &c.

USURPATION OF FRANCHISES, is when a subject unjustly uses any royal franchises, &c. And it is said to be an usurpation upon the king; who shall have the writ of quo warranto against the usurpers.

USURY, in a strict sense, is a contract upon the loan of money, to give the leader a certain profit for the use of it, upon all events whether the borrower made any advantage of it, or the leader suffered any prejudice for want of it, or whether it be repaid on the appointed time or not; and in a large sense, it seems, that all undue advantages, taken by a lender against a borrower, came under the notion of usury. Haw. 245.

The stat. 12 Anne c. 16. enacts that no person upon any contract which shall be made, shall take for loan of any money, wares, &c. above the value of 5l. for the forbearance of 100l for a year; and all bonds and assurances for the payment of any money to be lent upon usury, whereupon or whereby, there shall be reserved or taken, above five pounds in the hundred, shall be void; and every person who shall receive, by means of any corrupt bargain, loan, exchange, shift, or interest, of any wares or other things, or by any deceitful way, for forbearing, or giving day of payment for one year, for their money or other things, above 5l. for 100l for a year, &c. shall forfeit treble the value of the monies or other things lent.

But if a contract, which carries interest, be made in a foreign country, our courts will direct the payment of interest, according to the law of that country in which the contract was made. Thus Irish, American, Turkish, and Indian interest have been allowed in our courts, to the amount of each 121 per cent. For the moderation or exorbitance of interest depends upon local circumstances; and the refusal to enforce such contracts, would put a stop to all foreign trade. 2 Black. 463.

UTLAGATO CAPIENDO QUANDO UTLAGATUR IN UNO COMITATU, ET POSTEA FUGIT IN ALIUM. A writ for the taking of an outlawed perfon in one county, who afterwards flies into another.

W

AGE, signifies the giving security for the performance of a thing.

WAGER OF LAW, is a particular mode of proceeding, whereby in an action of debt brought upon a simple contract between the parties, without any deed or record, the defendant may discharge himself by swearing in court in the presence of compurgators, that he owes the plaintiff nothing, in manner and form as he has declared, and his compurgators swear, that they believe what he says is true. And this waging his law, is sometimes called making his law. 5 Bac. Abr. 428. It being at length considered, that this waging of law offered too great a temptation to perjury, by degrees new remedies were devised, and new forms of action introduced, wherein no defendant is at liberty to wage his law.

Instead of an action of debt upon a simple contract, an action is new brought for the breach of a promise, or assumpsit, wherein though the specific debt cannot be recovered, yet damages may, equivalent to the specific deht: and this being an action of trespan, no law can be waged therein. So instead of an action of detime to recover the very thing detained, an action of trespass upon the case, in trover, and conversion is usually brought, wherein though the specific thing cannot be had, yet the defendant shall pay damages for the conversion equal to the value thereof; and for this trespan, also no wager of law is allowed. In the place of actions of account, a bill in equity is usually filed, wherein, though the deferdant answers upon his oath, yet such oath is not conclusive to the plaintiff, but he may prove every article, by other evidence, in contradiction to what the defendant hath sworn. So that wager of law is now quite out of use, being avoided by the mode of brisgist the action, but still is not out of force. And therefore when a new statute inflicts a penalty, and gives an action of debt to recover it, it is usual to add, in which no wager of law shall be ellevel. 3 Black. 347.

WAGERS. In general a wager may be considered as legal, if it be not an incitement to a breach of the peace, or to immorality; or if it do not affect the feelings or interest of a third person, or expose him to ridicule: or if it be not against sound policy. 2. Term Rep. 610 3 Term Rep. 697.

But it has lately been determined that no action will lie on a war ger respecting the mode of playing an unlawful game: and, if such a cause is set down to be tried, the Judge at Nisi Prius is justified in ordering it be struck out of the paper. 2 II. Blackst. Rep. 43.

WAGES, what is agreed upon by a master to be paid to a servant, or any other person that he hires to do his business for him. 2 Lil. Abr. 627. See Master and Servant.

WAIFS, are goods which are stolen and waved by a felou in his flight from those who pursue him, which are forfeited: and though waif is generally spoken of goods stolen; yet if a man be pursued with hue and cry as a felon, and he flee and leave his own goods, these will be forfeited as goods stolen; but they are properly fagitive's goods, and not forfeited till it be found before the corosers or otherwise of record, that he fled for the felony. 2 Ham. 45% See Estra, s.

WAINAGE. The reasonableness of fines or amercements having been regulated by magna charta, that no person shall have a larger amercement imposed upon him than his circumstances or personal estate will bear, it is added, saving to the freeholder his contenement or land; to the trader his merchandize; and to the countryman his wainage, or team and instruments of husbandry. 4 Black. 379.

WAIVE in the general signification, is to forsake, but is specially applied to a woman, who for any crime for which a man may be outlawed, is termed waived.

WAIVER, signifies the passing by of a thing, or a refusal to accept it; sometimes it is applied to an estate, or something conveyed to a man, and sometimes to plea, &c. And a waiver or disagreement as to goods and chattels, in case of a gift, will be effectual. Lil. 710.

WALES, by stat. 27 H. S. c. 26. and other subsequent statutes, the dominion of Wales shall be incorporated with, and form part of the realm of England; and all persons born in Wales, shall enjoy all liberties and privileges as the subjects in England do. And the lands in Wales shall be inheritable after the English tenure, and not after any Weich laws or customs. And the proceedings in all the law courts, shall be in the English tongue. A session is also to be held twice a year in every county, by judges appointed by the king, to be called the great sessions of the several counties in Wales, in which all pleas of real and personal actions shall be held, with the same form of process, and in as ample manner, as in the court of common . pleas at Westminster; and writs of error shall lie from judgments therein to the court of king's bench at Westminster. But the ordinary original writs, or process of the king's courts at Westminster, do not run into the principality of Wales; though process of execution does, as also all prerogative writs; as writs of certiorari, quo minus, mandamus, and the like. S Black. 77.

Murders, and felonies in any part of Wales, may be tried in the next adjoining English county; the judges of assize, having a concurrent jurisdiction throughout all Wales, with the justices of the grand sessions. Str. 553.

All local matters arising in Wales, triable in the king's bench, are by the common law to be tried by a jury, returned from the next adjoining county in England. Burr. 859.

No sheriff or officer in Wales, shall upon any process out of the courts at Westminster, hold any person to special bail, unless the cause of action he twenty pounds or upwards. 11 & 12 W. c. 9.

WALTHAM BLACKS, In the reign of king George the First, there sprang up a set of desperate villains, called Waltham blacks, who blackening their faces, and using other disguises, robbed forests, parks, and warrens, destroyed cattle, levied money on their neighbours, by threats and menaces to fire their houses, and committed divers other violences, but they were suppressed and declared felous by 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. commonly called the BLACK ACT, (which see.)

WAPENTAKE, is the same with what we call an hundred, specially so used in some of the northern counties.

WARD is variously used, in one sense signifying a guardiss, in a second a prison, in a third the ward of a forest, and in a fourth t district or division of the city of London.

WARDEN, is he who hath the keeping or charge of any perms or things by office.

WARDMOTE, a court kept in every ward in London; usually called the wardmote courts and the wardmote inquest hath power every year to enquire into, and present all defaults concerning the watch, and constables not doing their duty; that engines, &c. be provided against fire; persons selling ale and beer be honest and suffer no disorders, nor permit gaming, &c. that they sell in lawful measures; and searches be made for vagrants, beggars, and idle persons, &c. who shall be punished.

WARDS, court of, was first erected in the reign of H. 8. and afterwards augmented by him with the issue of liveries; whence it was stilled the court of wards and liveries, but dissolved by 12 Car. 2.

WARDSHIP, when the tenant died, and his heir was under the age of twenty-one, being a male, or fourteen, being a female, the lord was entitled to the wardship of the heir, and was called the guardian in chivalry. This wardship consisted in having the custofy of the body and lands of such heir, without any account of the profits, till the age of twenty-one in males, and fourteen (which was afterwards advanced to sixteen) in females. For the law supposed the heir male unable to perform knight's service till twenty-one; but as for the female, she was supposed capable at fourteen to marry, and then her husband might perform the office. 2 Black. 67.

WARRANT, a precipe under hand and scal to some officer to bring any offender before the person granting it; and warrants of commitment are issued by the privy council, a secretary of state, of justice of peace, &c. where there hath been a private information, or a witness had deposed against an offender. Wood's Inst. 614.

Any one under the degree of nobility may be arrested for a misdemeanour, or any thing done against the peace of the kingdom, by warrant from a justice of the peace; though if the person be a peace of the realm, he must be apprehended for a breach of the peace by warrant ont of B. R. Dalt. Just. 263.

A constable ought not to execute a justice's warrant, where the warrant is unlawful, or the justice hath no jurisdiction; if he do he may be punished. Ploud. 394.

But if any person abuse it, by throwing it in the dirt, &c. or refuse to execute a lawful warrant, it is a contempt of the king's process, for which the offender may be indicted and fined. Crompt. 149.

A general warrant to apprehend all persons suspected, without naming or particularly describing any person in special, is illegal and void for its uncertainty: for it is the duty of the magistrate, and ought not to be left to the officer, to judge of the ground of the suspicion. Also a warrant to apprehend all persons guilty of such a crime, is no legal warrant; for the point upon which its authority rests, is a fact to be decided on a subsequent trial; namely, whether the person apprehended thereupon be guilty or not guilty. 4 Black. 291.

A warrant may be lawfully granted by any justice, for treason, felony, or premunire, or any other offence against the peace, and it seems clear, that where a statute gives any one justice a jurisdiction over any offence, or a power to require any person to do a certain thing ordained by such a statute, it impliedly gives a power to every such justice to make out a warrant to bring before him any one accused of such offence, or compelled to do any thing ordained by such statute; for it cannot but be intended, that a statute which gives a person jurisdiction over an offence, means also to give him the power incident to all courts of compelling the party to come before him. 2 Haw. 84.

But in cases where the king is not a party, or where no corporal punishment is appointed, as in cases for servants' wages and the like, it seems that a summons is the more proper process; and for default of appearance, the justice may proceed; and so indeed it is often directed by special statutes.

A warrant from any of the justices of the court of king's bench extends over all the kingdom, and is tested or dated England: but a warrant of a justice of peace in one county, must be backed, that is, signed by the justice of another county, before it can be executed there. And a warrant apprehending an English or a Scotch offender, may be indersed in the opposite kingdom, and the offender carried back to that part of the united kingdom in which the offence was committed. 4 Black. 291.

WARRANT OF ATTORNEY is an authority and power given by a client to his attorney, to appear and plead for him; or to suffer judgment to pass against him by confessing the action, by nil dick, non sum informatus, &c. And although a warrant of attorney gives by a man in custody to confess a judgment, no attorney being present, is void as to the entry of judgment; yet it may be a good warrant to appear and file common bail. 2 Lil. Abr. 682.

WARRANTIA CHARTE, a writ that lies where a man is enfected of lands with warrantry, and then he is sued or impleaded. And if the feotiee be impleaded in assize, or other action, in which he cannot vouch or call to warranty, he shall have this writ against the feotier, or his heirs, to compel them to warrant the land to his; and if the land be recovered from him, he shall recover as much lands in value against the warrantor, &c. But the warrantia charte ought to be brought by the feotiee, depending the first writ against him, or he hath lost his advantage. F. N. B. 134.

WARRANTIA CUSTODIÆ, a writ judicial, and lay for his who was challenged to be a ward to another, in respect of land mid to be holden in knight's service, which, when it was brought by the ancestors of the ward, was warranted to be free from such thralden, and it lay against the warrantor and his heirs.

WARRANTIA DIEI, a writ lying in case, where a man having a day assigned, personally to appear in court to any action wherein he is sued, is in the mean time employed in the king's service, so that he cannot come at the day assigned. This writ is directed to the justices to this end, that they neither take nor record him in default for that day.

WARRANTY, a promise or covenant by deed, made by the bargainor, for himself and his heirs, to warrant or secure the bargainee and his heirs against all men, for the enjoying any thing agreed on between them.

Warranty is either real or personal; real, when it is annexed to lands or tenements granted for life, &c. And this is either in decl. as by the word warrantizo expressly; or in law, as by the word deli, or some other amplification.

Personal, which either respects the property of the thing sold, or the quality of it. Cowel.

Warranties in their more general divisions are of two kinds: first, a warranty in deed, or an express warranty, which is when a fine, or feofiment in fee, or a lease for life is made by deed, which has an express clause of warranty contained in it, as when a conuser, feoffer, or lessor, covenants to warrant the land to the conuser, feoffee, or lessee; secondly, a warrant in law, or an implied warranty, which is, when it is not expressed by the party, but tacitly made and implied by the law. I Inst. 365.

A warranty in deed is either lineal or collateral. A lineal warranty is a covenant real, annexed to the land by him, who either was owner of or might have inherited the land, and from whom his heir lineal or collateral, might possibly have claimed the land as heir from him that made the warranty. A collateral warranty is made by him that had no right, or possibility of right, to the land, and is collateral to the title of the land. I Inst. 370.

WARREN, is a franchise or place privileged, by prescription or grant from the king, for the keeping of beasts and fowls of the warren; which are conies, partridges, pheasants, and some add quails, woodcocks, and water-fowl. 1 Inst. 238.

These were looked upon as royal game, and the franchise of free warren, was invented to protect them by giving the grantee a sole and exclusive power of killing such game, so far as his warren extended, on condition of his preventing other persons; for, by the common law, no man, not even a lord of a manor, could justify killing game on another man's soil, unless he had the liberty of free warren. 2 Black. 39.

WASTE, is the committing any spoil or destruction in houses, lands, &c. by tenants, to the damage of the heir, or of him in reversion or remainder: whereupon the writ or action of waste, is brought for the recovery of the thing wasted, and damages for the waste done. 5 Bac. Abr. 459.

There are two kinds of waste, voluntary or actual, and negligent or permissive. Voluntary seaste may be done by pulling down or prostrating houses, or cutting down timber trees: negligent waste may be, by suffering an house to be uncovered, whereby the spars or rafters, planches or other timber of the house are rotten. 1 Inst. 53.

A writ of waste, to punish the offence after it has been committed, is an action partly founded upon the common law, and partly upon the statute of Gloucester, and may be brought by him that has the immediate estate of inheritance in reversion or remainder, against the tenant for life, tenant in dower, tenant by the courtesy, or tenant for years. 3 Black. 227.

This action of waste is a mixed action; partly real, so far as it recovers land, and partly personal, so far as it recovers damages, for it is brought for both those purposes; and if the waste be proved, the plaintiff shall recover the thing or place wasted, and also treble damages by the said statute. 6 Edw. 1. c. 5.

The writ of waste, calls upon the tenant to appear and shew cause why he hath committed waste and destruction in the place named, to the dishersion of the plaintiff. And if the defendant make default, or do not appear at the day assigned him, then the

the place alledged to be wasted, and there enquire of the waste dose, and the damages; and make a return or report of the same to the court, upon which report the judgment is founded.—

3 Black. 228.

WATCH AND WARD. Watching is properly intended in the might, and warding for the day time. Dalt. 104.

Persons aggrieved by assessments, for watch and ward, may appeal to the mayor. 11 Geo. 1. c. 18.

By the 58 Geo. 3. c. 17. until the 1st day of March, 1814, the custos rotulorum, or in his absence the sheriff, or any five justices of the peace, acting in and for any county in England, may from tist to time, as often as occasion shall require, (in case any disturbance or offences against the peace prevailing, or being apprehended, within the county, shall in his or their opinion render the executist of this act adviseable and necessary) by order, under his or their hands and seals, convene and assemble a special general sessions of the justices by notice given and put upon the church doors and conspicuous places of the market places of the several parishes and places in which such disturbances be or are apprehended, to take into consideration the expediency of executing this act. such special general sessinons are to adjudge and declare the state of the peace in the county, and the expediency of executing this act. They are to summon witnesses, and make compensation to them; and the justices in a special sessions are to order the chief contable to require lists to be made by petty constables of all men above the age of 17, paying poor rates, to be returned to them at such special or to any petty sessions; and the constables are to return such lists and give notice to the parties named therein, mentioning the time wi place of appeal. The said justices, at any special or petty sessions or any two of them, may, from such lists, appoint such number of inhabitants as they shall think necessary to keep watch in every see parish, township, or place, every night, from sun set till sun rist, and also to keep the ward during the day time, if need shall require; and shall also determine, settle, or arrange the order, rotation, and time, in which every such person shall undertake and perform it same, and regulate the manner in which the duty shail be performed: and when there are not sufficient persons paying to the poor rate for watching and warding in any place, the justices are to require other lists, and appoint therefrom others to watch and ward, at a comper sation for their services.

The special sessions shall appoint special constables to regular watch and ward, and if necessary, the custos rotulorum, or sherif, or five justices as aforesaid, may direct the act to be put in execution before the special general sessions. The chief constables are to visit once a week every parish, and report the state of the watching and warding there.

Persons refusing to watch or ward are to forfeit not exceeding 101. mor less than 40s. but justices may exempt persons above fifty years of age, not occupying 201. a year, and persons may provide substitutes, approved by petty sessions or chief constables.

Constables are, at the expense of parishes out of the poor rates, to provide rattles, staves, lauthorns, and such weapons, arms, and accoutrements as the special or petty session shall direct for the use of every person so keeping watch or ward; the same to be returned back when the duty shall cease.

Every person so appointed to watch or to ward, shall, during the time, to the utmost of his power, prevent all murders, burglaries, robberies, affrays, and all felonies, outrages and disorders, and for that end shall arrest all night-walkers, malefactors, rogues, vagabonds, and other loose, idle, disorderly, and suspicious persons, and deliver them over to the constable or watch-house, or other places of security, until taken before a justice.

- Those keeping watch and ward are to assist those in adjoining districts, and the constables are to report the conduct of persons watching or warding.

Such compensation is to be made out of the poor rates to special constables and other persons watching and warding as the special sessions shall direct. If any one shall assault any person watching or warding, he shall forfeit not exceeding 20% and be moreover liable to be indicted as for assaulting a constable in the execution of his office. Any victualler or keeper of a public house, harbouring any person engaged in watching or warding during the time, shall for the first offence forfeit 40s, for the second 5% and for the third and every other 10%, and justices may remove persons not being house-holders or settled in the parish, who are suspected, on oath, to be dangerous to the peace, or of abetting disturbances, to the places of their last legal settlement. The penalties are recoverable before one justice, and may be levied by distress.

WATCHES, made by artificers are to have the makers' names, &c. under the penalty of 201. 9 & 10 W. S. c. 28.

WATER BAILIFF, an officer in the port towns, for the searching of ships.

WATER COURSE. A water course does not begin by prescription, nor assent, but begins, exjure naturæ, baving this course naturally, and cannot be divested. 3 Bulst. 340.

WATERMEN. In London the lord mayor and court of aldermen have much power in governing the company of watermen, and appointing the fares for plying on the river Thames: and justices for Middlesex, and other adjoining counties, have also power to hear and determine offences, &c. See 10 Geo. 2. c. 31.

WATER ORDEAL. See ORDEAL.

WAY. A way may be by prescription, as if the owners and occupiers of such a farm have immemorially used to cross another's ground; for this immemorial usage supplies an original grant. A right of way may also arise by act and operation of law; for if a man grant to another a piece of ground in the middle of his field, he at the same time tacitly gives him a way to come at it, for where the law gives any thing to any person, it gives implied whatever is necessary for enjoying the same. 2 Black. 35.

WEAVERS. The wages of journeymen weavers in London, are to be settled by the lord mayor, recorder, and aldermen. Masters giving more wages than is appointed, to forfeit 50L and journeymen demanding, or combining to demand more, to forfeit 40s. or be imprisoned three months.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES, the standard of measures, we originally kept at Winchester, which measure was by the law of king Edgar, ordained to be observed through the kingdom.

By stat. 35 Geo 3. c. 102. the justices in quarter-sessions (or petty sessions, by 37 Geo. 3. c. 143. s. 1.) in every county, are required to appoint persons to examine the weights and balances within their respective jurisdictions. These inspectors may seize and examine weights in shops, &c. and seize false weights and balances, and the offender being convicted before one justice, shall be fined from 5s. to 20s. Persons obstructing the inspectors, to forfeit from 5s. to 40s. Inspectors to be recompensed out of the county-rate. Standard weights to be purchased by the sessions out of the county-rate, and produced to all persons paying for the production thereof: Informations to be within one month.

By 37 Geo. 3. c. 143. the justices at their petty sessions, may appoint persons to examine weights and balances. The examiners, when directed by the justices, may visit shops and other places, and seize false weights and balances; and persons having the same, or conviction at such petty sessions, are to forfeit not exceeding 20s. nor less than 5s. to be levied by distress. Justices are to cause false weights and balances to be broken, and the produce of the materials and forfeitures to be paid to the county treasurer. If the majority of inhabitants wish that any persons should be specially appointed examiners, they may in vestry nominate them for the approbation of the justices. But no such appointment shall be made, till the inhabitants have procured standard weights, the costs of which, and the recompence to the examiners, shall be paid out of the pour rates.

WESTMINSTER, was the antient seat of our kings, and is now the well-known place, where the high court of parliament, and courts of judicature sit.

WHARFAGE, money paid for landing wares at a wharf, or for shipping or taking goods into a boat or barge from thence. See 22 Car. 2. c. 11.

WHITE RENT, a duty or rent of eight-peace, payable by every tinner in the county of Devon, to the duke of Cornwall.

WIDOW, a woman who has lost her husband by death: in London and throughout the province of York, the widow of a freeman, is by custom, entitled to her apparel, and the furniture of the bedchamber, called the widow's chamber.

WIFE, after marriage, all the will of the wife, in judgment of law, is subject to the will of the husband; and it is commonly said, a feme covert bath no will. See Husband and Wife.

WILL AND TESTAMENT, is that disposition of property which is made by a person to take place after his decease. Every person capable of binding himself by contract, is capable of making a will.

Also a male infant of the age of 14 years and upwards, and female of twelve years or upwards, are capable of making a will respecting personal estates only.

But a married woman cannot make a will, unless a power be reserved in a marriage settlement; but wherever personal property, however, is given to a married woman for her sole and separate use, she may dispose of it by will.

If a feme sole make her will, and afterwards marry, such marriage is a legal revocation of the will.

Wills are of two kinds, verbal or nuncupative (which article see) and written; the latter one is more secure.

It may however be observed that a blind person may make a verbal or nuncupative will; by declaring his intentions before a sufficient number of witnesses; and he may also make a will in writing, provided the will be read to him before witnesses, and in their presence acknowledged by him for his last will; but if a writing should be delivered to a blind man, and he not hearing the same read, acknowledge the same for his will, this will not be sufficient. The safer way, therefore, (in Dr. Burn's judgment) in cases of blind and illiterate persons, is, that the will be read over to the testator, and be approved by him in the presence of all the subscribing witness. 4 Burn's Eccles. Law, 55.

But persons born blind, deaf and dumb, are utterly incapable of making a will, for they want the common inlets of understanding; unless it manifestly appears, by strong and convincing proof, that such persons understand what a will means, and that they have a desire to make a will; for if they are possessed of such understanding and desire, then they may, by signs and tokens, declare their intertion. Ibid. 54. 2 Black. Com. 479.

It is not absolutely necessary that a will should be witnessed; and a testament of chattels, written in the testator's own hand, though it have neither the testator's name nor seal to it, nor witnesses presses at his publication, will be good, provided sufficient proof can be had that it is his hand-writing. Gilb. 260.

By stat. 29 Car. 2. c. 3. all devises of lands, and tenements, shall not only be in writing, but shall also be signed by the party so devising the same, or by some other person in his presence, and by his express direction, and shall be witnessed and subscribed in the presence of the person devising, by three or four credible witnesses, of else the devise will be intirely void, and the land will descend to the heir at law.

A will, even if made beyond sea, bequeathing land in England, must be attested by three witnesses. 2 Page Wms. 223.

A will, however, devising copyhold land, does not require to be witnessed; it is sufficient to declare the uses of a surrender of such copyhold land made to the use of the will. The party to whom the land is given, becomes entitled to it by means of the surrender, and not by the will. 2 Atk. 37.

A codicil is a supplement to a will, or an addition made by the person making the same, annexed to, and to be taken as part of the will itself, being for its explanation or alteration, to add something to, or take something from the former disposition, and which may also be either written or verbal, under the same restrictions as regards wills.

If two wills are found, and it does not appear which was the former or latter, both will be void; but if two codicils are found, and it-cannot be ascertained which was the first, but the same thing is devised to two persons, both ought to divide; but where either wills or codicils have dates, the latter is considered as valid, and revokes the former.

By 38 Geo. 3. c. 37. if at the expiration of twelve months from the testator's decease, the executor to whom probate is granted shall not reside within the jurisdiction of his majesty's courts, a creditor next of kin, or legatee, may obtain a special administration on a 5s. stamp. s. 1.

The court of equity, in which a suit may be depending, may appoint persons to collect out-standing debts. s. 5.

Stock belonging to the estate of the deceased, may be transferred into the name of the accountant-general in chancery, in trust for such purposes as the court shall direct in any suit; and executors, returning to reside within the jurisdiction of the court, shall be made parties to the suit. s. 5.

Where an infant is sole executor, administration, with the will assexed, shall be granted to the guardian till the infant is twenty-one, who shall have the same power as an administrator durante minoristate. s. 6.

By 39 and 40 Geo. 8. c. 98. no person, by deed or will, shall settle or dispose of any real or personal property, in such manner that the rents or produce shall be accumulated, for a longer time than the life of the settler, or twenty-one years after his decease, or during the minority of any party living at his decease, or the minorities of persons beneficially entitled: any other direction shall be void; and the rents go to such persons as would be entitled thereto, if such accumulation had not been directed. s. 1.

Nothing herein, to extend to any provision for payment of debts, or for raising portions for children, or touching the produce of timber, nor to any disposition of heritable property in Scotland.—
5. 2, 3.

These restrictions shall take effect with respect to wills made hefore the 28th of July, 1800, only where the testator shall be living twelve months after. s. 4. See also Administrator, Executor, Logacy.

WITCHCRAFT, by 9 Geo. 2. c. 5. no prosecution shall be commenced or carried on against any person for witchcraft, sorcery, inchantment, or conjuration, or for charging another with any such offence.

But if any person shall pretend to exercise or use, any kind of witchcraft, sorcery, inchantment, or conjuration; or undertake to tell fortunes, or pretend from his skill or knowledge in any occult or crafty science, to discover where, and in what manner, any goods supposed to have been stolen or lost, may be found; he shall be imprisoned for a year, and once in every quarter of that year, stand openly on the pillory for an hour, and further shall be bound to the good behaviour as the court shall award.

WITHERNAM, is a forbidden taking, as the taking or driving a distress to hold, or out of the county, so that the sheriff cannot upon the replevin, make deliverance thereof to the party distrained.

WITNESS, one who is sworn to give evidence in a cause.

If a man be subpænned as a witness upon a trial, he must appear in court on pain of 100l. to be forfeited to the king, and 10l. together with damages equivalent to the loss sustained by the want of his eridence to the party aggrieved. 3 Black. Com. 369.

But witnesses ought to have a reasonable time, that their attendance upon the court, may be of as little prejudice to themselves as possible; and the court of king's bench held, that notice at two is the afternoon to attend the sitting, that evening in Westminster, was too short a time. Str. 510.

Where a witness cannot be present at a trial, he may by consent of the plaintiff and defendant, or by rule of court, be examined upon interrogatories at the judge's chambers.

No witness is bound to appear to give evidence in a cause, unless his reasonable expense he tendered him, and if he appear, till sack charge is actually paid him, except he both resides, and is sentenced to give evidence within the bills of mortality.

By 25 Gen. 2. c. 36. any parishioner, or inhabitant of a pitet, may be a witness upon any prosecution for keeping a disorderly house.

By 27 Geo. 3. c. 29. from August 1, 1787, the inhabitant of any place shall be a competent witness to prove an offence, though the place may be benefited by the conviction of the offender, unless the penalty exceeds 201. And by the 46 Geo. 3. c. 37. it is declared that a witness cannot by law refuse to answer, on the ground of subjecting himself to a suit for debt. All persons of whatsoever country or religion, and who are of sound mind, may be received and examined a witnesses; except such as are infamous, or such as are interested if the event of the cause. All others are competent witnesses; though the jury from other circumstances, will judge of their credibility a Black. Com. 267.

Thus a Mahommedan may be sworn on the Koran, and a Gental according to the custom of India, and their evidence may be at ceived even in a criminal case. I Atk. 21. Quakers, who refuse the take an oath under any form, may by 7 & 8 W. c 34. in civil proceedings make a solemna@rmation; and if such affirmation, like an oath proved to be false, they are subject to the penalties of perjury. If penal actions, as for bribery, they are also entitled to the same privilege. Comp. Rep. 382. But no quaker shall be permitted to give evidence in criminal causes, unless he will make oath, 7 & 8 W. 3 c. 84.

An infidel in general may be admitted as a withen, for the term less not imply that he is an atheist: but no person shall be permitted to give evidence, who appears to have no idea of God or religion. I Ath. 40, 45.

No persons convicted of felony, perjury, &c. shall be witnesses: and if one by judgment hath been whipped or stord in the pillory, he shall not for his infamy be admitted to give evidence while such judgment is in force; but the record must be produced on objecting against his testimony. 3 Inst. 108. 219. 3 Lev. 436. A witness may be examined concerning his own infamy, provided his confession force test subject him to any future punishment; for instance, a witness may be asked, if he has not stood in the pillory for perjury. I Term. Rep.

One who has stood in the pillory and has been pardoned, may be a witness. 3 Lev. 436. It is the standing in the pillory for an inamous crime as forgery, &c. that disqualifies the party convicted rom giving testimony. If one be pillored for a libel, he may be a witness. 5 Mod. 74. 3 Note. Abr. 557.

Excommunicated persons cannot be witnesses, but persons outawed may. Bulk N. P. 292, 293. Felous convict, who are subsequently pardoned, may be evidences, as also persons burnt in the and. Raym. 329, 330. So, an informer may be a witness, though the is to have part of the forfeiture, where no other evidence can be ad. Wood's Inst. 598.

For more full information on this important subject, the reader is eferred to Lord Chief Baron Gilbert's admirable treatise on the aws of Evidence. See also the articles Arrest, Evidence, and Privilege.

WOMEN, by the 26 Geo. 2. c. 38. no suit shall be had in any eclesiastical court, to compel a celebration of marriage in facie occleta, by reason of any contract of matrimony whatsoever, whether er verba de presenti, or per verba de futuro: and the marriage of my person under the age of twenty-one, without the consent of parents or guardians, shall be null and void.

By 20 H. 6. c. 9. peeresses shall be tried as peers for treason or long.

And by stat. 3 W. c. 9. a woman being convicted of an offence, r which a man may have his clergy, shall suffer the same punishent that a man should suffer, who has the benefit of his clergy lowed; that is, shall be burnt in the hand, and further kept in from as the court shall think fit, not exceeding one year.

But she shall be only once entitled to the benefit of the said statute.
By 30 Geo. 3. c. 47. women convicted of high or petit treason, to by the sea, and left there within some county, for they are not wrocks so long as they ramain at sea, being within the jurisdiction of the admiralty.

Various statutes have been made relative to wreck, which we formerly a perquisite belonging to the king, or by special grant to the tord of the manor; it is now however held, that if proof can be made of the property of any of the goods or lading which come to share they shall not be forfeited as wreck.

By the SEd. c. 4. the sheriff of the county shall be bound to kep the goods a year and a day, that if any was can prove a property is them, either in his own right, or by right of representation, they shall be restored to him without delay.

By stat. 26 G. S. c. 19. plandering any vessel either in distress weeked, and whether any living creature be on board or not, a preventing the escape of any person that endeavours to save his life, or putting out false lights to bring any vessel into danger, are all declared to be capital felonies; and by this statute, pilforing ary goods cast ashere, is declared to be petty lurceny. See Insurance, Solvage.

WRIT, is the king's precept, whereby any thing is communded touching a suit or action; as the defendant or tenant to be summend, a distress to be taken, a disseisin to be redressed, &c. And there write are diversely divided; some in respect of their order, or manner of granting, are termed original, and some judicial.

Original writs, are those that are sent out for the summoning of the defendant in a personal, or the tenant in a real action, before the suit begins or rather to begin the suit.

The judicial writs are those which are sent out by order of the court where the cause depends, upon occasion after the suit began.

Original writs are issued out in the court of chancery, for the semenant and defendant to appear, and are granted before the suits begun, to begin the same: and judicial writs issue out of the comber the original is returned, after the suit is begun. The original bear date in the name of the king; but the judicial writs bear too in the name of the chief justice.

WRIT OF ASSISTANCE, issues out of the exchequer, to so thorize any person to take a constable, or other public officer, so solve goods, or merchandize prohibited and uncustomed.

Also a writ issuing out of the chancery to give a possession.

WRIT OF ENTRY. See Entry.

WRIT OF INQUIRY OF DAMAGES, a judicial writ the issues out to the shcriff, upon a judgment by default, in action the case, covenant, trespass, trover, &c. commanding him to mon a jury to inquire what damages the plaintiff hath sustained occasions præmissorum; and when this is returned with the inquisition, the rule for judgment is given upon it; and if nothing be said to the contrary; judgment is thereupon entered. 2 Lill. Abr. 721.

A writ of inquiry of damages, is a mere inquest of office, to inform the conscience of the court; who, if they please, may themselves assess the damages. And it is accordingly the practice, in actions upon promissory notes and bills of exchange, instead of executing a writ of inquiry, to apply to the court for a rule to shew cause, why it should not be referred to the master to see what is due for principal and interest, and why final judgment should not be signed for that sum, without executing a writ of inquiry; which rule is made absolute on an affidavit of service, unless good cause be shewn to the contrary. Tidd's Pract. K. B.

WRITING, a simple writing or declaration, not in the manner of a deed, made to a certain person, &c. shall be good in law. Hob. 312.

WRONG, any damage or injury; being the contrary to that which is right and straight.

WRONG STAMP. By 37 G. 3. c. 136. any instrument (except bills of exchange, promissory notes, or other notes, drafts, or orders) liable to stamp duty, whereon shall be impressed any stamp of a different denomination, but of an equal or greater value than the stamp required, may be stamped with the proper stamp after the execution, on payment of duty and five pounds penalty, but without any allowance for the wrong stamp.

Likewise any such instrument (except as aforesaid) being ingrossed without having been first stamped, or having a stamp thereon of less value than required, the same may be stamped after the execution, on Payment of the duty and ten pounds penalty only, for each skin thereof: but in case it shall be satisfactorily proved to the commissioners of stamps, that the same hath been so ingrossed either by accident or inadvertency, or from urgent necessity or unavoidable circumstances, and without any intention of fraud, the commissioners are authorized to stamp the same within sixty days after the execution, to remit the penalty in part, or in all, and to indemnify persons so ingrossing the same.

Y

TARDLAND, a quantity of land, different according to the place or county, as in Surry, it is but fifteen acres, in some counties twenty, and twenty-four, and in others thirty. Brack Lib. 2. c. 10.

YARN, no person shall buy yarn or woo!, but he that make cloth of it. And none may transport yarn beyond the sea, by state 8 H. 6. c. 5. and 33 H. 8. c. 16. See Wool.

YEAR, by 24 Geo. 2. c. 23. the year shall begin on the first by of January, and not as heretofore on the twenty-fifth of March. And in legal proceedings, the year shall be computed according to the calendar, and not according to twenty-eight days in the month. 2 Inst. 320.

YEAR AND DAY, is a time that determines a right in many cases; and in some, works an usurpation, and in others, a prescription; as in case of an estray, if the owner, preclamation being made, challenge it not within the time, it is forfeited.

So is the year and day, given in case of appeal; in case of descent after entry or claim; if no claim upon a fine or writ of right at the common law; so of a villain remaining in antient demesse; of a man so bruised or wounded; of protectioni: essoins in respect of the king's service; of a wreck; and divers other cases. Co. 6: Rep. Fol. 107.

YEAR BOOKS, reports in a regular series, from Ed. 2. is clusive, to the time of Hen. 8. which were taken by the protection notaries of the court, at the expense of the crown, and published annually.

YEAR DAY AND WASTE, is a part of the king's prerogative whereby he challengeth the profits of their lands and tenements for a year and a day, that are attainted of petty-treason or felosy; who ever is lord of the manor where the lands or tenements belong; and not only so, but in the end may waste the tenements, destroy the houses, root up the woods, garden, and pasture; and plaugh 44 the meadows, except the lord of the fee agree with him for redemption of such waste, afterwards restoring it to the lord of the fee. Staundf. Prærog. c. 16.

YEARS (estate for): Tenant for term of years, is where a main letteth lands or tenements to another, for a certain term of years agreed upon between the lessor and lessees, and when the lesses entereth by force of the lease, then he is tenant for term of years.

Litt. Sect. 58.

If tenements be let to a man for term of half a year, or for a quarter of a year, or any less time; this lessoe is respected as tenant for years, and is styled so in some legal proceedings: a year being the shortest term, which the law in this case takes notice of. Litt. Sect. 67.

Generally, every estate which must expire at a period certain and prefixed, by whatever words created, is an estate for years; and therefore this estate is frequently called a term; because its duration or continuance, is bounded, limited, and determined. 2 Black. 143.

For every such estate must have a certain beginning, and certain end. If no day of commencement be named in the creation of this estate, it begins from the making, or delivery of the lease. A lease for so many years as such an one live, is void from the beginning; for it is neither certain, nor can it ever be reduced to a certainty, during the continuance of the lease. Id.

And the same doctrine holds, if a person make a lease of his glebe for so many years as he shall continue parson of such a church, for this is still more uncertain. But a lease for twenty or more years, if the parson shall so long live, or if he shall so long continue parson, is good; for there is a certain period fixed, beyond which it cannot last, though it may determine sooner, on the parson's death, or his ceasing to be parson there. & Black, 143.

An estate for years, though never so many, is inferior to an estate for life. For an estate for life, though it be only for the life of another person, is a freehold; but an estate, though it be for a thousand years, is only a chattel, and reckoned part of the personal estate. Id.

Hence it follows, that a lease for years may be made to commence in future, though a lease for life cannot. As if I grant lands to one from Michaelmas next for twenty years, this is good; but to hold from Michaelmas next for the term of his natural life, is void. Id.

For no estate of freehold can commence in future, because it cannot be created at common law without livery of seisin, or corporal possession of the land; and corporal possession cannot be given of an estate now, which is not to commence now, but hereafter. And because no livery of seisin is necessary for a lease for years, such a lease is not said to be seized, or to have true legal seisin of the lands. Nor indeed doth the bare lease, vest any estate in the lessee, but only gives him a right of entry on the tenement, which right is called his interest in the term: but when he has actually so entered, and thereby accepted the grant, the estate is then and not before, vested in him; and he is possessed, not properly of the land, but of the term of years, the possession or seisin of the land, remaining still in him who has the freehold. 2 Black. 144.

YEOMAN, is defined to be one, that hath fee land of 40s. a year; who was thereby heretofore, qualified to serve on juries, and can yet vote for knights of the shire, and do any other act where the law requires one, that is probus at legalis home. Below yeomen, are ranked tradespen, artificers, and labourers. 2 Inst. 668.

YIELDING AND PAYING. See Reddendum under the Title, Deed.

YORK, in the county of York, only one panel of forty-eight jurors shall be returned to serve on the grand jury at the assizes; and at the quarter-sessions not above forty, either upon the grand jury or other service there. 7 & 8 W. S. c. 32.

And no person, having 150L a year, shall be summoned to the senions, but only persons less liable to bear the expense of attending at the assizes. I Anne, c. 13.

By stat. 4 W. 3. c. 2. the inhabitants of the province of York, have power to dispose of their whole personal estate by will; which before they had not, further than the testator's own proportionable part, called the dead man's or death's part. For if the testator had a wife, and a child, or children, the wife should have one third, the child or children another third, and the remaining third, was all that the testator had to dispose of. If he had a wife and no child, then she should have one moiety, and the other moiety remained to him, to dispose of by his testament: so if he left a child or children, and no wife. But if he had neither wife or child, he might dispose of the whole. In case of intestacy, the same proportions continue to the wife and children to this day; but the dead man's part shall be distributed according to the stat. 22 & 23 Car. 2. e. 10. commonly called the statute of distributions.

APPENDIX,

CONTAINING

Acts of Parliament passed during, and subsequent to, the progress of this Work through the Press, together with Additions and Corrections, rendered necessary in consequence thereof.

AC AL

A

ACCOUNTANT GENERAL.—On the resignation, removal, or death of the accountant general of the high court of chaucery, all property whatsoever, that may be vested in him by virtue of his office, shall vest in his successor, 54 Geo. 3. c. 14.

Property heretofore vested in any former accountant general shall be vested in the present accountant general; and all acts done by the present or by any future accountant general under any order of the court of chancery, is declared to be valid, s. 2, 3.

ALIENS.—By 55 Geo. 3. c. 54. former alien act is repealed, and it is further enacted that aliens not departing the united kingdom when ordered by proclamation, &c. may be committed to gabl; and such aliens returning without licence shall be transported for life, a. 1, 2.

Aliens disobeying proclamations shall suffer imprisonment for any time not exceeding one month for the first offence, and not exceeding two months for the second offence, s. S.

Any one of the secretaries of state, or lord lieutenant of Ireland, &c. may grant warrants to conduct such aliens out of the kingdom, as they apprehend will not pay obedience to proclamations, &c. s. 4.

A copy of conviction of alien to be transmitted to the secretary of state, &c. s. 5.

Masters of vessels are to give to the officers of the customs a declarations of the names, &c. of aliens on board. And no aliens shall be permitted to land till master of vessel has made the declaration required by this act, and permission obtained, on penalty of imprisonment, s. 6, 7.

Masters landing aliens contrary to this act, incur a fine of 40!. for each alien so landed, besides which the vessels used in such landing are forfeited, s. 6, 7.

Captains of ships for neglecting to make declaration of aliens as aforesaid incur a fine of 201. for each alien aboard at the time his ship arrived in port, s. 8.

Aliens arriving after passing of this act, and also aliens departing, are to make a declaration to the inspector of aliens, or the officer of the customs, of his name, rank, occupation, country whence he came and whither he is going, on pain of one month's imprisonment for neglect or false declaration made, s. 9.

Aliens so arriving are to receive certificates from the inspector of aliens, or officer of the customs, s. 10.

But this act shall not include mariners certified to be employed in the navigation of vessels. Masters refusing to give them such certificates are liable to a penalty of 201. for such refusal, and on non-payment thereof to one month's imprisonment, s. 11.

Arms are liable to be seized if attempted to be brought by aliens other than as merchandize, s. 12.

His majesty may direct aliens to land at particular places only. And masters acting contrary hereto, &c. forfeit 401, for every alien landed; and, on proof of the offence being wilfully committed, they shall also forfeit their vessels, y. 13.

No aliens shall depart from place of arrival without a passport from the mayor of the place or one justice, who may refuse the same, if he judge not proper to grant it, and commit the aliens to prison until a statement has been sent to the secretaries of state of Great Britain and Ireland respectively, and their directions shall be received; and upon the receipt of such directions, such mayor, justice, or magistrate shall act accordingly, s. 14.

Aliens wanting to change their abode, must obtain licences: and magistrates are empowered to cause them to exhibit their passports, and commit them in certain cases, until like notice be sent to, and directions be received from the secretaries of state, s. 15, 16.

Persons forging passports, &c. shall be imprisoned for any time not exceeding three months; and if such person shall be an alien, shall also be adjudged at the expiration of that time to depart out of this realm within a time to be limited by such judgment; and if such person or persons be found therein after such time in such judgment so limited, without lawful cause, be or she shall, being duly convicted thereof, be transported for seven years, s. 17.

His majesty may order aliens to be detained in custody; and also that their residence be at particular places, on pain, in case of disobedience, of being arrested, and (if convicted thereof) of being imprisoned for not less than six months, s. 18, 19.

Aliens must further give an account of all weapons, &c. on penalty of imprisonment for one month. And their houses may be searched for arms and ammunition therein concealed, s. 20, 21.

His Majesty, &c. may require aliens to register themselves, and obtain licences of residence, on penalty, if found at large without licence, of being imprisoned for not less than six months, s. 22, 23.

If the persons authorized to grant licences think fit to refuse them, the parties shall be committed until the circumstances shall be certified to the secretary of state, &c. and directions shall be issued accordingly, s. 24.

Licences are liable to be forfeited if aliens are found out of their districts, s. 25. And fresh licences may be granted in lieu of licences lost, s. 26.

No alien shall quit the realm without a passport, and masters taking such on board without, incur a fine of 401. for each alien, and their vessels are liable to be detained until the fine is paid. And aliens so departing the realm, shall on conviction be imprisoned for not less than two months. But it shall not be necessary for any mariner actually engaged in navigating any ship, during the time that such mariner shall be actually so engaged or employed, to obtain any such passport as aforesaid; but such mariner may embark on board such ship for the purpose of leaving this kingdom, in the same manner as if this act had not been made, s. 27.

Aliens having quitted France on account of the late troubles, are not liable to be arrested for debts contracted beyond seas, other than the dominions of his majesty, s. 28.

Aliens not going according to passports, are liable to all such penalties as he or she would have been subject to if no such passport had been granted, s. 29.

Persons receiving aliens as lodgers, shall require them to produce licence; and to send a copy to justices, &c. on pain of forfeiting 10i. for each alien-lodger; and also a like sum if they fail to give notice to magistrates of their having alien-lodgers, s. 30.

Persons having any alien lodgers to give notice, s. 31.

Mayors, &c. are to transmit to secretary of state an account of their proceedings, s. 32.

This act not to extend to foreign ambassadors or their servants; nor to acts done by persons under 14 years of age. Proof thereof to lie on the alien, s. 33.

All prosecutions against aliens, for any offence made punishable by this act as felony, or by transportation for years or for life, shall be by indictment or information in his majesty's court of king's bench at Westminster, or in Dublin or in any court of over and terminer, gaol delivery, in England or Ireland, or great sessions in Wales, or justiciary court in Scotland, s. 31.

Aliens adjudged to be transported, shall be sent to places to be appointed by his majesty, &c. and persons so sentenced for transportation if found within the realm after being transported, shall safer death, without benefit of clergy, s. 35, 36.

But justices of courts of record and also justices acting under suthority of secretary of state may admit respectively aliens to bail: And aliens so bailed may be indicted, and if verdict be given against him, be committed, and sent out of the country, s. 37, 39.

Penalties exceeding 40*l*, are recoverable in the superior courts, and under 40*l*, before any justice in a summary way. Parishioners may be witnesses for proving the commission of any offende against this act, within the limits of such parish, notwithstanding any part of the penalty incurred by such offence is given or applicable to the poor of such parish, s. 40, 41.

By s. 42. limitation of actions to 12 months, in which the general issue may be pleaded is allowed; and in case of verdict for defendant, he shall have treble costs, s. 42.

Powers given to the Lord Lieutenant, &c. and not to extend to Great Britain; and to magistrates, not to extend beyond their jurisdictions, s. 43.

This act shall continue in force for the period of twelve months.

By 55 Geo. 3. c. 11. the provisions of 45 Geo. 3. c. 32. (See the last paragraph of article Alien, p. 29 supra) are further continued until six months after the ratification of a definitive treaty of peace.

forging the mark or hand of the receiver of the prefines at the alienation office upon any writ of covenant, whereby such receiver or any other person shall be defrauded or suffer loss; every such offender, on conviction, shall be adjudged guilty of felony without benefit of elergy, and suffer death accordingly.

APPREHENSION of Offenders, see OFFENDERS (in this of pendix)

APPRENTICES. By 54 Geo. 3. 3. 96. so much of 5 Eliz. c. 4. as required that persons should not exercise any art except they had served seven years apprenticeship, is repealed; and any person may take an apprentice though not according to the provisions of that act, s. 1, 2.

Further, all indentures and agreements in writing, that may be entered into for that purpose, which would otherwise be valid, shall be valid notwithstanding such repeal, s. 2.

Justices are empowered to determine complaints respecting apprenticeships as heretofore; and the customs of the city of London, as well as of other legitimate cities or corporations, remain unaltered, s. 3, 4.

By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 107. provisions are enacted, corresponding verbatim with those of 51 Geo. 3. c. 80. which have already been inserted in the article, APPRENTICE, and which therefore it is unnecessary to repeat in this place.

AUCTIONS. By 55 Geo. S. c. 55. Estates of the crown, sold by suction by order of the commissioners of woods and forests, &c. are exempted from the duty on articles sold by auction. See also Woods (in this appendix.)

B

BANK OF ENGLAND. Bank Tokens. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 50. c. 157. it is enacted that from the passing of that act (29th of July, 1612), no provincial tokens shall be issued; and every person who shall after the passing of this act, make or manufacture, or originally issued or cause or procure to be made, manufactured, or originally issued, or permit or suffer to be so issued on his or her behalf, as for any nominal value in money or goods, any such token, shall for every offence furfeit not less than five pounds or more than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the justice or justices of the peace who shall hear and determine such offence, s. 1.

March, 1813, (enlarged by various acts to 25th March, 1814, and now by 54 Geo. 3. c. 52. further continued during the continuance of any act restricting payments in cash by the Bank of England) on pain of forfeiting, for every token so circulated, whether such person shall be or have been concerned in the original issuing or circulation of any such token, or only the beaver or helder thereof for the time being, not less than five pounds, nor more than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the convicting justice; provided that nothing in this act contained shall prevent any person from presenting any such token for payment to the original issuer thereof, or to discharge or excuse any such original issuer from his liability to pay the same, s. 2. But this act is not to extend to tokens of the Bank of England or Ireland, s. 3.

Justices are empowered to hear and determine offences; and witnesses not attending forfeit for every offence, 20% s. 5.

Clerk of the peace to give copies of conviction filed by him under the directions of this act, to be forthwith delivered to the persons applying for the same, upon payment of ohe shilling for every such COPY, R. C. K.

Penalties and forfeitures bearby incurred, shall be paid by the person convicted as follows, one moiety to the informer, and the either moioty to the poor of the purish or place where the office shall be committed; and in case such person shall refuse or neglect to pay. the same, or to give sufficient negative to the satisfaction of such jutice or justices to prosecute any appeal against such consiction, such justice shall, by warrant under his hand and seal, cause the same to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, together with: all costrand charges, returning the everplus (if any) to the owner, s. 8.

Securities may be taken for appearances; and offenders may be committed for want of distress, s. 9, 10.

No person shall be disabled from being a witness in any presecution for any offence against this act, by reason of his being an inhabitant of the parish wherein such offence was committed, s. 11.

Convictions are not to be removed, s. 12. And the general issue may be pleaded for any thing dune in pursuance of this act, s. is.

By 52 Geo. S. c. 138. persons counterfelding Bank of England tokens, or putting off such counterfeit tokens, shall suspectively be guitty of felony, and trasported for fourteen years, a. 1, 2. Bet offenders discovering other offenders shall not be limble to prosecution; and certificates of conviction is any other county shall be selicient proof, s. 3, 4.

Bank notes a legal tender. The 51 Geo. S. c. 127: (which had been continued by 52 Geo. 3. c. 80. s. 1-6) has been further continued by the 53 Geo. S. c. 5. to the 28th of March, 1814, and provisions thereof extended to Ireland. The following additional enactments have been made by the $2 Geo. S. c. 50. which are in tike manner continued during the above term.

Bank of England notes in Great Britain, and Bank of Ireland trotes, are declared to be good payment to officers of any court, briss officers dut of any court on any process, $2 Geo. 3. c. 50. s.7. and Bank of England notes in Great Britain, and Bank of Ireland notes in Ireland, shall be taken by officers of courts levying money under process of any court of law or equity, or other court in the United King But in all such cases, such wotes shall be indured by the person paying them, and to be verified by affidavit to be bank notes, si 8, 9.

By 52 Geo. 3: c. 188. persons engraving any plates, &c. the impressinn takes from which shall resemble Bank of England notes, or after ing any paper resembling stell notes, shall be deemed gailty of felony, and transported for fourteen years. But nothing in this act contained writings resembling such bank notes or bills, containing an impression from any plate or plates, or other device whatsoever, with white letters upon black, sable, or dark ground, which shall previous to the massing of this not have been in the custody of any person or persons whatsoever, s. 5, 6.

BANKRUPTS. Members of parliament becoming bankrupt, shall recate their seats, under the regulations of 52 Geo. S. c. 144. See these provisions, in title Parliament, 1. Of the House of Commons. BONDS. Obtaining bonds or other securities for money on false pretences. See Monay.

- BRIDGE. By 52 Gao. S. c. 110. a. 5. justices are authorised to contract for the repair of county bridges, and the roads or parts thereof, connected with such county bridges; although no presentment shall have been made of the insufficiency, inconveniency, decay or want of repair of the same, as directed by 12 Geo. 2. c. 29. subject however to alk the rules, restrictions, regulations, directions, and conditions required by 12 Geo. 2. t. 29. And also County Bater (in this Appendix) infine.
  - .. By the 54 Geo. 8. the provisions of 48. G. S. c. 59. (stated in the article Bridge supra) are extended to the purchase of buildings or esecutions, as well as to the purchase of land or ground; and also (except such provisions in said recited act as relate to bridges to be thereafter built) to the bridges and roads repaired by hundreds or other divisions of counties. s. 1, 8. And by 55 Geo. 8. c. 148. for amending the various acts relating to the building and repairing of county bridges. the surveyors of county bridges, and other persons employed under contracts, are empowered to take stones for repairing county bridges, but for this purpose the consent and order in writing of two justices isnecessary. Quarties, however, that pre situated in gardens and pricesure grounds, are not to be used without the consent of the owners, to whom initiafaction shall be made for stone, and damage done; and in case of refusal to treat, justices at general or quarter sessions shall cause the value of the stones, and amount of the damage done, to be accertained; by a jury; when the witnesses called before the just. may be examined upon oath, s. l.

Justices of the peace may sequire sheriffs or bailiffs to return jurice; and such sheriff or bailiff is required to impaintel, summon, and return such number of persons accordingly; and out of them or but of such of them as shall appear upon such summons, the justices of the peace, or any two of them shall, draw by ballot, and to suear or cause to be sworn, twelve men, who shall be the jury for the purposes aforesaid and in default of a sufficient number of jurymen so returned, the said sherist or bailist shall take such other honest and indistrent men of the hystanders, or that can speedily be procured to attend that vervice, to make up the number of twelve; and the jury refusing to appear or to be sworn, and persons summoned refusing to attend, and to give evidence, they respectively shall forfeit not more than 104, nor less than 14. for one offence, s. 2,

The expences of summoning and maintaining the jury and witnesses shall be borne and paid out of the rates to be collected within such county respectively; but if such jury shall give a verdict for no more or for less money than the money which shall have been so effered by such surveyor or other person or persons as aforesaid, then the costs and expences of summoning and maintaining the said jury and witnesses, shall be borne and paid by the person or persons with whom such controversy or dispute touching the value of such stones and amount of such damage shall arise, and shall be levied by the warrant of one of the said justices, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the person or persons made liable to the payment thereof, s. 3.

Persons aggrieved may appeal to justices assembled in general quarter sessions; but appellant must enter into recognizance to abide by such appeal: and the justices shall determine the matter of appeal in a summary way, s. 4.

By a. 5. the provisions of 48 Geo. 3. c. 59. are extended to the bridges as well as to the roads at the end of counties; and from the passing of this act (6th July, 1815) it is exacted that the justices of may county, city, &c. may at their general quartes sessions respectively, contract and agree, or authorize any other person or persons to contract and agree, for the maintaining and keeping in repair any county or hundred bridge, and the read over the same, and so much of the road at the ends thereof as are by law hable to be repaired at the expence of any such county, &c. or any part of the same; and the said justices are empowered to order such sums as may be contracted for and agreed to be paid for the repairing, amending, and supporting such bridges, and the roads over the same, or the ends thereof, to he paid (in cases where the county is liable to the repair thereof) by the treasurer of the county out of the county rate, or (in cases where the hundred is liable to the repair of the same) by the bridge master (or other public officer charged with the repair of bridges) of the hundred by which such bridge is liable to be repaired, for any term not exceeding seven years, nor less than one, although no presentment of the insufficiency, decay, or want of repair of the same shall have been made, and although ne public notice shall have been given by the said justices, at their respective general or quarter semion, of their intention to contract for the repair of such bridges, or the roads at the ends thereof, as respectively directed by the 12 Geo. 2. c. 29. provided that before any such contract shall be made, the said justices shall cause notices to be given in some public paper circulated in such county, city, riding, hundred, division, town corporate or liberty, of their intention to contract.

BUSTS. See Monuns, (in this appendix.)

C

CHARITABLE DONATIONS. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 102. reciting that whereas charitable donations have been given for the benefit of the poor and other parsons in England and Wales to a very considerable amount, and many of the aforesaid donations appear to have been lost, and others from the neglect of payment and the inattention of these persons who ought to superintend them, are in danger, of being jost, or rendered very difficult to be preserved; it is therefore enacted that a memorial of deeds, &c. respecting charjtable donations already. founded, shall from and after six calendar months after the passing of this act, be registered by the then trustee or trustees, feoffee or seoffees, possessor or possessors thereof, or some or one of them, in the form contained in the schedule to this act annexed, in the office of the cierk of the peace of the county, or city or town, being a county. of itself, within which such poor or other persons shall be; and such memorial or statement shall be signed by such person or persons causing the same to be registered and left in the said office of such clerk of the peace who shall forthwith transmit a duplicate or copy of the some unto the enrollment office of the high court of chancery, s. 1.

- The like registry, &c. is to be made of charitable donations which may hereafter be founded, s. 2.
- Clerks of the peace are to provide proper books wherein registries shall be made; and notice shall be given in the London Gazette if persons to be benefited shall not be wholly within one county, s. 3, 4.
- If donations shall not be registered, a petition may be presented to the lord chahcellor, &c. complaining thereof, s. 5.
- No proceedings under the provisions herein-before mentioned, shall be construed to extend to decide any right or title as to the property that shall be so registered, or as to the persons who shall be one sitled or claim to be entitled; to the benefit thereof, or any interest therein, s. 6.

. The clerk of the peace shall make searches; and give copies of registers, for 1s. each copy, s. 7.

Clerks of the peace shall be allowed for the registering every such momorial, 4s. and no more, in case the same do not exceed four hundred words, but if such memorial, &c. shall exceed four hundred words, then after the rate of 1s. an hundred for all the words contained in such entry, and the like fees for the like number of words contained in every copy of any entry given out of the said register, and no more; and for every notification in the London Gazette, the costs of such notification, and the further sum of 10s. for drawing and inserting the same, and transmitting the duplicate or copy hereinbefore mentioned unto the enrolment office of the high court of charcery, and no more, s. 8.

Further time may be allowed to register memorial, where difficulties occur in preparing the same, s. 9.

All reasonable costs attending the preparing memorials to be allowed by quarter sessions, out of the income, &c. of the charity.— But this act is not to extend to any donation not secured upon lands; nor to charitable institutions: nor to extend to any royal foundations; nor to certain institutions; nor to charitable institutions of quakers; nor to charitable foundations, the accounts of which are directed to be passed in the court of chancery, &c. s. 10—13.

Where any body corporate, guild, or fraternity, shall be entraced with the possession or distribution of divers charities or charitable donations and foundations, these may be registered and stated in one and the same memorial. Saving however to the king, and to all other persons, such power of superintending and regulating charities and charitable establishments, and the property and funds thereof, as they respectively had before the making of this acts s. 14, 15.

CHILD STEALING .- By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 101. any persons who from the passing of this act, shall, maliciously, either by force or fraud, lead, take, or carry away, or decoy, or entice away, any child under the age of ten years, with intent to deprive its parent or parents, or any other person having the lawful care or charge of such child of the possession of such child, by concealing and detaining such child from such parent or parents, or other person or persons having the lawful care or charge of it; or with intent to steal any article of apparel or ornament, or other thing of value or use, upon or about the person of such child, to whomsoever such article may belong; or shall receive and harbour with any such intent as aforesaid any such child, knowing the same to have been so by force of fraud led, taken, or carried, or decoyed or entired away as aforesaid; every such person or persons, and his, her, and their councellers, procurors, aiders, and abettors, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and shall be subject to all such pains, penalties, punishments, and forfeitures, as by the laws now in force may be inflicted upon, or are incurred by persons convicted of grand larceny. But nothing in this met shall extend, to any person who shall have claimed to be the father of an illegitimate child, or to have any right or title in law to the possession of such child, on account of his getting possession of such child, or taking such child out of the possession of the mother thereof, or other person or persons having the lawful charge thereof, a. 1, 2.

This act shall not extend to Scotland, s. 3.

CLERGY. See GLEBE (in this appendix.)

CONVICTED CRIMINALS.—By the 55 Geo. 3. c. 49. the several clerks of assises, clerks of the crown, clerks of the sessions of over and terminer and gaol delivery, clerks of the peace, and town clerks. within England and Wales, shall, within the first fourteen days of the month of January in every year, return to the principal secretary of state for the home department, the number of persons, male and female, committed to the several gaols in England and Wales for trial, and tried or discharged at such assizes and great or other sessions, at which they respectively act as such clerks as aforesaid, which shall have been holden within the preceding year; distinguishing particularly the crimes with which all such persons were severally charged apon their commitment, the crimes of which such of them as were indicted were respectively indicted, and the crimes of which such of them as were convicted were severally convicted; and distinguishing under each head of offence, the numbers convicted, acquitted, discharged by reason of no bill being found against them, and discharged by reason of no prosecution, and the sentences of such as were convicted; and also stating under each head of offence, the numbers of those capitally convicted who have been executed; and all such returns shall be made out and returned according to the form contained in the schedule to this act nunexed, or in such form and manner, and with any such additional particulars, as shall from time to time be ordered and required by the secretary of state in that behalf; and every clerk of assize or other clerk refusing or neglecting to make any such return, in the manner or form prescribed, shall forfeit for every offence one hundred pounds, s. 1.

Returns to be laid before parliament; and the principal secretary of state for the home department shall, cause such returns to be laid before parliament, between the 24th day of January and the 24th day of February in each year, if parliament shall be sitting during any part of such period; or if parliament shall not be sitting during any part of such period, within 14 days after parliament shall meet after the said 24th day of February in each year, s. 2.

Allowances shall be made to clerks of assize, &c. for their trouble out of the county rates by order of justices, to be made on county treasurer, s. 3.

COPYHOLD.—By the 55 Geo. S. c. 199, for removing certain difficulties in the disposition of copyhold estates by will, it is enacted that dispositions by will of copyhold estates shall be made effectual without previous surrenders to the uses thereof. But persons admitted under testamentary dispositions, must pay the like fees, &c. as would have been payable on such surrenders, s. 1, 2.

This act not to invalidate devises of copyholds, &c. that would be otherwise valid, s. 3.

CORDAGE.—By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 60. for the better preventing the embezzlement of his majesty's cordage, the provisions of 9 and 10 W. 3. c. 41. and 39 and 40 Geo. 3. c. 89. are extended to cordage worked with worsted threads.

CORN.—By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 69. all former duties and bounties on corn exported are to cease: and corn may be exported, without payment of duty; or receiving bounty.

And by 55 Geo. 3. c. 26. corn may at all times be imported and warehoused, without payment of any duty whatever: and corn so imported may be taken out of warehouse for home consumption, s. 1. 2.

Corn may be imported for home consumption whenever whent shall be at or above 80s. per quartern; whenever rye, peace, and beaut, shall be at or above 53s. per quartern; whenever barley, beer, or bigg, shall be at or above 40s. per quartern; and whenever eats shall be at or above 27s. per quartern, s. 3.

When British corn is below the prices before mentioned, no corn shall be imported or taken out of warehouse, s. 4.

The average price of the several sorts of British corn, by which the importation of foreign corn, meal, or flour, into the united kingdom. shall be regulated and governed, shall continue to be made up and published in the manner now required by law, but if, at any time after the importation of foreign corn shall be permitted, under the provisions of this act, the average price of the different sorts of British corn respectively, in the six weeks immediately succeeding the 15th day of February, the 15th day of May, the 15th day of August, and the 15th day of November in each year, shall have fallen below the prices at which foreign corn, &c. may be, under this act, allowed to be imported for home consumption, no such foreign corn, &c. shall be allowed to be imported into the writed kingdom for home consumption, from any place between the rivers Eyder and Bidasson, both inclusive, until a new average shall be made up, and published in the London Gazette, for regulating the importation into the united kingdom for the succeeding quarter, s. 5.

'Such corn, &c. being the growth of any British colony in North America, as may now by law be imported, may hereafter respectively be imported for home consumption, without payment of any duty, whenever the average prices of British corn, made up and published as now by law required, shall respectively be at or above the prices hereafter specified; that is to say, whenever the price of wheat shall be at or above 67s. per quarter; whenever the price of rye, pease, and beans, shall be at or above 44s. per quarter; whenever the price of barley, beer, or bigg shall be at or above 33s. per quarter; and whenever the price of oats shall be at or above 22s. per quarter, s. 6.

But when British corn is below the prices before mentioned, no corn from North America to be imported, s. 7.

North American corn may be imported and warehoused, according to the laws now in force. And such corn may be taken out of warehouse whenever corn of a similar description may be imported, s. 8, 9.

By s. 10. the rights of the corporation of London, or other corporations are respectively reserved, and by s. 11. the provisions of former acts extended to this act.

CORRUPTIONS OF BLOOD.—By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 145. it is enacted, that no attainder for felony which shall take place after the passing of this act, except in cases of high treason, or of the crimes of petit treason or murder, or of abetting, procuring, or counselling the same, shall extend to the disinheriting of any heir, nor to the prejudice of the right or title of any person or persons other than the right or title of the offender or offenders during his, her, or their natural lives only; and that it shall be lawful for every person to whom the right or interest of any lands, &c. after the death of any such offender or offenders should or might have appertained if no such attainder had been, to enter into the same.

COUNTY RATE. By the 52 Geo. 3. c. 110. reciting the 12 Geo. 2. c. 29. it is enacted that quarter sessions may appoint annually two or more justices near, to superintend repairs of bridges, &c. and they may expend 201. Such two justices to remain in office for one year, finishing one week after quarter sessions, s. 1. The court of quarter sessions shall order payment for repairs: but before such payment a certificate of such repairs shall be delivered, signed by one of the two justices, s. 2. The justices at sessions may appoint two justices before Easter sessions; and the provisions of the Easter appointment shall apply to them, s. 4. Justices may contract for the repair of bridges, s. 5.

n

DEBENTURES. Forging of dehentures for return of money from duties of Customs or Excise, is made felony without benefit of clergy, and the offender shall suffer death accordingly. 52 Geo. S. c. 443. s. 10.

By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 168, for amending the laws respect-DEEDS. ing the attestation of instruments of appointment and revocation, made in exercise of certain powers in deeds, wills, and other instruments, it is enacted, that every deed or other instrument, already made with the intention to exercise any power, authority or trust, or to signify the consent or direction of any person whose consent or direction army be necessary to be; so signified, shall (if duly signed and executed and in other respects duly attested) be from the date thereof, and so as to establish derivative titles if any, of the same validity and effect, and no other, at law and in equity, and proveable in like manner, as if a memorandum of attestation of signature, or being under hand, had been subscribed by the witness or witnesses thereto; and the attestation of the witness or witnesses thereto, expressing the fact of scaling, or of scaling and delivery, without expressing the fact of eigning or any other form of attestation, shall not exclude the proof or the presumption of signature. And this act shall extend to all deeds and other improments already made in exertise of powers, authorities, and trusts, of sale, exchange, partition, selection, nomination, discretion, leasing, jointuring, raising portions, and other charges, and for appointing new trustees and other powers, authorities, and trusts whatsoever, or made for evidencing assent, consent, request, direction, or any other like circumstance in reference to the execution of any such powers, authorities, or trusts, s. 1, 2. But this act is not to have a retrespective operation; nor affect any existing suit at law, &c. nor to affect any appointments, &c. s. 3, 4.

Nor shall any instrument, unless within the provisions of this act, be affected thereby, a. 5.

DISSENTERS. See Nonconformists.

B

ELECTION. See PARLIAMENT 1. House of Commons.

EMBEZZLEMENT. See Cordage, Poor, Stores (in this Appendix.)

K

FALSE PRETENCES. See MODEY.

FELONS. See TRANSPORTATION of Felons.

FRAMES (destroying of). By the 54 Geo. 8. c. 42, the provisions contained in 52 Geo. 3. c. 16. relative to the punishment of persons destroying stocking and lace frames, or any articles in such frames, are reptaled, z. 1. And persons nonvicted of cutting or destroying framework knitted pieces, or machines used in such manufacture, shall on conviction be adjudged guilty of felony, and be transported either for life or for not less than 7 years, as the judge before whom such offender shall be tried, in his discretion shall adjudge and direct, s. 2.

0

GAME. By 54 Geo. 3. c. 141. such of the duties contained in the schedule of 52 Geo. 3. c. 33. as relate to persons assisting in the killing of game, shall cease; provided the assistance be given to another who has duly obtained a certificate, and who shall by virtue of such his certificate use hisown gun, dog, net, &c. for taking such game, and who shall not act therein by virtue of any deputation or appointment.

GAOLS. By 55 Geo. 3. c. 48. the powers of 13 Geo. 3. c. 58. and 22 Geo, 3. c. 64. are respectively enlarged, and from the 24th of June, 1815, justices at the quarter sessions may encrease the salaries of clergymen officiating in gaols, s. 1.

The provisions of 13 Geo. 3. c. 58. are declared to be applicable to houses of correction: but no salary to be assigned to any clergyman for officiating in any such house of correction shall exceed fifty pounds a year, s. 2.

Every clergyman who shall be employed with a salary under this or either of the acts above recited, in order to entitle himself to receive the same, shall keep a journal in a book to be provided for that purpose, in the gaol or house of correction in which he shall be so employed, in which journal he shall enter the times of his attendance at such gaol or house of correction on the performance of his duty, with any observations which may occur to him in the execution thereof; and such journal shall regularly be laid before the justices of the peace having jurisdiction over the said gaol, or house of correction, for their fuspection at every quarter sessions at which such justices shall be assembled, and shall be signed by the chairman of the said sessions, in proof of the same having been there produced, s. S.

The offices of clergymen to gaois and houses of correction may be united, provided the salary so to be paid do not exceed 1201 and all clergymen so appointed must have license from the bishop of the diocese, and may officiate during so long time only as such license shall remain in force; and when any clergyman shall be so appointed, the clerk of the peace for the county, &c. wherein any such appointment shall be made, shall, within one month after such appointment shall be made, shall, within one month after such appointment shall have been made, transmit a copy thorsof to the bishop of such diocese, s. 5.

GAOLER (Fees of). By the 55 Geo. 3. c, 50. it is enacted that after the 1st of October, 1815, all fees or gratuities payable at gaols and bridewells shall be abolished, and the quarter sessions shall make utlowances to gaolers, &c. in the way of salary or compensation for the fees or gratuities, payable by prisoners now abolished by this act. Which allowances shall be paid out of the county rate, &c. s. 1, 3.

Every prisoner charged with felony or misdemeanor and acquitted, to be discharged without payment of any fee, &c. and all fees usually paid to clerks of the court, or of assize, &c. shall be abolished, a 4,5.

County treasurers shall pay allowances in lieu of fees, for places not usually assessed to the county at large, s. 6.

Every clerk of the peace, or his deputy, and every officer who shall claim any fees or indemnification for the same in respect of any such prisoners, shall deliver at every session of the peace, or at some adjournment thereof, an account of all fees so due to him, or for which he shall claim any indemnification; which account shall be verified upon oath in court, before the chairman of such sessions, s. 7.

The clerks of assise shall, at every assise deliver to the judge of the assize who shall sit for the trial of such prisoners, an account of such fees as shall be due to him, in respect of such prisoners; which account shall be verified upon oath before such judge to whom such account shall be delivered, a. 8.

After this act, any clerk of assize, clerk of the peace, clerk of the court, or their deputies or other officers, exacting such fees, shall be rendered incapable of holding his or their offices, and be guilty of a misdemennor, s. 9.

Liberates to debtors shall be granted free of expence, and compensation made to the sheriffs for the same, s. 10.

Where cities, towns corporate, and other places, do not contribute to the payment of any county rate, and have no town rate or public stock; as doubts may arise whether such cities, &c. can be legally rated and assessed towards the payment of the salaries, &c. in lies of such fees and gratuities; it is exacted, that in all such cases the salaries, &c. in lieu of fees and gratuities, shall be raised, and paid, within such cities, and places, by a separate rate and assessment to be made by the churchwardens and overseers of the poor of the several parishes and precincts within such cities, &c. and by such and the like ways, methods, and means, as the rates for the relief of the poor are usually raised therein, s. 11.

And whereas it may happen that the same to be raised in the said cities, or some or one of them, to naswer and pay such salaries, &c. in lieu of fees and gratuities by this act abolished, may be so small, that it may not be convenient to make an equal separate rate and assessment for the same, upon the said parishes and precincts within such cities, town corporate and places; it is enacted, that in such last-mentioned case, as aften as the same shall happen, the salaries, &c.

may, by order of the said judge or justices in sessions assembled, be paid out of the poor's rates in the said several cities, &c. and the treaturers or persons from to time having the management of such poor rates are to pay such sums of money as often as the same shall be ordered: provided always, that the order for such allowances as may be made by the justices of the peace assembled in general or quarter sessions, be approved by the judges of assise on the first circuit ensuing after such warrant shall have been made out by the justices of peace assembled in general or quarter session for any county, city, or town, and that such order shall not be deemed or taken as a legal order without such warrant from the judge or judges of assize: and should there be more parishes than one in the same district, the payments are to be made and levied in such rates and proportions as the respective parishes pay to the poor rate, s. 19.

Any Gaoler exacting any fee or gratuity from prisoners, shall be rendered incapable of holding his office, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be punished by fine and imprisonment, s. 13.

Nothing in this act shall extend to the King's Bench prison, his majecty's prison of the Flost, the Marshalsea, and Palace courts, . 14.

GLEBE. By 55 Geo. 8. c. 147, reciting that whereas in divers ecclesiastical benefices, perpetual curacios, and parochial chapelries, the glebe lands, or some part or parts thereof, lie at a distance from and are inconvenient to be occupied with the parsonage or glebe bouses, and the parsonage or glebe bouses of divers benefices, perpeteal curacies, and parochial chapelries, are mean and inconvenient; and it would often tend much to the comfort and accommodation, and thereby also to promote the residence of the incumbents of such henefices, &c. if the glebe lands and parsonage or glebe houses thereof could be by law exchanged for other lands of greater value, or more conveniently situated, and for other and more convenient houses: and that whereas there are also divers lands and tenements which have been accustomed to be granted or demised by the incumbent for the time being of certain ecclesisstical benefices, &c. for one, two, or three lives, or for a term or terms of years absolutely or determinable on a life or lives, as being holden by copy of court roll or otherwise, under some manor or lordship belonging to such benefices, perpetual curacies, or parochial chapelries, and it would therefore be advantageous to the said benefices if the same lands and tenements, or some of them, or some part thereof, were annexed as glebe to the living or benefice to which they belong: it is enacted that from the passing of this act the parson, vicar, or other incumbent, for the time being, of any ecclesiastical benefice,&c. may have power to exchange parsonage houses and globe lands for other houses and lands, and the premises so given in exchange shall be subject to the same tithes, &c. as those taken in exchange, unless it be agreed between the parties to such exchange that the same shall become subject to payment of tithes in kind, or subject to or covered by the same modus, composition real, or prescription in lieu of tithes in kind, as the lands so to be conveyed in exchange to the said purson, viour, or incumbent, were exempt or discharged from, or subject to, or covered by, before such exchange was under, s. 1, 2.

After the exchange the incumbent shall not be evicted, s. S.

The incumbent is further empowered to some premises belonging to manors and herotofore grantable and demisable as copyhold or otherwise to such benefice; but such annexations are not to annul existing grants or demises, s. 4.

A similar power to annex parsonage houses, &c. by benefaction, is also given, and also to purchase land, not exceeding five acres, with the consent of the patron and bishop; which land shull be annexed to benefices as globe land thereof, and copyhold land so purchased shall be bolden as freehold, s. 5, 6.

For the better effectuating such purchases, the incumbent for the time being, with the consent of the patron and bishop, may borrow and take up at interest (over and besides the monies anthorized to be borrowed under the authority and for the purposes of 17 Geo. S. c. 53.) such sum as shall be certified by a valuation upon oath of some skilful and experienced surveyor to be the true and just value of the said lands at the time of the purchase thereof, not exceeding two years clear income and produce of such benefice, &c. after deducting all taxes and other out-goings whatever, except the salary to the assistant curate (if any); and as a security for re-payment of the money so to be borrowed, to mortgage the fithes, rents, and other profits and emoluments of or belonging to such benefice, &c. do any person who shall advance such money by one or more deed or deeds for twenty-five years, or until the principal money so to be borrowed, with interest for the same, and all costs and charges attending the recovery thereof, shall be fully paid off and satisfied; which mertgage deed or deeds shall bind, as well such parson, vicar, or other incumbent of such benefice, perpetual curacy, or parochial chapelry, executing such mortgage or mortgages, as also his successors, and counterpart thereof shall be executed by the mortgagee or mortgagess, and be kept by the incumbent; and the parson, Tiggs, or incumbent for the time being of meh benefice. &c. shall pay or cause to be paid to the mortgagee every year, as the same shall become due, or within one month afterwards, as well the interest of the principal money secured by such mortgage or mortgages, as also the further sum of five pounds per centum per aroum of the principal money originally advanced on such mortgage of mortgages; and that every incumbent who shall not reside twenty weeks in every year upon such benefice, &c. computing each year from the date of the first or only mortgage deed, shall, instead of said sum of five pounds per centum per annum, pay within the period aforesaid the sum of ten pounds per centum per annum of the principal money originally advanced on such mortgage or mortgages, until the whole of such principal money, with the interest, costs, and charges shall be fully paid off and discharged: and that every such incumbent who shall pay only five pounds per centum per. annum of such principal money shall, at the time of payment thereof, preduce and deliver to the mortgagee, a certificate under the bands of two rectors, vicars, or other officiating ministers of some parishes near adjoining, signifying that he had resided twenty: weeks upon the said benefice, &c. within the year for which such payment became due; and in default of payment of the principal. interest, costs, and charges in manner aforesaid, the bishop shall have power to sequester the profits of such benefice, parochial chapetry, &c. until such payment shall be made; and if at any timethe said principal and interest, or any part thereof, shall be int arreas and unpaid for the space of forty days next after the yearlyday of payment whereon the same shall have become due, it shall be lawful for the mortgagee or mortgagees, and, his, her or their executors, administrators, or assigns, to recover the same, or such part thereof as shall be so unpaid, and the costs and charges attending the recovery, by distress and sale, in such manner as landbords are or shall be by law authorized to recover rents in arrear; and in order that the payment of the same principal and interest may, in cases of avoidance by death or otherwise, be justly and equitably ascertained and adjusted between the parson, vicur, or incumbent avoiding such benefice, &c. or his representatives, and his successor, in such proportions as the profits of such benefice, perpetual caracy, or parochial chapelry, shall have been received by them respectively for the year in which such death or avoidance shall kappen, such payment shall, in case any difference shall arise in settling the proportions thereof, be ascertained and determined by two indifferent persons, the one to be named by the person making such avoidance, or his representatives in case his death, and the other by the said successor; and in case such nominees shall not be appointed within the space of two calenda months next after such death or avoidance, or in case they shall not agree in settling such proportions within the space of one calendar month after they shall have been appointed, the same shall be determined by some neighbouring clergyman to be nominated by the bishop, whose determination shall be final and conclusive between the parties, s. 7.

The governors of queen Anne's bounty may lend money not exceeding 1001, where the clear annual value of benefice shall not exceed 50L without interest, and, not exceeding 2001, or two years income on such mortgage to receive 4 per cent. per annum interest, s. 8:

Colleges may also lend any sum with or without interest, s. 9.

But the consent of patron and bishop is necessary to all deeds of exchange, mortgage, or purchase, s. 10.

Where the archbishop and bishops have peculiars, the powers given by this act to the bishop of any diocese shall, with respect to such peculiars, be vested in the archbishop or bishop to whom such peculiars shall respectively belong, and within every peculiar belonging to any other person or corporation than archbishops or bishops, such powers and authorities shall be vested in and exercised by the bishop of the diocese within which such peculiars shall be locally situated, s. 11.

The owners of any lands, &c. may convey on exchange or sale, and the premises so exchanged shall be settled to the same uses. But where the purchase money of lands sold shall belong to any corporation, sale or aggregate, infant, feme covert, lanatic, or person or persons under any other disability or incapacity, it shall with all convenient speed be paid into the Bank of England, and in the name of the accountant general of the high court of chancery, to be placed to his account ex parte the person or persons or corporation, who would have been entitled to the rents, issues, and profits of such lands or hereditaments, to the intent that such money shall be applied or laid out under the direction, and with the approbation of the said court, in the purchase of the land tax, or towards the payment of any debts or incumbrances affecting the same lands or hereditaments, or other lands or hereditaments, standing settled to the same or the like uses; or in the purchase of other lands or hereditaments to be conveyed, settled, and made subject to and for and upon such uses, and in the same manner as the lands or hereditaments so purchased as aforesaid stood settled or limited, or such of them as at the time of making such purchase and conveyance shall be existing undetermined and capable of taking effect; and until such purchase shall be made, the said money shall, by order of the said court of chancery upon application thereto, be invested by the said accountant general in his name, in some one of the public shall from time to time be paid by order of the said court to the person who would have been entitled to the rents, issues, and profits of the said lands or hereditaments, in case no purchase and conveyance thereof had been made under the provisions of this act, s. 12.

Persons under legal incapacity cannot convey (except in exchange) more than five acres, and in all cases where exchange or purchase shall be made, notice must be previously given by advertising for three successive weeks in some one and the same newspaper circulating in each county wherein the premises so to be given and taken in exchange or purchased, or any part thereof, are situate; and also by affixing such notice in writing on a conspicuous part of the door of the church or chapel of each parish or chapelry wherein such premises, or any part thereof are situate, on three sundays successively whereon divides service shall be performed, and shortly before the commencement of such service on each sunday in such church or chapel; s. 13, 14.

A map and valuation on actual survey shall be made of the premises to be given and taken in exchange or purchased, s. 15.

In all cases, as well of exchange as of purchase under this act, the Sishop on receiving such map or maps and valuation shall, if he shall in the first instance so far approve of the said exchange or purchase, issue a commission of enquiry under his hand and seal, directed to such persons as he shall think proper, not being fewer than six in number, and of whom three at the least shall be beneficed clergymen actually resident in the neighbourhood of the benefice, &c. whereto. it shall be proposed to annex any buildings or lands by exchange or purchase under the authority of this act, and of whom one shall be a barrister at law of three years standing at the least, to be named by the senior judge in the last preceding commission of nisi prius for the county in which the said benefice, &c. shall be situate, and the return to which commission of enquiry shall be made and signed by a marjority of the persons therein named, after an actual inspection by them of all the premises, with such map and valuation before them, and not otherwise, and three at least of the persons making and signing the same shall be either three such beneficed clergymen actually resident as aforesaid, or two at least of such beneficed clergyment. resident as aforesaid, together with such barrister as aforesaid; and in no case whatever shall any exchange or purchase be effected under the authority of this act, unless such commission shall have been previously issued and returned, and unless the return to such commission, so made and signed as aforesaid, shall certify that, after actual inspection and examination of the premises, such exchange or purchase, in the judgment of the persons making the said return, is fit and proper to be made, and will promote the permanent advantage or convenience of the incumbent of such benefice, &c. and his successors in the same, s. 16.

In case of minority, lunacy, or marriage, the guardian, committee, or husband, of every such patron, may transact the several matters, and execute the requisite deeds for such patron, who shall be bound thereby in such manner as if he or she had been of full age, or sound mind, or feme sole, and had done such acts and executed such deeds, s. 17.

Where the patronage of any benefice, &c. to which this act extends shall be in the crown, and such living or benefice shall be above the yearly value of twenty pounds, in the king's books, the consent of the crown to the several proceedings hereby authorized respecting such benefice, &c. shall be signified by the execution of the deeds or instruments herein-before directed, by the lord high treasurer or first lord commissioner of the treasury for the time being; but if such benefice, &c. shall not exceed the yearly value of twenty pounds in the king's books, such consent shall be signified by such execution by the lord high chancellor, lord keeper, or lords commissioners of the great seal for the time being; and if such benefice, perpetual curacy, or parochial chapelry, shall be within the patronage of the crown, in right of the duchy of Lancaster, then such consent shall be signified by the execution of such deeds or instruments by the chancellor of the said duchy for the time being, s. 18.

One part of all deeds and instruments executed in pursuance of this act, together with the maps and valuations, and the commissions of enquiry and the returns to the same, herein-before directed, shall within twelve calendar months next after the date or dates thereof, be deposited in the office of the registrar of the diocese wherein such benefice, &c. of the archbishop or bishop shall be locally situate, to be perpetually kept and preserved therein, except as to those benefices which are under the peculiar jurisdiction of any archbishop or bishop, in which case the several documents before mentioned shall be deposited in the office of the registrar of that peculiar jurisdiction, to which any such benefice, perpetual curacy, ot parochial chanciry' shall be subject; and such registrars shall respectively so deposit and preserve the same, and shall give and sign a certificate of such deposit thereof to be written on a duplicate, or on any other part or parts of the said deeds, or any or either of them, or on some other separate parchment, paper, or instrument, and every such deed or instrument shall be produced at all proper and usual hours at such registry, to every person applying to inspect the same, and an office copy of each such deed or instrument, certified under the hand of the registrar (and which office copy, so certified, the registrar shall in all cases grant to every person who shall apply for the same) shall in all cases be admitted and allowed as legal evidence thereof in all courts whatsoever; and every such registrar shall be entitled to the sum of 10s. and no more (over and besides the stamp duty, if any) for such commission and the previous requisites thereof; and the sum of five shillings and no more, for so depositing as aforesaid the deeds, settlements, map, survey, valuation, commission, and instruments, and for certifying such deposit made thereof; the sum of 1s. and no more for each such search; and the sum of 6d. and no more (over and besides the said stamp duty) for each folio of 72 words of each such office copy, so certified as aforesaid, s. 19

The forms contained in the schedules of 17 Geo. 3. c. 53. and 21 Geo. 3. c. 66. shall be used (so far as applicable) for the purposes of this act, which however shall not repeal any former law, s. 20, 21.

HACKNEY COACHES. The various acts of parliament regulating these useful conveyances are very numerous: the following is an abstract of the principal regulations respecting them.

By the 42 Geo. S. c. 78. the total number was fixed at 1100, 200 whereof (by 54 Geo. S. c. 147. s. 15.) may be hackney chariots; and by 55 Geo. S. c. 159. s. 2. 200 additional chariots may be licenced. Both coaches and chariots pay a weekly sum to the king on each licence. All hackney coaches and chariots are to have their numbers on them respectively.

Every hackney conchman may refuse to carry more than four adult or grown-up persons, (and not being children in arms or lap) in his coach, and a servant outside, at one and the same time, and shall not at any time be compellable to earry above that number of such persons; but if he shall agree to carry, or shall actually earry above that number of such persons in his coach at one and the same time, he shall be entitled to demand, and to receive and be paid for every such additional person, of whateverage he or she may may be (not being a child in arms or lap), whom he shall so agree to carry, or shall actually carry, one shilling over and above the regular fare, under the circumstances and as allowed by the same act, 54 Geo. 3. c. 147. s. 14.

No owner or driver of any backney chariot shall be compellable or be compelled to carry more than three persons, (not being children in arms or lap) in his chariot, and the servant on the outside at the same time, but every owner or driver of ony backney chariot who shall actually carry any greater number shall be entitled to demand and to receive for every such additional person (not being a child in arms or hap), the sum of one shilling, over and above the regular fare; and if he shall carry any such additional person into the country, and bring the same or any other additional person back again, shall be estitled to demand and receive, over and above his regular fare, the sum of one shilling for going into the country, and the sum of one shilling for returning; any thing in any act or acts of parliament relating to backney coaches to the contrary notwithstanding, 56 Geo. 3. c. 150. s. 3.

The commissioners for licensing and regulating backney coaches, by and with the approbation and direction in writing of the lords commissioners of his majesty's treasury, or any three or more of them, may licease such number of carriages with two wheels and drawn by one horse, as shall be specified in any such approbation and direction as aforesaid; and the owners and drivers of such two wheeled carriages shall be chargeable with the like sum for licences as are now payable for licenses for backney coaches, and shall be entitled to demand, take, and receive two-thirds of the amount of the fares, rates, and benefits established by law for backney conches and chariots; and no owner or driver of any such two wheeled carriage shall be compeliable to carry more than two persons; and all orders, rules, regulations, bye laws, penalties, forfeitures, clauses, provisions, matters, and things, contained in any act or acts of parliament relating to hackney coaches or chariots in the cities of London and Westminster, shallextend and apply to and be put in force in relation to all such licensedcarriages, and the owners and drivers thereof, and to all persons using the same, in like manner in every respect, and as fully and effectually, as if the same were in this act severally and respectively re-enacted and repeated in relation to such carriages, and as if the said carringes had been included in the mid acts, s. 4.

So much of 48 Geo. 3. c. 87. as relates to additional fares when driven into the country, is repealed; and other fares are substituted, vis. In case any hackney coach or chariot shall be hired in any part of the cities of London and Westminster, or the suburbs thereof, the borough of Southwark, or any place adjoining thereto, where there is a regular continuation of carriageway pavement, or at any standing for backney coaches or obariots beyond any such regular continuation of carriageway pavement, and discharged after the hour of seven in the evening, between the periods of Michaelmas-day and Ludy-day, and after the hour of nine in the evening between the periods of Lady-day and Michaelmas-day, at any place where there is not a regular continuation of carriageway pavement as aforesaid, there may be demanded over and above the ordinary and established fare, the full rate or fare allowed by the said recited act, to the nearest extremity of continued carriageway pavement, or to any standing for hackney coaches or chariots beyond any such regular continuation of carriageway pavement, where such coach or chariot shall have been hired, at the option of the person discharging such coach or chariot; and in case any backney coach or chariot shall be hired and driven into the country, and then discharged in the day-time, and not after the hours hereinbefore respectively mentioned, there shall or may be demanded, for the return thereof to the nearest extremity of continued carriageway pavement, or to any standing for backney coaches or chariots beyond any such regular continuation of carriageway pavement where such coach or chariot shall have been hired, at the option of the person discharging such coach or chariot, for each and every mile above the number of four miles, the additional rate or fare of sixpence: provided nevertheless, no such allowance for return shall be made for any lesser distance than four miles, calculated as aforesaid, s. 5.

Where persons refuse to pay the driver his fare, or for damages, justices may grant summons or warrant, and on their refusal to pay or make such satisfaction, may commit such persons to prison, for any time not exceeding one month, or until the amount of such satisfaction shall be paid and descharged, s. 6.

The commissioners for regulating backney coaches are to regulate the number of coaches and chariots; and also may hear and determine complaints between owners and drivers of backney coaches, e. 7, 8.

Drivers of backney coaches wherein any property shall be left, shall carry the same to the hackney coach office within a certain time, or be subject to a penalty not exceeding 20%, and the clerk with whom such property is deposited is required to give a receipt for the same, and to make an entry in a book to be kept at the said office, of the description thereof, the name and address of the driver bringing the same, and the day on which it is brought; and the property so entered shall be returned to the person or persons respectively, who shall prove to the satisfaction of the said commissioners, or the major part of them, that the same belonged to him, her, or them, such person or persons previously paying all expences incurred, together with such reasonable sum to the driver who brought the same, as with reference to the value of property in question the said commissioners. shall award; provided that if such property shall not be proved to belong to such person or persons within one year, the same having been advertised in such manner as the said commissioners may direct, Se.

the sale all the expences incurred, the balance shall be paid to the driver who deposited the same, a. 9.

No agreement to pay more than the established fare shall be binding; but the person may, notwithstanding making such agreement, refuse, on discharging such coach or chariot, the payment of any sum beyond the established fare; and in case such person or persons shall actually pay to the driver of any backney coach or chariot, whether in pursuance of any such agreement or engagement, or not, any sum exceeding his established fare, which shall have been demanded or required by such driver, the person or persons paying the same shall be entitled, on complaint against such driver, to recover the overplus paid; and such driver shall be subject and liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, to be levied in case of non-payment, by distress upon the goods and chattels of the offender, s. 10.

Hackney conchmen leaving their conc. unattended, are liable topay not exceeding 51. recoverable by distress, s. 11.

Drivers are not to refuse a fare although they may have been out twelve hours, s. 13.

Commissioners or justices may summon, on complaint, owners, drivers, assistants, or watermen, before them: and if the drivers, of any hackney coaches, or any hackney chairmen, or watermen, be convicted of using abusive language, or obstructing police officers, &c. they shall be subject to a penalty, at the discretion of such justice or justices, or commissioners, not in any case exceeding ten pounds; and in default of the payment of such penalty so to be awarded, to be committed to prison for a period not in any case exceeding two months, s. 14.

All pecuniary penalties and forfeitures to be recovered under this orany former backney coach acts, shall be applied, one moiety thereof to his majesty, his heirs and successors, and the other moiety to the informer; any law, usage or eastern to the contrary notwithstanding, s. 15.

HARBOUR. By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 159. so much of 9 Geo. 3. c. 30. as relates to the harbour moorings of the navy, and also so much of 10 A. c. 17. as relates to the said harbour moorings, and 51 Geo. 3. c. 73. are repealed: and the admiralty are empowered to establish regulations for the preservation of the king's moorings, and for mooring merchant ships, s. 1, 2.

No private ships shall fasten to his majesty's moorings on penalty of 101. for each and every tide which such ship or other craft, shall stay and remain so moored, anchored, or placed, s. 3.

For the prevention of any damage which might otherwise be occasioned to his majesty's moorings, chains, anchors, buoys, piles, ships, or hulks, and also for the prevention of delay in the public service; private ships or vessels are to be removed by the captain or master thereof, within one bour after order in writing to that effect shall have been received on pain of forfeiting 10t. for every offence, s. 4.

Notice to be given when his majesty's moorings are accidentally hooked by the anchors of private ships, which shall not be unknoked without previous notice to the harbour master, or other chief officer of the king's yard, on pain of captain or master forfeiting 10i. and such exptain or master shall pay not exceeding 5i. for assistance in unhooking or leosening said ship, s. 5.

The admiralty are to appoint places for breaming ships, and for leaving and receiving gunpowder, on pain of ferfeiting 51. for every 51bs. of gunpowder found aboard; and the pilot, who shall be convicted of having steered such ship, knowing that there was gunpowder unlawfully aboard, shall for ever be rendered incapable of being a pilot, s. 6.

And persons breaming ships, except at appointed places, shall also forfeit 5t. for every offence, s. 7.

If any owner, master, or other person, having the charge or command of any private ship of war, &c. shall while such ship shall lie in any port, keep any gun or guns of and belonging to such ship or vessel shottedor loaded with ball, or shall fire or discharge, or cause or permit to be fired or discharged, any gun or guns on board such ship or vessel lying therein, before sun-rising or after sun-setting, every such owner, master, or other person as aforesaid, shall, for every such gun so kept, shotted, or loaded, forfeit the sum of five shillings, and for every gun so fired or discharged, the sum of ten shillings, s. 8.

Power to enter private ships may be entered to search for gunpowder, &c. and persons opposing such entry incur a penalty of 10% s. 9.

For the better prevention of the embezzlement of his majesty's stores, no person shall sweep his majesty's stores but licensed persons, on pain of forfeiting 101 for every offence, s. 10.

Persons letting ballast or rubbish go into the sea, so as to interrupt navigation, forfeit 101. for every offence, and for the more effectually preventing such injuries, no ship or vessel, whatsoever, shall unlade on any part of the shore (except on some wharf properly constructed for the purpose) any ballast, stone, slate, gravel, earth, rubbish, wreck, or filth, except at the time of high water, or within 2 hours before, or 2 hours after high water; and for every such purpose, every such ship or vessel, lighter, barge, boat, or cruff shall approach the shore, as far as the tide and the draught of water of such ship, vessel, lighter, barge, boat or craft will admit, and shall, under no circumstances, and in no situation, deposit any of the said matters below low water mark at neap tides; and every vessel drawing above eleven feet of water at the stern, shall uninde all such materials into some lighter, barge, or boat, as herein-before directed, in order that the same may be conveyed as near the shore as possible at the time of high water, as herein-before directed, s. 9.

All such ballast shall be cast on shore from the side of the ship mearest to the land, on pain of forfeiting 10% for every offence, beside all expences of removing such ballast to a proper place, s. 13.

Persons taking ballast from the shore in harbours without leave, forfeit 10*l*. for every offence, s. 14.

Tarpaulins shall be used in taking in and discharging ballast on pain of forfeiting 5/. for every offence, s. 15.

The admiralty may grant licences for dispensing with the provisions relative to-ballast, s. 16.

Vessels sunk in ports are to be raised, and the officers indemnified who shall assist in raising them, s. 17, 18.

If harbour master neglects for two months, the owner may raise his sunk vessel, s. 19.

Commissioners of the navy may act as justices, under this act, and all the penalties and forfeitures, imposed by this act shall be sued for within twelve calendar months next after the offence or offences shall be committed, before any commissioners of the navy or justice of the peace residing at or near to the place where any such offence or offences shall be committed; all which said penalties and forfeitures shall go and be applied as follows; (that is to say), one moiety thereof to the use of his majesty, and the other moiety thereof, with full costs, to he adjudged by such commissioner of the navy or justice of the peace, to the informer; and every such commissioner of the navy and justice of the peace, is authorized and required, upon information exhibited or complaint made, to issue his warrant in writing under his hand, to bring before them respectively such offender or offenders at the time and place in such warrant specified; and if on the conviction of the offender or offenders respectively, on his, her, or their confession, or on oath, (which oath every such commissioner of the navy and justice of the peace is hereby authorised and empowered to administer), such penalty or forfeiture, together with such costs as aforesaid, shall not be forthwith paid, it shall be lawful for such commissioner of the navy or justice of the peace, to commit any such offender or offenders to the common gaol or house of correction for the county, city or borough, at or near to the place where the offence or offences shall be committed, there to remain without bail or mainprize for any time not exceeding three months, unless such penalty or forfeiture and costs shall be sooner paid, s. 20, 21.

And whereas divers ports, harbours, havens, roads, roadsteads, sounds, channels, creeks, bays, and navigable rivers, in this kingdom, do lie partly in one county and partly in another, and partly or in the whole out of the body of any county of this realm; by reason whereof deubts may arise as to the jurisdiction of any commissioner of the navy or justice of the peace touching any offence or offences which may be committed contrary to this act; it is enacted, that any commissioner of the navy, residing at or near to any port, barbour, or haven, or any part thereof, or any justice of the peace for any county, city, or borough, acting in and for any district or place next adjoining to any such port, harbour, baven, road, roadstead, sound, channel, creek, bay, or navigable river, or any member of any of them, where any such offence or offences may be committed, may proceed in the execution of this act, and ofall the powers and authorities thereof, in such and the same manner, and as fully and effectually, to all intents and purposes, as if such offence or offences had been committed locally within the limits of the jurisdiction of such commissioner of the navy or justice of the peace, although the same may have been committed out of the limits of the jurisdiction of such commissioner or justice, or out of the body of any county of this realm, s. 22.

Witnesses not attending forfeit 10L and if they give fulse evidence are punishable for perjury, s. 24, 25.

But nothing in this act shall prejudice, diminish, abridge, alter, or take away, any right of property, privilege, or jurisdiction, or any powers of conservancy, held, possessed, used, exercised, or enjoyed, by any body corporate or politic, or by any lord or lords, lady or ladies of any masor or manors, or any person or persons whatsoever, in, to, upon, or over any of the ports, harbours, havens, roads, roadsteads, sounds, channels, creeks, bays, or navigable rivers of the united kingdom, or to the banks, shores, or sides thereof; or repeal any of the provisions contained in any acts of parliament which may have passed, for the regulation of any river, port, or harbour, in the united kingdom, or the shipping frequenting the same, except such acts and provisions as are expressly repealed by this present act; but such respective rights of property, privileges, jurisdictions, and powers of conservancy, shall be respectively and exclusively enjoyed, in as full, ample, and beneficial a manner in every respect, to all intents and purposes, as if this act had never been made, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding, s. 28.

HIGHWAY. By the 55 Geo. 3. c. 68. that part of the 13 Geo. 3. c. 78. which relates to notice of appeal against turning or diverting a public highway, is repealed, s. 1.

Trustees by order at special sessions may divert and turn certain highways, bridleways and footways, and justices may order the stopping up of unnecessary highways, &c. on giving notice agreeably to schedule in this net; such notice to be inserted in the newspapers of the county in which such highways, &c. shall lie; and the order to be returned to the clerk of the peace, and confirmed and involted at quarter sessions, s. 2.

Persons injured by any such order or proceedings, may appeal to justices at quarter sessions, upon giving notice thereof in writing, but if no appeal be made, or if such order be confirmed, the old ways may be stopped, and proceedings shall be conclusive; and new highways shall afterwards continue a public highway, &cc. s. 3, 4.

This act not to askul may previous order or proceedings, s. 5.

By 54 Geo. 3. c. 169. upon application of surveyor of the highways, Justice at general or quarter sessions, may direct an additional access sment, for repairing the highways, s. l.

Notice of such application must be proved to have been given at the church or chapel, on two summays preceding such general or quarter sersions, or special sessions for the highways; or, in townships or places where there are no churchesor chapels, to have been stuck up in writing in two or more conspicuous places within the said townships or places, for one week at least previous to such general or quarter sessions, orpecial sessions for the highways; or, in extra-parochial places, to have been given in writing to some of the principal inhabitants residing in such extra-parochial place, a week at least before such general or quarter sessions, or special sessions for the highways; in order that any percon or persons limble to be rated to the assessment intended to be applied for, may attend at such general or quarter sessions, or special sessions, if they shall think fit; there to state to the said justices any objections which he, she, or they may have to the making and collecting of such assessment. But the assessment herein authorized shall not exceed the rate of one shilling and ninepence in the pound on the actual value at the time of making such additional assessment, s. 2, 3.

But where a composition will be more beneficial than the performance of statute duty in kind, justices may at their special sessions in the week after michaelmas (55 Geo. S. c. 68. s. 6.) authorize surveyors to take such composition in whole or in part of statute duty in the various proportions mentioned in this act, 54 Geo. S. c. 109. s. 4, 5.

And persons keeping carriages, though not occupying to the amount of 501. are liable to composition in the same manner as those who keep carts or waggons, s. 6.

All persons refusing or acglecting to personn any part of their statute duty in kind, on being regularly summoned by the surveyor for that purpose, shall forfeit a sum equal to twice the amount of the composition for such statute duty as they shall have so neglected on refused to perform, according to the rates fixed by the justices under the provisions of this act; and the said persons shall also be liable to perform the said statute duty which they have so neglected or refused to perform either in the same or in the following year; the payment of such forfeitures, and the arroars of such statute duty, to be enforced and applied to the henefit of the highway or turupike road, as the case may be, to which the original neglected duty was due on owing, by the surveyor or surveyors for the time being, and under the same regulations and in the same manner as other forfeitures may be levied, and statute duty may in other cases be enforced by any of the provisions of any of the said herein-before recited acts. Justices of cities may execute this act, s. 8.

I

INSOLVENT DEBTORS. Various acts of parliament have been passed for the relief of insolvent debtors: the most recent is the 52 Geo. 3. c. 165. which has been amended by 53 Geo. 3. c. 66, 102. 54 Geo. 3. c. 23, 28. and other statutes. The various provisions of these numerous acts being of great length, the limits of this work will-only admit the insertion of a few of the principal clauses.

Guelers are required to make out lists of prisoners in custody for debt, and to attest the same, on oath, when delivered by them to the quarter or special sessions: such lists are to be kept by the clerk of the peace, and examined gratis, and a copy thereof is to be fixed upin prisons before delivery to the sessions. Prisoners for debt, not exceeding 20001, to be discharged.

Where however the debt exceeds 2000l. it is now humanely provided that the chief justices of the courts of king's beach and common pleas, and the chief baron of the exchequer, respectively may nominate a barrister for considering applications in this case, who may discharge insolvent debtors, whose debts amount to or exceed 2000l, in case where they shall judge it fitting and just so to do, s, 1.

Barristers so appointed may discharge insolvent debtora. Such barristers are further empowered to require the bodies of prisoners in gaols within the counties of Middlesex and Surry, &c. to be brought before them; and prisoners in other gaols to be brought before them by habeas corpus. Such barristers may administer oaths to witnesses; and also order debtors to be discharged, or remand them into custody.

. Effects of debtors discharged to be vested in the clerk of the peace. Debtors intending to take benefit of the insolvent act, are to give thre notices in the London Gazette, if within the bills of mortality, or if in the country, in some principal paper, for each of which notices they shall pay 4d. and no more. The first notice to be given twenty-one, and the last notice to be given six days at least before the quarter sessions.

But previous to first notice, debtors must deliver to gaoler schedules of all their estates and effects whatsoever; and on proof that notices have been duly given by them, they shall deliver in open court a schedule subscribed by them of all their real and personal estates and effects in possession, remainder or reversion. And the court of quarter sessions, at the request of the creditors, may examine gaolers on oath.

Estates of debtors disharged shall be vested in the clerk of the peace, who shall assign the same to such creditors as the court shall direct, in trust for payment of all the creditors.

Prisoners liberated under this act are not discharged of debts subsequent to the 5th of June, 1812.

The benefit of this act is extended to prisoners, who on application as insolvent debtors under any former act or acts were remanded back, and since discharged without consent. Determination of jutices under this act to be final, unless debtor obviate the objections to his discharge. But the benefits of this act are not to extend to persons obtaining money or goods under false pretences, &c. nor to attornies, &c. embezzling money; nor to prisoners remanded under a former insolvent act for obtaining money, &c. under false pretences: nor to persons charged in execution for damages in any action for erim. con. nor to persons removing effects of 301. value, liable to be distrained for rent; nor to persons selling, &c. effects to defrand creditors, unless they have been respectively confined for ten years; nor to persons losing money at play, unless confined for two years; nor to debtors of the crown, or offenders against the revenue, unless the treasury consent, nor to persons having taken the benefit of an insolvent act, within five years.

Prisoners, in custody for prison fees, shall be discharged on taking the oaths, &c. required by this act; also prisoners in custody for contempt of court; and persons imprisoned by courts of conscience, lists of whom shall be returned to the sessions. But debtors, refusing to discover the trade and abode of the person at whose suit they are detained, shall be excluded from the benefit of this act.

All fraudulent discharges are void. Insolvent on releasing interest in his estate may be a good witness. But all future estates of debtors discharged under this act, shall be liable for their debts, s. 54.

Bankrupts, who have surrendered to their commission two years at least before passing this act, and conforming in all respects to the bankrupt laws, but who have not obtained their certificate, may be discharged as to personal arrest for debt, in respect of all debts proved or proveable under such commission; still however remaining subject, in all other respects, to the power and operation of the bankrupt laws. And in the notices, to be given by such bankrupt in the London Gazette or provincial papers, and also in the oath to be taken under this act, such bankrupt shall be described as a person, against whom a commission of bankrupt has issued and is still in force, and who has not obtained his certificate; and such bankrupt. shall swear that he has made a full disclosure of all his effects to the commissioners, and that he has no effects which can be vested in an assignce under this act, all his estates, &c. being vested in the assignees under the commission. But in case such commission of bank -rupt be afterwards superseded, the discharge obtained under this act shall be null and void, s. 56, 58.

INSURANCE. (II. of the Policy.) By 54 Geo. 3. c. 144. the commissioners of stamps may supply insurance brokers in London with blank stamped paper, for contracts of insurance. And the bonds heretofore given by brokers and others, for securing duties on policies, shall be a security for duties on contracts of insurance; which contracts shall be dated when signed by underwriters, s. 1, 2, 3.

Every such contract of insurance shall contain and specify (besides the date or dates when signed as aforesaid) the name of the ship, with reference to which the insurance shall be made (unless it shall be upon "ship or ships") the voyage or risk to be insured against, the premium or consideration for the insurance, the thing insured, and also the name or names, or the usual style and firm of dealing of one or more of the persons interested in the insurance, or in lieu thereof the name or names, or usual style and firm of dealing of the consignor or consignors, consignee or consignees, of the goods or property to be insured, or the name or names, or usual style and firm of dealing of the person or persons residing in Great Britain, who shall receive the order for and effect such insurance, or of the person or persons who shall give the order or directions to the agent or agents immediately employed to negociate or effect such insurance; and in default thereof the same shall be null and void to all intents and purposes, s. 4.

Such contracts shall bind underwriters to subscribe policies for same insurance, and be available if no policy in lieu, s. 5.

Commissioners of stamps shall allow for stamps on contracts, on production of policies in lieu thereof, within a month: although the policies may vary from the contracts in certain respects: provided in the case of error or mistake, that satisfactory proof shall be given thereof, and of the nature and circumstances of the same; and provided in the case of any alteration in the terms and conditions of the insurance, that the policy shall have been underwritten before notice of the termination of the risk specified in the contract, and that the thing insured shall remain the property of the same person or persons, s. 7.

If policies in lieu of contracts are not subscribed by all the underwriters, the stamp duty may be allowed in part. But no such allowance shall be made on any contract which shall be underwritten to a greater amount than the stamp duty thereon will cover, unless it shall be proved to have been done inadvertently, and a regular stamped policy shall be made out, and be underwritten in full, or in part, in lieu thereof, within three days afterwards, and application shall be made for the allowance within seven office days after the date of the last subscription on the contract, s. 8, 9.

Commissioners may make such allowances for stamps on contracts, in other cases, as they are authorised to do on policies, s. 10, 11.

Allowances to persons supplied on credit, may be deducted from their debts, s. 12.

L

LETTERS, (Postage of.) See Post Office (in this Appendix.) LITERARY PROPERTY. By the 55 Geo. 3. c. 156. for amending the several acts for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies and copyright of printed books, to the authors of such books, or their assigns, so much of the 8 Anne, c. 19, and 41 Geo. 3. c. 107 as relates to delivering copies to public libraries, is repealed, s. 1.

Eleven printed copies shall be delivered on demand within twelve months after publication for the use of the British Museum, Sion College; the Bodleian Library at Oxford; the Public Library at Cambridge; the Library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh; the libraries of the Four Universities of Scotland; Trinity College Library; and the King's Inna Library at Dublin; within one month after demand made thereof in writing as aforesaid, to the warehouse-keeper of the said company of stationers for the time being; which copies the said warehousekeeper shall, and he is hereby required to receive at the hall of the said company, for the use of the library for which such demand shall be made, within such-twelve months as aforesaid; and the said warehousekeeper is hereby required, within one month after any such book or volume shall be so delivered to him as aforesaid, to deliver the same for the use of such library; and if any publisher, or the warehousekeeper of the mid company of stationers, shall not observe the directions of this act therein, that then he and they so making default in not delivering or receiving the mid eleven printed copies as aforesaid, shall forfeit, besides the value of the said printed copies, the sum of five pounds for each copy not so delivered or received, together with the full costs of suit; the same to be recovered by the person or persons, or body politic or corporate, proprietors or managers of the library for the use whereof such copy or copies ought to have been delivered or received; for which penalties and value such person or persons, body politic or corporate, is or are now hereby authorized to sue by action of debt or other proper action in any court of record in the united kingdom, s. 2.

No copies of a second or subsequent edition, without addition or alteration, shall be demanded; but additions to it, shall be printed, and delivered separate; and the copy of every book that shall be demanded, by the British Museum, shall be delivered of the best paper on which such work shall be printed, s. 3.

Instead of copyright for 14 years, and contingently for 14 more, authors and their assigns shall have 28 years copyright in their works and for the residue of their life, and booksellers, &c. in any part of the united kingdom, or British dominions, who shall print, reprint, or import, &c. any such book, without consent of the proprietor, shall be liable to an action for damages, and shall also forfeit the books to the proprietor, and 3d. per sheet, together with double costs, s. 4.

The title of all books shall be entered at Sationer's hall, within one month after publication. The fee for entry shall be 2s. for inspecting register book, and certificate of entry Is. each, the penalty for not entering is 5l. and 11 times the selling price of the book!!! But no failure in making such entryshall in any manner affect any copyright but shall only subject the person making default to the penalty aforesaid under this act, s. 5.

Warehousekeeper of Stationer's hall shall transmit to librarians lists of books entered; and call on publisher for the copies demanded, s. 6.

Publishers, if they prefer, may deliver such books at the library, intitled to them, and the librarian shall give a receipt for the same; and such delivery shall be equivalent to a delivery at Stationer's hall, s. 7.

Authors of books already published, now living, shall have the benefit of the extension of copyright, and if living at the end of 28 years the sole right of publication shall be in them during life, s. 8, 9. All actions, for any offence against this act, shall be brought, within twelve months next after such offence committed, or else the same shall be void, s. 10.

LUNATICS. By the 55 Geo. S. c. 46, a committee of visiting justices of lunatic asylums is to be elected annually at the Michaelmas quarter sessions.

Vacancies in such committee shall befilled up by the justices of the peace acting in and for such county or counties, or the major part of them, such major part not being less than seven, assembled at any unnual general or quarter sessions of the peace to be he'd for such county or counties respectively, or any adjournment thereof, s. 1.

In case such election be neglected, the visiting justices continuing to act shall be deemed the committee, s. 2.

Subscribers to lunatic asylums who may unite with any county or counties annually, may elect a committee of governors to act with committee of visiting justices. And in case of neglect to make such election, the governors continuing to act shall be deemed the committee, s. 3, 4.

Clerk of committee may convene new meetings, on giving ten days notice by circular letter to members thereof, s. 5.

Where a lunatic asylum is erected, the justices may fix sums to be expended in purchase of lands, houses, &c. or in erecting buildings, s. 6.

Weekly rate for paupers to be paid in such asylums may be increased by justices, s. 7.

The overseers of poor are to return lists of all lunatics and idiots within their respective parishes, verified on oath, and accompanied with certificate from a medical practitioner; which list shall be laid before general quarter sessions: and all expences of examination of lunatics, &c. shall be paid by parishes, s. 8.

Visiting justices may discharge lunatics, on certificate of recovery from the medical superintendant, s. 9.

In all cases of the union of any two or more counties, or of the union of any place or places of distinct jurisdiction with any county or counties, the proportion of the expenses necessary for carrying into execution the purposes of the 48 Geo. 3. c. 96. for the better maintenance of paupers or criminal lunatics, or of 51 Geo. 3. c. 79. for the same purpose, or of this act, shall be calculated upon the numbers of the respective population of the said several counties and places as shall have been stated in the last returns of population, which shall have been made under the authority of parliament previous to the union of such counties, s. 10.

The number of visitors to be appointed by any such place of dis-timet jurisdiction so uniting with any county or counties, shall bear the same proportion to the number of visiting justices appointed by such county or counties, as the population of such place shall bear to the population of such county or counties, and shall in no case exceed such proportion, s. 11.

When any asylum can accommodate more lunatics, magistrates may order an addition under certain regulations specified in this act, s. 12.

M

MEASURES. By the 55 Geo. 3. c. 43. for the more effectual prevention of the use of false and deficient measures, it is enacted, that justices may appoint proper persons to examine measures within their several divisions. And such examiners, duly appointed, may enter shops, &c. in search of false measures, and seize the same; which shall be forfeited and broken up, and the parties so offending thall further forfeit not less than 5s. nor more than 20s. for every such false measure, recoverable by warrant of distress; and, in case of non-payment be imprisoned for not less than one month, s. 1, 2.

Persons obstructing or resisting any examiner of measures, or not producing their measures for examination, shall forfeit not exceeding 51. nor less than 40s. as the justice or justices before whom any such offender shall be convicted, shall adjudge; and such forfeiture or penalty shall be levied and recovered in like manner, s. 3.

Justices shall apply forfeitures towards the expenses of this act and also to make returns of the forfeitures to the clerk of the peace at every general quarter sessions of the peace, s. 4.

Examiners shall be allowed a reasonable recompense for their trouble, s. 5.

Justices shall purchase proper measures for the use of their respective counties, &c. to be deposited with the clerks of the peace, s. 6.

A majority of inhabitants of any parish, &c. may nominate five householders as examiners. But no appointment of such examiners to take place, until proper measures are procured by the inhabitants, s. 7. 8.

No proceedings touching the conviction of any offender or offenders against this act shall be removed by certiorari, or by any other writ into any court of record at Westminster, s. 9.

Persons convicted and suffering for the same, are not to be otherwise punishable, s. 11.

Bodies politic, &c. are to have the same power of examining, &c. measures as formerly: and no person shall be prosecuted for any offence against this act, unless information thereof upon oath be given to some justice of the peace, within six weeks after the offence is committed.

MODELS and CASTS of BUSTS. By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 56. the sole right and property of all new and original sculpture, models, copies and casts, are vested in the proprietors, for fourteen years, s. 1.

Works published under 38 Geo. 3. c. 71. shall be vested in the proprietors for fourteen years, s. 2.

Persons putting forth pirated copies or pirated casts may be prosecuted and shall pay all damages occasioned by such piracy, together with damages and double costs, s. 3.

Purchasers of copyright are secured in the same: and an additional term of fourteen years is given in case the maker of the original sculpture, &c. shall be living, s. 4, 6.

0

OFFENDERS (apprehension of). By 54 Geo. 3. c. 136. for the more easy apprehending and trying of offenders escaping from one part of the united kingdom to the other, part of 45 Geo. 3. c. 32. r. lative to the indorsement of warrants is repealed; and it is now enacted that warrants may be indorsed and acted upon in either country, under the 13 Geo. 3. c. 31. and the judges is either country may indorse letters of second diligence, s. 1—3.

OVERSEERS. (appointment of). By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 91. reciting that whereas considerable inconvenience has arisen from the time for appointing overseers, under the 43 Eliz. c. 2. being regulated by a moveable feast, it is enacted, that from the passing of this act (14th July, 1814,) the appointment of overseers of the poor, so directed by the 43 Eliz. c. 2. shall in every year, be made on the 25th day of March, or within fourteen days next after the said 25th day of March, in all and every the same manner as directed by the said act to be made in Easter week.

P

PARLIAMENT. (I. House of Commons). By 54 Geo. 3. c. 16. the seats of persons continuing in offices under succeeding lord lieutenants, &c. of Ireland, shall not be vacated (as was formerly required by 41 Geo. 3. c. 52). s. 1.

But nothing in this act shall extend, to any person but such as shall have been or shall have continued and remained, or shall be, or shall continue and remain, in any such office at the time of the decease, removal, or absence (as the case may be) of the lord lieutenant, lord deputy, lord justices, or other chief governor or governors of Ireland, by whom such person was nominated, appointed, or approved, or reappointed or continued, s. 2.

POLICY OF INSURANCE.—See Insurance (in this Appendix).

POOR.—By 55 Geo. S. c. 137. for preventing pumpers from embessing property for their use, &c. it is enacted, that property in goods, &c. provided for the use of the poor to be vested in overseers, who may prosecute persons stealing, &c. the same: but this act shall not repeal the provisions in any local acts, s. 1.

Parish officers may cause goods, &c. to be marked: and persons buying or receiving into pawn any property provided for the poor by parish officers; or defacing the marks thereon, shall forfeit for every offence not less than it. nor more than 51. s. 2.

On non-paymer t of penalty, offenders shall be committed, as well as persons abscording with workhouse property. The mark or stamp on articles to be evidence of the right of property: but no mark to be put on the outside of wearing apparel, s. 2.

The time for which one justice may order relief to poor persons at their own homes, (which by 33 Geo. 3. c. 23. was limited to one month) is extended to three months: and two justices, by order in writing, may further extend such time not exceeding four months from the date of such order, and so from time to time as occasion may require. And the justices making such orders may also direct the payment of relief to be discontinued, s. 3.

The sums which any justice or justices shall order to be paid to any poor person for any longer space or period of time than one mouth, shall not exceed for each person the sum of three shillings per week, or three-fourths of the average weekly expense which shall be usually borne or paid by the parish or place on which such order shall be made for the maintenance of each poor person, in any workhouse or workhouses in which poor persons of or belonging to such parish or place shall be usually maintained and employed, s, 4.

Persons guilty of misbehaviour in workhouses, may be committed for not less than twenty-one days, and kept during that time to hard labour, s. 5.

POST OFFICE. (I. Rates of Postage). By the 55 Geo. 3. c. 153. the postmaster general may c. tablish packets and mails for the East Indies, &c. subject to the following rates, viz. from London, or from any other port in Great Britain, to the Cape of Good Hope, the Mauritius, or any port or place within the limits of the charter of the united company of merchants of England trading to the East Endies, (save and except the dominions of the emperor of China) according to the rates and sums in sterling money, herein-after mentioned, the same being rated either by the letter or by the ounce; (that is to say),

For every single letter, 8s. 6d. For every double-letter, 7s. For every treble-letter, 10s. 6d.

And for every ounce in weight, 14s.; and so in proportion for letters and packet- above the weight of an ounce;

And for every letter and packet from any part or place in the East Indies, within the limits of the said united company's charter (save and except the dominious of the emperor of China), or from the Cape of Good Hope, or the Mauritius, to the port London, or to any other port in Great Britain, the rates and duties following; (that is to say),

For every single letter, 3s. 6d.

For every double-letter, 7s.

For every treble-letter, 10s. 6d.

And for every ounce in weight, 14c.; and so in proportion for letters and packets above the weight of an ounce:

And for every letter and packet carried between the Cape of Good Hope, or the Mauritius, and any part of the continent of Asia, and between the Cape of Good Hope, or the Mauritius, or the continent of Asia, and all intermediate places, and between all the intermediate places respectively, the rates and duties following; (that is to say).

For every single-letter, 1s. 9d.

For every double-letter, 3c. 6d.

For every treble-letter, 5s. 3d.

And for every ounce in weight, 7s.; and so in proportion for lefters and packets above the weight of an ounce, s. 1.

Newspapers, price currents, &c. sent in covers open at the ends, pay 3d. each, under one ounce; and if above, 3d. an ounce additional, s. 2.

All the above rates of postage are to be paid on delivery of the letters and packets, s. 45.

Maik may be carried by ships of war, the commanders of which are authorized to receive them, s. 3, 4.

The East India company are not to charge postage, except for inland conveyance, s. 5.

Postmaster general shall pay the company for conveyance of mails. A mail shall be m de up monthly for India, s. 7.

Goods may be carried in packets, in certain proportions allowed by the treasury, except ten, of which not more than two pounds per man shall be allowed to be on board. And in case there shall be found on board any such ships or vessels as aforexaid, on their arrival at any port or place in the British islands, or within two hundred miles of the same, any ten exceeding in quantity one hundred pounds weight, every commander shall incur a penalty of 21. for every pound weight of tea exceeding such a quantity, s. 8, 9.

No goods shall be carried but in vessels of 350 tons and up wards, s. 10.

Persons delaying sailing after receiving the mail, forfeit 5001. s. 11.

Letters conveyed in vessels not employed as packets from Great Britain, shall pay a sea postage of 1s. 2d. the single letter, and so in proportion for packets; such postage to be paid on delivery of the letters at the Cape, the Mauritius, and the East Indies, as the case may be, s. 12.

Persons sending or conveying letters to India without authority, forfeit 51. for each letter, s. 13.

Commanders of vessels are to take charge of the bags of letters deliverd by order of the postmaster; and an allowance of 2d. for each letter is to be paid such commanders, s. 14, 15.

Letters carried by vessels not employed as packets from the Cape of Good Hope, the Mauritius, and the East Indies to Great Britain, shall pay a sea postage of 8d. for each single letter, and so in proportion for packets, s. 16.

But the rate of sea postage from India, shall in no case exceed 5s. for any packet of whatever weight, s. 17.

Post offices to be established in the United Kingdom, and in the East Indies; the postmasters whereof shall respectively give security. And the treasurers of the company shall remit the money to post master general, s. 19.

Letters brought by vessels not packets, (except from India, &c.) are to pay 8d for a single letter, and masters of vessels allowed 2d. Penalty on persons opening bags, 200l. But owners may send letters on board their own vessels to India, &c. free from sea postage, on indorsing them with the words, "owners or charterers or consignees letter," and the christian and surname, and place of abode, of the owner, charterer, or consignee, or the firm of the owners who shall be the writer of the same; and provided that the letter so sent and indorsed by any owner or owners, charterer or consignee, or the whole number of letters if there shall be more than one letter from such owner or owners, charterer, or consignee, shall not collectively exceed the weight of twenty ounces, s. 20.

Owners or shippers of goods, and also owners of vessels may receive letters in like manner; as also owners or consignees of goods. But this act is not to affect letters of owners, &c. of vessels arriving before October 10, 1816, s. 32—34.

Letters from the governor of Ceylon, &c. to the agents of their governments, not to be chargeable with postage, s. 35.

Owners' letters exceeding the weight allowed, may be seized and carried to the post office, and the postmaster of the place shall pay to the officer delivering the same at the rate of 2s. 6d. for each letter or packet so seized, s. 36.

Rates of postage for conveyance of letters to places beyond the assa (except to India) may be received at the post office, s. 37.

Commanders of vessels having letters on board to make declaration that he has not, to the best of his knowledge and belief, on board his ship or vessel, nor will he take, any letters which have not been delivered to him by authority of the postmaster general, or which are not exempted from postage. And in case any such commander shall make a false or untrue declaration, he shall for every such offence forfeit 504, s. 38.

Bags of letters are to be delivered on their arrival, by master or commander, who shall make a declaration that he has to the best or his knowledge and belief, delivered at the post office every letter, or parcel of letters that were on board his ship, except such letters as are exempted by this act, s. 39. Masters, &c. refusing to make this declaration, forfeit 50% s. 40.

And if any collector, comptroller, or principal officer, hereby required to prohibit any ship or vessel reporting until the requisites of this act shall be complied with, shall permit such ship or vessel to depart, be shall forfeit 200%. s. 41.

Custom-house officers may search packages, and forward the same, s. 42.

Commanders of ships of war are to send letters to the first post office, s. 43.

Money due to masters of vessels is to be paid by the postmester general.

Persons having letters on board after delivery at the post office, for felt 51, for each letter; and persons falsely superscribing letters as being ship owners, &c. forfeit 101, for every offence. All penalties to be recovered and applied, half to the king and half to the informer, s. 47, 48.

After the establishment of such vessels, if three manths clapse without dispatching a public mail, any person may carry letters without being subject to the penalties of this act, which is not to extend to China letters, s. 49, 50.

But no penalties shall be incurred unless the establishment of mails be carried into effect within six months after passing this act, s. 51.

In a ctions brought for carrying letters contrary to the previsions of 9 A. c. 10. or 42 (ico. 3. c. 81. proof shall lie on the defendant, a. 53.

II. Franking of Letters.—By the 53 Geo. 2. c. 13. the assistant secretary of the postmaster general for the time being, may send and seceive letters free from postage.

So also may the president, secretary, and commissioners of the board of control, respectively; the secretaries of state, and of the treasury; the chairman, deputy chairman, and directors of the India company respectively; and all public officers who send and receive letters free, shall have the same privilege of sending and receiving letters to and from Endia, postage free, 55 Geo. 3. c. 153, s. 29—24.

So, also, may soldiers and scamen send and receive letters to and from India, on paying 1d. postage under the regulations of 42 Geo. 3. c. 92. the powers of which act are applied to this act, 55 Geo. 3. c. 153. s. 25, 96.

So, also, may the governor of Deylon, the Maurithus, &c. send and receive letters to and from the agents of their respective governments, s. 35.

By 54 C- o. 3. c. 169. s. 17. members of parliament may send attd secretve petitions free of postage.

PROPERTY TAX.—This tax was to have expired six months after the conclusion of peace: but it has been continued for one year, and all the former acts have been revived; and the assessments respectively made in 1814, are to be acted upon, 55 Geo. 3. c. 53.

Q

QUARTER SESSIONS.—In order to render the attendance at the Michaelman quarter sessions more convenient, it is enacted by the 54 Geo. 3. c. 84. that from and after the passing of this act, the Michaelman quarter sessions shall in every year be holden, in the first week after the 11th day of October, instead of the time now appointed for holding the same; and that all acts, matters, and things, done, performed and transacted at such time, shall be as valid and binding, to all intents and purposes, as if the same had been done, at the time heretofore appointed for the holding of such sessions. But nothing in this act shall extend to alter the time at which the ressions for London or Middlesex are now holden, s. 1, 2.

8

SEAMEN.—By 55 Geo. 3, c. 60. So much of 9 and 10 W. 3. c. 41.; 20 Geo. 2. c. 24.; 31 Geo. 2. c. 10.; and 9 Geo. 3. (in part); 26 Geo. 3. c. 63.; 32 Geo. 3. c. 34 and 67.; 49 Geo. 3. c. 108; and 54 Geo. 3. c. 83 (in part), relative to seamen's wills and powers of attorney are respectively repealed, 'except as to offences against them, which were committed previously to the passing of this act, s. 1.

No will or letter of attorney made by any petty officer or seaman, non-commissioned officer of marines or marine, before his entry into his majesty's service, shall be valid to pass or bequeath, of authorise any person to receive any wages, pay, prize-money, bounty-money, or other allowances of money, to accrue due to him, unless such letter of attorney shall be declared to be revocable by the express words thereof; and that no such letter of attorney or will shall be valid, unless such letter of attorney or will shall respectively contain the name of the ship to which the person executing the same belonged at the time, or to which he last belonged; or, in case such letter of attorney shall be made by an executor or administrator, shall contain the name of the ship to which his or her testator or intestate last belonged in his lifetime; and also in every case a full description of the degree of relationship, residence of the person or persons to whom or in whose favour, either as attorney or attornies, executor or executors, the same shall be granted or made; and also the day of the month and year, and the name of the place when and where the same shall have been executed; nor shall any such letter of attorney or will be valid. or sufficient for the purposes aforesaid, unless the same respectively shall, in the several cases herein after specified, be executed and attested in the manner berein after mentioned; that is to say, in case any such letter of attorney or will shall be made by any such petty officer or seaman, non-commissioned officer of marines or marine, at any time or times whilst they shall respectively belong to and be on board of any ship or vessel belonging to his majesty, as part of the complement thereof, or be borne on the books of such ship or vessel as a supernumerary, or as an invalid, or for victuals only, unless such letter of attorney or will shall be executed in the presence of and attested by the captain or other officer having the command of such ship or vessel, or (during the absence of such captain or other officer on leave or on separate service) by the commanding officer of such ship or vessel for the time being; and who, in that case, shall state at the foot of such attestation the absence of such captain or other commanding officer from such ship or vessel, at the time of the execution of such will or letter of attorney, and the occasion thereof; or in case of the inability of such captain or commanding officer, by reason of wounds or sickness, to attest any such will or letter of attorney, then, unless such letter of attorney or will shall be executed in the presence of and attested by the first lieutenant or other officer next in command of such ship or vessel, who shall state at the foot of such attestation the inability of such captain or commanding officer to attest the same; in case any such letter of attorney or will shall be made by any such petty officer or seaman, non-commissioned officer or marines or marine, in any of his majesty's hospitals, or on board any of his majesty's hospital ships, or in any military or merchant hospital, or at any sick quarters either at home or abroad, unless such letter of attorney or will shall be executed in the presence of and attested by the governor, physician, surgeon, assistant-surgeon, agent, or chaplain of any such hospital or sick quarters of his majesty, or by the commanding officer, agent, physician, surgeon, assistant-surgeon, or chaplain for the time being of any such hospital ship, or by the physican, surgeon, assistant-surgeon, agent, chaplain, or chief officer of such military or merchant hospital, or other sick quarters, or one of them: in case any such letter of attorney or will shall be made by awy such petty officer or seaman, non-commissioned officer of marines or marine, on board of any ship or vessel in the transport service, or in any merchant ship or vessel, unless the same shall be executed in the presence of and attested by some commission or warrant officer, or chaplain in his majesty's navy, or some commissioned officer or chaphain belonging to his majesty's land forces or royal marines, or the governor, physician, surgeon, assistant-surgeon, or agent of any hospital fu his majesty's naval or military service, who may happen to be then on board of such transport or merchant vessel, or by the master or first mate of such transport or merchant vessel, or one of them : in case any such letter of attorney or will shall be made by any such petty officer or seaman, non-commissioned officer of marines or matine, after he shall have been discharged from his majesty's service s or if such letter of attorney shall be made by the executors or administrators of any such petty officer or seaman, non-commissioned officer of marines or marine, unless the same (if the purty making such letter of attorney or will shall then reside in London or Westminster, or within the Bills of Mortality) shall be executed in the presence of and attested by the inspector for the time being of seamen's wills and powers of attorney, or his assistant or clerk; or unless the same (if the party making such letter of attorney or will shall then reside at or within the distance of seven miles from any port or place where the wages of seamen in his majesty's service are paid) shall be executed in the presence of and attested by one of the clerks in the office of the treasurer of the navy, resident at such port or place; or unless the same (if the party making such letter of attorney or will shall then reside at any other place in Great Britain or Irehand, or in the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark, or Man): mail be executed in the presence of and attested by one of his majesty's justices of the peace, or by the minister or officiating minister or curate of the parish or place in which such letter of attorney or will shall be executed; or unless the same (if the party making such ketter of attorney or will shall then reside in any other part of his majesty's dominious, or any colony, plantation, settlement, fort, metery, or any other foreign possession or dependency of his majesty, his heirs or successors, or any settlement within the charter of the East India company) shall be executed in the presence of and attested by some commission or warrant officer or chaplain of his majesty's navy, or commission officer of royal marines, or the commissioner of the navy, or naval storekeeper at one of his majesty's naval yards, or a minister of the church of England or Scotland, or a magistrate or principal officer, residing in any such island, colony, plantation, ettlement, fort, factory, or other possession or dependency of his majesty, or settlement within the charter of the East India company, (or if the party making such letter of attorney or will shall then reside at any place not within his majesty's dominions, or any settlement, fort, factory, or other foreign possession or dependency of his majesty, his heirs or successors, or any settlement within the charter of the East India company), unless the same shall be executed in the presence of and attested by the British consul or vice consul, or some officer having a public appointment or commission, civil, naval, or military, under his majesty's government, or by a magistrate or notary public, of or near the place where such letter of attorney or will shall be executed, s. 2.

Letters of attorney and wills executed in foreign prisons shall be valid, if attested in the manner required by the recited acts or any of them; provided every such letter of attorney or will shall have been executed in the presence of and attested by some commission or warrant officer of his majesty's navy, commission officer of royal marines, physician, surgeon, assistant-surgeon, agent or chaplain to some naval hospital, or some commission officer, physician, surgeon, assistantsurgeon, or chaplain of the army, or any notary public, any thing in the said recited acts or any of them, or in any other act or acts, to the contrary thereof in anywise notwithstanding; but so as not to invalidate or disturb any payment which hath been already made under any letter of administration, certificates, or otherwise, pursuant to the said recited acts or any of them, in consequence of the rejection of uny such wills as may have been rejected by the inspector of seamen's wills for want of the due attestation thereof, according to the direc. tions of the said recited acts or any of them, s. S.

No seaman's will contained in the same instrument with a letter of attorney shall be valid: and all such wills, &c. must be entered on the muster book, s. 4, 5.

Letters of attorney and wills shall be examined by the inspector, and approved if found authentic, s. 6.

No letter of attorney shall be passed by the inspector until a certificate is produced of the testator's actual service, unless such power of attorney shall have been executed on board the ship to which such petty officer &c. belonged, in the manner and form directed by this act, or unless reasonable cause shall be shewn to and allowed of by the said treasurer, paymaster or inspector, for dispensing with such certificate, s. 7.

..

Sections 8 to 28 detail at very great length (too great indeed to admit of insertion here) the manner in which probates or letters of administration (if a seamen die intestate) are respectively to be insued, and the intestate's property is to be disposed of.

Petty officers forging certificates are punishable for perjury; and persons falsely representing next of kin are transportable for seven years, as also are persons (for 7 or 14 years at the judge's discretion,) who forge the names of clergymen or others, who are required to act under this act, s. 29, 30, 31.

Persons personating petty officers, &c. or their relatives, or creditors, or bringing either wills or letters of attorney, shall suffer death without benefit of clergy, s. 32.

And to prevent doubts as to the persons who shall be deemed petty officers, &c. it is enacted, that every part of the complement of every ship or vessel in his majesty's navy, shall be petty or inferior officers, seamen, non-commissioned officer of marines, or marines, excepting such as appear by the books of such ships, to be admirals or flag officers, captains, lieutenants, masters, second masters and pilots, physicians, surgeons, assistant surgeons, chaplains, secretarics to flag officers and their clerks, pursers, boatswains, gunners, carpenters and commissioned officers of marines, s. 33.

Penalties of former acts are to be sued for by treasurers of the navy, and be applied to the use of the commissioners of Greenwich hospital, s. 34, 35.

No assignment of prize-money shall be valid unless they express the consideration money, s. 37.

The provisions of 54 Geo. 3. c. 93. as to distribution of prizes are extended to seizures under revenue laws, &c. s. 38.

No prize agents shall act after expiration or revocation of their licences, on pain of being punished for a misdemeanor, as court of justice shall direct; nor shall such agents produce orders for payment of prize money prepared within six miles of place of payment, on pain of forfeiting 50%. 5. 39, 40.

All letters and packets addressed to or sent by the said treasurer or paymaster of the navy for the time being, shall be sent and received free from the duty of postage, in the same manner and under the same restrictions as the clerk, assistant, and chief clerk without doors of the house of commons of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland now send and receive the same, s. 41.

80 may letters, &c. sent to or by the inspector and assistant inspector of seamen's witts, s. 42.

But if any inspector or assistant inspector of seamon's wills, or any other person, shall send or convey under any of the covers aforesaid, any writing, paper, or parcel, other than those relating to the business or affairs of the said office of inspector of seamen's wills, the person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay the sum of 100% s. 43.

All bargains for seamen's pay are absolutely void, s. 44.

All captains shall deliver to discharged seamen, certificates of service, s. 45.

Orders executed by seamen for paying wages not above 101. shall be paid. But no run men are to receive any wages nutil, R. taken of, s. 46, 47.

Ships being twelve months pay in arrear are to be paid off, on coming into port, s. 48.

All months mentioned in this and preceding acts of parliament relating to the navy shall be reckened calendar months, excepting only in the computation of pay, wages, and other allowances, which shall be computed and cast by reckoning twenty-eight days to the month, according to the esual practice of the navy, s. 49.

Lieutenants are to sign names in muster books, s. 50.

Captains or commanders of ships, sailing from foreign stations, or being removed to other ships, shall transmit perfect muster backs, s. 51, 52.

Discharged seamen may receive wages at ports where there is no saval commissioner, from naval store keeper or naval officer at such ports; or proof of the identity of such seamen, s. 53.

Tremmer and commissioners of the navy may act as justices, a. 35. The commissioners of the navy shall deliver sufficient quantities of blank certificates of discharge, to all captains and officers in the command of any of his majesty's ships; and the treasurer of the navy shalk cause to be printed an abstract of the provisions and regulations contained in this and other acts of purliament, respecting the payment of the toyal navy, and send or deliver a competent number of copies thereof to the principal officers and commissioners of his majesty's navy at home and abroad, to the commissioners for taking care of sick and wounded, seamen to the commissioners for conducting his majesty's transport service, to the commissioners of excise and the customs in England, Scotland, and Ireland, to the governors of the majesty's colonies and plantations, and to the governors of the settlements within the charter of the East India company, to his majesty's consuls abroad, to the receivers general of land tax throughout

Great Britain, to the registrars and deputy registrars of the prerogative court of Canterbury, to the clerks of the cheque of his majesty's dock yards, to the governors and agents of royal hospitals, to the commanding officers of the several divisions of marines, all of whom are strictly enjoined to hang up the same in some conspicuous part of their several offices, and to promulgate the same as effectually as they can in their respective situations; and the commissioners for executing the office of lord high admiral of the united kingdom for the time being, shall cause a competent number of the copies of the said abstracts to be delivered to the captains and commanders of all ships and vessels in his majesty's service; and every such captain or commander, as soon as the ship or vessel under his command shall be put into sea pay, shall cause one of the said printed abstracts, together with the articles of war, to be hung up and affixed to the most public place of such ship or vessel, and shall cause the same to be constantly kept up and renewed, so that they may be at all times accessible to the inferior officers and seamen on board of such ships or vessels; and every such captain or commander shall cause such abstracts to be 'audibly and distinctly read over once every month, in the presence of the officers and seamen of such ships or vessels, immediately after the articles of war are read; and the reading of the articles of war and of the said abstracts, and the days when read, shall be attested by the captain or commander and the usual signing officers of such ship or vessel, at the foot of the muster books of such ship or vessel, before they are transmitted to the commisioners of the navy; and the commissioners are strictly charged and directed to inquire whether the directions hereby given for hanging up and affixing the said abstract and articles of war, and for reading of the same as aforesaid, have been duly observed by the captain or commander of such ship or vessel, which commissioners shall not grant to such captain or commander his general certificate until they are fully satisfied thereof; to the end that every scaman employed in the royal navy of the united kingdom, may at one and the same time hear and know the forfeitures and punishments he is liable to for any neglect or disobedience, and likewise the encouragements and benefits to which he is entitled by a due and faithful performance of his duty; and that upon suffering any oppression or injury in such service, he may be better enabled to lay his complaint before the lord high admiral of Great Britain, or the commissioners for executing the office of lord high admiral of 'Great Britain, who are hereby respectively charged and directed, upon any complaint being laid, strictly to enquire into the circumstances of the same, and to grant immediate redress therein, if such -semplaint shall be justly founded, and to take special and constant care that this act, and others relating to the navy, be fully complied with and punctually carried into execution, a. 57.

SLAVERY. By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 59, all ships or vessels taken and condemned for carrying on the slave trade, may be registered as British built ships, and enjoy all the privileges of British built ship accordingly.

SMMUGGLING. By 52 Geo. 3. c. 143. persons assisting with arms in the ittegal exportation of wool or other goods, or in any way opposing the execution of the revenue laws, or shooting at revenue officers; and also persons aiding, abetting, or assisting therein, shall on conviction, be guilty of a felony without benefit of clergy, and shall suffer death as felons accordingly, s. 11.

STORES. By 55 Geo. S. c. 127. the statutes 9 and 10, W. S. c. 41. 9 Geo. 1. c. 8. 17 Geo. 2. c. 40. and 40 Geo. 3. c. 189. so far as relates to naval stores, are extended to all public stores whatsoever, and the penalties thereof are extended to all unauthorised persons intermeddling therewith, s. 2.

T

TOLL. By 55 Geo. 3. c. 119. the trustees of turnpike roads are empowered to exempt carriages having wheels of the description mentioned in act from tolls imposed for over-weight, except in certain cases, s. 1.

Any seven trustees may also reduce other tolls, but not without the lessee's consent previously being given in writing, 2, 3.

HIGH TREASON. By the 54 Geo. 3. c. 146, the sentence of judgment to be pronounced against any person convicted of high treason shall be, that such person shall be drawn on a hurdle to the place of execution, and be there hanged by the neck until such person be dead; and that afterwards the head shall be severed from the body of of such person, and the body divided into four quarters, shall be disposed of as his majesty and his successors shall think fit, s. 1.

But his majesty may alter such sentence by warrant under his sign manual, countersigned by one of the principal secretaries of state, and order that such person as aforesaid shall not be drawn, but shall be taken in such manner as in the said warrant shall be expressed, to the place of execution, and that such person shall not be there hanged by the neck, but that instead thereof the head shall be there severed from the body of such person whilst alive, and that such warrant may direct and order how and in what manuer the body, head, and quarters of such person shall be disposed of; and it shall be lawful for the sheriff or other person or persons to whom such warrant shall be addressed, and whom it shall concern, to carry the same into execution accordingly, a. R.

W

WAGES. By 58 Geo. 3. c. 40.; the statutes 5 Eliz. c. 4.; ' · !. c. 6. (Scotch acts, 22d parliament, Jac. 1.) and let promote Car. 2. which empowered magistrates to fix wages, are respectively repealed; and all orders, made by magistrates under those acts are respectively repealed.

WOOL. By the 55 Geo. 3. c. 142. the duties granted by the statutes 48 Gev. 3. c. 69.; 45 Geo. 3. c. 30.; 54 Geo. 8. c. 82.; 17 Geo. 3. c. 50.; and 19 Geo. 3. c. 56. on the purchase-money arising on sales by auction for the benefit of the growers or first purchasers of sheep's wool shall be reduced to 2d. on every 20s. of the purchase; and such duty shall be levied and applied as heretofore, s. 1, 2.

By the 54 Geo. S. c. 78. so much of 9 and 10 W.S. c. 40.; and 28 Geo. 3. c. 38. is repealed, as requires that notice shall be given or entry made by the owner or owners of wool shorn or housed, or laid up or lodged, within ten miles of the sea side, or as requires any certificate of any wool or number of fleeces shorn or housed, or removed or disposed of, or as requires notice or band to be given or entry made or any permit to be taken out or licensed certificate or other instrument before the removal of any wool, or as requires any certificate to be taken from any officer, or as prohibits any persons residing near the sea fram selling or huying wool without having entered into bond. or as subjects to forfeiture, wool carried towards the sea side, unless the same has been entered, or as subjects wool first found within ten miles of the see to forfeiture, if afterwards lodged within fifteen miles of the sea, or as subjects any wool or any horses or carriages carrying the same between sun-set and sun-rise to any forfeiture, shall be and the same is hereby repealed. By 53 G. 3. c. 108.

WOOLLEN CLOTH (interment in). By the 53 G. 3. c. 108. the states 30 Car. 2. (mis-printed, G. 2. in the body of this work) and 32 Car. 2. c. 1. requiring the hurial of the dead in woollen, are repectively repealed; and all persons are indempified against whom no actions shall have been brought before July 1, 1814. And where actions have been brought before that day, the plaintiff shall be allowed only their costs.

WRITS OF ASSISTANCE (duration of). By 54 Geo. 3. c. 46. writs of assistance under the seal of his majesty's court of Exchequer in England and Scotland respectively, which on or before the passing of this act have been issued, or at any time hereafter may be issued, during the reign of his present majesty, in pursuance of the 13 and 14 Car. 2. c. 11.; and 5 Anne c. 8. shall not be held vacated or determined by the death or resignation of all or any of the commissioners named therein, or in consequence of the revocation of the patent by which the said commissioners were constituted and appointed; but every such writ shall have full force, and shall be valid, during the whole of his said majesty's reign; and every writ of assistance which may be issued during any succeeding reign shall in like manner be determinable only upon the demise of the crown; and all and every the officers and ministers, vice admirals, justices of the peace, mayors, sheriffs, constables, bailiffs, headboroughs, and all other the officers ministers, and subjects mentioned in any such writ of assistance, are required to pay due obedience thereto accordingly.

ERRATA.

Page 653,	last line but	£. 4, for 1	s. 0	d. 0	£. read 2	s. 0	d . 0
654,	line 1, for	22	0	0	15	0	0
ibið.	2,	30	0	0	22	0	0
ib id.	- 3 , -	45	0	0	30	0	0
ibid.	- 4, -	60	0	0	40	0	0
ibid.	— 5, —	75	0	0	50	0	0
íbid.	6, —	80	0	0	60	0	0
ibid.	— 7 ,  —	90	0	0	80	0	•

END.

Feward Hodson, Printer, Gross Street, Hatton Garden.

• • • . • • • . •

MODERN PUBLICATIONS

AMB

Standard Woorks,

PUBLISHED BY

SIMPKIN AND MARSHALL;

Stationer's Court, Ludgate Street, London,

AND SOLD BY ALL BOOKSELLERS.

CROSBY's COMPLETE HOUSEKEEPER's ACCOUNT BOOK and FAMILY JOURNAL for 1816: containing Ruled Pages for keeping an Account of Expenses for every Day in the Year; Marketing Tables, Ceach Fares, and other new and useful Matter, 28.

The WHOLE WORKS of the Rev. JAMES HER-

VEY, A. M. a new and fine edition, 6 vols. 12mo, 24s. boards.

Also by the same Author, published separately, in 2 vole. 18mo. 10c. boards, THERON and ASPASIO; or, a Series of Dialogues and Lotters upon the most important and interesting subjects.

POTT'S COMPENDIOUS LAW DICTIONARY, containing both an Explanation of the Terms and the Law itself; for the sac of the Country Gentlemen, the Merchant, and the professional Man. By T. POTTS, Gent. In one vol. 12me. 12c.; or in 8vo. with large Margin for Notes, 16c. boards, a new edition, revised, and corrected, including the new Stamp Act, and other Acts of the last Session of Parliament.

It has been both the aim and wish of the Editor to render this Work services to the Merchant and Trader, who, amidst the variety of business, have little leisure to consult elaborate works; the most eminent Writers on the Bankrupt Laws, Insurance, Bills of Exchange, &c. have therefore been carefully consulted and explained, and the County Courts, Courts Baron, Courts Leet, Game and Tithes, clearly but concisely treated; and the authorities being given, will serve the professional man as a most complete index, to direct his attention to any point under consideration.

DOMESTIC MANAGEMENT, or the HEALTH-FUL COCKERY BOOK, on economical principles, and adapted for universal use. Comprising culinary and other very useful miscellaneous RECEIPTS, and instructions for making WINES. An ESSAY ON DIET, considered as the most natural means of preserving Health; DIETING of CHILDREN; and Method of treating such trifling modical cases, as come within the sphere of Damestic Management. By a LADY. The second Edition in a neatly printed Volume, 12mo, enlarged, corrected, and materially improved, price 6s boards.

HYMNS AND POEMS, Doctrinal and Experimental, on a variety of Subjects, designed for those who know the Plague of their own Heart, and are convinced that Salvation is entirely of Grace. The fourth Edition revised. By DANIEL HERBERT of Sudbury. Price 30, 6d. boards 1 4s. bound. JONES'S ACCOUNT of the remarkable Effects of the Ban Medicinale d'HUSSON, (or the French Medicine) in the Gont, 4s. 6d. boards.

An EPITOME of MODERN SURGERY, by SAMUEL COOPER, Author of the Dictionary of Practical Surgery, &c. 9s. 6d. boards.

THE DEATH OF ABEL, from the German of M. GESSNER, 12. 3d. boards. A fine Edition, hot-pressed, and highly finished Frontispiece, by Romney, neatly half-bound, 2s.

A TOKEN FOR CHILDREN; being an exact Account of the Conversion, Holy and Exemplary Lives, and Joyful Deaths, of several Young Children, in two Parts. By the Rev. JAMES JANEWAY, Minister of the Gospel, 1s. sewed, 1s. 3d. boards.

The LAY of the POOR FIDDLER, a Parody on Scutt's Lay of the Last Minstrel, foolscap, 5s. boards.

POPE'S ESSAY ON MAN, a new Edition, to which is prefixed the Life of the Author, and Observations on his Genius and Writings, 4s. boards.

WISDOM IN MINIATURE, or the young Gentlemen and Lady's Pleasing Instructor, being a collection of Divine, Moral, and Historical Sentences, selected from the best Authors, 1s. 3d. boards.

HIEROGLYPHICAL BIBLE, a New Improved Edition, containing 138 Texts of Scripture, and nearly 400 appropriate Hieroglyphics, engraved on wood, by WILLIAMS, 1s. boards.

The DOMESTIC PHARMACOPŒIA; or complete Medical Guide for Families, with an Appendix of favourite and Domestic Remedies, Medicaments, &c. which being calculated to meet and combat successfully all Incidental Attacks of Disease, it is incumbent on every prudent Family to possess, 5s. boards.

CROSBY'S LONDON UNIVERSAL LETTER WRITER, a great variety of plain, easy, entertaining, and familiar Original Letters on Friendship, Business, Love, and Education, Forms of Petitions, Methods of addressing Superiors, Instructions for Writing, &c. 18. sewed. 18. 6d. bound.

THE EXPEDITIOUS INSTRUCTOR; or the Art of Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic, rendered easy, a new Edition, improved by Mr. LEVETT, 28. sewed.

CHESTERFIELD'S ADVICE TO HIS SON, 1s. 3d boards.

PATHETIC, SENTIMENTAL, and MORAL NARRATIVES; selected from the best Authors, with plates, 2 vols. 12mo. royal 18s. and demy 12mo 12s. boards.

THE UNIVERSAL RESCORATION, exhibited in a series of Dialogues between a Minister and his Friend; wherein the most formidable Objections are stated and fully answered. By ELHANAN WINCHESTER. Fourth edition, with Notes, &c. by W. VIDLER, 2s. 6d. boards.

A COMMENTARY on the BOOK of PSALMS.

By GEORGE HORNE, late Lord Bishop of Norwich, 2 vols. 24me.

with fine Frontispieces and Vignettes, 9s. boards.

THOUGHTS on the MARRIAGES of the POOR, containing Instructions for their Conduct, before and after entering into that important State, 1s. 6d.

ROMANTIC TALES. By M. G. Lewis, Author of the Monk, Adelgitha, &c. 4 vols. 24s. boards.

MASON'S PIRATES; or the History of the Pirates, Free-Booters, or Buccaniers of America, 48 boards.

NEW DUTY of MAN; containing the Faith, as well as Practice, of a Christian, with plates, demy 8vo. 10s. bound; royal 16s boards.

DONALDSON'S BRITISH MISCELLANY, a Selection of Humourous, Sentimental, and Moral Poems, 2s 6d boards.

The COMPLETE LETTER WRITER; containing familiar Letters on the most common Occasions in Life, to which is prefixed, a Compendious English Grammar, 2s 6d bound.

SMITH'S IMPROVED FAMILY WASHING BOOK; containing 52 Weekly Laundry Bills, alphabetically arranged, 18. Also, The GENTLEMAN's and LADY'S WASHING BOOK, on the same Plan, 6d each.

SERMONS ON VARIOUS SUBJECTS. By THOMAS BLUNDEL, pastor of the Baptist Church, Luton, Bedfordshire, 6s boards.

WRIGHT's SERMONS on Important Subjects. 5n boards.

THE HISTORY OF ENGLAND, in easy and familiar Verse, by W. R. JOHNSON, adapted to the Memory of Children at an early Age, 3s. half bound.

A POETICAL HISTORY OF GREECE, by the same Author, price 2s. 6d. balf bound.

A POETICAL HISTORY OF ROME, by the same Author, price 28, 6d. half bound.

CROSBY'S ELEGANT PRECEPTOR, being an Introduction to the Knowledge of the World, and Useful Accomplishments, 18. 6d.

A NEW INTRODUCTION TO BOOK-KEEP-ING, after the Italian Method, by the Rev. R. TURNER, L.L.D. late of Magdalen College, Oxford. The Fifth Edition, augmented and carefully corrected. By Mr. MALHAM, 18.

MORAL TALES, in Prose and Verse, selected from the best Authors, with plates, 4 vols. 10s. 6d. half bound.

BEATTIE'S MINSTREL, or the Progress of Genius, and other Poems, with elegant cuts, designed by Thurston, and engraved by Clennell, 5s. boards.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN CATTLE DOCTOR, or a Practical Treatise on the Diseases and Cure of Ozen, Come, and Sheep. Observations on the Parturition of the Cow and Ewe, and that destructive malady the Rot in aheep: a timely attention to which has in many districts been the means of saving thousands from that hitherto considered fatal disease. The fourth edition. In one handsome volume, 8vo. 10s. 6d. boards. By FRANCIS CLATER, Farrier, Cattle Docter, and Druggist, at Retford.

"We cannot conjecture by what accident this work has been so long unnoticed by us, but it certainly deserved much earlier attention. We do not healtate to recommend it strongly to the attention of all persons, who are especially interested in such subjects." British Critic, March.

1813.

By the same Author,

EVERY MAN HIS OWN FARRIER, or, the Whole Art laid Open, the 22nd edit. entirely re-composed, and incorporating the valuable improvements of many year's extensive practice, with upwards of One Hundred New Recipes, never before published, and a much enlarged Appendix on the quality, composition, and preparation of the various medicines. In one handsome volume 8vo. 9a. extra boards. By FRANCIS CLATER.

The extraordinary demand for this celebrated publication, is the surest criterion of its real utility. The true description of every Disorder, and the invaluable Recipes for their cure; the method of preparing and compounding the various Medicines, and the useful remarks on applying them, have been tried, approved, and met with unexampled success throughout the United Kingdom.

PSALM and HYMN TUNES, by the Rev. Dr. ADDINGTON, containing all the Additions and Improvements of the 13 former editions, and now much enlarged by a Selection of many valuable Tunes and Pieces in three and four Parts, accommodated to the various Metres in Dr. WATTS'S, and the different collection of Hymns in general use.—This edition is arranged in 3 volumes, and contain the greatest Number of valuable Tunes of any Work of the Kind. Price 5s. each volume.

MACGOWAN'S DEATH, a Vision, or the Solemn Departure of Saints and Signers, 1s.

PRIESTCRAFT DEFENDED, a SERMON, occasioned by the expulsion of Six Young Gentlemen from the University of Oxford, for Praying, Reading, and Expounding the Scriptures, by J. MACGOWAN, 6d.

The ARIAN'S and SOCINIAN'S MONITOR, by ditto, 6d.

CHEARFUL PIETY, or Religion without Gloom; in Letters, by the Rev. J. BERRIDGE, with a Portrait; a Life, and Notes, by Mr. G. WRIGHT, 6d.

The BELIEVER'S POCKET COMPANION; containing a Number of Passages (chiefly promises) selected from the Sacred Writings; with Observations in Proce and Verse. By the Rev. J. EVANS, 4d.

EARLY PIETY; or Memoirs of eminently Pious Children, interspersed with familiar Dialogues, Prayers, Graces, and Hymns, by the Rev. G. BURDER, new Edition, stereotype, 6d. sewed.

ORIENTAL FIELD SPORTS; being a complete, detailed, and accurate description of the Wild Sports of the East; and exhibiting in a novel and interesting manner, the Natural History of the Bessts, Feathered Game, Fishes, and Serpents; interspersed with a variety of original, authentic, and curious Anecdotes. By CAPTAIN THOMAS WILLIAMSON; the Plates engraved by the first Artists, 2 vols. Royal 4to. 51. 5s. boards.

BONNYCASTLE's ARITHMETIC, 10th Edition, greatly enlarged and improved, 3s. 6d. bound.——8vo: 8s. boards.

CROSBY's BUILDER's PRICE BOOK, carefully corrected throughout to the present Time; containing the present Value of all kinds of Materials and Workmanship, with the price of Labour separate. Also the various Acts and Duties; Directions to make Cements and Limes; Tables for measuring Timber and all kinds of Work; method of constructing Ovens; and several useful Calculations relating to Building, by J. PHILLIPS, corrected by C. SURMAN, Surveyor, assisted by several eminent in the Profession, 4s. sewed.

ENFIELD's SPEAKER; or, Miscellaneous Pieces, selected from the best English Writers, 3s 6d bound.

STRICTURES ON READING the CHURCH SERVICE, arranged from Sheridan's Art of Reading, and chiefly designed for Candidates for Orders. The second Edition, corrected and materially improved. By the Rev. W. FAULKNER, A. M. Rector of St. Andrew's Worcester. Demy 3s. 6d. on fine Royal Paper, 5s bds.

WALKER'S CRITICAL PRONOUNCING DIC-TIONARY of the English Language, 4to. 11. 110. 6d.—8vo. 148. boards. —abridged for the Use of Schools, 4s. 6d. bound.

POTTS BRITISH FARMER'S COMPLETE CYCLOPÆDIA; or, Agricultural Dictionary; including every science or subject connected with Husbandry, the Choice, Breeding, Feeding, Care, and Management of Live Stock, the Culture of Trees, Grasses, Wool, Art of making Malt Liquor, Wines, Cyder, &c. with elegant plates of every article used, coloured and plain, 3l. 13s. 6d. 4to boards.

A TREATISE on the CULTURE of the APPLE and PEAR, Manufacture of Cyder, Perry &c. By T. A. KNIGHT, Esq. Fourth edition, 4s. boards.

CHURCHILL'S GENUINE GUIDE to HEALTH, intended as an Antidote to the Pernicious Effects of Quackery, the most rational means of preserving Health, preventing and curing Diseases, and obtaining a good old age. Remarks on Exercise, Air, Cleaniness, &c. Cursory Observations on Excesses, dreadful Effects produced on the Animal Economy, by the use of Debilitating Medicines. Written and arranged in a brief, but clear and familiar manner, calculated to convey information on these important subjects, to private individuals and families. By T. CHURCHILL, M. D. Author of the Family Physician, Medical Remembrancer, &c 4s. sewed.

A TREATISE on the CULTURE of the PINE APPLE. By W. GRIFFIN, Gardener to I. M. Sutton, Esq. Kelhum, Notts. 2d. edition, price 10s. 6d. boards.

HUTTON'S PHILOSOPHICAL and MATHE-MATICAL DICTIONARY, a new and greatly improved edition, a vols. 4to. 6l. fe. hoards.

A KEY to the CLASSICAL PRONUNCIATION of Greek, Latin, and Scripture proper Names; in which the words are accented and divided into syllables, exactly as they ought to be pronounced, to which are added terminational Vocabularies of Hebrew, Greek, and Latin proper Names, and concluding with observations on the Greek and Latin Accent, and quantity; the lifth Edition. By JOHN WALKER, Author of the Critical Pronouncing Dictionary, &cc. 7s. bds.

A GENERAL PRONOUNCING and EXPLA-NATORY DICTIONARY of the English Language, for the use of Schools, Poreigners, &c. on the plan of Mr. Sheridan, considerably enlarged by selections from Ash, Beiley, Walker, &c. by STEPMEN JONES, 3s. 6d. bound.

ENTICK'S NEW SPELLING DICTIONARY; am improved Stereotype Edition. By JOHN ROBINSON, 25 6d bd.

VYSE's KEY to the TUTOR's GUIDE, to which are added, Some useful Rules, and an Appendix showing the Combination of Quantities, &c. 48 6d bound.—The Tutor's Guide, 48 hound.

HUTTON'S COURSE OF MATHEMATICS, $ vols. 8vo. each 10s. 6d, boards.

HUTTON'S Complete Treatise on PRACTICAL ARITHMETIC, and BOOK-KEEPING, both by single and couble entry, adapted to the use of Schools, Fourteenth Edition, as. 6d. bound.

GUTHRIE's MODERN GEOGRAPHICAL GRAMMAR, a new Edition, with considerable Additions and Improvements, in one large 4to vol. with a new folio Atlas, engraved for this Edition, extra boards, 31. 13s. 6d.

An Abridgement of the above, demy 8vo. with Maps, 18s. bound.
Atlas, separate folio, half bound, 31s. 6d.—8vo. half bound, 12s.

THE HISTORY of ROME, from the Foundation of the City of Rome, to the Destruction of the Western Empire, by OLIVER GOLDSMITH, M. B. A new Edition, 2 vols. 8vo. 14s. boards.——12m9, for Schools, 3s. 6d. hound.

GOLDSMITH'S GRECIAN HISTORY, from the earliest State to the Death of Alexander the Great. 2 vols. 8vp. 14s. boards.—12mo. for Schools, 3s. 6d. bound. HISTORY of ENGLAND, abridged, 3s 6d bound.

The SCHOOL SPEAKER; or, Prose and Prosaical Selections. By T. CARPENTER, 12000, so. 6d. bound.

NISBET's MEDICAL GUIDE for the Invalid. to the principal Watering Places of Great Britain, containing a View of the Medical Effects of Water, 12mo. 5s. 6d. boards.

NISBET'S NEW DICTIONARY of CHEMIS-FRY, 12mo. 8s. 6d. boards. The ELEMENTS and PRACTICE of NAVAL ARCHITECTURE; Developing, in a clear and familiar manner, the Principles of the Art, both theoretical and practical; with all the requirate Instruction for countracting and completing a Shir of every Class, from the forming of the Draught to the launching into the Water. The 2d edition, in one large volume 4to, price Ten Guineus in boards, elegantly printed on a superfine wove paper, and illustrated with a separate volume of large Draughts and numerous smaller Engravings.

ABERCROMBIE'S GARDENER'S POCKET JOURNAL, or Daily Assistant in the Modern Practice of English Gardening, in a concine mouthly Display of all the General Works throughout the Year, with a Description of the various Implements. The 13th Edition, Stereotyped and improved by a general List of I'lants, Shrubs, Fruit and Forest Trees, Flowers, &c. 28.

BROOKES's GENERAL GAZETTEER; or Compendious Geographical Dictionary, in miniature, containing a Description of the whole World, illustrated by maps, 4s. 6d. boards.

YOUNG'S LATIN ENGLISH, and ENGLISH LATIN DICTIONARY, 8vo. 13s. 6d. bound.

PARKHURST'S GREEK AND ENGLISH LEX-ICON to the New Testament, with a plain and easy Greek Grammar, royal 8vo. price 30s. boards.

PARKHURST'S HEBREW AND ENGLISH LEXICON, without Points; to which is prefixed a Hebrew and Chaldee Grammar, royal 8vo. price 30s. boards.

GENEVIEVE; or the Spirit of the Drave, with Odes and other Amatory Poems, by JOHN STEWART, Author of the Picasure of Love, 12mo. 6s.

MENTAL PERCEPTIONS, illustrated by the Theory of Sensations, by SARAH FERRIS, 19mo. 4s. 6d.

The AUCTIONEER's GUIDE; comprising a complete Abstract of the Laws relative to Auctions and Auctioneers. Also, adjudged Cases and other useful Matter necessary to be known by all concerned in Auction Sales, 18 6d

An INTRODUCTION to BOTANY, in a Series of familiar Letters, with illustrative Engravings. By PRISCILLA WAKEFIELD, 4s boards; coloured 7s boards.

POEMS, by W. COWPER of the Inner Temple, Esq. in 3 vols. royal 8vo. 21. 4s. demy 8vo. 11. 13s. f. c. 22s. 18mo. 14s. The third volume may be had separate.

COWPER'S POEMS, in 1 vol. 24mo. 5s. boards.

THE HISTORY OF SIR CHARLES GRANDISON, by Mr. RICHARDSON. Crosby and Suttaby's elegant edit. seven vols. royal 24mo. 24s. boards.

GRANDMOTTETS GRAMMAR of the French Language, or a New Method of learning to speak and write French, 64. bound.

THE SPECTATOR, with Biographical Sketches of the principal authors. Crosby and Suttaby's fine Edition, 8 vols. royal 24mo. 11. 10s. boards.

A COLLECTION OF ORIGINAL GOSPEL HYMNS, Fourth Edition, improved by JOHN KENT, 38. boards.

NATURAL HISTORY by BUFFON, carefully abridged, and the Natural History of INSECTS, compiled chiefly from Swammerdam, Brookes, Goldsmith, &c. embellished with fine Engravings on wood 4 vols 24s. boards.

The HISTORY OF MARGARET WHYTE; or the Life and Death of a Good Child, 6d.

The IMPERIAL PRIMER, or First Book for Children, with wood cuts, 6d.

THE ENGLISH MINSTREL, a selection of favourite Songs, with the Music adapted to the Voice, Violin, or German Flute, 2s. 6d boards.

The MIRROR of WIT, enlarged; being a Collection of the best Bon Mots, laughable Anecdotes, Witticisms, &cr. in the English Language, a new improved Edition, containing many original Articles, 15. 6d.

GRINNING MADE EASY; a Collection of Comic

Songe, 12mo. in six parts, extra boards, 4s.

GRINNING MADE MORE EASY, forming a Second Volume to the above, 48 boards.

LAURA; or, an Anthology of Sonnets, (on the Petrarcan Model), and Elegiac Quatuorzains; English, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, French, and German, original and translated; with a Preface, Critical and Biographic Notes, and Index. By CAPEL LOFFT. In five Volumes, Foolscap, 30s. boards.

ELEGANT EXTRACTS; or, Useful and Entertaining Pieces of Poetry, selected for the improvement of young persons; being similar in design to ELEGANT EXTRACTS in Prose. Royal 8vo. 20s. boards.

FLOWERS OF LITERATURE; or Characteristic Sketches of Human Nature and Modern Manners: consisting of Essays, Anecdotes, Tales, Narratives, curious Stories, &c. &c. from the most celebrated Productions: calculated to instruct as well as amuse and enliven the imagination: also Portraits and Biography of many popular Characters; in seven Volumes, any of which forms a complete Work, abounding with a diversity of amusing Subjects, and may now be had separately, price 6s. each.

THE SON OF A GENIUS; a Tale for the Use of Youth. By the Author of An Officer's Widow and Family, Daughter in Law, &c. 5s. bound.

POETICAL TRIFLES, written on various Subjects, serious and comic, by E. TRAPP PILGRIM. Second edition, with fine Frontispiece, by Rhodes, 4s. boards

"There is an ease and gaiety in the Comic Pieces, and softness in the Scrious, which, together form a leasing melody."—Monthly Review.

FAMILY LECTURES, or a Copious Collection of Sermons on Faith and Practice, by the most eminent Divines, in one large Volume, Royal 8vo. 24s. boards.

GOSPEL SONNETS, or SPIRITUAL SONGS, in Six Parts, concerning Creation and Redemption, Law and Gospel, Justification and Sanctification, Faith and Sense, Heaven and Earth. By the Rev. RALPH ERSKINE, late Minister of the Gospel at Dum-Germline, Royal 21mo. 30. boards.

ROMAINE'S TREATISE upon the WALK of FAITH, with Portrait, &cc. so. boards.

ROMAINE's LIFE of FAITH, ditto, 1s. 3d. ditto.
ROMAINE's TRIUMPH of FAITH, ditto, 1s. 3d. boards.

A NEW FAMILY BIBLE, illustrated with fine Engravings on Wood by Nesbitt, Branston, &c. and Explanatory Notes, by the Rev. J. STYLES, of Brighton, 2 vols. 4to. boards, price 41. or 211 Numbers at 8d. each.

The SAME on fine Royal Paper, with proof plates, 51. 152.6d. boards, or 114 Numbers 12. each.

THE ENQUIRER, or Literary, Mathematical, and Philosophical Repository, of useful Information, for both Students and Teachers. By W. MARKATT and P. THOMPSON, of Boston, assisted by literary Gentlemen of Eminence, complete in three volumes, 218. boards.

PRECEPTS and OBSERVATIONS on the ART OF COLOURING, in Landscape Painting. By W. ORAM, Esq. of his Majesty's Board of Works, with Plates, 4to. 15s. boards.

TALES of the PASSIONS; in which is attempted an illustration of their effects on the Human Mind, by GEORGE MOORE, vol. 1, containing Revenge, vol. 2, Jealousy, 10s. 6d. each, boards.

CROSBY'S POLITE LETTER WRITER, a great variety of plain, easy, entertaining, and familiar, Original Letters on Friendship, Business, Love, and Education; Forms of Petitions, Methods of addressing Superiors, in Writing and Discourse; valuable Hints for grammatical Correctness; modern Collection of Genteel Complimentary Cards; Useful Forms in Law, &c. price 2s. sewed, or 2s. 6d. bound in red.

ELIZABETH; or, The Exiles of Siberia, a new Translation by Mrs. MEEKE, with plates, fine post 12mo. 4s. 6d. boards.

THE ENCYCLOPÆDIA OF WIT, or Momus's Cabinet of Amusement, a choice collection of Bon Mots, Puns, Epigrams, humourous Tales in verse, and Anecdotes of eminent Eccentric Characters, 3s. 6d. boards.

CLARK'S PROMISES of SCRIPTURE, in two Parts, with an Appendix relating to the future state of the Church, 20. bound.

FALCONER'S SHIPWRECK, with a Sketch of his Life, nearly printed in foolscap ave. with a frontispiece, 5a. extra boards.

SACRED HARMONY; a Selection of HYMNS, set to Music; with a Thorough Bass for the Organ. By JOHN BUR-KITT, price 128.

ORTON's DISCOURSES to the AGED; 8vo. 7s. boards.

GALATEA, a Pastoral Romance, from the French of M. Florian, with wood cuts, foolscap, 4s. 6d. boards.

Another Edition, fine post 8vo. 7s. boards.

PAUL and VIRGINIA, translated by H.M. WIL-LIAMS, foolscap, plates, 5s. boards.

JOHNSON'S MINIATURE POCKET DICTIONARY, beautifully printed and bound, 30.

THE ECONOMY OF HUMAN LIFE, in two parts, 18. 3d. boards.

THE PERPETUAL TIME CALCULATOR, for ascertaining, at one view, the Number of Days from any given Day to any other within the Year; accurately calculated, and particularly adapted to the Use of Bankers, Merchants, &c. &c. By THOMAS HONIBALL, 4to. Price 12s. Boards.

The ODES of ANACREON, translated from the Greek into English Verse, with Notes, 3d edition, by Dr. GIRDLE-STONE, 4s boards.

A TREATISE, illustrative of the PASSIONS of the HUMAN MIND, by a Lady, 2 vols. 128. boards.

TALES of the MANOR, consisting of the Marchese Di Vicenza—The Music Driver—Sweet William—Invalid Officer—Meliuda, or the Wanderers—The Tale of Almeyda—Benzelmo, the Florentine Merchant, or Love Triumphant—The Garden of Leisure, 2 vols. 12mo. 10s. boards.

THE LADY'S ECONOMICAL ASSISTANT; or, the Art of Cutting Out and Making the most useful Articles of Wearing Apparel, without waste, explained by the clearest directions and numerous Engravings of appropriate and tasteful patterns. By the Author of the Domestic Cookery, price 128.

THE MIRROR of the GRACES; or, English Ladies Costume; on Dress and the various Accomplishments of the Female Sex, agreeably to the Principles of Nature and Rules of Propriety. Price, with coloured plates, 6s. 6d. plain 5s. boards.

THE HISTORY of SPAIN, from the earliest authentic Accounts to the present Time; with a Geographical View of the Peninsula, by ALEXANDER BEAUMONT, Esq. 108. 6d. hoards.

PHILLIPS'S GENERAL HISTORY of INLAND NAVIGATION, containing a full and clear Account of the Navigable Cauals, 10s. 6d. boards.

LONDON CHARACTERS; or Fashions and Customs of the present Century. By Sir BARNABY SKETCHWELL, Scene and Portrait Painter to the Argyle Rooms, and other places of elegant resort. Third Edition, in two volumes, embellished with appropriate Engravings, 16s. boards.

TALES; Comic, Instructive, and Amusing, from admired English and Foreign Authors, just completed, in a vols. on fine royal wove paper, with proof plates, 18s. boards; demy paper, 12s. boards.

ORIGINAL FABLES, by a Lady, dedicated to the Princess of Wales, with 54 fine Wood Cuts, on wove foolscap paper, 3s. boards.

THE ACCOMPLISHED YOUTH; or the true

Principles of Morality and Politeness, 2s. 6d. extra boards.

ADVICE to YOUTH, a Compendium of the Duties of Human Life, by Dr. HUGH BLAIR, third Edition, 22. extra boards.

THE DANGER OF PREMATURE INTERMENT, proved from many remarkable Instances of People who have recovered after being laid out for dead, and of others entombed alive.—
Also, a Description of the manner the Ancient Egyptians, and other Nations, preserved and venerated their Dead, and a curious account of their Sepulchral Everburuing Lamps, and Mausoleums—Likewise the pernicious Effects of Burying in the Body of Churches, and confined Church Yards, pointed out, whereby many valuable Lives have been lost to the Public and their Friends. Selected from Historical Records, by JOSEPH TAYLOR; Author of the "History of Apparitions," &c.

The PRIVATE HISTORY of the COURT of ENGLAND, by a Lady, in two elegant volumes, 12s. boards.

The NIGHTINGALE CLUB; a new Collection of Songs, sung at the Public Places of Amusement, To which is prefixed, Toasts and Sentiments, &c. price 1s.

HYMEN'S GARLAND, containing a great variety of Amorous Effusions and Valentines, 18.

The CABINET of LOVE; a great variety of Valentines, adapted to all occasions, 6d.

The GARLAND of LOVE, do. do. 6d.

The LOVER'S INSTRUCTOR; a Collection of Valentines, &c. for the present Year, 6d.

The APOLLO: or, Vocal Repository of Fashionable

Songs, very neat, 1s. sewed.

The HUMOUROUS and SENTIMENTAL SONG-STER; or, Convivialist's Pocket Companion, containing a Selection of admired Songs, Auecdotes, &c. price 18.

GOLDSMITH'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND, abridged, for the Use of Schools, 38. 6d. bound.

A TREATISE on CARRIAGES and HARNESS, with many Plates. By W. FELTON. Coachmaker, 3 vols. 3vo. 11. 11s. 6d. bound.

The following half-bound in a superior manner intended to fee GENTEEL PRESENTS.

1s. 6d. each.

FABLES, by JOHN GAY. In two parts.

THE ECONOMY OF HUMAN LIFE, by Dodsley THE DEATH OF ABEL, from the German of 1

FOR CHILDREN; being an - exa TOKEN Account of the Conversion, Holy and Exemplary Lives, and Joyful Deaths, of according Children, in two Parts. By the Rev. JAMES JANEWAY, Minister of the Gospel.

MINIATURE, or the WISDOM IN young tleman's and Lady's Pleasing Instructor, being a collection of Divine, Moral, as Historical Sentences, selected from the best Authors.

ROWE'S DEVOUT EXERCISES OF THE HEART. LETTERS, on the Improvement CHAPONE's the Mind, addressed to a Lady,

ROMAINE'S TREATISE upon the LIFE of FAITH. ROMAINE's TREATISE upon the TRIUMPH of FAITH CHESTERFIELD'S ADVICE TO HIS SON.

NEW AND POPULAR NOVELS.

THE CAVERN OF ASTOLPHO, a Spanish Ro mance, 8 vols. 10s. 6d. boards.

"An entertnining work, in language superior to most of our modern romances. The plot though romantic enough, is confined to the scale of probability. It contains a good moral. Pride and perfidy are subdued and punished in a most exempler; manner, rendering the concluding chapters highly interesting." Crist. Rev. Sept. 1815

LOVE, RASHNESS, and REVENGE; or, Tales of Three Passions, by RIPPEN PORTER, Esq. 2 vols. 10s. 6d. boards.

OBSERVANT PEDESTRIAN MOUNTED: or, a Donkey Tour to Brighton, by the Author of the MYSTIC COTTAGER UBSERVANT PEDESTRIAN, &c. &c. 3 vols. 16s. 6d. boards.

THE MAGIC OF WEALTH. By T. S. SURR, three vols, 18s. boards.

A WINTER IN LONDON; or, Sketches of Fashion, by the same Author, 13th Edition, 3 vois, 15s, boards.

SPLENDID MISERY. By the same Author, 5th Edit,

2 vois, 15s boards.

THE CHRONICLES OF THE TON; or, a Spring and Summer in London, by HENRY MORDAUNT, Esq. 3 vols. 18s. boards.

IN THE PRESS.

UNCLE TWEAZY AND HIS QUIZZICAL NEIGH. BOURS: a Comic-Satiric Novel, in three volumes, by the Author of the OBSER. .Vant pedestrian, &c, OWEN CASTLE; or, Which is the Heroine, in four yols, by MARY ANN SULLIVAN, late of the Theatres Royal Norwich, Liverpool, Birmingham, &c.

BIBLES, TESTAMENTS, COMMON PRAVERS, DIC-Spellings, and School TIONARIES, GRAMMARS, BOOKs, of every Description.

Mark Miles NII

i, je ka Gaze:

MAN IN THE PARTY OF THE PARTY O

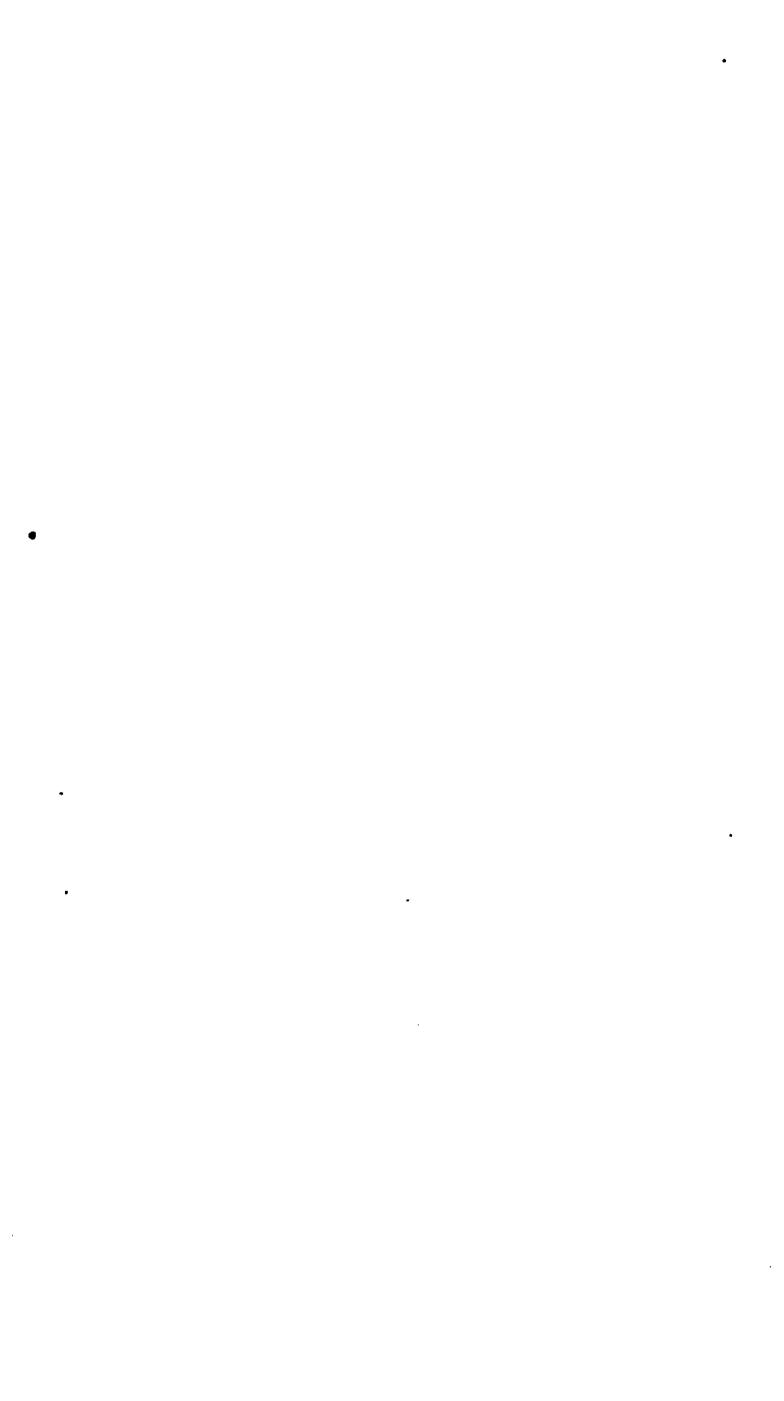

II S

e dis Personal Cui

四十二次

经路前

VH PU LK
A compendious law dictionary:
Stanford Law Library
3 6105 044 549 835